Rail and Wire Service Tied Up Over Wide Area.

Kansas Has Worst Blizzard Seen There in Years.

Eastern States Whipped By Icy Rain and Snow.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—The storm which descended upon the middle western states yesterday continued to hold them in its grip today. Snow continued to fall and drift in nearly all of the affected region, and even in those localities where the storm conditions abated, low temperatures made difficult the work of clearing the railroads and setting up the miles of prostrate electric wires.

In Indiana wires were down all over the state and nearly all interurban lines were tied up. Snow was being driven before a twenty-five-mile wind at St. Louis, and drifts on the railroads were growing deeper hourly.

Similar conditions were reported from Peoria, Bloomington, Decatur, Danville and Springfield, Ill. Shortage of fuel was imminent in Decatur, and a number of fatalities due to the cold were recorded throughout the state.

Around Lake Michigan the storm abated during the night, and early today it was clear and cold, the thermometer registering 16 above zero at 7 o'clock. Colder weather and snow was the forecast today for Chicago.

Frank Kachelhoffer, 75 years old, and his wife, aged 70, who for several years have lived in a two-room shack near the river, were found dead last night by neighbors. Death was said to have been caused by cold and lack of food.

Springfield, Ill., Isolated.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23.—This city today was virtually isolated by the storm. Trains were reported stalled in drifts, telegraph and telephone lines were down in nearly all directions and business was paralyzed.

RAISE FUND TO SEND OPERA TROUPE HOME

Denver People Donate $1,000 and Grand Jury Takes Up Case.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 23.—Citizens of Denver last night donated $1,000 to the members of the National Grand Opera Company of Canada so that they might be able to return to their homes in Chicago, Montreal, New York and Italy. The donation became necessary after the benefit performance in the Auditorium, for which a maximum admission price of 25 cents was charged, had proved a disappointment.

Grand jury investigation of the causes which brought about the failure of the opera company will continue here.

Marie Rappold, one of the stars of the company, was yesterday made honorary citizen of Denver by County Judge Rothger for her assistance to the impoverished members of the company. All property of the company is held here under a $10,000 attachment.

CREW OF NORWEGIAN BARK IS RESCUED

Wexford, Ireland, Feb. 23.—The survivors of the crew of the wrecked Norwegian bark Mexico were today taken off the barren island on which they landed Saturday. They had been since then without food. Fourteen men were drowned in the various attempts made to rescue them. The Mexico went ashore Friday while on her way from Laguna, Mex. to Falmouth. Her distress signals were answered by two lifeboats, one of which was stove in on reaching the vessel, but its crew managed to scramble on board. The other capsized and sank.

The Mexico was dashed to pieces on the rocks and her crew and the remaining life savers were washed ashore.

SILK PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON FOUND

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 23.—Yellow with age and nailed in a cheap gilt frame, one of the three silk-woven portraits of George Washington made by an unknown French woman from Stuart's painting, has been recovered by Rev. T. N. Weaver of New York, after it had been lost for many years.

Announcement of the finding of the treasure and its presentation to the University of Pittsburg was made today, it having been placed in keeping of the institution several weeks ago when the university was engaged in a campaign for a $3,000,000 fund, when it was planned to sell it for the fund. It is now proposed to have the Pittsburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution buy the picture and permit it to remain at the university.

NEW JERSEY THIEF ABDUCTS POLICEMAN

Summit, N. J., Feb. 23.—The police of Eastern New Jersey are searching for a man who is suspected of a $30,000 burglary in Newark, and who early Sunday boldly abducted a policeman, forcing the officer, at pistol point, into an automobile, carrying him several miles out into the country to a deserted sawmill, where he left him and the chauffeur of the car tied together with ropes and wires, and proceeded on his way.

MEMBER OF ARTHUR'S CABINET IS DEAD

HENRY M. TELLER,
Former Senator from Colorado.

WASHINGTON'S WORD HEEDED

That, Says Josephus Daniels, Is Secret of Wilson's Success.

Secretary of Navy Addresses Chicago Union League Club.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, in his address at the Washington's birthday celebration of the Union League club here today, declared that President Wilson had heeded the admonitions of Washington, and in that spirit had received the approval of the people of the United States.

"We have witnessed during the last year exhibitions of the true American spirit in a way that would do the heart of George Washington good if he were alive," said Mr. Daniels. "In the spirit of Washington, President Wilson went into his duties a year ago. As leader of a party he summoned the members of that party to labor with him in redeeming its pledges. But he did not stop there. He called on men of every party for counsel and cooperation.

Era of Good Feeling.

"Washington, in his farewell address, warned the country against the baneful effects of the passions aroused by the extremes of party spirit. When Washington's advice was accepted, from rancorous partisanship emerged the era of good feeling. Are we not on the verge of another era of good feeling?"

"President Wilson made, here in Chicago a few days before his inauguration, the only address he made between his election and his inauguration," continued Mr. Daniels. "In that address he said: 'I have made pledges which I regard as intimately associated with my essential honor. I can serve only one master. I am a trustee for the prosperity of the United States in council, and the council that is not the common council, the council that does not include you, is imperfect council. Will you not come in?'

All America "In."

"All America has 'come in,' and today, with faces to the future, all America says to Woodrow Wilson, 'You have, as trustee for the prosperity of the United States, redeemed your pledges.'"

Mr. Daniels declared that he believed the day of clean cut party division on important legislation was past. Republican and Progressive votes, he said, helped pass the tariff and currency bills, which were milestones in the path along which the Democratic party traveled to redeem its pledges.

50,000 VOLUMES GO UP IN FLAMES

Historical Records of New Jersey Lost in Morristown Fire.

Morristown, N. J., Feb. 23.—The Morristown library and Lyceum building, containing 50,000 volumes, among them many valuable historical records of New Jersey, was destroyed by fire today. The building was erected in 1878 and was owned by the Library & Lyceum corporation, organized years ago to provide Morristown with a library and school building. The building was worth about $75,000. No estimate of the loss on the books was obtainable.

FRENCH ARMORED CRUISER AGROUND

Toulon, France, Feb. 23.—The French armored cruiser Waldeck-Rousseau went ashore today in the gulf of Juan, near Nice. Divers reported that she had not suffered any damage and it was hoped that it would be possible to tow her off at a high tide.

SIX COPPER MINERS ARRESTED AS BEING CONTRACT LABORERS

Federal Department of Labor Takes Action at Houghton.

Calumet & Hecla Employes Are Taken Into Custody.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Federal department of labor today arrested six Roumanian laborers of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company on the charge of being contract laborers.

A. A. Seraphic, immigration agent of the department, who made the arrest, conducted hearings in Houghton today, and the Calumet & Hecla attorneys defended the men. The company feared similar action in large numbers of cases because of the numerous importations of foreigners into the district since the strike began.

Women Tell of Beatings.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wives of striking miners testified today before the congressional committee that they had been kicked and beaten by deputy sheriffs, and otherwise mistreated by soldiers without cause.

Mrs. Borie Fodar charged that on July 30 last Under-sheriff Heikkila grabbed her by the hair and dragged her into the yard of her home at Kearsarge. She said deputies and soldiers were searching for her husband, and the under-sheriff attacked her when she refused to tell where he was. One soldier hit her with his gun, she said, and two others fired two shots into the door of her kitchen.

Kicked and Beaten.

Mrs. Erzi Pihar, a Hungarian woman, said she was kicked in the ribs and beaten by deputies at Mohawk on Sept. 10, then was taken handcuffed to Eagle River and lodged in jail, where she was kept one day. She did not know what she was charged with, but said she was found not guilty. On cross-examination she denied she and three other women taken at the time were arrested for picketing and interfering with non-union men.

Militia Reported.

The National Guard of Michigan was represented today by Gen. John P. Kirk, Maj. S. W. Pepper and Maj. R. P. Vandercook.

Soldiers were charged by Frank King with attacking the American flag which he carried at the head of a strikers' parade at Calumet on Sept. 13. The witness said one of the soldiers demanded the flag, and when he refused, the militiaman stuck his bayonet through the flag and knocked the eagle from the staff. The parade was broken up.

"As a matter of fact," asked Gen. Kirk, "is it not true that the parade was stopped by one soldier and that when an officer came up he told the strikers to proceed?"

The witness replied that he was too far away to hear what the officer said. He said he was sure there were forty or fifty soldiers.

Celebrate for Washington.

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—The anniversary of the birth of George Washington was observed by the University of Pennsylvania today. The orator of the day was Rt. Rev. Lucien Lee Kinsolving, bishop of Southern Brazil.

EX-CABINET MEMBER DIES

Former Senator Henry M. Teller Is Dead in Colorado.

Was Known as "The Original Silver Republican."

Denver, Colo., Feb. 23.—Henry Moore Teller, former cabinet officer and for more than thirty years United States senator from Colorado, died here this morning. Mr. Teller, who was 83 years old, had been ill for two years and his death was not unexpected.

"Original Silver Republican."

Washington, Feb. 23.—Henry M. Teller was the "original 'Silver Republican.'" He was so called when he left the Republican national convention at St. Louis in 1896 because he did not agree with the gold standard plank of the platform, and ran again for the senate in Colorado as an independent Silver Republican. He was elected with 94 votes out of the 100 and after serving that term the Silver Republicans in Colorado merged with the Democrats and Mr. Teller returned to the senate—that time as a Democrat. He served one term as such and retired in 1903 to make a place for the late Senator Hughes of the same party.

News of Mr. Teller's death was received with deep regret in congressional circles where those who were of his time referred to it as the passing of "another old-line senator."

BANKERS OF TWELVE STATES IN SESSION

Drastic Campaign Against Criminals Planned at Mill City.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—To inaugurate a drastic campaign against criminals who make banks their victims, and for consideration of the new Federal reserve system, bankers representing twelve state organizations opened a two-days' meeting here today. Tomorrow's session will be held at St. Paul.

State associations of Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota had arranged for representation. Several delegates arrived last night.

The sessions will be devoted principally to general discussion, which will be participated in by the delegates and W. A. Henry of New York, president of the organization of bank association secretaries, and B. A. Ruffin of Richmond, Va., secretary of the insurance committee of the American Bankers' association.

Youth Kills Corning Cashier --Tries Vainly to Open Safe.

Corning, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Harry Edwards, night cashier of an express company here, was shot and instantly killed here today by David Dunn, a burglar. Dunn, who is only 19 years old, was captured and confessed the crime. He is a former employe of the company, and had been given permission to sleep in the office last night. In a struggle with Edwards, he drew a revolver and shot the agent through the heart.

After assuring himself that Edwards was dead, Dunn made two unsuccessful attempts to open the safe and get a shipment of $10,000 currency, which had arrived during the night and was to have gone west today. He was interrupted in his work by two telephone calls from police headquarters, both of which he answered to allay suspicion.

Finding he could not open the safe, Dunn escaped, leaving a trail of bloody footprints in the snow. A bloodhound was put on the scent, but lost the trail. Officers who went to question Dunn as a possible source of information found his shoes covered with blood and a revolver and bloodstained clothing under the mattress of his bed.

MRS. PANKHURST TO GO TO CALL ON KING

Will Personally Head Delegation of British Suffragists.

London, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, personally will head a deputation which the Woman's Social and Political union proposes to send to interview King George. This announcement was made at the meeting of the militant organization today. Mrs. Dacre-Fox added that Mrs. Pankhurst would be accompanied by her bodyguard. The leader will first write a letter to King George, and subsequently proceed to the place she will appoint to meet her majesty.

PRINCESS HELEN OF GREECE.

London, Feb. 23.—It has been rumored and denied and then rumored again that Princess Helen, the oldest daughter of King Constantine of Greece will soon be betrothed to the prince of Wales. The princess is not quite 18 years of age, having been born on May 2, 1896.

FRAME TRADE BOARD BILL

House Committee Begins Work on Administration Measure.

Some Main Provisions Are Already Planned By Members.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Work of drafting an interstate trade commission bill for the administration trust legislation program was undertaken today by the house interstate commerce subcommittee. Representative Covington of Maryland, the chairman, was ready with data for use as the basis of the draft, put together after a careful study of the subject, examination of the various bills already introduced, and a conference with President Wilson.

The views of the president, who has indicated that the trade commission bill is first in importance among the proposed measures, are expected to prevail in the bill when the subcommittee turns it out.

It is proposed to have only big business subject to the jurisdiction of the trade commission, but how a limit shall be fixed still is an open question. The president has suggested the difficulty of framing a limitation in terms of dollars, and that it might be impracticable to exempt all concerns under

LOCATE THE WRONG CATHERINE WINTERS

Father of Missing Girl Has Trip for Nothing.

Springdale, Ark., Feb. 23.—The child held here as Catherine Winters, the kidnaped daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters of Newcastle, Ind., today was declared by the physician not to be his child. This girl has no freckles, he said.

The child was found at Huntsville, a neighboring mountain hamlet. Winters' daughter, Catherine, was kidnaped from Newcastle on April 20, 1913. The child here was found with a man who gave his name as Edward Stuart.

So intense is the interest in the case that crowds about the hotel last night refused to leave until Shuster and his charge appeared on a balcony for their inspection. Another large crowd was on hand today to witness the meeting of Winters and the girl.

Stuart Is in Jail.

Meanwhile Stuart, a prisoner in the town jail at Huntsville, protested that the child was his stepdaughter, and that he married a woman who claimed to be the divorced wife of a Dr. Winters. The officials said that Stuart admitted that the girl had been known as Catherine Winters. Stuart declared that the mother of the girl died in Little Rock, Ark., last month, and at her death he took the child from an orphanage in that city and began an aimless wandering through the Arkansas hills in a wagon.

The girl, before excitement frightened her into silence, told a story of a man in an automobile picking her up on a street corner—where she did not know—and taking her to a "red wagon" in which she says she rode until she met Stuart. Shuster quoted her as saying that her name "used to be Catherine, but now it is Lucy," and of having "two papas, one a doctor papa, which I like the best."

Was Dressed as a Boy.

Stuart was arrested Saturday when a Fort Smith paper with pictures of Catherine Winters reached Huntsville, and resemblance to Stuart's little traveling companion was noted. At the time the child was dressed as a boy.

STATEMENT IS MADE TO COMMONS

British Press Generally Comments on Mexican Situation.

Subject May Soon Be Debated in the U. S. Senate.

Germans Land Machine Guns to Guard Embassy in Mexico.

UNITED STATES NOT HELD RESPONSIBLE.

London, Feb. 23.—Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey explained fully in the house of commons today that Great Britain did not hold the United States responsible for Villa's acts, but he said the British government was powerless to take any measures in the disturbed regions.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 23.—A government troop train carrying a company of infantry from Mexico City, destined for Jalapa, was blown up on Saturday afternoon by rebels, 140 miles from Vera Cruz, it became known here today. The entire train was demolished. All on board, including fifty-five officers and men and the English engineer, were killed. A passenger train following was fired on by the rebels, but escaped by backing rapidly.

London, Feb. 23.—"The pacification of Mexico is an object we honestly desire to see accomplished, but it is impossible to effect it by British intervention. We do not intend to make any attempt of that character, which would be both futile and impolitic."

This is the attitude of the British foreign office as outlined today in the house of commons by Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, "after full consideration of the series of victimizations of British subjects in Mexico, culminating in the removal of William S. Benton by Villa at Juarez."

Mr. Acland informed the house that the British government had been in frequent communication with the governments of the United States and Mexico respecting the protection of British lives and property in Mexico.

"The continued fighting in Mexico," he added, "is of very great prejudice to British and other commercial interests, and is a matter for very great concern."

Must Ask Washington.

Mr. Acland promised to lay the papers on the subject of Mexico before the house of commons as soon as possible, but he added significantly:

"The most interesting papers at the British foreign office, however, are communications made at various times with the government of the United States concerning its policy and its views regarding Mexico. Some of these are of a confidential character and I cannot include them in a blue book without asking the consent of the United States government."

JAPANESE GRAFT SCANDAL GROWS

Three Prominent Navy Contractors Arrested at Tokio.

Tokio, Japan, Feb. 23.—Three prominent Japanese contractors furnishing supplies to the navy were arrested today on charges of bribery. The arrests indicate that the naval scandals brought to light through the relations of a naval attache in Berlin with a German contracting firm will prove more extensive than at first suspected.

The discussion of the subject led to a serious commotion in the house of representatives this morning. Korehiro Kurahara, a deputy, well known in the United States and in Europe, read a letter in which high officials of the Japanese government were named, and which alleged that they had been guilty of amassing wealth by means of graft.

Mr. Kurahara refused to disclose the name of the writer of the letter. He was thereupon ordered to appear before a committee of the house for punishment.

$50,000 IN SAFE IN DEPOT FIRE RUINS

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 23.—A blackened safe containing $50,000 was removed today from the ruins of the New Haven railroad station, which was burned Saturday with a loss of $300,000. Officials of the company said the contents were intact. Two hundred and fifty workmen were busy today erecting a temporary station.

WINTER WORK PROFITABLE

Commissioner Is Saving the City Money on Sewer Jobs.

Better Inspection Also Possible--Jobs for Idle Men.

As winter sewer work proceeds by day labor under the direction of the division of public works, Commissioner Roderick Murchison becomes more satisfied that this class of work can be done profitably by the city.

He points out that in the matter of inspection alone there is considerable improvement, as an inspector of the works division has direct charge of the job and is careful to see that the specifications are observed in all particulars. Competent workmen are easily secured and a waiting list is on file. "Not that the men have any disposition to do so, but they could hardly 'soldier' if they wanted to," said the commissioner this morning. "They have to work in order to keep warm during the cold weather, and if any showed themselves incompetent we would not let them remain on the job, many being anxious to take their places."

He explained further that with the city doing the work it is to the interest of no one to do any "skimping," which becomes possible for irresponsible contractors during the summer months, when so much work is under way that the inspectors have difficulty in visiting each job once a day. Close attention is also paid to the material. When the pipe was delivered for the sewer job started last week in Mark's alley the inspector refused to accept it. His judgment was confirmed by City Engineer John Wilson, the order was canceled and pipe which was up to standard purchased from another firm.

"Insofar as the building of sewers is concerned," said Commissioner Murchison today, "there is a clear saving on some of the items when done by day labor as against contract work, regardless of whether the work is done in winter or summer.

"There is no disposition to say that contractors are unreasonable in their prices. The increased cost of excavation in winter, so far as our present work has progressed, is offset by the savings to such an extent as to make the cost compare favorably with the best results of summer contract work. Our work began with the period of lowest temperatures and at this time the frost is twelve inches deeper in the ground than at the outset. The variations in cost are carefully noted from day to day and any indication of an undue increase in cost would be followed by suspension of the work."

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Two Old-Time Favorites Seen in New Vaudeville Bill.

Two old-time favorites will be recognized on this week's bill at the Duluth Orpheum.

Back in the days of the Hoyt farces the name of Harry Gilfoil was familiar to almost every theater-goer. No Hoyt farce was complete without a part for Harry Gilfoil, and as Hoyt was writing about one play a week he managed to keep Mr. Gilfoil busy.

The theater-goers of ten years ago will also have a warm spot in their memory for Hilda Thomas. In the days when musical comedy meant something more than just a girl show, Hilda Thomas was queen of the prima donnas. Something more was required in those days than merely a pretty face and some startling clothes to make a musical comedy favorite.

These two old favorites are on this week's Orpheum bill—in separate acts. Mr. Gilfoil is headlining the bill in his old-time part of "Baron Sands." He sings his old song about a woman being just as old as she looks, and a man as old as he feels, dances a few steps with it, tells some reminiscences about his old friend "Joe" that are amusing, and gives some imitations of familiar noises that provoke many a laugh. On the whole he seems to fit into the vaudeville niche very nicely.

As much can be said for Miss Thomas, who with Lou Hall, an angular country gawk, has a comedy sketch called "The Substitute." The sketch merely serves as a vehicle for Miss Thomas to sing one or two songs, and for Mr. Hall to perform some comedy stunts at the piano, but this is all that is needed. They were the comedy hit of the new bill last evening.

But there was a day when Harry Gilfoil and Hilda Thomas in one theater could have brought an increase in prices and the "S. R. O." sign.

The Orpheum audiences have seen many slack wire performers including Robledillo, the famous Cuban, but nothing to equal the work of Kartell has yet been seen in the theater. Kartell is nothing short of a marvel on the wire. He uses no balancing pole or umbrella, and his trick of running up the slack wire and then sliding down on his back gave the audience a real surprise—something that a wire performer rarely does.

Ruth Love is billed as the "Princess of Ragtime." She is a vivacious young woman, who makes a pleasing appearance and sings four syncopated melodies well.

Nick Verger is a youth with a big voice, which he has not yet learned how to control. His voice is a tenor with good quality, power and range, and training will eliminate his faults in phrasing and enunciation. He appears in newsboy costume, being billed as the "Newsboy Caruso," and sings some popular ballads. He was very well received.

Jack Ward and Eddie Weber, two abbreviated young men, deserve credit for originating something new in the dance line. They are light-footed, agile young men, and have sought to get away from the beaten track of dancers. They dance in costume, and their Arab and Tommy Atkins numbers were a pleasing novelty.

The Randalls have a pretentiously staged shooting act, the man appearing as a cowboy and the woman as an Indian. They do some remarkable shooting at swinging targets. One of the man's feats is to break two balls with two pistols at the same time, and another is to break with one shot, two balls swinging in opposite directions.

The motion picture this week, "Snakeville's Fire Department," is a hilarious little comedy photoplay, and created as much amusement as any number on the program. The bill as a whole, while it contains no big feature act, is clean and entertaining.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Five Acts and Tango Contest on New Vaudeville Bill.

Five acts, including a program of the latest tango and hesitation steps by Whitman and La Velle, who have been brought here by the Empress management for the tango contest, which opens this evening, feature the vaudeville bill that opened at the local playhouse yesterday afternoon.

Whitman and La Velle are both able dancers and succeed in presenting an entertaining number with their latest ballroom steps. These include the tango, hesitation, one-step, Argentine, Brazilian maxixe and scores of others that go to make up the latest world craze.

Beginning tonight the dancers will not only present their specialty, but will also take part in the tango contest, which is to be held every evening up to Thursday. The best couple will be selected each evening, the audience being the judges and these winners will hold an elimination contest Thursday evening for a $25 prize hung up by the Empress management. A large number of young people have already entered their names for the contest and a lively time is expected.

Sharing the honors with Whitman and La Velle are Elsie Gilbert and her romping girls. They sing several popular songs, execute a few dances, tell some jokes, and present a pleasing offering. Miss Gilbert is a very able comedienne and assisted by her girls, scores quite a hit.

Kalma introduces a mystery act that is far above the average of its kind. Kalma is assisted by a young woman, who aids him materially in the various tricks introduced during the number.

The novelty of the bill this week is the rectagraph introduced by Fred K. Watson. Mr. Watson, who appears in the leading role of the motion picture film, "Osler Joe," visualizing the famous poem of that name, comes here in company with the picture and recites the poem while the film is shown on the screen. It was well received at the opening performances yesterday.

Ray and Maybelle introduce an average song and dance number.

Two motion picture films close the bill, which will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular daily matinees.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Miss Elizabeth Baker of "The Road to Happiness" company, which will be at the Lyceum tonight, is a happy, rather than a militant suffragist.

"A smile is the best weapon in the world," she says. "And it will get you almost anything you want. And I think actresses should be allowed to vote if actors and traveling men do."

Miss Baker has the role of Mrs. Benjamin Hardcastle, the gentle wife in "The Road to Happiness."

"Why shouldn't the women of the stage exercise the same right as men who have no fixed place of residence?" she questioned earnestly. "They say that traveling men are to be allowed the same rights as voters as other men. Actors, I suppose, will be included in the same class. Why not actresses, then? Of course," she added, "I suppose the situation with women of the stage would be a little different, since all of the states have not granted women their rights, but it seems that in Illinois and other places where women are even partly enfranchised we should have some rights."

Though Canadian born, Miss Baker has spent most of her life in Detroit, and was much interested in the recent unsuccessful campaign for the ballot there.

"The Michigan campaign was wonderful," she said. "The women lost, but they know that they will be victorious in the end. And they secured the passage of one measure whose value was incalculable—the woman's compensation bill, which gives every mother an income of at least $3 a week to provide for her support and her children's. That law ought to be enforced in every state in the Union.

"You know, the ballot in the hands of women is going to point the way on the 'road of happiness' in the home."

MAY TRY NEGRO AS FRANK'S ACCOMPLICE

Affidavits Charging Conspiracy to Convict White Man Are Made.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 23.—Interest in the murder of Mary Phagan, 14-year-old factory girl, for which Leo M. Frank is under death sentence, was revived by the prospect that James Conley would be placed on trial here today on the charge of being an accessory to the crime.

Conley, a negro sweeper at the factory where the girl was murdered, and of which Frank was superintendent, testified at the latter's trial that he had helped dispose of Mary Phagan's body after Frank had killed her.

Publication of two affidavits charging conspiracy to produce false evidence against Frank, and alleged to have been sworn to by witnesses against him at his trial, added a new angle to the mystery surrounding the factory girl's death.

Says He Swore Falsely.

One of these, accredited to Alfred McKnight, a negro, alleges that the story of Frank's movements on the day of the murder, told by McKnight as a witness for the state, was untrue, and had been prepared by a white man. The other affidavit, alleged to have been sworn to by Mrs. Nina Formby, who gave evidence to the police during the preparation of the case against Frank, is said to charge illegal manipulation of evidence against the young factory superintendent.

ONLY THREE LEFT IN VANDERBILT'S YACHT

New York, Feb. 23.—Seven men from the crew of Frederick W. Vanderbilt's yacht Warrior, which went ashore recently at Cape Augusta, Colombia, with Mr. Vanderbilt and party aboard, arrived today on the steamer Albingia from Puerto, Colombia. This leaves only the captain and two others on board the yacht.

The men said that when they left her the yacht was in good condition, but that on account of continuous gales it would be some time before the wreckers succeeded in moving her off.

OVER $60,000 STOLEN FROM NEW YORK BANK

Mostly Lost on Horse Races, Says One Accused Employe.

New York, Feb. 23.—Alonzo M. Woolsey, teller in the Plaza branch of the Unit Trust company, who, with Joseph White, a bookkeeper, is charged with peculaitons estimated at $60,000, was arraigned in court today. Both men had a preliminary hearing yesterday, but Woolsey appeared today and asked to be admitted to bail, which had been set at $3,000. The magistrate refused to accept the bond, which was offered by a security company. He declared he would confer with the district attorney before releasing either of the men.

Henry J. Goldsmith, counsel for Woolsey, said today the funds misappropriated by the two men may total more than $60,000.

Lost on the Ponies.

Goldsmith declared much of the money taken from the bank had been lost on horse races. Upon one occasion, he said, White lost $7,000 on a single race.

According to Goldsmith, his client received no benefits from his manipulations. It is his contention that Woolsey discovered White's shortages, but protected him by making false entries on credit slips. Then, by various bookkeeping devices, the men would enter debits against the amount on the slip as cash taken out of the bank for use by White. White did not take the whole amount at any one time, but carried away small sums of from $50 to $100.

JURY AWARD IS SET ASIDE

Decree for Adam Sikorski Reversed in Favor of G. N. Railway.

When a full grown man, in full possession of his mental faculties, attempts in the night time to climb over the bumpers between two cars attached to a long freight train without first ascertaining whether an engine is attached to the train, his own rash act precludes him from recovering damages from the railway company in any accident which might result.

This has been the law in the state of Georgia for years and Judge Dancer of the district court in setting aside a verdict returned in favor of a personal injury litigant in this county holds that it is also good law in Minnesota. On Saturday afternoon he filed with the clerk an order granting the defendant's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict in the case of Adam Sikorski against the Great Northern Railway company.

Verdict Set Aside.

As a result of the court's ruling the verdict of $3,368 awarded Sikorski by a district court jury Sept. 26 last is set aside. Judge Dancer orders that judgment be entered in favor of the railway company after a stay of thirty days has expired. Andrew Nelson is attorney for Sikorski and Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes represented the railway company.

Sikorski attempted to climb between two cars attached to a long train which blocked the crossing of the Great Northern Railway company at West Sixth street, Superior, on the evening of Nov. 12, 1913, after having waited ten minutes for the train to clear the crossing. The train suddenly started and Sikorski fell between the bumpers. He was dragged for 100 feet and three fingers of his right hand were cut off. He sued for $8,300 damages and was given a verdict for $3,368. Eleven jurors concurred in the verdict.

The railway company made an alternative motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. In his memorandum, the court states that "there is nothing to indicate that any materially different evidence upon the question of the plaintiff's negligence could be produced upon a new trial. In the absence of any claim of newly discovered evidence, it does not appear that anything could be gained by ordering a new trial."

Reasons for Decision.

"In my opinion, it must be held as a matter of law that negligence on the part of the plaintiff caused or contributed to his injury. * * * The plaintiff had lived for at least two years and a half, a block away from the place where he was hurt. During all of that time he had crossed the railway tracks at that point night and morning in going to and from his work; he had seen the crossing blocked on many occasions for from five to twenty minutes and had seen many people pass over or between the cars; but the practice did not prevail to such an extent that he himself had ever before attempted it.

"Never but once had he seen a train without an engine attached ready to move it, and upon that one occasion, the engine was detached simply for the purpose of running down the track a distance after water. Upon the night in question, it must be assumed that the rear lights of the train were lighted and that the engine was around the curve or that it could not be seen from the crossing where plaintiff was injured. He must have known of that curve. There was nothing which would excuse a conclusion that the train was abandoned. On the contrary, the longer he waited the more reason to expect that the train would be moved any moment, and he waited for ten minutes before he attempted to climb over the bumpers.

No Emergency Case.

"There was no emergency. It was between 8 and 10 o'clock at night. It was dark, not very cold and he was going away from home for the purpose of buying tobacco. There were other tracks and other trains in the immediate vicinity and it was therefore quite possible that he would fail to identify a ringing of a bell or a blast of a whistle, as coming from an engine attached to this train. He had not right to rely upon such signal."

The court finds a parallel case in the Georgia courts where the following was held:

"As a matter of law for a full grown man in full possession of his mental faculties to attempt in the night time to climb over the bumpers between two cars attached to a long freight train without ascertaining whether an engine was attached to the train of cars, or is so near to them on the track as to be immediately coupled to them, is such gross negligence as will preclude a recovery for injuries received on account of an engine being suddenly backed up against the cars and causing the person attemting to cross to be thrown upon the track." Judge Dancer holds that the same law applies in Minnesota.

PICK VENEZUELAN PRESIDENT APRIL 19

There's a Reason For Aches and Pains

Often some unsuspected habit, such as coffee drinking, is the root of the trouble.

The average coffee drinker who suffers from sleeplessness, headache, indigestion, nervousness or heart trouble usually says, "Coffee doesn't hurt me," until some day Nature hauls him up with a jerk.

It's poor business to trade health and a clear brain for a few cups of coffee.

The pure food-drink

POSTUM

in place of coffee, has put many a man and woman on the Road to Wellville.

Postum is made of prime wheat and a small portion of molasses. It has a delicious Java-like flavour, but none of the drugs, "caffeine" and "tannin" which make coffee a health destroyer.

If your own judgment leads to a trial of Postum, for, say 10 days, and you begin to sleep soundly, digest food better, and your nerves get steady, these signs of returning health will show

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder. A teaspoonful, stirred in a cup of hot water, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

ELECTION AT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Suffragettes Have Right to Vote for Mayor and Commissioners.

At 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the 225 pupils of the Duluth Industrial high school will vote for a mayor and eight commissioners, who will have charge of the deportment at the school building. The entire enrollment is expected to vote before 9:30 o'clock.

John Davis, present "mayor" of the school is in the field for re-election. He will be opposed by John Nettleton, who ran for the position last fall and by Frank Martin. During the last month the merits of these candidates for the position have been extolled and it is expected that the final vote will be close.

The candidates for commissioners are: Joseph Usenski, Page Cashin, Otto Blais, Daisy Wallace, Chester Rosboro, Chester Dunston, Otto Oleson, Junette Burell, Mabel Smalley, Oline Michaud, Stella Rice, Robert Donald, Bessie McKinnon, Enard Lundquist, Isabelle Felix, Lillian Flaherty and Roland Clark.

In choosing the officials the second and third choices will be used. The rules that apply to a city election will be used by the pupils in choosing their officials. The election board will be decided on tonight.

STAND BEHIND COMMISSION

West Duluthians Favor Paving the Oneota Street Route.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club and business men of West Duluth will back Commissioner Murchison in the paving of Oneota street. They want this thoroughfare paved this summer as already planned by the public works department.

"It is the route that should receive the first consideration," said John J. Frey. "Property owners on Oneota street and many along Superior street west of Twenty-fifth avenue signed a petition for the improvement. These property owners are willing to pay their full share, but as yet the property owners on Grand avenue have signified their willingness to pay but a part for the improvement of that street."

"The thoroughfare along Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets is no longer than the other route and will serve West Duluth just as well if improved," said F. W. Jolitz. "In time to come this street will be the home of many large concerns which will need an improved street. West Duluth is the section that is going to benefit by the improvement, no matter which street is chosen, but as long as the property owners on Oneota streeet are the first to consent to paying the full price I believe that they are the ones who should be first served."

PLAY AT SOCIAL CENTER.

"Fascinating Fanny Brown" is the title of a play to be presented at the assembly hall of the Irving school by the Irving Social Center Dramatic league on March 3. Ten members of the club are taking part in the play. Miss Anna McFarland is directing the rehearsals for the playlet.

The play is one of a series planned by the young women of the club. As yet the club has not decided what to do with the proceeds, but several have expressed willingness to have the sum go towards paying for the publication of "The Oracle," the yearly publication of the senior class of the Duluth Industrial high school. Several members of the club are members of this year's graduating class.

WILL DISCUSS RATES.

New Duluth Commercial Club Will Look Into Discrimination.

The New Duluth Commercial club will discuss alleged discrimination of freight rates to New Duluth at its meeting tomorrow evening. It is claimed that the Northern Pacific railroad charges excessive rates for freight to the western suburb and members of the club intend to take actionto have this remedied.

Members of the club also allege that the railroad has been discriminatory in the passenger rates.

It is probable that some action will be taken to have the city hasten the building of a street car line to this end of the city.

FIVE ARE HELD ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Five men were arraigned this morning on a charge of first degree robbery in connection with the holdup Friday night at New Duluth. The men are Mike Olbin, Isaac Neguin, George Curkovich, Peter Kaich and Dan Korgua.

The men are charged with having held up and robbed Rudolph Baich and William Downs shortly after 11 o'clock Friday night. Baich lost $9.50 and Downs $5. All of the men were arrested Saturday by the New Duluth police.

The hearing of the five men was postponed until tomorrow morning. They are being held in jail without bail.

TO DANCE OR NOT TO DANCE?

Members of the social center at the Irving school will tomorrow night discuss whether dancing shall or shall not be continued in the school on Tuesday evening during Lent. An informal discussion will be held, following which a vote will be taken on the subject. According to some of the members of the social center the dancing will be discontinued until after Easter.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church will be entertained by Mrs. Harry Merritt, 4611 Magellan street, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. Bergren, 2915 West Third street, will entertain Wednesday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church.

Edda lodge, No. 15, Daughters of Norway, have planned to entertain at a social in the Commercial club rooms Wednesday evening. Miss Mary Alverson is in charge of the committee on arrangements.

Rev. Theodore Lundholm of St. James, Minn., was a visitor in West Duluth yesterday. He preached at both services at the Elim Swedish Lutheran church yesterday.

The Missabe Railway club will hold its monthly meeting this evening at the Proctor Y. M. C. A. "Engine Failures and Repairs" will be the subject of a paper to be read by William McMurtrie.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, gave an interesting lecture last night on "The Good Samaritan." Stereoptican and motion pictures were used in illustrating the lecture.

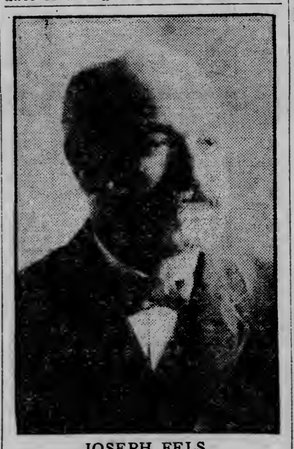

A social entertainment for members of the Westminster Presbyterian church and friends is planned by the ladies' aid society for Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. P. Brandenhoff, 309 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, will entertain at her home for the society. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas Sorenson, Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mrs. James Brayden. A musical program will be given.

Watch repairing. Hirst, West Duluth.

OBITUARY

Joseph Fels, millionaire soap manufacturer, single tax advocate and philanthropist, died at his home in Philadelphia, Feb. 22, from pneumonia, after a brief illness. He was 61 years old.

Mr. Fels spent most of his time advocating the doctrine of the single tax in both this country and Great Britain. He recently returned from England, where he had given a large part of his fortune to the creation and maintenance of a single tax co-operative colony near London. Employes of his firm in Philadelphia benefit by a profit-sharing system inaugurated by Mr. Fels.

Although he early became an advocate of Henry George's ideas, it was not until he went to live in England about eight years ago as the English representative of his firm, that Mr. Fels began to devote almost all his time, money and energy to the cause of single tax. Since then, his friends estimate, he expended more than $100,000 annually and visited every part of the world to advocate the propaganda.

Rev. J. W. Campbell, a prominent Methodist clergyman, died Feb. 21 at Scarborough, N. Y. He had been pastor of churches in Cleveland, Los Angeles and New York city. He was 65 years old.

Dr. James Flood Beck, a practicing physician for twenty years, died suddenly in Minneapolis of ptomaine poisoning. He was 43 years old and a native of Dubuque, Iowa.

Dr. B. Winslow Dearborn died Feb. 21 at a Minneapolis hospital, where he went for treatment following the extraction of a tooth. He was 65 years old. Dr. Dearborn, who was born in New Hampshire, was a direct descendent of Gen. Dearborn of 1812 war fame. He had practiced medicine in Minneapolis for twenty-five years.

S. W. Allerton, Chicago millionaire and one of the best known men in the harness racing world ten years ago, died at his home in Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 22. He was known as a breeder of racing horses.

Mr. Allerton was one of the founders of the Union Stock yards at Chicago, where he went as a cattle buyer in 1856, and after ten years of success with John B. Sherman, succeeded in uniting the stockyards forces in what became the present Union yards. He was largely responsible for the first cable cars used in Chicago. He was also among the founders of the First National bank of Chicago.

Mr. Allerton is believed to have held more than 40,000 acres of land in Illinois, Nebraska and Wyoming. His home, "The Farms," near Monticello, Ill., contains more than 19,000 acres.

Mrs. Catherin Dudley, 64 years old, mother of Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, died at the home of her sister, in Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 21. She had been in poor health for the last five years. The daughter was not at once apprised of her mother's death, cablegrams addressed to Mrs. Carter in France and Italy being reported undelivered.

Marquis Agalar de Campo, former minister of foreign affairs of Spain died at Madrid, Feb. 22.

Ivor Bertie Guest, first baron Wimborne, died in London, Feb. 22. He was born in 1835. In 1868 he married Lady Cornelia Spencer-Churchill, daughter of the seventh duke of Marlborough. Lord Wimborne owned 83,600 acres, and his heir is Lord Ashby St. Legers, who organized the polo team which will attempt next year to recover the international cup now held in the United States.

FEW OBSERVE THE HOLIDAY

Schools Continue Sessions and Stores Remain Open.

Courthouse Open, City Hall and Banks Are Closed.

Washington's birthday was not generally observed today, as it usually is. Of course, the real birth anniversary of the Father of His Country came yesterday, which detracted from the general nature of the celebration. No stores closed and neither did the schools.

Public schools that did not have their programs and exercises on Friday gave them this morning, but in the others regular sessions were held. Most of them had held their exercises on Friday, so the more serious business of school life was taken up from the opening of the sessions today.

The banks and many public offices, closed. The city hall is closed for the day, with the exception of the finance departments, but the courthouse is doing business. The Federal building offices are closed for the day and so is the postoffice, which, however, is providing one delivery, and in the morning had its delivery windows open for one hour.

The board of trade remained closed, owing to the fact that the other leading boards of the country remained closed, thus giving no trading basis for the Duluth board. Winnipeg, being out of the cherry tree episode zone, remained open and is the only board on the continent that is trying to transact business.

only slight abatement, the storm which swept into Kansas and Western Missouri last night, producing the worst conditions of the season, continued today. The biting sleet of last night changed to fine snow which, driven by a high northeast wind, piled in drifts, demoralizing traffic. Officials of the telegraph companies said wire conditions were the worst known in this region for years. Wire communication with southwestern points was lost entirely for a time.

The temperature fell to 11 deg. above zero here.

The high wind broke off tree tops and blew down a number of chimneys. The heavy draft on the gas supply sent the pressure down so low that many homes were on half power, and cooking, save in a few favored regions, was impossible.

Snow plows and an army of sweepers were unable to keep street car tracks clear for any regular car service. The wind piled up new drifts as fast as old ones were removed. All western trains were late and some were reported overdue many hours.

Loss of wire communication with the West made any idea of blizzard damage in Kansas, said to be the most severe in years, unknown.

Cold in Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 23.—The storm that gripped Des Moines and Central Iowa yesterday and last night had diminished considerably today, but the temperature remained at 8 above zero. Yesterday's twenty-five-mile gale left a reminder in the form of late trains, street car plow gangs and demoralized telephone and telegraph wires, though comparatively little snow had fallen.

Weather bureau officials predicted still colder weather in prospect, and Central Iowa may be visited by a heavy snow in the next day or so.

Burlington Snowbound.

Burlington, Iowa, Feb. 23.—The worst snow storm of the winter struck Burlington last night and street railway traffic was completely paralyzed. Railroad trains were all late.

Cold Wave in Southwest.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 23.—A biting north wind drove temperatures in North Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Kansas down 50 deg. last night. Zero weather with snow prevails over part of the section.

Ohio Is Stormswept.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 23.—With thermometers hovering near zero, Ohio continued today in the grip of a snow storm which had swept the state since early Sunday afternoon. More than eight inches of snow fell throughout the Muskingum valley between 3 p. m. Sunday and 9 a. m. today.

East Gets Its Share.

Washington, Feb. 23.—A howling blizzard is the latest storm to whip the East with icy rains and snow.

Driving snows were falling in the Ohio valley, the Middle Atlantic states and Southern New England, while the South Atlantic and gulf states were having cold rain.

A cold wave following in its wake, it was predicted, would drive down the thermometers south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi. Storm warnings were ordered up all along the Atlantic coast from Cape Henry to Eastport, Me. The probabilities were, however, that the storm will be short lived and pass out to sea by Wednesday, to be followed by warmer weather.

ators elected when Colorado became a state. He was accredited with being an exceptionally fine lawyer, and sprung to the front in national affairs almost at once when he took a leading part in the congressional investigation of the Hayes-Tilden controversy in 1876.

Distinction came to him later in other lines of congressional work. He always took a leading part in discussion of anything economic—on the tariff and monetary questions he was one of the leading debaters. He was a stout champion of the West; any legislation for the development of that portion of the country always found him fighting in the front ranks.

His personal life was unostentatious and simple; those who knew him best say probably no other man in congress ever did more kindnesses for other folk without letting them know about it.

In Arthur's Cabinet.

In 1883 Teller left the senate to enter President Arthur's cabinet as secretary of the interior; but he left that office again in 1885 to re-enter the senate.

While serving his last term he was a member of the national monetary commission, which studied a reformation of the banking and fiscal system of the United States at home and abroad. He continued to serve on that commission until it expired by law, after he had ceased to be a senator, however.

Henry M. Teller was born in Granger, Allegheny county, N. Y., in 1830; had a common school education, topped off by a little while at Alfred university; then studied law, practiced in Binghampton, N. Y., went West to Illinois in 1858 and went on to Colorado in 1861.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD--TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

$5,000,000 capitalization from the commission's inquisitorial powers.

Some Main Provisions.

Some of the main provisions likely to be embodied in the subcommittee's draft of the bill, it is understood, would require:

That all the corporations, joint stock companies and corporate combinations subject to the terms of the bill, annually report all required information, statements and records of their organization, bondholders and stockholders, business practices and relation to other concerns of the same class, and to answer specifically all questions the commission may ask at any time.

That failure to comply within thirty days of the required time would be deemed a misdemeanor, subject to a fine of not exceeding $1,000 for every day of the failure to comply.

That upon its own initiative, or upon reasonable complaint by any person or corporation or firm, the commission "may," and upon the attorney general's request "shall," investigate the organization, conduct and management of any concern subject to its jurisdiction; and if any such is violating the law, the commission shall report to the attorney general, setting forth the acts and practices and what conduct and readjustment of business is necessary for the offending concerns to continue business.

As to Publicity.

This report to be made public only upon the attorney general's direction.

That if the commission, during an investigation, should obtain information concerning unfair competition and practices not necessarily violative of then existing law, it would report this information to the president, upon whose direction alone it would be made public.

That courts be authorized, in any equity suit brought at the instance of the attorney general, to refer, either during progress of the cause or after judgment, to the commission any aspect of the litigation, or any proposed decree, the commission to report its findings to the court to become part of the record in the case.

Recommend Laws.

That the commission report to congress by Dec. 1, each year, giving facts and statistics that would not contravene the limitations on publicity already mentioned, and recommending any necessary additional legislation.

That the commission have, as to all these concerns, the same power and authority as the present law confers on the interstate commerce commission as to railroads and other common carriers, including the right to subpoena witnesses and compel the production of documentary evidence and administering of oaths.

ENGLAND WILL STICK TO "HANDS OFF" POLICY

contained in the information furnished to Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador to the United States, by the state department at Washington, was communicated in official form to the house of commons today by Sir Edward Grey.

Many Press Comments.

The killing of William S. Benton, the Scotch ranchman, by the rebel general, Villa, at Juarez, occupied the most prominent place in all the newspapers of the British Isles today. The Manchester Guardian, one of the leading Liberal papers, says:

"It is impossible not to suspect that the execution of Benton was no better than murder. The facts are pretty clear, but it is difficult to draw any lesson from them except that the Mexican leaders still conduct their warfare with the barbarity of the middle ages, and that President Wilson would be far from the end of his difficulties even though Gen. Huerta were driven from power.

"If there were only one Huerta, Mr. Wilson might be able to obtain the decent government based on the consent of the governed, which he desires for Mexico; but there are too many Huertas. Felix Diaz, Huerta himself, Carranza, Villa—there is little reason to suppose that any one of them would be less despotic than the others or would consent to let Mexico say by whom she would be governed."

"Murder Most Foul."

The Pall Mall Gazette, an opposition organ, under the heading, "It's Murder Most Foul," says the slaying of Benton is an event which touches the honor of the British name to the quick. The newspaper says:

"Even if the body which was styled a court-martial really assembled, and even if its sentence was based on true evidence and fair consideration thereof, Villa and his revolutionary bands had no status as belligerents which entitled them to try the subjects of other powers by court-martial.

"If this pretense at a court-martial should be the only result of the inquiry being made by the United States government, the obligation of the United States to act as the mandatory of civilization will remain."

"Wait With Restrained Emotion."

The Globe says:

"The result of the inquiry conducted by the United States government will be awaited with restrained emotion, but it will have to be very conclusive in its justification of the act inquired into if it is to satisfy not only British, but we are glad to think, American opinion as well."

Referring to President Wilson's refusal to recognize Gen. Huerta as provisional president of Mexico, the Globe asks:

"If it be proved that Villa has unjustifiably done to death a peaceful British resident, how can the principle which condemns Huerta be reconciled with the approbation and support of his adversary? As the American government has undertaken to protect British subjects in Mexico, its obligation to act promptly and effectively in the present case is clear."

Bad Time for Wilson.

The Standard says:

"We cannot believe that the United States government intends to refer Great Britain to Gen. Huerta for satisfaction. Such a policy would be inconsistent with the sense of responsibility which President Wilson must feel for Mexico. It cannot be supposed that President Wilson is feeling easy in his mind over the murder of Benton. He has not only the relations of the United States to Mexico to think of, but also the soundness and the popularity of his own policy."

The Westminster Gazette takes the stand that Villa's proceedings in regard to Benton must be illegal, as the rebels have never been recognized. The government organ concludes:

"The investigation may possibly show that Benton himself was responsible for the dreadful fate meted out to him, but short of that, we believe public opinion on both sides of the Atlantic will demand that the murderers of Benton be brought to book."

Senate Make Take Action.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Developments of the next day or two in the case of William S. Benton, the British ranchman executed by the Constitutionalist general, Villa, at Juarez, probably will determine whether the senate will take a hand in the Mexican situation.

Acting Chairman Shiveley of the foreign relations committee, after a conference with President Wilson, today said if the senate discussed Mexico, it probably would be upon some of the pending resolutions, which for months have been side tracked in order that the administration might be left free to deal with the problem.

There are three such resolutions. One, by Senator Penrose, proposes that United States troops be placed in Mexico as a constabulary for the protection of Americans. Another, by Senator Fall, proposes to put the senate on record to the effect that Americans and their property must be protected. Still another by Senator Sheppard concerns recognition of the belligerency of the Constitutionalists.

If administration leaders let the Mexican situation break out in senate debate, it probably would be upon either or both of the first two.

Benton's Body Demanded.

Secretary Bryan today declined to deny or affirm whether he had demanded production of Benton's body. An examination of its wounds, it was pointed out, probably would disclose whether the Englishman was executed by a firing squad or killed by one shot, and also whether his death was caused by rifle balls or revolver bullets.

Meanwhile no additional details of the killing had been received here, nor had further report been made of the safety of Bauch, an American held as a spy at Chihuahua.

Senator Shively, after conferring with President Wilson, said the Benton incident was "still in the process of investigation." He added that thus far only Villa's version of the affair had been received.

Germans Land Machine Guns.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 23.—The commander of the German cruiser Dresden last night shipped to the German legation in Mexico City two machine guns and 40,000 rounds of ammunition. Accompanying the shipment went a squad of bluejackets from the Dresden in civilian dress.

The detail of bluejackets on duty at the American consulate here was withdrawn and deplaced by a guard of picked marines.

With the contingent of marines recently brought from Colon aboard the Minnesota, the regular complements of the battleships and a further force which is reported now to be on the way here in a navy transport, the total American marine force off Vera Cruz will, in a few days, aggregate one full regiment. The fleet had an appearance of absolute tranquillity today.

That Germany and Great Britain are anxious regarding the situation in the capital is shown by the dispatch recently to their legations there of machine guns and in the case of Germany of a squad of bluejackets.

There has been no objection made to the dispatch of guards for any of the foreign legations in the Mexican capital, with the proviso, however, that they must not exceed a small squad.

The people of Vera Cruz do not seem to be greatly disturbed over conditions and are without much information as to events in other parts of the country.

New Version of Benton Killing.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 23.—The fate of the missing Englishmen, Laurence and Curtis, and the Americans, Bauch and Harry Compton, in Mexico, still was in doubt today. Nor was there any promise that the body of W. S. Benton would be produced by the Juarez authorities. No word was received of the troop train which Gen. Villa, at Chihuahua, said would be bringing fifteen rejected American recruits to Juarez and among whom he suggested that the missing foreigners might be found.

Americans at last obtained a version of the killing of Benton which they believed to be true. It was that Villa knocked Benton down and then had two of his men take the Scotchman into the backyard, where the rebel general presently followed and fired the fatal shot or shots himself.

Bauch Verdict This Week.

The verdict of the supreme military court of the state of Chihuahua, which will decide whether Gustav Bauch, an American charged with being a Federal spy, is guilty of the charge and shall be executed, or whether he is innocent and will be allowed his liberty, will be rendered this week, said Frederico Gonzales Garza, legal adviser to Col. Fidelavila, today. He said Bauch was alive and in the penitentiary in Chihuahua, awaiting final decision of the court which is considering the case.

Although many Americans believed that Bauch was executed in Juarez some time last week, Constitutionalist officials in Juarez firmly maintained that he was taken under guard on Gen. Francisco Villa's special train which left last Friday for the capital city. The Juarez officials even gave this report to United States Consul Thomas D. Edwards of Juarez when he sought information as to whether Bauch had been executed. Consul Edwards said that so far as he could learn, Bauch was in Chihuahua, but he had received nothing official regarding him.

Heard Villa's Threat.

Marion Letcher of Chihuahua, who had been instructed by the department of state to look up the case of Bauch, called on Bauch in his prison in the Juarez theater the day before Villa left for Chihuahua. They talked together for about half an hour. Villa asked him about the charges against hi mand Bauch, who spoke Spanish fluently, maintained that he was innocent of the charge of being a Federal spy. An American was in the party, and at the conclusion of the interview said he heard Villa remark to Bauch:

"I am going to kill all you red flaggers, and I know you are one of them."

Orozco at Capital.

Mexico City, Feb. 23.—Gen. Pasquale Orozco, Jr., who was in command of the Mexican Federal volunteers at Ojinaga, arrived in the capital last night. He hid in Texas until the search for him relaxed, and then recrossed into Mexico. He succeeded in reaching Federal territory only after overcoming the greatest difficulties.

Orozco declared today that he left Ojinaga by order of Gen. Salvador Mercado, the Federal commander-in-chief, before the rebels gained their victory. He says he hid in the hills on the Texas side for two weeks, and finally succeded in reaching and crossing the river near Las Vacas.

The importance of the revolution in the north is exaggerated, according to Gen. Orozco, who declares that Villa recognizes no superior and is moved entirely by his bandit instincts.

El Imparcial and El Pais, the former regarded as a semi-official organ and both pro-administration papers, editorially express the opinion that President Wilson should now be ready to abandon the policy of protecting the rebels, because of the shooting of William S. Benton.

There was evidence at the French cemetery yesterday that reverence still has a place in the minds of many for Francisco Madero. It was the anniversary of his death, and his tomb was visited by hundreds of persons, for the most part women of the better class, who decorated his tomb with flowers and bunting, surmounting all with a small statue emblematic of liberty—the figure of a woman wearing a liberty cap and red sash.

North May Secede.

Chihuahua, Mexico, Feb. 23.—Sentiment is growing among rebel leaders, it is declared here, that if the attack on Torreon is delayed much longer, or if the Federal army succeeds in holding that city, northern Mexico will detach itself from the rest of the country and become an independent republic.

While Gen. Carranza, the civil head of the revolution, and Gen. Villa, the military head, disclaim any intention to be satisfied with anything less than the overthrow of Huerta and the success of the Constitutionalist cause over the entire country, it is known that the plan to establish a northern republic has been seriously considered.

The territory which it is said might be formed into a separate republic embraces the five states along the United States border—Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, with possibly the inclusion of Sinaloa.

From practically all this territory, the Huerta army has been driven out, the chief remaining strongholds of the Federals being at Tampico on the east, Monterey, Saltillo and Torreon on the south, Guaymas on the west and Neuvo Laredo and Piedras Negras on the north.

Villa Losing Prestige.

That by delaying his attack on Torreon, Gen. Villa has lost some of the prestige which he gained in the victory at Ojinaga is conceded here. A prompt assault on Torreon, after the Ojinaga victory six weeks ago, some rebel leaders say, would have given Gen. Villa's troops great moral advantage in routing the Federals. Instead of the Federals in Torreon, under Gen. Refugio Valesco, with ample train and telegraph communication with Mexico City, have opportunities to fortify their position and to overcome much of the terror aroused among the Federal soldiers by the mere mention of Villa's name.

ARRESTED HIS OWN NAMESAKE

On Saturday evening Patrolman O. Olson arrested O. Olson on a charge of drunkenness.

The unusual coincidence in names was not noticed until the prisoner was brought to headquarters and the usual entries made on the police blotter. Here is the way it reads: "O. Olson, arrested for drunkenness, by O. Olson."

Olson, the prisoner, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was fined $1 and costs or three days in the county jail. But Olson was lucky and as Judge Cutting was giving out suspended sentences in memory of Washington's birthday, he was given his freedom.

Steamer Later Reports "The Living Crew Are Saved."

The Lizard, Feb. 23.—"S. O. S." signals from the German steamer Wildenfels were picked up by her sister ship, Trautenfels, and communicated by wireless telegraph to the signal station at The Lizard today.

The distressed Wildenfels was half way across the Bay of Biscay on her way from Hamburg to Calcutta with passengers and freight when the urgent "S. O. S." signals were caught at noon.

A later wireless dispatch from the British steamer La Correntina, bound from La Plata for England says the Wildenfels does not require assistance.

The message ends with the cryptic phrase, "The living crew are saved."

Shipping men here are unable to understand what this means, unless it indicates that there was an explosion on board.

Senator Does Sleuth Stunt.

Kenmare, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The detective ability of State Senator J. A. RUSH TO PAY PERSONAL TAX

Penalty Will Be Incurred for Waiting Until After Feb. 28.

In view of the fact that Saturday, Feb. 28, is the last day on which personal property taxes for 1913 may be paid without penalty, George H. Vivian, county treasurer, expects that the week will be a busy one for his office. The counter rush will probably start tomorrow and it is likely that additional clerks will be hired to expediate affairs.

Collections have been coming in in good shape, according to Joseph Nelson, chief deputy county treasurer, who states that the incoming mail has been quite heavy recently. Most of the larger taxpayers send in their checks, while many of the smaller ones pay over the counter. The 1913 tax on personal property is being collected on a personal property valuation in St. Louis county of $18,964,165 and an average rate of 26.33 mills. This will raise approximately $500,000 in taxes.

On March 1, the personal property taxes unpaid will become delinquent and a 10 per cent penalty will attach. On April 15, the list of delinquent accounts will be turned over to the sheriff's office for collection. The statements of personal property taxes for 1913 were mailed out by the county treasurer on Jan. 2.

Real estate taxes are paid in two installments, one-half before May 31 and the balance before Oct. 31. If the first half is not paid on or before May 31, a 10 per cent penalty will attach to the entire amount. If the second half is in arrears, a penalty of 10 per cent will be imposed on the half remaining unpaid. Many taxpayers who believe in avoiding the rush are already sending in their checks for their real estate taxes.

Among the larger personal property taxpayers who have already settled with the county treasurer for 1913 are the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, which paid $14,508.38 and the Consolidated Elevator company, which was assessed $13,785.62. The Duluth Street Railway company will pay the largest property tax in the county. The amount due is $45,455.51. A check for this amount is expected from the traction company this week.

WOMEN AS OFFICERS

Chief Troyer in Accord With Federation of Women's Clubs.

Believes They Would Do Valuable Work in Duluth.

Chief of Police Troyer favors patrolwomen for Duluth and is of the belief that they could do very effective work in this city. He made this statement in answer to a question regarding his opinion of the recommendations made by the state federation of women's clubs in session at St. Paul favoring women police officers for all the cities of Minnesota.

"I am of the opinion," said Chief Troyer, "that policewomen could become a strong influence in the protection of the girls in Duluth and those coming to this city from the range and country towns. There is no doubt but what they could accomplish what male officers are unable to handle, and that is, caring for young girls arriving at railroad stations.

"I am of the belief that such a feature will mean an increased expenditure on the part of the police department and we are already compelled to keep our expenses down as much as possible. We have twice been refused additional officers, on account of the reduction in expenses.

"The women officers in other cities are doing very effective work and I would favor their addition to our force, should the city commission permit it. They are especially needed in all the large cities of the country."

CHEAP BOARD IS NECESSITY

Mrs. A. L. Atwood Advocates Institution Where Girls May Find Quarters.

Mrs. Agnes L. Atwood of the state free employment bureau states that she is receiving considerable encouragement in the project which she has broached to establish in this city a boarding home where girls working for small salaries could obtain good accommodations at prices within their means.

This morning she received a letter from a prominent business man, who declared that he is heartily in favor of such a home, and volunteered a subscription of $50 to start a fund to help it on. She asserts that others have spoken very favorably of the proposed home. Mrs. Atwood believes that it would fill a great need in this city, as similar places are doing in other large municipalities of the country. She has not gathered any statistics, but says that her work at the free employment bureau has convinced her of the need of such an institution.

"What I would like to se started in Duluth is a real boarding home for girls on small salaries," said Mrs. Atwood today; "a comfortable, homey place, supervised by the right woman, where from thirty to fifty girls could be provided with the necessities of life for a certain sum per week—as small a sum as our locality will permit.

"Duluth needs such a place to supplement its industrial growth, the same as other cities have. While daily observation proves the necessity of such a place, no exact figures are available, although they could be gotten together in a short time, if enough people would lend their influence. One real estate man has already offered his assistance.

"If such homes were numerous and no other forces were at work to bring about better conditions, we might fear a tendency to keep down the wage scale; but as it is, I do not see that they in any way affect the problem of wages as a whole. It simply means a more judicious way, planned by others, of spending what they are already paying out, and at the same time supplying a wholesome environment instead of an unwholesome one, as is the case in many instances. The experience of other cities has been that such places succeed best that are made as absolutely uninstitutional as possible, allowing the girls to follow their natural normal tendencies, with careful supervision.

HAS HOMES FOR GIRLS

City Already Has Y. W. C. A. and Girls' Industrial Home.

The necessity of a boarding house for working girls urged by Mrs. Agnes L. Atwood of the state free employment bureau is questioned by other social workers in Duluth.

Just last fall the girls' industrial home was opened at Sixteenth avenue east and London road, and that institution is able to care for from twenty to twenty-five girls, according to Mrs. Mabel McPherrin, matron in charge. She said this morning that there are only seven girls there now, and with a five-room addition that is being planned for the basement, at least ten more girls can be accommodated.

Any homeless girl may obtain a room at the industrial home upon making application to the proper authorities. They could pay a regular weekly rate and would live in a very comfortable home. A girl unable to pay for her bed and board would be cared for anyway, and they would be taught to become efficient housekeepers.

Miss Bertha Rowles, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., said this morning that the institution is equipped to care for ninety girls, and that it rarely turns an applicant down. There are now eighty girls there, she said.

Escaped Inmate Brought Back.

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 23.—H. H. Decker, an inmate of the state reformatory, who escaped from the institution and was captured in Mason City, Iowa, was brought back here by State Agent D. H. Knickerbocker. He will now be retained in the institution four years unless paroled. Decker was sentenced from Anoka for grand larceny. He served a year when he escaped last summer.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes upset stomachs feel fine in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach! It's so unnecessary.

Faints in Church.

During the services at the First M. E. church yesterday morning, Mrs. Henry Dworshak of 919 East Fifth street was taken suddenly ill. After a fainting spell, she was assisted from the church by her husband, who accompanied her, and taken to The Herald office. Later she recovered sufficiently to be taken to her home.

Working on Holiday.

Today is not a holiday for the city employes in the division of Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss. The finance commissioner was on the job in person this morning as were the employes of the treasurer's, auditor's and assessor's offices. The other offices in the city hall were closed, the day being observed as a legal holiday.

Seeking His Brother.

James Mulligan of Homestead, Pa., has written Chief Troyer regarding the disappearance of his brother, Michael, who is supposed to have come to Duluth some time last fall from Gary, Ind. The former states in his communication that his brother has failed to write home since last April and that recently he heard of the latter's removal to an insane asylum in this state. The brother wants this report confirmed and any information Chief Troyer may be able to give him.

Rescues a Farmer.

In answer to a telephone call from Woodland avenue and Seventh street Saturday afternoon, Patrolman Wanvick found Joseph Guyette, a farmer living a few miles out of the city, lying in his wagon. The man was brought to headquarters and his horse taken to the Totman livery stable. Guyette was yesterday allowed to go home.

Two Chimney Fires.

A defective chimney caused a small blaze at 5005 Dodge street Saturday afternoon. The damage was slight. Another chimney caught fire early last evening at Fifty-eighth avenue west and caused nominal damage.

Attends Bankers' Meeting.

Ancient Case on Trial.

A jury was drawn in Judge Cant's division of the district court this morning to try the long delayed lawsuit of Ephraim A. Trenholm against the Cloquet Lumber company. Trenholm is demanding $8,000 damages for malicious prosecution following his arrest on a charge of destroying a dam of the company thirteen years ago.

Union Church Notes.

This evening the Bible study class of the Union church will meet at the home of Rev. B. V. Black, Chatham flats, on Tuesday night. The Christian Endeavor society will assist with the Bethel service. The Wednesday evening prayer service will be dispensed with in order to allow the congregation to hear Daniel Poling at the First Presbyterian church. On Friday evening the church council will meet with the pastor at his home.

Old Resident Dies.

Joseph Ignasiak, 62 years old, for thirty years a resident of Duluth, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1118 Lake avenue north, following a short illness. He is survived by a widow and three children. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning from the Polish church, Third avenue east and Fifth street. Interment will be at the Polish cemetery.

Will Address Office Men.

Daniel Poling, noted lecturer, will address the Duluth Association of Office Men on Wednesday at noon, during the regular weekly dinner of the association. Mr. Poling, who has gained much note on the lecture platform, ran for governor of Ohio on the Prohibition platform a few years ago.

Getting Up Exhibit.

Dr. J. S. Johnson of Minneapolis was here Saturday afternoon conferring with local business men and with the officers of the Duluth Commercial club regarding their share of a Minnesota exhibit to be sent to Christiania, Norway, next year. The club will furnish scores of photographs of scenes in and around Duluth.

Approves Pension Bill.

John G. McEwen camp, No. 6, United Spanish War veterans, will probably adopt resolutions asking congress to take immediate steps to pass the widows' and orphans' pension bill which is now before the house. At a meeting of the camp to be held Wednesday evening at Memorial hall, in the courthouse, the question will be brought up. It is probable that a petition will be circulated among the members and this will be forwarded to Congressman Miller and Senators Nelson and Clapp.

H. H. HANFORD PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Duluthian Dies at Home After Brief Illness.

Heber H. Hanford, 68 years old, one of Duluth's pioneer business men, died this noon at his residence, 2021 Woodland avenue, after an illness of but a few days of Bright's disease. Death was not unexpected by members of the family, all of whom were at his bedside when the end came.

Mr. Hanford was taken ill last week and was attended by Dr. A. C. Taylor. Besides a widow, he is survived by one son, Arthur, and one daughter, Bertha, both of Duluth. No funeral arrangements have been made.

He was born at Carmel, N. Y., on Sept. 13, 1846, and came to Duluth in December, 1881. Upon arriving here he organized the Bradley & Hanford Lumber company with A. W. and E. L. Bradley, and was connected with this organization for many years. Five years ago he organized the Hanford Construction company, with which he was connected up to his death. His son, Arthur, is secretary-treasurer of the company.

Mr. Hanford was very prominent in Duluth as an active worker for charitable institutions, and for twenty years was president of the Duluth Bethel. He was also an active member of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church congregation.

He married Miss Sarah Osborne at Norwalk, Ohio, in 1873.

DULUTH ACTOR HOME.

Al Smith Returns at Close of His Company's Season.

Al Smith of this city, who left last August to join an Eastern theatrical company in "The Price," a modern drama, returned this afternoon to spend the next few weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Smith, 1829 East Fourth street.

Mr. Smith joined the company in Chicago and has toured the country during the last six months. The tour of "The Price" came to a close in Wyoming last week and Mr. Smith decided to return to Duluth for a visit. He will rejoin the company when it opens for another tour during this spring.

During the tour, Mr. Smith, who played one of the important roles, made an enviable record and newspapers throughout the South and East particularly, spoke very favorably of his work.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

AMPLE ASSURANCE OF IMMUNITY

Col. Taylor, Chief of U. S. Engineers, Positive as to Lake Level.

"We are assured that Duluth interests will not suffer through the granting of permission to the Michigan Northern Power company to build a dam at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.," said G. Roy Hall, who has just returned from Washington.

"Col. Taylor, chief ranking engineer of the war department, informed Representative Miller, Mr. Barnes and myself, that any changing of the Lake Superior water levels will not be permitted by the government. He averred that the engineers would see to it that navigation and private interests here are fully protected in any work undertaken."

MOVE SCHOOL THREE MILES

Two flat cars and a locomotive were brought into play last week when a schoolhouse was moved for a distance of three miles and deposited on a site near the townsite of Cook, twenty-eight miles north of Virginia. The building will be used to replace School No. 1 of Organized District No. 41 which was destroyed by fire on Jan. 4 last.

After the fire, members of the school board, decided to make use of an unused school building three miles away in the same district. The building was cut in two, hauled a half mile to the railroad track, loaded on two flat cars and hauled by rail a distance of two and one-half miles. The present site of the school is only a few rods from the railway tracks.

In rebuilding the structure, a ten-foot extension will be made and other alterations provided for. The school will be ready for occupancy next Monday.

M. Murry, Scranton, and E. A. Pray, Valley City.

A Blow Below the Belt

We wonder sometimes, when we see a chap fall,
When everything seemed his way;
Why he took the "count" in spite of the "call"
To "force the fight" and "stay."
We wonder how he lost his grit,
But don't know how he felt;
When whiskey won and he had to quit
With a "blow below the belt."

We wonder sometimes, when we see a chap rise,
From the blows of old "John Barleycorn;"
How he managed to win and "beat the game"
Of the whiskey that led him on,
We wonder how he got his "hold"
And gave alcohol such a "welt."
'Twas the "NEAL WAY" did it, in "JUST THREE DAYS"
With a "blow below the belt."

The Neal Treatment is a harmless, purely vegetable remedy, taken internally and administered at the Neal Institute by regular physicians. There are no hypodermic injections.

Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," is yours for the asking. Mailed in plain sealed envelope.

Woman's Realm

Duluth women who have returned from the mid-winter breakfast and two-day meeting of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's clubs held in St. Paul Friday and Saturday of last week are enthusiastic in their reports of the work done and the plans for the year.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows of this city, who is the state federation treasurer, said this morning: "The meeting was perfectly delightful all through. The breakfast on Friday was charmingly planned and the talks which followed were of general interest. The exhibition of folk dances given by Miss Browers' classes after the talks was especially enterthining and well done.

"I think some of the most important work taken up by the federation for the year is the backing of plans for a woman's reformatory and the members were asked to urge the cooperation of their clubs for the securing of such an institution for the state.

Police Women.

"Another project which they will take up and work for especially during the year is the establishment of police women in the various cities and towns. The federation urges the women's clubs all over the state to make that one of their particular aims and even in towns of small size it is urged that a police woman be appointed who can serve also in other capacities if her work would not keep her busy all of the time. They have four in St. Paul and it was partly through the efforts of the federation that they were placed there and the results from their work, the women feel, justify them in urging the appointment of women all over the state."

Asked about her efforts toward the establishment of the city and county hospital in Duluth while in St. Paul, Mrs. Barrows said that she took the matter up with the attorney general for assistance to get special legislation for Duluth in the matter, but this business was not taken up with the federation.

Morals Commission.

The federation took official action on a number of questions of state importance, including indorsement of the appointment of a morals commission for Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis by the legislature with power to act; appointment of a recreation committee as part of the civic department of the federation to take up municipal amusement for adults as well as children all over the state; a plea for baby health contests and bread-baking contests as a part of every county fair; urging the appointment by the legislature of town planning commissions to have control over the arrangements of parks and playgrounds and the placing of public buildings in relation to each other; the passage of a town planning law controlling the arrangement of cities with regard to health, convenience and beauty; indorsed the work of the consolidated schools; recommended the efforts to secure a governmental postage stamp which shall bear some symbol of peace, and thus serve to keep alive the ideal of harmony among the nations.

The anti-tuberculosis work done by Duluth clubs was praised by Mrs. W. J. Marcley of Minneapolis, chairman of the public health committee. She urged more systematic assistance by women in the campaign for county sanitariums.

At the Saturday afternoon session the discussion of the drama and recreation movement was the feature of the program with Dr. Richard Burton of the University of Minnesota and Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour of the St. Paul Art Institute as the principal speakers.

"The theater is a people's church," said Dr. Burton. "It might be a place to teach us religion, but now it is a half-way house to hell. It is a civic duty to make the theater a place of education and religion and uplift. The theater takes the place of literature in the lives of millions, and its influence for good or bad lasts all their lifetime. Things seen are mightier than things heard, which is why the playhouse is such a factor in character formation."

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour spoke on the recreation movement.

"America is not degenerating physically, but it is degenerating socially," she said. "We are making no provision to carry on the social traditions of our immigrants. We must construct a social program for our young people of other nations. Now they are amalgamating, but not assimilating. America is not a melting pot—it is a boiling pot."

Zenith Lodge No. 99, Degree of Honor, will give a benefit card party tomorrow afternoon at Maccabee hall. Five hundred will be played, the games beginning at 2:30 o'clock, and all members and their friends are cordially invited.

An American patriotic program will be given this evening at the regular meeting of Duluth council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans at K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. The business session will open at 8 o'clock and the program will begin at 9:15. The numbers have been arranged by W. E. McEwen and J. A. McLaughlin, members of the program committee, and will include dramatic readings by Miss Gertrude O'Neill of Minneapolis, vocal solos by Miss Margaret Linrehan with accompaniments by Miss Lecarde Ellason, pianist, and Edward Dillon, violinist; violin solos by Edward Dillon, vocal duet by the little Misses Leonard and readings by Master McWatty.

All the numbers will be of a patriotic nature.

Church Meetings.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. E. Kethel, 314 Second avenue east, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Endion Circle of the First Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. W. H. Cook, 2505 East Second street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Personal Mention.

A. M. Childs of Crookston, Minn., is a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Starkey, 5909 London road, enroute to North Yakima, Wash.

Miss Ella Gamble of 5415 Oneida street left Saturday for Minneapolis to spend a week with Miss Mary Gray of that city.

Mrs. W. E. Culkin of Hunter's Park has returned from a two months' stay at St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Buckle of North Branch are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Underhill of 2021 East Fourth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Morse of Minneapolis are guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Murphy, 215½ East Fifth street, for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Salisbury of Minneapolis are the parents of a son, born Feb. 17. Mrs. Salisbury was formerly Miss Eleanor Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Warner of Hunter's Park.

Mrs. Clell D. Hibbard of 1722 Jefferson street returned Saturday from Houghton, Mich., where she spent last week.

Mrs. T. McNamara of St. Paul is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank O'Connell of No. 2 Osborne block for a fortnight.

Mrs. Fred Engels of 20 North Sixteenth avenue east is spending the week with Mrs. John D. Elliott in Minneapolis.

BUYERS RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP

A. W. Cleveland, vice president and manager of the French & Bassett company, returned Saturday from an inspection of the Chicago, Grand Rapids and Eastern markets.

Mr. Cleveland was joined in Grand Rapids by Horace Brown, manager of the special furnishing, drapery and rug departments, continuing their trip to New York and other Eastern markets, where extensive purchases of high-class and up-to-the-moment merchandise were made. "It has been several years since so thorough an inspection of the markets in general has been made by this firm's representatives," said Mr. Cleveland, "and the generally prosperous condition of this community has warranted the French & Bassett company in placing liberal orders for immediate shipment. With the opening of the spring season the establishment will be filled with the newest merchandise and in such quantities that it will be a revelation to the people at the Head of the Lakes and ranges."

Read the repair ads on page 13 tonight. Now is the time to fix up for spring.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

More Children Are Helped Than Hindered By Parents.

"After children are 18 or 19 years old, their parents are more of a hindrance than a help to them. Parents ought to be wiped off the slate of children's consideration in order that they may accomplish something worth while in this world."

So, anyway, declares Prof. Mussey of Columbia university, assistant in economics. He bases his contention on observations of young people fresh from college. They leave their alma maters all enthusiasm for great deeds and accomplishments, but the moment they come under the influence of their parents the work of hindrance begins. Some parents want them to stop a while and have a good time. Others are bound that their children shall engage in some line of endeavor exactly opposite to that they have selected.

Prof. Mussey, who also advances the original argument, that most people after they are 25 do not take kindly to any changes in their viewpoints—will not, if they can help it, consort with any new ideas.

Certain it is, that my ideas are at a standstill, if it does not surprise the father and mother of the average college graduate of either sex to be informed that their "antiquated notions" have any hindering effect upon their offspring. Young America, from my observation of his preparations for setting the world on fire, rarely allows anything as inconsequential as his parents' opinion or influence to interfere with his plans.

Probably one of the strongest blows to the hopes of parents after they have brought their children to maturity, by no one knows how many sacrifices to their personal ambitions, is the ease with which the children set aside supposed privileges of parental advice and influence.

Of course there is such a thing as keeping the young on a dependent basis too long. Fortunately, most young people have to strike out for themselves when school or college is done. In any class of society where a disposition to the opposite occurs, the parents should have no hesitancy in pushing the timid or ambitionless child forward and help him to make a good fight.

It is true that many a young person has been encouraged to do nothing with his powers until it is too late. But the number that have been hindered by their parents do not compare in any way with those who have been helped by the experience and wisdom of their elders. If they would be more attentive, greater would be their progress over rough roads.

LAWSON IS APPOINTED

Will Have Charge of Maintenance Work for the City.

Big Program for Coming Season--Eliminating Contract Work.

James G. Lawson, manager of the Minnesota Engineering company, will become superintendent of construction and maintenance of the division of public works. He will succeed to the position held last season by George J. Bloedel, whose resignation became effective Jan. 1.

The announcement was made today by Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works. He will offer a resolution at the council meeting tomorrow afternoon fixing the salary of the position at $2,000 a year.

Mr. Lawson will co-operate with City Engineer John Wilson and be under his general direction. The city engineer will have charge of all new construction and in the capacity of an assistant Mr. Lawson will have supervision of the entire maintenance division and of all repair work or pavement reconstruction. As the works division has outlined an ambitious and heavy program for the coming season Mr. Lawson will have no easy task. Mr. Murchison said today that because the works division expects to do more reconstruction work than ever before he was especially anxious to obtain a competent engineer to have charge of that branch of activity and in Mr. Lawson he is confident that he has the services of one who will be of invaluable assistance in carrying out the contemplated schedule.

In addition to practically rebuilding several important thoroughfares and enlarging the amount of sewer work done by day labor, Commissioner Murchison is seriously considering doing much of the season's sidewalk building by day labor. He states that the city is obliged to have inspectors on all jobs and that much repairing and relaying of walks is done by city gangs under the direction of the street commissioners in the various districts. He feels that it would be but a short and easy step to enlarge this field so that all sidewalks would be laid by the city, except in such cases where the property owners wished to have the work done by private contractors. He believes that as good or better results could be obtained by doing the work in this manner as under the contract system which has been in vogue for many years, and that it would mean a material saving to the property owners.

In his annual report Commissioner Murchison stated that as far as conditions warranted the works division would be disposed to take direct charge of special street improvements, the most important of which is pavement construction, gradually doing away with the contract system.

Will Present Play.

"My Mysterious Friend," an attractive three-act play, will be presented by the Dramatic club of the Cathedral high school at the auditorium of the school tomorrow evening.

Albert S. Hart will play the role of the "Rev. James Tweedles," and the remainder of the cast, selected from the club membership, is said to be strong and well fitted for the parts. The success of the rehearsals lead those in charge to believe that the play will be presented with great success.

Dry Cleaning and Clean Dyeing

There is a great deal of difference in dry-cleaning work. Many dry-cleaners are satisfied to put the work through one or two processes. Every garment entrusted to my care goes through my dry-cleaning process at least four times and is returned to you faultlessly cleaned and carefully pressed with every spot and stain taken out.

My prices are very moderate.

I have the best equipped dry-cleaning and dyeing plant in the Middle West.

ATTEND NATIONAL SCHOOL MEETING

Two St. Louis County Superintendents Go to Richmond, Va.

St. Louis county will have at least two representatives at the annual National Convention of School Superintendents which will be held the latter part of this week at Richmond, Va.

M. A. Morse, superintendent of schools at Buhl, and Supt. H. E. White of the Ely schools, left Saturday for the Eastern city to attend the convention. H. E. Flynn, superintendent of the Two Harbors schools, Lake county, accompanied them.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of the Duluth schools, had planned to attend the convention, but was unable to join the local delegation owing to other matters requiring his immediate attention.

STRUCK BY AUTO; ASKS DAMAGES

Virginia Man Sues Owners and Driver--Fractures and Bruises.

For being struck, knocked down and injured by an automobile, John Majetich, Virginia, wants $3,000 damages from Butler Bros., stripping contractors and owners of the car, and Emmett Butler, driver. Suit to recover this amount was begun in district court today.

Majetich alleges that about 11 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 28 last, he was run down by the Butler car on one of the streets of Virginia. He claims that no signal or warning of danger was given him.

A severe fracture of the bones of one of his arms and numerous other bruises was the extent of his injuries, he states.

EMPLOYERS SETTLE CLAIMS.

Two Cases of Personal Injury Adjusted Under New Law.

James R. Everington, 37, has received $123 from his employer, R. T. Williams, Island Lake, Minn., for a compound fracture of the bones of his ankle received in an accident on Oct. 28, 1913. The settlement was approved by Judge Bert Fesler in district court today.

Tony Boyak, 19, fractured his right collar bone in an accident Nov. 7 at the plant of the Duluth Crushed Stone company, West Duluth. Judge Cant in district court today approved a settlement of $1.03.12 for the injury.

Both settlements were made in accordance with the schedule of compensation defined in the employer's liability act.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY DESPONDENT?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.

NEW BUILDING FOR SUPERIOR STREET

The contract for the building of a two-story commercial building at No. 27 West Superior street has been let by M. L. Davies of Chicago, owner of the frontage, to Berquist Bros. The present old frame structure now on the property will be dismantled at once, and the building of the new block proceeded with. It will entail an outlay of $10,000. Wangenstein & Gilluson were the architects.

CHURCHES SHOULD CONTINUE WORK

The statement that "Most worship now going on" is "machine-made religion" and that ministers are "factory-made," as credited to Ensign W. E. Graham of the Salvation Army by the News Tribune this morning, was denied by the Salvation Army chief today. In a statement to The Herald Graham said:

"I am in hearty sympathy with the churches and ministers of Duluth and I did not make any such statements as the quotations in the morning paper gave me credit for making. What I did say regarding the 'Go to Church Sunday' movement, was that the campaign should be continued for six months and that services should be made and kept as attractive as possible, so as to arouse enthusiasm and general interest.

"We did all we could to co-operate with the churches in the movement and our attendance at all the services yesterday were large, and great interest was shown by those attending."

The Salvation Army has been making a campaign for the last month and about forty have been added to the list of converts to the army. Ten wes the number for which the Duluth organization was to strive in the campaign.

FEUDALISM.

The Toledo Blade has an interesting theory by which it accounts for the stubborn resistance of the Copper country mine-owners to the urging of their workmen.

"It is not all because of dislike for the Western Federation of Miners," says the Blade, "though that is the explanation the magnates give. Probably if they spoke from their hearts they would say that they are holding out because they think the strikers have been guilty of the basest ingratitude.

"For have they not—you can imagine the mine-owners demanding with indignation and much beating of fists—provided the workmen with an industrial school and a hospital, charged a low rental for homes, guarded the innocent against temptations that might crop up around the shafthouses, done a score of things in the way of benevolences which the ordinary industrial concern has never thought of doing?

"You see the copper magnates have been pleased to think of themselves as the feudal lords of old thought of their privileges and duties in the arrangement of the universe. They would house the miners better than most miners are housed. They would govern their towns for them and save them from exercising the responsibilities of citizens. They would teach their children. When accident befel they would cuddle the injured between clean sheets and feed them with steaming broth. It seemed a happy arrangement, and the mine-owners must have been grieved beyond measure when the men forgot all these kindnesses and went out on strike.

What the magnates did not know, what they do not appear to realize now, is that there is an every-day application in Patrick Henry's deathless sentence, 'As for me, give me liberty or give me death.' It was not in them to understand that men would actually prefer a 'crust of bread and liberty' to bath-houses, hospitals, schools and government—not by, but for them."

The Blade, we suspect, has not made a bad diagnosis.

The feeling is much like the feeling would have been of the good lord of the manor who, in feudal times, found his benevolent tyranny repaid by base ingratitude when his villeins, inspired by aliens teaching the abstract idea of liberty, revolted against his rule—a rule that, though benevolent to his serfs, was yet more benevolent to himself.

Between cruel feudalism and kind feudalism, of course everybody favors the kind variety.

The trouble is, though, that most everywhere we have got past the days of feudalism.

Speaking of the go-to-church matter—did it hurt much?

A PRETTY THING TO DO.

President Wilson, it is said, is thinking of appointing former Senator Blackburn of Kentucky as a member of the Lincoln memorial commission to succeed the late Senator Cullom.

Senator Blackburn is a Confederate veteran. His armed hand was raised against the government of which Lincoln was the head. Yet now it is proposed to make him a member of a commission which has charge of the erection of a noble monument to the memory of him who saved the Republic Joe Blackburn sought to divide.

How about it?

The Cincinnati Times-Star says: "The appointment would be most appropriate. Throughout the Civil war Lincoln acted on the theory that the South was a part of this Republic and that its citizens were his brothers. He fought not as an aggressor, but in defense of a principle." And so did Joe Blackburn; though it was the wrong principle and the losing principle.

And from the extreme South, comes this from the New Orleans States: "The war is over in its fullest sense, and the designation of Senator Blackburn as a member of the Lincoln memorial commission would put the [illegible] on a closed book of history. We believe that the spirit of the man whom the memorial honors would give approval to this appointment."

Who can doubt it? Lincoln would be the last man to hold a grudge. Had he been spared the attack of a mad Southerner, the nation would have been spared the horrors of Reconstruction. The war would have been over in truth a generation before it actually was over.

But it is over now, in deed and in truth. The selection of an ex-Confederate as an associate of those who in behalf of a united nation are honoring the man who reunited it would be ideally admirable; and his is a mean spirit indeed who would cavil at it.

It is reliably reported that there will be no American baseball training camps south of the Rio Grande.

"RUCKUS."

You live and learn.

The New York Sun, which is a sort of specialist in rare words, is mightily puzzled by a word used by Senator Stone in a letter to Senator Kern about the Panama canal tolls:

> It does not seem to me that there is the least occasion for starting a ruckus.

The Sun is careless enough to betray its lack of learning by asking if there is such a word as "ruckus:"

> We all know how to start or raise a "rumpus;" to go on the "rampage;" well all of us know "ructions" and the raising thereof. "Rambustious" is familiar to an unselect few; "rambunction" and its loud adjective "rambunctious" are in many mouths. "Canting" dictionaries may be milked for strong if not sweet colloquialisms such as "rumbustication" and "rumgumption" and "rambuskious." Also "rumsnitch," apparently an elder brother of the modern "punch in the nose." "Rant," "racket" and "rakehell" are still with us; so are "rapscallion" and we don't know how many more "r's" of power and excitement; sprung, perhaps, from omomatopoeia and thieves' or gypsies' boozing ken, and now carrying, many of them, impudent noses high in "the best society" of speech.
> Is "ruckus" a Missouri cousin of that boisterous brigade? Or is it a misprint? Let us not burst in ignorance. Bet Missouri "show."

The Sun is handicapped by insular ignorance. Manhattan may not know "ruckus" as a word, though it knows the article itself only too well. Perhaps the land of nutmegs and mosquitoes and fried cakes and baked beans knows it not.

But it need not be left to Missouri to "show" this word. All the West can show it. Even though the Sun's dictionary and thesaurus fail to illumine the darkness of its benightedness, it could scarcely set foot off Manhattan island without being enlightened. Yet set foot off Manhattan is more than the Sun can do.

Let it be said, for the instruction of our contemporary, that "ruckus" is a word in perfectly good standing almost anywhere west of the Ohio.

George Pattulo, who knows the West and who writes good stories about it, in last week's Saturday Evening Post has a story of the Southwest in which one of his people inquires: "Anybody heard of any ruckus?"

And nobody was shocked by the word, because everybody had heard it before—everybody, apparently, except the Sun.

The Thaw arguments having been concluded, Evelyn's next chance at the head lines will be when the decision is given.

BACKWARD STATES.

In reproaching Illinois for its backwardness in political progress, the Chicago Evening Post has developed the fact that there are now but fourteen states out of the forty-eight in the Union that have failed to require publicity of campaign expenditures.

What, for the matter of that, is Oklahoma doing in that company? Oklahoma, which seemed at the beginning of its statehood to be out for the world's record for progressive legislation? There will be little surprise to find Utah, Rhode Island and Delaware in the list. We would not have expected to find Texas there. And of course Illinois and Massachusetts ought to get out of such company as fast as they can.

The fact is that publicity of campaign expenditures—and receipts—is so fundamental an essential to clean elections that there ought to be no state in the Union that does not require it.

But if you have any doubt as to the character of the Bull Moose party, just try to imagine it with anybody other than the man in South America as its presidential candidate.

Of course, if Johnny Bull should seem inclined to be at all "nawsty" about that Benton affair, it might be possible for Uncle Sam to raise the embargo on foreign nations in Mexico.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young insisted upon paying her income tax, while some men were trying to figure out a way to avoid paying theirs. Which of course is no sign that she is any worse citizen than some people who are allowed more extended suffrage privileges than she.

"Watered" Labor

Editorial in Omaha World-Herald.

The Wall Street Journal, commenting on the problem of watered stocks, reaches the interesting conclusion that the stock of the workingman—to wit, his ability to labor—is about the worst of all. There is no water, it avers, in the stocks of American railroads. They are, if anything, under-capitalized. "But there is excessive water in American railroad labor," and if there is to be a return to general prosperity, this sage of the stock jobbers declares, "the squeezing out of this water is a necessary preliminary." Nor is the evil confined to railroad labor. There is the building industry. The situation is a grave one. Skyscrapers and apartment houses uniformly fail to pay a fair return on the investment. Why? Because of "the watered labor put into their construction." A New York bricklayer, for example, gets $3.15 a day! Horrible! He "is not worth it." And "the difference between what the union exacts and what the workman produces is water." This water, the Wall Street Journal asserts, must be squeezed out before real estate is placed on a sound basis."

It would be a simple matter to dismiss this novel theory by growing red in the face and hurling hard names at its champion. But it is better worth while dispassionately to examine its merits. Is it true that the New York bricklayer is overpaid, that he is looting society just as the Morgan syndicate looted the New Haven railroad, when he demands, and receives $3.15 for a day's work? And is "the same thing true of the other workmen in the building trades," as the Journal asserts, and of union workmen in general?

Take the bricklayer for example. Presumably he is a married man, with a home and a family. At least he has a right to be. And as an American citizen he ought to be. Also as an American citizen, giving honest work for an honest living, he is entitled surely, to a wage sufficient to enable him to clothe himself and his family decently, to give them respectable shelter, to feed them three meals a day, to send the children to school, and to pay his doctor's bills. These things are necessities of life. If a workingman who works, and isn't a loafer or a wastrel, is not entitled, in return for his labor, to enough to enable him to meet these essential expenses, then all workingmen should be knocked on the head with an ax and finished for good and all. There would be no place for them in our society.

Now, this bricklayer, if he worked six days every week, through every week in the year, would earn, at the "watered" wage mentioned, $1,040. As a matter of fact, of course, owing to the uncertain demand for labor, and to the exigencies of the weather, he is given the opportunity to work for only about 40 weeks instead of 52, which would make his real earnings for the year $800. But let us not stick at the point. Presume the average New York bricklayer works steadily through the year and earns $1,040. How much of that $1,040 is "water?" What share of it has he stolen from society?

Fortunately the answer is ready at hand. For the New York Society for Improving the Condition of the Poor has just completed an extensive and thorough survey of family conditions and the cost of living in that metropolis. And it finds that "cost for the maintenance of a family of five, two adults and three children under 14, in Manhattan, is $1,080 a year," and that "in order to maintain self-respect and the proper conditions of family life between $1,150 and $1,200 a year is required." This includes less than $20 a month for rent and light, and 8-cent lunches for the breadwinner. It makes no provision for amusements, for vacations, nor for any of the pleasures of the lighter side for which little children, as well as men and women, hunger.

This union bricklayer, then, working steadily, without laying off even on Christmas or the Fourth of July or for illness or funerals, is able to earn, even on his "watered" wage something less than a respectable living. As a matter of fact, counting only the days he really does work, he earns some $800 a year. He is left with a choice of alternatives. He can give up the struggle for self-respect, and with his family live without decency or privacy or hope of the future the best way he can. Or he can take his wife from the home, and put her to work at some gainful occupation, or take the children out of school and put them to work.

Is this bricklayer overpaid? Even if he were paid enough to enable him to acquire a modest home and equip it with comforts; to take his wife to the theater occasionally; to carry life insurance; to spend a week or two, every year, with his family in the country, and lay up a very little for old age—even then would he be overpaid?

It is a question of what the laboringman amounts to in the scheme of things. If he has an immortal soul; if his family is dear to him; if he has the public school education the law contemplates; if he renders to society an essential and honorable service, then, surely, he is not overpaid, surely his "stock" is not "watered," when he is paid a little less than enough to live on respectably.

Prayer.

Jeremy Taylor: Prayer is an action of likeness to the Holy Ghost, the spirit of gentleness and love—like simplicity; an initiation of the holy Jesus, whose spirit is meek up to the greatness of the biggest example; and a conformity to God, whose anger is always just, and marches slowly, and is without transportation, and often hindered, and never hasty; and is full of mercy; prayer is the peace of our spirit, the stillness of our thoughts, the evenness of recollection, the seat of meditation, the rest of our cares and the calm of our tempest; prayer is the issue of a quiet mind, or untroubled thoughts; it is the daughter of charity, and the sister of meekness; and he that prays to God with an angry, that is, with a troubled and discomposed spirit, is like him that retires into a battle to meditate, and sets up his closet in the outquarters of an army, and chooses a frontier garrison to be wise in. Anger is a perfect alienation of the mind from prayer, and, therefore, is contrary to that attention which presents our prayers in a right line to God.

Tinhorn Sports.

West Plains, Mo., Journal: Speaking of warts, it is said there is quite a bunch of tinhorn sports around town, not the real, genuine gamblers like we used to have years ago, but just cheap skates, sorter "near gamblers" like, who imagine that staking the dimes their wives and mothers earn over the wash tub or at labor added to what they can get by petty pilfering, mooching off their friends and an occasional day's work on their own part shows that they are the "tu-huff" boys. Spank 'em!

It Costs to Be a Genius

Editorial in the Philadelphia Ledger.

The sufferings of the musical artist from his own exotic sensibilities are traditional. The great composer, Tschaikowsky wrote of a visit to England: "In consequence of my peculiar temperament I tormented and worried myself to fiddle strings." To his friend, Davidoff, he said: "I suffer from torments that cannot be put into words—a hatred of strangers, and an indefinable terror." Even in dreams he saw "flats and sharps that refused to do what they are ordered." Every journey caused him agonies of homesickness.

One is reminded of Tschaikowsky's chronic state of nervous agitation by the report that Paderewski has canceled his Pacific coast engagements because of the fear of what the "Black Hand" agents may do to him. His private car has been enringed by detectives night and day, but it seems that these phlegmatic disciples of Sherlock have been unable to assauge the master's vague alarms.

Caruso had—or thought he had—a similar experience with murderous hirelings of the Camorra; it preyed upon his nerves and affected his singing. Those who think of the seasoned veteran artist as insensate, imperturbable, are much mistaken. Ysaye, the all but peerless violinist, confesses to a feeling of almost paralyzing diffidence for the first few minutes of his performance. The greatest artists before the public will own to recurrent attacks of that distressing malady known as the "stage fever." Once confronted with the audience, however, most of the virtuosi find that confidence returns and inspiration is not wanting.

The artistic temperament is a strange obsession. Generally one in whom it is unduly developed sees his own figure magnified to heroic proportions, is intensely self-conscious, inordinately vain and resentful of imaginary infringements upon his own dignity. Paderewski lately brought suit—and successfully—against one who advertised that he was a pianist who played just as well as Paderewski, and he would not play at a Cincinnati concert until an offending page of the program book had been removed that declared De Pachmann his equal in the performance of Chopin.

If the rewards and privileges of genius make the lot of a great artist enviable in the eyes and opinions of the laity, the ordinary mortal, on the other hand, may thank his prosaic stars that he is not subject to the gusty spells and capricious visitations of the infirmities of the artistic temperament, from which the artist suffers even more than his long-suffering manager or his indulgent audience.

The Man With the Gun

Ely Miner: There is a state law at present on the books forbidding the carrying of concealed weapons by any other person than a public officer and providing a maximum penalty of one year's imprisonment or $1,000 fine for conviction on the charge of carrying such weapons. Should this law be enforced it would reduce the practice of traveling about the country loaded with bulldogs, automatics, dirks and other dangerous implements. Cowards and outlaws are the only persons who carry concealed weapons and a coward behind a gun is more dangerous than the toughest outlaw.

The suggestion made by The Duluth Herald and other influential papers in the state that restrictions be placed on the sale of pocket firearms is a good one and steps toward that end should be taken. The law as it is at present stands cannot very well be enforced until after the harm has been done. The shooting of the Duluth policeman after having placed his men under arrest for carrying concealed weapons should clinch the argument against the sale of firearms to everybody. The first $3 earned by the average foreigner in this range country is spent for a gun and it is during the first few weeks or years of his advent into this free country of ours that he does the damage with the gat. After a few years' residence, he loses the desire to carry a weapon. We know of a case here where a fellow arrived from the old country on Saturday night and the following Sunday sent money to a Chicago concern for a revolver with which to protect himself. He sent the money by postoffice order and while making out the order the postmaster was informed that "the boys at the boarding house had told him that this was the proper thing to do providing he wished to live safe and protect his payday in America." It is these fellows that do the damage.

The Ship of Progress.

Life: Sailing the Ship of Progress is very much like sailing any other ship. Much depends upon the wind and other weather conditions, of which many variegated kinds have to be dealt with. Not very remotely we had a siege of high winds, but very fitful and uncertain. More recently we had a steady head wind, against which it was almost impossible to advance. Indeed, if it is true that human nature is distinctly conservative, then, of course, a head wind is the prevailing wind. Just now, however, we have an unusually fair wind, under which more progress is made with less fuss than under any other conditions. Nevertheless, we must never relax the vigilance of our weather eye. A storm may come up any time, and occasionally storms arise where all skill fails, and the best sailor is the one that can cling longest to the rigging.

During the Overture.

Life: Sweet thing—I just love music! Her admirer—Yes?

S. T.—I dote on symphonies.

H. A.—Of course.

S. T.—But I love opera most.

H. A. —Ah!

S. T.—I just adore being here!

H. A. —(Cooly, people in nearby seats glaring)—Do you?

S. T.—Music always makes me feel—well—I can't express it, but it makes me feel—I feel it—I feel it—a part of my inner being!

H. A.—Do you?

S. T.—There is something about it—

H. A.—Yes (thinking of the price of the seats).

S. T.—It enchains me—I revel in it!

H. A.—Uh, huh.

S. T.—Oh! Isn't it wonderful to be here drinking in this melody in which I glory! Oh! I love music!

Brutal man (leaning forward from next row back)—Pardon me—did it ever occur to you to listen to it?

Fashion Note.

Life: The black silk slip-cover that comes with a gift umbrella is rarely utilized for its original purpose. But the deft fingers of a handy housewife may easily transform it, at slight trouble and expense, into a fashionable skirt. No refitting or reshaping necessary. Simply turn the affair upside down, cut off the metal end, and attach a belt. See that the slash comes at the side.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The phone bell rang out cheerfully in the office of the vice president and a voice said it was the pastor of President Wilson's church who was doing the talking. He desired a five-minute conference with the vice president at 11 o'clock. Secretary Thistlethwaite bade him come, and welcome.

Promptly at 11 o'clock a quietly dressed man entered the office door. He looked just like any other minister, except that he was a colored person.

"I'm the man that called up and made an appointment for 11 o'clock," he explained. "I'm the pastor of President Wilson's church."

Secretary Thistlethwaite was anxious to hear the thing through. If President Wilson had joined a colored church, he wished to know the full particulars. He ushered the visitor into the private office.

"I'm the pastor of the president's church," the minister repeated, after he had greeted Marshall. "That is, you understand, when the president first came to town, he picked out one of the Presbyterian churches to attend. Since then our folks have bought that church and we're fixing it over."

He went on to say that he earnestly desired for the vice president to be there and address them at a special big meeting the following Sunday.

"I'd like to come mighty well," said Marshall, "but I've got another engagement that day. It seems to me, though, that the logical person to have would be President Wilson himself."

"Do you suppose he would come?" asked the minister.

"I can't say as to that," admitted Marshall, "but if I were you I should certainly ask him. He ought to go. It's his church, isn't it? Well, then, I don't see how he can refuse."

Representative Samuel E. Winslow, skate manufacturer of Massachusetts, is a large round person with a vast wealth of girth and a round face ornamented with a neat little set of whiskers of chef-like cut. When you say that Winslow is a fat man, you have said the sole unkind thing that could be uttered against him, for he is a person of philanthropic impulses, abstemious habits, and a clever character. He was a great athlete in his Harvard days, but of late years he has been unable to cope with a tendency to take on weight. It is not Winslow's fault that he is fat and round, and he has never been attacked on that account but once.

Scores of members of the W. C. T. U. were here one day urging members of congress to favor Representative Hobson's proposal for national prohibition. As Winslow was strolling from the office building over toward the capitol that morning, four or five of the W. C. T. U. women flew over and circled about him preparing to alight. One of them pounced on him.

"Are you a member of congress?" she asked.

"Yes," Winslow owned up, swallowing.

"And are you going to vote to let Mr. Hobson speak today on his temperance measure?"

Winslow couldn't think for a moment what she meant and paused to clear his throat before replying.

That moment of hesitation was fatal.

"There's no use talking to him!" spoke up another women. "Look at the man. He's a brewer himself, I'll venture. The idea of sending men like that to congress!"

"What is your business?" asked the first woman.

"I dare not tell you," replied Winslow, and he scampered away.

"You see, if I had admitted that I'm a skate manufacturer," says Winslow, "they might have thought I meant the woman's guess was correct."

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, was invited the other day to go out and play golf.

"I can't play it," said Daniels; "I made up my mind some time ago not to go in for golf until they change the rules."

"How do you mean?"

"Well, until they change the rules and make it as good a game as shinny."

That recalls the tale they tell about the time Franklin K. Lane, now secretary of the interior, first undertook the mastery of golf.

Two enthusiasts over the game lent a large set of clubs to Lane and they played a round. When they had reached the last hole, Lane walked over to the nearest teeing place and began attempts to drive off with each club in his sack, one after another.

"The game's all over," they explained, gently.

"Well," asked Lane, picking up another kind of club, "can't I play my hand out?"

Not long ago a little squad of rather attractive women surrounded the handsome Heflin and undertook to reason with him.

"Why," said one, "the women have been voting out in the state I come from for three or four years. And everything is working out just beautifully."

"Certainly," admitted Tom. "Very frequently we do things that are improper and seem to get along all right. Lots of people breathe through their mouths. But I say in all candor that the right way to breathe is through the nose."

"Dirt Is Cheap."

Collier's: It must be sloth or moral cowardice that leads some parents to leave it to the state or the stage to instruct their children in the vital truths. The home—and, next to the home, the school—is the best place for the instruction of boys and girls, not only in what we call "sex hygiene," but also in the wiles of those who capitalize animalism. One feels these obvious truths very intensely when commercially minded men place in moving picture theaters films that are cheap and nasty but for which they claim a moral value. No one defends on aesthetic grounds the "movies" which purport to reveal the inside of the white slave traffic—of which one hears all too much nowadays, considering its relative insignificance. Yet victims of their own ignorance of human nature—sufferers from a cerebral derangement that we hope is but temporary—join with low showmen in certifying to the "educational" value of these degradations. Formerly our more inexpensive entertainments were relatively clean—stage smut was reserved for the well-to-do. Today amateur sociologists hold that the poor, too, have a right to corruption. The New York World expresses Collier's view to a T when it says of this gutter filth:

"Dirt is cheap, but hypocrisy is cheaper."

Anoka Union: President Wilson is developing into the best kind of whip, and he swings it with telling effect.

You're Reckoning Without Wilson.

Cambridge Independent Press: The sign of the times points to Roosevelt as the Republican candidate for president in 1916. Roosevelt sure has some strong supporters in Minnesota, and as the leader of the Republican party, could carry off the bacon so far as this state is concerned.

Simply Walking Backwards.

St. Cloud Times: Rarely, very rarely, even in standpat Republican papers, do we find an old-time wail over "Democratic false promises, closed factories, free trade, idle workers in the saddle." We have noticed one exception—the Virginia Virginian. "None are so blind as they who will not see."

Some Legislative Gossip.

Cambridge Independent-Press: Report has it that Hon. R. C. Dunn of Princeton will be a candidate for state senator in the Sherburne-Mille Lacs-Kanabec district this year. Hon. Andrew Davis of Elk River is slated to again try for the house, although it has been known for some time that Mr. Davis would like to go to the senate. County Auditor Anton Peterson of Mora is said to be a receptive candidate for representative from Kanabec county. Mr. Peterson stated some time ago that he would not again seek his present position. Mr. Peterson is a likeable fellow and would make a good member of the next lower house.

Yep! Who?

Aurora News: It is said that Walter Smith will have opposition for the state treasurership. Where is the man who can stand up under Smith's smile?

The Habit of Saving

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: Col. Andrew D. Baird has been chosen president of the Williamsburg savings bank. There is nothing strange or unusual about this statement, but as explanation of the connection which the bank reveals a certain amount of sentiment. The Brooklyn Eagle states that sixty-one years ago a poor working boy, fresh from Scotland and slowly getting a hold here, deposited his first savings in the Williamsburg savings bank. Year by year he increased his deposits. The time came when his newly-adopted country called him to arms and he served gallantly on the battlefield. He won distinction and a name for nerve and daring. But he remembered his savings, and returned to business imbued with the same principles which had helped him to win fame in the army. Now he is president of the bank in which he made his first small deposit.

The career of this self-made Scotchman illustrates the value of small savings, for it is said that Col. Baird has always associated the prosperity of his after years with the start he made with this savings bank. It put him on the right side of the ledger. He always felt that he could give a better account of himself because he had an account in the bank. How much he could save out of what he earned became an important matter with him after he had made his start with the bank, and this idea has had a marked influence on his subsequent life. He started right when he laid away something for a rainy day, although he probably did not think at that time that one day he would be at the head of the bank where he made his first humble deposit.

The Worst Bug of All.

Life: The papers say that Queen Mary of England has a horror of microbes, and has all the money scrubbed which she and her royal spouse and children are to handle.

Poor lady! There is no bug that is worse than the one that breeds an excessive fear of disease germs. The germless life would not be worth what it costs, even if it were attainable. But it is not attainable. The bugophobist shies at germs until living is one long alarm, and then the destined germ blows chuckling in and gets there all the same.

Where the West Begins.

Where friendship's grasp is a trifle stronger,
That's where the West begins.

Where the snows that fall are a trifle whiter,
And the bond of home ties are a wee bit tighter,
That's where the West begins.

Where friendship ties are a trifle truer,
Where there's music in every streamlet flowing,
Where there's more of reaping, less of sowing,
That's where the West begins.

Out where the world is still in the making,
Where fewer hearts with despair are breaking,
Where there's more of singing, less of sighing,
Where's there more of giving, less of buying,
Where a man makes friends without half trying,
That's where the West begins.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

After an acute illness brought on by a complication of diseases, John D. Boyd died at West Duluth last evening. He was born at Buffalo, N. Y., in 1847. The family moved to a farm near Grand Rapids, Mich. He was educated there and later entered the law office of Taggert, Simonds & Co., of which O. H. Simonds of Duluth was at that time a member. After being admitted to the bar, he began the practice of law, but his health failed. About fourteen years ago he removed to Fergus Falls, Minn., where he became cashier of the First National bank. In 1888 Mr. Boyd came to Duluth, and in 1889 went into partnership with George J. Mallory in the real estate and insurance business at West Duluth. He was president of the village of West Duluth for one term and represented St. Louis county in the state legislature during the session of 1891.

Mrs. Agnes Hall is a new soprano who has located in Duluth. She is now with the Duluth Conservatory of Music.

Miss Ida Miller and Philip Bayha were married on Feb. 21 by Rev. H. L. McMurray. They will begin housekeeping at First avenue west and Fourth street.

Dr. H. S. King, who arrived in Chicago from Duluth this morning, was taken to the smallpox hospital shortly after his arrival, suffering from varioloid.

A. G. Renstrom has been appointed postmaster at Smithville, St. Louis county, to succeed Victor A. Dash, resigned.

S. B. Foote of St. Paul was in the city yesterday, the guest of his brother-in-law, L. D. Campbell.

In district court yesterday a witness who delayed the court considerably by his tardiness in arriving was unable to give any good reason for his delay, and he was sentenced by Judge Lewis to be confined in the county jail for five hours without food or drink. When he started for the jail he stopped at the ice water tank in the courthouse corridor and almost drained it.

Keep Ford Wages at Home.

New York Times: The Ford Motor company does not look favorably upon the foreigner who sends all his savings back to the old country, with the intention of returning there to live. Among the many questions asked by the agents who are gathering information from the employes before they are permitted to share in the $5 a day plan is one: "What do you do with your money?"

The Ford officials say that they have been surprised at the number of those who have answered: "I send it back to the old country." Those who do so are not taken on. Old employes are not discharged, however.

"We intend to discourage this plan of sending money out of the United States as soon as possible," said Secretary Klingensmith. "We shall not discriminate between the foreigner and the American, but we shall discriminate between the foreigner who keeps his money in this country and the one who does not. Our plan is not only to keep the money in the United States, but to keep it right here in Detroit."

The Symbol.

The Youth's Companion: He had decided at last to make the great avowal, convinced that a word would suffice to assure his good fortune. He only lacked a beginning, a beautiful, poetic, inspiring beginning. At last he found it.

Presenting himself to the desired one, and suddenly showing her a ring, he said, "My love for you is like this ring; it has no end."

The young lady examined the little golden circlet for awhile with close attention, and then returned it to him.

"My love for you," she said, "is also like this ring; it has no beginning."

SAYS CYRANO WAS BLASPHEMOUS

To the Editor of The Herald:

You, Cyrano de Bergerac, I have read your blasphemous remarks in The Herald under date of the 17th. Not that I believe you can blaspheme a church as a structure, but you have very truthfully shown the innermost secrets of your heart. Poor deluded soul, you are to be pitied.

I would ask that you read the second chapter of the second Epistle of Peter and if you have not a testament, I will gladly make you a present of one. It clearly portrays the condition of such restless souls as yours and also shows what the finis will be.

You say that religion should be as "progressive" as shows. By that I presume you mean it should be as varied. My dear friend, do you know that the religion of Jesus Christ is not a fashion or fad or a something that changes every once in a while at the will of mere man? This religion, which we are so glad to own and which we are so anxious that you should also know about, is the only real fundamental principle for true happiness, and therefore it cannot be changed to suit the whims of man. We must either accept it as it was given to us by our Master or else reject it, to our own misery.

Before closing, I wish to state that I agree with you in that there must be something wrong with the majority of the people if they have no desire to hear the Word of God.

With reference to the money spent in advertising, "Go to Church Sunday," this has all been paid for by those who believe in the work. I know of no higher or better way to which advertising could be put. Why not advertise church-going as well as "show-going"? Friendly,

C. E. STAKY.

Duluth, Feb. 19.

CYRANO STILL ASKS FOR QUOTATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As there seems to be some misunderstanding regarding my late communication to your Open Court, I beg you to allow me a few inches of space to straighten the thing out.

I made the statement that I had "attended the church into which I was once confirmed for the first time in eight years." Now, there is nothing to hinder me from attending church fifty-two Sundays in the year for eight years without once attending "the church into which I was once confirmed."

A man would certainly be, to say the least, a fool if he attempted criticism on a subject of which he had not an intimate knowledge. As it is, my father had formed a desire to see his oldest son a minister, but I lost my chance when I happened to mention that Christ never recommended a "Thirty Years' War" as a means of extending the kingdom of God, and that it was a needless waste of lives and money.

Lilly M. Smith, in replying to my communication, says that there is no sign of decreasing attendance at the "house of worship" where she attends. Well, then, what are they after? I've read columns upon columns of matter on how to increase the church attendance; one minister adopts the idea of letting the men smoke in church, another leaves the church dimly lighted on certain nights of the week "to give the young people a chance to spoon." To be sure, this is not in Duluth, but I don't believe Duluth is different from any other city as regards church attendance.

But my idea in advocating a progressive religious movement is simply this:

For eight years I have gone from one church to the other, trying to find one where the grace of God would be brought into the light before everything else. But it wasn't to be found. I then returned to the church of my childhood, to see what progress had been made during my absence. But none was apparent. I let my little son, age 5, attend Sunday school in company with a playmate, at a church that is supposed to be more progressive than the one where I had my early training. And what was the result? My little boy, who was afraid of nothing, came home that night, and for the first time in his life was afraid to sleep alone in his little trundle bed. You should see him now, his golden blonde head tossing in restless slumber beside his mother, sighting "things that cannot be seen nor heard, but are there just the same." Think of it, a small child scared into nervous prostration because a fanatical Sunday school teacher tried to implant into his innocent little soul "the fear of God," fear of the God we had taught him, was good and a protector. Yes, you should see the result, and you would raise your voice and demand with me the truth about the Bible.

And then I asked for one passage in the Bible where it recommends going to church, and in reply was told to study the New Testament. In short, I asked for a needle, and Lilly M. Smith showed me the haystack where to find it. There you go again! Do you think that a rational human being would defy priest, minister or layman to show one passage of Scripture where it recommends going to church, if he had not studied the Holy Book enough to know that it can't be found? And if it can be found I will be very thankful for the quotation, or at least the place where to find it, and if Lilly M. Smith finds it first and will let me know, I will promise to take my wife and son and attend any church she might name on the first day of March, and I will wear a red rose in my buttonhole, so that she may know that I am really there.

CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

Duluth, Feb. 21.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a recent issue of your paper I read an item to the effect that the city commissioners were contemplating the purchase of a plot of ground lying east of Thirteenth avenue east and between Jefferson street and London road for the purpose of erecting an armory thereon; that the owner of the plot in question held the property at $20,000; and that the commissioners would proceed at once to acquire title to same by condemnation, believing it can be acquired in that manner for $10,000.

I have looked over the tract in question and find that the whole surface lies from 15 to 25 feet below the level of London road, and considerably more than that below Jefferson street; that Chester creek runs through it from Jefferson street to London road, necessitating the construction of a stone or concrete culvert, about 200 feet in length, with a cross-section at least as great as the culverts under Jefferson street and London road, which are approximately ninety-five square feet, and would cost at least as much as $1,500. Then there would be the filling of the tract to bring it up to grade, which would require easily 10,000 cubic yards of material, which will cost a couple of thousand dollars more. Of course, this hole-in-the-ground could be filled with ashes for nothing if the commissioners waited long enough, but if my memory serves me correctly these commissioners of ours are not in the habit of waiting for anything. They remind me of a certain character in a little play entitled "Ali-of-a-Sudden Peggy." For instance, I have in mind the recent election which was held at a time when there was not enough loose change in the city's till to buy the next square meal with. No, our commissioners won't wait for that hole-in-the-ground to be filled up with ashes, but will proceed to fill it up with something which costs real money. Then, after the tract has been filled up to grade, it would be unwise to erect a substantial building on it for a couple of years, or until the filling had thoroughly settled, unless the foundations were started from the present surface on rock or hardpan. This extra high foundation would be the means of adding still further to the cost.

Summing it all up, we have, say, $10,000 as the first cost of the tract, $1,500 for a culvert, $2,000 for filling and possibly $500 for the extra high foundation for the armory, making a total of $14,000. Aside from this, there are the commissioners in condemnation to be paid, and, as they will be experts, they will receive the compensation of experts, and by the time they have finished their duties they will make a $500 bill look weak and weary.

And we may well ask, why this expenditure at a time when the city sorely needs the money for other purposes? When this city most nearly resembles the republic of Mexico—dead broke, and on the verge of bankruptcy? Do we not already possess a splendid armory? At least, it was so considered until a few months ago. The area of the drill room proper is approximately 10,000 square feet, has a hardwood floor, and is well lighted and heated. What more do they want? With the exception of the naval reserves, there are no more military companies to use the armory now than there were when the armory was built, and the companies do not contain a greater number of men now than then. With but four companies of militia to use the armory, and with six nights a week in which to use it, each company could have it one night a week, and every second week each company could have it two nights. This ought to be sufficient to make them thoroughly well drilled.

I recall the fact that old Company K of the Second regiment, the first military company ever organized at Duluth, (and which held a reunion here last summer) never had a better place to drill in than an old skating rink, which was not heated in winter, and it was the best-drilled company that ever existed north of St. Paul. A drill night once a week was good enough for them, except just before they went to camp, and then some of the boys drilled every night for a while, but that was in summer, and most of the drilling was done on the street. There is nothing to prevent the members of the present military companies from drilling on the street once in a while.

Perhaps they want to practice battalion drill, and find the present armory too small for the purpose. Why not go outside and practice that? If they do all of their drilling on a polished hardwood floor, they cannot expect to amount to much when they get on uneven ground. If they are afraid of being scorched by the sun and wet by the dew, our commissioners might furnish them with a circus tent at a cost quite small compared with the proposed armory site.

In my opinion this armory matter never would have been thought of, never would have come up, if the state legislature at its last session had not appropriated $75,000 for an armory, provided the city furnished the site. Our commissioners are going after that $75,000 armory, even if it costs $15,000 or $20,000 to secure it, and, after the site has been secured and put in proper shape for the erection of an armory, the city will deed the property to the state, and the state will own the armory and the site, and the city will get something it was not in need of, and the taxpayers will be compelled to foot the bill, not merely for the armory site, but for the armory as well, for it must all come out of the taxes.

It is such expenditures as these—useless, extravagant, unnecessary, unwarranted—that are fast making Duluth a splendid place to move away from.

SETTLING MR. CYRANO'S CASE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In last night's Herald I notice a piece of nonsense that I say does the author no good whatsoever. This man has either neglected his religious duties or has forgotten he is living at present in civilization.

He mentions that hymns are out of style. Well, perhaps they are in his mind. Perhaps he thinks in the books of good should be printed "Everybody's Doing It," or some ragtime. Well, as long as you live, Mr. Long Name, you'll never find America's church books printing such.

I'm a cowpuncher and have never been what you would class as religious, but just the same, I would never cast such a slur on the works of our Creator.

This man will find when he is 100 years of age (if he lives that long) the same songs printed therein as he did many years back. The works of God shall never be advanced further than to give jubilant praise. Therefore, Mr. Long Name, go back where you come from. You are not the man we want in an enterprising city.

They have also put too much material in your name, not enough in your garret region.

Thanking you for your space, I am,

DANIELD BLUE BEAD OF TEXAS.

RAILROAD MEN AND CHURCH GOING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We cannot go to church Sunday. Why?

Ministers and preachers of the gospel, do you know the little tags the boys and girls are wearing have any effect on the railroad man? No, not at all. It is not because of indifference toward religion, but because of impossibility to attend the Sunday service, not only on Feb. 22, but on every Sunday.

To believe in Christ is to be a Christian. To be a Christian is to observe the Lord's day. To observe the Lord's day you must attend church services. Therefore, a railroad man cannot be a Christian because he cannot practice religion.

Well, we want to be Christians. We want to attend church services. Therefore, Sunday work must be abolished, and that means a state law to that effect. It is the only remedy.

Sunday observance has been abused by railroads to too large an extent. When men are working fifty Sundays out of fifty-two in a year it is abominable. How can Christianity exist in train men, section men, clerks, etc.?

It is time now for you to act by introducing to our congress a law to curtail Sunday work in passenger service. You will be doing a great thing toward church and to humanity and at the same time have the esteem and respect of railroad men.

WILL CODIFY ALL AMERICAN LAW

New York, Feb. 23.—More than fifty recognized leaders of the American bar met here Saturday night and organized the American Academy of Jurisprudence. Its purpose, in the words of James De Witt Andrews of New York, who called the meeting to order, is the production of "a complete and comprehensive statement in systematic form of the entire body of American law." Among its organizers are ex-President Taft, United States Senator Root of New York; Attorney General McReynolds, Alton B. Parker, Joseph H. Choate, former Attorney General Wickersham and Governor Baldwin of Connecticut.

SAN FRANCISCO'S FREE MEALS OVER

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—San Francisco closed its municipal dining room Sunday, and no more free meals will be served the unemployed. The city's emergency appropriation of $30,000 is exhausted. Since Christmas eve, 217,897 free meals have been served.

Goodnow Accepts.

Baltimore, Mo., Feb. 23.—It is announced that Dr. J. Frank Goodnow, who at present is in China as special adviser in the reform of the Chinese constitution, has cabled his acceptance of the presidency of Johns Hopkins university, effective next fall.

Not "Raised" with Yeast—

You can "raise" a loaf of white flour bread with yeast—but you can't "raise" healthy, robust American youngsters in that way. The best food for growing boys and girls is

Shredded Wheat

It contains no yeast, no fats, no chemicals of any kind—just pure whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked. The crisp, brown Biscuits are not only deliciously appetizing, but they encourage thorough chewing, which makes them better than porridges for growing youngsters. Ask your grocer.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

REGULATIONS FOR THEATERS

State Fire Marshal Would Make Picture Houses Safe.

Fireproof Compartment for Machines and Aisles Three Feet Wide.

Duluth moving picture houses and officials of the fire department are being furnished with copies of the regulations drawn by the state fire marshal's office governing their construction and operation.

The rules outlined by the fire marshal are substantially along the lines laid down by the city ordinances, so that few, if any changes will have to be made by the local movies in order to comply. The picture theaters have been receiving attention from the city's safety division and frequent inspections of them are made by Fire Warden J. J. Schinlaub. The fire warden recently found several which had become careless but when he notified them that unless the necessary improvements were made promptly they would be closed, no time was lost in making alterations as directed.

After defining a motion picture theater, the rules state that every motion picture machine must be installed in a compartment of fire-resistive material, not less than 6 by 5 feet for one machine and not less than 10 by 7 feet for two machines.

Brick, tile or concrete booths must have walls of not less than eight inches thick except in cases of reinforced concrete which may be four inches. As a further precaution all electric wiring must be brought into the booth in iron conduits and to insure against fire all films in the booth where the operator sits must be kept in a metal case and not removed except when being transferred to the machine.

No smoking near the keeping of matches within the booth or compartment where the motion picture machine is located is one of the most important restrictions, and the entrance door to the operator's room must be kept closed.

In relation to the theater proper, the state fire marshal says that all seats shall be not less than thirty inches from back to back and securely fastened to the floor.

No motion picture machine can be operated in any building that does not abut directly upon a street. All aisles shall lead directly to exits and no aisle shall be less than three feet wide.

The fire marshal calls attention to the fact that in every city or village which has local ordinances more stringent, governing the operation of motion picture theaters, these shall take precedence over the new rules.

"It is hoped," said Fire Marshal Keller, "that by getting the co-operation of managers of the movies to place Minnesota in the front ranks of states which are taking cognizance of the rapid development of the motion picture as a source of amusement, and are endeavoring to make these places of amusement so far removed from fire danger that the general public can attend them in safety."

PRINCIPAL HOQUIAM SCHOOL RECOVERS FROM DIABETES

It was nearly three years ago when the physicians attending J. J. Pennepacker, Principal of the schools of Hoquiam, Wash., agreed that they could do nothing more for him. He was broken down with Diabetes and was believed to be incurable. Tests showed 4% of sugar. A recent letter is as follows:

"Hoquiam, Wash., April 5, 1913.
John J. Fulton Co., Gentlemen:

It is a long time since I wrote you but I have not forgotten you nor the wonderful good Fulton's Diabetic Compound has done for me. I have almost daily inquiries about the Compound that cured me and I am writing to ask for some more of your literature. I call myself well although I am still taking the Compound. Yours truly,

J. J. PENNEPACKER."

If you have Diabetes and are of middle age or over do you not owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up? Druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

LOWER PRICES DUE TO TARIFF

Compared with a year ago, flour, beef, sugar, butter, eggs, hides, hay, lumber, print cloths, tin plate, steel beams and billets are cheaper. During the past calendar year, of 842,915 head of cattle imported into the United States, 218,594 head or 63 per cent were entered duty free since Oct. 3. Corn imports in the last calendar year to the amount of 4,449,546 bushels came in free, of which 2,343,444 bushels were imported in December alone. It is considered that these imports had the effect of materially reducing prices at the Gulf and Atlantic ports. Imports of 1,514,296 dozens of eggs served to effectually break the market.

The total value of meats and dairy products imported was $19,816,034.

It is claimed that the importing trade has become better organized within the last sixty days and is therefore becoming a more effective agency in lowering the cost of living in several of the most essential articles of consumption.

In the last three months of 1913, imports from Winnipeg to Duluth and Minneapolis in some lines increased as follows, compared with the last three months of 1912:

Bran	$237,576	$120,449
Oats	693,754	145,670
Flax	797,997	271,026
Cattle	752,232	70,362
Horses	851,607	521,337

WIFE MAKES COUNTER CHARGES

Mrs. Olga Gran Alleges Husband Was Unfaithful to Her.

Denying the charges of infidelity preferred against her by her husband, Victor A. Gran, a Duluth attorney, who is seeking a divorce on the grounds of adultery, naming John R. Heino, his former business associate as corespondent, Mrs. Olga Gran Saturday afternoon filed a cross bill containing twenty-one specific charges of a similar nature against her husband.

In July or August, 1908, she claims, Gran visited a house of ill repute at Eovey and committed adultery with a woman whose name is unknown to her. She also declares that on Feb. 13, 1913, he visited the Imperial hotel in this city and was guilty of the same offense with another woman. Other places including the Leslie hotel, and the "White Castle," Superior, covering the years 1909, 1910 and 1911 are named.

Mrs. Gran declares that she knew nothing of her husband's unfaithfulness until Feb. 10, 1913. She alleges that he is extremely jealous of her and that he frequently attempted to strike, choke or otherwise abuse her for imaginary attentions shown other men.

Gran, she says, always carried a book containing the names and addresses of other women with whom, she believes, he communicated and made "dates" for himself and other men. She asserts that during the years 1909, 1910 and 1911, he was in the habit of visiting a cafe with other women and that he was guilty of disorderly and immoral conduct.

She claims that her arrest on Jan. 31 was procured without probable cause and that while she was detained at police headquarters, Gran stripped from her fingers two diamond rings and a wedding ring and took from her purse a gold watch.

GREAT NORTHERN'S EARNINGS INCREASE

A remarkable showing in earnings is being made by the Great Northern railroad. In the first six months of its fiscal year to Dec. 31 the road earned the full year's dividend on its $210,000,000 stock with $540,000 to spare, and even after providing for the $19,000,000 new stock authorized, the system came within $72,000 of earning its full twelve months' distribution to shareholders. Gross earnings for the seven months ended Jan. 31 were $534,000 ahead of the record figures set during the same period last year.

It is claimed by Duluth officials of the company that considerable grain is being held for higher prices by farmers along its system, while the line elevators are practically full. The movement of this to market will be reflected in increased traffic during the spring months.

The cold weather during the present month has led to heavy coal shipments from the docks here and that tonnage is said to be increasing daily in view of the fact that stocks put in by dealers throughout the West last fall were exceptionally light. Haulage of forest products are also now heavy, so that taken on the whole, tonnage for the present month is expected to be well up to the average.

With the easier money market it is thought that new construction and improvements will be more vigorously pushed during the present year. In that connection it is mentioned that Duluth wholesalers are especially interested in the construction of the line across Montana, known as the Montana Eastern railway. It is said that it will open up a fine section of country to development.

NEW POSTAL RULING JULY 1

"Window" Envelopes Will Then Have to Be of Uniform Size.

Beginning July 1 all "window" envelopes or those with transparent openings for addresses will have to be of uniform size, according to an order received by the local postal authorities Saturday from Washington.

The postoffice officials are instructed to inform all business houses with regard to the new ruling and to refuse any envelopes not of the uniform size. A margain of three-eighths of an inch is allowed from the bottom of the envelope to the "window" and 1¾ inches from the top. This will leave 1⅞ inches for the "window" proper on a uniformed size envelope.

It is also necessary to have a return notice printed in the left hand corner of the envelope. And the order received Saturday further states that all letters failing to comply with this announcement will be returned to the sender and where the latter has failed to name a return address, the letters will be sent to the dead letter office.

Another order effective July 1 gives the proper sizes for postal cards. The minimum size to be accepted by the postal authorities will be 2¼ by 4 inches and the maximum 3½ by 6½ inches. The government cards are 3½ by 5½ inches. Larger cards than these must bear only printed advertisements.

Mix the Breakfast Biscuits the Night Before—

Set Them Away in a Cool Place and Bake them Fresh in the Morning

If the family do not all eat breakfast together, you can bake a few at a time. If you are having hot biscuits for supper, mix and cut out enough more for breakfast. They will be much nicer freshly baked than warmed over.

Of course you can't do this very successfully with sour milk and soda or with any of the old fashioned, single acting baking powders, but this convenient way of making hot biscuits and muffins for breakfast is entirely satisfactory if you use which is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which begins to give off leavening gas as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. The dough will remain in a partly leavened condition for hours and when put in the oven will come up just as light and fluffy as if freshly mixed.

Get a can of K C today and try this easy way of baking biscuits at once. You'll never go back to the old way. 51

DEFECTIVE PAGE

ALL DEPENDS ON THE ELIMINATION CONFERENCE

Generally Recognized That With Opposition to the Machine United Eberhart's Day Is Past---Machine Is Frightened and Making Every Effort to Stem the Tide---Peterson's Inconsistent Position---J. P. Boyle's Announcement---Primary Decision.

Political interest these days is centered on the coming anti-Eberhart convention to be held in Minneapolis on March 19, when those who want to see the end of the machine rule in the state will try to agree upon a strong candidate for governor. W. E. Lee of Long Prairie suggested the elimination meeting, and agrees to abide by its decision. State Auditor S. G. Iverson, who has filed for the governorship, also agrees to stand by the decision of the convention. James A. Peterson, another candidate, indorses the idea, but does not say that he will or won't be guided by the decision of the convention; he simply leaves the matter open for the present.

Who is likely to be chosen is, of course, purely a matter of speculation at this time, and probably will be until the convention decides, for there is no way of knowing or finding out the general sentiment as there was during the old convention days, when things were generally cut and dried long before the convention took place.

But there is one thing that seems certain. That is, that if the various candidates who are opposed to the machine stand by the decision of the convention—and it is believed that they will not dare stand out against it—the Eberhart forces will go into a losing fight and the state will be spared two years more of incompetency as well as a possibility of promoting the incompetent to a seat in the United States senate.

The conference elimination movement is receiving great encouragement from all parts of the state, and it is becoming the general belief that it is going to be a success in every way. That the machine forces fear this there is no doubt. The machine cohorts are scurrying about endeavoring to close every loophole, trying to create dissension among the anti-machine men, and in fact making every possible effort to prevent the conference of March 19 accomplishing anything. The glee with which the machine men greeted each governorship candidate's announcement has turned to a sickly grin, for it appears more and more as though the machine men must soon sit in the ashes of a dead desire.

That the committee in charge of the anti-machine campaign feels fairly well satisfied with developments up to date is shown by the communications being sent out by the secretary, G. B. Bjornson of Minneota. In a letter just issued to the state press he says in part:

"Already the secretary of the committee is in receipt of letters and messages from every part of the state containing assurances of co-operation and support. The conference movement is spreading like wildfire over the length and breadth of the state. William E. Lee, Samuel G. Iverson and James A. Peterson, all active anti-machine candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, have given the movement favorable comment and have expressed sentiments in some particulars very encouraging to the conference project.

"There are at least 100,000 independent Republican voters back of this conference. In every city, village and township in the state there are active champions of this movement who are unselfishly working for the common cause of good government in this matter.

"The conference committee is free from all factional domination. It has no pet candidate. It will make a clean, square and fair campaign for a representative conference. Having secured such a conference, the committee's work will have been accomplished—the conference itself will do the rest.

"This movement is a movement of the people. It is not in the hands of politicians. The people will get together in mass meetings in each county and will there elect their own delegates to come to Minneapolis to participate in the state conference. In every respect the movement will be representative of the people, the voters themselves will be the ones who send men to represent them at the state conference. There will be nothing 'hand-picked' about the state conference; it will be a gathering of men coming direct from the people. We firmly believe that this conference movement is the greatest movement in the interests of clean politics ever instituted in the state of Minnesota. That it will succeed is already assured.

"The people are aroused. They come from field and mine and factory, from professions, trades and shops, evincing in their enthusiasm a temper that bodes ill to the tottering system of bossed politics. No power can stay the avalanche that is going to sweep this state—the people are going to speak as they have never spoken before."

James A. Peterson, candidate for governor, while not turning down the elimination feature, does not indorse it as yet. He leaves himself open to jump either way. Of course if he fails to stand by the decision of the convention he labels himself as insincere in his declaration made in his announcement that the chief thing this year is the killing off of the machine that is controlling the politics of the state. Here is his chance to make good. It is admitted throughout the state that it is up to Mr. Peterson to show whether his true reason for getting into the game is to release the state from the undesirable sovereignty held over her by an incompetent autocracy or near-autocracy, or merely further to satisfy a selfish ambition. Also, should he refuse to abide by the decision of the convention that will be held March 19 he is pretty nearly sure of being accused of being a tool of Eberhart and Ed Smith and of never having been sincere in his statements mentioned, and charged with being in the field merely to divide the opposition and make Eberhart's return to office easier. Even the machine knows well enough that the opposition must be divided if it is to be returned to power. And the people will have good grounds for believing Mr. Peterson in such a case. He will have little chance to make excuses.

Walter J. Smith, present state treasurer, filed for renomination as a Republican last week. It was hoped that he would have no opposition for the renomination, but that hope was dispelled during the past week when Robert L. Johnson of Austin, for twelve years auditor of Mower county, filed as a Progressive Republican. However, Walter's friends are confident that there is "nothing to it," though they will take no chances.

Mr. Smith, whose home is in Eveleth, and who is looked upon by Duluthians as one of "ours," has been state treasurer for two terms, and aside from having served with distinction as state treasurer, saving the state many thousands of dollars by his efficient methods, he has made himself one of the most popular and best-known public officials in the commonwealth. Mr. Smith is known everywhere in Minnesota, and as one exchange puts it, "Who can win against that smile?" He is a banker by profession and his whole training has been such as to fit him exactly for the office he holds.

Senator Thomas M. Pugh of Duluth is very pleased to learn that Dr. Andrews of Mankato has decided to file for the state senatorship from that district. The senator and the doctor have been close personal friends for many years, and the doctor is also very friendly towards this part of the state. Senator Pugh says he does not believe that Dr. Andrews can be beaten in Blue Earth county.

State Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Eighth district in opposition to Congressman Clarence B. Miller. Mr. Miller has not yet announced himself but undoubtedly will do so before long. There is really nothing startling about Mr. Boyle's announcement—not nearly so much as many expected. His record in the legislature was a good one and he has the indorsement of most of the newspapers of the range cities.

Last Wednesday District Judge C. S. Jelley declared the new primary law valid, so candidates may prepare for the primaries to be held in June instead of September unless the supreme court may rule against it. Judge Jelley was none too confident about it. He said that he has doubts as to its validity, but he put the burden of final decision up to the supreme court.

The "get together" dinner of the Democrats will take place in Minneapolis tomorrow and it is expected that fully 250 will take part, as great interest is being taken in all parts of the state. The big guns of the state Democracy will, of course, be present and there may be pyrotechnics over the governorship nomination.

J. R. Morley of Owatonna has filed for the nomination for state senator to succeed Senator Cashman. As to whether or not the latter will also file is not yet known. But it is believed that it will not be very difficult to beat Mr. Morley who is, a former member of the state house, for he has announced himself as against the primary election system. In these days of anti-manipulated politics that is enough to damn any candidate.

Virginia Virginian: Clarence B. Miller, who occupies the seat set aside for the representative of the people of the Eighth Minnesota district in the house of representatives at Washington, is a busy man. Miller is not engaged with the big problems before congress. He is not concerning himself about the great questions which need solution. Miller is busy trying to oil his political machine.

Miller's press agents are peddling carefully written but meaningless interviews and are working overtime to induce newspapers to publish them. Miller figures that the best way to fool the people is to let the press do it for him.

Miller's record in the house is as the middle of a doughnut—the center of a cipher. The congressman himself is a political fairy, who floats here and there, with smiles and golden promises. He calls himself a Republican and in so doing is using in vain the name of the grandest political organization in history.

Representative Miller comes to Virginia every two years at a time when he is hot-footing it for ballots. As primary time is several months nearer than this time last year, he is about due.

Watch for Miller—vote for Boyle.

Pretty severe on Congressman Miller, though it may be that it is overdoing it somewhat, and that this will lessen its value to Candidate Boyle.

Princeton Union: Ever since it was known that Henry Rines would become a candidate for state auditor the state administration has been "casting around" for an available candidate to oppose him. For a time it was thought that Andrew Fritz, the present efficient public examiner, could be induced to make the race. But Mr. Fritz steadfastly refused to permit the use of his name. Then the administration forces centered on Mr. Preus, and it has been generally understood for many weeks past that he would be a candidate.

That Mr. Preus will have the backing of the state administration and all the powerful interests allied with it goes without saying, and he will prove a formidable candidate. Nevertheless, if the supreme court holds that Mr. Rines is eligible, the administration forces—even with unlimited means—cannot defeat him.

There seems little doubt that the supreme court will hold Mr. Rines as eligible, so it might as well be recognized that he is the next state auditor. With Mr. Preus getting tangled up with what is going to happen to the machine it is pretty nearly all over but the shouting.

Carlton Vidette: Friends of Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet are trying to induce him to run for state senator from this district at the coming election. Mr. Vibert is so busily engrossed with his manifold duties as mayor, editor and business man that he really does not wish to add any more burdens to his shoulders, but if he would consent to make the run he would make a very successful senator, and Carlton county has a very good chance of getting a senator if it makes the try.

If Mr. Vibert doesn't look out, with all the titles he possesses he will become a veritable Poo-Bah.

Biwabik Times: It would seem that Congressman Miller is to have against him a big majority of the newspapers of the district. The primary will demonstrate the influence of the press, or the lack of it. The great trouble is that a number of the editors now most bitter are disappointed office-seekers, mad because Miller did not in the past recommend them for appointment. This kind of opposition is doing Miller more good than harm.

Disgruntled opposition usually gives itself away and the writers of abuse prompted by disappointment generally are laughed at and become of no weight either way.

Sullwater Gazette: The Progressives have decided to put a complete state and congressional ticket in the field. At least that is the decision arrived at by about a hundred who met at St. Paul yesterday. They mentioned three possible candidates for governor, Congressman Lindbergh, ex-Congressman F. M. Nye and C. J. Gunderson of Alexandria. For congress, possibly T. P. Kelly of Owatonna. They also roasted Congressman Davis and Anderson and praised Senator Clapp. No fusion with the Republicans. The latter are cast off to drift to perdition for all they care. Alas for the rarity of Christian charity.

Isanti News: The announcement was made last week that J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, is a candidate for state auditor. It—followed the appearance of suggestions in several newspapers that Mr. Preus would be an acceptable candidate. Causing the publication of such articles is the favorite method of some politicians in giving them an excuse for "yielding to the popular demand" that they permit the use of their names as candidates for the offices to which they aspire.

It has been known for a long time that Governor Eberhart and his advisers were opposed to Henry Rines of Mora, the first candidate to file for auditor, and it was no surprise that one of the governor's appointees has been selected to make the race. Mr. Preus is a young man of much ability and is personally an excellent fellow—the kind of a man that is always selected under similar circumstances. He can depend upon the solid support of Governor Eberhart and his political machine and that of United States Senator Knute Nelson, and the liquor interests will naturally support him.

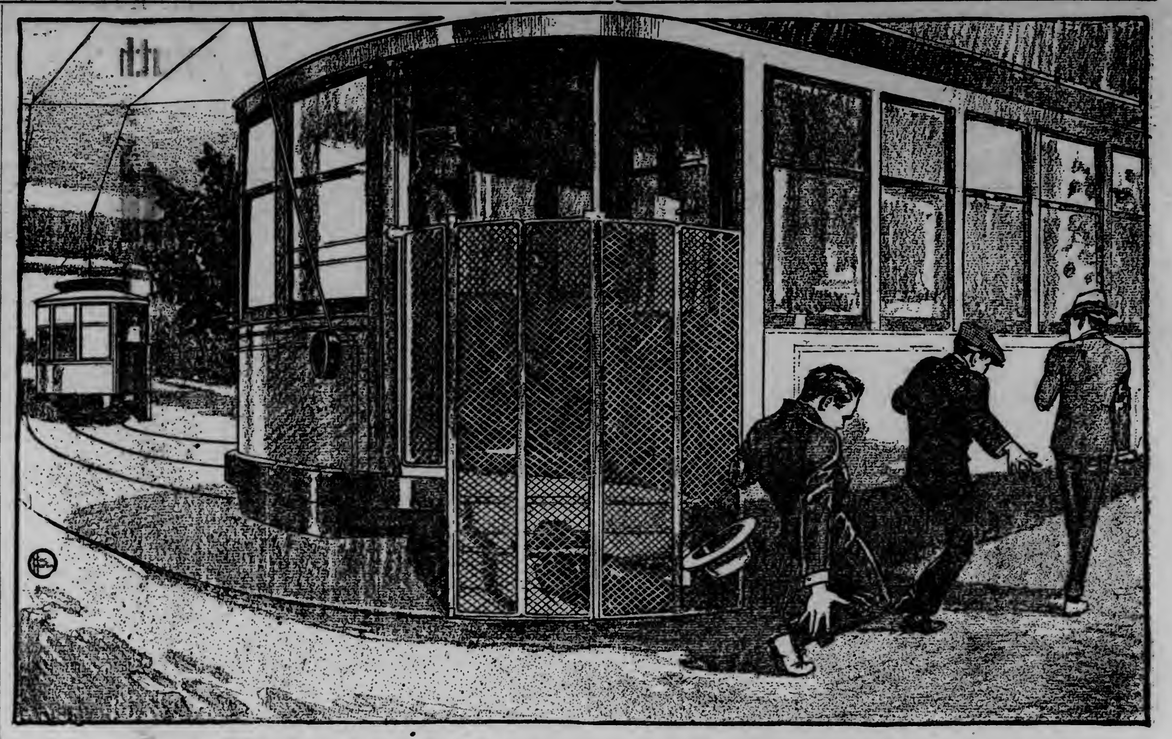

Mr. Rines has lived in this part of the state since he came from Sweden, when a small boy, and was elected auditor of Kanabec county when he was 22 years old, holding that office continuously for ten years. He was elected speaker of the last house and displayed great ability and fairness in his difficult position. He is not a man who can be used by the "interests" and if possible they will defeat him. Mr. Rines needs the support of every voter who is opposed to machine domination in state politics. Don't be misled by the Preus "boosting" in the Eberhart press of Minnesota, where the anvil chorus is lustily singing "'Tis Only You."

Don't worry! Henry Rines will have ample votes to carry him into office. It is sad to contemplate what is going to happen to the administration and those it has dragged into this thing after the elimination conference surrenders the elimination job to the voters.

Bemidji Pioneer: E. J. Swedbeck will not be a candidate for state senator and in a communication received by this paper today says: "This is to announce that under no circumstances will I become a candidate for the office of state senator from this district. I appreciate the loyal support offered by my friends in endeavoring to confer this high honor upon me. My private interests, however, take up so much of my time that I feel as though I could not devote the attention which the office requires."

The senator made a good record when he was in office before, for he is a good business man and uses common sense in his public dealings. His district could do much worse than to insist upon his becoming a candidate this year.

STOOD TOO NEAR THE TRACK W HEN CAR WAS TURNING CURVE.

HE STOOD TOO NEAR THE TRACK

DON'T stand too close to a car when it is turning a corner or curve.

Remember that the ends of a car project some distance outside the track when it is making a turn. Give it all the room it needs and some to spare. Don't try to see how closely you can judge the distance the front or rear end will project. Think of SAFETY FIRST. The least that could happen if you misjudge the distance is a nasty fall; the worst, a fatal accident.

DIES ON HIS WAY HOME FROM CHURCH

Jerome D'Aoust Succumbs to Attack of Heart Failure.

Jerome D'Aoust, 64 years old, dropped dead yesterday at noon as he arrived in front of his home at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Helm street, when returning from church. Heart trouble, from which he had been suffering for several months, was the cause of death.

Mr. D'Aoust has been residing in the West end for eight months. He came here from Manistique, Mich. He leaves, besides his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Edward Huberty, 2827 Helm street; Mrs. O. F. Collier, 118 East Fourth street; Mrs. Joseph Dassau of Manistique, and three sons, Joseph of Proctor, August of Superior, and Arthur of Sault Ste. Marie.

The body will be taken this evening to his former home for burial.

CHILDREN WILL STUDY GOOD MUSIC

Children of the Bryant school, Vernon and Third streets, have arranged to give two entertainments tomorrow for the purpose of raising money for the purchase of a grafonola for the school. The entertainment given at 3:45 p. m. will be for the children, and at 8 o'clock for the general public.

Miss Katherine King, principal of the school, has been in charge of preparing the program. The purpose of securing the musical instrument is to enable the children to hear good music correctly played, in the hope of creating a desire among the children for this class of music.

The program arranged for the afternoon and evening is as follows:

Sketch—"Mendelssohn's Life"..... Elna Sundholm.
"Spring Song" .....Mendelssohn
Grafonola.
Recitation—Selected ..... Arthur Mess.
Moving pictures .....
Dramatization by the fifth grade...
Instrumental—"Auf Flugelndes de Fanges" .....Gadski
Grafonola.

WILL CELEBRATE MIDSUMMER'S DAY

The Swedish - American National league, an organization of committees representing the various Swedish lodges of the city, for the purpose of celebrating Midsummer's day, June 24, will be reorganized early next month, to plan for the celebration this year. The meeting will be held at Sloan's hall, probably on March 8.

It is expected that the eight lodges represented in the league last year will also be represented this year. Some other organizations will also have representatives in the organization this year. Among those expected to take part are: Swedish Sons, No. 170, Order of Vasa; Lodge No. 12, S. H. & E. F.; Svithold lodge, Svea Glee club, North Star Lodge, No. 11, I. O. G. T.; Zenith City band, Lodge No. 243, Order of Vasa, Morning Star lodge, I. O. G. T., and Orpheus Singing society.

The celebration last year was one of the biggest attempted by the organization. This year the plans for the day will include a parade, festival at one of the parks, probably Lincoln park, addresses by prominent Swedish speakers, music and dancing. The organization has on hand $181.03 since last summer and it is expected to raise an additional $1,000 for carrying out the program of the day.

Swedish Mission Notes.

Rev. T. B. Wellander of Superior will speak Wednesday evening at the mid-week services at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

The Parthenoe society will entertain at a social in the church parlors Wednesday evening. George Johnson and Alden Anderson will be in charge of the entertainment.

Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom of the West Duluth church will speak Thursday evening at the West End mission.

Rev. K. E. Forsell of Minneapolis will preach at both services in the West end church next Sunday.

Has Bad Fall.

Alfred Gillon, former sergeant of police, now watchman at the ore docks, sustained a bad fall Saturday night while making his rounds. He was taken home in a weakened condition, and it is reported that he will be unable to attend to his duties for several days.

Woman's Suffrage.

Members of the Junior Women's club of the Bryant school will be given an address this evening on "Woman's Suffrage." Dr. Mary McCoy, president of the Duluth Suffrage club, will speak before the club.

Free Lecture.

"Things We Believe But Do Not Understand" will be the subject of a free lecture to be given by Rev. C. B. Kendall of Hartford, Mich., at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, tomorrow evening. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Wistaria club.

Dies in Cloquet.

O. D. Sends of 1901 West Third street died suddenly Saturday morning in the Cloquet hospital. He had been suffering with pneumonia and a few days ago was stricken with paralysis as well. His wife and son have gone to Cloquet, where the burial will take place Thursday afternoon.

Girls Will Play.

The girls' basket ball team of the Bryant school has accepted a challenge of the Lakeside girls' basket ball team for a game on Wednesday evening. The game will be played at Lakeside. A return game will be played by the two organizations early in March.

West End Briefs.

Gust Hjerpe returned this morning from Eveleth, where he has been attending the annual convention of the district lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars.

Rev. James A. Laurie of Wenatchee, Wash., son of the founder of the Second Presbyterian church, preached last evening to his father's former congregation.

Mrs. George Jewell of the U. S. block will entertain tomorrow evening for members of the Delta Gamma Dramatic club. The club will rehearse two plays to be given on March 13.

The funeral of Florence, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Johnson, 1024 Garfield avenue, who died Saturday of scarlet fever, was held yesterday afternoon. Burial was made in Park Hill cemetery.

Members of the Sunday school of the Grace Methodist church are planning to entertain at a concert on Friday evening, March 6. Arrangements are being made by the committee in charge to have some of Duluth's best talent appear on the program. R. R. Forward is in charge of the arrangements committee.

Former Sheriff Bound Over.

Washburn, Wis., Feb. 23.—Henry J. Conlin, former sheriff of Bayfield county, who was arrested last week on an assault charge, was given a preliminary hearing in municipal court here and bound over to the circuit court. He was released on bonds.

AMENDED LAW LETS JOHN D. OUT

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 23.—Tax Commissioner John D. Fackler and William Agnew, who have been trying to list $900,000,000 of John D. Rockefeller's stocks and bonds on the personal property duplicate of Cuyahoga county, have discovered that the amendment by the legislature of the tax law last week at Columbus probably has exempted the oil king's millions from the Ohio law. The amended statute makes April 1 tax day instead of Feb. 1. It provides that a taxpayer must have resided the greater portion of the previous twelve months in this state.

Rockefeller had been in Cleveland more than twelve months preceding Feb. 1, but by his departure two weeks ago for New York he will not have been in Cleveland during six months prior to April 1.

The tax commissioners will urge Governor Cox to hurry home from Florida, where he has gone on a vacation, and veto the amended law.

OUCH! MY BACK! RUB PAIN AWAY END LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, BACKACHE

Get a Small Trial Bottle of Old-time, Penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly and surely. It never disappoints!

MEETS DEATH UNDER TRAIN

Frank Miller Falls From a Freight Car; Is Almost Decapitated.

Frank Miller, a laborer, 36 years old, was badly mangled and almost decapitated about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he fell from a Northern Pacific freight train underneath the Lake avenue viaduct and was run over by four cars. Coroner McComb ordered the remains removed to the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms, where they are being held pending word from relatives.

It is believed by A. D. Campbell, foreman of the switching crew, that Miller had caught a ride on the freight train, which consisted of forty-three cars, and that he had accidentally fallen off a car. The train was brought to halt and Miller's body was extricated. Four cars had passed over the body and it was very badly mangled. The head was almost severed from the body.

The man was identified as Miller by a bankbook issued by the First National bank to Frank Miller. Nothing is known about him and the body will be held here for a few days before burial.

ALBERTA TOWN IS BADLY SCORCHED

GREAT THRONG SEES HARRY HALL OF ISHPEMING JUMP 163 FEET AT IRONWOOD, MICH., SKI MEETING FEB. 22

SKI SLIDE AT IRONWOOD.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big ski slide here where the national ski contest was held last winter was the scene of a great gathering yesterday when ski jumpers from all over the Northwest competed. It is estimated that about 6,000 were present. The slide was in fine shape and interest keen in the various events. First honors in the professional class went to Harry Hall of Ishpeming, who made a standing long jump of 163 feet. Owing to the injury he sustained at Virginia, Minn., last Sunday Ragnar Omtvedt of Chicago, the champion rider of America, was unable to do any record-breaking. Axel Hendrickson again thrilled with his somersault jumping. The judges of the jumping were Henry Fieldseth, Harold Landry and S. Bergerson.

Professionals—Henry Hall, Ishpeming, 330 1-3; D. Knutson, Chicago, 328; John Brattlund, Ironwood, 304; Hjalmar Paumela, Ishpeming, 296 1-3; Ragnar Omtvedt, Chicago, 156; Lars Haugen, Milwaukee, 148; Art Brattlund, Ironwood, 133.

WHYTE MAKING A GREAT SHOWING IN STATE SPIEL

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 23.—The feature of the play in the state championship curling bonspiel Saturday was the defeat of the crack Bob Dunbar rink of St. Paul at the hands of the Wade Kid rink of Duluth.

It required thirteen heads to finish the game, the youngsters laying a stone in that end and winning out by the score of 12 to 11.

Frank Wade, one of the veterans of the game in the northern city, had a rink made up of boys under the age of twenty. The inexperience and youth of the Wade rink did not seem to cause its members any veneration from the great Dunbar, for the Duluthians went after the world's greatest curler from the start and had him down from the early heads.

Wade was up 11 to 7 in the eleventh head. Wade shot wide on the final head with Dunbar laying three. Dunbar made a perfect draw and tied up the score when it seemed that there was not a chance in the world for the St. Paul wonder to tie it up.

George Labatt of Minneapolis, the state champion, defeated the Lawson rink of St. Paul by the score of 11 to 9.

Elmer Whyte of Duluth won from G. W. Eliott of St. Paul by the score of 14 to 6 in ten ends. The Duluth crowd outclassed the St. Paul rink.

C. M. Griggs, one of the veterans of the St. Paul crowd, defeated Miller of the same city by the score of 15 to 5.

Chris Tweed of Duluth was among the winners, defeating Patterson of St. Paul on a forfeit. Michaud of Duluth was badly beaten by Miller of St. Paul by the score of 18 to 5. Fregeau of Duluth was beaten by McCarthy of St. Paul 17 to 14 and Elmer Whyte came back in one of the best games of the day and took Tom McDermott into camp in a thirteen head game by the score of 12 to 11. Buckley of West Duluth was another of the rinks from the Head of the Lakes to break into the win class, getting a forfeit from Tom Cameron of St. Paul.

Duluth Rinks Strong.

With the immortal Bob Dunbar out of the play it looks as if the fight will be narrowed to St. Paul and Duluth. Whyte's rink has made an excellent showing and may come into the finals and fight it out with Labatt of this city, the present holder of the state championship. Whyte, by the way, was the former title holder.

The results of Saturday:

Preliminary Round.

Miller, Minneapolis, defeated Dinham, Duluth, 9-8 (13 ends).

First Round.

G. Elliott, St. Paul, defeated Pierce, Duluth, 13-7.

B. Miller, St. Paul, defeated Michaud, Duluth, 18-5.

Ordway, St. Paul, defeated M. Defiel, St. Paul, 12-0 (forfeit).

Sixteens.

W. I. Elliott, St. Paul, defeated Buckley, West Duluth, 14-12.

Whyte, Duluth, defeated G. Elliott, St. Paul, 14-6.

Play is on today and it is expected that the spiel will be brought to a close tonight.

BROWN MAY ISSUE DEFI TO RITCHIE AND WOLGAST

Range Fans Would Send Dr. McNulty to Milwaukee to Issue a Ringside Challenge to Lightweight Champion or the Former Holder of the Title.

BY BRUCE.

Dr. Ned McNulty of Duluth may be delegated by certain of the iron range followers of Pal Brown to go to Milwaukee on March 12 and issue a formal challenge for Brown to the winner of the Wolgast-Ritchie encounter at the huge Milwaukee Auditorium.

While you must understand that officially there is no winner under the Hedman boxing law, it has been the habit of followers of boxing the country over to accept the majority of the verdicts rendered by the newspaper men as the final decision.

Wolgast and Ritchie will battle just as hard, presumably, as if the third man in the ring was clothed with authority to raise the gloved hands of one of the battlers in token of his verdict.

Followers of the iron ore scrapper believe that the best way to get to the front is to do the forcing. Therefore the conference with Dr. McNulty last week, in which it was suggested that the genial doctor go to Milwaukee and issue a formal and binding challenge for Brown to meet the winner—and in the event of Doc making the trip he will be equipped, heeled and otherwise supplied with coin of the realm to bind a ring bargain with a genuine deposit in some well regulated bank.

Brown Is After Title.

Pal Brown is at the present time 22 years of age. By all the precedents and usages of the lightweight division he should be in the prime of life. Ad Wolgast by his own confession is 26 years of age. Willie Ritchie, a title holder who is making 135 at 6 o'clock for Ad Wolgast, is 23, and like Brown is in the heyday of his ring prowess.

Friends of Brown want him to get a crack at Wolgast before the lapse of many months. In choosing Wolgast, or preferably Ritchie, those who believe in the prowess of the Minnesota lad are showing their confidence in Brown. Knowing that there will be an immense crowd present at the tango of Ritchie and the German-adored Milwaukee Wolgast, those who are pushing the pugilistic interests of Brown believe that the issuing of a challenge from the Milwaukee ring would have considerable effect on followers of boxing.

Down in Minneapolis Johnny Tillman has been training for over a week for the encounter with Brown. In vaudeville team company with the irrepressible Spike Kelly, Brown has been doing a turn at one of the theaters across the bay. Reports from over the frozen aqua pura state that Pal starts preparations today for the bout with Tillman and that he has fitted up a gymnasium all of his own and will settle down to hard work.

In preparing for Tillman, Brown will do considerable road work. The battle with Tillman means a lot to the aspirant for the lightweight title. Brown has to best Johnny to be reckoned with the four or five leaders of the 133-pound division, and according to his expressed calculations, the forgiven Hibbing youth will carry the going to Tillman from the tap of the gong.

MURPHY OUT OF BASEBALL

Great Trouble Maker of National League Sells Under Pressure.

C. P. Taft Buys Cubs' Stock ---Murphy Says It's Relief.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 23.—As the result of conferences held Saturday between Governor Tener, president of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, and C. P. Taft, Harry Ackerland and other stockholders of the Chicago National league baseball club, an agreement has been reached by which Mr. Taft has purchased the stock in the Chicago National league baseball club, which has been heretofore held by Charles W. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy has resigned as president of the Chicago National league baseball club and will have no further official connection with its affairs. Mr. Murphy has also resigned as director of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

In an interview here last night August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati baseball club, said that C. P. Taft told him that he had offered the presidency of the Chicago National league club to Harry Ackerland of Pittsburg, vice president of the club. According to Mr. Herrmann's information, Mr. Ackerland neither accepted nor declined the offer, and now has it under consideration.

President John K. Tener of the National league, was the last of the baseball magnates to leave the city.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—"I started in baseball with a shoe string, and tonight I'm worth more than a million dollars," said Charles W. Murphy last night, who sold, under pressure, the controlling interest in the Chicago National league club.

Mr. Murphy sat comfortably in a nest of pillows, for he is still suffering with lumbago, in the great room of his $60,000 home, and seemed at peace with all the world.

"I am a happy man," he said, "because I haven't anything to worry about; nobody is calling me names, and criticising me, and it seems as if a large weight had been lifted from my shoulders.

"I feel just like the man who was asked what he would do if some one gave him $1,000,000. He replied that he would get the best room in the best hotel in town, leave a call for 6 o'clock the next morning and when he was awakened at that hour, tell the world to go to blazes."

Mr. Murphy chuckled, but grew serious when he was asked to tell how much Charles P. Taft gave him for the 63 per cent of the stock of the club.

"I would be violating a confidence to give the exact amount," he replied, "but estimated on the basis of the price I received for my interest, the club is worth more than $1,000,000. A half million or so is a lot of money, but the Cubs are worth it."

Murphy reiterated that he was through with the financial end of baseball, but said he was still a lover of the game.

"I am going to be just a plain fan and sit in the bleachers and yell at the players, roast the umpire and criticise the management," he said. "I am going to rest for a year and then I expect to enter some other line of business."

Murphy did not care to discuss his controversies with President Johnson of the American league, whom he charged with trying to oust him from organized baseball, or with owners of other clubs who have opposed him.

NEW MEN OUT FOR CREWS ELIGIBLE FOR ANY OF BOATS

Some prospective candidates for the crews of the Duluth Boat club have become imbued with the idea that a man must row for several years before it is possible for him to make one of the regular crews. This idea is so far from the truth as to stand in need of correction.

There has never in the history of the club been so promising an opportunity for green men to make a crew during their first year as candidates.

Coach Ten Eyck must mould his bantam four out of four absolutely green men. The winning of the bantams last season promoted that crew into the junior class, and likewise the winning of the junior four and eight also promoted those crews into the senior class.

Therefore Ten Eyck must have four new men for the bantam four, and there will be twelve places to fill in the two junior crews, as the only eligibles that have rowed before are the four graduated members of last year's bantam four.

There is no rowing rule that requires a man to row a certain length of time before he is eligible for any boat. A green man can step into the senior boat if he shows the necessary ability.

Every boy in Duluth should become enthusiastic over the idea of becoming a crew candidate; likewise every candidate should be fired with the idea that he is going to win a regular place in the boat.

There are no intricate rules to bar the green man. The only rules of the National association and of the Northwestern International Rowing association that bar men from certain crews are those that state that the winning of a bantam sweep oar race makes juniors of the men, and the winning of a junior sweep oar race makes seniors of the men. These men are barred from competing in sweep oar events in the class they have won in, but can compete in single or double events until they have won in these events.

Any green man, as has been said, can make any boat if he possesses the ability; there is no prohibiting rule, and it does not require several years before a man becomes eligible for a boat.

The Kelleys and Big Duluth hockey teams will play a postponed game this evening at the French rink in the West end. While the Kelleys have not made a very successful record during the present season, the team has been playing a greatly improved game of late and the contest of this evening is expected to prove one of the best of the present season.

In the grade of hockey played in the amateur league the followers of the game have been provided with the best sport in the history of any city league since the puck game became popular in Duluth. Most of the contests have been very close and the majority of them have brought forth some excellent playing.

While the Lakes and Northerns have been making a sort of runaway race out of the pennant chase, most of the wins have been hard fought and several extra time contests have been played.

With the league season nearing an end interest in the final games is increasing. The Kelleys are going to make a vallant effort to win this evening's contest and gain a full game on the clothiers.

Preliminaries Arranged.

It was announced today that Young Nelson of Hawthorne, Wis., and Frank Saunders of Ashland would clash in the semi-windup of the Brown-Tillman setto. Young Jensen of Hurley and Mike O'Malley will meet in one of the preliminaries and Abe O'Nell of Duluth and young Bushey of Superior will clash in the curtain-raiser.

Sells Fast Yacht.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 23.—A. J. Prentice of the Cleveland Yacht club has announced that he has sold his sailing yacht Psammiad II, the fastest sailing vessel on the Great Lakes to Ogden McClurg of Chicago. Psammiad II won the Class E event at the Put-In-Bay regatta last summer.

INTER-LEAGUE GAMES ARRANGED

Several Are Scheduled for Southern Training Trip This Spring.

New York, Feb. 23.—The near opening of the major league pennant races is forecasted by the playing this week of the first of the inter-league games. These ante-season games, classified as either exhibition or practice contests, are growing in popularity each year,

STATUS OF PLAYERS.

Drafts, Releases and Returns Announced By National League.

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 23.—Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baschall leagues has made public the following announcements relative to the changes in status of players preliminary to the opening of the 1914 season. The drafted players claimed under waiver rule are:

By Topeka from Louisville, McLary; by Utica, from Boston American league, Coombs and from St. Louis American league, Leary; by St. Paul from St. Louis American league, Jenkins.

Claims withdrawn for drafted players returned under waiver rule are: Kraft from New Orleans, by Brooklyn.. Elmer Johnson from Omaha by New York Nationals; Schreiber from Duluth by Chicago Americans; Thompson from Durham by Philadelphia.

Among awards of returning drafted players called by more than one club are: Leary of Utica, Wallie of Beaumont and Mollwitz of Green Bay to Toledo; Gilbert of Milwaukee to Kansas City; Zabel of Winnipeg to Kansas City; Owens of Minneapolis to Minneapolis, and Johnson of Syracuse to St. Paul.

JAKE STAHL DIDN'T SIGN WITH FEDERALS

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Jake Stahl, former Boston American league manager stated definitely last night that he would not join the Federal league.

"They made me a good offer," he said, "but business reasons will prevent my accepting it."

Stahl admitted that he had sent a cablegram to Tris Speaker advising Speaker not to sign his 1914 contract until he had reached this country but said he had acted solely as Speaker's friend, not as a Federal leaguer.

James Gilmore, president of the Federals, last night left for New York accompanied by an architect who will draft the plans for the Federal league park in that city.

Twin Lakes, Pa., Feb. 23.—Joe Wood, pitcher for the Boston Red Sox of the American league, underwent an operation for appendicitis at his home here yesterday. The operation was successful and Wood was resting comfortably last night, his condition being such as to indicate early recovery.

Wood had been under a physician's care for several weeks, but his condition became so serious late Saturday night that the operation was thought necessary.

SCRAPS IN EIGHT WISCONSIN CITIES.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 23.—Eight Wisconsin cities will hold boxing contests this week, including Milwaukee, where Ritchie, Mitchell and Patsy Brannigan fight Monday. La Crosse, Eau Claire, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Racine, Superior and Green Bay. This is the largest number of fights in any week since the state boxing law went into effect.

TRAINING IN TEXAS.

North Dakotan in Big League Goes South for Spring Work.

Garrison, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—After spending the winter hunting and taking outdoor exercise, Rube Schauer, one of the North Dakota twirlers in the big leagues, has gone to Marlin, Tex., to get into condition with the rest of the New York Giants for the season's work. He spent the winter at the home of his father, whose original plan was to make a Lutheran minister of Rube.

SEVEN RACE MEETING DATES AGREED UPON

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the secretaries of different North Dakota and Minnesota fair associations has resulted in the arrangement for seven consecutive race meetings in this part of the Northwest following July 2, as follows: Cooperstown, July 2-4; Valley City, 7-10; Crookston, July 15-18; Fargo, July 20-25; Grand Forks, July 28-31; Thief River Falls, Aug. 5-7; Warren, week of Aug. 10.

The Comradeship of "The Makings"

There is something about the fresh, fragrant cigarettes hand-made from "Bull" Durham Tobacco that appeals to clean-cut manhood the world over.

Wherever in the world two "Bull" Durham smokers meet—in a hotel lobby or club in Europe or America; at cross-trails in the Klondike; in some far-off seaport on the Pacific—each recognizes in the other a man to his own liking, a comrade in the world-wide brotherhood of "the Makings." A sack of "Bull" is a letter of introduction that will win friends in every part of the globe.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO

(Enough for forty hand-made cigarettes in each 5-cent sack)

Millions of experienced smokers find the cigarettes they roll for themselves from pure, ripe "Bull" Durham tobacco better suited to their taste and more satisfactory than any they buy ready-made. They find the rich, fresh fragrance and smooth, mellow flavor of "Bull" Durham hand-made cigarettes afford lasting enjoyment and complete satisfaction.

Enough "Bull" Durham is sold in a year to make approximately 12 BILLION Cigarettes—about as many as all brands of ready-made cigarettes in this country combined. And the sales are still growing—because more smokers are learning to "roll their own."

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

and are source of considerable revenue to the magnates. Almost without exception the clubs of the National and American leagues have schedules, several games to be played during the Southern training trips or on home grounds just provided to the opening of the pennant races. These interleague series include games between the Chicago Nationals, Philadelphia Americans, Washington Nationals and Brooklyn Nationals, Cleveland Americans vs. Cincinnati and Chicago Nationals, Philadelphia Nationals and Americans and St. Louis Americans and Chicago Nationals.

The partial list of the leading series, which opens with the playing of the St. Louis Americans vs. Chicago Nationals at Tampa, Fla., on Friday and Saturday of this week is as follows:

Feb. 27 and 28, Chicago Nationals vs. St. Louis Americans, Tampa, Fla.

March 5 and 6, Chicago Nationals vs. St. Louis Americans at St. Petersburg, Fla.; March 12, 13 and 14, Philadelphia Americans vs. Chicago Nationals at Tampa; March 16, 17 and 18, Philadelphia Americans vs. Chicago Nationals, Jacksonville, Fla.; March 26, 27 and 28, Washington Americans vs. Philadelphia Nationals at Washington, D. C.; cans vs. Brooklyn Nationals at Wash- March 30 and 31, Washington Amerilington.

New York, Feb. 23.—Plans for assembling the New York American league club's players at the Texas training camp were announced by the club last night. Next Thursday the vanguard of the team will leave here for Houston.

The pitchers now at Hot Springs, led by Coach Daly, will arrive in Houston about the same time. Frank Chance will be there on Sunday morning, March 1, to receive the players.

BOMBARDIER AND BANDSMAN CLASH

Important English Ring Battle Scheduled for Next Monday — Frank Moran Thinks He Is Match for Jack Johnson.

London, England, Feb. 23.—Interest in English pugilistic affairs is at present centered in the contest to be fought one week from today between Bombardier Wells and Bandman Blake. Although the stake of $6,500 appears rather small viewed from the American ring standpoint, the bout is considered to be one of the most important all English battles of recent years.

Frank Moran, who is matched to box Jack Johnson in Paris, in June, said recently in talking of the bout:

"Since my last appearance here, I have gained much valuable experience; I am a speedier and better boxer in every way than when I was here before. I have put on weight. I weigh now 197 pounds and have a reach of seventy-eight and one-half inches, so that physically at any rate, I am a match for Johnson."

MICHIGAN STILL LEADS.

Aggies Close to Record in Intercollegiate Shooting Championship.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Results of the seventh week's competition of the intercollegiate rifle shooting championship of the United States showed no changes. Michigan agricultural leads all the colleges with seven straight wins, Massachusetts agricultural trailing close behind.

The Class E, the Washington state college still leads, Cornell going down one peg this week, and the Middies taking second place. In Class C, the University of Illinois retains the lead and the highest score of that division with 940. The high score of the week was made by Michigan with 937, which is one point less than the record.

Americans Still Winning.

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 23.—In the state athletic championships held here yesterday. George L. Parker, the California sprinter, won the 220-yard dash and Ruric Templeton of the Olympic club, San Francisco, the pole vault. Templeton cleared the bar at 11 feet 7½ inches, breaking the Australian record of 11 feet 1¼ inches.

DULUTH RINKS BACK FROM SPIEL

Will McKay and John Oldham, the two skips that had Duluth rinks at the Winnipeg spiel, are back with glowing reports of the quality of play at the largest spiel in the world and of the treatment accorded visiting curlers.

While neither of the local rinks got very far, both won some good games and gave a very good account of themselves.

The play was of the highest quality of any spiel held in recent years, according to the statement of John Oldham.

Walker trophy, international—Hallock, Winnipeg Civics.

Cameron cup, consolation—Dr. Jamieson, Winnipeg Thistles.

Eaton trophy, outside rinks—McConaghy, Neepawa.

Birks' trophy, city rinks—Unfinished.

Dingwall trophy—McDougall, Granite.

Tettley tea—McDougall, Granite.

McClaren—Johnson, Badu.

Purity flour—Braden, Granite.

Whyte cup—Veterans, Lipsett, Granite.

Caledonian—McConaghy, Neepawa.

Points competition—Unfinished.

Ladies open competition—Mrs. F. R. Munro, Strathcona.

Ladies consolation—Mrs. Lipsett, Skinner, Strathcona.

Hudson, Kenora; Finlay, Strathcona, and McAskill, Gladstone, were tied for the grand aggregate with 15 games each, the champion being decided by a toss.

Haugen Wins Jump.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 23.—Anders Haugen with 232 1-3 points won first place in the annual tournament of the Milwaukee Ski club at Lake Nagowicka yesterday. A strong wind that swept down directly upon the jumpers prevented any spectacular leaps. Haugen made the best jump of the day, 134 feet. In the amateur class Einar Jensen of Chicago took first prize with 226 points.

ROYAL CHIEF COMING.

Members of Clan Stewart Plan Dinner for A. G. Finlay.

The members of Clan Stewart will be hosts to A. G. Finlay of Seattle, Wash., royal chief of the Order of Scottish Clans of the United States and Canada, at a dinner to be given in his honor Thursday night.

The royal chief is coming to the Head of the Lakes to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of Clan Cameron of Superior Friday night. Word of his coming was not received until a few days ago, allowing but a short time for the preparations. These are in charge of A. G. McKnight, royal counsellor, Simon Clark and Angus G. Macauley.

The local Scots have demonstrated their ability in the past to provide interesting programs on short notice so there is no doubt but what the entertainment Thursday evening will be of the usual high order. Among those who have already agreed to participate are W. D. Gordon, royal deputy of the Minnesota clans, and John Alvin Johnson, who will feature a number of Harry Lauder's songs. Royal Chief Finlay will give an address.

Many Duluth clansmen will attend the anniversary celebration at Superior Friday night and delegations are also expected from range towns and other nearby cities.

Pegoud to Visit America.

New York, Feb. 23.—Adolph E. Pegoud, the daring French aviator who first demonstrated the stability of the aeroplane under various unusual conditions by making flights upside down and looping the loop, will visit this country next June to engage in a series of flights.

BARTENDERS ARE AROUSED

Ordinance Licensing Them Will Come Up for Action Tuesday.

Hot Fight Also Expected on East Fond du Lac Matter.

The city council meeting tomorrow afternoon promises to be an interesting session, several matters which have been subjected to considerable discussion being due for final consideration, the outcome of which will be closely followed.

These include the ordinance licensing bartenders, the ordinance making East Fond du Lac a residence section and the awarding of a contract for a truck for the sewer department of the works division.

The ordinance regulating bartenders has aroused a storm of protest on the part of the men who make their living behind local bars. It requires them to pay a license fee of $5 a year and they seriously object to being taxed for the privilege of working in the city. They are also opposed to the provision which requires them to wear a tag while on duty. The council is divided on the ordinance, some of the commissioners stating that the proposed regulation is unnecessary and that it would operate to shift responsibility from the proprietor to his employes. The outcome is in doubt.

Fond du Lac Matter.

The fate of the ordinance declaring all of East Fond du Lac to be a residence district is uncertain. Strong opposition has been made to including that part of it which lies between the Northern Pacific right-of-way and the river front, where property was purchased by the Duluth Ice company as a site for an ice house. The petition asking that East Fond du Lac be restricted was prepared for the purpose of preventing the ice house being built there, but it also bars the establishment of any factories or industries, public garages, public stables, hotels and apartment houses. A large number of the people living at Fond du Lac wish to see the ice house built as proposed as it will give many of the men employment. They also state that if the company is barred by the ordinance from building on its own property an unsightly warehouse will be erected on the right-of-way of the railroad. They point out that this would be much more objectionable than the structure which the company would build on its own ground.

Auto Truck Contract.

The resolution awarding the contract for the works division auto truck to the Mutual Auto company was laid over a week when it came up for action last Monday. M. W. Turner, one of the bidders, claimed that he had not received a square deal, asserting that the advertising for bids and the investigation of the merits of the various trucks was but a matter of form, as the chauffeur of the works division, to whom the selection was left, had his mind made up in advance relative to which car he would recommend. The Mutual Auto company handles the Universal truck. Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division, has said that any or all of the bidders interested will have an opportunity to appear before the council tomorrow afternoon.

It is possible that some action may be taken relative to the two resolutions passed last week ordering the improvement of Woodland avenue between Fourth street and Victoria street. One resolution orders the improvement of the entire avenue from Fourth street to Austin street but specifies that because of limited funds only that section between Fourth and Victoria streets shall be done this season. The other orders the improvement under the charter section which authorizes special [illegible] improvements without petition. It is believed by some that the second resolution should be rescinded as it opens the way for delays which would not be likely if only the first resolution were in effect.

The ordinance appropriating $35,500 for the purchase of materials for the water and light department will be given its third reading and the ordinance appropriating $30,500 for the purchase of cast iron pipe for the same department will be advanced to its second reading.

"LEST ONE GOOD CUSTOM SHOULD CORRUPT WORLD"

"God Reveals Himself In Many Ways," Says Duluth Pastor.

"The Gist of a Free Faith" was the theme of a sermon preached by Rev. G. R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday morning.

"People will tell you that liberalism consists in this and in that, in denying the holy Trinity and the atonement and hell," said the pastor. "But this is only the outer intellectual shell, the theological consequences of freedom of thought and of soul. We are not free, because we do not believe these things, but we do not believe them because we are free and hold to a greater faith.

"The truly liberal man has only one dogma and this is the dogma of his spiritual and mental freedom. We believe in the freedom of truth. We hold that truth is something larger than any one book, than any one personality no matter how divine; we contend that God reveals himself in untold ways and that men of all ages have beheld the face of truth. Indeed a world in which God reveals himself only to one nation, through one book and through one man, is essentially a Godless world. A Moses came when a Moses was needed and Christ appeared in the fullness of time. But a Washington also appeared as a saviour when he was needed and a Lincoln came in the fullness of time to redeem his people. And how can a man of the twentieth century fail to see how God's truth is free as the air when he beholds the miracles of science about him, when he realizes what the great thinkers of our own day have brought to light. To say that these are not religious truths is missing the point. All truth is from God and therefore spiritual and through any truth we may see the face of God. In the freedom of science the ages have revealed to us a greater God than Jehovah. In the fathomless world of evolution, of constant change and becoming, in the world of Kant and Goethe, La Place and Darwin, Huxley and Bergesen, we see a spirit infinite and unfathomable as is his own world, vaster, infinitely vaster than the God of Moses and Aaron."

POORHOUSE IN MICHIGAN BURNS

Port Huron, Mich., Feb. 23.—Seventy-three inmates of the St. Clair county poor house at Goodells were rendered temporarily homeless Sunday by a fire which almost completely destroyed the structure. Some of the inmates, old and feeble, had to be carried from the building, but none of them was injured. They were given shelter in Maccabee hall and nearby homes. The fire started in the roof, probably from a defective chimney. The loss is about $35,000.

HUNDREDS SEE MAN FALL 200 FEET

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—Hundreds of persons who were watching George Anderson, a steeplejack, at work at the top of the flagpole on the Standard Oil building, 200 feet above the level of the sidewalk, were horrified when he lost his balance and fell, turning twice in the air before he was dashed to death at their feet.

CROWD SETS NEW RECORD

More Than 900 Hear Patriotic Program at Free Concert.

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Are Honor Guests--J. T. Armstead Is Speaker

The season's record of attendance was shattered yesterday when an audience of more than 900 people gathered at the Masonic temple to do honor to the members of the G. A. R., who with the members of the W. R. C., were guests of honor.

The musical selections, which were all of a patriotic or warlike nature, were enthusiastically received and greatly enjoyed. The organ numbers comprised a stirring march by Pryor, "The Triumph of Old Glory," and Dudley Buck's masterly transcription of the "Star Spangled Banner," and concluded with Weber's "Jubel" overture, at the finale, of which the audience rose and joined in singing "America."

The Scottish Rite quartet gained fresh laurels by its interpretation of a number of war songs, in which the various bugle calls were played by Charles Helmer. As an encore, they gave a beautiful rendering of a special arrangement of "Taps." Their second number was the spirited "Call to Arms" from Verdi's "Aida," followed by "Minnesota" as an encore.

The experiment in the way of ensemble singing by the entire audience proved to be a great success. Song books were handed around by the ushers, and young and old alike seemed to take pleasure in responding to the invitation to "rise and sing." It was inspiring to hear the volume of sound, as most of the 900 joined in "Star Spangled Banner," "Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Dixie" and "Auld Lang Syne." This feature will probably be repeated at some future concert.

The greatest chapter of a man's life has been written when he can rightfully claim citizenship in the United States, said the speaker. Citizenship cannot be attained in a day, he said, but is a process of evolution.

Mr. Armstead lauded the old soldiers still living, but reminded his audience that those who died on the battlefield or in prison should not be forgotten. In speaking of pensions for old soldiers, he said that the country could never repay its soldiers for preserving the Union and for their sacrifices during their early manhood.

The speaker next Sunday will be W. A. McGonagle, who will speak on, "Iron Ore Transporation," and the soloist will be Miss Gladys Reynolds.

"CONFESSION" NOT BELIEVED

Stans Sankosky Will Serve Out Sentence in the Penitentiary.

Stans Sankosky, under sentence to the state penitentiary for the attempted theft of a watch from a lodger at the Adelphi hotel last New Year's day, will gain nothing by the delayed "confession" of James Carey, jointly indicted and convicted for the same crime, who is now willing to take all responsibility for the offense. A motion for a new trial in Sankosky's case, based on newly discovered evidence in the Carey "confession," was denied Saturday afternoon by Judge Dancer of the district court.

Sankosky and Carey were jointly indicted but demanded separate trials. Sankosky was brought to trial first before Judge Ensign. The jury disagreed and a second trial was called before Judge Dancer. The second jury convicted him. Carey was later tried and convicted in Judge Cant's division. Carey was a witness in Sankosky's behalf at both trials but no "confession" was made until after both had been convicted. Carey then wrote a letter to Judge Dancer admitting his guilt and clearing Sankosky from any connection with the affair.

Jay Hoag, Sankosky's attorney, on the strength of Carey's letter, moved for a new trial. Henry F. White, third assistant county attorney, opposed the motion on the theory that the confession was a scheme on the part of Carey to save Sankosky from punishment. Sankosky will serve a term at Stillwater and Carey will go to St. Cloud.

FARMERS WILL HAVE A CLUB BUILDING

Feb. 14, at a meeting held in the Rice Lake schoolhouse, a farmers' club named The Beaver River Improvement club was organized. A building for the use of the club will be erected in the near future. The officers of the club are: Richard Shesby, president; John Wilson, vice president; Charles Hanson, secretary, and Peter E. Michels, treasurer.

CHARGES DENIED BY JUDGE SPEER

Macon, Ga., Feb. 23.—Federal Judge Emery Speer makes positive denial that he has been guilty of official misconduct during the twenty-nine years he has held office, in a brief submitted to the congressional committee which recently investigated charges against the jurist and is about to prepare its report to the house.

The brief, in which Judge Speer makes his declarations, answers the charges in great detail, and was delivered to Representative Webb of North Caroline, chairman of the investigators.

JEWS PERFORM ANCIENT RITES

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—Thousands of Orthodox Jews here Sunday participated in ancient rites solemnizing the burial of the remains of the "Torah," or sacred scrolls of the Ahaveth Chesed synagogue, which was destroyed by fire several weeks ago. It was the first time the ceremony has ever been performed in this city, if not in Americes, according to leading members of the congregation.

Carson Not Engaged.

London, Feb. 23.—Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, denies his reported marriage engagement to Miss Frewen, niece of Moreton Frewen, ex-member of parliament for Cork. The announcement of the engagement was published by several Sunday papers.

THE EDITOR'S HOLIDAY.

"Have you ever noticed," inquired the country editor who was visiting Galveston, of a News reporter, "that when an editor goes to the city, friends and subscribers see to it that he has a busy day?

"Well, they do!" he continued, cheerfully answering his own query. "They sit up nights to figure out what use they can make of him. Up to the morning of my departure I'd agreed to try to put a loan through the Second National bank for one man; to ask the extension of sixty days on a little bill of dry goods, amounting to $37.55, for another; and for a third to buy and bring out three gallons of linseed oil that was advertised at 8 cents a gallon less than at home. My carrying it would save freight, besides.

"Also, I'd undertaken to attend to the trimming of a hat for Mrs. Wadswood; to buy a sanitary glass bottle with a sterilized rubber tube in it for Mrs. Grimmel's baby; to get samples of wall paper for Mike McCool; to see the Skipkoe shingle mill in person and see if I couldn't get a better price on mill work for the Davis house; to look into the matter of buying a church organ on time for the new church; to purchase and bring out a roll of stair carpet for Ezra Williams, and to look up Sam Wood's nephew and tell him how the folks were.

"Incidentally I had to buy some type for myself, and I'd been planning to fool around a little in a photograph supplies place. But an editor can't offend subscribers and advertisers in a town where people seldom go to the city, and I'd smilingly agreed to attend to all these errands.

"But my soul was heavy within me when I clapped on my hat and slipped down the back stairway. I hoped to reach the station without meeting any more friends. As I turned the corner of the building, however, a voice hailed me:

"'Hey, Ed! Come here a minute!'

"I hesitated. The voice was that of a leading advertiser. I forced myself up to the door from which the voice came.

"'You know, Ed,' said the leading advertiser, 'I broke that old lawn mower of mine, and it ain't hardly worth fixing. I see by the paper that Jones & Harker are sellin' 'em cheap this week—a good one for three seventy-five. Now you get one for me, and bring it out, and I'll give you a check for it when you get back.'

"'But how—' I began, thinking of the stair carpet and the linseed oil and the other things. He pushed me gently out.

"'You'll miss the train,' he said. 'Don't forget now—Jones & Harker.'

"Then I ran! Voices called me, eager hands strove to arrest my flight, but I did not halt. At the station the postmaster met me with a welcoming smile.

"'Ed,' he said, 'those twins of mine have a birthday Sunday. I want you should get two baby cheers—the high kind, you know, with wooden trays in front. One of 'em wants to be blue and 'tother red. Don't pay more'n a dollar apiece for 'em—and don't forget. I'll pay ye when ye get back. I ain't got any change.'

"Then I got aboard the train, which had just pulled in. As soon as I was seated, a hand rapped wildly on the window.

"'Say, Ed,' shrieked an excited voice, the owner of which was running alongside the moving train, 'will you get me—'

"'No, I WON'T!' I said with vim; though he couldn't hear me, it did me a lot of good to let off that much steam.

"Then," continued the editor, "I sank back into the red-hot red plush seat, and sighed a sigh that came from the depths of my soul. I could see a fine holiday before me!"

TOP HAT FOR CECIL RHODE'S STATUE.

Pall Mall Gazette: Among the stories in a book which the duchess of Aosta is publishing is one relating to the celebrated statue of Cecil Rhodes which stands in the main square of Bulawayo. The empire builder is figured in contemplation of his achievement with head bared. The whole district had been grievously plagued by drouth for over twelvemonth, when the natives got up a great agitation and marched in enormous numbers to the square, and, thronging around the statue, insisted that the staue of Cecil Rhodes should immediately be given a top hat. They said that "heaven respects this great creator of empire far too much to send the needed rain while he stands there bareheaded."

ON THE IRON RANGES

TOWER PLANING MILL MAY START

Report That Plant May Be Placed in Operation This Season.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported that those interested in the old planing mill here will have it overhauled soon and put in shape for manufacturing dressed lumber.

The city council expects to rebuild the pole line in town for the electric lighting system.

The fire hose was tested the past week and a number of defective sections were found. It is probable the chief of the fire department will recommend the purchase of 500 feet of hose which is urgently needed for better fire protection.

Mrs. N. J. Benson returned Friday evening from a several days' stay at Virginia.

A party from St. Paul is building a number of log cabins in Fecto Bay, Lake Vermilion. Dressed lumber was sent out from Tower on Friday to complete them. The number of cottages on the lake shore and numerous islands are rapidly increasing.

The usual monthly service was held on Sunday morning at St. Mary's Episcopal church, Rev. D. F. Thompson of Eveleth in charge.

GILBERT'S TAXABLE PROPERTY INCREASED

About $2,000,000 Voted Into Village's Incorporated Limits.

Gilbert, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fears of a clash during the special election held at Sparta Saturday upon the proposition of annexing the Sparta and Gilbert locations to Gilbert village proper were not realized although more or less feeling developed. Officers stood at the polls in Sparta to prevent any fights. The proposition carried by a vote of 60 for to 33 against, or almost 2 to 1.

This means that about $2,000,000 in mining property will be added to the taxable wealth of the village and materially aid in the proposed expenditures for village improvements. Feeling was pretty bitter against the Oliver Iron Mining company for alleged attempted intimidation of Spartans and ousting them from their property and it is expected there will be some damage suits in district court. The feeling between employes of the big mining company and the Spartans has also been bitter.

Two years ago the project to annex the mining property failed.

ALLEGED FORGER TO HAVE HEARING

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Linwood R. Newton, the former Mesaba Electric railway lineman arrested last week on a charge of passing about $50 in "phony" checks drawn on a local bank, will have a hearing before Judge Carey tomorrow. He is 22 and is said to have been traveling the primrose path here several weeks. All but one of the checks were passed on local saloonmen. Leo R. Vail, son of the late ex-Senator P. R. Vail, arrested as an accomplice, will also have a hearing, it is expected. He is out on $500 bonds but Newton is in jail.

VIRGINIA TEAM WINS.

Defeats Hibbing Basket Ball Five in an Exciting Contest.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most exciting basketball games seen here this winter was played between the Virginia City team and the Hibbing alumni at the Technical gymnasium Saturday evening. Virginia started in scoring almost as soon as play had commenced and in the first half rolled up 19, their opponents being blanked. In the second Hibbing braced up and played a snappier game, but it was too late to overcome the lead. The score at the end of the game was Virginia 31, Hibbing 14. The feature of the game was the work of Kettlety, who played left guard for Virginia. The lineup of the two teams, which are both composed of ex-college stars, was as follows:

Virginia—Cummings, forward; Garvey, forward; Schroder, center; Kettlety, guard; Meehan, guard. Meehan was replaced in the second by Greisch and Garvey by McCabe.

Virginia Curlers Win.

Virginia, Feb. 23. — (Special to The Herald.)—The intercity play between the Virginia and Eveleth curling clubs on Saturday for the D. H. McDonald trophy was won by the Virginia stone shooters, who made 135 points to Eveleth's 114. Twelve rinks from each city were entered in the play: The scores: At Virginia, Boyle, Virginia, 19; Doyle, Eveleth, 11. Miller, Virginia, 16; Greening, Eveleth, 6. Stebbins, Virginia, 15; H. Murray, Eveleth, 5. Moore, Virginia, 9; Van Slyke, Eveleth, 8. McNeil, Virginia, 10; Campbell, Eveleth, 7. Lenont, Virginia, 16; Hoel, Eveleth, 8.

At Eveleth—William Murray, Eveleth 9; Watt, Virginia, 8. Edmunds, Eveleth, 10; Stevens, Virginia, 9. Love, Eveleth, 21; Shaver, Virginia, 4. Gill, Virginia, 14; Hatch, Eveleth, 7. Robb, Eveleth, 11; Johnson, Virginia, 7. Pratt, Eveleth, 11; D. Coffey, Virginia.

JOSEPH AUSTIN IS AGAIN CANDIDATE

Former President of Chisholm Village Board Seeks Job.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the bitter cold of the past few days the local political kettle has simmered more or less. Tomorrow is claimed by some to be the last day for filing, but there appears to be a difference of opinion on the subject, some saying it is not because today is a holiday.

Four have so far filed for village president, as follows: Joseph Austin, who served in the same capacity two years ago; Gust Anderson, a prominent Scandinavian; Henry Fugere, prominent in politics for a number of years, and Matt Borlin, now serving as a trustee. Mr. Borlin is now serving his third term as trustee.

JOSEPH AUSTIN.

Those filing for other offices: Trustees, J. H. McNiven, F. W. Anderson, Anton Mahan and Matt Jaasko.

Record, C. Monty Tramontin, M. J. Thomson and B. E. Culver. Treasurer, Charles E. French, Phil Grennier and Frank Gouze.

CHISHOLM LOSES WELL KNOWN MEN

Departure of A. Tancig and Willard Bayliss Much Regretted.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The announcement that A. Tancig, mechanical engineer and superintendent of the Shenango Furnace company's interests in this district, had resigned was followed by the announcement that F. E. Downing would have temporary charge of the properties here. The resignation of Mr. Tancig, coming at the same time as that of William Bayliss of the Leonard mine of the Oliver, created a stir here in business and political circles. Mr. Tancig and Mr. Bayliss are members of the water and light board and Mrs. Tancig and Mr. Bayliss are members of the library board, all of which means the appointment of two members to each board. Chisholm will feel the loss of these two prominent men and their esteemed families very keenly. It is supposed a banquet will be given, at which both Mr. Tancig and Mr. Bayliss will be the guests of honor.

VIRGINIA SINGERS GOING TO NORWAY

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Norwegian Quartet club, which consists of twenty-two members, will give a basket social and dance in the Moose hall on Wednesday evening. The club will also give several musical numbers. The club plans to send a delegation of ten to the sangerfest which will be held in Chicago in June. After the meet in Chicago the Virginia delegation will join a delegation 300 strong which will be sent by the Norwegian Singers' Association of America to the Norwegian exposition, which will be held in Christiania, Norway, during July, when Norway celebrates her independence. They will sail from New York on June 12.

WOOD BOY BURIED.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Presbyterian church was thronged yesterday afternoon for the funeral of Harvey Wood, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, who met a tragic death Friday when killed by an automobile, many friends of the stricken family showing their sympathy by attending.

To Manager Angora Store.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Mollan, general manager for the Farmers' Co-operative Mercantile association, went to Angora today to be in temporary charge pending the appointment of a successor to Victor Taipali, who resigned to enter into business for himself at Chisholm. The Co-operative association is composed of farmers in the northern section of St. Louis county and is in a prosperous condition. Stores are operated at Virginia, Angora and Little Swan, south of Hibbing, the headquarters of the association being here.

Victor Power Files.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor V. L. Power, Recorder Haley, Trustees Curran, Burrows and Geiselman have filed for reelection.

Mayor Power's filing probably disposes of rumors current that he might file for congress for the Eighth district, a move that his friends say he never contemplated.

CHISHOLM DOG RACES POPULAR

Cold Does Not Prevent Large Crowd Watching Events.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notwithstanding the zero weather which prevailed all day Sunday the dog races in the afternoon drew a large crowd. Arnold J. Hubin arranged the program and purses, which were made up from popular subscription of the business men. Seven dogs were entered. The course was 920 feet on Second avenue, the starting point being at the intersection of Lake street and Second avenue. Arnold J. Hubin was official starter, and Sam Bowron and C. C. Esterbrook judges. After the prizes had all been awarded it was found that $1.50 remained in the treasury and Joe Sullivan, with his single dog, "Jumbo," challenged the field for a race for it. His challenge was accepted by Bye and Printy, who doubled, making the race a single dog against the team. Jumbo won. The races and prizes are as follows:

Free-For-All.

First heat—Sullivan, first; Logotar, second; Archambault, third, and Bye, fourth.

Second heat—Printy, first; Prusak, second; Sullivan, third, and Sullivan, fourth. The prizes for each heat were, first $2.50; second, $2; third, $1.50, fourth, $1, making a total of $21 for the free-for-all.

Professional Race.

Sullivan, first; Printy, second, and Prusak, third, the prizes being $2.50, $1.50 and $1.

In the team races Bye and Printy won first prize and Archambault and Logotar, second; prizes, $3.50 and $2.

NORTHERN HARDWARE TEAM IS DEFEATED

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a fast and interesting game the local city hockey team defeated the fast Northern Hardware team of Duluth here yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2. The locals put up the strongest game seen on the local ice this year although one of their regular men, Sullivan, was out of the game on account of illness and his place was filled by Art and Herbert Berg. Art played the first half and Herb the second. The work of Herb in the second half was very noticeable and it was largely due to his fine work that the locals took the lead in the second half and won the game. Westin, Griffin, Beland and Dahlstrom also played their regular strong game and Anderson at goal stopped a couple of shots in the last half which looked like goals for the visitors. Alder put up the strongest game for the visitors although he was inclined at times to rough it considerably. He made both the scores for his team.

In the second half the locals played the visitors off their feet making two scores while the visitors were blanked.

Alder Gets Puck.

The Duluth boys made the first score after about two minutes of play when Alder got the puck behind the locals' goal and carried it back until he was able to get a shot. Wastin tied the score a few minutes later on a pretty shot from right wing. Before the first half ended Alder came back again with another score and the half ended with the score 2 to 1 in the visitors' favor. In the second half the locals rushed Duluth off their feet and during much the greater part of the half the play was in Duluth territory and had it not been for the fine work of Skoomers at goal the score would have been considerably more in favor of the home team, but his stick and shins appeared to be always in the way of the shots and thus kept the score down.

The locals tied the score in about ten minutes of play when Griffin shot a goal after a pretty exhibition of skating and stick work and a few minutes later Art Berg shot the last score of the game from directly in front of the visitors' goal.

The line-up was as follows:

Skoomers	g	H. Anderson
Swanstrom	p	B. Anderson
Alder	c	Beland
Rickard	r	A. and H. Berg
Du Moe	lw	Griffin
Grenner	cp	Dahlstrom
Nelson	rw	Capt. Westin

KELLEY FIVE LOSES.

Zenith City Basket Ball Team Beaten By Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kelley basket ball team of Duluth was defeated here Saturday evening by the local city team in a fast game, 31 to 16. The locals outclassed the visitors from the start both in floor work and basket shooting. Woodward, Kernan and Sullivan were the stars for the local team, while Horak for the visitors put up a strong game. A fair sized crowd attended the game.

This was possibly the last game that will be played here this year. The team will leave Thursday evening for Bemidji, where they will meet the fast team of that place in a series of two games Friday and Saturday evenings.

The following was the line-up:

Duluth		Two Harbors.
Grant	c	Woodward, capt
Horak	f	Kernan
Solheim	f	Freeman
Olson	g	Sullivan
Nelson	g	Filiatrault and Johnson.

Referee, Conliff.

Chisholm Churches Crowded.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The go-to-church movement drew large audiences at both the morning and evening services Sunday at the Methodist church. Rev. Ralph C. Jones, the pastor, gave a special sermon. George Blasing sang at the morning service and Mrs. William Anderson at the evening service. The other churches had large congregations.

Visiting In Virginia.

Finnish Club Dance.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Finnish Married Men's club will give a dance in the Finnish Socialist opera house tomorrow night. This will be the first affair of the kind given by the club.

DULUTH MASONS GO A-VISITING

One Delegation to Coleraine Saturday--Another Will Go to Cloquet.

A delegation of Duluth Masons went to Coleraine last Saturday night to attend the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the establishment of Canisteo lodge there. No lodge meeting was held but a banquet was given and an interesting toast list was presented. Those from Duluth, all of whom spoke, were: R. E. Denfeld, grand master of the grand lodge of the state; W. A. McGonagle, past grand master; T. W. Hugo, inspector general of the thirty-third degree, Scottish Rite Masons, for Minnesota; and Edward Armstrong, worshipful master of Ionic lodge, No. 186, A. F. & A. M. Others who spoke at the banquet were W. J. Archer of Virginia, J. A. Van Dyke of Coleraine, W. J. King of Coleraine and Former Senator C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids.

This evening quite a large delegation of Duluth Masons will go by special train to Cloquet to assist in dedicating the new hall of Dalles lodge, No. 181. The dedication will be in charge of the most worshipful grand master of Masons of Minnesota, R. E. Denfeld of Duluth, and other grand officers. The train will leave the Union depot at 6:30 o'clock this evening, arriving in Cloquet at 7:30, and will leave there for the return trip about 11 o'clock, reaching Duluth at midnight.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

COLD WILL CONTINUE

Below Zero Weather Promised Until Tuesday Afternoon.

Shippers of Perishable Goods Warned to Take Heed.

Owing to the fact that today is a holiday with the government officials, no map is issued locally, but Weather Forecaster Richardson says that there will probably be snow flurries tonight and tomorrow with the lowest temperature in Duluth and Superior tonight at around 5 deg. below zero, while on the iron ranges it will get to 10 to 15 deg. below.

He warns shippers to protect shipments of perishable goods against a temperature ranging from zero to 15 deg. below in the Eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

He gives the comforting prediction that the weather will become warmer tomorrow afternoon. Prevailing winds tonight and tomorrow will be moderate and easterly.

The lowest temperature yesterday was 22 deg. below at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the lowest today was 15 deg. below at 7 o'clock this morning.

It was fair and cold a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:59 o'clock and will set this evening at 5:44, giving ten hours and forty-five minutes of sunshine, six minutes more than Saturday.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Tuesday; not so cold Tuesday.

Iowa—Fair tonight except snow in southeast portion; Tuesday fair and not so cold.

North and South Dakota—Fair and not so cold tonight and Tuesday.

Montana—Fair and not so cold tonight and Tuesday.

Read the repair ads on page 13 tonight. Now is the time to fix up for spring.

PIONEER FARMER OF MARQUETTE BURIED

Henry Blemhuber, Who Proved Richness of Soil, Called at 81.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of the pioneer farmer of this section, Henry Blemhuber, who came to Marquette in 1859 on a steamer, and was the first to demonstrate the possibilities of the soil of this section, was held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Anderson this afternoon. Mr. Blemhuber was a native of Germany, aged 81, and came to America in 1857.

In 1860 Mr. Blemhuber was married to Catherine Schmidtt, also a native of Germany, coming to the United States in 1857. Mrs. Blemhuber died in this city March 24, 1883. In 1866 Mr. Blemhuber bought fifteen acres of timber land, and began cutting cord wood to supply the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railway. Two years later he built a house and took up his residence on this land, which became a nucleus of the fine farm of 400 acres, of which over 200 acres are now under cultivation.

Neighbors Laughed at Him.

When Mr. Blemhuber located on his land and started in to do general farming, his neighbors tried to discourage him in every way, as it was thought at that time that the only crop that could be raised successfully was potatoes, but he believed and proved differently, and has shown that nearly every kind of farm produce can be successfully grown in Cloverland, if properly handled. In 1883, Mr. Blemhuber's son, Robert, became a partner with his father, and the business has since been carried on under the name of H. Blemhuber & Son. Mr. Blemhuber leaves two children, Robert Blemhuber and Mrs. Minnie Anderson.

STEEPLE MAY FALL ON NOTRE DAME

Paris, Feb. 23.—At Dijon a hurricane blew the bell out of the tower of the church of Notre Dame, a thirteenth century structure, and sent it crashing through the roof of the chancel. The edifice was so shaken that the tall steeple threatens to fall at any moment.

Loses Eye Mending Cable.

Menominee, Mich., Feb. 23.—While mending a cable here, Peter Anderson of Wausaukee was accidentally hit in the eye by the steel and he will lose his sight.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism eyestrain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

TRAFFIC MEN BACK HOME

Immediate Divorce of Vessel Lines From Railroads Not Desirable.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club's traffic commission, returned yesterday from Washington, where, with Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the commission, he attended the hearing before Commissioner C. C. McCord of the interstate commerce commission of the application of the Pennsylvania & Northern Central railways and of the Erie & Western Transportation company for an extension of time beyond July 1, next, in which to continue to own and operate their boat lines.

The Duluth traffic men, Mr. Hall said this morning, presented a plan for handling of traffic on the Great Lakes which they considered would most effectively serve the public interest, and it was taken under advisement.

The railroads and lakes lines contended that their service has been good and their rates low; that they operate their lines to the public advantage, and should therefore be permitted to continue their operation.

Julius H. Barnes in addressing the commission urged that the lake carriers are not operated to serve the public, but are run in the interest of preserving the monopoly of the rail lines, so that they may be enabled to get as much out of the traffic as possible. He thought, however, that the boats might be operated for the present at least under railroad ownership, subject to the supervision of the interstate commerce commission, for the reason that if the boats were to be summarily divorced from the railroads, the roads would use every possible effort to defeat their profitable operation. Shippers, he said, have not apparently determined whether the immediate divorcement of the rail and boat lines would be a good thing or not. It is felt that if the divorcement were to take place at once the boats might not be operated for a time, as there are no interests prepared at present to take them over.

The Terminal Problem.

As tending towards the improvement of transportation conditions, it was suggested by Mr. Barnes, that rail and water terminals at the lake ports should be so co-ordinated as to make it possible for the boats to receive and discharge cargoes at a minimum of delay and expense.

He suggested that the commission look into the possibility of reducing handling costs through the adoption of modern methods, and that freight rates should be based on such costs. If the railroads desire to continue their present antiquated method of handling merchandise at the docks to and from the boats, it should be at their own expense. The rates to be made, should, he thought, allow for reasonable costs and shore expenses, plus a fair return on the value of the property engaged in the public service.

As the package freight boats are all owned by the railroads and there are no boats available for independent operation, it was suggested that the president upon the recommendation of the interstate commerce commission might be empowered to suspend the operation of the coastwise navigation laws, so that boats of foreign register might be permitted to enter into the handling of package freight for such time and at such ports as may be necessary to protect the public interests in transportation on the Great Lakes.

Reasonable Rates.

The suggestion was further thrown out that the commission use the power conferred on it by the Panama Canal act, and fix reasonable proportional rates to and from lake ports where through rates are now in effect so that independent vessels and vessel lines may be able to engage in the carrying of interstate lake and rail traffic, and that such rates become operative on short notice to the commission and the public.

Regarding the Duluth butter and eggs case, Mr. Hall said that in a conference with Anchor line officials he was informed that at least one of that company's passenger boats would be fitted with refrigerator equipment and be ready to afford facilities for the carrying of perishables by the opening of navigation. He was given to understand that the other lines would follow suit.

DEER RIVER WATCH THIEF IS RUN DOWN

Is Followed to Cohasset, Brought Back and Sentenced.

Deer River, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—A watch was stolen from the Peterson restaurant Sunday morning and a description of the suspect was given Marshal Andy Dorholt, who followed traces of the man, went to Cohasset on the noon train and there found him who walked the distance, arriving soon after the officer arrived. The suspect gave his name as Robert Hamilton at his trial, which was before Justice C. F. Tellin. He was found guilty and sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. Evidence showed that he tried to sell the watch to local parties.

Mrs. N. St. Peter, who was operated upon for appendicitis at Omaha last fall, was taken seriously ill Thursday from apparently an after effect of the operation and was taken at once to a hospital at Duluth.

Though the annual village election is only twenty days off, there is no name mentioned for office.

E. E. Tankersley, local land dealer, has received an invitation to attend the real estate booster meeting to be held in Minneapolis March 4 and 5. Mr. Tankersley is trying to interest business men of Deer River to send a delegate or two from here.

Mrs. Walt Scott was operated upon for appendicitis at a hospital at Bemidji last Saturday and is reported to be recovering successfully from the ordeal.

P. R. Brooks went to Bemidji Tuesday to receive treatment from Dr. Gilmore for rheumatism for which he has been suffering intensely of late.

Infant Son Dies.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Johnson died of a spinal delinquency Monday, and burial was made Wednesday.

Mrs. W. A. Ryan, the milliner and ladies' dress furnisher, went to the Twin Cities Wednesday to purchase her spring stock of goods.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Carpenter were passengers to Minneapolis Tuesday for a stay of a week.

A dance is to be given tonight by the Women's Civic Improvement league. It is given as the old settlers' dance, though all ages are invited.

A number of old settlers of the county residing in and near Deer River are planning on going to Grand Rapids today to attend the annual party and dance of the association. Membership includes only people whose residence in the county dates back to 1895, or previous.

The mothers and teachers held a meeting at the Methodist church parlors Wednesday and enjoyed tea and a short literary program.

The Canveys in chalk talk and prose and song entertained a full house at the Methodist church Thursday evening, under the winter literary schedule. Mr. Caveny is one of the best chalk artists on the road.

E. J. Ness and wife of Iowa, who bought a large tract of land in Otencagen township last fall, have arrived to make their home on the new farm. Their stock and machinery is soon to follow.

POISONS THAT IRRITATE

When the delicate machinery of the body is not working harmoniously, poisons are retained that should be expelled. These may accumulate in the tissues and cause irritation. Should this irritation affect joints or muscles you have rheumatism; if a nerve becomes inflamed you have neuralgia.

But if the system is kept toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and no body poisons are retained, foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly be dreaded.

The lowering of the tone of the system which results from thin blood is easy to recognize. Weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, wakefulness and unrefreshing sleep. These conditions Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increases, and new ambition and energy is developed.

ONLY $192,000 LOSS TO TIMBER BY FIRE

Chief Forester Graves Issues Statement at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Chief Forester Henry C. Graves has issued a statement on timber losses for the year 1913 caused by forest fires. Although 4,520 fires were reported for the year, nearly twice as many as in 1912, the damage done and the cost of fire fighting were kept down to a minimum.

The aggregate loss in timber, the statement says, is estimated at nearly 59,000,000 board feet, valued at $82,000, and the damage to young growth and forage is estimated at $110,000, making a total of about $192,000.

BOYS MEET AT BEMIDJI

Northern Minnesota Boys' Conference Association Is Organized.

First Gathering of Kind Ever Held in State Largely Attended.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—With boy delegates from seventeen towns in Northern Minnesota attending a two days' conference—the first to be held in the state—the gathering came to a close with a mass meeting Sunday evening in the Armory, the citizens of the city uniting, the meeting being addressed by the former American Scoutmaster John J. Alexander, the Chicago "Boy Specialist," who left on a late train for Minneapolis, where he speaks today.

The gathering here was unique in that all arrangements were made by "tween age" boys, and all of the seventy-five delegates also were between the ages of 15 and 20. More than 140 boys sat down to a banquet at the Markham hotel Saturday night, the banquet being paid for by the business men of Bemidji, in response to solicitation by a committee of boys. Herbert Warfield, a Bemidji high school student, acted as toastmaster. Mr. Alexander spoke on the subject, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" Said Mr. Alexander in answer to his topic: "You sure are, fellows—that is just what we want you 'tween age boys to realize.'"

Objects of Meeting.

At the Sunday evening mass meeting it was explained that the present gathering primarily was intended to revive interest in Sunday school work. A. M. Locker of Minneapolis, superintendent of the Minnesota Sunday school association, and A. T. Powell of Duluth, assistant superintendent, were present. Announcement also was made that as a result of the Bemidji meeting a Northern Minnesota Boys' Conference association had been formed and the following young men were elected officers: President, Harold Hayner, Bemidji; vice president, Ingolf Dillan, Brainerd; secretary, Arthur Romenburg, Blackduck; treasurer, R. H. Waterbury, Wadena.

On behalf of the Sunday schools and citizens of Brainerd, Ingolf Dillan extended an invitation to the conference to meet there in 1915 and the invitation was accepted.

FARMERS START ON TRIP

Leave Williston, N. D., for Wisconsin and Minnesota Visit.

Williston, N. D., Feb. 23.—Fifty North Dakota farmers, representing the Williams County Better Farming association, and organized under the auspices of the Williston Commercial club, left here last night for La Crosse, Wis., where the first stop will be made on a tour of Wisconsin dairy districts. The trip is purely for the purpose of studying the Wisconsin dairy industry and is said to be the first of its kind undertaken in the United States, but is expected to be the forerunner of many such. After La Crosse, other points to be visited will be Wausau, Rosendale and Waukesha, then Minnesota points. Representatives of Williston banks accompany the delegation, authorized to buy whatever stock attracts the farmers' fancy.

Eczema Gone! ACNE, Tetter, Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished!

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood, or from the fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly selecting from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly being removed, scattered and rendered harmless.

It is a great mistake to rely upon cathartics to cure pimples or other facial eruptions. Not only do cathartics cause chronic constipation, but they thin the blood of its valuable and essential preservatives.

You will be surprised and delighted at the quick change if you will use S. S. S. the famous blood purifier. Its action in the skin is quite sensational. These facts are most fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by The Swift Specific Co., 305 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

When you ask for S. S. S. look out for the common trick of trying to sell you something else. Don't be misled.

MINNESOTAN IS AMONG SPEAKERS

State Dairy Commissioner to Address North Dakota Dairymen.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The largest attendance in the history of the organization is expected at the meeting of the North Dakota Dairymen's association here Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

There will also be a butter exhibit and contest for which the Northern Pacific offers a $100 clock and the association $100 in cash prizes.

Among the more noted speakers will be State Dairy Commissioner Winkjer of Minnesota, Vice President Irwin and Secretary Meyer of the national organization, Professors White of Aberdeen and Jackson of Crafton, representing the Federal department; Prof. Larsen of Brookings, S. D.; E. S. Fowler of Minneapolis, President Worst, Dean Shepherd and Prof. Martin of the Agricultural college; City Milk Inspector James of Fargo, Peter Miller and Jerry D. Bacon of Grand Forks, W. F. Stege of Medina, E. J. Retzlaff of Springbrook, F. W. Merrill of Fargo, C. E. Batcheller of Fingal, and others are on the program.

PARK RAPIDS HAS DAMAGING BLAZE

Three Buildings Burned and Whole Village Is Threatened.

Park Rapids, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire broke out in the basement of the Pure Food store at 7 p. m. Saturday, destroying that store and two other buildings. A broken water main prevented the usual pressure and hindered the work of the firemen. The buildings destroyed were the Pure Food store, W. L. Langguth's cigar factory, Johnson's meat market and Mrs. Horton's millinery store.

The cold was intense, the thermometer being 24 degrees below zero, making the work intolerable. The firemen confined the fire to the four buildings. A strong north wind threatened the entire village. The loss was: Pure Food store, $25,000, total loss. Other losses, $6,000, partially insured.

LANDMARK BURNS.

Old Hennepin County Courthouse and Hall Destroyed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 23.—Fire last night destroyed the buildings originally occupied by Hennepin county as a courthouse and jail. The loss is estimated at $75,000. A portion of the building was the oldest in Minneapolis, erected in 1856, and was of considerable historical interest to the Northwest. The property was recently acquired by the Rock Island Railway company.

It was in the old jail that Harry Haywood, a member of one of the city's wealthiest families of the early days, was hanged in 1895 for the murder of Katherine Ging. The only lynching that ever occurred in Hennepin county also took place in the early history of the old building.

FORMER DULUTHIAN DIES

Orin Sands Is Victim of Pneumonia in Cloquet Hospital.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Odin Sands, aged 39, who formerly resided at 1301 West Third street, Duluth, died at the Cloquet hospital Friday night from an attack of pneumonia, which was contracted in a lumber camp a few weeks ago. The deceased leaves a wife and infant son in Duluth, his father, A. J. Sands of Cumberland, Wis.; two brothers in St. Paul, and a sister, Mrs. Swan Johnson of this city. The funeral will take place next Thursday from the Norwegian Lutheran church, and in the meantime the body will be held at Undertaker Fansher's.

BRINGS $2.50 AN EAR.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ten ears of corn which won the first prize in Polk county brought the record price at last week's farm crops show, when the sweepstakes entries were auctioned off. Henry O'Neill's ten ears of corn that won the first prize in Polk county brought the record price, $2.50 per ear, $25 for the ten ears, and were purchased by Harry Carpenter. The sweepstakes corn from Clay county, and the prize-winning corn from other counties, sold at from $10 to $12.50 per ten ears.

In the special classes Henry O'Neill won first prize for the largest ear of mature corn, for the best single ear of white dent and for the best single ear of Northwestern dent.

Dr. Johnson, who is gathering the exhibit for the Norwegian Centennial at Christiania, took three of the prize-winning single ears to exhibit—and the best corn he had seen in this here. All the exhibits auctioned off brought high prices, and there was the keenest competition among the bidders.

ORE NOT MERCHANTABLE

So Duluth Concern Terminates Morrison County Lease.

Little Falls, Minn., Feb. 23.—The Etlaw Mining company of Duluth will terminate its lease on the Daniel Freeman property northeast of Randall at once, W. H. Freeman of St. Cloud was in the city and gave out the information that notice had been served by the Duluth company that the lease would be terminated.

Mr. Freeman states that the reason for terminating the lease is that the ore is not merchantable. Considerable drilling was done and the results are no secret, Mr. Freeman says. There is no doubt of the existence of a large body of ore but it is too "lean" to make it merchantable unless some washing process is used.

The ore from the Randall property assayed from 35 to 40 per cent while the ore from the mines which are being opened up assays better than 50 per cent. Mr. Freeman states that he does not believe that the results of the drilling on this piece of property are any indication of the value of other property in the same vicinity. In speaking of the Gorman property which is also leased by the Etlaw company, Mr. Freeman stated that he did not believe that this lease would be cancelled as the land lies lower and the lease does not call for the payment of so high a royalty. The Freeman lease called for a minimum annual royalty of $5,000, while the minimum annual royalty on the Gorman property is $1,000.

SCHOOL FOR ADULTS.

Stambaugh, Mich., Affords Foreigners Place to Learn English.

Stambaugh, Mich., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grown men ranging in ages from 18 to 45 and some grown women, representing a half dozen nationalities in all, are the students of the first school of its kind in the Upper peninsula. Only the art of speaking and reading English is taught. The school is at the New Caspian mining location. The Stambaugh board of education was so pleased at the interest taken by adults anxious to learn the language of the country that regular teachers have been assigned to the work. The school is in session during the afternoon and evening each Monday and Thursday, men employed in the mines at night or at day thus being accommodated. Most of the men are of mature years and have been in the United States for several years. Some have children in the public schools. Special charts for teaching English are used and later there will follow a course of book study. It is expected the enrollment will reach 100 or more.

MINNESOTAN KILLS SELF AT DUNSEITH

Dunseith, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despondency is reported to have been the cause of the suicide of Dudley G. d'Evelyn, a resident of Medalia, Minn. He came here to visit his brother, who is cashier of a local bank. Death was due to two shots fired from a revolver into his head.

FIREMEN OVERCOME.

Nine Milwaukee Fire-Fighters Are Knocked Out During Fire.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 23.—Nine firemen were overcome by smoke while fighting a small blaze in the basement of the building occupied by the Blumenfeld-Locher company and the W. W. Kimball company, Broadway and Mason street, at 6 o'clock Saturday night.

Michael Keogh of Flying Squadron No. 2 is in a serious condition and may not recover. It is feared he has a fracture of the skull.

FIND PURE COPPER.

Well-Digger Near Mandan Comes Across Two Pieces of Float.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two nuggets of pure copper were found by E. T. Wiley while digging a well nine miles from here near the Little Heart river. One was about the size of an egg and the other was eight inches long. Frequent instances of the finding of iron and copper ore have been reported in this state but this is probably the first case of finding the copper in the pure form. It is supposed to have been a glacial deposit. An investigation is being made in that locality to see if more can be located.

WOMAN TAKES LIFE.

Alleged Morphine Victim of Northern Michigan Shoots Self.

Ishpeming, Mich., Feb. 23.—Coroner Prin has returned from Camp A, Ely township, by way of Escanaba, where he was called to investigate the death of Mrs. Sara Rust. Coroner Prin found that she had committed suicide by shooting herself with a charge of buckshot from a single barrel shotgun, blowing out her brains. She was supposed to have been one of the worst morphine fiends in that vicinity. Mrs. Rust was 34 years of age and was born in this state.

HOSTLER GETS WINDFALL.

North Dakota Livery Employe Heir to Minnesota Property.

Steele, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—After wandering around for several years, James Williams, a former employe in a local livery barn, returned to learn that he had been advertised for as one of the three heirs to a valuable farm in Minnesota. He secured the necessary legal proof of his identity and forwarded it to the Gopher state officials.

DEATH SUSPICIOUS.

Maddock, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—An effort may be made to fix the responsibility for the death of John Gallant, a bachelor farmer, on some companions in a debauch. The man, while intoxicated, is reported to have been made the victim of barbarous treatment and to have been fiendishly treated. The final cause of his death was pneumonia, due, it is claimed, to the treatment received from his companions.

Gets Position in Russia.

Milton, N. D., Feb. 23.—Going to Russia as a special representative of the International Harvester company is the distinction that has been given Henry Sehrt, a son of a well-known farmer of this section. The young man will be absent three years and will spend the greater part of the time in Siberia.

Bishop Corbett Goes Abroad.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 23.—Bishop Timothy Corbett of the Crookston diocese, formerly Father Corbett of Duluth, left last week on an extended European trip that will conclude at Rome. Rev. Father Klinkhammer of East Grand Forks accompanies the bishop as his private secretary.

In the absence of Father Klinkhammer his parish will be in charge of Father Blais of Winnipeg and Father Fonmosse, assistant priest of Sacred Heart church.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—The state lumber dealers in session here elected the following officers: President, F. C. Potter, Cooperstown; vice president, J. H. Reed, Beach; secretary-treasurer, H. T. Alsop, Fargo; executive committee, E. J. Raymond, Dawson, one year; George Lutz, Jamestown, two years, and T. N. Putnam, Carrington, three years.

Des Lacs, N. D.—Prof. C. G. Heen has been re-elected principal of the local public school and Miss Nellie Hussey will have charge of the primary grades, during the next school year. A third teacher will be appointed later.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The new nurses home at St. Michael's hospital was opened with exercises. Attending were numerous physicians of the city, their wives and others interested in the welfare of the hospital.

Fargo, N. D.—One of the biggest land sales made in Cass county in recent years was consummated when Peter Mallman and Joseph Hammel of Illinois sold two tracts of land to J. H. Merrifield also of Illinois, for a total sum of $27,1600. The land in question lies about six miles east of Amenia.

Balfour, N. D.—The village council here has granted a franchise to Scimel Bros., owners of the Balfour mill, to install and operate an electric light plant.

Jamestown, N. D.—The Seventh Day Adventists are planning to purchase the old Presbyterian church building which will be removed to make room for the new edifice the Presbyterians are about to build.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Houghton—Deputy Sheriff Joseph Polasky of Wayne county came to Houghton and left Thursday for Detroit with Milton Thomas, wanted in that city on a charge of wife desertion.

Calumet—Preparations are already being made for the annual circus of the Calumet Y. M. C. A. which will be held during the month of April.

Houghton—The council has selected Feb. 27 as the date for the village caucus in the Amphidrome. At the caucus nominations for the village offices will be made to be voted on at the annual election March 9.

Calumet—Funeral services were held Feb. 22 for August Wickhan, aged 69 years, a resident of the Copper country for the past forty-two years, passed away at his home on county road, Raymbaultown, Feb. 19. He was a native of Finland and came to America and the Copper country in 1872, residing in Calumet almost continuously since that time. Seven children survive. Charles, John, Lena, Mrs. Hicks, Ethel, Mary and Isaac. The latter is located in Detroit.

Hancock—The Socialists have nominated the following city ticket: Mayor, Carl A. Parta; clerk, Herman Louko; treasurer, A. O. Sarell; for alderman; First ward, Martin Maki.

Houghton—James Irwin, 75 years of age and a pioneer resident of the Copper country, died in Houghton Feb. 20, death being due to old age. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pearson of Laurium and a half brother, W. H. Trifiru of Detroit. The remains was taken to Detroit for interment.

Negaunee—Charles Walli, a resident of this city for the past twenty years, died at the Negaunee hospital Feb. 19. Mr. Walli was 56 years of age and had been ill for the past year. No relatives survive. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon.

Menominee—Edward Daniell, manager of the Menominee-Marinette Light & Traction company, has been named county road commissioner, succeeding Arthur A. Juttner, who was recently appointed postmaster here.

Baraga—Robert E. Martin received the appointment of superintendent of the Baraga light and water plant, succeeding L. G. Zeeveld, such appointment taking effect March 1.

Negaunee—Matti Moilanen and Jefet Peura were sentenced Saturday to serve forty days in the county jail at Marquette by Judge Alpine. The young men were arrested on complaint of an aunt of the Peura girl on the charge of assault, committed on Thursday evening.

Ishpeming—W. E. Turner of Joliet, Ill., has been engaged as physical instructor by the board of education, to begin his duties on March 1. Mr. Turner will devote his time to the supervision of playgrounds after the close of school.

Calumet—Mrs. Sonora Conway, aged 85 years, a resident of Calumet for the past twenty years, died Feb. 20. Old age was given as the cause of her demise. The funeral will be held on Monday morning with services in the Sacred Heart church and interment in the Hancock cemetery.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—J. N. Kelly, superintendent of the city schools, and Richard Heyward, state high school inspector, left Friday night for Richmond, Va., to attend the annual meeting of the superintendents' section of the National Educational association to be held in the Southern city Feb. 23-28.

Napoleon, N. D.—The actions of a trio of Youths in firing a rifle at a lighted lamp in the residence of a Fredonia man caused their arrest.

Powers Lake, N. D.—Because of his many hallucinations, Severt P. Dahl has been adjudged insane and sent to the state hospital at Jamestown. He had been acting in a peculiar manner for some time.

Wolford, N. D.—Asphyxiation is supposed to have caused the death of Peter Nelson, a bachelor farmer. He was found dead in bed and his demise had evidently occurred several days before. Some companions had spent a part of the night with him several days before, and the room indicated that he had died that night.

Bowbells, N. D.—The thief who stole a team from C. C. Mensing was arrested by the Canadian officials, and the team has been returned to its owner. The prisoner is held by the Canadian authorities, who will first prosecute him for taking stolen property into that state, and later he will be returned to the United States to be punished for stealing the team.

Marinette—James Hardy, aged 63, inmate of the county poorhouse at Crandon, lost his life Friday in a fire which destroyed a barn on the premises.

Antigo—Approximately 80,000 feet of logs are being hauled daily to the mill of the Antigo Hoop and Stave company from the camp of the Kellogg company twelve miles northeast of the city by the steam caterpillar tractor.

Madison—Ralph Reeve of Black Earth, collected $20 in county and state bounties on a gray wolf, common in Siberia, which he shot near his home.

Milwaukee — Seventy-five farmers from North Dakota are in the county jail in Wisconsin Feb. 25 via the Northwestern road to study dairy and farm conditions in this state. They will make their headquarters at Milwaukee.

La Crosse—B. E. McCormick, principal of the La Crosse high school, was elected president of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association. Other officers are: S. L. Gardner, Vernon county, vice president; A. L. Halvorson, Onalaska, secretary.

Grand Rapids—E. C. Ketchum, ice and coal dealer, suffered a loss of $5,000 when his barn burned. Five horses, a cow and calf perished, 500 bushels of grain and several tons of hay were destroyed.

Waukesha—In granting a divorce to Fred Day from his wife, Laura Day, Oconomowoc, Judge Lueck awarded the defendant $1,000 in cash and a choice of 560 acres of land in Barron county, or $7,500 in cash. They were married at San Diego, Cal.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston — Leslie Welter of Moorhead heads the new Red River Farmers' Development association, organized here. The new association includes ten counties in Northwestern Minnesota. The officers are: President, Leslie Welter, Moorhead; vice president, Dan Robertson, Argyle; secretary, C. H. Selvig, Crookston; treasurer, H. L. Wood, Warren.

East Grand Forks — Fisher will vote on the license question in the annual village election in March. Petitions have been circulated so as to bring the question to a vote.

Wahkon — A petition signed by the requisite number of voters, asking that the question of license to sell intoxicating liquors be submitted to the voters at the village election next month, was filed with the village clerk.

Staples — The annual meeting of Evergreen Hill Cemetery association resulted in the following officers being elected: President, J. I. Palmer; secretary, C. A. Remillard; treasurer, E. E. Greeno.

Red Lake Falls — The third program of the Red Lake Falls Debate club will be given at the courthouse next Tuesday evening. The subject for the debate will be: "Resolved, That the judiciary should be subject to the recall." The debaters for the affirmative will be Frank Brouillet and C. O. Reinhold and for the negative C. W. Johnson and Abraham Johnson.

Karlstad — Oscar Janson, a farmer living about seven miles south of here, had a miraculous escape from death. Mr. Janson had been to Strandquist on business and was driving home from town just as the southbound Soo freight passed Strandquist. His sleigh was smashed by the train, but horses and driver escaped.

Roseau — Thomas Sigard, living with the O. N. Gordon family on a farm ten miles southwest of Greenbush, was burned to death. It is believed that he had built a fire in the heater in his cabin and went to bed, leaving the draft open so that the overheated stove started the fire which consumed his home.

Bemidji — Nearly $7,000 have been pledged for the erection of an Elks home for Bemidji and the erection of a modern and handsomely appointed club home and business block is assured, to be built as soon as warm weather comes.

Fosston — Anton Lindberg of Hill River has succeeded in trapping two full-grown wolves, one on the 10th and the other on the 15th of this month. Last winter he got the same number.

Onamia—Albert Carlson died in this village recently, aged 50. He came to Onamia several months ago from Delano, Minn., to make some improvements on some land which he had purchased near this village a year ago.

Ada — A good roads meeting was held at the courthouse last week, with representatives from the different townships in the county present, who listened to addresses by Mr. Forbes of the state highway commission; Mr. Marshall, county agent of traverse county, and Mr. Gray of this county, on the Dunn law, and the problems of road building was discussed.

ALL RECORDS FOR CHURCH ATTENDANCE ARE BROKEN

Estimated That Fully 41,000 Duluthians Attended Sunday Services.

"Go to Church Sunday" in Duluth, which was observed in all of the eighty-eight houses of worship yesterday, was a great success, both in point of interest and a remarkable increase in attendance. About 41,000 persons attended worship, making far more than a third of the city's entire population. The churches showed an increase of 25 to 100 per cent over the attendance for the Sunday before. Those who had the campaign in charge express great satisfaction over the results of the work and it is believed all attendance records were broken in Duluth churches.

Statistics from all churches were compiled last night and today by committees and officials of the Interchurch council. These figures showed the direct results of the campaign. The movement was undenominational in nature and attendance was solicited regardless of creed or belief. Everybody was welcomed and programs were made particularly attractive. The Inter-church council and the pastors of various churches hope to see the majority of the new attendants continue their interest and finally affiliate with one of the many congregations. Names of strangers were recorded yesterday, and the pastors and church workers plan a follow-up campaign.

"I have never seen the people of this city take hold of any movement as they have the 'Go to Church Sunday' campaign," said W. L. Smithies, president of the Inter-church council. "The result was very gratifying to me, and I want to thank every one who helped us in the campaign. Especially do I want to thank the street railway company, newspapers, bill posting companies, and the management of several motion picture theaters who so kindly aided us in advertising the movement."

Up to Expectations.

"The results were fully up to our expectations," said R. C. Wade, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, "and the spirit shown throughout the campaign was wonderful."

The expenses incurred in carrying out the campaign were about $250.

According to the figures compiled the First M. E. church carried off the honors for the largest attendance, the exact figures being 3,382.

The attendance of practically all churches was nearly double that of the Sunday before.

The "Go to Church Sunday" movement, which has swept the country this winter and has proved a great success in many of the large cities of the United States, was first conceived in Duluth in January at a meeting of the Inter-church council. It received the hearty approval of the Ministerial association, and plans were finally formed to hold the event on Sunday, Feb. 22, Washington's birthday. Advertising was begun about two weeks ago.

Purpose of Campaign.

The purpose of the campaign was to arouse a new interest in public worship and bring back many who had drifted away from the fold as well as to enlist the interest of those who had never formed the church going habit. Many who attended yesterday had not been at church for years.

In keeping with the general spirit of worship throughout the city, religious services were held for the prisoners in the county and city prisons. Scores of derelicts, who had been strangers to exercises of a religious nature for years, joined in the spirit of the day yesterday.

At the county jail there were 100 prisoners including four women, and forty-six at the city and county work farm all of whom participated in the services. At the county poor farm 180, mostly aged men and women, attended services in the chapel.

The Salvation army co-operated with the churches and had a large attendance at the morning, afternoon and evening services. The Sunday school attendance, also, was large.

Following is a table showing the attendance at the various churches yesterday:

EXPECT 600 AT THE DEMOCRATIC FEAST

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fully 600 Democrats from all parts of Minnesota are expected to attend a "get-together" conference, which the Democratic state central committee will hold Tuesday afternoon in the West hotel, Minneapolis. Those in charge say the meeting will be nonfactional and that it represents a united party.

John Walsh of Ashland, Wis., one of the Woodrow Wilson campaigners before his nomination, will be a speaker. He is a brother of United States Senator T. J. Walsh of Montana.

C. C. Daniels, brother of the secretary of the navy, will also address the meeting. He is now in the Northwest representing the government in the Indian land cases. National Committeeman F. B. Lynch of St. Paul and Martin O'Brien of Crookston, chairman of the state central committee, will also be speakers.

Following the business session a banquet will be held in the hotel dining room at 6:30 p. m. Special decorations with American flags and a variety of colored lights have been installed for the occasion.

Among the speakers announced today will be several mentioned as possible candidates for governor. They include C. M. Andrist, Minneapolis; Albert Pfaender of New Ulm, Judge C. M. Stanton of Remidji, Thomas E. Cashman of Owatonna, Judge C. A. Nye of Moorhead, Peter Nelson of Red Wing, and Daniel W. Lawler of St. Paul.

CHARGES BRIBERY AT MURDER TRIAL

Chicago, Feb. 23.—A charge of attempted bribery in connection with the trial for murder of William Cheney Ellis, the Cincinnati leather merchant who killed his wife last October in a hotel here, was made today by Ellis' counsel, George Remus. Mr. Remus asserted that he had been offered $1,000 if he would arrange with his client to enter a plea of guilty and thus avoid an attempt to account for the crime by pleading that Ellis was deranged by jealousy.

Remus said he had two witnesses to the alleged proffer, and that he would reveal the entire matter in court.

Remus reiterated that Ellis' defense would be transitory insanity.

Expect 60,000 Women to Vote.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Election officials predicted today that 60,000 women will vote tomorrow in the aldermanic primaries. A total of 200,000 votes was expected.

KONKEL WAIVES RIGHTS IN RECALL

Submits to Petition Without Examining Alleged Discrepancies.

Mayor Joseph Konkel has consented to face the recall without requiring the formality of having all of the petitioners' names scrutinized and he declares that he will stand on his merits at the regular city election on April 7. In a lengthy interview Mayor Konkel charges that vice said to exist in Superior has been greatly magnified and that good accomplished by the administration has been belittled, and also charges that some of the prominent ministers thirsting for the spectacular have lent themselves to the cause of disgruntled politicians who were unable to run the administration to suit themselves.

"Two years ago I was elected mayor of this city for a term of six years," said Mayor Konkel in his statement. "There were many people who did not vote for me, but most of those accepted the result, have supported the administration loyally, and have joined us in trying to work for the good of the city. But a dissatisfied faction was sore at their defeat, and disappointed because they were not in control. These men are not Rev. Knowles, Rev. Armstrong, Father Ross, Rev. Burt and Rev. Cheney. These preachers are simply well-meaning (who thirst for the spectacular, it is true) who are willing to have themselves and their pulpits used for political ends. But there are men higher up who pull the strings and these preachers preach. Some of these high-ups are already known to some of the public, and they will be known to all before this campaign ends."

The mayor said that these agitators are not only after him, but also after Commissioner O'Hare. He charged that this element want to elect two men whom they can control. Said he: "We have tried to give the city an honest, economical, straight-forward and clean administration. When I say clean, I do not mean that the administration has been able to make our city spotlessly white, or to wipe out immorality and vice. This, no mayor or official who is mortal can do. But, I do say that our city has been as free from immorality and vice as the average city at least. "We all deplore a redlight district. Honest minds differ on the wisdom of segregation. Many of us believe that segregation is preferable to its spreading through the residence districts, and that it is thus a necessary evil. But there are some species of human beings who do not even rise to the level of being a necessary evil. To this class belong the individuals who are willing to hold their home city up to ridicule in order to gain selfish or political ends."

Drug Fiend, Then Burglar.

Leslie Anderson, 22 years old, was arrested last night as he was leaving the office of Dr. W. A. McEachern 1112 Tower avenue, and is held on a charge of burglary. Anderson is said to have entered the doctor's private office by means of a pass key and to have had several tools in his possession when arrested. Anderson told the police that he had been driven to the burglary in an attempt to get "dope" for his system. He said he was a drug fiend.

After Alleged Butter Thief.

Requisition papers have been issued by Governor McGovern on the governor of New Jersey for the return of Harry Goldfine, who is wanted here for the theft of 250 pounds of butter. The butter is said to have been stolen from the Northern Pacific railroad. Edward and Louis Buffey, grocers, were arrested and stated that they had purchased fifty pounds of the butter from Goldfine and had become suspicious when he offered 100 pounds more of the butter. They pleaded not guilty to the crime.

CHICAGO MEN WANT TAFT'S STOCK

Chicago, Feb. 23.—An offer of $700,000 for his stock in the Chicago National league baseball club was made Charles P. Taft today by a syndicate of six Chicago businessmen according to Louis J. Behan, a lawyer, who represents the syndicate. Mr. Behan would not give the names of the men composing the syndicate but said that the Thompson-Fugh-McCullough bidders for the Cubs' stock were not connected with it nor was Charles Weeghman nor any other Federal leaguer interested.

The telegraphed bid to Mr. Taft contained an offer to deposit $100,000 tomorrow as an evidence of good faith. Should a favorable answer be received from Mr. Taft this afternoon a committee of three of the new syndicate expect to take a night train for Cincinnati and close the deal, if possible.

The wire to Mr. Taft said the purpose actuating the bidders was "the good of the game," though they realized that the purchase would be a first-class investment. The names were not given in the telegram but Attorney Behan said his personal acquaintance with Mr. Taft would insure consideration of the offer.

GRAND FORKS CLUB TO PLAY IN IOWA

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ottumway, Iowa, and Grand Forks baseball teams, the former managed by Ed Egan and the latter by Eddie Wheeler, plan a three-week spring training trip through Iowa. Opening at Davenport April 11 and 12, the two teams will fill the following engagements: Clinton, April 18 and 20; Muskatine, April 21 and 22; Keokuk, April 26 to 29; Ottumway, April 29 to May 3; Cedar Rapids, May 4.

Wheeler has traded Dick Wells, a pitcher, to the Davenport club, for Flaherty, an outfielder, and has also signed "Billy" Sullivan of Kansas City, a pitcher.

NO SUCCESSOR YET FOR C. W. MURPHY

Chicago, Feb. 23.—C. W. Murphy did not appear at his office this morning, and members of his staff did not know just when he proposed to give up the direction of the Chicago National league club. It was believed he would continue to conduct the business of the club until his successor is named.

Manager Tinker of the Chicago Federals today sent letters to several of his players, notifying them to report here March 8 to start for the training grounds at Shreveport.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 23.—No information as to who would be named as president of the Chicago National league club was obtainable here today. Charles P. Taft, who purchased C. W. Murphy's stock in the club, thus eliminating the latter from major league baseball, would not discuss this matter or anything pertaining to his purchase of the Cubs. It is probable, however, that a meeting of the stockholders of the club will be called in a few days for the purpose of selecting a president to succeed Murphy.

Condition Is Good.

Port Jervis, N. Y., Feb. 23.—The condition today of "Smokey Joe" Wood, pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, operated upon yesterday for appendicitis, is good, according to his physician. Wood is at his home at Twin Lakes.

Fosston Beats Ada.

Fosston, Minn., Feb. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fosston defeated Ada Friday night at basket ball by a score of 52 to 37. Foglesberg 4 baskets, R. Movold 5, Hanson 8, L. Movold 1. R. Movold made 14 out of 16 free throws.

Ada's men made this record: Agaard 2 baskets, S. Heteland 4, Rolfe 8, Stenvig 1. Rolfe made 6 out of 12 free throws.

Ski Jump at West Salem.

West Salem, Wis., Feb. 23.—Leading ski jumpers of America, including Barney Reficy, Lars Haugen, Oscar Gunderson, Sigurd Hanson, who won the meet at Marquette, Mich., Saturday, Erling Landvick, Axel Hendrickson and others, are entered in the Middle West ski tournament which will open on Leonard's Hill here on Thursday of this week. Fans of the sport are expected in large numbers from many points.

Collins Still With Winona.

Winona, Minn., Feb. 23.—Luke Collins, Winona's left fielder in the Northern league last year, and who led the league in batting has returned his signed contract and will again play with the local team the coming season. Collins had been sought by the Federal and Eastern leagues. Seven men have now returned their signed contracts.

THREE OF EIGHT UP TO STANDARD

Out of eight applicants for teachers' certificates at the state teachers' examination conducted by the county superintendent at the courthouse Feb. 5, 6 and 7, only three attained a passing mark. Returns were received Saturday afternoon from the state department of public instruction by N. A. Young, superintendent of the St. Louis county schools.

Miss Anna L. Johnson and Miss Mona L. Geary were successful in securing a limited certificate entitling them to teach in the unaided county schools. Miss Lillie Christianson will receive a first grade certificate, good for any school in the county. Miss Margaret F. Cunningham received the necessary credits to entitle her to an extension of the time limit on the certificate which she now holds. All other applicants, twenty-four in number, received credit clips. Five wrote for certificates but failed to pass in the required number of subjects.

The county superintendent's office will record the returns of the state department and will forward the marks to the various applicants.

LOGS WERE MIXED WHEN DAM BROKE

Punitive damages in the sum of $40,000 are asked from the Cloquet Tie & Post company by John and Jacob Saari, doing business under the firm name of Saari Brothers, in a suit which was brought to trial before Judge Dancer and a district court jury this morning. Saari Brothers and the defendant company are competitors in the same business. It is claimed by the plaintiffs that during the summer of 1912, logs and other forest products of both concerns which were being driven down the St. Louis river became mixed. Saari Brothers constructed a dam at Martin Brothers' hoist and later the tie and post company broke it, it is claimed, allowing the products of both companies to be driven down the river together. The plaintiffs allege that the defendants appropriated to their own use, 16,000 railroad ties and 1,800 cords of pulpwood. The logs of each had different marks on them.

MANAHAN SAYS HE WILL ASK A HEARING

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Representative Manahan said today that he would ask Chairman Henry for a hearing before the committee on rules on his resolution for an investigation of the Duluth board of trade and other grain exchanges at which all parties interested could be present. Manahan has received telegrams from various parts of the Northwest on the subject with requests for a hearing. These telegrams have come from William Schultz of Valley City, N. D., S. E. Kelly of Sioux Falls, S. D., S. H. Greeley of Chicago and E. G. Dunn of Mason City, Iowa, all favoring the Manahan proposition.

QUIET HOLIDAY CELEBRATION

Washington's birthday is being celebrated in a most law-abiding manner, judging from the clean record at police headquarters up to 12 o'clock.

Not a single arrest was made up to noon and but one was made all day yesterday. Alex Nyysti, 33 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolmen Johnson and Olson on a charge of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty in police court this morning and was given the minimum fine of $1 and costs or three days in the county jail.

Judge Cutting also celebrated Washington's birthday today by giving out suspended sentences for nearly all of the prisoners arraigned before him this morning. With the exception of Nyysti, who was the only man arrested yesterday, and two of the eleven men arrested Saturday afternoon and evening, all drew suspended sentences and were given their liberty.

On account of today being a legal holiday, no civil cases were set on calendar for trial either this morning or afternoon. There was no session of police court this afternoon.

Read the repair ads on page 13 tonight. Now is the time to fix up for spring.

HOLIDAY IN THE STOCK MARKETS

Today is being observed as the anniversary of Washington's birthday, and all the grain and stock exchanges are closed.

At Winnipeg early quotations in wheat and flaxseed were practically on the same basis as Saturday.

Duluth grain men and mining stock brokers are looking forward to an active market from now on during the next few weeks, with a higher range of prices likely in wheat options, and in the leading copper stock issues.

Arrange to attend.

The Third Floor will be a delightful spot—offering visions of the loveliest fabrics for the coming summer.

Weaves and designs never before attempted have been successfully brought out this season in dependable fabrics by American and foreign manufacturers.

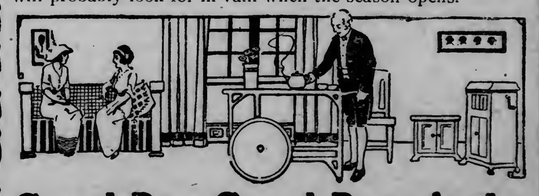

Come and see for yourself; choose which you like best.

You will find the imported, as well as the American made goods arranged so attractively that one visit will give you a good idea of the coming season's most fashionable weaves.

And while the extreme novelty goods are shown in lavish assortment—more staple lines are here in complete variety.

Those who come now will get styles and fabrics that others will probably look for in vain when the season opens.

TELLS BOYS ABOUT BIRDS

S. George Stevens Speaks at Franklin School—Has Escort of Feathered Songsters on His Way Home.

The Boys' club of the Franklin school had, in connection with the Washington birthday exercises this morning, a most interesting talk on bird and animal life and traits by S. George Stevens of Fond du Lac.

The boys evinced great interest in the instruction which Mr. Stevens gave them. He told them the story of the chickadee and instructed them in sounding the chickadee call. He also told them a story about a bird of this variety which had become very tame, and one day some time ago came to Mr. Stevens and after some difficulty drew his attention to the fact that one of its legs had been shot off. Mr. Stevens attended the little fellow and christened him "Oney" in view of the fact that he had just one leg. Mr. Stevens also pointed out an interesting trait of the birds in connection with the little cripple. When they were called to meals, the other birds always gave "Oney" precedence as though they understood that he was a cripple and should not be crowded, a trait, which Mr. Stevens observed, few humans possess. "Oney" disappeared some time ago, and it is feared that somebody finished the job of shooting.

Squirrels Friendly.

Mr. Stevens also told of the confidence that squirrels have in people whom they feel will care for them. He told of one that came for assistance after its tail had been caught in a spring door and part of it lost. He also told of a pet squirrel that used to come to his house and which was named "Reddy" because of his color. A few days ago Reddy showed up with one leg shot off and the bone protruding and begged hard to be fixed up. He seemed as grateful as a child when Mr. Stevens doctored him up and sought in every way to show his gratitude. Mr. Stevens also said that one day Reddy came to him very much bothered and chattering volubly. He indicated that there was something wrong with his face. On examination Mr. Stevens found that a woodtick had made its abode there, and even though the operation of removing it caused some slight pain Reddy, seemingly realizing that Mr. Stevens was not hurting him unnecessarily, stood it bravely, and after the woodtick was removed ran all over him chattering his thanks. Mr. Stevens observed that a woodtick in a squirrel's face is pretty nearly as bad as a cigarette in a boy's.

Feeding the Birds.

The speaker urged the boys to be kind to birds and see that they are fed when snow is too deep to let them help themselves, not forgetting even the much despised English sparrow, which, Mr. Stevens declared is a first-class scavenger, taking the places of other birds that have been driven out by the necessity of obtaining food. These others are the blue jay and the lark, and could be caused to return and drive the sparrow out if encouraged by feeding.

Mr. Stevens says that when he gets off the train at Fond du Lac he calls the birds, and the chickadees and others within hearing fly to meet him and escort him home, twittering a welcome all the way.

NEW ATTORNEY IS APPOINTED

James A. Wharton Will Defend Abraham Haddad in Murder Trial.

James A. Wharton was appointed by Judge Bert Fesler Saturday as attorney for Abraham Haddad, who will be brought to trial within the next two weeks for the murder of George Gazaris on Oct. 12, 1913, in a street duel which took place on Garfield avenue.

Haddad was indicted by the November grand jury and was brought to trial on a charge of first degree murder shortly after the true bill had been returned against him. During the progress of the trial and after consulting with his attorney, John H. Norton, the prisoner decided to change his plea to guilty of murder in the third degree, providing the state would consent.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene offered no objection and the trial suddenly terminated. The plea of not guilty was withdrawn and one of guilty to the lesser offense substituted. When the prisoner was brought before the court for sentence on Feb. 7 last, however, he again changed his mind and asked the court to allow him to stand trial. Attorney Norton stated that under the circumstances he felt that he ought to withdraw from the case and asked the court to appoint another to defend the prisoner.

Joseph Haddad, a brother, who was convicted of first degree assault for wounding Police Capt. A. G. Fiskett shortly after Gazaris had been killed, was taken by the sheriff today to the St. Cloud reformatory, where he will begin his sentence. Capt. Fiskett and other officers were in pursuit of Gazaris's slayer when the former was shot by Joseph Haddad. The bullet entered the officer's wrist, fortunately inflicting no serious injury.

GRAY SLATED FOR NEW "FRISCO" HEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 23.—Carl R. Gray, who has resigned from the presidency of the Great Northern railway, will become president of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad as soon as that corporation passes out of the hands of the receivers. This announcement was made in St. Louis and verification was given at Mr. Gray's offices here. Mr. Gray is now in conference with officials of the Frisco road in Chicago.

SPANISH PRINCE KILLS HIMSELF

Cerbere, France, Feb. 23.—A dispatch received here from Barcelona, Spain, said that Prince Pignatolli committed suicide Saturday in the Bonanova promenade by shooting. The motive for his act was not known. The prince was serving a period of military service in Barcelona with the Tenth Artillery.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, January 26, 1914.

Notice is hereby given, That on March 18, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1st, 1915, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at the time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

Buy a Home

For Yourself Instead of the Landlord

$20.00 a month rent amounts to $240.00 a year; $2400.00 in ten years. You've paid the landlord full price for his house in ten years, but he still owns it; all you have is the rent receipts.

For a small payment down and $20 or less per month you can buy a home and own it, clear of all encumbrance, in less than ten years.

VILLA'S REPORT THAT BAUCH WAS SENT TO PRISON PROVES FALSE

American Consul Assured He Never Was in Chihuahua.

Efforts to Get Benton's Body for Widow Are Kept Up.

Villa Insists British Subject Tried to Kill Him.

WILL NATIONALIZE MEXICAN OIL FIELDS.

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—A plan for the nationalization of all the oil lands in Mexico is to be forced through the next Mexican congress, which convenes April 1, according to an admission made today by Querido Moheno, the head of the new cabinet post of commerce and industry.

Senor Moheno says he presented the plan while he was yet a member of the chamber of deputies. The report is current here that it is the intention of the Federal government to transfer the oil lands to Lord Cowdray for $50,000,000 gold after they have been nationalized.

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 24.—In reply to inquiries made at the penitentiary here today by Marion Letcher, the American consul, and the Associated Press, it was stated that Gustav Bauch, the American reported missing, never had been there. At the city hall the American consul also failed to find any trace of the missing man. Villa's official report said he had been sent here.

Benton "Mexican Citizen."

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 24.—An attempt of the Mexican rebels to establish that William S. Benton, the Scotch ranchman who was executed a week ago, was a Mexican citizen is based on a report that he once held some minor office while President Porfirio Diaz was in power.

This statement was made today at Juarez by Federico Gonzales Garza, counsellor to the commander of the garrison, who added:

"We have heard that Benton held several small offices under President Diaz and that he once was mayor of a small settlement on his own estate. He could not have held office without being a Mexican citizen and the records at Chihuahua City are being searched to establish the facts."

Deeds Call Him Briton.

Relatives of Benton here say the deeds to his Mexican property refer to him as a British subject and that he was always careful there should be no doubt on this point.

In the meantime the request of the state department at Washington for

TWO-BATTLESHIP PROGRAM ASSURED

Washington, Feb. 24.—The naval bill including the two-battleship program for next year was finally passed upon today by the house naval committee. The administration plan for two battleships, with the minor craft contemplated, is considered certain of adoption by the house.

The bill puts over until next year the selection of a drydock on the Atlantic coast and the determination of the feasibility of a government armor plant.

42 BELOW AT DOLGEVILLE

Trail of Destruction Left in the Middle West.

Below Zero in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 24.—With thermometers registering 1 to 10 deg. below zero today, Ohio was in the grasp of the most severe winter weather of the season. Only once last winter did the mercury go below zero. It was clear today.

There were 5.8 inches of snow here. In many parts of the state the depth was from 12 to 20 inches.

Indiana Drifted In.

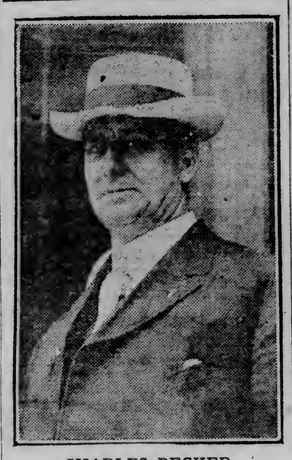

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 24.—With the thermometer at 1 deg. below zero—the coldest morning of the season—Indianapolis and practically the entire state began work today digging out of the snow drifts, in many places five and six feet deep. The wind abated during the night and the sun shone brightly today after two days of almost incessant snowfall.

Storm Moves East.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—The snow and

NEW TRIAL GRANTED BY COURT OF APPEALS

CHARLES BECKER.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—A new trial was granted Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant, under death sentence for the murder of Herman Rosenthal by the court of appeals today.

The convictions of the four gunmen who appealed with Becker, were unanimously affirmed.

WOULD KEEP BOAT LINES

Nine Railroads Apply to Interstate Commerce Commission.

Tell of Proposed Extensions of Service—Lake Trade Involved.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Nine railroads having water lines applied today to the interstate commerce commission to be permitted to retain them after July 1. The Panama canal law gives the interstate commerce commission authority in certain circumstances to permit the roads to continue the operation of water lines.

The Southern Pacific company, which owns 110,800 of the 200,000 shares of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, having a value of $11,080,000, and operating a fleet of steamers between San Francisco and Hawaii, the Orient and the Isthmus of Panama, informed the commission that after July 1 the steamship company will engage in traffic between San Francisco and ports in Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, between those Mexican and Central American ports and Europe, and between the same ports and Atlantic and gulf ports of the United States.

No Self-Competition.

It is set out that the traffic is to be "trans-shipped in connection with the vessels of other lines in no way connected with the petitioner," and that in no way will there be competition with the rail lines of the applicant.

In another application, the Southern Pacific company requested that it be permitted to continue the operation of

CLAIMS HE RODE IN AN AUTO IN 1879

Wisconsin Tax Commissioner Tells of Old Oshkosh Output.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—Tax Commissioner Nils P. Haugen, who was a member of the legislature in 1879, claims the historical distinction of having had a ride in the first automobile used in Wisconsin. In 1875 the legislature appropriated $10,000 for the invention of a horseless carriage.

"During the session of 1879 the first horseless carriage was brought here from Oshkosh, having taken almost a week to come across the state," said Mr. Haugen today.

"William Hall was then the assemblyman from that district of Winnebago county, and he and his friends worked hard to have the award given to the Oshkosh inventors. The appropriation was finally cut down to $5,000 and passed.

"While the machine was here every member of the legislature was given a ride, but the machine could never be accredited with having exceeded the speed limit."

SURVIVED PESHTIGO FIRE; IS BURNED

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 24.—Michael Steffen, aged 63, pioneer of Peshtigo, Wis., and survivor of the great fire which destroyed that town forty years ago, was burned to death early today in a farming district fourteen miles from here, when his blacksmith shop and sleeping quarters above it burned.

WOMEN VOTE BY THOUSAND IN WINDY CITY

Eight Are Candidates in the Aldermanic Primaries.

More Than 700 Are Judges or Clerks of Election.

Marion Drake Will Oppose "Bathhouse John" in Spring Vote.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Today's primary election was marked by the political activities of thousands of women who availed themselves of their first opportunity to participate in a municipal election in this city.

A desire on the part of many of the women not to affiliate themselves with any political organization so soon after their enfranchisement kept many women voters from the polls. A large percentage of those registered, however, were expected to cast their ballots for various candidates for aldermanic nominations. The weather was bright and not too cold.

It was estimated that of the 158,000 registered woman voters, between 50,000 and 60,000 would vote today. Leaders in the various women's organizations explained that their full vote would be expected at the regular election in April.

In the First ward, down town Chicago, Miss Marion H. Drake, Progressive candidate, visited every polling place and confidently asserted that every Progressive vote would be cast. The real contest in that ward will come in the spring election, when Miss Drake will oppose Alderman ("Bathhouse") John Coughlin.

Woman Gives Cigars.

Mrs. Marie Gerhardt, opposing two men candidates on the Democratic ticket in the Twenty-third ward, marshalled the women of her ward and in approved candidate style distributed cigars in her home precinct. She was confident of receiving the nomination.

Sarah M. Hopkins, contesting the Democratic primary nomination with Thomas Hoyne, brother of the state's attorney of Cook county, in the Second ward, forecasted victory for herself as she watched her woman friends crowd

DANIELS' BROTHER AT MILL CITY RALLY

Minnesota Democrats Assemble for Party Conference There.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 24.—C. C. Daniels, brother of the secretary of the navy, and John Walsh of Ashland, Wis., one of Woodrow Wilson's active campaigners before the president's nomination in 1912, were scheduled as the principal speakers at the state Democratic conference to be held here today. The gathering was to have been called to order late in the afternoon, the meeting to be followed by a banquet. It had been announced that a speaker of national prominence would be at the conference, but his name was not announced until today. Democrats from all parts of the state are present.

Last Call Comes to One of City's Most Respected Citizens.

Miner, Banker and Philanthropist—The End Was Not Unexpected.

Capt. Joseph Sellwood is dead.

After an illness which began last Christmas, when he was suddenly taken ill with a cold, Capt. Sellwood, Duluth's pioneer capitalist, mine owner and banker and one of the most prominent business men of the Northwest, passed away at 1:35 o'clock this afternoon of Bright's disease at the family residence, 1802 East Superior street. He had been in rather poor health for the last two or three years, but his condition was not considered serious until this winter.

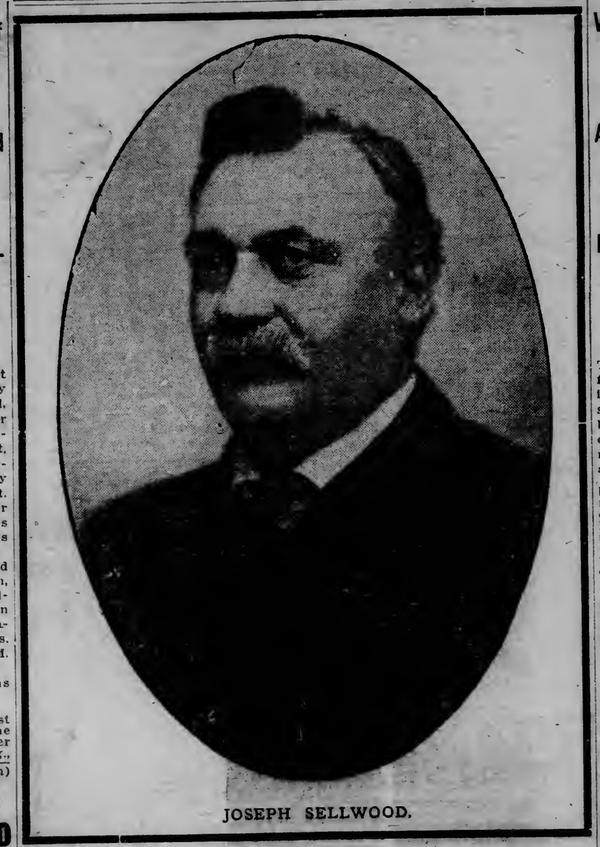

During his illness, Capt. Sellwood was attended by the family physician, Dr. Charles L. Colding. At his bedside when death came this afternoon were Mrs. Sellwood, his two daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Mershon and Mrs. L. W. Leithhead, and son, Richard M. Sellwood.

No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

Miner at Age of 9.

Joseph Sellwood was one of the last of the old crowd, the captains of the mines in the early days of the Upper Peninsula. Born at Cornwall, Eng.,

MYSTERIOUS "S. O. S." CALL IS EXPLAINED

London, Feb. 24.—A telegram from Bremen to Lloyds today explained that no accident has happened to the German steamer Wildenfels, from which an "S. O. S." call was received at The Lizard yesterday.

Saved Eleven From Ekliptika.

Bremen, Germany, Feb. 24.—A fragmentary wireless message received here today from the German steamer Wildenfels reports that she rescued eleven persons from the Danish steamer Ekliptika when she sank in the Bay of Biscay yesterday.

The message states specifically that the captain of the Ekliptika perished. It is assumed that a considerable part of the crew went down.

SAYS SHE CONFESSED WHILE INTOXICATED

Little Valley, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, on trial here for the murder of her husband, resumed before Judge Brown and a jury today her story of how District Attorney Cole and private detectives of Buffalo secured from her an alleged confession. She showed no emotion other than apparent indignation as she recounted the details of her story.

The unexpected coup made by her attorney, Patrick S. Collins, yesterday, in putting her on the stand to block acceptance of the "confession," attracted an immense crowd from all parts of the county today. Farmers and their families came early, carrying lunch boxes.

Mrs. Buffum repeated today in detail her assertion that the detectives, posing as her friends, took her to Buffalo, plied her with drink, planned the statement she was to make, threatened and coerced her. On this testimony Mr. Collins seeks to show that the statements are not proper evidence.

A TICKLISH SITUATION.

NEW TRUNK HIGHWAY TO THE RANGES

Gift of Abandoned Right of Way Makes It Possible.

Will Parallel the Miller Road Twenty Miles to East.

County Will Begin Work on It in the Spring.

St. Louis county is provided with a second main trunk thoroughfare to the iron ranges through the gift to the county by the Weyerhaeuser interests of fourteen miles of an abandoned logging right-of-way formerly operated by the Duluth & Northeastern Minnesota Railway company.

Announcement to this effect follows a conference which John Tischer, county commissioner from the Second district, had Saturday with officials of the Northern Lumber company, a Weyerhaeuser corporation. The company agreed to relinquish all claims to the old logging road provided it would be converted into a main trunk highway between Duluth and the range towns.

The second main trunk highway between Duluth and the range cities will parallel the Miller Trunk road about twenty miles to the east. The new portion begins at the northern terminus of the Rice Lake road at the Cloquet river bridge and runs in an easterly and northerly direction for a short distance along the north bank of lower Island lake to the abandoned railroad grade.

The right-of-way is slightly more than fourteen miles in length. It does not follow section lines but runs across townships 52-14, 53-14 and 54-14. At the north line of township 54-14

SOCIETY MEN ARE IN UGLY SCANDAL

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 24.—Cincinnati's high social circles were startled today when warrants in the municipal court were issued for four prominent men here, charging them with contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Crane, a 16-year-old girl.

The most prominent of the quartet is Col. Brent Arnold, general freight agent and superintendent of terminals of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and one of Cincinnati's best known men. The other three are Hugo Goldsmith, a manufacturer; Isaac Newton Fox, a jeweler, and C. B. House, representative of a New York firm with headquarters in Louisville, Ky.

COPPER COMPANIES INSIST FEDERATION MEN MUST STAY OUT

Will Employ No Miner Who Retains His Membership.

Answer Is Made to Hilton's Statement Men Would Return.

Michigan Militia Men Are Accused at Congressional Inquiry.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. N. Hilton, attorney for the striking miners, at the opening of the congressional hearing today, stated that the copper strikers would be satisfied to return to work under existing conditions, provided they were not discriminated against because of affiliation with any organization.

This statement was met by a reply by A. F. Rees, chief counsel for the mine owners, that it was the position of the mine owners that the Western Federation of Miners must be eliminated forever from the field, and that no member of that union could be taken back to work unless he surrendered his membership.

Hilton said wages and hours no longer were items of dispute, and were satisfactory to the miners. The operators had been making an honest effort to improve working conditions, he believed, and the only disagreement was over the right of the men to organize.

"Moyerism," Not Unionism.

Rees declared many of the mines were in full operation, and that the operators could not promise to take all the strikers back. Certainly they would not reinstate those who had been guilty of acts of violence.

He said there was no objection to the men organizing, but thought they would be better off with local unions, even without the financial support of an outside organization.

"The Western Federation is Moyerism," he declared; "it is not organized labor."

"I suppose the mine operators would let the men have their unions provided the companies were permitted to run the organization," suggested Congressman Carey.

Moyer's Story Not Reached.

Contrary to expectations, the Moyer incident was not reached at the morning session, as additional testimony

LESS THAN TWENTY NATIONAL BANKS OUT

Those in Reserve System Hold 99 Per Cent of All Capital.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Although official tabulations were not completed today, treasury officials estimated that less than twenty national banks of the 7,493 in the United States have not made application for membership in the Federal reserve banking system.

According to estimate, however, the banks already in represent about 99 per cent of the national banking capital in the country. Under the law, national banks must subscribe 6 per cent of their capital and surplus to stock of a reserve bank in the new system, so that the capital of the entire reserve system, it is estimated, will be more than $100,000,000.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS IN PERIL ON COAST

Crew of Sachem Still Is Aboard Stranded Craft.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 24.—With a severe snow and wind storm raging on the coast, the British steamships Sachem and Riversdale, ashore near here, were today in more danger than at any time since they struck, last week. The Sachem, on a bar two and a half miles from shore, exposed to all winds, was in worse condition than the Riversdale, which lies well up on the beach in a less treacherous position.

The crew of the Sachem still are aboard the vessel. The Riversdale's crew are ashore.

HUSBAND SHOOTS; WIFE FEIGNS DEATH

Man Kills Himself After Two Bullets Miss Spouse.

Gloversville, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Feigning death and falling into a bathtub Mrs. James McConnell today eluded her enraged husband who had fired twice at her. The first shot hit the rim of her glasses and caused a slight flesh wound in the forehead. The second was imbedded in her hair.

When the second shot was fired Mrs. McConnell dropped apparently lifeless into the tub and her husband, believing he had killed her, left the room and shot himself twice in the head. At the hospital he is expected to die.

VILLA'S REPORT THAT BAUCH WAS SENT TO PRISON PROVES FALSE

American Consul Assured He Never Was in Chihuahua.

Efforts to Get Benton's Body for Widow Are Kept Up.

Villa Insists British Subject Tried to Kill Him.

WILL NATIONALIZE MEXICAN OIL FIELDS.

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—A plan for the nationalization of all the oil lands in Mexico is to be forced through the next Mexican congress, which convenes April 1, according to an admission made today by Querido Moheno, the head of the new cabinet post of commerce and industry.

Senor Moheno says he presented the plan while he was yet a member of the chamber of deputies. The report is current here that it is the intention of the Federal government to transfer the oil lands to Lord Cowdray for $50,000,000 gold after they have been nationalized.

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 24.—In reply to inquiries made at the penitentiary here today by Marion Letcher, the American consul, and the Associated Press, it was stated that Gustav Bauch, the American reported missing, never had been there. At the city hall the American consul also failed to find any trace of the missing man. Villa's official report said he had been sent here.

Benton "Mexican Citizen."

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 24.—An attempt of the Mexican rebels to establish that William S. Benton, the Scotch ranchman who was executed a week ago, was a Mexican citizen is based on a report that he once held some minor office while President Porfirio Diaz was in power.

This statement was made today at Juarez by Federico Gonzales Garza, counselor to the commander of the garrison, who added:

"We have heard that Benton held several small offices under President Diaz and that he once was mayor of a small settlement on his own estate. He could not have held office without being a Mexican citizen and the records at Chihuahua City are being searched to establish the facts."

Deeds Call Him Briton.

Relatives of Benton here say the deeds to his Mexican property refer to him as a British subject and that he was always careful there should be no doubt on this point.

TWO-BATTLESHIP PROGRAM ASSURED

Washington, Feb. 24.—The naval bill including the two-battleship program for next year was finally passed upon today by the house naval committee. The administration plan for two battleships, with the minor craft contemplated, is considered certain of adoption by the house.

The bill puts over until next year the selection of a drydock on the Atlantic coast and the determination of the feasibility of a government armor plant.

42 BELOW AT DOLGEVILLE

Trail of Destruction Left in the Middle West.

Below Zero in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 24.—With thermometers registering 1 to 10 deg. below zero today, Ohio was in the grasp of the most severe winter weather of the season. Only once last winter did the mercury go below zero. It was clear today.

There were 5.8 inches of snow here. In many parts of the state the depth was from 12 to 20 inches.

Indiana Drifted In.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 24.—With the thermometer at 1 deg. below zero—the coldest morning of the season—Indianapolis and practically the entire state began work today digging out of the snow drifts, in many places five and six feet deep. The wind abated during the night and the sun shone brightly today after two days of almost incessant snowfall.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED BY COURT OF APPEALS

CHARLES BECKER.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—A new trial was granted Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant, under death sentence for the murder of Herman Rosenthal by the court of appeals today.

The convictions of the four gunmen who appealed with Becker, were unanimously affirmed.

WOULD KEEP BOAT LINES

Nine Railroads Apply to Interstate Commerce Commission.

Tell of Proposed Extensions of Service—Lake Trade Involved.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Nine railroads having water lines applied today to the interstate commerce commission to be permitted to retain them after July 1. The Panama canal law gives the interstate commerce commission authority in certain circumstances to permit the roads to continue the operation of water lines.

The Southern Pacific company, which owns 110,800 of the 200,000 shares of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, having a value of $11,080,000, and operating a fleet of steamers between San Francisco and Hawaii, the Orient and the Isthmus of Panama, informed the commission that after July 1 the steamship company will engage in traffic between San Francisco and ports in Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicarauga and Costa Rica, between those Mexican and Central American ports and Europe, and between the same ports and Atlantic and gulf ports of the United States.

No Self-Competition.

It is set out that the traffic is to be "trans-shipped in connection with the vessels of other lines in no way connected with the petitioner," and that in no way will there be competition with the rail lines of the applicant.

In another application, the Southern Pacific company requested that it be permitted to continue the operation of

CLAIMS HE RODE IN AN AUTO IN 1879

Wisconsin Tax Commissioner Tells of Old Oshkosh Output.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 24.—Tax Commissioner Nils P. Haugen, who was a member of the legislature in 1879, claims the historical distinction of having had a ride in the first automobile used in Wisconsin. In 1875 the legislature appropriated $10,000 for the invention of a horseless carriage.

"During the session of 1879 the first horseless carriage was brought here from Oshkosh, having taken almost a week to come across the state," said Mr. Haugen today.

"William Hall was then the assemblyman from that district of Winnebago county, and he and his friends worked hard to have the award given to the Oshkosh inventors. The appropriation was finally cut down to $5,000 and passed.

"While the machine was here every member of the legislature was given a ride, but the machine could never be accredited with having exceeded the speed limit."

SURVIVED PESHTIGO FIRE; IS BURNED

Marinette, Wis., Feb. 24.—Michael Steffen, aged 63, pioneer of Peshtigo, Wis., and survivor of the great fire which destroyed that town forty years ago, was burned to death early today in a farming district fourteen miles from here, when his blacksmith shop and sleeping quarters above it burned.

WOMEN VOTE BY THOUSAND IN WINDY CITY

Eight Are Candidates in the Aldermanic Primaries.

More Than 700 Are Judges or Clerks of Election.

Marion Drake Will Oppose "Bathhouse John" in Spring Vote.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Today's primary election was marked by the political activities of thousands of women who availed themselves of their first opportunity to participate in a municipal election in this city.

A desire on the part of many of the women not to affiliate themselves with any political organization so soon after their enfranchisement kept many women voters from the polls. A large percentage of those registered, however, were expected to cast their ballots for various candidates for aldermanic nominations. The weather was bright and not too cold.

It was estimated that of the 158,000 registered woman voters, between 50,000 and 60,000 would vote today. Leaders in the various women's organizations explained that their full vote would be expected at the regular election in April.

In the First ward, down town Chicago, Miss Marion H. Drake, Progressive candidate, visited every polling place and confidently asserted that every Progressive vote would be cast. The real contest in that ward will come in the spring election, when Miss Drake will oppose Alderman ("Bathhouse") John Coughlin.

Woman Gives Cigars.

Mrs. Marie Gerhardt, opposing two men candidates on the Democratic ticket in the Twenty-third ward, marshalled the women of her ward and in approved candidate style distributed cigars in her home precinct. She was confident of receiving the nomination.

Sarah M. Hopkins, contesting the Democratic primary nomination with Thomas Hoyne, brother of the state's attorney of Cook county, in the Second ward, forecasted victory for herself as she watched her woman friends crowd

Minnesota Democrats Assemble for Party Conference There.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 24.—C. C. Daniels, brother of the secretary of the navy, and John Walsh of Ashland, Wis., one of Woodrow Wilson's active campaigners before the president's nomination in 1912, were scheduled as the principal speakers at the state Democratic conference to be held here today. The gathering was to have been called to order late in the afternoon, the meeting to be followed by a banquet. It had been announced that a speaker of national prominence would be at the conference, but his name was not announced until today. Democrats from all parts of the state are present.

Last Call Comes to One of City's Most Respected Citizens.

Miner, Banker and Philanthropist—The End Was Not Unexpected.

Capt. Joseph Sellwood is dead.

After an illness which began last Christmas, when he was suddenly taken ill with a cold, Capt. Sellwood, Duluth's pioneer capitalist, mine owner and banker and one of the most prominent business men of the Northwest, passed away at 1:35 o'clock this afternoon of Bright's disease at the family residence, 1802 East Superior street. He had been in rather poor health for the last two or three years, but his condition was not considered serious until this winter.

During his illness, Capt. Sellwood was attended by the family physician, Dr. Charles L. Codding. At his bedside when death came this afternoon were Mrs. Sellwood, his two daughters, Mrs. Charles L. Mershon and Mrs. L. W. Leithhead, and son, Richard M. Sellwood.

No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

MYSTERIOUS "S. O. S." CALL IS EXPLAINED

London, Feb. 24.—A telegram from Bremen to Lloyds today explained that no accident has happened to the German steamer Wildenfels, from which an "S. O. S." call was received at The Lizard yesterday.

Saved Eleven From Ekliptika.

Bremen, Germany, Feb. 24.—A fragmentary wireless message received here today from the German steamer Wildenfels reports that she rescued eleven persons from the Danish steamer Ekliptika when she sank in the Bay of Biscay yesterday.

The message states specifically that the captain of the Ekliptika perished. It is assumed that a considerable part of the crew went down.

Little Valley, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, on trial here for the murder of her husband, resumed before Judge Brown and a jury today her story of how District Attorney Cole and private detectives of Buffalo secured from her an alleged confession. She showed no emotion other than apparent indignation as she recounted the details of her story.

The unexpected coup made by her attorney, Patrick S. Collins, yesterday, in putting her on the stand to block acceptance of the "confession," attracted an immense crowd from all parts of the county today. Farmers and their families came early, carrying lunch boxes.

Mrs. Buffum repeated today in detail her assertion that the detectives, posing as her friends, took her to Buffalo, plied her with drink, planned the statement she was to make, threatened and coerced her. On this testimony Mr. Collins seeks to show that the statements are not proper evidence.

NEW TRUNK HIGHWAY TO THE RANGES

Will Parallel the Miller Road Twenty Miles to East.

County Will Begin Work on It in the Spring.

St. Louis county is provided with a second main trunk thoroughfare to the iron ranges through the gift to the county by the Weyerhaeuser interests of fourteen miles of an abandoned logging right-of-way formerly operated by the Duluth & Northeastern Minnesota Railway company.

Announcement to this effect follows a conference which John Tischer, county commissioner from the Second district, had Saturday with officials of the Northern Lumber company, a Weyerhaeuser corporation. The company agreed to relinquish all claims to the old logging road provided it would be converted into a main trunk highway between Duluth and the range towns.

The second main trunk highway between Duluth and the range cities will parallel the Miller Trunk road about twenty miles to the east. The new portion begins at the northern terminus of the Rice Lake road at the Cloquet river bridge and runs in an easterly and northerly direction for a short distance along the north bank of lower Island lake to the abandoned railroad grade.

The right-of-way is slightly more than fourteen miles in length. It does not follow section lines but runs across townships 52-14, 53-14 and 54-14. At the north line of township 54-14

SOCIETY MEN ARE IN UGLY SCANDAL

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 24.—Cincinnati's high social circles were startled today when warrants in the municipal court were issued for four prominent men here, charging them with contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Crane, a 16-year-old girl.

The most prominent of the quartet is Col. Brent Arnold, general freight agent and superintendent of terminals of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and one of Cincinnati's best known men. The other three are Hugo Goldsmith, a manufacturer; Isaac Newton Fox, a jeweler, and C. B. House, representative of a New York firm with headquarters in Louisville, Ky.

COPPER COMPANIES INSIST FEDERATION MEN MUST STAY OUT

Will Employ No Miner Who Retains His Membership.

Answer Is Made to Hilton's Statement Men Would Return.

Michigan Militia Men Are Accused at Congressional Inquiry.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. N. Hilton, attorney for the striking miners, at the opening of the congressional hearing today, stated that the copper strikers would be satisfied to return to work under existing conditions, provided they were not discriminated against because of affiliation with any organization.

This statement was met by a reply by A. F. Rees, chief counsel for the mine owners, that it was the position of the mine owners that the Western Federation of Miners must be eliminated forever from the field, and that no member of that union could be taken back to work unless he surrendered his membership.

Hilton said wages and hours no longer were items of dispute, and were satisfactory to the miners. The operators had been making an honest effort to improve working conditions, he believed, and the only disagreement was over the right of the men to organize.

"Moyerism," Not Unionism.

Rees declared many of the mines were in full operation, and that the operators could not promise to take all the strikers back. Certainly they would not reinstate those who had been guilty of acts of violence.

He said there was no objection to the men organizing, but thought they would be better off with local unions, even without the financial support of an outside organization.

"The Western Federation is Moyerism," he declared; "it is not organized labor."

"I suppose the mine operators would let the men have their unions provided the companies were permitted to run the organization," suggested Congressman Carey.

Moyer's Story Not Reached.

Contrary to expectations, the Moyer incident was not reached at the morning session, as additional testimony

LESS THAN TWENTY NATIONAL BANKS OUT

Those in Reserve System Hold 99 Per Cent of All Capital.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Although official tabulations were not completed today, treasury officials estimated that less than twenty national banks of the 7,493 in the United States have not made application for membership in the Federal reserve banking system.

According to estimate, however, the banks already in represent about 99 per cent of the national banking capital in the country. Under the law, national banks must subscribe 6 per cent of their capital and surplus to stock of a reserve bank in the new system, so that the capital of the entire reserve system, it is estimated, will be more than $100,000,000.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS IN PERIL ON COAST

Crew of Sachem Still Is Aboard Stranded Craft.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 24.—With a severe snow and wind storm raging on the coast, the British steamships Sachem and Riversdale, ashore near here, were today in more danger than at any time since they struck, last week. The Sachem, on a bar two and a half miles from shore, exposed to all winds, was in worse condition than the Riversdale, which lies well up on the beach in a less treacherous position.

The crew of the Sachem still are aboard the vessel. The Riversdale's crew are ashore.

TWO ORDINANCES UP FOR PASSAGE

Plan to License Bartenders Will Probably Be Defeated.

The city council is holding its regular weekly meeting at the council chambers of the city hall this afternoon.

Considerable interest attaches to the session as the ordinance licensing bartenders and the ordinance making East Fond du Lac a residence district are due for final consideration.

It is believed that the bartenders' ordinance will be defeated or withdrawn while the outcome of the other, intended primarily to prevent the building of an icehouse in that division, is in doubt.

The resolution awarding a contract for a Universal motor truck to the Mutual Auto company will probably be confirmed. Several of the commissioners have investigated the merits of the several machines on which bids were submitted and have stated that they believe the city will get the best results by confirming the contract as recommended by the works division.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

According to this it would seem that a medicine for the kidneys, possessing real healing and curative properties, would be a blessing to thousands.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the well known kidney, liver and bladder remedy, claim that judging from evidence received from druggists everywhere, who are constantly in touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is remarkably successful in sickness caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of recoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed in most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co., advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—50c. and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Duluth Daily Herald.

WINTER WHEAT CROP IS GOOD

Roots Well Protected and General Conditions Are Excellent.

Duluth Visitor Amazed at Agricultural Growth About City.

A great crop of winter wheat will be harvested next summer if weather conditions continue as favorable until next July as they have been this winter. A good coating of snow in the winter wheat belt has given ample protection to the roots and for that reason the recent cold snap that visited the Northwest and Southwest has probably done little or no damage.

This optimistic forecast was given by Andrew McDonald of Omaha, Neb., who was in Duluth today. Mr. McDonald has been traveling extensively through the Southwest and has talked with many farmers and elevator men on his trips.

"I notice that the production of wheat is falling off in Minnesota," he said. "The annual acreage is gradually decreasing and the raising of stock and grass is developing rapidly to take the place of the wheat crop. I believe it would be a good thing if Minnesota farmers would cut out wheat growing almost entirely. You can't raise enough wheat on an acre of land that is worth anywhere from $100 to $200 to cover the labor, cost of machinery, seed and fair dividends on the land. I don't believe that wheat grown in Minnesota brings enough to cover the cost of production to say nothing of profit.

Strong for New Tariff.

"That's one reason why I am strong for the new tariff bill. If the new tariff bill killed the wheat industry in Minnesota, it would be a good thing for the state. Land is too valuable to raise wheat on.

"I am glad to see so much interest in agriculture in Duluth and other parts of St. Louis county. I was in Duluth a few years ago and people laughed at the idea of raising good crops near Duluth. Now everybody is beginning to see that agriculture will some day be a great business around here. The new steel plant will make Duluth a world city and the new rates will make it an outlet for immense commerce in produce. If the agricultural resources could be developed extensively enough the city would treble itself in population in a few years."

Railroads

FREIGHT TRAFFIC IS INCREASING

Duluth Railroad Agents Report Steady Growth in Business.

Freight agents of the railroads operating from this point aver that the volume of business is steadily increasing. That is said to be the case in all classes of tonnage, including general merchandise, coal and forest products.

"Business with our road is good all around," said John I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific this morning. "We are getting encouraging reports from our agents regarding prospects in their districts, so that everything points to traffic being heavy during the spring and summer months. Our coal handlings have taken a big jump since the first of the month, and forest products are now coming out freely."

M. M. Hunna, city agent of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, reported similar activity in lumbering operations at points on that road, with considerable stuff now being shipped out by large and small operators.

The renting of the first cottage for the summer at Lake Vermilion was effected by Mr. Hanna yesterday. He accepts that early inquiry as a favorable augury for the 1914 tourist season.

H. H. HANFORD FUNERAL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

HEBER H. HANFORD.

The funeral of Heber H. Hanford, 68 years old, pioneer Duluth business man, who died yesterday noon after a few days' illness of Bright's disease, will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence, 2021 Woodland avenue.

Rev. W. W. Lawrence of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Hanford was a prominent member, will officiate at the funeral services. Interment will be at the Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Hanford came to Duluth in 1881 and was prominently connected with the early building of the city. With his son, Arthur, he was connected with the Hanford Construction company up to his death. A widow, two children, Arthur and Bertha, of Duluth and two brothers survive him.

STEEL CORPORATION WANTS CASE REOPENED

Says Trunk Line Proposes to Discontinue Rate Practice.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Assuming that trunk line railroads are arranging to discontinue immediately through rates with the Union Railroad company, the Newburg & South Shore Railway company, and the Lake Terminal Railroad company, subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation, attorneys for the corporation today asked the interstate commerce commission to reopen the "matter of allowances to short lines of railroads serving industries."

The Union railroad, controlled by the Carnegie Steel company, operates more than thirty-one miles of track about Pittsburg, the Newburg & South Shore operates nine miles of road in Cleveland and Newburg, Ohio, connecting Newburg steel works, Emmar Furnace and Central works with diverging lines; and the Lake Terminal railroad, owned by the Federal Steel company, performs switching service between various railroads entering Loraine and South Loraine, Ohio, operating more than sixty-two miles of track.

ELIOT TALKS OF WOMEN'S WORK

Boston, Feb. 24.—President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university, an opponent of woman suffrage, last night told the Women's City club that "women are always more interested in the functions of government than are men." This, he said, was because the modern functions of government relate to the preservation of health, the elaboration of education, measures of preventive medicine and the defense of the country against alcoholism and other evils.

"It seems to me," said Dr. Eliot, "that women are better adapted to work for human beings of the future than men are."

FRENCH GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED BY VOTE

Paris, Feb. 24.—The French chamber of deputies adopted, by 358 against 25, a vote of confidence in the government, based on an interpellation by the Socialists on the state of health of the French troops. From numerous of garrisons, reports had reached the war office of widespread epidemics of measles, scarletina and cerebro-spinal meningitis, which in many cases had been fatal.

The chamber ordered the continuation of the inquiry into the sanitation of the barracks by the commission of health appointed by the government. It was pointed out that the barracks were overcrowded owing to the large increase in the army brought about by the recent adoption of the three years' term of service.

APPROVED BY HICKEN

Commissioner Also Favors Women Police Officers for Duluth.

Commissioner Hicken concurs with Chief Troyer in his estimate of the value of policewomen to the local force, and said this morning that in his opinion women officers would be a valuable asset to any community, especially a large city.

The State Federation of Women's clubs, in session at St. Paul, Saturday recommended women officers for every city in Minnesota and resolutions were adopted, which are to be forwarded to the heads of city departments in Minnesota. When asked his opinion on the subject yesterday, Chief Troyer approved it and ventured the opinion that policewomen would become a valuable asset.

Commissioner Hicken said this morning that he and Chief Troyer had been considering women officers for some time, but had come to no definite conclusion. The matter has been in abeyance for nearly six months, he said.

"The woman officer in Duluth," said Commissioner Hicken this morning, "would aid materially in regulating the dance halls." In his opinion she would attend these dances regularly and see that no girls under age are in attendance and that no irregularities exist. She would also watch railroad stations and work in conjunction with other local institutions which are looking out for the interest of young girls coming to the city from the country.

It is hardly probable that a woman officer will be placed on the force for some time, owing to the present plan to reduce expenses.

DULUTHIAN IS GIVEN PROMOTION

Sibbald MacDonald Gets Berth With Twin City Traction Company.

Sibbald MacDonald, assistant auditor of the Duluth Street Railway company, has received an appointment to become assistant auditor of the Twin City Traction company and has resigned to take his new position on March 1. Mr. MacDonald has been connected with the local company for sixteen years.

A farewell banquet and reception will be tendered Mr. MacDonald this evening at the Duluth Commercial club by the office employes of the company. It is expected that about forty people will be present. The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock.

Mr. MacDonald's appointment to the position as assistant auditor of the Twin City Traction company is in the nature of a substantial promotion.

WOULD ADMINISTER MOTHER'S ESTATE.

Arville G. Riley today petitioned the probate court for appointment of executrix for the estate of her mother, Mrs. Mathilda Riley, who died, aged 47, at her home at Spring Garden, Minn., Feb. 4, last. Mrs. Riley left property estimated to be worth $2,000, which, under the terms of her will which was filed today, will be divided equally among her five children. They are: Arville, Ernest, Rose, Annie and Philip, all residing at Spring Garden.

PARTY FOR POLICE.

All Duluth Patrolmen Invited to Be Guests of Y. M. C. A.

Every policeman in Duluth has received an invitation from the Young Men's Christian association to be present tonight at a social at the Y. M. C. A. "gym." All of the men who will not be on duty tonight are expected to attend the party.

This party will be one of a series which the Y. M. C. A. is giving to men of various trades and professions. Special arrangements have been made for music and a program of athletic features to be given by "Y" boys. Among the "stunts" will be a wrestling match and performance on the parallel and horizontal bars. No other spectators will be allowed than those who are guests at the party. Refreshments will be served.

Paris, Feb. 24.—The chamber of deputies today voted an appropriation of $400,000 to provide for official French participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

The appropriation bill still has to go to the senate, where there will be some opposition, especially from the Limoges porcelain interests.

FIGHT FIRE IN ARMORY

40,000 Cartridges Make Work of Firemen Hazardous.

With nearly 40,000 cartridges stored in the other side of the building, Duluth firemen fought a fire this morning in the Armory at Second avenue east and First street.

The fire department succeeded in extinguishing the blaze before it spread through the building and confined it to the main ballway, where the fire started.

The apparent loss from the fire is only about $100, according to Assistant Fire Chief Wilson, although the total loss on account of the heavy smoke may run much higher.

The fire spread heavy smoke throughout the building before the blaze was discovered and the alarm turned in, which was about 8:30 o'clock this morning. There are hundreds of National Guard uniforms in the locker rooms and they may have been damaged on account of the smoke. Just what this damage may be, it is impossible to estimate at present.

It is the belief of Chief Wilson that the fire started from a cigar butt that was thrown on the rug in the hall stairway some time last night. He is of the opinion that the butt started a smudge and this smouldered all night long, finally bursting into flame about 8 o'clock this morning.

FOLLOWS HUSBAND INTO GREAT UNKNOWN

St. Cloud, Minn., Feb. 24.—After expressing a desire to join her husband in the great beyond and declaring that "life was empty without him," Mrs. Mary Louis Bennett, widow of the late James R. Bennett, Sr., died Feb. 22, precisely at the same hour her husband had died six days previously. Mrs. Bennett was 78 years of age. Physicians pronounced it a broken heart.

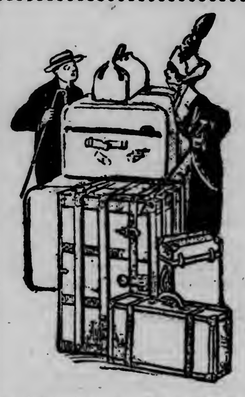

Wanted for Statutory Crime.

International Falls, Minn., Feb. 24.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Willis Stannard, alias Tanka, who is charged with a statutory crime against a young girl near Ericsburg. Sheriff White is making an active effort to capture Stannard.

Baltimore Safe Blown.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 24.—The safe in the office of the Academy of Music on North Howard street was blown open last night and, according to the report made to the police, between $5,000 and $6,000 was stolen.

Ideal heat makes home a haven

After the day is ended and the paper cast aside, there comes that period of calm reflection: "Would my day's struggle be worth while without the after bodily rest and genial mental cheer possible only in a well-warmed home?" * * * "Could I do my best work under the handicap of old fashioned heating?" * * * "Would not all the people be better contented, healthier, abler bread-winners under the genial influence of radiator heating? If they only knew!"

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

No matter how fiercely bleak winter rages at the doors or howls at the windows, the faster will be the natural flow of warmth to the AMERICAN Radiators to offset the cold. That's the beauty of our way of heating. You need have no fear for the comfort, health protection and safety of the folks at home where this heating outfit is on guard. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators add to the joy of living because they banish the work and wear by keeping coal-dirt, ashes and soot out of the living rooms, and they reduce the cost of living in their great savings in fuel, lessened doctor bills and absence of repairs.

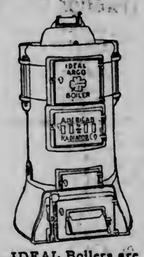

A No. 17-3-W IDEAL Boiler and 300 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $ 1.45 were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipes, valves, freight, etc., which are extra, and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are made from high grade material throughout and should easily outwear the buildings in which they are used. Every part and feature of their construction has been tested and its worth and efficiency definitely established in our big Testing Laboratories, here and abroad — the only exclusive heating laboratories in the world.

The practical values and every-day economies and conveniences of these heating outfits have been demonstrated in thousands and thousands of notable buildings, homes, stores, schools, churches, hospitals, theaters, etc., etc., in nearly every civilized country, and endorsed by leading health officials, engineers and architects. That is why IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are so fully guaranteed. Yet they cost no more than ordinary types made without scientific tests of construction and capacity. Accept no substitute.

If you want to make your home a haven of comfort, don't wait until you build but comfort your present house—on farm or in city—with an outfit of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators. Put in now without disturbing old heaters until ready to start fire in new outfit.

Ask for free book: "Ideal Heating," which proves to you why these outfits are an investment—not an expense. Call, phone or write to-day.

IDEAL Boilers are safer and easier to run than stoves, and their cleanliness reduces housework one-half. They will last as long as the building and need no repairs. Accept no substitute.

ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner — built into the house

We also make the ARCO WAND Vacuum Cleaner, connected by iron suction pipe to various floors of houses, flats, schools, churches, hotels, etc. Through a light-weight hose ALL the dirt, cobwebs, lint, threads, moths, etc., are drawn with lightning rapidity down the iron piping into big, sealed dust-bucket in cellar. No dragging around a clumsy, inefficient portable cleaner — instead, you have a practical outfit that is a part of the building — like radiator heating.

LENTEN RULES ARE ISSUED

Bishop McGolrick Gives Instructions for Season of Fasting.

Ash Wednesday Marks Opening of Forty Days of Self-Denial.

Tomorrow is Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent.

For the next forty days up to Easter Sunday there will be fasting, special religious service and a general relaxation from social pastime. While the Lenten season is observed more strictly by the Catholic and Episcopal churches, it is observed as a time of quiet by practically every one so far as social activities are concerned.

Lent is observed very closely by the Catholic church and rules laid down by the church authorities are followed strictly. Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of the diocese of Duluth, has issued the following rules to be observed by the members of his diocese:

"All faithful, unless legitimately excused, or dispensed, are bound in conscience, under the penalty of grievous sin, to observe the Lenten regulations.

"All the days of Lent, Sundays excepted, are days of fast.

"The precept of fast restricts the use of food to one meal toward the middle of the day, and a collation in the evening not exceeding one-fourth part of a full meal—custom, however, authorizing the taking in the morning of a cup of coffee, tea or chocolate, with a small piece of bread.

Lenten Fast.

"For the collation theologians allow solid food to the amount of eight ounces. The solid food taken in the morning should not exceed two ounces.

"When the full meal or principal repast cannot be taken without considerable inconvenience toward the middle of the day, the order of repast may be reversed, the full meal or principal repast being taken in the evening, and the collation at an earlier hour of the day.

Lenten Abstinence.

"The use of flesh meat is allowed at all meals on Sunday, and at the principal meal on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except the Saturday of Ember week, March 7, and Holy week, April 4.

"The use of flesh meats therefore is forbidden at all meals on Wednesdays, Fridays, the Saturday of Ember week and Holy week; and on other days, outside of Sunday, it is forbidden at other repasts except the full meal.

Exemptions From Precepts.

"From the precept of fast are excused: Those under the age of 21 and more than 60 years of age, the infirm and the convalescent; women bearing or nursing children; persons engaged in hard labor or other hard duties exhaustive of physical strength; those who from poverty are unable to procure for the main meal a sufficiency of food.

"From the precept of abstinence are excused: The young under the age of 7 years; the sick; those who are unable to provide for themselves abstinence food.

Special Exemption.

"In virtue of the authority conceded to bishops of the United States by a recent pontifical indult, permission is granted to 'working people' to use meat on all days of Lent, with the exception of Friday, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday and the Saturday of Holy week.

"This dispensation from abstinence extends to all three meals in the day.

"The usual prohibition remains against using flesh meat and fish at the same meal.

"Where the wage-earner, in virtue of the indult, uses meat, all the members of his household may likewise use it. The church does not wish to impose upon the households the inconvenience of double cooking. But, in all cases of this kind, the members of the household who are bound by the precept of fast, are allowed the use of meat only at their principal meal.

"The sovereign pontiff exhorts all who make use of the privilege of the indult to be still mindful of their duty to practice self-denial; and he counsels that instead of the abstinence from meat some other sacrifice of bodily comfort be practiced, the sovereign pontiff himself suggesting as such sacrifice abstinence from intoxicating drink.

Days of Fast and Abstinence.

"The pontifical indult, of which we have spoken, exempts 'working people' from abstinence on vigils and Ember days, except when such vigils and Ember days fall on Friday; and on such days the indult also exempts from abstinence, in the same conditions as for the Lenten season, the members of the household of the wage-earner.

"The devotion of the way of the cross will be observed, when possible, in all churches and chapels, on the Friday evenings throughout Lent.

"The youth of both sexes should have deeply impressed upon them the meaning of the ceremonies during Lent and Holy Week; for want of this knowledge the value of the devotions is oftentimes lost.

"It will be well for Catholics to provide themselves with a copy of the Holy Week office book.

"The annual collection for the Indian and negro missions and for the propagation of the faith is taken up on the first Sunday of Lent.

"Our holy father, the pope, has enjoined that a collection be made in the various churches on Good Friday, for the holy places in Palestine in care of the Franciscan fathers.

"On Holy Thursday, the holy oils will be distributed to the reverend clergy after the solemn pontifical mass and ceremonies, which will commence at 10 o'clock.

"All the priests of the city are requested to be present at the blessing of the holy oils.

"We earnestly recommend to families the recitation of the rosary in common during the holy season of Lent.

"The indifferent and careless are attracted by the various forms of amusement provided during Lent by those who recognize no religious duty, cheap picture shows, penny theaters, dances and vulgar scenes, we, therefore urge you in the name of Him who suffered and died for us upon the cross to shun during this holy season these distractions, and devote the days of Lent to gaining the graces so abundantly offered by our Holy Mother, the church.

"A resolution of great practical benefit to the family would be to provide wholesome reading matter during Lent —a good Catholic newspaper, and one or two of the Catholic magazines, would be a source of much spiritual profit during the year.

"In these days of irreligion and blasphemy, the Holy Name society should be established in every parish in the diocese; such a special devotion would bring blessing on all who are pledged to honor the holiest of all names, the name of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

NO INTENTION TO EXEMPT AMERICA

Man Who Helped Frame Treaty Talks of Canal Tolls.

Washington, Feb. 24.—American diplomats who negotiated the Hay-Pauncefote treaty had no thought of exempting the United States when they agreed to the provision stipulating that "all nations" should use the Panama canal on equal terms, according to Henry White, former ambassador to France.

Mr. White was secretary of the embassy at London in 1898, and in the absence of Ambassador Hay opened the negotiations for repeal of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which the Hay-Pauncefote pact supplanted. In an address on diplomacy before the George Washington university students he declared that there could be no doubt that the words "all nations" were intended to include the United States.

"Nobody," said the former ambassador, "not in touch with diplomatic affairs could realize what a deplorable thing it was to know that this country was going back on its word. There never could be any doubt that the words 'all nations' included the United States.

As to Merchant Marine.

"No one views with deeper humiliation than I, the fact that we have no merchant marine. I would, therefore, do anything that could be done with propriety, for the resuscitation of our merchant marine. But I do not believe in violating our pledged word."

Mr. White praised President Wilson for his stand in insisting upon the repeal of the section of the Panama canal act giving free tolls to American vessels.

Definite action to bring the repeal question squarely before congress is expected within the next two weeks. In the meantime supporters of the administration, both in the senate and house, are working to prevail upon Democrats who have not yet made up their minds as to the course they will pursue, to support the president in the repeal of the toll exemption provision.

Senators O'Gorman and Chamberlain purpose to fight against repeal until the last, but many Democratic senators are assuring the president they will vote to reverse the action of congress. Representative Adamson, chairman of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, plans to have a repeal bill reported from his committee.

LORDS OPPOSED TO BOUGHT PEERAGES

London, Feb. 24.—The house of lords unanimously adopted a motion by the Earl of Selborne that contributions to party funds should not be considered in awarding titles. The house of commons will be asked to concur. Viscount Milnor, the marquis of Lansdowne and other notable Unionists supported the motion.

The marquis of Crewe formally denied that the present government had been influenced by money considerations in recommending to the king those upon whom the titles were to be conferred.

WOULD PUT TELLER IN HALL OF FAME

Denver, Colo., Feb. 24.—Highest state honors will be paid the memory of Former United States Senator Henry Moore Teller. At the request of Governor E. M. Ammons, members of the former senator's family have expressed a willingness for the body to lie in the rotunda of the state capitol Wednesday, probably from 10 o'clock until in the afternoon.

Members of the Masonic order, of which Mr. Teller was a thirty-third degree member, will conduct the public funeral services, probably subsequent to the private services which will be held in the Tyler home. W. S. Pickerell, grand master of the Colorado A. F. and A. M., will be in charge of the services.

Governor Ammons, in a public statement, started a movement to have Colorado statesmen represented in the hall of fame at Washington by a bust of Senator Teller. The representation is limited to two, and Governor Ammons declared that none more than Senator Teller would better represent the type of citizenship of Colorado and the West.

NO MORE BEARDED WOMEN

HOW TO AVOID THE PAIN AND DANGER OF THE CRUEL ELECTRIC NEEDLE BY USING THIS SIMPLE NEW ABSORPTION PROCESS WHICH KILLS AND DISSOLVES OUT THE HAIR, ROOTS AND ALL.

For the Benefit of Herald Readers. Lady Explains How She Accidentally Discovered a Harmless New Process Which Permanently Removed Her Hairy Mask After Electricity, Tweezers, Caustic Pastes, Lotions, Powders and All Other Depilatories and Advertised Remedies Had Absolutely Failed To Do Anything But Harm.

By Following Simple Directions Given Below, Every Woman Now Has the Means of Easily Preparing and Using in Her Own Home, This Wonderful Process Which Has Hitherto Been a Carefully Guarded Secret Known Only to a Few High-priced Specialists, Full Directions Are Now Made Public For the First Time.

All who are afflicted with superfluous hair will be interested to learn of the amazing discovery made by Miss Alma Randall, who until recently was deeply humiliated by these repulsive growths upon her face, neck and arms. As the hair constantly became more thick and hideous, she tried every process and remedy advertised or recommended, but found to her sorrow that if any of these removed hair at all, the effects were only temporary, and new growths soon appeared stronger than ever. Even hours of torture under the cruel electric needle simply meant great pain, a sore and blemished skin, and the inevitable disappointment. After spending huge sums in efforts to be rid of her terrible and beauty-destroying affliction, Miss Randall was about to give up in despair, when by chance she learned of a means by which the the beauties of Ancient Pompeii are said to have permanently banished superfluous hair. With only a very slight clue as to the nature of this remarkable process used in by-gone ages, Miss Randall tells how she set to work experimenting in her tireless effort to wrest the lost secret from the past. From the accounts of Miss Randall's discovery, which have recently aroused so much interest among women with superfluous hair, there seems to be no doubt that at last there has been found a way, most radically different from anything hitherto known, by which any woman can now rid herself permanently, harmlessly, and painlessly of all superfluous hair growths by dissolving them out of existence, root and all. One part of the process consists of a solution easily obtained and prepared by anyone, which possesses the remarkable quality of being readily absorbed by the hair so that it creeps down to the root, dissolving as it goes, just as oil creeps up a lamp wick. It is perhaps needless to caution any who may use this process, which has so deadly an effect upon the hair, that it must never by any chance be permitted to touch hair which is not to be destroyed. In explaining the process, Miss Randall mentions that it is perfectly neutral and ineffective to the skin, as any one can quickly prove by experiment, but she disclaims all responsibility for permanent loss of desirable hair, such as eyebrows, hair of the head, etc., to which the process is applied. Even though the accidental application be insufficient to dissolve the hair at once, it will eventually die and fall out, and there exists no known means of restoring life to hair roots thus affected. For the benefit of any women who may be interested and who wish to be rid of their superfluous hair by this remarkable process, Miss Randall has generously agreed to send complete particulars regarding its preparation and use to all who write her within the next month, enclosing a 2-cent stamp for return postage. Miss Randall makes no charge whatever, and it may be added that she has nothing to sell. Simply address: Miss Alma Randall (Suite 116), 197 Regent Street, London, W., England, (postage to England, 2 cents), and you will receive all particulars by return mail, under plain, sealed cover.

Never submit to the needless torture of electrolysis. Electricity always STIMULATES hair growth, the needle may leave livid red scars, ingrown hairs and permanent disfigurements. By following the few simple directions given in this article, you may avoid all risk, trouble and heavy expense, just as Miss Firmin did.

BOTH OF THESE WOMEN OWE HEALTH TO PERUNA.

Mrs. O. D. Robinson, No. 36 St. Felix St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I have taken Peruna and it did me more good than all my two years treatment by special physicians. I can really say that I feel like another person. No more swollen feet and limbs. No more bloating of the abdomen. No more shortness of breath. No more stiff and sore joints."

MRS. O.D.ROBINSON

MISS NETTIE E.BOGARDUS

Sick Headache Relieved.

Miss Nettie E. Bogardus, R. F. D. 21, Westfield, N. Y., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from sick headaches, but am now entirely free from that trouble. I have not felt so well in ten years as I do now.

"I would recommend Peruna and Manalin to all sufferers."

Read Miss Bogardus' testimonial over again. You will note that she says she has been a great sufferer from sick headache. Well, there is nothing peculiar about that. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of people have been and are great sufferers from sick headache. But this is the point in the testimonial that ought to create a great deal of attention. She says: "I am now entirely free from sick headache." And she gives the credit to Peruna and Manalin.

Read this, you great multitude of women and men also, who have been for years victims of sick headache.

If you do not believe it is true write Miss Bogardus and find out the truth.

Every one interested in the subject of sick headache should read the article on page 18 of the "Ills of Life." Address Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

NOSE AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD OR CATARRH, OPEN AT ONCE

My Cleansing, Healing Balm Instantly Clears Nose, Head and Throat—Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges; Dull Headache Goes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

WOMEN VOTE BY THOUSANDS IN WINDY CITY

to the polling places. The Republican candidate in that ward received strong support from colored women.

As candidates, as voters and as election officials, the women played an important part in today's election.

The names of eight women candidates appeared on the ballots. More than 700 women acted as judges and clerks of election. Hundreds of women, representing woman's clubs and political organizations, had been officially designated as watchers, and were at the polling places early.

Interest in First Ward.

The women centered most of their attention on the First ward, comprising the business section and what formerly was the segregated district, where Miss Marion Drake was the Progressive party candidate. Although Miss Drake had no opposition, the women watchers kept a sharp watch for illegal voting and repeating. If nominated, Miss Drake will oppose Alderman "Bathhouse John" J. Coughlan for election. Many women watchers for Miss Drake slept at downtown hotels last night so they could be about their duties early today.

Other women candidates are: Sarah M. Hopkins, Second ward; Lida E. McDemut, Seventeenth ward; Jane E. Frank, Republican, Seventeenth ward; Gertrude R. Dubin, Twentieth ward; Mrs. Maude M. Gerhardt, Twenty-third ward; Maude J. Ball, Thirty-first ward, and Julia Agnew, Thirty-first ward. In the Thirty-first ward Julia Agnew is the Progressive candidate, and Maude J. Ball is the Socialist candidate.

In spite of a brisk wind and swirling snowflakes, many women visited the polling places. Early reports from the Thirtieth ward, the Stock Yards district, indicated that there would be a heavy vote of the newly franchised women.

DOG TEAM MAN ON LONG JOURNEY

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 24.—A "Scotty" Smith, traveling with a team of four dogs, attached to a small sleigh, from Cross Lake, Man., to New York city, a distance of 2,000 miles, arrived here yesterday. In his race against time which he says will net him $2,000 if he reaches New York April 24, he has made more than fifty miles a day, so far.

For Better Home Keeping.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unique among the many farm contests in North Dakota is that started by Anthony Stonehouse of Larimore, and which has "better home keeping" on the farms as its object. Townships in Western Grand Forks county are included in the district to which the contest is open. High standards of home equipment, aimed at lessening the burdens of the farm women, are to be recognized in this contest.

LAST WEEK TO FILE RETURNS

Income Tax Reports Must Be Submitted By Saturday Night.

Revenue Collector Calls Attention to Severe Penalties Imposed.

This is the last week for filing of income tax returns, and persons or corporations subject to taxation who are delinquent will have to pay a penalty. All returns are due on or before March 1. As March 1 falls on Sunday, no returns can be made on that day.

E. J. Lynch, collector of internal revenue at St. Paul, in compliance with instructions issued from the Washington, D. C., office, has called attention to the importance of filing these returns and the penalty that may be enforced. The instructions from the Washington office follow:

"To Collectors of Internal Revenue:

"You are advised, and will so announce from your respective offices, that the law and regulations require returns of income for the taxable period, March 1 to Dec. 31, 1913, to be made and filed on or before March 1, 1914. The law is mandatory and allows no discretion to be exercised by any officer. Section 3176, revised statutes of the United States, as amended and made part of the income tax law, gives to the collectors of internal revenue (they being satisfied as to the merits of the claim, and in the reasonable exercise of their judgment and discretion) authority to grant extension of time not to exceed thirty days from the time prescribed by law in which to file a return of net income, and then only in cases where such failure, neglect or refusal is the result of sickness or absence.'

"You are also advised, and will so announce, that there will be no change in income tax regulations as they now exist prior to March 1, 1914, and that all persons and corporations required to make a return, which have not as yet done so, should make and file their returns at the earliest opportunity and on or before March 1.

"Collectors will forward to this office immediately a report showing the number of returns filed in their respective offices as of Feb. 20, 1914.

Penalties and Additional Tax.

"For neglect or refusal to make a return within the prescribed time, corporations are liable to a penalty not to exceed $10,000.

"And in case of neglect or refusal to make, or for a false or fraudulent return made, 100 per cent is to be added to the tax.

"And in the case of neglect or refusal to make and verify a return within the prescribed time (except in case of sickness or absence), 50 per cent is to be added to the tax.

"And in case of an officer of a corporation, or like institution, charged with the duty and responsibility of making and verifying a return, who makes a false or fraudulent return with the intent to defeat or evade any assessment or tax, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be subject to a fine not to exceed one year, or both, at the discretion of the court, together with costs.

As to Individuals.

"For neglect or refusal to make a return within the prescribed time, the penalty is not less than $20 nor more than $1,000.

"And in case of intentional neglect or refusal to make, or for a false or fraudulent return made, there shall be added 100 per cent to the tax.

"And in case of neglect or refusal to make a return within the prescribed time (except in case of sickness or absence), there shall be added 50 per cent to the tax.

"Respectfully,

"W. H. OSBORN,
"Commissioner.

on the subject of assaults by deputies and militiamen was presented by the strikers.

Charles Waisonen told the committee that soldiers broke up a "parade at Franklin on Oct. 30 and scattered the strikers." Running away, he said, he became caught in a barbed wire fence. A soldier pursued him and beat him with a rifle.

Margaret Fazokas, the 14-year-old girl who was shot in the head at Wolverine on Sept. 1 in an encounter between strikers and deputies, said she was running away at the time she was wounded. She was picketing at the mine with her mother in a crowd of other women and strikers, when deputies began dispersing them. She denied throwing stones at the deputies.

Militia Bitterly Criticised.

Michigan National Guardsmen who were on duty in the Copper country during the early days of the strike were the center of attack in the testimony yesterday. Interference with strikers' parades and alleged brutal treatment of some of the participants were the principal charges made against the militiamen by the dozen witnesses introduced by the Western Federation of Miners. When the strikers conclude presentation of their case, an opportunity will be given the representatives of the National Guard to reply to the charges.

Many of the incidents described had been told before. Capt. Frank Blackman of Company L, from Jackson, was accused of brutal treatment by two witnesses. Tony Stephanic said the captain gave him a black eye in an encounter between 200 parading strikers and soldiers at Calumet on Sept. 13; last, and William Palmetre accused the officer of striking a woman sympathizer across the shoulders with his saber at Tamarack on Sept. 8.

Hit Woman With Rifle Butt.

Palmetre declared that women and children were crying "scab" at four non-union men whom Capt. Blackman and six soldiers were escorting from work. When another woman yelled "coward" at the officer, the witness said, Blackman grabbed her, tearing off part of her waist. He said a third woman was struck by a soldier with the butt of his rifle and injured.

"Was it the custom to wait for the men returning from work and to call them names?" asked Maj. Pepper.

"Yes," the witness replied. "I took it as a sort of pastime."

Witnesses told of parades at Calumet and Mohawk which they said had been stopped by the soldiers. Frank King said that during the Calumet parade a guardsman had broken the staff of the American flag with a saber and another punctured it with his bayonet. Victor Lievahtas said he was attacked at Mohawk while carrying the Stars and Stripes.

Jacob Kunlin testified that he was shot in the neck and knocked down by Jack Kendall, a deputy sheriff, while in a parade in Quincy on Dec. 11. On cross-examination the witness admitted that soldiers had stopped a fight between strikers and deputies.

Threatened to Shoot Him.

Frank Stampehard told the committee that one night in the latter part of October, a soldier came to his home at Allouez and told him that if he saw him in a parade again he would shoot him. He said the soldier was drunk, but on cross-examination admitted the man was not too drunk to mount his horse.

Antone Baplich said deputies had broken up a parade at Red Jacket, Nov. 26, and that strikers had been beaten. A deputy shot a man in Union hall, he said, and when Ben Goggia, a union organizer, protested, saying, "I don't know how you can shoot a man like that," he declared the deputy replied, "We are not to do it for the C. & H."

A recent incident of the strike was narrated when Henry Vittala, who charged that he was searched without a warrant last Friday by E. W. Walker, a mine superintendent, and a deputy sheriff. Afterwards he found that he had lost $5, he said. On cross-examination the witness said he did not think Walker took the money.

Chairman Taylor admitted into the record a petition presented to Maj.-Gen. Abbey by 173 citizens of Centennial Heights last autumn protesting against the presence of militiamen and their alleged attacks on union men. It was agreed by the committee that the charges therein would not be accepted as facts until substantiated by witnesses.

wind storm which prevailed for two days over the Upper Mississippi and Ohio river valleys had disappeared to the eastward today, leaving behind a trail of destruction.

It will be several days before railroad schedules and telegraph and telephone communication reach normal in Indiana, Southern Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Kansas. Steam and electric railroad tracks will have to be cleared of huge drifts of snow, which in some instances completely stopped traffic.

All of the railroads today sent out big gangs of workmen to begin clearing tracks. Hundreds of linemen began to reset fallen poles and to restring wires. All trains in the storm district continued from one to several hours late today.

Ten Inches of Snow.

Clear and Cold in Southwest.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 24.—A clear, cold day dawned in Missouri and Kansas. The temperature, after dropping close to zero, began a steady rise, but the air was still crisp after yesterday's blizzard. Gradual restoration of nearly normal transportation facilities and wire communication with points completely isolated yesterday was made.

A passenger train on the Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield branch of the St. Louis & San Francisco road was released after being stalled four hours in drifts near Olathe, Kan.

Blizzard in Tennessee.

Digging Pittsburg Out.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 24.—With temperatures from 1 to 5 degs. below zero, this entire section today experienced one of the few bright days since the advent of winter. Hundreds of men were employed digging the city out of seven inches of snow.

Tracks Torn Up.

The railroad company, which was also owned by the Weyerhaeuser interests, took up its tracks on this right-of-way about nine years ago. Since that time it has been used by some for a team highway, but no money has ever been spent, either by the county or any township for improving it. About two years ago, when negotiations opened between the county officials and the railroad company for the use of the old right-of-way for a public thoroughfare, a resolution was passed legally establishing it as a county highway. The action was simply to make it possible for money to be appropriated and spent for its improvement.

The acquiring of the old right-of-way for county road purposes will furnish a long needed connecting link between the north end of the Rice lake road and the southern terminus of the Vermilion road, and will give Duluth a more direct route to Biwabik and McKinley than by the Miller Trunk road. The route will be slightly longer to Virginia and Hibbing.

According to County Commissioner Tischer, only about three weeks' time in the spring is needed in order to put the connecting link furnished by the old logging road in shape. Nearly all of it is in good condition. Only a stretch, about three-fourths of a mile in length will have to be rebuilt.

The announcement of a second highway between Duluth and the ranges will be welcomed, it is believed, by the good roads enthusiasts in both localities.

VILLA'S REPORT THAT BAUCH WAS SENT TO PRISON PROVES FALSE

the handing over of the body of Benton has met only with silence.

Gen. Villa has received telegrams, not only from many cities in the United States, but from London, Paris and Berlin, asking for an explanation of the manner of Benton's death. All the replies sent to inquirers have given the same story of a court-martial and execution.

Try to Get Body.

Efforts of the state department to get the Constitutionalists to turn over to the widow the body of William S. Benton, the British subject who was executed by Gen. Villa a week ago, continued today.

So far the request made last Saturday by the United States that the body be given to Benton's widow has met with no response from Gen. Villa, and it is reported that Consul Letcher of Chihuahua will renew his plea.

Benton's friends, the Federal junta and many sympathizers continued their attempt to ascertain the true facts concerning the execution. Benton's friends showed no disposition to change their own verdict of "murder." They hope to find a witness to the shooting whose word can be relied upon.

At Chihuahua Gen. Villa continued to insist that Benton had attempted to kill him and that he had turned the Scotchman over to guards for execution.

Villa Denies Bauch Report.

The rebel general contradicted his official report to the American consul at Juarez by saying he knew nothing of the whereabouts of Gustav Bauch, a German-American accused of being a spy. His official report stated that Bauch had been taken to Chihuahua.

The sending of Charles Alexander Spencer Perceval, British consul at Galveston, Tex., to El Paso was regarded in some quarters as a move intended to relieve the American government to some extent of its protection of foreigners in Northern Mexico.

No Neutral Zone Needed.

No neutral zone will be required at Torreon. E. C. Fletcher, who went there to ascertain the wishes of foreigners on the subject, returned here last night. He found that the remnant of foreigners remaining in Torreon were there specifically to guard property and they did not care to leave even during a battle. Certain buildings will be designated by flags in the city and both sides will endeavor not to hit them.

British Consul on Job.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The British embassy announced that Charles Alexander Spencer Percival, British consul at Galveston, Tex., had been ordered to El Paso to confer there with British officials concerning the execution of William S. Benton.

Asks Washington's Help.

London, Feb. 24.—The British government has invoked the good offices of the United States government to urge that there shall be no interference by Gen. Villa with investigation into the death of William S. Benton. The investigation is to be made by Charles Percival, British consul at Galveston, who has been ordered to Chihuahua. Consul Percival has been instructed to supply the most complete reports obtainable.

Sharp comment is made by the Manchester Guardian today on Sir Edward Gray's statement in the house of commons yesterday in regard to the killing of William S. Benton at Juarez by Gen. Villa. The newspaper asks:

"Is it not mere playing with words to say that in such a case the United States has no responsibility? If that were so, the Monroe doctrine would be a mere instrument of international anarchy, whereas the whole tendency of President Wilson's policy has been to make it a force for order and good government. If we are not responsible, then the United States is. We certainly do not wish to drive the United States government into intervention, but it cannot deny to other powers the right of defending their interests and at the same time refuse to defend them itself."

Press Dissatisfied.

The Standard editorially expresses discontent at what it considers the British foreign secretary's mild attitude toward the United States and says:

"Sir Edward Grey seems inclined to treat the murder of Benton with cool philosophy, altogether out of harmony with the feelings of the nation. We desire to remain on the friendliest terms with the United States, but cannot waive the duty of protecting our nationals abroad, or we shall cease to be a great power. And we cannot permit the crime to go unpunished merely because President Wilson and Secretary Bryan may conceivably adopt Villa's defense of the murder as a justifiable execution."

The Daily Telegraph, equally dissatisfied, argues that the United States, by opening its Mexican frontier to the passage of arms, admittedly played into the hands of the faction "in whose name the brutal crime was committed." Therefore Mr. Bryan cannot renounce responsibility for the honor of both countries. The Telegraph demands that the act of barbarity shall not go unpunished.

No Comment From France.

Paris, Feb. 24.—The French foreign office has no comment to make on the Benton affair in Mexico. The foreign office appears content to leave President Wilson to work out the situation.

The Temps, an influential newspaper, while referring to the excellent relations between France and the United States, ridicules the American policy and alludes to the possibility of European intervention. This is quite in accord with unofficial utterances for many months past, but inquiry establishes that this view has no official support.

Last September, informal exchanges took place between France and Great Britain on the question of possible joint representations by France, Great Britain and Germany as to whether something might not be done by these nations and the United States working together for the restoration of order in Mexico.

The prevailing view was that the United States would be better left with a free hand. The objections to European action seemed to be, first, that such action might offend the United States and, second, that joint military intervention would cause enormous expense to the European powers taking part, without any prospect of reimbursement after order was restored, as the economic advantages would probably rest with the United States.

Villa's Own Story.

Chihuahua, Feb. 24.—Gen. Villa's story of the killing of William S. Benton, told to reporters here, differs but little from the official statement given out Saturday at Juarez.

The Juarez statement given out declared that, when Benton reached for his hip pocket, Villa knocked him down with a blow of the fist. Villa said that when Benton made this move, he poked his own pistol into Benton's stomach and then turned him over to the guards.

Villa insisted that Benton came to take his life, and referred to Benton's mission concerning the welfare of his ranch as a "pretext to gain admittance."

According to Villa, Benton, after the verdict of the courtmartial, confessed his guilt and declined to ask for mercy. He merely requested that his property be turned over to his widow.

The rebel general marked another milestone in his political and military progress from the rustic outlaw who could scarcely write his own name three years ago, to the dictatorship of northern Mexico, when he received yesterday the homage of his officers and prominent citizens at the gubernatorial palace.

He sat in a high-backed, gilded chair in the big chamber of delegates, beneath a canopy of deep red velvet embroidered in gold, looking on the scene from wideset, glowing, black eyes, saying but little. A medal was presented to him by those of his men who have followed him since the Madero revolution, three years ago, when he forsook his outlawry and blossomed into a militant patriot.

Talked of Benton's Death.

On Benton's death he said:

"Benton gained entrance to my office in Juarez on the pretext that he wanted to see me on personal business connected with his ranch. As soon as he entered, he began to address me in abusive language. I had had some experience with him before and knew of his violent temper. I knew also that he had mixed too freely in Mexican politics, but I did not suspect that he was coming into my office to murder me.

"He had not talked long when he reached for his hip pocket. It flashed over me that he intended to kill me. I grabbed at his hand, and at the same time thrust my revolver into the pit of his stomach to stop him. I did not wish to appear bloodthirsty, and therefore did not shoot him myself. My guards seized him, took his pistol away from him, and placed him under arrest. It was decided to try him by court-martial, and this was done in the regular manner and the prisoner was executed eighteen hours after he made the attempt on my life.

"That is all there is to it. We would have treated any other offender in the same way, whether he was American, Spanish, German or Japanese.

Guilty of Other Offenses.

"Benton was not only guilty of attempting murder, but of other offenses, for which we have proof of his enmity to our cause and of the aid he rendered our enemies. However, he was executed for attempting to take my life. I have nothing to conceal about it. I know the incident has aroused comment in the United States and Europe, and that is why I am making this statement. A man who acted as Benton did would have received the same treatment in any country.

"I want to emphasize the fact that I did not kill Benton myself; I would not have soiled my hands with the detail of execution after the court had found him guilty. After the verdict, Benton confessed. He did not appeal for mercy, but asked that his property be secured to his wife. We promised that this would be done.

"Statements have been made that we have executed other foreigners but these are untrue. Benton is the only one."

COGSWELL, N. D., HAS CLOSE FIRE CALL

Cogswell, N. D., Feb. 24.—Prompt arrival of fire fighting apparatus from Bismarck probably saved this town from destruction last night when fire broke out in the Cogswell State bank building and soon fanned itself to a hardware store, both buildings being destroyed. The loss is $40,000.

The Mind Expands As Health Returns

Quick Improvement is Noticeable When Proper Aid to Nutrition is Given

A low state of the general health is now the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look towards building up its health. It will usually be found that the main trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. This, with plenty of air and exercise, should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the condition of the bowels, to note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too freely. If either condition prevails, give a small dose of that gentlest of all laxative tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers will testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their own children, and for that reason legions of families like those of Mrs. Daisy McBroom, Hillsboro, Ind., are never without it in the house. She is the mother of Lucile and has been using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for Lucile since she was two, Mrs. McBroom says it saved Lucile's life. It is the standard family medicine in the McBroom home.

It is pleasant to the taste and so perfectly safe that it is given to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it, and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.

Lucile McBroom.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington street, Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

The Home Beauty Parlor

by Betty Dean

Sue L.: I always recommend quinzoin to put vitality and luxuriance into anyone's hair. It will promptly remedy the dandruff and itching scalp; it costs little and you can prepare it at home. From your druggist get one ounce quinzoin and one half pint alcohol. Mix and add one half pint cold water. This makes enough tonic to last a long time. Apply to your scalp twice a week. This is fine to prevent falling of the hair and premature loss of color.

Daly: Don't worry about being too "plump" when there is such a simple, easy way to reduce flesh without dieting or any strenuous exercise. Get four ounces of parmotis from your druggist and mix it in one and one-half pints hot water. Take a tablespoonful before meals. This is harmless and inexpensive and I think you will find a beneficial change within a week.

Leonora: There is no virtue in an egg shampoo. The slimy animal matter clings to the strands and clogs the pores of the scalp. Try this simple shampoo: Get some canthrox from your druggist and dissolve a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. It leaves the scalp stimulated and cleaned, and the hair beautifully soft and fluffy.

Polly: You do not need to send abroad for the new, perfect substitute for face powder. Make it yourself at home, by dissolving four ounces spurmax in one-half pint hot water. This is the simplest, purest lotion for making the skin soft and naturally fair. It stays on closely, and gives a youthful freshness. When on it seems part of the skin and cannot be detected as can the old-style face powder.

Caroline: Yes, if the tissues of your face are inclined to sag, beware, or you will soon have wrinkles! Here is a good massage cream which tones and braces the tissues while also beautifying the complexion: Mix an ounce of almozoin (from your druggist) in one-half pint of cold water. Add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply freely. After the first application you will feel the skin contract and you will soon get back the firm contour and a velvety skin. For a good blood-purifier see answer to Maurice.

Maurice: The skin eruptions of which you speak are caused by impure blood and you must eliminate the poisons from the system before you can hope to enjoy complete health. Into one-half pint alcohol (whisky must not be used) pour one ounce kardene, then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take one tablespoonful of this old-fashioned blood cleanser and tonic before each meal. This is splendid for that weak, worn feeling and restores the vital organs to a healthy condition, and its timely use will save much serious sickness.

Fanchon: Certainly eyes are harmed by belladonna, but this home-made tonic will clear and make them brilliant while it is strengthening and resting. Anyone can prepare it by dissolving an ounce of crystos (obtainable at any druggist's) in one-half pint of clear water. Use eye cup or put a few drops in each eye at least once a day. Its brightening effect is immediate.

WOUND MAY END FATALLY

Christ Grinden, Returning From Hunt, Accidentally Shoots Himself.

Tangled Rifle Discharged, Bullet Partly Severing the Spine.

As a result of accidentally shooting himself while boarding a train at Milepost 47 on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad early yesterday afternoon, Christ Grinden, 31 years old, of 1023 Eleventh avenue east, is lying at St. Mary's hospital with a severed spinal cord. The wounded man is not expected to live, his condition having been reported very low by attendants at the hospital this morning. He is being attended by Doctors Magie and Ekblad.

Grinden, in company with a trio of friends, was returning home from a hunting trip of a few days when the accident occurred. He was just about to step into the railroad coach, when a .22 caliber rifle he was carrying became entangled with his grip. In his efforts to remove the rifle, it was discharged accidentally, and Grinden fell to the ground with a bullet just above the left shoulder blade. It partially severed the spine, it was learned during an examination at St. Mary's hospital later in the afternoon.

Passengers on the train rushed to the wounded man's side and he was carried in the car, where he was given temporary relief. The train proceeded to Duluth and Grinden was removed to St. Mary's hospital.

Grinden is married and is employed as a clerk by the Kelly-How-Thomson company.

UNCLE SAM'S BOYS HAVE ANNUAL BALL

Letter Carriers Entertain Large Number of Guests at Auditorium.

The members of the Duluth branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers entertained at their annual pre-Lenten ball last evening at the Auditorium. The proceeds will be placed in the fund for the aid of sick carriers and their families. About 1,200 persons attended the affair.

Dancing began at 9 o'clock and continued until nearly 2 o'clock this morning. At 10 o'clock refreshments were served, after which the dancing program was resumed. The music for the evening was furnished by Paul's orchestra.

During the early part of the evening Whitman and La Velle, who are at the Empress the first half of this week in the interest of the elimination tango contest, gave an exhibition of the new steps.

The committees in charge of the ball consisted of the following members:

Door—G. S. Kriz, chairman; A. B. Heimbach, E. Jackson and Albert Christianson. Floor—A. J. Powers, chairman; H. Helper, W. Piotnicky, W. Cooley, Sam Shearer and J. Wile. Reception—Thomas Thompson chairman; S. H. Pearson, Albert Hill, J. Gillis and Frank Cole. Refreshments—A. D. Mahoney and Sam S. Wienstein.

NINETEEN BEST SPELLERS OF NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA

A feature of the Farm Crops show held in Crookston last week was the spelling contest pulled off between nineteen of the best boy and girl spellers in the thirteen Northwestern Minnesota counties. This picture shows the nineteen who participated. Frances Larson of Polk won the ribbon contest and Helen Jerde of Dugdale, Polk county, the oral contest. Frances Larson, the winner, is at the left end of the top row, and Helen Jerde, second, is second from the left end in the middle row. The other contestants, with their counties, are: Pennington, Selma Neeland and Anna Knutson; Roseau, Joseph Wald and John Frisilie; Clay, Clara Winjun and Mabel Ramsay; Mahnomen, Catherine Montgomery and Gilbert Triet; Kittson, Melise Carlson and Harold Zook (the latter winning the old-fashioned spelldown); Polk, Frances Larson and Helen Jerde; Marshall, Ruth Halvorson and Astrid Pearson; Norman, Bertha Gaare and Ella Wichern; Red Lake, Julia Sorenson and Beatrice Miller.

CHILDHOOD GIFTS HALT WEDDING PLAN

Greeley, Colo., Feb. 24.—Two rings rang the passing of the dreams of a wedded life together of Frank Cameron and Mary Hardy, homesteaders who were to have begun their honeymoon here yesterday. Cameron wore one of the rings as a watch charm. Miss Hardy had the other as a keepsake from her brother. The two rings proved Miss Hardy and Cameron to be brother and sister.

Cameron is 45 years old. His homestead is located fifteen miles from his nearest neighbor, Miss Hardy, at Buckingham, Colo. An acquaintance of a year terminated in Cameron's obtaining a license and speeding with a wedding ring to his fair neighbor's ranch.

Cameron was dressed in his wedding clothes. On his watch chain dangled the ring given him thirty-four years ago by his sister when, orphans, they were taken to different orphanages in Iowa.

Miss Hardy saw it, and showed him a ring carved from a dime, given her by her brother when she left him for an orphanage. Cameron recognized the ring he had given her when he was 11 and she but nine, so that they would always remember each other.

WILL ESCAPE PROSECUTION

Nestor Holm, Held on Assault Charge, Will Be Deported.

Because he will be deported from the country, Nestor Holm, held to the March grand jury for a stabbing affray, will escape prosecution.

Holm was convicted of a crime in Finland before coming to the United States and will be deported on that ground. He is now in the custody of the United States immigration officials and will be deported as soon as word arrives from Washington. Holm is alleged to have stabbed Nestor Mattila with a jack knife during a quarrel Jan. 24. He was arrested two days later and bound over to the grand jury. As soon as the immigration officials became interested in Holm's case and developed the fact that Holm had a record in the old country, the county attorney's office moved for a dismissal of the case in district court. Judge Cant yesterday dismissed the action against Holm.

SENT TO POOR FARM.

Youth With Frozen Fingers Will Be Given Medical Attention.

Walter Lindstrom, 19, froze the fingers of both hands in the lumber camps at Tower and vicinity last week. Yesterday afternoon he was admitted to the county poor hospital for treatment. As soon as his condition improves he will be given a railroad ticket to Rockford, Ill., his home before coming to Duluth, several years ago. He has been in this country about two years. Lindstrom informed the poor authorities yesterday that he was penniless and that he had suffered for the last three years with rheumatism.

OPPOSES NEW YORK FIGHT TO GET THAW

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—A resolution criticising the attorney general for his attitude in endeavoring to have Harry Kendall Thaw returned to the jurisdiction of New York, was introduced by Assemblyman Golden yesterday and referred to the ways and means committee. The resolution asks that the governor and attorney general be instructed to stop all extradition proceedings and incur no further expense, leaving the Federal government, Thaw's native state of Pennsylvania and the state of New Hampshire, where he now is, to take such action relating to the fugitive as they deem proper.

CAN HE BE MAYOR AND CONGRESSMAN?

Curley of Boston Is Subject of Resolution in House.

Washington, Feb. 24. — Whether James M. Curley, mayor of Boston, and on the rolls of congress as a representative from the Twelfth Massachusetts district, shall be permitted to hold both offices, has been put up to congress.

A resolution introduced by Republican Leader Mann sets forth that the "offices of mayor and representative in congress are not open for one man to perform the duties of both," and proposes that Mr. Curley's seat be declared vacant. It is said Mr. Curley has declared his intention of holding both offices until the end of the present session of congress, to redeem pledges made to the people of the district and to save Boston the expense of a special election.

GARRISON MAY BE AT CONFERENCE

Secretary of War Plans to Attend Lake Cities' Meeting.

Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, has decided to attend the Great Lakes Cities conference to be held in Buffalo, Feb. 26, if it is possible for him to arrange to be present. A telegram stating this fact was sent to the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Secretary Garrison says that the state of public business is such that he cannot promise to attend, but that he has instructed the district engineers from Detroit, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Chicago and Duluth to attend.

Unusual interest has been created over the prospective results of the meeting as it is the first time in the history of the the lake cities that an effort has been made to form a permanent organization for the protection of the advantages possessed by these ports. All vessel and shipping interests on the lakes will be represented.

PIMPLES, BOILS AND BLACKHEADS

Face Looked Awfully. Burned So Could Not Sleep. Almost Crazy. Awful Pain. Scratched All the Time. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 3 Weeks and Was Cured.

2014 Hamburg St., Chicago, Ill.—"I was troubled about eight months with pimples, blackheads and boils. My face looked awfully; it was so bad that I was ashamed to go to work. My face itched then I noticed that it was getting worse every day; it was burning me so I couldn't sleep nights. I was almost crazy. The pimples were as big as beans and they looked horrid. They came to a head and festered. The boils caused me an awful pain. The itching and burning were so bad that I had to scratch them all the time, then they turned to sores.

"I began using ——— and ——— and ——— but they didn't help me any. One day I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I washed my face in warm water with Cuticura Soap then I bathed my face about three or four times, then dried it and applied Cuticura Ointment. I did this every morning and evening for three weeks and I was cured." (Signed) John Macykowski, July 2, 1913.

In purity, delicate medication, refreshing fragrance, convenience and economy, Cuticura Soap and Ointment meet with the approval of the most discriminating. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

SULZER SEEKS PAY FOR HIS FULL TERM

Starts Legal Proceedings Against the State Comptroller.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—William Sulzer has instituted legal proceedings before Justice Alder Chester of the supreme court to regain the governorship, from which he was removed last October.

An order was issued by the court commanding Comptroller Schmer to appear and show cause why a writ of mandamus, compelling him to pay the former governor his full salary as the occupant of that office, should not be issued. Mr. Sulzer previously had made a written demand on Mr. Schmer for his salary.

When Attorney General Carmody notified Justice Chester that he would oppose the granting of the writ, the court said he intended to refuse it as a matter of law, holding that the court of impeachment already had passed on the contentions of Mr. Sulzer.

Agree to Hurry Case.

An agreement was then made between the attorney general and Col. Alexander S. Bacon, counsel for Mr. Sulzer, to facilitate the determination of the question involved in the state courts. The appellate division will be asked to affirm Justice Chester's proposed order denying the granting of the writ, and then the case will be carried to the court of appeals, where a similar request will be made.

Thus Mr. Sulzer will be able to file his case in the supreme court of the United States with little delay, it is believed. Doubt is expressed, however, if a final decision can be obtained from the supreme court before the term of Governor Glynn, successor to Mr. Sulzer, shall have expired Dec. 31, 1914.

GLYNN CALLS PROBE "FOUR-RING CIRCUS"

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 24.—In a special message to the legislature last night, which termed the present state investigations a "four ring circus," Governor Glynn proposed the creation of a permanent court of inquiry composed of former judges of the court of appeals to conduct all further inquisitions into the state departments.

"Justice does not require," he declared, "and the people do not want innuendos and covert attacks whose only purpose is possibly to glorify the investigator, to answer some partisan ends, and through suggestion and innuendo to drive men to distraction, catastrophe and ruin. If our present system of inquisitorial investigation continues, only those men who are incapable of appreciating, or are insensible to, such malicious attacks will seek public office."

Full Court Powers.

The governor's idea is to give the body full court powers in conducting investigations. Such a court, he pointed out, conducted under proper rules of procedure, would be more dignified and effective than the present system.

"Crime cannot be pursued by hue and cry" the message said. "Dishonest men cannot be driven out of public life by head-hunting. In the pretense of punishing malefactors, innocent men should not be destroyed. For the purpose of detecting guilt, truth must not be crucified. The public mind must not be confused by insinuations that have no basis, by innuendos that have no facts behind them and whose only purpose is to destroy those against whom they are aimed.

"The temple of law should not be desecrated into a hippodrome of politics; prosecution should not be dragged down into the mire of persecution. Partisan malevolence should not be allowed to tip the scales of justice for sinister purposes."

NURSE'S BODY IS FOUND IN THE ICE

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 24.—Frozen solidly in the ice of the harbor at City Point, the body of Miss Elizabeth A. Evans, 51 years old, a nurse who had been missing from her home since Feb. 17, was found last night by a fisherman. Two hundred Boy Scouts had been searching for her since Saturday. Miss Evans suffered a nervous breakdown shortly before her disappearance and the police believe she drowned herself while despondent.

KANSAS DEMOCRATS DISCUSS PLATFORM

Initiative, Referendum and Recall Among Proposed Planks.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 24.—Democrats of Kansas met here yesterday, discussed the welfare of the party and adopted a tentative platform containing paragraphs in favor of government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines; the initiative, referendum and recall; the extension of the parcel post; a minimum wage law for women; a mothers' pension law; compulsory grain inspection; child welfare legislation, and extension of mine rescue work.

GIRLS! CLEAN AND BEAUTIFY HAIR NO DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Stop Washing Hair! Try This! Makes It Glossy, Soft and Abundant.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

PUPILS HOLD THEIR ELECTION

John Davis Is Chosen "Mayor;" To Take Oath Wednesday.

John Davis, "mayor" of the Duluth Industrial high school was reelected to his office with a clear majority of 19 votes over the total of his two opponents at the semi-annual election held by pupils of the high school this morning. Davis received 104 votes against 60 cast for John Nettleton, and 24 for Frank Martin.

JOHN DAVIS,
Re-elected "Mayor."

The new officials will take their oath of office in chapel tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The oath will be administered by Principal S. A. Foster, as "chief justice" of the school.

ROYAL LEAGUE PARTY.

Pocahontas Lodge Gives First of a Series of Four Social Events.

Pocahontas council, No. 319, Royal League, entertained last evening at its first of a series of four dancing parties to be given this spring at Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. Ninety couples attended the affair.

The hall was tastily decorated with colors of the order, red, blue and yellow, and with national flags and streamers. Members of the committee were dressed in colonial costumes. Among those in costume last night were: Mrs. E. J. Zauft, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. W. H. Richter, Mrs. Henry Fedl, Mrs. Thomas Brain, Mrs. H. L. Liberty, Mrs. Judson Smith, Mrs. F. Peterson, Mrs. Frank Ashley and others.

The other parties will consist of one on St. Patrick's day, March 17, one on Easter Monday, April 13, and one on May day, May 4. Invitations for the St. Patrick's day party will be out in about two weeks.

UNDERTAKERS WILL MEET HERE IN 1916.

M. J. Fillatrault returned yesterday from Minneapolis, where he attended the annual state convention of the Minnesota Funeral Directors' and Embalmers' association. Mr. Fillatrault was one of the speakers at the convention and through an address given by him in which he lauded Duluth he was able to secure the state convention of the organization for this city for 1916. The next meeting will be held in Minneapolis in 1915.

Before returning home from the convention, Mr. Fillatrault visited his former home in the southern part of the state. He says that while there he went bass fishing and caught the largest black bass he ever landed. The fish weighed four pounds.

Cooking Demonstration.

How to make fancy dishes with fish at a low cost will be demonstrated this evening by Miss Susan Stryker at the Irving social center this evening. Many tasty dishes will be demonstrated by the instructor and it is expected that many of the matrons of West Duluth will be present to attend. Next week it is Miss Stryker's intention to demonstrate with cooked meats.

Folk dancing classes will be continued this evening. The classes will meet at 8 o'clock sharp. It is probable that following the classes, the last social dance held until after Lent, will take place.

On Thursday evening Dr. Mary McCoy will speak on "Heredity."

Will Hold "Pow-Wow."

"Haymakers" of Mesaba Tribe No. 25, Improved Order of Redmen, will hold a "pow-wow" and "love feast" tonight at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. The affair is for members of the Redmen only and is given in honor of the degree team of the Ojibway tribe of Superior, which has assisted in a number of initiations during the last winter.

The feast will commence at 8:30 o'clock. Following the banquet several addresses, musical numbers and recitations will be given. Among the guests will be members of the Superior and Duluth lodges.

The committee in charge of the affair consists of: J. M. Foubister, Ed Sugars, T. M. Fitzgibbons, John Ramsbottom, John Connolly, Charles Zell, F. A. Kersten, William McCallum, Nels Willner and Fred Krause. Mr. Foubister will be toastmaster.

With the Curlers.

Interest in curling games during the last two or three days has been centered on the state 'spiel. Many West Duluth curlers have watched with interest the fight in Minneapolis for the championship honors. The members of the Western Curling club who attended the bonspiel returned home yesterday.

Four games are scheduled at the rink tonight. Wieland will play Evered, and Quinn will play Ittis in the Commercial club event, and Brown will play Zauft, and Mallory against Judson in the Burns event. Band music will also feature the program at the rink.

On Sad Mission.

Mrs. Joseph Bartz of Proctor returned yesterday from Osakis, Minn., where she was called to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. John Murray, who died last week, following an illness of several months of cancer. Mrs. Murray was a pioneer settler near Osakis.

Brothers Have Quarrel.

Ignatz Zaukovich and his brother, Louis, proprietors of a butcher shop in Gary, had a disagreement this morning which resulted in the arrest of the former on a charge of disorderly conduct. The "scrap" is said to have resulted from a dispute over money matters. Ignatz will be given a hearing before Judge Lanners tomorrow morning.

Arrested for Peddling.

Jack Garnett was arrested this morning by the West Duluth police on a charge of peddling without a license. He is said to have been selling fruit in the residence district. He will be taken before Judge Lanners this afternoon.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Roxy C. Perkins of St. Paul arrived last evening to spend two weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, 512 North Fifty-ninth avenue west.

Mrs. S. Bergum, 609 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, will entertain tomorrow afternoon for members of the Royal Neighbors and their friends.

Kenneth McDonald, 9 Munger row, returned yesterday from a short visit in the Twin Cities.

"The Literary Test" will be the subject of a debate by the Irving school social center debating club Thursday evening.

Miss Mary Alverson will be in charge of an entertainment to be given tomorrow evening by the Eddo lodge, No. 15, Daughters of Norway at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms.

R. C. McDougall, 5813 Wadena street, returned last evening from a short visit to Minneapolis.

Tomorrow is the last shopping day at the Bell store, 308 Central avenue. Don't miss the last day bargains.

H. C. FOWLER IS STANDING TRIAL.

A hearing is being held today in the municipal court in the case of Homer C. Fowler, who is charged by L. K. Ekren with the embezzlement of $10,000 of the funds of the Elmon, Oyaas, Fowler company, said to have taken place in 1907. The preliminary hearing began this morning with Archibald McCabe appearing for the state and Judge L. K. Luce and George B. Hudnall for the defendant.

Mr. Fowler was treasurer of the Elmon, Oyaas, Fowler Mercantile company at the time of the alleged embezzlement. He left Superior a few years ago settling in Tacoma, Wash., where he has built up a large mercantile business.

Early last spring a warrant was sworn out for Mr. Fowler by Mr. Ekrem, charging Mr. Fowler with having made away with the money. Extradition papers were served on the governor of Washington but these were rejected. Mr. Fowler recently made up his mind to come to Superior and stand trial.

Only Three Candidates.

As yet only two candidates have appeared in the field to oppose Mayor Konkel at the recall election, these being E. T. Harris, the Socialist nominee, and Alec J. McRae, former mayor of the city. It is expected that before the end of this week the reform element will bring forth its candidate for the office.

UNCLE SAM CAN MAKE AREA "DRY"

Supreme Court Rules in South Dakota Land Case.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The right of the Federal government to make "dry" territory of 400,000 acres of the Old Yankton Indian reservation, recently opened for settlement in South Dakota, was upheld today by the supreme court in upholding the conviction of Sam B. Perrin for sales of liquor in drug stores at Dante, S. D.

The case is regarded as establishing a precedent for lands ceded by Indians under such "dry" agreements.

SUFFRAGE GAINS IN NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 24.—The senate today passed the house concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution extending votes to women. The resolution will have to be passed by next year's legislature before being submitted to the voters at the election of 1915.

CO-RESPONDENTS WILL DENY CHARGE.

London, Feb. 24.—The divorce suit brought by Alexander Broderick Leslie-Melville against his wife, naming Earl Fitzwilliam, one of the wealthiest men in England, as a co-respondent, was withdrawn today. Counsel said Mr. and Mrs. Leslie-Melville had agreed to a deed of separation.

Earl Fitzwilliam and another co-respondent, Mr. Platt, will go on the witness stand tomorrow and formally deny the allegations against them.

ENGLISH CHAMPION HERE FOR MATCH

Covey Arrives for His Tennis Contest With Jay Gould.

New York, Feb. 24.—George F. Covey, professional court tennis champion of the world, arrived here today from Liverpool to prepare for his title match with Jay Gould, amateur champion. The contest will be held at the Philadelphia Racquet club, March 16, 18 and 21, and will consist of the best seven out of thirteen sets. Covey, if he wins, will receive a purse of $1,250, two-thirds of the gate receipts and his expenses. If defeated by Gould, plate valued at $1,250 will be awarded the American amateur, Covey receiving expenses and two-thirds of the gate receipts.

The English professional, who won his title in 1912 by defeating "Punch" Fairs, will proceed to Philadelphia within a few days for practice upon the court where the championship match will be played.

The contest is of great interest, both here and abroad, as it is the first international match of 1914.

BOSTON AMERICANS OFF ON TRAINING TRIP.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 24.—Manager Carrigan of the Boston Americans, with several members of his pitching staff, left today for the training quarters at Hot Springs, Ark. Other battery candidates will be picked up on the way. The fielders will not report until March 8.

Whether that contingent will include Tris Speaker, who is on the world's tour of the White Sox and Giants, still is a matter of speculation. Speaker has not yet signed and is said to have been approached by agents of the Federal league.

BERRY TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.—Capt. Osmyn Berry of the steamship Nantucket, charged with negligence in the collision with and sinking of the Monroe off the Virginia coast in which forty-one lives were lost, took the witness stand in his own defense today. His trial is being conducted by the local board of steamboat inspectors.

Capt. Berry said that when he first heard the Monroe's whistle in the fog it seemed to bear ahead. He ported his helm, throwing the bow of the Nantucket to starboard. Later he heard two whistles on his starboard bow, which indicated to him that the other ship was stopped, and he did not alter his course. A quarter of a minute later, Capt. Berry testified, he saw the Monroe crossing his course. The Nantucket's helm then was thrown hard aport and the engine put full speed astern.

The witness' testimony agreed with the captain of the Monroe as to the angle of the collision and other details.

Monroe "Running Fast."

Capt. Berry testified that the Monroe appeared to be running very fast toward him.

Capt. Berry told what happened subsequent to the collision. He said the Nantucket lowered only two boats. He could have lowered more had he known the Monroe was sinking, he said. He could not see the Monroe in the fog. Although the Nantucket was not leaking, he said, he was afraid to turn his ship around to go to the Monroe, as there was a large hole in the Nantucket's bow.

The commander of the Nantucket gave it as his opinion that wireless telegraph practically is useless to prevent collisions in a fog, because captains cannot give definite positions in thick weather.

OBITUARY

Dr. Frederick H. Osgood, former president of the United States Veterinary Medical association, is dead at his home in Boston. Death followed a long illness caused by an infection contracted in scientific work.

DERAILED TRAIN CAUSES DELAY.

A wrecked freight train at the Northern Pacific wards at Carlton, at an early hour this morning, delayed the arrival of the Twin City-Duluth Northern Pacific passenger train for three hours.

The wreck of the three freight cars was not serious, according to the statement of the superintendent, merely serving to cause delay and inconvenience. The wreck was caused by two of the cars leaving the track.

ILLINOIS MAN IS TRAMPLED TO DEATH

Coming to Minnesota to Locate, Killed at Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. E. Wade, an immigrant who was on his way from Sterling, Ill., to Greenbush, Minn., to settle on a farm in that neighborhood, was fatally injured on the Great Northern railway yesterday afternoon. Mr. Wade was traveling with a car of household goods and livestock. His car was switched off near the stockyards in this city. While Wade was attending to his stock in the car an engine bumped into it and caused Wade to be thrown to the floor of the car under the horses' feet. The horses being somewhat frightened by the shock, trampled on their owner, wounding him so severely that he died shortly after he had been removed to one of the hotels in this city. A post-mortem examination and inquest will be held this afternoon.

ARRANGING N. M. D. A. JUNE MEETING

Col. H. V. Eva Attends Session of Executive Committee.

Col. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, returned this morning from Minneapolis, where he was attending a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association, which was making tentative arrangements for the midsummer meeting of the association to be held in Thief River Falls on June 2, 3 and 4.

In connection with this meeting A. J. McGuire, chairman of the committee on agriculture, has sent out a letter to the members of the association in which he asks all co-operation with the committee possible to make the meeting a success. He announces that two of the three days of the meeting the committee on agriculture will have charge and will make every effort to have all interested and all who should be interested in the agricultural development of the Northern Minnesota present. Invitations will be sent to county agricultural agents, high school teachers of agriculture, teachers in rural consolidated schools, teachers at the Crookston school of agriculture, teachers in the Duluth and St. Cloud normal schools, railway development agents and county commissioners.

The association's executive committee also plans an agressive campaign in favor of the proposed constitutional amendment to establish a permanent revolving fund amounting to $250,000 for the construction of fire-breaks, roads, etc., on state lands. This will be urged at the midsummer meeting of the association. Other matters of importance will also be brought to the attention of the association in June.

COLORADO STRIKERS NEAR END OF STORY

Operators Will Be Heard Next By the Congressmen.

Trinidad, Colo., Feb. 24.—The conclusion of the strikers' testimony at the Trinidad sessions of the Federal strike investigation seemed in sight when today's hearing opened. Counsel for the strikers intimated last night that they were nearing the end of their long list of witnesses and would soon leave the field to the mine owners.

The exact length of time that will be required by the operators is uncertain but members of the house subcommittee today expressed the belief that the Trinidad hearing might be concluded this week.

Woman's Realm

St. Paul artists delighted a large audience, composed of members of the Matinee Musicale, with a program of unusual brilliance given at the regular meeting of the Duluth club, held in the auditorium of the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon. Miss Lora Luisdorf, soprano; Miss Margrethe Pettersen, pianist, and Miss Lima O'Brien, accompanist, all members of the Schubert club of St. Paul, came to Duluth to give the reciprocity program, Duluth artists going to their club tomorrow.

Miss Luisdorf is a singer of charming personality and an artist of worth, and her work was received with genuine pleasure by the audience. Her first group included the Brahms' "Komm bald," Tschaikowski's "Nein wer die Sehnsucht kennt," and Hildach's "Lentz;" while her second offering was the "Vissi d'arte" from "La Tosca" by Puccini, and the last number was a group of English songs, "At Parting," Rogers; "Last Night I Heard the Nightingale," by Turner-Salter, and "The Boy and the Brook," by Lawrence Kellie. All of her numbers were enjoyed and she responded to an enthusiastic encore after her last group with a fourth number.

Miss O'Brien, in her accompanying, showed herself in sympathetic understanding with the singer and a capable pianist.

Miss Pettersen's display of artistic understanding, technique and emotional expression made her piano numbers of unusual brilliance and beauty, and she was enthusiastically applauded for every one of her numbers, which included some very difficult and exacting compositions. Her first number was the Grieg, "Ballade in G Minor," and the second group included "Romanza," by Sibelius; "Aeolus," by Gernsheim, which she was forced to repeat, so greatly was it enjoyed; "Nocturne in F Sharp, Minor," by Chopin, and the Paganinni-Liszt "La Campanella," after which she played an encore number, a delightful addition.

An informal reception was held after the program when members of the club were invited to meet the artists and Mrs. Florence L. C. Briggs of St. Paul, president of the Schubert club who was also a guest of the afternoon. Mrs. Briggs gave an informal little talk preceding the program.

A dinner for the St. Paul musicians was given last evening at the Kitchi Gammi club at which covers were laid for:

TROUSERS UNDER SLIT SKIRTS ARE THE NEWEST IMPORTATION

TROUSER DRESS.

This is Paris' idea of the trouser dress. Mme. Bernard of the Maison Bernard has just brought the model to this country. No more will the ladies of the City of Light have to wear leg muffs to protect them from the cold in winter. They will wear trousers under their skirts. Then it will not matter how high the skirts are slit—nothing will be on view but a neat pair of trouserloons.

PARENTS' CLUB.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Laziness the Chief Cause of Poverty.

Poverty is no disgrace unless it is engendered by the spirit which refuses to help itself, and this, I am bound to confess, in many cases seems to be the cause of much of the poverty and suffering in the world. Men and women are too shiftless and lazy to set themselves to tasks that require concentrated effort and long hours of toil, and too falsely proud to engage in work which they foolishly deem beneath their talents and abilities.

Downright laziness and shiftlessness, combined with the love of ease, are responsible for more ruined lives than any other three human failings. I have never yet known anyone with average ability and health for whom I could feel the least spark of respect or pity when they sat down and commenced to wring their hands and ask what was to be done when fortune had turned against them.

I have in mind at this very moment a woman who has had money in large quantities all her life, also health, good looks, a brilliant, versatile mind, and surprising business ability in several directions. She has never had to exercise these abilities or consider where the money by which she could live was coming from—until within the last year. Her means have now been cut off. Yet she sits still and broods over past glories and wonders whether they will ever be hers again. She does not think gratefully on the ease and happiness that have been hers.

I cannot muster any sympathy for this woman. She is ruining her prospects by bitter pessimism and the dismal view she takes of all things suggested for her benefit. Her very outlook upon life is conducive of more unhappiness and deeper poverty, for just as surely as you commence to think that there is nothing but poverty and misery ahead of you, just so surely will that lot in all probability become your portion in life.

Cheerfulness and optimism are creative forces for success in any walk of life. The belief that a man has held through foul and fair weather that his struggle for competence and independence will eventually lead him into a safe harbor has had a strong tendency to do so. It is the hopeful man and woman who win. Those who will not entertain any idea of failure, while they have health and strength, and the ability and willingness to work, cannot help but succeed. The failures are those who idle aimlessly through life doing only what they must or what comes easiest, or depending on someone else for support.

MAKE THE MOST OF BEEFSTEAK

Kansas City Star: Some persons insist that beefsteak is cheap because it requires only a little heat to cook it and only a little time to prepare it. Moreover, it is appetizing, and so is relished and eaten eagerly. A heavy stew, on the other hand—say these exponents of cheap beefsteak—costs little to begin with, if it is made from a cheap cut of meat. But it costs much in the heat required for long cooking and much in the housewife's time and energy in preparing and cooking it. If it is properly cooked it is, of course, appetizing. But it is easier to spoil a stew than a beefsteak in the cooking, and so make it unsavory and so unappetizing that little of it is eaten.

Whether we agree with the person who argues that beefsteak is cheap or the one who argues that it is expensive, we must all agree with the one who argues that there are expensive ways of using beefsteak and cheaper ways.

To begin with, the steak must be cooked to a turn. It should, to be at its best, be broiled. The degree of cooking must depend on the taste of the persons who are to eat it, but it should never be dried up in an effort to make it well done. If a well-done steak is desired, it should be broiled over a fire hottest at the beginning of the cooking, and it should be frequently turned.

There is much so-called waste to steak—fat and gristle and bone. But all of this waste can be made useful. Hence a big steak is an economy, for the leftovers will be enough to be worth working over.

The leftover bits of the tender steak can be put through a meat chopper, and, if the steak is cooked rare, formed into little balls and browned quickly in bacon fat or butter and served for lunch. If the steak is not rare, the chopped bits can be mixed with an equal quantity of rice, a little white sauce and plenty of seasoning, and then formed into small croquettes, dipped in egg and crumbs and browned.

The bone and gristle should go into the soup pot. If there are other scraps of meat and bones, they can all be combined. If there are no others, the steak bone and gristle can be put in a pot with a sliced onion, two diced carrots, two stalks of celery sliced, half a can of tomatoes, half a cupful of rice and three pints of water. This should be simmered until all the flavor is extracted from the bone and the vegetables—about an hour and a half—and then strained for soup.

The tough ends of the steak can be trimmed and cut into dice and stewed tender with a little canned tomato or diced green peppers and water. The stew should be slightly thickened when the meat is very tender.

HORSE STILL HOLDS HIS OWN.

Farm and Fireside: Reports from the Union Stock Yards of Chicago give the interesting fact that there are now employed in Chicago 72,939 horses, or only 287 less than a year ago. In Boston the number of horses is only fifty less than ten years ago. Minneapolis has 158 more and St. Louis 730 more than ten years ago. Inasmuch as the city driving and carriage horse has rapidly disappeared the figures show that more draft horses are in use today than ever before, motor vehicles notwithstanding.

A competitive test of milking machines in England by the Royal Agricultural society recently was won by a Swedish machine.

AMERICAN SOPRANO GIVEN ENGAGEMENT

MABEL GARRISON.

The Metropolitan opera house in New York has given an engagement to Mabel Garrison, an American coloratura soprano. In private life she is Mrs. George Siemonn. Her husband was recently professor of composition at Peabody institute in Baltimore. Miss Garrison has appeared in English opera for two seasons, singing Gilda, Lucia and Violetta. She is a graduate of Peabody institute.

THEN——and——NOW

John Wise, the first aeronaut in the United States, was born on this date 106 years ago. He began experimenting in Philadelphia in 1835, and in the fall of 1837 discovered that while passing through a thunder cloud the cords of his balloon gave forth musical sounds and he heard voices on earth when he was a mile above it. Twice in 1843 he asked congress for appropriations for crossing the Atlantic in a balloon, and later tried to get its aid in building airships from which explosives could be thrown at an enemy on land or sea. Up to 1859 he had made 230 ascensions. September 28, 1879, he ascended from St. Louis and never returned. The body of one member of the party was afterward found in Lake Michigan.

Today, although the Atlantic is still uncrossed by airship or flying machine, the belief that the trip will be accomplished this year is widespread. Rodman Wanamaker is building an aeroboat with which he expects to fly from Newfoundland to Ireland in less than twenty-four hours, and others are in the field for the $50,000 prize offered by Lord Northcliffe for the first aerial voyage across the Atlantic.

An even more ambitious project calls for an aeroplane trip around the world in connection with the Panama-Pacific exposition. A route has already been mapped out, a sum of $300,000 proposed as prizes, and a number of aviators have indicated their eagerness to participate in the race.

DYNAMITE FOR SETTLERS.

So much interest has been manifested throughout the state in various plans for promoting the settlement of Northern Minnesota, that it is fair to take it for granted that there is today a more eager willingness to foster that settlement by legislation than there ever has been before.

If that situation exists, there is a chance that a better reception than ever before will be accorded to a plan that in a direct, concrete, effective way will do perhaps more for the settlers already located on state lands than any other single thing.

That plan is for the state to make arrangements to furnish dynamite for stump-blowing to settlers at reduced cost.

Most of the larger plans now being considered are for the benefit of the future settler. There is no well-developed plan now for the help of the settler already on the land and struggling to clear his land so he can produce wealth from it.

Until the state or county gets to handling up-to-date stump-pullers on a large scale, there is nothing more important to the settler on cut-over lands than dynamite.

Yet its cost today is so great that it is almost prohibitive to the settler with small means, and most of the settlers are men of small means.

Why could the state not make arrangements to meet this great need? Perhaps a state dynamite factory would be "unconstitutional." The supreme court a generation ago held the state elevator at Duluth to be unconstitutional, and that ended it.

But the state has a twine plant factory at the state prison which is producing vast benefits yearly for farmers who need state help much less than do the settlers on the Northern Minnesota cut-over lands; and it is just developing a farm machinery factory for the benefit of the same class of farmers.

In the quantities that the ordinary settler can buy it today, dynamite costs about sixteen cents a pound. Those who have given the matter considerable study declare that the state could make it for a quarter of that figure, and yet make a slight profit.

Whether the Constitution should be amended to permit the state to engage in an enterprise that would so greatly profit its people and itself; whether a dynamite factory could be established at one of the state institutions; whether some arrangement could be made for the state to buy dynamite in huge quantities and give home-builders the benefit of large-quantity rates: what particular form the relief should take is a matter for discussion.

There can be no doubt that immense and direct benefits in the development of Northern Minnesota would come if the state could find a way to help its settlers on new lands half as much as it is helping the farmers in the richer sections.

The Herald would be glad to hear, in the state press and elsewhere, a discussion of the subject. No harm could come of such a discussion, and perhaps great good would result.

It seems quite possible that 1914 will go down in history as a bad year for Murphys.

THE VILLA-BENTON INCIDENT.

The latest happening in Mexico is awkward enough. It is a thing that it is impossible to pass over, but what to do about it is by no means clear.

Villa apparently has murdered a British citizen. True, Benton was in a place of peril long after everybody knew it to be such, and long after this nation had warned its citizens in Mexico of their peril, had given them word to leave, and had helped all to get away who could not move by their own resources. True, in a large way he was there at his own risk. True, he was a man of violent passions—his friends declare that he could not have been armed, as Villa asserts, because he knew his own violent temper so well that he dared not go armed. True, he may have irritated Villa beyond endurance.

But the fact remains that a British citizen has been killed by the military leader of the Constitutionalists.

Just how it happened there is no creditable evidence, and there may be none. Whether it was the result of a brawl, the result of a cold-blooded assassination, or the outcome of a drumhead verdict of death, no man can say certainly.

But a British citizen has been killed by the Mexicans, and Britain probably will want to know what is to be done about it; though its present temper is admirably sensible and controlled.

What can be done about it? Of course we cannot hold Huerta for it, though there is much that we could hold him for. And we have no diplomatic or other relations with the Constitutionalists, whose forces Villa leads. To demand of this party that it yield up the culprit for punishment is to demand of Villa himself that he lay his head upon the block.

Perhaps evidence may develop that will make this situation clearer. It is to be hoped so. It is by no means clear now either as to what has happened or what is to be done about it.

The incident apparently has caused a sharp revival of the jingo spirit, and a renewed outburst from interests that all along have been hopeful of intervention, and careless of what tragedy it entailed if they might profit by it.

This is no time for such things, and they should be promptly squelched.

No doubt John Bull feels that he is wonderfully kind in not holding Uncle Sam responsible for the conduct of Gen. Villa.

WHY NOT EVERY SUNDAY?

Completed reports from the Go-to-Church Sunday attendance in The Herald last night make the gratifying disclosure that the community responded nobly to the invitation, and that everywhere record-breaking attendances were reported.

That's good. The community will be the better for it, the churches will be the better for it, and especially those who for once resumed the lost practice of church-going will be the better for it.

And why not have every Sunday a "go-to-church" Sunday, so much so that no special invitation will be needed?

If that could be brought about, both the church and the community would take a lease of new life. The church would gain the inspiration of real life out of the community, and the community would gain the inspiration of spirituality out of the church. That would be good for both.

We shall hope that pretty nearly everybody who went to church Sunday for the first time in weeks or months or years will go again next Sunday, and will keep on going.

Mrs. Pankhurst is going to call on King George. Maybe there is some need of amending the old saying to read: "A victim of the cat-and-mouse-act may look at a king."

JOSEPH FELS.

Joseph Fels, millionaire, single taxer and philanthropist, who died Sunday at the age of sixty-one, made his money honestly and spent it nobly. He got rich making soap, and he used his fortune to help others—better still, far better, to help others to help themselves.

His fortune gained, he devoted his life and his bank account to the service of his fellow man, first caring for his workers by a generous profit-sharing plan. One need not embrace the economic creed that inspired him in order to do homage to the nobility of his purpose. Convinced that modern systems of taxation are egregiously unjust and oppressive, assured that the single tax theory is the remedy for most modern economic ills, he gave freely of himself and of his ample store to advance the single tax cause.

Perhaps more concrete good was done by his generous support of all reasonable projects for helping men to the opportunity that lies in the land. Many a family that but for him would still be struggling in the fierce labor competition of the city is happy, contented and prosperous on a farm.

In a quiet way, Joseph Fels, the Jewish soap maker, has done more to advance the brotherhood of man than many with much more wealth and fame. May his rest be sweet.

In view of the result of the last experience of that kind it went through, the Duluth Board of Trade will be inclined to regard any fresh investigation as just that much more free advertising.

THAT AWFUL WORD.

The senate is considering a bill to put radium supplies under government control, in order to prevent their falling into the hands of private individuals and corporations who will make them yield the last possible drop of profit.

Nobody has yet begun to calculate the possibilities of radium. Its use in treating cancer, though it is not a certain cure, is of high value; and in certain types of cancer it seems completely efficacious. There are potentialities of energy in radium, too, which scientists dare not yet even attempt to reckon.

Anyway, it seems important enough to make it highly undesirable that it shall fall into private profit-seeking hands.

But the hope that it might remain under government control is fated to disappointment.

The other day an attorney for a radium company appeared before the senate committee and pronounced its doom. The bill, it seems, is "paternalistic."

My goodness gracious! Paternalistic? Then, indeed, all is lost!

It may be true, as stated, that "aviators don't have to pay any attention to trespass signs," and yet it does seem as if a trespass sign would be a mighty convenient thing to fall onto.

A Useful Socialist Role.

New York Evening Post: The Swedish Socialists have seized the opportunity for emphasizing the really useful role which for years they have played, and are destined for some time to play, in European politics; as opponents, namely, of the professional militarists and armament promoters. The recent imposing demonstration of the rural classes of Sweden in favor of an army increase has been countered with an equally impressive demonstration of protest by the urban workers under Socialist leadership. In addition, a constitutional crisis has supervened. King Gustav, who is warmly in favor of a larger army, has seen fit to step outside the recognized limitations imposed on a constitutional king by taking sides squarely against his ministers. For the time being the original issue seems likely to be pushed into the background, and when it emerges the probabilities are that an alliance between the radical and liberal elements of the Swedish nation will prevent a sudden plunge into the mad game of gun and battleship competition. Yet the personality of King Gustav is an unknown factor. It may be that he will exhibit the skill and resolution to win the country to his side by an appeal to national fears and ambitions, as the kaiser has done with such complete success as to sweep even the powerful German social-democracy out of its historic attitude of opposition to military aggrandizement.

Dinner With a Woodchopper.

Here in this cabin there is peace of mind:
An old-time flavor permeates the place.
Life's pandemonium is left behind,
And here is sanctuary for a space.
A home-made chair before the bright wood blaze,
The smell of sausage in the fragrant air—
What blest democracy the place displays,
And what simplicity is everywhere!
The rude plank floor is quaintly white and clean,
And all the atmosphere of this retreat,
Which one unthinking could deem poor and mean,
Is in the forest fasiness good and meet.
I hear the north wind playing out of doors
Its world old symphonies among the trees,
And here I rest me while the coffee pours
In sweet communion with such things as these.
A pilgrim I to this man's humble board
But all his store is set that I may eat;
If hospitality to me afford
Some cheer, to give with him as well is sweet.
Few men come down the world by these dim trails
To be his kindred and to clasp his hand;
And so we have to talk of forest tales
And all things else upon the sea and land.
How good tobacco tastes before this fire,
And what great zest had I for country fare!
There is no land, I fancy, of desire,
But bits of it are scattered everywhere.
Have have I found it for a little space—
A very Paradise to serve a day;
But when the shadows fall upon this place,
I, with my mem'ry, shall be far away.

A Catholic Conspiracy

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

President Wilson's reply to the editor of the Protestant Magazine, who had accused Mr. Tumulty of keeping back from the president anti-Catholic correspondence addressed to him, suggests more than it directly expresses. It involves the whole relation of a president to his private secretary. It also brings up again the question of undue influence of Catholics in politics. As respects the latter question, there is, no doubt, a considerable public sentiment which is suspicious and ever ready to grasp at straws. This is partly an inherited tradition with certain people. Bred in the idea that the Church of Rome has a sleepless determination either to undermine the American republic or to obtain control of it, they naturally are on the alert to detect signs that their fears are justified. Private Secretary Tumulty is a Catholic. Letters written to the president exposing Catholic plots had not been answered. Therefore, it was perfectly clear that, as the editor of the Protestant Magazine averred, "all such letters are withheld from you (the president) by your private secretary, Mr. Tumulty."

This particular assertion is denied by the president with emphasis. Speaking from personal knowledge, he declares that "the whole of my correspondence is constantly open to me," and that intimation that Mr. Tumulty had suppressed anything "relating to the activities of the Roman Catholic church" was "absurdly and utterly false." This ought to dispose of the Protestant editor's charge, but we have no doubt that the thing will persist, in one form or another. If anybody ever sees a priest in Mr. Tumulty's office, it will be accepted as proof positive of a Catholic conspiracy against the life of the nation.

As a matter of fact, we believe that Catholic priests were somewhat frequent callers upon Mr. Tumulty during the first weeks of his service at Washington. This was the occasion of the remark by a newspaper correspondent entering the White House offices in those days, and seeing the priestly garb, "Why, this looks as it used to when Roosevelt was here." Everybody knows that Mr. Roosevelt made rather ostentatious use of his friendship with various Catholic priests. It is safe to say that more of them were at the White House when he was there—and the same thing is relatively true of Mr. Taft—than have been seen or will be seen during Mr. Wilson's term. But there were then none of these fearful whisperings and muttered intimations that Rome was getting in its deadly work. A Republican president can be on good terms with Catholic prelates and priests—but a Democratic president! Ah, he must beware. And if his private secretary happens to be a Catholic, there is hardly an escape for him.

We make bold to say that, in our opinion, anti-Catholic letters have been sent to the White House which received no attention whatever. But the reason was that they deserved no attention. Every newspaper office gets such communications. For there are legions of good people who seem to live for nothing else than to protest against the insidious encroachments of Roman Catholicism. These very lines which we are now writing will doubtless bring indignant letters to this office, asking when the Evening Post sold out to the Catholic church. It is for such inquirers that the violent anti-Catholic paper, the Menace, exists. If it goes to the White House, as we suppose it does, we presume it instantly finds its fit receptacle in the waste-basket. And much other literature of the sort, with letters sent in by people whose crankiness takes the form of dread lest they fall into the clutches of Rome, deserves to find, and unquestionably does find, the same destination. The president is no more bound to read and consider a letter filled with crazy assertions about the Catholics than he is to waste his time over a communication from Gen. Coxey or Mother Jones or the discoverers of perpetual motion or the philosopher's stone. It is doubtless true that Mr. Tumulty prevents a good deal of this sort of stuff from ever bothering the president. If he does not, he doesn't do his duty.

Having thus given our opinion of this latest Catholic "plot," we are bound to add a word about the great mischief which is done whenever the Catholic church, or anybody professing to speak for it, does try to exert the influence of Catholics as a unit in any election having to do with general political questions and results. We do not say this because we dislike the Catholic church in politics more than any other church. If it were a question of the Baptists voting one ticket solidly, we should feel precisely the same about it. In President Grant's time it used to be said that the Methodists voted for him as one man, and that Methodist bishops owned the White House. This was a responsibility which they might well have disclaimed! If the Presbyterians were to rally unitedly to the support of President Wilson merely because he is a Presbyterian, it would be as objectionable as if Catholics were so to act. Possibly, the latter are more tempted to make themselves felt as a political unit—or politicans are more inclined to seek their aid—owing to the fact that their communicants are, as a class, more subject to ecclesiastical control than are members of most other churches. In any case, the thing is bad, and should have no place in our public life. The very doubt that it may exist works to the prejudice of a candidate for office, as well as sometimes to his advantage. It has been freely said, for example, that Governor Glynn feels that the fact that he is a Catholic would be hurtful to him if he were to be nominated for re-election. It ought to count neither for nor against him. And the Catholic authorities ought vigilantly to see to it that, both in the interests of their own church, and for the sake of Catholics who are public men, all suspicions of the kind mentioned should be given a quietus.

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—From a superficial sizeup, one seems to be justified in saying that a wicked trust could expect little sympathy from Representative William C. Adamson of Georgia.

Adamson is the chairman of the house committee on interstate commerce, which will have a great deal to do with bringing trusts to bay under the present program of the administration. And he looks the part of a man who would swat a trust with much glee.

Take any trust magnate you ever saw in the picture books and he is almost certain to be the direct opposite of Charlie Adamson. Your typical wicked trust chief is sleek, fat, well dressed, smug and complacent. Adamson isn't any of those things. And he is either ignorant or tolerant of the extravagances, frivolities and monkey business of current civilization. All he thinks about is plugging away at his job and he has not had any fun for years and years. He hates baseball and automobiles and hasn't attended a theater since he came to congress, back in the late '90s.

One day, a few weeks ago, Adamson had occasion to go by a golf links where nattily garbed young men were irritating small gutta percha spheres with stout clubs.

"What are they doing yonder?" inquired Adamson.

"Playing golf," replied his companion. "What did you think they were doing—laying brick?"

"Huh. So that's golf, eh?" murmured Adamson. "I've often heard it spoken of."

No games or amusements, indoor or outdoor, ever tempt Adamson from the straight and narrow path of constant toil. The only sport he gets out of life is the meager enjoyment afforded by reading ancient history and mythology. When he reads history he doesn't bother with persons who wrote within the last few hundred years, but goes clear back to Herodotus himself, who was dashing off ancient history back in the days when the stuff was still being made. All the old Greek and Roman deities and their family connections he knows intimately and could call the entire roll without consulting his notes. He has a sense of humor, too, and would read Mark Twain or Bill Nye by the hour if he felt like taking the time.

At the time he was elected to congress, Adamson was a lawyer with gregarious inclinations who liked to participate with his friends in outcroppings of the social instinct in mankind. When he set out for Washington his friends agreed that whether "Charlie" did any work or not, he would at least make himself agreeable and have a lot of fun out of the thing.

But from that point he showed a reversal of form. He not only gave up all thought of everything save toil on his arrival here, but even quit smoking.

In his dress, too, Adamson leads the simple life. He gives the impression of having slept in the clothes he has on, and his necktie is one of those tied-in-the-factory devices, besides being worn always under one ear. It is a good sporting proposition whether Adamson's tie will be found under his right ear or the left ear, but it is certain not to be within forty-five degrees of his front collar buttton.

One of the predominating traits of Adamson is his impatience. He can't sit still more than a few minutes at a time and whatever he has to do he earnestly desires to be at it right away. Now that he is chairman of one of the trust-pestering committees, he will be almost beside himself if a trust shows any inclination to hem or haw or procrastinate about taking its place on the blue box at the crack of the whip.

When the house is in session, Adamson goes in and sits in his place briefly, and then happens to think of a piece of paper, a pencil or an eraser he wants from his office. Whereupon he walks upstairs to the committee room, but he is not there long before he becomes uneasy lest something is taking place on the floor. Once back on the floor he is certain there must be some mail to look over at the office. It is not exaggeration to say that he tramps back and forth from the house floor to his committee room on an average of fifty times a day.

Adamson has an unmitigated horror of letting a bunch of mail go unanswered for half an hour. If a mail arrives at 10 o'clock and another at 11 o'clock he would not think of waiting until 11 and doing up the whole bunch at once. He answers the 10 o'clock mail, goes away, and comes back right on the dot at 11 o'clock for the next mess.

The first distribution of congressional mail is ready shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning. Adamson has this sent to his house and has a stenographer there all night to be ready to fly at the job of answering it about 6:30. The next mail comes about 8 o'clock and he disposes of that before he eats breakfast. So it goes throughout the day—every day in the year, Sundays, Christmas, Arbor day and all.

Chairman Adamson has a knack of getting things done, too—sometimes by methods of his own. In this connection one may cite the time he was assigned to weed the potato patch. That was many years ago when Adamson was a small boy, but it is typical.

His father said: "Charlie, remove all that grass and weeds from those potatoes."

Young Adamson looked the patch over and saw that he was in on a lovely job. Near by was a large piece of ground all bare from having had the sod removed. Not a weed had yet sprung up. He wished the potatoes were there. And that led him to ask himself:

"Why not?" Why not remove the potatoes from the weeds instead of the weeds from the potatoes, as his father had suggested? He plowed up the bare ground, dug up the potatoes and planted them anew, leaving the weeds behind to do their worst.

The Usual Way.

The Youth's Companion: The Limited Express tore madly along through midnight darkness. Suddenly the alert engineer sprang to the lever, and set the brakes. The sparks flew from the rails as the locked wheels slid along with a cry as of pain. The lights were extinguished as car after car toppled from the rails. Then came a shuddering silence more terrible than the harsh grating of iron on steel.

Some passengers made torches from fragments of wreckage, and searched for dead and injured. A sound singularly like a snore issued from a pile of debris. Hastily removing several pieces of twisted iron, they dragged forth a slumbering porter.

"Great heavens!" they exclaimed. "Didn't you know there had been a wreck?"

"Well, gemmun, I sho' felt somethin,' but I done thought we was couplin' on de dinin' cah at Jackson."

Governorship Talk

What the State Press Thinks.

Drunk With Power.

Aitkin Republican: The Ed. Smith-Eberhart political machine that is doing the same thing to the Republican party of Minnesota that Aldrich, Cannon and Taft did to the party nationally, may not be blamed for an ambition to retain their power. That is to be expected, but when they undertake to pull across a state auditor and furnish a candidate from the governor's official family they are taking one more chance at breaking their own necks. This does not seem to occur to them, however, as they will also attempt to dictate the legislative makeup this year.

Ravings.

Hinckley Enterprise: The convention of the self-nominated, would-be bosses of the Republican party will be held in Minneapolis March 19. Without exception the leaders in this movement were loudly demanding a short time ago the primary election that the people might have direct control of nominations. How they did love the people! At the last primary the man they were out to defeat won at the primaries, and now they have so little faith in the people they are going to get together and give those dear, misguided people a handpicked candidate who will be satisfactory to the aforesaid patriotic gentlemen. Of course, they are all patriotic! Self aggrandizement doesn't influence any of them. No! No! They discovered as soon as the votes were counted two years ago the dearly beloved people did not know enough to vote Eberhart out of office and a candidate satisfactory to them into office; therefore the poor ignorant people must not be bewildered with more than one candidate opposed to the governor, and they will carefully select him.

They're Getting Wise.

Austin Transcript: That adept manipulator of political schemes, Ed Smith, the head of the Eberhart machine, is getting as many candidates for governor against the machine in the field as possible, and he is succeeding most admirably. Will the people blindly indorse his move, or will they profit by their mistake of two years ago, and concentrate upon one strong candidate?

It Looks Like His Finish.

Mahnomen Journal: If the plans of the anti-Eberhart Republicans of this state materialize and a few of the candidates that have announced their intention to get the nomination from him, materialize, Adolph O. will be relegated to the rear ranks, there to remain for some time to come. But 38 per cent of the Republican voters wanted him two years ago and he has added nothing to his popularity since that time.

But He Doesn't Want It.

Grand Rapids Independent: John Lind is being boomed for governor by the Democrats. If Lind should decide to run, there would be nothing to it—he's as good as elected despite the splendid organization of the Republicans of the state.

Will Sing His Swan Song.

Cambridge North Star: It will be a case of one too many trips for Pitcher Eberhart if the independent Republicans can get the opposition candidates to substitute sense for personal ambition. And, judging from the temper of the delegates to the Minneapolis convention last week, it will be made quite disagreeable for the anti-Eberhart candidates to insist upon dividing the field and thereby perpetuating the machine in power.

What answer can any of the candidates for governor give the committee if asked whether or not they approve of the plan and also if they will submit their claims to the convention, providing the convention is not "stacked," and that the people have a fair chance to participate in the primaries and conventions which will select the delegates to the state convention?

For either Iverson, Peterson, Lee or Elwell to refuse to co-operate in the work of elimination would certainly be suicidal.

The North Star predicts that all the anti-administration candidates will agree to submit to the will of the convention, and that the issue will be thereby narrowed down to a fight between the people and the politicians. When such a contest is waged, only one result can occur—the governor will be sent singing back to Mankato.

The Virtue Beyond Us

Philadelphia Telegraph: Senator Ransdell of Louisiana wants to fix the Constitution of the United States so that no divorced persons shall be permitted to remarry in America. In calling the nation's attention to the menace of divorce the senator took the usual course; he pointed a trembling finger at the fall of Rome, saying: "As long as the Romans of old looked upon marriage as sacred and held the sanctity of the home inviolate, their arms were invulnerable."

Then "the Romans of old" got rich and lazy and luxurious, and began to lose their fights, according to the senator, who demands that Americans look for a lofty example to those invincible and virtuous nations, Peru, Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Brazil and Spain, where there is no such thing as divorce and mankind is content.

Great as are the advantages offered, would it be possible, does Senator Ransdell suppose, for Americans ever to attain to the transcendant civic and moral purity so natural among the Latin Americans? Every traveler to those blessed shores has marveled at the sweet innocence of wrong-doing that rests upon the brow of the masses. The apple of evil suggestion hath never bloomed there and of its empire-wrecking juice the people have not sipped. Thrice blessed are the sun-burned citizens of the tropics, breathing the filtered innocence of Eden, leading the simple Ransdell life! We can envy them their virtue, but can we possibly equal it? Or, do we wish to?

Our Silent Envoy.

Now, just a word of Envoy Lind

As you must know.

To silence most profound he clings

Becoming famous for the things
He doesn't say.

Beside him we pronounce the Sphynx

—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Misrepresentation."

Kansas City Star: Mr. Taft complains in the Saturday Evening Post of "misrepresentation" of his candidacy. There was. But it was the first time he ran, not the second.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Victor Erickson of the fire department at West Duluth, while taking a barrel of kerosene into the basement of the city hall, slipped and fell to the bottom of the stairs, and one foot was badly crushed by the barrel.

Rt. Rev. Otto Zardetti, Catholic bishop of St. Cloud, Minn., has been appointed titular archbishop of Bucharest.

A protest from Superior against granting a bridge franchise to the Duluth-Superior Bridge company has been presented to congress. The protest is signed by R. J. Wemyss, H. H. Grace, W. R. Fanning, the county board and 150 others.

The Scottish Rite Masons of Duluth have taken the initiative in a step which has not been exercised before by any lodge in the state. Under the old rite of adoption they have adopted two ladies into the order. Those honored with the selection were Mrs. T. W. Hugo and Mrs. W. E. Richardson. This rite was frequently used in France in the eighteenth century, one of the most prominent of the ladies receiving it being the Empress Josephine. Wives of Masons are selected in recognition of special services in behalf of the order and they are allowed to select others. The ladies in town had a surprise. A beautiful silk flag was, on behalf of the wives of the Masons, presented to the order by Mrs. T. W. Hugo. The next surprise was notice to George W. Buck and S. L. Frazer of their election as knights commander of the court of honor. Only Masons who have received this honor are eligible to the thirty-third degree.

H. W. Krauss, salesman in the dress goods department at I. Freimuth's store, left last evening for Galena, Ill., where he will be married to Miss Julia Hoch. They will be at home at 517 Fifth avenue east about March 1.

Charles McKay, the famous and well-known "financial agent," is confined to St. Luke's hospital with a broken arm.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 10 degs. below zero; maximum during past twenty-four hours, 9 degs. above zero; minimum, 13 degs. below zero.

Miss Wessie Robinson, who has been spending a short vacation with her parents at Smithville, has been engaged to teach a term of school at Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. George Horton have left on a six weeks' trip to California.

We Shudder

Life: At the National Conference on Race Betterment, held not long ago in Battle Creek, some of the delegates evidently forgot themselves. This dreadful thing about American girls was reported as being uttered by Dr. Carolyn Geisel of Rome, Ga:

"Women's schools are inefficient because they fail to prepare women either for livelihood or motherhood. Graduates come out of women's schools physical wrecks with a valueless flood of useless information and a penchant for fashions which leave them as nearly nude as the law will "allow."

Until we read this treasonable statement of Dr. Geisel's we were laboring under the impression that our modern girls who attend women's schools were the soul of modesty and shrinking retirement; that they spent most of their time in disciplining their minds and acquiring self-control; that they denied themselves material things, bent their energies to household duties, and delighted in helping their parents to live within their income.

Can it be possible that Dr. Greisel, who is reported by the New York Times as being a woman and by the New York Sun as being a man, has inadvertantly struck the nail on the head? Shocking!

Rebuttting a Libel.

Washington Star: John D. Rockefeller, talking to a Cleveland clergyman, said one day with a whimsical but rather sad smile:

"From the stories that are told about my love of money and my disregard for humanity, you'd think I was some such monster as the criminal of the anecdote.

"A judge once said to a terrible criminal:

"'And you actually had the heart to murder this poor man for a matter of 50 cents!'

"'Well, your honor,' said the criminal, with an injured-innocence air, 'well, your honor, what do you expect? Fifty cents here—and 50 cents there—it soon mounts up!'"

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THANK YOU, SIR!

To the Editor of The Herald:

Have just read in an exchange your article on the "Place for the Loafer." It is a nailhead hitter.

HUGH J. BALDWIN.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 18.

"A LABORER" IS HEARD FROM AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to thank Mr. Towne for his frank reply to two articles recently published.

Although he states "the evidence introduced by the 'laborer' is foreign to the subject and should be ruled out," yet I contend that evidence to be the best obtainable to determine the sentiment of the majority of the Socialists, because it is the result of a referendum vote, not a personal opinion; therefore a count of the Socialist vote would "perhaps" not give the number included in the "we" referred to, but a minority of that vote "perhaps" would.

And I also wish to thank Mr. Towne for his advice, knowing full well that it must have been the result of a long period of experience, (although I did not think he would admit it), yet I am not convinced that I should follow it, because I am not an office-seeker, nor do I care for the "flattery" of a personal nature which may develop, nor do I care to attach my name to an article merely to gratify any selfish ambition to obtain a "stand-in with the boss" that he may glorify himself in his victory over the masses because of our divided efforts.

But I do wish to point out the facts: That we have not yet arrived at the stage of evolution which will assure to ourselves and our posterity that brotherly feeling among men that is related in Bellamy's dream of a hundred years hence; that we are living in the present age of industrialism, and it is far better to secure to ourselves and our posterity those advantages in economic problems confronting us daily, by a united vote, instead of splitting our vote up among several political parties, and thereby helping the plutocrat slip one over the plebeians as in the days of ancient Rome.

To quote from Confucius, one of the oldest philosophers of the world, who was born 549 B. C., we find: "Advance the upright and set aside the crooked, then the people will submit; advance the crooked and set aside the upright, then the people will not submit."

A LABORER.

Duluth, Feb. 23.

CARPENTERS, ATTENTION!

You are hereby notified to attend a special call meeting tonight at 7:30 p. m. to elect a delegate for the State Federation of Labor, March 8. AUGUST GUSTAFSON, Sec. Carpenters' Union No. 361.

TANGO CONTEST AROUSES INTEREST

Duluth's first tango contest was instituted last evening at the Empress theater. The little playhouse was packed for the occasion and showed the apparent interest of local residents in the newest dance steps that have created such a furore throughout the world.

The contest was held immediately following the first performance, in which was included an exhibition dance number by Whitman and La Velle of Chicago, who were brought here by W. M. Abrahamson, manager of the Empress theater, especially for this occasion. Five couples answered the call and the contest was on.

The contesting dancers pivoted around for about ten minutes, when the management announced that the audience was to decide which couple was the best. The amount of applause given each couple was final and a selection was finally made, the winners being selected to compete for the $25 prize on Wednesday evening. At that time the winners from each evening's contest will take part in the final battle for the prize money.

LAST LINK IN THE G. T. P. RAILROAD

Canadian Line Will Extend From Halifax to Prince Rupert.

It is expected that the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad will be linked up as a transcontinental line this spring, and experts say that owing to the high standard of the road it will be practical to begin operations over it this summer. The Grand Trunk system will then be 11,000 miles long, extending from Portland, Maine and Halifax to Prince Rupert on the Pacific coast.

Some authorities predict that Prince Rupert will become one of the greatest centers of fisheries in America, with Alaska but one day's journey from that port.

ALPHA CHI RHO RAPS HIGH SCHOOL FRATS

Washington, Feb. 24.—Secret fraternities in high schools, preparatory schools and secondary institutions, were condemned here by the convention of college fraternities of Alpha Chi Rho. A resolution was adopted asking the co-operation of other fraternities and of the school authorities themselves in suppression of such organizations among immature youths.

WILL GIVE TARIFF LAW FAIR TRIAL

Washington, Feb. 24.—No tampering with the tariff will be permitted by the Democratic majority until the Underwood-Simmons act has been in effect long enough to demonstrate whether it needs perfecting amendments. This was made plain by Majority Leader Underwood when Representative Moore of Pennsylvania asked about the prospects for action on his pending bill to repeal the "collection at the source" feature of the income tax law.

PRIVATE MONOPOLY A HOG

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John D. Rockefeller in an interview about the income tax had this to say:

"When a man has accumulated a sum of money, and has accumulated it strictly within the law, the government has no right to share in its earnings. If the man has respected the law, ex post facto laws should not apply to property rights. Man's right to undivided ownership of his property in whatever form cannot be denied to him by any process short of confiscation. Men of great wealth give more to the people in their own way than does the government."

Mr. Rockefeller is generally supposed to be the richest man in the world. Once he was a poor boy, but nature endowed him with a genius for acquisition and he cut a swath a little wider and a little closer than any other man ever succeeded in mowing—read Miss Tarbell on his barrel bungs.

What were the methods of his harvest? Again read Ida M. Tarbell. John D. Rockefeller's millions are the spoil of tolerated blackmail. J. Pierpont Morgan's millions were largely the graft of interlocking directorates. The Astor millions are the fruit of the unearned increment. In chivalry it were better to be a highwayman; in morals it were no more iniquitous.

Now here is how Rockefeller got enormously rich. He was in the oil business. A rival would set up. Rockefeller went to the transportation companies, forced them to haul his goods cheaper than the other fellow's, and made them give the Standard Oil company a part of the freights paid by his rivals. Of course, that gave him a monopoly. When Lord Clive was threatened with impeachment by the house of commons for his peculations during the time he was master of India, he one day exclaimed as he was examined by a committee of the house: "By G-d, Mr. Chairman, when I reflect on my opportunities for amassing wealth, I stand aghast at my own moderation!" Clive had only gathered about a million sterling—the piker!

If the late Jesse James had been allowed to go scot free and rob on the highway without fear of the police or the grand jury, his accumulations would have been not so enormous, but as clean money as that the Oil trust and the Beef trust and the Steel trust acquired by rebate, for rebate is nothing in the world but blackmail. It is privilege, making one man the master of thousands, reaping what others had sown. What was Rockefeller's cry—"I alone shall produce and sell oil." Carnegie said, "I alone shall produce and sell steel." And they did it.

Morgan got scores of his millions by a different and even more ignoble process—the interlocking directory. The latter is a pickpocket operation; the rebate is more like highway robbery. Morgan, as fiscal agent of a corporation in which he had small capital invested, traded with himself and bought at exorbitant price properties from corporations that he had large interests in. It was nothing but the Credit Mobilier over again. The directors of the subsidized Pacific railroads, holding a few shares of stock in the road, contracted with themselves, owning nearly all the shares of the Credit Mobilier, to construct the Pacific roads, and they agreed to pay themselves in some instances $100,000 a mile to put the road across a dead level prairie. Millions in it!

That is what Morgan did when he got the New Haven railroad. Why, it's as easy as shoeing horses. You or I could be as rich as Morgan was if we had the same opportunity and availed ourselves of it as he did.

Astor's case is simpler. The original old Dutchman got rich skinning skunks and selling their pelts. He laid his money out in farms on Manhattan island. The energies and the industry of the people settling there made his lands valuable. When my father, a country merchant in Barren county, Ky., bought a bill of goods in Louisville, it made business for New York, and what made business for New York swelled the value of the estate of Astor. My father brought the goods to Center, then Barren, now Metcalfe county, Ky., and sold them to his customers, farmers and artisans round about—it was the sweat of these folk and such as these all over the country that made the Astor millions—the unearned increment of real estate.

Rockefeller got rich by rebate; Morgan got rich by interlocking directory; Astor got rich by the unearned increment. Why, if I had $2,000 and invested it in the ground near where I now write this when I first came here in 1880, I would not have to turn out this stuff for butcher's meat tomorrow. I could go downtown and eat at Harvey's. But I didn't have the sense—and as much or more to the purpose, I didn't have the two thousand!

Stephen Girard made a big fortune and it was an honest fortune. He had a genius for gain and every dollar was void of wrong to him from whom it was gathered. He gave full value received for all he got. With opportunities such as come to men of our day, Girard would have made niggardly the opulence of Rockefeller and Carnegie.

And Rockefeller, echoing a Montmorency, or a Warwick, of an age now classed barbarian, boasts:

"Men of great wealth give more to the people in their own way than does the government!"

What is that? "Allow me to make millions by means of monopoly founded on blackmail and I'll take care of you." That is what he says and that is all he says.

If Henry Georgeism comes, Mr. Rockefeller and such as he will hasten it. And besides, if there shall be an accepted law allowing confiscatory taxes, your Rockefellers have nobody but themselves to blame for it.

This world is moving at a mighty rapid pace now days. Tens of thousands who would have stood in horrified aghast at the suggestion ten years ago now contemplate with complacency and approval governmental acquisition and operation of telegraphs and telephones. I'm one of 'em. How came it? Private monopoly is a hog. That's how it came.

HALF OF THE POPULATION

Nearly 42,000 People Attended Church Services in Duluth Sunday.

Many Who Had Not Attended Church in Years Were Present.

Members of the Inter-Church council, who had charge of the "Go-to-Church-Sunday" campaign, now estimate that fully half the people of Duluth attended religious services Sunday, Feb. 22.

Scattering returns today and yesterday afternoon raised the total figures to nearly 42,000. The figures were compiled from the cards handed in by attendants and in many cases only partial returns were obtained at some of the services.

Despite the fact that nearly half the population attended worship, the pastors of various churches and other religious workers believe that the final results of the campaign will mean much more than mere numbers. Church members, who have attended services regularly say that the pastors rose to the occasion splendidly and that the services throughout the city were impressive. A remarkable interest, also, is said to have been shown by those who have not been in the habit of attending services at all.

The cards returned to the pastors bore testimony, in many cases, of deep interest.

In many cases a person would sign his name and say: "I liked your sermon; will come again." "Haven't been to church in fifteen years, guess I'll have to get the habit again," was a common notation. Many asked pastors to call.

It is probable that there has never been so much discussion of religious topics in Duluth for a brief space of time as there has been since the "Go-to-Church" campaign was started.

PRESIDENT VINCENT TO TALK TO CLASS

Will Be Chief Speaker at Annual Banquet of Young Men's Class of the First Presbyterian Church.

President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota will be the chief speaker at the annual banquet of the Young Men's class of the First Presbyterian church which will be held in the church parlors on the evening of March 3. His subject will be "Abraham Lincoln." At the banquet John G. Williams of Duluth, president of the Minnesota State Bar association, and a member of the board of regents of the state university, will be toastmaster.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. The committee on arrangements consist of John Brown, Jr., president of the class; Andrew Kienley, Don Harris.

The young men's class is composed of forty young men engaged in various businesses and professions in Duluth, and is taught by Judge W. L. Windom.

NEW SHIP LAUNCHED.

Sister to North American Christened at Ecorse Yards.

A sister ship to the big passenger steamer North American which sailed between Chicago, Duluth and Collingwood, Ont., last season, has just been launched at the Ecorse yards at Detroit and is named South American. Miss Dorothy Bour, daughter of one of the directors of the company owning the two ships, was sponsor. The launching party, taken to the shipyard in two special cars, was the largest that has attended a launching at Ecorse since the William Livingstone was built six years ago. In the party were the officers, directors and many stockholders of the transportation company, officers of the shipbuilding company and guests from Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago.

The steamer is 315 feet long and 47 feet beam and will have accommodations for 540 passengers. She is slightly larger than her sister ship, the North American, built at the same yard last year. The Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transportation company also will own the new ship.

The South American will be equipped with a quadruple expansion engine cylinder diameters of which will be 21½, 30¾, 44½ and 64 inches with piston stroke of 36 inches. Two Scotch boilers 14 feet in diameter and 12 feet long, carrying a working pressure of 215 pounds will provide steam.

The new ship will come out early in the season and will be operated on the Chicago, Georgian Bay, Duluth route in conjunction with the North American.

TRAFFIC EXPERTS GO TO CHICAGO MEETING

Several Duluth traffic experts left last evening for Chicago to attend a meeting of the National Industrial league. They are G. Roy Hall, traffic manager for the Commercial club; Carl F. Rowe, traffic manager for the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, and W. Bruce Ter Bush, traffic manager for the Stone-Ordean-Wells company. "Terminal Allowances" and "Charges for Spotting Cars" are among the subjects which will come up for discussion and which are of special interest to the attending traffic men. These matters have been under discussion at recent meetings of the Duluth traffic commission, and the attending members from here will take part in the discussions in Chicago.

HUERTA PUTS EXPORT TAX UPON COFFEE

Mexico City, Feb. 24.—An export tax on coffee to provide President Huerta with money to prosecute the war, is announced in a decree. The tax amounts to three pesos for 100 kilograms (220 pounds) on unhusked coffee and three and a half pesos on the cleaned product. The tax becomes effective Feb. 25.

ATLANTIC LINES TO RENEW POOL

London, Feb. 24.—A full conference of the North Atlantic steamship lines was held here yesterday and practically resolved to renew the North Atlantic pool for another five years, the reservation being made that several unsettled questions should be discussed during the next few days. Should these questions be found impossible of settlement, the renewal of the pool will hold good only for the current year.

PRAISES WISCONSIN MARRIAGE STATUTE

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Wisconsin's eugenic marriage law has proved a success, it was declared here by Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the Wisconsin state board of health, in an address to the conference on medical legislation and education of the American Medical association.

"We issued 209 fewer marriage licenses in January this year than in January, 1913," said Dr. Harper. "Promoted by the tango, picnics and other forms of amusement, hasty marriages were filling the coffers of the marriage mills where couples were rushed through the ceremony without any regard for their health or anything else.

"Wisconsin got sick of the whole business and the present law is the result. It is working well."

CRAZY AMERICAN MOTORIST MAY DIE

Southampton, Eng., Feb. 24.—Hewis Knight Brook Brace is the name of the demented American motorist, who on Feb. 15 hired a machine and compelled the driver at the point of a pistol to dash at great speed for thirty hours over the country roads. He afterward attempted suicide.

Brace gave the name Lee Bond, when arrested, but he has confessed his identity and said his parents lived near Los Angeles.

The prisoner still is in a dangerous condition in the hospital.

MARRIAGE LICENSES CHEAP IN CLEVELAND.

It costs only 80 cents to get a marriage license in Cleveland and it costs $2.25 to get one in Duluth or in any part of Minnesota. It almost pays to go to Cleveland to get married.

Cleveland reduced its charge from $1 but a week ago, while in Minnesota the rate was raised in 1903 from $1 to $2.25.

This is Guaranteed to Stop Your Cough

This plan makes a pint of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer an ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, bronchial asthma and whooping cough.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, though never successfully. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

AFTER A SPELL OF BLACK VOMITING

A Cleveland lady asks for my opinion on a very complex case in which death claimed the patient. "A friend of mine," her letter says, "was taken seriously ill with stomach cramps. He began to vomit. The pain continued, and the vomiting became black. Eleven days after the trouble began he died. About four days before he died he drank some milk for dinner and ate a poached egg, some milk and tea for supper. The doctor thought he was better and got him up and dressed. When he drank some more milk he said that it scalded his throat as it went down.

"I don't think the doctor knew what was the matter. He called it first one thing and then another. I would like to have you tell me exactly what was the matter. Also will you please tell me how spinal meningitis acts, and also how lead poisoning acts?"

Your letter says nothing about any drop in temperature or any rise. Likewise, there is no idea as to the pulse and the blood pressure. Neither do I know anything about whether or not the bowels were open. It may be that there was a volvulus. This twist might have brought about an obstruction of the bowel. Or there might have been a loop of the bowel slip and get caught in an adhesion somewhere in the abdomen. The history of whether the patient fell or was jolted in any way might throw some light on the cause. But the only sure method would be to go in the abdomen and perform an exploratory operation and attend to such irregularities as might be discovered after the surgeon was in the abdomen. You can't blame your doctor for not knowing. None of us are perfect.

About spinal meningitis—This is an inflammation of the delicate membranes supporting the spinal cord. The symptoms are exquisite pain in the back muscles, a stiffness which grows to an absolute rigidity of the affected muscle groups. The mind is clear unless the inflammation has extended up from the spinal canal into the skull. If this is the case, there is a maddening headache and gradually increasing irritable mental symptoms and wild dreams until eventually drowsiness develops and ultimate death.

PROCURE AND STUDY THE PREVIOUS ARTICLES DESCRIBING TREATMENT OF PERSONAL DISEASES FROM BAD HABITS.

Lately my mail has been heavily loaded with inquiries from New York to Minnesota and to Tennessee asking what would I recommend—what to do—where to go—to effect a cure. I must respectfully suggest to each inquirer on these sex subjects to procure and study the articles which have been previously written for this Doctor's Helps department. Newspaper space is limited. Many hundreds of readers are asking for descriptions of other phases of this tremendous question of "How to Keep Well and How to Get Well." I'm sorry I can't write the editor an individual answer for every single inquiry that is dispatched to me, for I realize the earnestness with which the writers seek help. But if the previous Doctor's Helps articles are carefully studied and you don't find what fits your particular needs, I shall be glad to answer each inquiry as fully as the editor feels that he can grant you the necessary newspaper space.

SHE COUGHS ALL DAY AND ALL NIGHT.

"Some say I have bronchitis, others asthma," writes a woman in dire distress, "I cough all day and all night with choking spells in which it feels as though I must surely choke to death. I have some asthma cigarettes which I inhale. When I can't get these and the attack hits me I feel as though some awful pressure is pushing my eyes out and that my head will burst. I can't walk fast or go out in the cold. Excitement will bring on an attack. These come once or twice a day. * * *"

Study the previous Doctor's Helps articles on asthma and on "What to do for an Irritated Lung."

WOULD CAUSE SOCIAL REFORM

Dr. Mary McCoy Says Equal Suffrage Would Better Conditions.

An increase in the number of marriages and a decrease in the number of divorces will take place if women are given the ballot, according to Dr. Mary McCoy, who was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Junior Women's club at the Bryant Social center last night. Dr. McCoy gave as her authority for the statement statistics taken in California since women had been granted the ballot in that state.

"Controlling interests of this state are opposed to woman suffrage because it would mean prohibition," said Dr. McCoy. "Women always have conserved the moral tone of society, and first taught men their duties as fathers. Motherhood has taught and has implanted in the female the principle of conservation of natural resources, and nation-wide equal suffrage would raise a mighty bulwark against the greedy interests which are despoiling the forests, mines, and waterfalls of the country.

"If women are fit to shape the minds of America's children they are certainly fit to vote against allowing many of these children to have their tender lives ground into profits. Since sons tend to inherit the characteristics of their mothers and therefore naturally are more deeply influenced by them than by their fathers, it follows that if women had the freedom to participate in public affairs they would rear a finer race of men."

The club members also discussed the establishment of a home for homeless girls that would be self supporting. Miss Margaret Culkin, social center director, declared her intention of investigating the homeless girl problem said to exist in this city.

ST. PAUL-DULUTH TRIP ON SKIIS

Extreme Cold Preventing Attempt--Young Jensen Will Try Return.

William Jensen of St. Paul is a guest at the home of his uncle, George M. Jensen, 2117 West First street. William arrived yesterday with his skis, and intends taking part in the tournament to take place at Chester hill next Sunday.

He started from St. Paul fully determined to arrive in Duluth about the middle of this week in a hardy condition and fit for the big amateur affair on Sunday. He intended to make the trip on his skis, and did travel on them as far as Stacy. It was then that Jack Frost decided otherwise. The strong north winds forced the young man to take the next train.

"It was great sport for a while, but the wind was too much," said young Jensen this morning. "I intend to return on the skis if the weather moderates."

Funeral Wednesday.

The funeral of Frank Grams, 63 years old, 2011 West Third street, who died at his home Sunday night, will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock from the Polish Catholic church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fifth street. Burial will be at the Polish cemetery.

Mr. Grams was a resident of the West end for more than thirty years. He leaves three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Golcz, Misses Florence and Catherine Grams, and two sons, Joseph and William Grams.

WILL LAY CORNER STONE OF CHURCH

Trinity Lutheran Congregation Will Also Dedicate Basement.

Preparations are being made by the congregation of the Trinity English Lutheran church for the laying of the corner stone for its new church on Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, and the dedication of the basement for worship. The two ceremonies will take place at the same time and many of the prominent Lutheran clergymen of the city will be asked to take part.

It is expected that the basement will be completed within the next two or three weeks so that the celebration can take place. Work on the interior is now being rapidly pushed by the contractor.

Only the basement will be completed at this time. It is planned by members of the congregation to build the superstructure next year. This part of the church will bring the cost of the edifice to about $25,000. The basement has cost about $6,000.

ENTERTAINMENTS BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Two entertainments will be given, one this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and another at 8 o'clock this evening by children of the Bryant school, Vernon and Third street. A small admission will be charged to each of the performances the proceeds of which will be used to purchase a grafonola for the school building.

The program has been arranged under the direction of Miss Katherine ing, principal of the school. Following the program in the evening a social session will be held and refreshments served by the girls of the upper grades.

Lodge Will Entertain.

Fridheim lodge, No. 43, Order of Svithoid, will entertain Friday evening at cards at the Sloan hall. The entertainment will be for members of the order only. Progressive pedro will be played. A short musical program will also be given. The entertainment is one of a series given this winter for members of the lodge.

Given Birthday Party.

Mrs. J. M. Frink, 2319 West Third street, was pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends in honor of her birthday. Progressive pedro was played and honors were won by N. Castonquay and N. Gibeau. The guests were: Messrs. and Meadames Ed Gagne, L. Gagne, D. Castonquay, N. Gibeau, N. Castonquay, Mrs. A. M. Orrvar, Mrs. A. L. Tetu, Misses Elexina Castonquay, A. Gagne, I. Gagne, M. Frink, L. Castonquay, P. Orrvar and Messrs. P. Gagne, M. Frink, R. Gibeau, and H. Gagne.

Will Lecture Here.

Rev. C. B. Kendall of Hartford, Mich., who has been visiting in the city for the last week, will speak on "The Things We Believe But Do Not Understand" at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. The lecture will be free and given under the auspices of the Wistaria society of the church.

West End Briefs.

J. J. Hughes has let a contract for the construction of two handsome residence buildings at Twenty-seventh avenue west and Fifth street. The houses will cost about $3,500 each.

Rev. T. B. Wellander of Superior will be the principal speaker tomorrow evening at the services to be held at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

Beta council, No. 2, Modern Samaritans, entertained at cards for its members and friends at its hall last night. A short musical program was also given.

Mrs. George R. King, 104 North Twenty-eighth avenue west, has returned from a few days' visit to relatives at Hibbing.

Mrs. L. G. Hatle, 2120 West First street will entertain tomorrow afternoon for members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace Methodist church.

Mrs. Fred McClure, 2707 West Second street, is visiting relatives at Bay City, Flint and other Michigan points.

Mrs. A. A. Barr, 2113 West Fourth street, will entertain this afternoon for members of the West End Five Hundred club.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES A COLD---NO QUININE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends bad colds or grippe in a few hours.

Relief comes instantly.

A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

MASONS GO TO CLOQUET

Duluthians Attend the Dedication of Dalles Lodge's New Temple.

Ceremony Is Conducted By Grand Master R. E. Denfeld.

One hundred and thirty Duluth and West Duluth Masons went to Cloquet last evening in a special train to attend the dedications of the handsome new home of Dalles lodge No. 181, A. F. & A. M., and to act as escort to the worshipful grand master of the state, R. E. Denfeld of Duluth, who conducted the ceremony of dedication. Some came from Superior and others joined the party at Carlton. The only other grand lodge officer present was the senior grand deacon, W. N. Kendrick of Spring Valley, Minn., substitutes being used in the other grand lodge offices according to custom. All of these excepting Rev. C. W. Ramshaw of Cloquet were from Duluth.

The Duluth special was met at the depot in Cloquet by the members of Dalles lodge in a body and escorted to the new temple. After the new building had been inspected, the ceremony of dedication immediately took place. The substitute grand officers were: E. K. Coe, deputy grand master; W. B. Patton, senior grand warden; C. A. Bronson, junior grand warden; W. A. McGonagle; grand treasurer; R. T. Hugo, grand secretary; H. E. Grieser, junior grand deacon; W. D. Underhill, grand orator; Rev. C. W. Ramshaw, grand chaplain; H. L. Joyce, senior grand steward; John Cox, junior grand steward; J. H. La Vaque, grand sword bearer; J. E. Cooley, grand standard bearer; G. A. Taylor, grand pursuivant; P. M. Hanft, grand marshal; F. G. Scribner, grand Tyler.

After the regular opening of the lodge, the building was presented to the grand master by Albert Cox, chairman of the building committee, after which the keys of the temple were presented to the custodians, L. A. Fauley, H. M. Dixon and J. T. Sheean. The ceremony of dedication was then gone through with after which the lodge was closed and the dedicatory address was given by the grand master.

Refreshments Served.

A banquet followed, served by the women of the Order of the Eastern Star, who had the tables decorated with fac similies of hatchets and with small American flags. During the meal music was furnished by Freeman's orchestra and vocal solos were given by Miss M. Gladys Buck and Miss Hazel Fauley. Walter L. Case was toastmaster. Following the refreshments F. P. Thompson of Cloquet gave reminiscences of the formation of Dalles lodge and of its first visitation to Palestine lodge of Duluth. Past Grand Master W. B. Patton spoke on Masonry in general and its mission in the world; E. K. Coe spoke on "The Spirit of Neighborliness;" J. E. Cooley read a poem dedicated to Dalles lodge, which he "writ himself." Rabbi Lefkovitz of Duluth spoke briefly and humorously, taking the place on the program which County Attorney Warren E. Greene failed to fill; Clyde Kelly of Duluth, architect of the new temple, spoke briefly and R. T. Hugo closed the program.

The officers of Dalles lodge are: W. J. Peters, worshipful master; W. A. Gamble, senior warden; F. A. Haish, junior warden; C. B. Watkins, secretary; L. A. Fauley, treasurer; William Sell, Sr., senior deacon; G. W. De Poe, junior deacon; G. A. Rich, senior steward; L. M. Metcalf, junior steward; J. A. Campbell, marshal; J. D. Peters, chaplain, and O. F. Ulman, tyler. The building committee, which came in for many expressions of gratitude for the time and pains devoted to the building consists of Albert Cox, chairman; C. L. Dixon, F. D. Vibert, H. M. Dixon, J. E. Atkins, H. G. Stevens, L. F. Leach and J. W. Campbell.

Dalles lodge was organized June 19, 1888, and the charter was granted it on Feb. 22, 1889. The original building was destroyed by fire March 1, 1913, the contract for the new building was let to J. J. Coburn of Cloquet on June 2, 1913, ground for it was broken June 9, 1913, the corner-stone was laid Aug. 12, 1913, the opening of the temple was held Jan. 23, 1914, and the dedication took place Feb. 23, 1914. The building is a handsome structure of brick and stone, and is decidedly modern in its appointments.

That Little Spot On Your Skin; Beware, Beware!

Because—the smallest spot of infection means danger. That blotch on your arm, that itchy place on your leg, beware lest soon it spread, covering breast, face, body.

Because the curse of skin disease is growing. It is estimated that millions of our people are infected and spreading the disease.

Because—unlike the established doubt in regard to Dr. Friedman's experiments with the "Great White Plague" the research work in the D. D. D Laboratory, Chicago, has proven definitely that D. D. D. Prescription is a specific that cures skin and scalp disease.

Your own druggist will recommend this soothing, cooling liquid.

ARE BUSY IN THE NORTHERN WOODS

Court Officer Ed Jensen, who returned this morning from a week-end stay in the north woods, said that the present activity is greater than at any time in the last twenty years.

"The woods are full of logging camps and choppers," said Officer Jensen, "and everywhere I find the men busy. Even the fishermen are hauling in exceptionally large catches of herring.

"The conditions are excellent for hauling, while the ice roads are in fine condition."

"MOTHER'S, YOU SHOULD ALWAYS KEEP IT IN YOUR HOMES"

"How My Boy Was Cured By Using Father John's Medicine."

(By Mrs. Hattie A. Smith)

Mrs. Hattie A. Smith in a recent letter says: "Father John's Medicine ought to be in every home. My poor little boy, seven years old, was sick for ten days with a bad cold and I was much worried over him. He had a very high fever and pains all over him. I had a bottle of Father John's Medicine at one time when I was sick with a cold in my chest and back, and it did me so much good that now I got a small bottle for Joseph. It helped him so much that I got a large sized one last Saturday. He will not let me forget to give it to him at bedtime. He is back in school now, and is feeling fine."

(Signed) HATTIE A. SMITH,

STATE LOSES ITS TAX SUIT

Territorial Bonds Immune From Levy, Says Supreme Court.

Bleached Flour Case Retrial Ordered—Mann Law Upheld.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The state of Minnesota today lost its fight before the supreme court, to tax the Farmers' & Mechanics' Savings Bank of Minneapolis for bonds of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma Territory held by the bank. Such bonds cannot be taxed, the court held, because they were issued by Federal governmental agencies.

Bleached Flour Case Back.

The supreme court today sent the so-called bleached flour case back to the district court for a new trial.

The case was sent back with instructions that the law was that foods not containing enough questionable substances to injure health were not condemned.

The decision indirectly reaches out to thousands of articles of food.

In effect the court held that the government cannot condemn food unless it can show that enough poisonous ingredients have been added to cause injury to health.

The government had sought to establish that the law was violated if the presence of any amount of poisoned substance was found in food. It was contended any other interpretation would make unenforcible that section of the law prohibiting the adding of any poisonous or other deleterious ingredient to articles which might render food injurious to health.

The case was tried in the Federal court for the Western district of Missouri.

Minneapolis Wins Case.

The city of Minneapolis may require the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company to bear the expense of a railroad bridge necessitated by the city's constructing a canal through an embankment of the railroad to connect lakes in the city for park purposes, according to a decision today by the United States supreme court.

Coal Pillar Law Upheld.

The Pennsylvania coal pillar law of 1891, requiring pillars to be left along the boundary line of adjoining coal property, today was upheld as constitutional by the supreme court.

Mann Law Is Valid.

The constitutionality of the Federal white slave law again was upheld today by the supreme court in the Wilson cases from Chicago. The point whether the law is limited to commercial vice was not involved.

Zoe and Charles Wilson, alias Willard, were found guilty Dec. 16, 1911, in the United States district court at Chicago of transporting Flossie Blon and Frances Vance from Milwaukee to Chicago for immoral purposes. The Wilsons were sentenced to three years penal servitude each. The case was brought on appeal to the United States supreme court.

JOSEPH SELLWOOD IS SUMMONED

Dec. 5, 1846, the son of Richard and Elizabeth Carter Sellwood, the boy "Joe" began his miner's life at the age of 9, holding drills in the East Pool tin mine. Hammer and iron drill were the implements in those days, instead of the pneumatic tools now in use. And skilled must be the miner to swing his hammer in any position. When he was but 14 years old he was earning the wages of an adult miner, a sum amounting to about £4 sterling a month, and for nearly five years he continued to do as his people had done before him. He came to the United States and at once went into mining. When asked why he had started for America, he replied very simply, "For the same reason that every one else does—the prospect of more money." Certainly he found the prospect not entirely an illusion. The apprentice boy in the Cornish mines, working his way through the successive stages, became mining contractor, manager, bank president and financier, until he stood among the foremost business men of Minnesota.

When he landed in America without friend or relative, the young Cornish miner went to work in the Mount Hope iron mine in New Jersey. He remained there less than three months. In August, 1865, he came to Michigan and secured work at the old Ogema mine, now a part of the Maas mine, in Ontonagon county. Until Aug. 1, 1870, he remained in the Copper country, most of the last year at Calumet. Then he took a step that shaped his whole future career. He transferred his sphere of action from the copper mines to the iron range.

Began Contract Mining.

The old New York Mining company, operating then at Ishpeming on the Marquette range, employed him, but it was not long before he began contracting to mine ore by the ton, hiring his own men. Beginning with a part of the old New York mine, his contracts grew until they embraced most of the mining at the New York and Cleveland mines. These properties were controlled at that time by Samuel J. Tilden and the Cleveland Iron company, but now the Cleveland mine is being operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. These were days of long working hours underground for Mr. Sellwood, and days when it required courage and unfailing perseverance to work out successfully the contracts undertaken. It was here that his great ability to mine at a low cost, a characteristic that afterwards became almost synonymous with his name, first became apparent. There were times when necessity compelled working with narrow margins, and if they were hard times, they were doubly hard on the man who bore the burden of responsibility in addition to his hours of labor. Outside of his mining work, Mr. Sellwood found time to establish a general store at Ishpeming, which still operates under the name, "Joseph Sellwood & Co.," under the management of his brother-in-law.

It was about this time that the Penokee-Gogebic district began to be explored, and in 1885 the firm of Mather, Morse & Co., in which the chief interests were those of Samuel Mather, J. C. Morse and James Pickands, sent Mr. Sellwood to open the Colby mine, the first mine on the new range and where the town of Bessemer has since been built. The property at that time included the present Colby mine operated by Corrigan, McKinney & Co., and a part of the Tilden, now controlled by the Steel corporation. The open pit and old wooden head-frame of the inclined shaft still remain to mark where the first ore was taken out. It was here, too, that a steam shovel was first used in handling ore. A stockpile of considerable tonnage had been piled at the mine, and for a variety of reasons at just that time could only be moved on condition that the cost of handling be kept below a certain small maximum sum, which, to the owners, seemed impossible of attainment. "If you will get me a steam shovel," said Mr. Sellwood, "I'll put that ore on the cars so cheaply it will surprise you." And the shovel was bought, the ore was moved and the cost of loading was a few cents a ton.

Opened the Brotherton Mine.

In the same year that he came to the Gogebic range, Mr. Sellwood opened the Brotherton mine for Pickands, Mather & Co., who sold the mine in 1886. Mr. Sellwood then organized the Brotherton Mining company, in which he acquired a one-fourth interest, becoming president of the company. This ownership continued until the sale of the property to the Lackawanna Steel company. In company with the Brotherton, the Lackawanna Steel company bought the Sunday Lake mine adjoining. This mine was opened about the same time as the Brotherton, for Ferd. Schlesinger, passed into the hands of Corrigan, McKinney & Co., and was finally abandoned as an unprofitable proposition. Mr. Sellwood obtained a lease on the Sunday Lake, which brought the mine into the same control as the Brotherton, and the property is still being operated, and is noted for its good ore.

While operating the Colby, which he continued to do for three and one-half years until the expiration of the sublease on which it was held, Mr. Sellwood made a trip to Minnesota. This was in 1886. At that time, Martin and William Tattison, lumber men and residents of Superior, Wis., owned the land where the Chandler mine is now located on the Vermilion range. Ore was discovered on the property by James Sheridan, to whom was given a lease. In 1886, Mr. Sellwood bought for the Chicago & Minnesota Ore company, a three-fourths interest in this lease for $26,000, and opened the Chandler mine, dividing his time between the Vermilion and Gogebic ranges. The Chandler mine shipped over 9,000,000 tons of ore that averaged 64 per cent in iron, and about 0.042 per cent in phosphorus. What part the ore mines have played in the profits of the iron and steel trade is amply illustrated here when one recalls the purchase price.

Secured Mesaba Properties.

The Chicago & Minnesota Ore company was associated with the Minnesota Iron company, and was absorbed in the formation of the Federal Steel company. It was through this connection that the property came into the hands of the United States Steel corporation. Working for the Minnesota Iron company, Capt. Sellwood remained at the Chandler until November, 1892, when he set out to pick up Mesaba range properties for this company, of which he was made vice president. These, too, were busy days. "My wife," said Mr. Sellwood one day, "once asked me, 'Why don't you take it easier and rest a little?' and I used to tell her that 'the only sure way for a man to avoid having his employers drive him is to drive himself so hard that he is always ahead of them.'" As a result of his explorations, the Minnesota Iron company bought the Norman, Fayal, Auburn, Genoa, Iron Chief, Moose, Canton and Cloquet mines, all of which are now held by the Steel corporation.

In 1898 John W. Gates asked Mr. Sellwood to look after the ore interests of the American Steel & Wire company, and he left the Minnesota Iron company in that year to do so. He obtained for Gates the Sauntry, Alpena, Clark and Chisholm mines on the Mesaba range, the Atlantic on the Gogebic range, the Moore on the Marquette range, and the Cuff mine on the Menominee. In addition, he looked after the operation of the Negaunee mine at Negaunee, on the Marquette range, which the American Steel & Wire company already owned. All of these mines the Steel corporation also came into possession of, with the exception of the Negaunee, which is now owned one-half by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and one-half by the Lackawanna Steel company.

Got Mines For Independents.

When the United States Steel corporation was formed, Capt. Sellwood left the employ of the American Steel & Wire company, in order to pick up the Mesaba range properties for himself and the independent interests with which he was associated, including Pickands, Mather & Co., the Cherry Valley Iron company, the Wheeling Steel & Iron company, the Central Iron & Steel company, and the Salem Iron & Steel company. Beside a number of unnamed forties of land to which he acquired title for himself or one of the above companies, he obtained control of the Longyear, Leetonia, Croxton, La Rue, Cyprus, Adriatic, Pearce, Morrow and Cass mines. Of these, the Longyear and Leetonia were taken over by the Interstate Iron company, the mining organization of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, the Croxton and La Rue went to the Cherry Valley Iron company, and later to the Pittsburg Iron Ore company, and the Pearce was obtained by the Meriden Iron company, an independent mining company of which O. B. Warren was the mining manager, Equal interests were held by Pickands, Mather & Co. and Capt. Sellwood in the Cyprus and Adriatic.

Though quite content at this time to add no further responsibilities to those he already had, Capt. Sellwood was prevailed upon to take charge of the mines of the International Harvester company, the Hawkins and Agnew on the Mesaba range, and the Illinois in Wisconsin. He reserved, however, the right to look after his own interests to whatever extent they might require, and something of the character of the man is shown in this frank understanding regarding the division of his interests. For years he visited these properties regularly, going about the range in all weather, frequently driving seventeen miles from Hibbing to the Hawkins mine and back and accepting the somewhat limited comforts of a night's stay on the range with the same matter-of-fact naturalness that characterized him in everything.

His Banking Interests.

The business interests of Mr. Sellwood, aside from mining, became a large part of his daily responsibilities. He inaugurated the City National bank of Duluth in 1903 and was made the president in 1905, remaining in that position until his death. He was the owner of the First National bank of Ely, Minn., and the First National bank of Two Harbors, Minn., and was also the controlling factor in the First National bank of Bessemer, Mich. A few years ago he erected the magnificent Sellwood building on the corner of Superior street and Second avenue west, in which the City National bank occupies one of the most modern banking quarters in the United States. He was also a heavy invester in the ore carrying lake trade. He built the steamer Joe S. Morrow, naming it after his young grandson, and in his own honor, the steamer Joseph Sellwood of the fleet of Mitchell & Co. was named.

For many years Mr. Sellwood took active part in politics. This was in the days of the Minnesota Iron company, of which Mr. Sellwood was the political representative in addition to his other duties. The Minnesota Iron company was the dictator of the Republican party in St. Louis county, and Mr. Sellwood made and unmade legislative representatives and county officers. When the Minnesota company was absorbed by the Federal Steel company and later became part of the United States Steel corporation, the political side of the organization disappeared. Mr. Sellwood, however, did not lose his interest in politics, although he ceased to be active personally. He was a Republican.

Mr. Sellwood was twice married. His first wife, who died a number of years ago, was Ophelia Mathews of Ontonagon, Mich., whom he married in 1867. They had six children, of whom three are living, Richard M. Sellwood, Mrs. L. W. Leithhead and Mrs. C. E. Mershon. His second wife was Mrs. Martha Triggs, who survives him. He also leaves an adopted son, Joseph Sellwood, Jr.

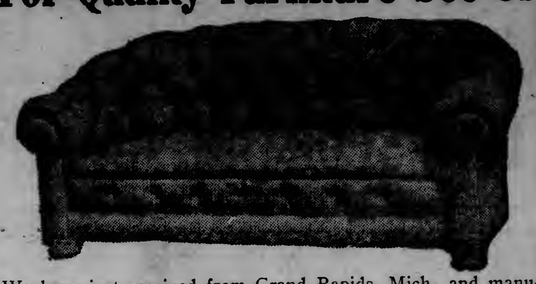

Until the illness which ended in his death, Mr. Sellwood had not known sickness, and accustomed though he had been for many years to work eighteen hours out of every twenty-four, there was no sign of nervous or physical strain. He was ever the active, stalwart business man of affairs, and he could be found any work day of the year at his office or at the bank in Duluth of which he was president, or upon the range personally supervising the mining work at properties under his charge. This review of Mr. Sellwood's career and achievements may be fittingly closed with the following tribute paid to him several years ago by the Iron Trade Review of Cleveland:

"If it has appeared that the mine develops men less frequently and less broadly for the larger places than do other branches of the industry, it will be well to know of Joseph Sellwood. Although not so widely famed, these miners are masters of their art, and we need not look in vain among them for men whose part in the iron trade surmounts the natural isolation of their deeds and marks them essential factors in the great development of mining and manufacturing during the past half century."

Prescription That Soon Knocks Rheumatism

The only logical treatment for rheumatism is through the blood. The poisons that settle in muscles, joints and back, causing severe pain, must be dissolved and expelled from the system or there can be no relief. This prescription from a noted doctor is said to be working wonders all over the country. Hundreds of the worst cases were cured by it here last winter. "From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." Results come the first day. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take some patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original, one-ounce, sealed, yellow package. Published by the Globe Pharmaceutical laboratories of Chicago.

ASKS FOR A CONFERENCE

Meeting Will Not Be Held Behind Closed Doors.

At the request of Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works, a conference of the city council has been called for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to consider questions relative to the Highland street subway, the Point of Rocks and financial ordinances.

Commissioner Murchison states that he has no desire that the doors be closed, explaining that he has no secrets and is perfectly willing that the public should know what transpires.

Some doubt has been raised as to whether or not the Duluth, Missabe & Northern will bear the full expense of constructing a subway under its tracks where they intersect Highland street, the highway leading to Proctor and Bay View Heights. He says that he is confident that the railroad will cooperate with the city to the fullest extent but that he desires to ascertain the sentiment of his colleagues as to whether or not they feel that the city should bear the expense of building the subway if the railroad will not do so.

Commissioner Murchison has an opportunity to enter into another contract with the government similar to that which was in effect last fall, that whereby the city was paid 80 cents per cubic yard for the stone which was removed. So much of the cliff has been removed along the right-of-way of Superior street that further work involves more or less risk. If more stone is to be removed without going to other parts of the cliff much precaution will have to be exercised to prevent accidents to the traffic up and down Piedmont avenue, the diagonal thoroughfare running from Michigan street to Superior street along the face of the cliff. Commissioner Murchison wishes to learn at the conference whether or not the city should enter into another contract in view of the circumstances. Although the city received 80 cents from the government the job of taking out the rock was sublet last fall to a private contractor at $1 a yard. But it was generally considered that the bargain was profitable for the municipality as it would cost many times 20 cents a yard to open Superior street.

The appropriation ordinances to be considered are those relative to improving West Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues and providing funds for the building of sidewalks the coming season.

KOETTERS IS BACK IN THE WINDY CITY.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—"Handsome Jack" Koetters, accused of murdering Mrs. Emma Krafts of Cincinnati, Ohio, by beating her to death in a Chicago hotel in November, 1912, was brought here today from California.

Koetters was arrested in San Francisco more than a week ago.

DEPORTED LABOR MEN IN ENGLAND

First Refuse to Land, But Finally Change Their Minds.

Gravesend, Eng., Feb. 24.—The ten labor leaders deported from South Africa last month after the general strike had been broken, landed here today from the steamship Umgeni.

The exiles at first declared that they would refuse to leave the vessel and would remain on board until the steamer returned to South Africa. They revoked their decision, however, after a long conference with British labor leaders, who had arranged a great welcome for them, including a complimentary dinner in the dining rooms of the house of commons and demonstrations at the opera house and in Hyde park.

The general strike of all trades in South Africa was declared on Jan. 13. Premier Botha's government responded with a proclamation of martial law calling 100,000 men to the colors. There was some disorder in Johannesburg and Pretoria, but after a few days the strike collapsed. On Jan. 27 the leaders of the movement were taken secretly on board the steamer Umgeni for transportation to England.

THREE FEDERATION MINERS ARE SHOT

Michigan Employment Agent Says They Attacked Him.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Word reached here today from Crystal Falls, Mich., that Leonard Meola, an employment agent for a mining company, had shot and seriously wounded three members of the Western Federation who, he said, attacked him while he was attempting to get men to work at the Quincy mine here. Meola has been arrested. One of the wounded men; it was expected, will die.

Leguia in New York.

New York, Feb. 24.—Robert E. Leguia, first vice president of Peru, arrived here today on the Carmania from England en route to Lima, ostensibly to fill out the unexpired term of President Billinghurst, recently exiled by the junta.

LAST AUGUST.

Marie—Perhaps it was from using straw color hair dye.

BACKACHE IS A DANGER SIGNAL

Kidney Trouble, Bladder Disorders, Rheumatism and Serious Diseases Follow.

There are other symptoms, such as pains in the region of the kidneys, nervousness, dizziness, tired and worn-out feeling, weak bladder, painful, scaldy, or urinary troubles, which are just as dangerous, for the slightest kidney derangement if neglected may develop into the deadly Bright's Disease, Dropsy, or Diabetes.

It is not only dangerous, but needless, for you to suffer, and endure the tortures of these troubles, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely ends all such misery.

There is no more effective remedy known for the cure of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism, than this new scientific preparation, because it removes the cause. It soaks right into the kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the clogged-up pores, neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and waste matter, that lodges in the joints and muscles and cause those terrible rheumatic pains, and makes the kidneys filter the poison out from the blood and drives it out of the system.

Three doses of Croxone a day, for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome disagreeable urinary disorders, and you can take it with the utmost confidence that nothing on earth will so quickly overcome the worst case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

By BRUCE

MAYBE Packey McFarland is to retire from the ring. Maybe, also, Billy Gibson is to retire from any business connection with the boxing game. It would be the final twist in the rope of fate that has connected the twain, if both were to leave the fistic pastime at the same date.

Gibson, matchmaker of the Garden and one of the best known boxing promoters in the East, has been the bosom friend of the idol of the ham and beef district.

In fact Damon and close friend Pythias never had much on the tender feeling that exists between Packey and William.

Why right at the present time, when Packey is panned from coast to coast and up in the inland provinces, Gibson comes to the front and warmly declares that McFarland is one of the very greatest boxers of all time and is, moreover, a truthful and sincere youth.

One Wolgast while in our midst, prophesied that Gibson would provide the alibi for McFarland. At the same time Adolph gave a wide-grinned ha ha at the suggestion that Packey's papa t) be was ill. The Wolgast one says you could not drag McFarland into the same ring with Gibbons.

Should Billy Gibson forsake the boxing game the very best friend of McFarland will be lost, in so far as the business of boxing is concerned, and at the present writing McFarland needs friends, for some of the followers of the fistic sport have come to the conclusion that McFarland is the kind of a boxer who picks and chooses with exceeding care and hankers not for any of the real stars of the game at a weight near the poundage hefted around by the Irish luminary.

Yokel Is Getting His.

IT must be a decidedly new sensation for Mike Yokel to be panned in Salt Lake City. Like feeding rich 30-cent cream to an alley cat—only not so pleasant.

It all arises over the dogged and persistent refusal of Yokel to give this boy Ketonen an opportunity at the title.

"To the sporting editor of the Salt Lake City Telegram:

"Dear sir: I read with pleasure the notes regarding Mike Yokel sidestepping Waino Ketonen. Why does Yokel insist on a guarantee? He did not ask for one with Bothner, Beell or Harbertson. When a good man comes along, why should he evade him? Surely there is some way of making a champion defend his title, if only for sport's sake If Yokel sidesteps Ketonen any longer no one will blame Ketonen for claiming the title, and by all accounts he will have every claim on it, for it is said that he bars no one at 158 pounds.

"Sincerely yours,

"A. HOLBERG."

So it would seem that even in the city where the middleweight champion wrestler of the world is idolized the claim of Ketonen for a meeting is recognized.

While Duluth may not see the pair in action, it is pretty certain that public sentiment will force Mike Yokel to meet the wonderful Finn—and when they meet, Brothers, look for one of the greatest contests of the decade—for this Waino one sure can wrestle.

Back to Honest Work.

Off the Choo Choo Cars.

WORD is working eastward by relays that Carl Morris is to refuse to longer associate with an engine and a pair of overalls, but will once again seek glory and the incidental kale in the frolic of the arena.

Some of the followers of the sport had come to the conclusion, warily and after long waiting, that Carl was through with the game. But no—'tis not true; the bug stingeth and the lure lureth.

After those nights along Broadway little old Salpulpa, or a town in Oklahoma to that general spelling, will never seem the same to Carl.

A Real Go for Fristensky.

GUSTAV FRISTENSKY, the big Bohemian and one of the best looking foreign wrestlers who has come to the shores of the home land for yars and yars, is going to mix with Charley Cutler at the Chicago Coliseum, this evening.

Cutler has trained for weeks for this contest. When right the large and strong former Bemidji party is one of the real bear cats of the mat.

In Fristensky the former Northern Minnesota boy is going against one of the strongest and fastest large men in the world, and the outcome will be awaited with much interest by the fans. Gotch is going to look Fristensky over—just what does that mean?

Well, What if She Is?

WORD comes ambling along regarding the eager disposition of La Belle France to grab off the Davis cup. England was quite wrought up in their anxiety to become possessor of the handsome trophy, but now that we have it, something seems to say that it will be awfully hard to pry it loose.

Carl Would Tackle Waino.

MANAGER BROWN of the Carl Hanson interests has stated that the stocky Norwegian who made his former habitat in the West end, would like nothing better than to wrestle Ketonen. And Waino eagerly awaits action. In addition to the willingness of Carl to mat tango, Pilot Brown says he would like to wager coin of the realm that Hanson can triumph. Again the Finn declares that nothing could be of greater pleasure.

TWO SYNDICATES WANT CUB STOCK

C. P. Taft Receives Flattering Offers for Control of the Chicago National League Club---Both Bidders Are Groups of Chicago Men.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Two syndicates of Chicago business men are rivals in the bidding for the control of the Chicago National league club, the baseball organization now owned principally by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, since he took over the interests of Charles W. Murphy Saturday night. A bid of $700,000 for 51 per cent of the stock by a coterie of "Cub" fans, was made yesterday, and word reached the representative, Louis Behan, that Mr. Taft would give them consideration with the other bidders so a committee of three of them will go to Cincinnati tomorrow to see him.

The Behan bid was distinct from the proposition made by the syndicate headed by William Hale Thompson, who asked that Mr. Taft submit to him and James A. Pugh and Charles A. McCullough a price for his holdings. News from Cincinnati that there were several bidders for Chicago, led Chicago bidders to believe other capitalists of this city are anxious to buy the stock. It was said a number of Chicagoans in addition to the Behan committee will go to Cincinnati to see Mr. Taft about their propositions.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 24.—The probability that the majority of the stock of the Chicago National league club will not remain long in the possession of Charles P. Taft was indicated here yesterday when it was announced that Mr. Taft had received numerous offers for the stock and was not disinclined to listen to propositions looking toward the sale of his interests.

It is more than probable that one body of men and possibly more will arrive in this city today to hold conferences with Mr. Taft. The one proposition that is known to have been made, that from Louis J. Behan of Chicago, representing a syndicate from that city, appears to have impressed Mr. Taft, although in announcing that he had answered a telegram from Mr. Behan Mr. Taft wished it understood that he is considering a number of propositions and was far from making up his mind on any of them.

The apparent negotiations for the purchase of the stock owned by Mr. Taft indicate that it will be some time before the announcement of the name of the next president of the Cubs will be made. This is made certain by the knowledge that Mr. Taft now owns the controlling interest in the club and it is understood that he will not consider calling a meeting of the club until he has finally decided the question of whether he desires to sell his stock.

SKATERS DISQUALIFIED.

May Be Disciplined for Taking Part in Unsanctioned Events.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Skaters who took part in the meet at Washington park here Sunday face disqualification, it is said, because the Western Skating association refused to sanction the event. President Blanchard, of the International Skating union, says a meeting of the board of control of the Western association this week will pass upon the matter.

Fisher, the Milwaukeean who won most of the honors at the Washington park meet as well as Kaad, who holds a number of titles, are liable to disqualification, it was said.

President Blanchard has sanctioned the first figure skating tournament held in the United States for seven years. It will be held in New Haven, March 20 and 21. The rules adopted in New York by the International association Feb. 7 will be in force.

CHAMPIONS LEAVE FOR TRAINING CAMP

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.—The first contingent of the Philadelphia Athletics left here today for Jacksonville, Fla., where the world's champions will go through their preliminary spring training. The party was headed by the veteran, Harry Davis, and included Players Sturgis, Bush, McAvoy, Pennock, Wyckoff, Brown, Shawkey, Bressler, Caruthers, Kopf, Karst, Salmon, Brickley and Boardman. The trip south is being made by boat, the party taking the steamer Lenahe at New York direct to Jacksonville.

Manager Connie Mack, Eddie Plank, Bender and several other players will leave here tomorrow by train. All the regular infielders and outfielders will not leave for Jacksonville until March 7.

The Philadelphia Nationals will leave late today for Wilmington, N. C., under the leadership of Manager Dooin.

DULUTH'S WINNING SKIP RETURNS WITH THE MERRIAM MEDAL IN HIS POSSESSION

ELMER WHYTE,

WHYTE SAYS IT WAS GREAT

Duluth's Winning Skip Says His Men Displayed Fine Nerve.

"All of the members of our rink played a great game, and it was because they all played so well that the state curling championship was won by a Duluth rink," declared Skip Elmer Whyte upon his return this morning from Minneapolis.

"It took a lot of nerve in those last few heads. The crowds lined both sides of the ice nearly all the way down the sheet. When we would make a good shot there would be a little hand—but when any member of the Labatt rink would make a good shot, you couldn't hear yourself talk for the noise.

"Mind, this was all right and proper—and we were given the best kind of treatment in the world—only we knew that the sympathies of the onlookers were overwhelmingly in favor of the Minneapolis rink.

"In the last end Labatt's lead missed his first shot. Pinco for us put his rock to the right of the button. That was the only rock missed in that end, you might say. In Labatt's first shot, he put one near the button. I froze to it in such an angle that he could not take me out without raising his own stone out. In his second shot Labatt went just through and we lay two, so that it was not necessary for me to take my last shot.

"It was one of the greatest spiels in the history of the medal, and there was hardly a shot missed during the latter heads of the game. Poehler played a wonderful game for Labatt and Ralph Pinco played a remarkable game for us. Of course Charley Brewer played well—one of the greatest games I have ever seen him play."

Elmer Whyte stated that the visiting curlers were royally entertained by the members of the Minneapolis club and were treated to every courtesy.

KELLEYS BEATEN BY BIG DULUTHS

Clothiers Defeat Hardware Team at Hockey, 6 to 1.

Last evening the Big Duluth hockey team of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league defeated the Kelleys by the score of 6 to 1. The winning team excelled in teamwork, in individual work and in aggressiveness. Save for Olson, who was the star for the hardware men, there was not a great deal of spirit exhibited upon the part of the Kelley outfit.

Clark, receiving a pass from Roswald, made the first goal. Alder made the next score on a pass from Roswald. Roswald made the final score of the first half on a pass from Blais. Miller got the first in the second half from scrimmage. Roswald made two goals and Alder one.

The game was fast at times and contained some interest, despite the fact that the Kelleys failed to show the form expected.

The lineup:

Big Duluths—		Kelleys—
Alder	c	Miller
Blais	lw	Hefferman
Roswald	rw	Landgren
Dykins	r	Olson
Poisant	cp	Berg
Clark	p	Anderson
Oulette	g	Sponberg

Summary—Referee, Szymanski; goal judges, Wick and Lindeberg; timekeepers, Johnson and Robilliard.

TRIO OF BOUTS HELD; MIKE GIBBONS IN ONE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 24.—Ritchie Mitchell, Milwaukee featherweight, easily outboxed Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg in a ten-round go in Milwaukee last night. Mitchell had the better of five rounds, three were even, with Brannigan having the advantage in but two.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 24.—Billy Murray of San Francisco defeated the veteran middleweight, Leo Houck of Philadelphia, yesterday in the fourteenth round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout. Technically the result counts as a knockout.

New York, Feb. 24.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul easily outpointed Al McCoy of Brooklyn in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn yesterday. Each man weighed 153 pounds.

Youthful Chess Champion.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 24.—David Burkuloo, a 17-year-old chess player, has won the state championship in the twentieth annual tournament of the Minnesota Chess association. By almost perfect precision Burkuloo won three games in succession.

ELMER WHYTE WINS THE STATE CURLING TITLE

Duluth Rink Defeats George Labatt By Score of 14 to 13.

Wade's Kid Rink Goes Down to Defeat Just Before "Eights."

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 24.—Elmer Whyte's Duluth rink won the state curling championship here yesterday from George Labatt's rink, holders of the state title for the last season, by the score of 14 to 13.

The victory carries with it the possession of the Merriam medal for a year. The defeat of Labbatt's rink marks the second time the Duluth skip has carried away the state title, Whyte winning the championship in 1912.

Taking a lead of four in the first end, Whyte secured the jump on the Minneapolitan at the start. Labatt reduced the lead to two in the next head. Again Whyte laid three rocks and held a lead of five in the third head.

From that stage on the Labatt crowd picked up, laying three heads of three points each.

Coming into the last head, Whyte needed one to tie and two to win. The Duluth skip laid one when Labatt shot his last stone, and then made a perfect draw that won one of the greatest games of the spiel.

So close was the play after the first three ends that the skip with the last shot generally counted shot. Some of the draw shots made by both Labatt and Whyte were remarkable and brought forth demonstrations from the large gallery that eagerly followed the play.

One of the largest crowds that ever watched a curling game in Minneapolis was present to see the play of the final games of the spiel that has been probably the most successful of any played in the history of the Merriam medal.

Ordway Is Strong.

In contesting the right to enter the eights, Ordway, the veteran skip of the St. Paul club, defeated Harry Miller of Minneapolis by the count of 13 to 8. L. J. Covell and Jim McCutcheon of Minneapolis fought out a great contest, the Covell crowd beating the veteran of forty years of curling by the close score of 13 to 12.

Labatt defeated the troublesome Wade Kid rink of Duluth by the score of 12 to 10, and Fleetham of Minneapolis defeated McLeod of Minneapolis by the score of 10 to 7.

In the eights Labatt defeated Covell, 12 to 9; Elliott defeated Tweed of Duluth, 12 to 9; Whyte defeated the veteran Griggs of St. Paul, 16 to 6, and Ordway put Fleetham out of the running by the count of 7 to 6.

Labatt put Elliott out of the semi-finals and Whyte defeated Ordway, which brought together the state champion and the former state champion, which set the stage for a grand game.

Following is the score by ends in the semi-finals and the final game of the spiel:

O'Clock Draw—Semi-Finals.

Labatt	2	1	0	1	2	0	3	1	0	0—12
Elliott	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	0	1	1— 6
Ordway	0	0	0	3	0	0	0	2	1	0— 6

Finals

Labatt	0	2	0	2	0	3	0	3	0	3—13

STRATHCONAS COMING FOR TWO HOCKEY GAMES

The Cleveland hockey team will not play the curling club seven this season. Word to that effect was received by Secretary J. E. MacGregor, yesterday.

As the winner of the Eastern division of the American HocKey association pennant, Cleveland will be called upon to meet the winner of the Western division of the league, which will probably be Calumet.

Under the circumstances it is impossible to schedule a game with the Coddy Winters bunch, much as the officials of the curling club would like to.

Officials of the club are about certain that the Strathconas and Civics of Winnipeg will be down. The date set for the Strathconas is March 6 and 7, with Detroit coming on March 9 and 10.

The Civics of Winnipeg are the all-star team that is made up of some of the best hockey players in the Western part of the Dominion. It is probable that the Civics will follow the Strathconas.

Cleveland Is Strong.

After the somewhat indifferent season of a year ago it appears that those behind the Cleveland hockey team have gotten together a real team, as the brilliant record of the Clevelands would indicate.

Also, it might be added, the contest between the Clevelands and the winner of the race up in our section of the universe, will be both exciting and stimulating and will prove a real boon to hockey.

This contest or series of contests will be for the championship of the territory covered by the American Hockey association, and some great games are naturally looked forward to.

Saturday evening will see the first curling dinner of the year. There will be the game between the president's and vice president's rinks, and the whole evening will be a sort of get together meeting.

About three weeks of curling are left before the close of the season and during the remainder of the season there will be a number of events held in connection with the curling.

GOTCH MAY COME BACK

If Fristensky Beats Cutler and Zbyszko, He Will Return to Mat.

Cutler and Fristensky Are Ready for Their Battle--Evenly Matched.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Frank Gotch, the world's heavyweight wrestling champion, who announced his retirement from the ring four months ago, said today that if Charles Cutler of Chicago is defeated tonight in his match with Gustav Fristensky, the Bohemian heavyweight, and that if Fristensky in turn defeats Stanislaus Zbyszko, he will re-enter the game and will go to the mat for a finish with Fristensky.

Cutler and Fristensky concluded their conditioning today and said they were in perfect form for tonight's match. They are said to be more evenly matched than any two that have met this season or last. Neither is said to have any particular advantage. The winner of tonight's match will be pitted against Zbyszko.

$8,000 IN PURSES

Will Be Distributed Among Race Winners at Fargo This Year.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officials of the North Dakota state fair announce $8,000 in purses for the races here July 20-25. There will be a stake event for a purse of $1,000 each day in addition to the other purses. The stake event must have six entries and at least four starters to fill. There will be interesting harness events and dashes each of the five days of the fair and as the Fargo meet is to be about in the middle of the seven weeks' circuit the horses would be in the best possible condition. A number of good horses from other states will be entered here and conditioned around this circuit for the big Eastern tracks later in the season. The local entries close May 1.

FEDERALS WILL TEMPT TOURISTS.

New York, Feb. 24.—The Federal league will have a reception committee of its own to meet the world-touring Giants-White Sox baseball players when they arrive here March 5 from Europe, according to President James Gilmore of the Federals, who arrived in New York last night.

The committee, Mr. Gilmore said, will consist of Charles Weeghman of Chicago, Otto Stiefel of St. Louis, Robert D. and Walter Ward, owners of the Brooklyn Federal franchise, and Mr. Gilmore.

"We may have something to say to some of the players who made the world trip," added Mr. Gilmore.

Mr. Gilmore said that as Jake Stahl had declined the management of the Brooklyn team, the Federals now have in view for that position a member of the world tourists. He intimated that he is Sam Crawford.

According to Mr. Gilmore, Stahl declined the largest offer ever made a man to manage a ball club when he refused the Brooklyn offer and gave preference to his position as vice president of a Chicago bank.

JIM HENDERSON WINS FAST HARNESS RACE

Jim Henderson won yesterday in the races on the lake, capturing second in the first heat and then coming back and winning in three straight heats from Boy Prince and Dean Oakley, The time for the final half mile heat was 1:05. A fairly large crowd of spectators was on hand to witness the contests.

The heat summary:

Jim Henderson, Randall	2	1	1
Boy Prince, Riley	3	3	2
Dean Oakley, Matthews	1	2	3

Time, last heat, 1:05.

TOURING BALL TOSSERS GUESTS IN ENGLAND

London, Feb. 24.—Many Americans residing in London met the New York and Chicago baseball teams on their arrival here last night from Paris. The players are to be entertained at luncheon and theaters and the English papers are devoting much space to describing the game. The teams gave an exhibition, the proceeds going to charity.

Saints Signing.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 24.—The signed contracts of Catcher Charles Miller and Pitcher Ed Karger have been received at the headquarters of the local American association club. Letters also were received from First Baseman Chick Autrey and Outfielder Charlie Hemphill announcing that they were ready to sign as soon as certain minor grievances have been adjusted.

TILLMAN EXPECTS TO HOLD BROWN TO A DRAW

Minneapolis Fans Believe That Former Range Fighter Will Be Unable to Whip Johnny in Ten-Round Tilt.

BY BRUCE.

Over the long distance telephone yesterday, George A. Barton, one of the best known sport scribes of Minneapolis, stated that John Tecumseth Tillman was right as a golden guinea for the approaching tilt with Pal Brown.

"Johnny will probably come up Sunday," said Barton. "I simply want you to understand that Tillman expects to get as good as an even break in the contest with Brown. We have been compelled to accept the small end of the receipts, so you can readily understand that it was simply from the belief that Tillman will get as good as an even break that the match was accepted. A large crowd of Minneapolis fans believe Tillman will get as good as a draw, and they will be at the ringside to witness the scrap."

Brown began real work yesterday for the quarrel with Tillman. It won't require a great deal of work to put the Minnesota contender in the pink; Pal was right when he hit San Francisco, the trip over from the antipodes merely serving as a letup from the long training siege he underwent over in the Never Never land.

Collie Munro, friend, philosopher and adviser to Brown, declares that the former iron range youth will be right for Tillman, and further adds that Pal will stop the Minneapolis comer before the expiration of the final round.

The two youngsters are facing one of the most important bouts of their career. For Tillman it is by far the most ambitious offering of his hempen experience; in the case of Brown, while he has had more weighty engagements perhaps, the fact remains that it was never more highly important for Brown to win decisively any battle than it is the one of next Tuesday evening.

The Race to the Swift.

There are Wolgast, White, Rivers, Cross, Mandot and a few others in addition to William Ritchie, Esq., bidding for dollars and favor in the lightweight division. So far Brown has been persistently unable to get any one of the leaders into the ring. It is important for Brown to beat Tillman to force the hand of the glovemen who stand as the leaders of the lightweight division.

Some fans argue that Leach Cross will never be a champion; that Joe Mandot has shot his bolt; that Rivers does not possess the courage to constitute him a champion. Be that as it may, the fact remains, immutable and indisputable, that the boys named above have figured in some of the big doings in the lightweight parties—and they are the ones most sought after by Brown.

Brown has fought Hyland, Patsy Drouilliard, Ray Temple, Grover Hayes, Young Saylor, Sammy Trott, Tommy Gary, Jack Redmond, Billy Allen, Jack O'Lery, Danny Goodman, Steve Ketchel, and a host of others. The greatest fame the iron ore scrapper gained was on the Australian trip. Now he is back on the home heath—and the headliners of the fighting profession are the ones sought by a boy who declares implicitly his belief that he can vanquish any 133-pounder in the world.

Brown Must Beat John.

Therefore it is up to Brown to win decisively over Tilman. The Minneapolitan is shifty and clever and fast. Jimmy Murphy, the picturesque Wop with the Irish monaker, declared belief in his ability to give Pal Brown a battle—before he fought Tillman. The Chicago Italian, a burly battler, could do nothing to Tillman, who made him miss in close and at long range. Now it is up to Brown to chastise Johnny.

McINTOSH WINS.

Beats Fast Aggie Basket Ball Quint From Crookston.

McIntosh, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the fastest basket ball games ever played on the McIntosh floor was that here last night between the crack Crookston Aggies' quint and the home team. The score was 45 to 27, in favor of McIntosh. There were many fouls on the aggies and few on the home team. The aggies played eight games this season, beating every team in Northern Minnesota. Next Friday evening Fosston plays McIntosh at McIntosh. This is expected to be one of the best games of this season. March 7 the home team quint plays Fosston at Fosston.

Cardinals at Camp.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 24.—Twenty members of the St. Louis National league baseball team, headed by Miller Huggins, manager, have arrived here for their spring training.

Will Train at Owatonna.

Owatonna, Minn., Feb. 24.—The Winnipeg team of the Northern baseball league will do its spring training here. The team members are expected as soon as the weather is warm enough to permit regular work.

Minnesota Quint Wins.

Sutton Leads Hoppe.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—George Sutton won the first installment of 500 points in the 1,500-point championship match game 18.2 balk line billiards last night against Willie Hoppe. Hoppe made 459 to Sutton's 500.

After Weston's Record.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 24.—John Scott of Philadelphia, a veteran amateur pedestrian, has started over snow-packed roads and in a freezing temperature to beat the record for a walk from Boston to Washington. The time he aims to better is 208 hours, made in 1860 by Edward Payson Weston. Mr. Scott is 48 years old.

Falls Short at Finish.

New York, Feb. 24.—After having equalled the world's indoor record of 32 2-p seconds in winning his qualifying heat in the 300-yard run at the games of the Royal Arcanium in Brooklyn yesterday, T. J. Halpin of the Boston A. A. finished second in the final heat to A. T. Meyer, Irish-American Athletic club.

MAY PENSION CIVIL WAR MILITIAMEN

Washington, Feb. 24.—A joint conference of senate and house pension committees resulted in an agreement under which the committees of the two houses of congress, for the first time, will act under uniform rules governing the consideration and reporting of pension bills. One effect of the new rules will be to allow the reporting of bills to pension militiamen who served in the Civil war.

SEEK TO REMOVE INSURANCE HEAD

Henry Pyle of National Life of Des Moines Is Accused.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 24.—Action against Henry Pyle, president and general manager of the National Life association of Des Moines was started in a petition filed in district court yesterday by Attorney General George Cossen, in which he asked the court to "remove the defendant and appoint a capable person to fill the vacancy."

Henry E. Sampson, assistant attorney general, who is in charge of the case, announced the state had a legal reserve on hand sufficient to abundantly protect the policy holders, and that the purpose of the action was to remove Mr. Pyle at this time "in order to protect the members of the association."

The charge is set forth that the business of the National Life association, under its present management, is conducted fraudulently and not in compliance with the law. It is alleged the rules and regulations of the insurance department of the state are not complied with and that as a result the members are being injured. It is claimed that unless the management of the National Life is changed there will not be sufficient funds to carry out contracts with the members.

The charges are that the general expense fund has been greatly overdrawn and the mortuary losses have increased more rapidly than the funds to care for them as the result of large sums of money being diverted to private accounts of the defendant and the members of his family.

The National Life association, a mutual concern, began business in 1900. It operates in twenty-nine states and, according to its officials, has $35,000,000 worth of policies in force.

QUEEN LIL SEES U. S. TROOPS MARCH

Honolulu, Feb. 24.—Former Queen Liliuokalani sat beside Brig. Gen. Montgomery M. Macon, U. S. A., yesterday as 7,000 American soldiers passed in review. The troops, marching in a Washington's birthday parade, were reviewed by Governor Pinkham at the capitol, and then passed on to a military review.

PUBLISHER SAYS MAN BEAT HIM UP

Chicago, Feb. 24.—James McVittie, president of a manufacturing concern, was arrested yesterday charged with assault upon Albert G. D. Mercer, publisher of a local society paper. Mercer declared that he had been attacked by McVittie, his arm broken and such severe injuries inflicted that he has been in a hospital ever since. He said he gave McVittie no cause for the alleged attack.

ON BASIS OF 80 PER CENT

Steel Corporation's Plants Are Again Approaching Their Capacity.

Delay in Rate Case Decision Was a Temporary Damper.

Favorable reports regarding steel and iron conditions are coming to hand this week from the leading manufacturing centers.

The steel industry is considered to be giving a good account of itself, as for instance, it is mentioned that the United States Steel corporation received bookings at the rate of 10,000 tons a day during the first three weeks of February, and that its plants are now running on a basis of about 80 per cent of capacity. Taking the industry in all its ramifications, it is estimated that plants of the independent companies are operating on a basis of 70 per cent of capacity against about 65 per cent at the end of last month, and there is a tendency towards a further increase.

Another blast furnace of the Carnegie Steel company began to make pig iron yesterday, after having been idle for some time. The company is said to be making all the steel that it is possible for its mills to produce, and the prospects are considered good for steady operation from now on. The Steel corporation is now running all its mills at Farrell at normal capacity and more men are said to be employed than at any time in its history.

After having been idle for some time, the blast furnace of the National Tube company at McKeesport has been relighted with over 1,800 men under employment.

The pipe department of the Republic Iron & Steel company is reported to be breaking all its output records. It has been running full time since Jan. 1.

Damper On Buying.

While the deferring of the decision by the interstate commerce commission in the Eastern railroad's rate case served to place a damper upon railroad buying and expenditures for the time being, some of the lines are coming into the market for supplies. The New York Central confirmed a tentative order for 60,000 tons of steel rails last week, and other orders aggregated 22,000 tons.

Equipment orders for the week embraced 2,875 freight cars, fifty-five coaches and thirty-four locomotives. Since Jan. 1, the railroads are reported to have ordered 16,919 cars.

Referring to the situation, the Iron Trade Review says: "Eastern pig iron consumers who have sounded market for last half delivery find furnaces are asking sharp advances. Pittsburg iron prices are a trifle stiffer, but are not tested by much buying. Prompt Connellsville coke is firmer and one contract went at $2.25, ovens. Railroads are buying and inquiring for a fair number of cars."

PUTS NEWSPAPERS AHEAD OF DOCTORS

Physician Says They Have Promoted Public Health.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Laws on tuberculosis are needed more than any other health legislation, according to the report of Dr. Frederick R. Green, secretary of the health council of the American Medical association, holding its tenth annual conference.

"There has been no definite policy in seeking legislation," the report said. "Legislation has been too much devoted to fads and fancies. We do not know just what we do want, and do not stand together."

Dr. J. W. Pettit of Oklahoma said the newspapers had been a greater force in promoting sanitation and the public health than the medical profession.

MADAME GAIN'S MOTION DENIED

Questions of Fact Will Not Be Submitted to a Jury.

Questions of fact incidental to the trial of the nuisance abatement action pending in district court against the Clifton, now Elgin hotel, 321 West First street, will not be submitted to a jury, according to a ruling which has been made by Judge Bert Fesler, who yesterday afternoon denied the motion of attorneys for Mary Le Flohic, alias Madame Gain, her brother, August Le Flohic, and the Alecsi Real Estate company, her holding company, defendants in the action, to have certain questions of fact passed upon by a jury.

The questions were: First, did Mary Le Flohic on July 5, 1913, maintain and conduct at the Clifton hotel a house of ill-fame and prostitution? Second, if so, was the Alecsi Real Estate company party or privy thereto? Third, who was the owner of the furniture and fixtures at the hotel July 5? Fourth, if the jury finds that August Le Flohic was the owner, did he have any notice that the furniture and fixtures were being used for immoral purposes?

Judge Fesler holds that the recent conviction of the Le Flohic woman on a charge of conducting a house of ill-fame at the Clifton hotel disposed of the first question and the other questions, the court holds, are in order for the court to pass upon alone.

The abatement case will probably be brought on for trial next week.

EXPORTS SET RECORD FIGURES

Gains of $44,073,294 Are Made During Seven Months.

With the exception of breadstuffs which have fallen off, American domestic exports are setting record figures. For the month of January, these exports were reported at $106,158,094 as compared with $105,896,939 last year.

For the seven months of the present fiscal year, the aggregate was $738,707,538, an increase of $44,073,294 over the corresponding period of 1913.

Breadstuffs exports for the seven months were $106,375,949 as compared with $124,776,446 last year. Exports of meat and dairy products aggregated $83,016,087, an increase of $14,750,000 over last year. Cotton shipments were in liberal proportions, coming to $451,777,068 against $413,361,834 a year ago.

REVIEWS THE TRADE WORLD

Secretary Redfield Says Conditions Are Basis for Optimism.

He Discusses Commerce, Industry, Prices and the Tariff.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 24.—Marked improvement in conditions in the industrial and commercial regions of the country has come, reviving courage and destroying alarm; removal of tariff duties has resulted in a tendency clearly and openly in the direction of a reduction in the cost of food and clothing; and climatic conditions, not business depression, are responsible for the number of unemployed in New York city and other large industrial centers.

This was the message delivered to the nation last night by William C. Redfield, the administration's spokesman on commercial and industrial problems, before the Wheeling board of trade. Every statement the speaker made was fortified by official statistics and reports.

Mr. Redfield defended the tariff act, lauded the currency law, and, with decided emphasis, assured his audience that the government intends to help and not hinder legitimate business.

"It was not strange that the serious depression all over Europe as well as in South America should have been slightly reflected upon us in the latter part of last year," he said. "It is not surprising that careful men moved cautiously in business matters pending the necessary readjustments from the new tariff, or that they should have hesitated until the final form of the currency bill was known. It is not strange either that men should want to know the attitude of the government toward legitimate business.

No Ground for Worry.

"But there is no ground here now for worry. The surplus of freight cars has ceased to grow. It commenced about the middle of January to decline and has decreased by about 5,000 cars. It would be easy to add from numerous sources to these favorable statements. I have found in the last fortnight the reports of improving business so many and so general that it has been impossible for me to consider them all.

"The tendency is clearly and openly in the direction of a reduction in the cost of food and clothing through the removal of the tariff tax. It may be well to point out, however, that the costly processes of distribution lay a tremendous tax upon our consumers, and that in my judgment the single and little-discussed factor of cartage alone lays a heavier burden upon our people than the total amount paid for railway freights.

"The new tariff has not thus far resulted in any material increase of importations of manufactured articles to compete with the products of our own factories, but rather its important effect has been to add to our food supply.

Prices and the Unemployed.

"It remains to discuss briefly two other elements of the existing situation, the prices of commodities and the matter of unemployment. During the winter months thousands of laborers are thrown out of work for climatic reasons in all our Northern states and it is normal that they should concentrate as for years past they have done in our large cities and industrial centers. Statements have been made and denied to the effect that there are more unemployed in New York this year than usual. This may be true without meaning that there is any abnormal excess of unemployed in the whole country. New York city is known to be in the act of spending several hundred millions upon subway construction.

"Furthermore it is well known that New York provides liberally for the unemployed through its vast private and public charities, and this is an attractive factor to some out of work. All these factors would naturally draw the unemployed to that city in numbers even in excess of possible employment. The fact that they have so gathered there or in other cities in large numbers this year may or may not have direct bearing upon the prosperity of industry. A large part of the unemployed are probably not those who work in factories but rather those who follow the kinds of labor which the inclemency of the season forbids continuing and which are always suspended at this time of the year.

Reopening of Mills.

"The reopening of idle mills throughout the Central West has improved conditions. It is certainly true that many of those who were out of work when the year opened are now busy again, and the tendency is to employ more. With the opening of the spring many avenues to work that the season now closes will reopen. Thus, the normal passage of time acts to solve the problem.

"Now it is the fact that in recent years the tariff tax has so operated on food as to make it visibly more costly. There was a time recently when potatoes were imported when our supply was scant, and when the tariff tax on potatoes was equal to about 50 per cent on their price, and necessarily increased their cost. On the other hand, it is the fact now that Argentine beef is being shipped to New York free of the tariff tax, and this has resulted in a decline in the wholesale New York market for beef of about 4 cents a pound. This reduction when transmitted to the local New York retailer has resulted in a reduction of the price of beef locally in that city of about 2 cents a pound. As beef has gone outside of that city into the country at large the reduction in price has been absorbed by the dealers and has been little felt as yet.

Butter Reduced in Price.

"It is the fact, too, that butter has been reduced in price by the large recent importations of that food, and I have known that preserved milk has been offered in this country at lower prices than those which have heretofore prevailed. Furthermore, the importation of Argentine corn has during the recent winter operated at least to prevent a rise in the price of corn in our Atlantic coast cities; if it has not directly reduced the price in those cities. It is a well-known fact that the price of woolen cloth from the largest makers has been reduced this winter from 15 to 25 per cent. The price lists of the American Woolen company and the United States Worsted company and other textile mills show this plainly. Many things are bought in the wholesale trade already more cheaply than they were a year ago, particularly woolens, beef and butter.

Exports Larger.

"In the face of foreign conditions, the total exports of iron and steel and manufactures from this country increased in last October over the totals for either July, August or September. The imports of iron and steel in October, 1913, the first month under the new tariff, were $2,575,000 less than they were in October of the previous year. The exports were $25,189,000, nearly ten times greater than the imports. November last showed a similar result. The imports were less than two and a half millions, a smaller sum than in October and less than in the previous November, while the exports were in excess of $20,000,000. December brought the total imports up to $2,815,000 for that month as compared with steel and iron exports in December in excess of $22,500,000.

"This is not a situation to cause anyone alarm. When we are able in one industry, after the duties are lowered, to sell abroad $68,000,000 as against purchases of less than $8,000,000, and purchases which were actually smaller than those made under the old tariff, no one has any sound cause to worry about his market being flooded. The tide runs the other way."

Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 227 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book to expectant mothers.

COPPER PRICES READY TO RISE

Market Conditions Reduce Number of Dividend-Paying Mines.

As a result of the lower price of copper metal and the unsettlement in the trade, through the Michigan miners' strike, extending over several months, there are now nineteen companies whose shares are listed on the Boston Stock exchange, paying dividends as compared with twenty-three a year ago. An improvement from now on is predicted by experts, however.

The present dividend rates of sixteen of these companies compare with actual payments per share for the past three years as follows:

Possibility of Two Harbors Getting Free Delivery Brighter.

Senator Clapp Advises That Postal Inspector Will Visit City.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald)—City Clerk August Omtveldt read a communication to the council last night which he received from Senator Moses E. Clapp relative to the free mail delivery, which has been advocated for this city for some time. Senator Clapp stated that an inspector will be sent here in the near future to investigate the feasibility of establishing free delivery here.

In preparation for the expected free mail delivery the city council instructed the city clerk to purchase the necessary signs for street corners and have them printed or painted and placed on poles.

A petition was brought to the attention of the council, signed by the laborers employed by the city, requesting a raise in pay and shorter working hours. They ask for a raise from 28 cents to 30 cents an hour, 45 cents per hour overtime on week days and 60 cents per hour for Sunday overtime. The matter was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

Final Rock Crusher Payment.

The city clerk advised the council that the last note on the rock crusher amounted to $320 and recommended that it be paid, and thus clean the matter up. The clerk was instructed to draw an order and settle the matter.

Joseph Lager was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquor for another year by the following vote: Yeas, Van Dyken, Tubman, Strand, Hedman, Rothfus, Esse; nay, Anderson.

Complaints have been numerous to the councilmen and mayor that boys playing hockey monopolize the city rink so that women or small children find it impossible any more to enjoy themselves and the council has been asked to put a stop to a certain amount of hockey playing. Last week the council decided that it would allow hockey playing in the mornings and posted signs to that effect at the rink, but it did not have the desired effect and the boys continued to play hockey any time they felt like it. The council decided to put an officer at the rink to see that the rules were lived up to.

DULUTH MAN GIVEN DISTRICT POSITION

Albert Holt Honored By District Scandinavian Good Templars.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twelfth semi-annual session of the First district lodge of the Scandinavian Independent Order of Good Templars, comprising eight counties in Northeastern Minnesota, and representing twenty-four subordinate lodges with more than 1,200 members, came to a close Sunday evening in Monitor hall after one of the most successful meetings in point of attendance and interest ever held. More than fifty delegates were present, coming from the Mesaba, Vermilion and Cuyuna ranges and from Duluth, Cloquet, Sandstone, Two Harbors and other cities and towns in the district. Much important business was transacted and many interesting reports from lodges and officers were received, showing a substantial growth in the membership of the order in the district.

For "Dry" Amendment.

A resolution petitioning congress to amend the national Constitution, forever prohibiting the sale, manufacture, importation, exportation, or transportation of beverages or foods containing alcohol was unanimously adopted, and a copy will be sent to Congressman Clarence B. Miller. Another resolution recommending more aggressive temperance education in the district was adopted, and Hans Olson of Hibbing was elected to the newly-created office of temperance instructor under direction of the National College of Good Templary.

The next session of the district lodge will be held at Sandstone Aug. 22.

Schwarz; piano solo, Esther Olson; dialogue, "King Skule," Christian Olsen and Haakon Sand; duet, Agnes and Fred Turquist; address, "Temperance," Rev. E. B. Peterson; recitation, "Prof. Dinkelspegelman," Ephraim Johnson; "Tomtarnes Song," Normanna quartet.

The banquet committee who arranged the program and furnished the banquet are: Ephraim Johnson, Louis Donaldson, Christ. Olson and the Misses Hildur Jacobson, Hanna Hellstone, Hildur Waniand and Anna Carlson.

GILBERT FEARING ELECTION CONTEST

Rumored Mining Companies May Not Accept Result of Election.

Gilbert, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The citizens of Gilbert are well pleased with the results of the annexation election held Saturday which resulted in a vote of 60 to 33 in favor of annexation. It is not thought that the mining companies will endeavor to contest the election. The result of the election will be that the assessed valuation of Gilbert will be increased very materially, and it will be able to take its place among other villages on the range. There are a few improvements that are needed, but practically all the great improvements, such as sewers and waterworks have already been installed.

YEOMEN CELEBRATE.

Hibbing and Chisholm Members Gather at Hibbing in Joint Session.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—An anniversary banquet preceded by initiatory exercises marked the joint session of members of the local and the Chisholm homesteads of Yeomen here last night which was attended by J. H. Murphy, state manager and other prominent members of the order.

Judge T. F. Brady delivered the address of welcome with J. H. Murphy responding. Other addresses were made as follows:

"Yeomanry," W. E. Davy, chief correspondent; "Duties of Officers and Members," Ada L. Garland, supreme sentinel; "Reflections of a New Members," F. B. Freeman; "Sunny Side of Life," F. C. Coolbaugh; "Fraternity," P. E. Haruff.

Short talks were made by W. H. Beckstad, Mrs. W. H. Beckstad, Dr. W. R. Schmidt, Dr. G. N. Butchart and Kenneth Murray.

Members of the women's drill team are Emma Kleffman, Carrie Rittman, Annie Wyne, Elizabeth Ross, Laura Schoble and Emma Getchell. The reception committee last night was composed of Miss Marguerite Stack; Miss Emma Kleffman, Albert Pittman, Judge T. F. Brady, Miss Gladys Love, Mrs. Annie Wyne, Miss Nannie Almquist.

BISHOP QUAYLE'S DATE.

Definitely Decides to Come to Virginia March 10.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Thomas Grice, pastor of the First Methodist church, received a letter yesterday from Bishop William A. Quayle in which he states that he will be in Virginia on Tuesday, March 10, to deliver his lecture on "Shylock and David." The lecture was postponed last week on account of the death of the bishop's daughter in Chicago. It is also planned to hold the meeting and banquet of the Head of the Lakes Methodist Ministers' association, which was postponed for the same reason, on the occasion of the bishop's visit.

LAUDS SPOONER SCHOOL

Dr. Colgrove of Virginia Praises Institution of Village.

Spooner, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. F. P. Colgrove, head of the Virginia, Minn., schools, visited the local school in the interest of the extension bureau. He stated that Spooner had as fine a school building, well arranged as could be found in the state. He particularly stated that the manual training room under the supervision of the superintendent, Miss Ericson, was one of the nicest it had been his pleasure to visit.

Burial at Fond du Lac.

Mesaba, Minn., Feb. 24.—The funeral of Mrs. James T. Moriarity, who died here Saturday night, will take place at Fond du Lac, Wis., today. The husband and two sons survive.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Nine-tenths of All Stomach Trouble Said to Be Due to Acidity.

A Physician's Advice on Cause and Cure.

A famous physician whose succesful researches into the cause and cure of stomach and intestinal diseases have earned for him an international reputation, said in the course of a recent lecture that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs, were directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach which in turn was due nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritated and inflamed the delicate lining of the stomach, but also set up gastritis and stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines as well as of medical treatment for the stomach, stating that he and his colleagues have secured remarkable results by the use of ordinary bisurated magnesia, which, by neutralizing the acidity of the food, removes the source of the trouble. He contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub liniment on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself — neutralize the acid and the stomach trouble will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the condition of the stomach remains acid; remove the acidity, and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will then heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach or heartburn should get a small bottle of bisurated magnesia from their druggist, and take a teaspoonful in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after meals, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this being the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases. Village—President, G. M. Richards; clerk, J. E. Riley; treasurer, Fred Lundeen; for trustees, J. G. Niemi, Peter Niemi, Peter O'Donnell and Max Glassner.

CHISHOLM HONORED WASHINGTON SUNDAY.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Washington's birthday was only partly observed here Monday as a holiday. The city clerk's office was open for business and received some filings from candidates for office. The banks remained open as usual. Schools were open as usual and many of the business houses kept open all day. The fact that extra efforts were made to get good attendances at the churches Sunday where Washington programs were given tended to distract the importance of making yesterday the holiday.

VIRGINIA CURLERS WIN RANGE TROPHY.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The McDonald trophy offered the best curling team among Eveleth, Hibbing and Virginia curlers goes to Virginia as a result of the final contest between Hibbing and Virginia curlers played yesterday afternoon and evening here and in Virginia. The Virginia curlers won by a score of 87 to 79 for Hibbing.

The scores made were:

WILL ARRAIGN SAARII.

Man Brought From Montana to Answer for Child Abandonment.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—This afternoon it is expected that Judge Hughes will hear the plea of Emil Saarii who was arrested and brought back from Butte, Mont., on the charge of abandoning his 2-year-old child. His wife is an inmate of the Fergus Falls asylum. The trial of the case against Ethel McCarthy indicted for alleged robbery in a Chisholm saloon is dragging along and may be concluded today.

HIBBING ELKS HAVE GREAT, BIG TIME.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Deputy District Grand Exalted Ruler Charles D. Johnson of Brainerd present last night the local lodge of Elks held a memorable session. A big class was initiated after which there was a banquet and social with many visiting Elks in attendance.

Fire in Costin Saloon.

Mountain Iron, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The volunteer fire brigade was called to the village of Costin early Monday where fire had been discovered in the basement of the Firn saloon. The fire is believed to have originated in the bursting or over-turning of a kerosene stove, which was kept in the basement to prevent the beer from freezing. The damage did not amount to very much.

Dumas Camp Destroyed.

Deer River, Minn., Feb. 24.—Fire completely destroyed the lumber camp of T. Welsh located at Dumas, five miles west of here. The fire was caused by a defective chimney in the cook shack. A new set of camps was erected at once by a large force and the work was delayed only a short time.

SODA SWEETENS ACID STOMACHS, ENDS DYSPEPSIA

When we eructate sour food, acrid fluids and we belch gases it doesn't mean the stomach is lacking in digestive juices, says a noted authority who states that nearly all stomach distress and indigestion is a result of acidity; meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the digestive organs. This irrating acid retards the digestion and promotes food fermentation. Then everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, producing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest or we eructate food, constantly belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, bloating, water-brash and nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets at any pharmacy and take one tablet anytime, followed by a tumbler of water. This will instantly neutralize acidity, stop fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

A well-known local druggist says these 10 grain Sodagen tablets are an old favorite Antacid used by thousands of men and women because of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

WILL MAKE REPORT ON WATER SYSTEM

Expert Expected to Give Hibbing Some Important Advice.

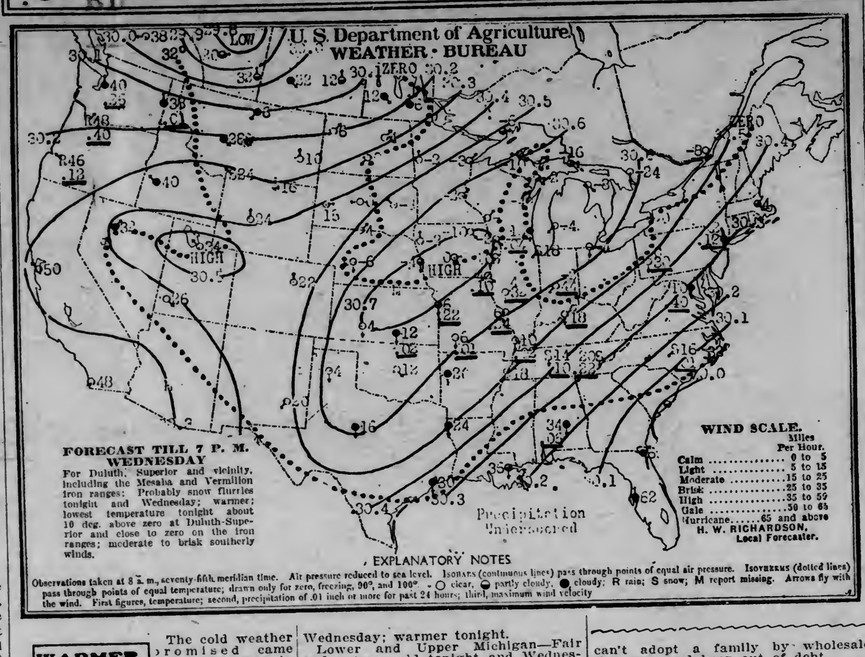

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big feature of the village council meeting to be held tonight is expected to be the report of Earl B. Jackson, the hydraulic expert, upon the whole water works and the plans he will recommend to give this village a system in keeping with the growth of the community. Besides the water and light committee is expected to report upon the proposed changes to be made in the firehall to meet the requirements of the petit juries of district court.

ABSCESS ON BRAIN RESULTS IN DEATH

Joseph Markovich, Who Came Recently From East, Dies at Ely.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Markovich, a miner, living near Pittsburg, Pa., died here last night. He came to Chisholm about three weeks ago to visit friends and last week came to Ely spending five days of the week here in the hospital. He was visiting at the home of Andrew Turbich of the Savoy location. Death was caused by abscess on the brain. He was 33 years of age, and unmarried.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

The cold weather promised came along, but was in a milder dose than was threatened. The lowest temperature reached during the night was only 4 deg. below zero. And warmer weather is promised for today, tonight and tomorrow, 10 deg. above zero being the worst promised for Duluth and zero for the ranges.

The weather ago today was fair and cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:57 and will set this evening at 5:46, giving ten hours and forty-nine minutes of sunlight, four minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather prevails in Southern and Atlantic states, but throughout the Northwest the temperature has moderated considerably. During the last twenty-four hours light rain or snow fell over the Ohio and Lower Mississippi valleys, Middle Atlantic states and the North Pacific region. Freezing temperature occurred this morning at Galveston, Tex."

A REAL NERVE AND BODY-BUILDING MEDICINE

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run-down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for its good effect upon alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and, through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, puny children and others who are weak, run-down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"The Road to Happiness."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

AT THE LYCEUM.

William Hodge Himself Is the Road to Happiness.

Not that it would make any difference, because everybody got his full money's worth in laughs, but just to satisfy one's curiosity it would be interesting to know whether Mr. Lawrence Whitman wrote "The Road to Happiness" as a serious play or a delicate bit of burlesque.

If the daughter had only been turned out in the snow storm there could have been no doubt about it, but it was a fine, warm, bright day when she left "hum." That lack of a snow storm constitutes the element of doubt. The child was there. There was even a suggestion of the "papers." The villain in his red necktie was glorious. The poor but honest attorney—otherwise Mr. Hodge—was little Johnny-on-the-job whenever the cruel, harsh parent attempted violence on any of the members of his family. And the way the cruel, harsh parent began shedding step daughters, daughters, wives, sons, aunts, sisters and other relatives on the poor but honest young lawyer made one tremble for his slender bank account of "less than $100" when the first month's bills began to come in. It can't be done on that much money in these days of high living—that's all there is to it. You can't adopt a family by wholesale that way and keep out of debt.

But what's the use? Whichever way you look at it, "The Road to Happiness" is surely the road to at least three hours of enjoyment. If you take it as a bit of delicate satire, it is delicious. "Benjamin Hardcastle"! Why, that name tells it all. Some poor girl was going to be wronged from the start, turned out of home and told never to "show her face again." It just had to be with a name like that.

On the other hand if you are of a matter-of-fact mind, it is not hard to swallow "The Road to Happiness," if as good a play as "Way Down East." And so Mr. Whitman has you whipped either way. If your sense of humor won't let you accept the accumulation of the Hardcastle family by the young lawyer, and the tar and feather incident, and all the rest of it, you can get double value for your money.

If you like the "by-gosh" drama of darkest New England, you have it in the best of its kind. It would clear matters up a little, though, if he had just driven the daughter out into a snow storm.

But however one takes the play, one has to admit the red-headed, angular, deliciously humorous personality of Mr. William Hodge. He is as distinctly American as Mark Twain, Daniel Voorhees Pike of "The Man From Home" is Jim Whitman of "The Road to Happiness." Mr. Hodge can't get away from that personality of his, and nobody wants him to. If he ever courts financial suicide by trying to hide his dryly humorous personality in some uncongenial role, there should be a nation-wide petition against it. He is the original road to happiness himself, with his whimsical humor, his delightful drawl and his quiet effectiveness. Any average American audience will willingly stand for even a revival of the old "thrillers" if Mr. Hodge but continues as the Yankee hero. They can revive the old sawmill scene, or the murder in the old mill, or bring on their snow storms. Let them kick their ruined daughters into the cold, cruel world; let them foreclose their mortgages; but by all means don't let Mr. Hodge get away from his own personality. It adds too much to the merriment of the American people.

Scott Cooper as Benjamin Hardcastle was sure a tough old nut. He would have charged his mother 10 per cent a month. He was hard—cruelly hard. He was harder than flint. He had to be. Then when the steel of Jim Whitman struck him the sparks flew.

And James Porter, as played by George B. Lund, was a delicious villain. Back in the old days how the gallery would have hissed James—the cur, the hound.

And Miss Marion Bust as Mrs. Hardcastle looked like the disembodied ghost of all the ill-treated wives of all the Benjamin Hardcastles that ever ground the daughters of New England under their iron heels. That's a cruel country, New England, with its bitter winters.

Miss Gertrude Hitz, as the wronged Viola, and Miss Reeva Greenwood as Eva Hardcastle are two charmingly natural young girls who fit into their parts most acceptably.

Taylor Carrol as Rev. Isaiah Speakon and A. L. Evans as old Phil Hunt had two well-done bits. Even the old Senator, the horse, was a gem.

And it's all clean, wholesome entertainment. There isn't a problem in it. There is no tiresome sex question. There are no "white slaves" nor "triangles" nor double meanings or symbolisms. It's all as clean and wholesome as a breeze from Lake Superior, and you'll enjoy it whether you look on it as a little delicate satire or swallow it at a gulp, at its face value. It will be repeated tonight at the Lyceum.

Amusement Notes.

"The old-time 'favorite actor' is disappearing from the American stage," said Harry Gilfoil, who is headlining the Orpheum bill this week in his old-time role of "Baron Sands."

"In the old days every occasional theatergoer had his favorite actor or actress. Once or twice a year, or oftener if finances permitted, the man and his wife would go to the theater to see their favorite actor or actress. Maybe it was Mansfield or Fanny Davenport or one of the other old stars. Nowadays things are changed. Instead of going a few times to see some great star, the whole family goes, two or three times a month or perhaps two or three times a week to a vaudeville or motion picture show. I am not prepared to say whether it is a change for the worse or the better. It depends on the class of shows they frequent. But it certainly is thinning the ranks of stars. We haven't many of the old-time stars nowadays. Acting as a profession seems to be deteriorating. In the old days a man had to have training to be an actor. Now they are all 'types' playing one part like parrots.

HARRY GILFOIL.

"And the gallery is a thing of the past. In the old days we could always count on the gallery to make a show 'go.' The verdict of the gallery was just as important or more so than the verdict of the pit. Nowadays the gallery is empty and you will find the old 'gods' at the picture shows and the vaudeville houses. No longer does the newsboy save up his pennies to get 25 cents and head for the gallery stairs. Now he takes in two or three or possibly five picture shows for the same money.

"There is certainly a great revolution in progress in the amusement business. What it will develop time alone will tell."

Elsie Gilbert, who is appearing at the Empress theater with her romping girls and collies, was one of the first women in Chicago to ride in a strike-breaking taxi. She called the cab and jumped in, when, to her amazement, she saw that a policeman was on the front seat with the driver.

"Why are you here?" she asked him. He explained about the strike.

"Well, am I in danger of being hit with a brick?" she inquired.

"Not by a long shot," returned the brave officer, his chest expanding. "I will protect you."

And he did.

At least the taxi returned unharmed and reported an uneventful voyage.

A new feature will be instituted at the Empress theater, starting Thursday. The management has completed arrangements to run three-reel feature films with all its vaudeville bills. The first feature is "The Lost Treasure," a thrilling drama of the West in which the well-known and favorite motion picture artists, Edward Coxen and Winifred Greenwood have the principal roles. The prices will be the same as usual.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? If you have any of these symptoms, do not despair of getting better but begin now, today, to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. See how the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes pure and red and the entire system is strengthened to meet every demand upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for all women but they are particularly valuable to girls of school age who show symptoms of going into a decline, who become pale, nervous and languid. These pills aid in securing perfect development and health by strengthening the system and purifying and building up the blood. Thin blood during the growing years of a girl's life usually means a flat-chested and hollow-cheeked womanhood. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and color to cheeks and lips.

JAMESTOWN GETS MEET

Given Next Convention of North Dakota Federated Women's Clubs.

Valley City, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jamestown's invitation to the North Dakota Federation of Women's clubs to hold its 1914 convention there was accepted by the executive board at the midwinter meeting held here with Miss Minnie Neilson, president.

Mrs. E. B. Goss of Bismarck, chairman of the committee in charge of the $5,000 endowment fund, reported half the sum has been subscribed, and she is optimistic at the outlook for obtaining the balance of the fund within the coming twelve months.

Eight New Clubs.

Eight new clubs were admitted to membership, as follows: Affiliated Nurses' association of North Dakota, Mothers' club of New Rockford, Civics club of Eckles, Minerva club of Hope, Progressive Study club of Brantford, Homemakers' club of Carrington, Women's Excelsior club of Hatton and Women's club of Beach.

The press committee also was increased by the addition of one member from each district association. The question of establishing a federation newspaper was discussed, but no action taken.

The following committees for the state convention were named:

Resolutions—Mattie M. Davis, Fargo; Mrs. S. Wolfe, Minot; Mrs. C. Hutchinson, La Moure; Mrs. Ireland, Hankinson and Mrs. C. W. Harris, Bismarck.

Credentials — Mrs. Walter Reid, Amenia; Mrs. C. W. Butz, Devils Lake.

FOULKE BRANDT LEAVES AMERICA

Pardoned New Yorker Says Detectives Trailed Him in Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb 24.—Foulke E. Brandt, Swedish youth, imprisoned in New York state for years, befriended by United States Senator Knute Nelson, Former Governor Sulzer of New York and other public men, came to Minnesota in search of liberty and to live down the past. Even here he failed to find personal freedom, and he has sailed away from the land of liberty, and, having a criimnal record, can never return.

In Minneapolis, a few days before going to New York and sailing for Germany, the young man told the story of his search for liberty and his failure to find it.

Detectives Trailed Him.

"I was released from prison in New York state only to be hounded by detectives everywhere I went," he said while here. "In the lumber camps of Northern Minnesota, in Minneapolis and St. Paul, wherever I turned, private detectives were shadowing me. I felt their presence. I got used to their faces.

"I have been trailed and shadowed ever since the restoration of my liberty. Private detectives have constantly dogged my feet ever since I came West. Why they are watching me I cannot fathom.

"This communication is forced from me by the stress of mind produced by the knowledge of the circulation of these false rumors, and by a desire to refute them and treat them in a manner that they deserve. There is much fighting ability left in me yet."

NEW HOSTELRY ERECTED BY DULUTHIANS AT BAUDETTE

THE NEW REX HOTEL.

Baudette, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new Rex hotel recently opened here was built by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company. Hugh Fawcett, contractor. The building has forty-seven rooms and cost $45,000. It is of red pressed brick with Bedford stone trimmings, three stories high and has sixty-five feet frontage on Main street. The main floor consists of a fine well-lighter lobby on the corner, facing Main street, and Second avenue, a bar and a billiard and pool room. A barber shop will be opened in the basement in the near future. The rooms are furnished in mahogany, walnut and bird's-eye maple.

The managers are W. F. and L. F. Hackett, both experienced in the hotel business.

BARNESVILLE SUED.

State Wants Gross Earnings Tax From City Owned Telephone.

Barnesville, Minn., Feb. 24.—Demanding that the city of Barnesville pay $1,567.24 which it is alleged it owes on gross earnings taxes for the years 1903 to 1912 inclusive, on its municipally owned telephone exchange, the state of Minnesota has brought suit against the city in an attempt to collect the amount.

Barnesville has refused to pay the gross earnings tax on the ground that municipal corporations are exempt from taxation. The laws of the state as they now stand require railroad companies, telegraph companies and telephone companies to pay a tax of 3 per cent on their gross earnings each year.

The state is taking the ground that the city of Barnesville, being engaged in the telephone business, is subject to this taxation as any other telephone company. This case is in the nature of a test case, and will be watched with interest throughout the state.

FORT FRANCES' MAYOR IS PROSPEROUS CITIZEN

CAPT. LOUIS CHRISTIE.

Fort Frances, Ont., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald).—Capt. Louis Christie, mayor of Fort Frances, is one of the town's foremost and wealthiest citizens.

Arriving here in May, 1894, he has seen the city and district grow from a sparsely settled district to one of the best in New Ontario. Embarking in the butcher business, he has succeeded in building up one of the best ment markets in Canada. He has a large stock farm a few miles out of town fronting on Rainy river, and another large ranch in Saskatchewan, where he has several hundred head of cattle, sheep and hogs. He is independent of the meat trust and buys and raises all his own live stock, which he kills just outside of the town. He has served as councillor for several years, is a member of the council of the District board of trade, a member of Granite Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and of the Dominion Elks. He is a captain in the local militia commanding a company in the Ninety-eighth regiment.

TWO SYRIANS HELD.

Alleged to Have Robbed and Beaten North Dakota Peddler.

Ross, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with beating George Bail, a French peddler into insensibility and then robbing him of $370, Sam Juma and Alex Jenany, two members of the Syrian farm colony near here, are held to the district court under $2,000 bonds. Bail purchased a horse from the colony with the understanding that if it proved too light he could exchange it for a heavier animal. He went back to make the exchange, when he alleges he was choked and beaten into insensibility and robbed. The Syrians assert he was kicked by a horse.

COL. POTTER IS BURIED.

Aitkin Business Houses Are Closed During the Funeral.

Aitkin, Minn., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Col. Warren Potter, who died last Friday, was held Monday morning from the Congregational church, Rev. W. E. Hammond conducting the service. During the services all business houses in town were closed as a mark of respect for the departed, who was one of the leading business men of this section of the state.

Many friends from out of town were present at the funeral, among them being S. G. Iverson, state auditor, from St. Paul.

CARRINGTON, N. D., IS AFTER FREE DELIVERY

Carrington, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Free mail delivery will soon be sought by Carrington. The receipts of the postoffice are now sufficiently large to entitle the people to that convenience. As soon as the members of the Commercial club feel assured the receipts will be maintained they will seek free delivery. Application will probably be made after July.

MAY DIVIDE BIG McHENRY COUNTY

Velva, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lincoln county is likely to be created out of the southern part of McHenry without a great deal of operation. McHenry is one of the largest counties of the state. The county seat is at Towner on the old main line of the Great Northern. Through the southern part runs the new Great Northern main line, the main line of the Soo and two branch lines. All these roads run in the wrong direction to reach the county seat and it takes a three days' trip to go from Anamoose to Towner and return. It is necessary to go by rail to Minot, then double back or else make a long drive.

HAZELTON, N. D., HAS SOMETHING DOING

Hazelton, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village had an unusual amount of excitement as a result of the turning on of the new electric lights, the arrival of the new chemical engines for the fire department and the instruments for the recently organized band. A formal celebration will be arranged in honor of the opening of the electric light plant.

Catches Bob Cat.

Shields, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Frederick has captured a wild cat or bob cat, forty-two inches in length, and is having it mounted. A number of the animals are known to be along the Missouri and the Cannonball river bottoms, but Frederick is the only man who has killed one this winter. The animals have caused the farmers considerable loss of domesic stock.

Farm School Week.

Carrington, N. D., Feb. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual farm week of instruction under the direction of the Carrington agricultural school was opened here Monday and continues during the entire week. There is a very satisfactory enrollment, many farmers from Foster and adjoining counties taking advantage of the opportunity of studying modern farm methods.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—A committee appointed by Judge George Thompson in the circuit court for Dunn county, and consisting of ex-Sheriff Henry Miller of the town of Weston, Dunn county; Henry Ausman, Sr., of Elk Mound; John Cramer of the town of Rusk, made an award $2,389.50 in favor of Perry Albricht and against the Chippewa Valley Railway Light & Power company. The damage awarded is a compensation for the flooding of forty-five acres of land belonging to Mr. Albricht as the result of the building of the dam at Red Cedar.

Houghton—Louis Bouranobis, 25 years of age, a brakeman on the Copper Range railroad, who was injured by falling under a train at Frimountain Friday, died. The accident both broke his legs and was such a shock to his system that the latter cause is given for his death.

Hancock—Mrs. John Mackin died Feb. 21, at the home of her father, Charles Culnan, in Dollar Bay, death being due to hemorrhage. The deceased had been ill but a short time. She was 28 years of age and is survived by her husband, a noted ball player, and one son, her father, a sister, Miss Margaret, and two brothers, Norman of Dollar Bay and Leo of Calgary.

Laurium—What is believed to be the heaviest horse ever shipped into the Copper country was brought here by C. B. Saxby from Iowa. The horse weighs 2,020 pounds.

Lake Linden—Word has been received here of the marriage of Mrs. Anna Smith Lynch to P. C. Hays at Calgary. The bride is a former resident of Lake Linden.

Calumet—The banks of Calumet, Laurium and vicinity are receiving subscriptions for the fund which is being raised for the support of the dependents of the four deputy sheriffs convicted in circuit court a few days ago.

Hancock—The prospects for a branch postoffice at the Quincy location appear to be brighter at the present time than previously, and the people can only await the action of the postoffice officials at Washington now following the recommendation of Inspector Schlabach.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—United States Commissioner of Education Claxton has agreed to attend the annual meeting of the North Dakota County Superintendents' association meeting, the date of which will be fixed to suit Commissioner Claxton's convenience, and which will be held here. Supt. Taylor, now on an Eastern trip, will confer in Washington with Claxton as to dates.

Mandan, N. D.—Engineer John Gibsen of the Northern Pacific, in charge of construction, denies in an interview given here that the company is considering the construction of a cutoff line for freight traffic which would carry that business by way of Mandan, Dun Center and westward.

Rugby, N. D.—Pierce county will join the better farming movement in North Dakota, the board of county commissioners having approved the plan of making a levy for the support of a county agent. Under the plan adopted, Pierce county will invest about $2,600 annually in the work of the county agent.

MRS. PANKHURST'S JOKE.

Los Angeles Times: Mrs. Pankhurst, discussing with a New York reporter her reception by the government, said:

"I was, I confess, taken aback. I entered the bay with my heart glowing with the warmest sentiments—and they shipped me off to Ellis island as an undesirable.

"I felt like that young man who said, bending over a beautiful young girl passionately:

"'Miss Higginson—Arabella—there is something has been trembling on my lips for the last three months.'

"'Yes, I've noticed it in certain strong lights,' she answered. 'Why don't you shave it off?'"

Blood Disorders

In all cases of Blood Poison it is only necessary for patients to remain in our office just long enough to receive the infusion, after which they can go to their hotel, business or home, with a feeling of relief, such as sufferers never dream of. We invite you, dear reader, to come and investigate. We assure you of satisfactory results. The painful and other distressing symptoms disappear, never to return again. After you have received this treatment directly into your blood, we will have a test made of your blood condition after the infusion in order that you may know absolutely and positively for all time that every vestige of the poison is entirely eliminated from your system. Such tests we never make ourselves, but have it done in a Bacteriological Laboratory in Chicago. If your case is reported "Negative" you are cured forever, and the disease is entirely out of your system.

NO NEED for HOT SPRINGS any more; you get the best cure right in Duluth. Save your expensive fares, those outrageous hotel bills and other grafts. Thomas A. Edison, the great "electrical wizard," says: "The German discovery for the cure of blood disorders is the most important achievement of the year 1914—and that most of us have the disease and do not know it."

We guarantee a painless and safe treatment, giving the genuine German Remedy according to the great German professor's latest instructions, till completely cured. All consultations free. Hours—9-8; Sundays, 10-1.

RAN AWAY TO LEARN TANGO

Little Superior Boy, 10 Years of Age, Haunts Dancing Academy Four Days—Mother Ill From Worry.

His fond desire to learn the tango caused John Belonga, 10 years old, of 309 West Seventh street, Superior, to forget all about his home and mother last Friday afternoon, when on his way home from the Orpheum theater, where he had spent the afternoon.

Johnny was walking along East First street, humming a new song to himself. The tango was surely a great dance and he would learn it the first opportunity he had, he decided.

Just at this point Johnny passed a dancing academy, where the professor was conducting a class for tango aspirants. The music from the piano floated out of the window and was heard by the Superior youngster. It was tango music, cure enough. At last his opportunity had come.

And forthwith Johnny forgot all about his home and mother and the promise he had made at noon time that he would be home immediately after the show was out. He rushed [illegible] and there saw just what he had hoped for. Here was where he could learn the dance and maybe some day go on the stage. It would only be a matter of time, he decided.

Watches Dancers.

Stepping into the large hall, unnoticed by anyone, Johnny stood in a corner and watched the dancers go through the gyrations of the new steps. After the professor and his pupils had departed, Johnny had the whole floor to himself.

Johnny kept on dancing until it was dark. He still kept on and was found there pivoting around by the professor, who had returned for his evening classes. He told the instructor his story, but when told to go home, he refused to listen and insisted on remaining for the evening dances.

And when it came time to go home, Johnny found that it was too late to go to Superior alone. So he decided to remain in the hall over night. The next morning he was found by the professor's assistant, who gave him some food and cared for him that day. The boy roomed with him at the Whelan hotel at night. This kept on until yesterday afternoon, when the assistant learned from Johnny that he had left his home in Superior last Friday and had failed to go home since then. He turned the youngster over to Patrolman Smollett, who brought him to police headquarters.

This morning a neighbor of Johnny's came to police headquarters and took him back to Superior. His mother was too ill from worry to come herself, the police learned.

And now Johnny is going back, he said, to show all the "fellows" how to really dance the tango. He knows.

GEN. HUNTER LIGGETT.

Brig. Gen. Hunter Liggett, president of the army war college, is in line for the place of chief of staff now held by Gen. Leonard Wood. It is thought Gen. Wood's assistant, Gen. Wotherspoon, will succeed him in April; that on his retirement Gen. Tasker Bliss will get the coveted position, and that to succeed him Gen. Liggett or Gen. Hugh L. Scott will be chosen. Gen. Bliss will not retire till 1915, however, so the appointment is still a long way ahead of Gen. Liggett.

HUMORS OF THE ALPS.

Wide World Magazine: Nearly every adventurer upon the Alps nowadays carries a camera. It is a sign of the times; people have become obsessed with the importance of realties, and the camera is the only possible agent to enable you to show realities to your friends. It is not of much use to tell them about some strange sight, or of some curious conformation of Nature you may have met with in your climb. You must show it to them.

A feature of the High Alps today is the number of worthless who earn their bread by means of the camera. There is an old gentleman at Grindelwald, for instance, who makes quite a ecmfortable competency by standing in front of his chalet when visitors laden with cameras are coming up the side of the mountain, and blowing upon a tremendous horn.

"How very quaint!" exclaims the unsuspecting tourist. "The dear old shepherd is calling home the cows." The dear old shepherd, however, is a man of sound business principles. He doesn't drag his antiquated instrument about his house for the fun of the thing; neither does he perform upon it for the benefit of his flocks and herds, for he owns none. But he will tell you frankly, when you ask him to stand "quite still," that he will very willingly pose in whatever manner you like, but you must first pay him a couple of francs for his trouble. That old gentleman is probably the best-known character in the Grisons, and the hero of many local tales.

A CONVICT'S WONDERFUL INVENTION.

A wonderful invention known as the "power absorber" has been perfected by a convict in the Arizona state prison at Florence, Ariz., says a writer in the Wide World, and the story of how his device won freedom for the prisoner has elements of human interest as great as any tale of fiction. Roy J. Meyers, the convict inventor in question, is still a young man, who, before his downfall, had invented several machines and appliances of an electrical nature. While serving a sentence for forgery in Arizona he was given employment about the power plant of the prison, and during his spare time made and operated a small and somewhat crude device for taking static electricity from the atmosphere and transforming it into a dynamic current, capable of producing light and power. The model which he built was used for sparking a gas engine in the pumping plant. This device came to the attention of Miss Kate Barnard, state commissioner of charities and corrections of Oklahoma, who was visiting the Arizona institution, and her inspection convinced her that the invention was one of tremendous possibilities for good. Her interview with Meyers, a quiet, unassuming young fellow, led her to believe that his crime was not the result of criminal tendencies, and that, while he had offended against the law, the man could be trusted to do right if given another chance. She therefore pleaded his cause with Governor Hunt, and later addressed the legislature of Arizona to secure a parole of thirty days for the prisoner, in order that he might travel without guard to Washington D. C., and apply for a patent on his "power absorber." This was necessary to protect his rights and to enable him to make his invention a commercial success. Meyers had eight months to serve when the parole was granted, and, being without means, his benefactress headed a subscription list among the legislators to raise money to pay Meyers' traveling expenses. The governor sent him a personal letter and put the man on his honor to return and complete his sentence. Meyers did not disappoint his friends. The trip was made with no guard or escort, and some time was spent in Washington preparing the necessary drawing and documents for the patent office officials. The inventor built a model for actual demonstration while in Washington, and when this was submitted to the patent office he was allowed to file his application for a patent. His return to the penitentiary was made a few days before the time limit had expired, and the faith of the governor and Miss Barnard was justified. Since then the convict who proved that he could be trusted has been given a further parole, which will, doubtless, be extended to the end of his sentence. Not many details of the device have been given out by Meyers, who, naturally, does not wish to make public any facts that would jeopardize his rights until the patent is finally granted.

EX-CONVICT RIVAL OF JENNINGS IN POLITICS

GEORGE CRUMP, JR.

Another ex-convict is offering himself as a candidate for governor of Oklahoma. He has asked Al Jennings to withdraw and leave the field to him. His name is George Crump, Jr. He served in the Boer war and holds a medal from the British government. He was also in the United States army and left it with a good record. He has been second lieutenant of the national guard of Arkansas. He was imprisoned on a charge of embezzlement in the matter of the sale of Indian lands. He was pardoned by the lieutenant governor of the state, against the wishes of Governor Cruce, who was absent.

CANINE NEWSDEALERS.

Wide World Magazine: Two Chicago dogs—an Irish terrier and a water-spaniel—the property of a successful newsdealer of that city, are proving themselves very useful to their master. If the latter goes to lunch, or has to leave his stand for a time, the two watchful animals sell newspapers for him. "Rex," the Irish terrier, perches himself on the stand and grips between his teeth a big calabash pipe and a copy of a newspaper, while "Brownie," his partner, takes up his position on a little soap box beside the stand, and holds in his teeth a little "plug" hat for the safe-keeping of the pennies. When a passerby buys a paper, "Brownie" sits up to receive the coin. Both of the dogs seem to have a fierce as well as a sharp eye to business and their master places great faith in them.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

NO LONGER A TOY MILITIA

Foss Naval Militia Bill Puts Reserves on Substantial Footing.

Commander Eaton Feels Jubilant Over Passage of Much Needed Act.

When President Wilson last week affixed his signature to the Foss naval militia bill and made it a national law, a signal victory was won by those in that branch of public service who have fought persistently for the last twelve years to place the naval reserves on a higher plane and bring them into closer touch with the regular navy.

This, at least, is the way that Guy A. Eaton, commander of Minnesota naval militia, regards it. He declares that the Foss bill puts the naval militia on the same footing with the Federal government as the Dick bill did the National guard, when it became a law about ten years ago. Mr. Eaton expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the announcement that it has finally been made a law.

"It is something that we have been fighting for, that we have been crying for, for years," he said. "It is the biggest thing that ever happened to the naval militia. It means that the naval reserves will be put in very much closer touch with the regular navy and will in reality become an integral part of the national navy."

The new law will, it is believed, go a long way toward dispelling the idea that the naval militia is a sort of "toy navy." It has a number of important provisions which will put the organization in this and in the other states on a stronger footing and this is welcomed both by the officers and men now in the service.

Among some of the things provided for by the bill are:

On Uniform Basis.

After three years from the date of passage, it will be necessary for all states supporting a naval militia to pass laws conforming with the regulations which the secretary of the navy will prescribe. This will put all of the various state organizations on the same basis. Everything will be uniform.

The bill also allows the secretary of the navy to furnish the various state organizations of naval militia with equipment and supplies of all kinds. Eventually, the naval reserves in each state will have the same equipment which a landing force from one of the battleships of the United States navy would have.

Every officer or enlisted man who is desirous of attending a government school of naval instruction or a college where naval tactics are taught will be given the same rank and pay that he would be entitled to if he were in the regular navy.

The bill allows any officer the privilege of making a cruise on the battleships of the Atlantic fleet or the armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet with the pay of his rank while on this duty.

It further creates in each state organization the office of disbursing officer who will pay the officers and men on their annual cruise or tour of duty from a Federal appropriation. Heretofore, the officers and men have been paid by the state.

It is also provides that the secretary of the navy may assign one or more officers or enlisted men to duty aboard a naval militia training ship for the purpose of instructing and examining the work of the officers and men. It is also within the province of the secretary of the navy, under the law, to permanently detail such an officer to remain on the training ship to act with the ship's officers in an advisory capacity.

Prescribing Rank.

The bill also provides that states may adopt the standard of professional and physical examinations prescribed by the secretary of the navy and that, if they do, their forces may be mustered into the service of the United States in time of war or trouble. In that case the officers and men would have the same rank as on the training ship.

Commander Eaton declares that the local divisions of the naval militia are now recruiting their ranks in anticipation of having well trained squads for the trip which the Minnesota naval reserves will make to Panama in 1915. The naval reserves will be called to New York and there placed on board a battleship which will make a cruise to Panama, through the big canal and then up the Pacific coast to San Francisco. The big exposition will be in full swing at that time. The naval reserves will return to Duluth across the country by railroad. Commander Eaton expects to have full divisions for the Panama trip.

A number of Minnesota officers and men are also looking forward to a trip to Japan on one of the Pacific cruisers, according to Mr. Eaton.

SWINBURNE NO TOBACCO USER.

London Chronicle: Tennyson was the smoking poet of the Victorian era. His two great contemporaries—Browning and Swinburne—hated tobacco. Especially Swinburne. He expressed himself with characteristic vehemence. He had wandered into the Arts club, where he sought, and sought in vain, a room that was free from the fumes of tobacco smoke.

At length his fury overcame him. "James the First," he exclaimed, "was a knave, a tyrant, a fool, a liar, a coward; but I love him, I worship him, because he slit the throat of that filthy blackguard Raleigh, who invented this filthy smoking!"

ANOTHER ON HER.

Judge: Grocer—Wouldn't you like some horseradish?

Mrs. Newlywed — Mercy, no! We don't keep a horse!

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

THE FIRST DEFINITE STEP TOWARD DULUTH FESTIVAL

Retail Merchants' Association Sets the Plan in Motion.

Grocers Also Fall in Line—Much Enthusiasm Is Aroused.

The first definite step toward carrying out the plan for a great midsummer festival and pageant in Duluth in August, 1915, was taken this noon when the directors of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association appointed a committee of three to act on a general committee on arrangements, and instructed its committee to request other organizations to take similar action.

The Retail Grocers' association at its meeting last night also took action strongly favorable to the plan, and appointed a committee to co-operate.

Judging from the initial enthusiasm, the forces back of the plan will soon be fully organized and in working order.

The Duluth Retail Grocers' association gave the plan its unanimous approval last evening and the Duluth Merchants' association did the same thing today at the meeting of its board of directors at noon. Each organization appointed a committee, and it is intended that these committees act as a nucleus around which a general committee will be built from all the commercial organizations of the city.

The action of these two bodies, representing interests that will profit most directly from the plan, and coming right on the heels of a unanimous approval by the Arab Patrol of Aad Temple, makes the event practically assured.

Both the grocers and the merchants decided to put their shoulders to the wheel, and help make the event the biggest thing Duluth has ever done. It must be done on a big scale, they decided, and made an attraction that will draw tourists and pleasure seekers from all parts of the country.

The action of the merchants was taken following an address by Stillman H. Bingham, editor of The Herald, who was invited to outline his ideas to the directors.

The committees appointed will meet in the near future and the work of preparing the big undertaking will be begun in earnest.

The financial part of the event was discussed and it was decided that, despite the big expense in staging such an event, the receipts, either direct or indirect, would cover the final cost.

George M. Peterson, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, who was at both meetings, said today that it was remarkable how much enthusiasm the plan was arousing. Both bodies seemed to feel that Duluth could draw a great number of tourists headed for the Panama exposition.

The committee from the Merchants' association consists of A. K. Squier of the Columbia Clothing company, W. B. Brinkman of the George A. Gray company, A. C. Pearson of the French & Bassett company.

The grocers' committee is: M. R. Brush, George H. Schulenburg, George M. Peterson.

These committees are but a beginning. Other organizations, including the four commercial clubs, the Rotary club, the Drama league, the Woman's council and all fraternal and improvement organizations, will be asked to help. A big general committee is needed, and the work of preparing for the festival will be apportioned among the members of this.

VILLA SAYS BENTON MURDERED FOUR MEN

Also Accuses British Subject of Being Cattle Thief.

Juarez, Feb. 24.—A telegram in which Gen. Villa, at Chihuahua, charged the late William S. Benton with being a cattle thief and having committed four murders, was received at military headquarters here today.

Englishman in States.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 24.—The finding today in the Imperial valley, California, of Roger Laurence, the Englishman who was reported missing in Mexico, leads to the belief here that his companion, Curtis, also is safe in the United States. No trace, however, of Harry Compton, for whom the American authorities were looking, has been revealed.

An interview printed in the El Paso Times today quotes Villa at Chihuahua as saying that he gave Gustav Bauch, an American citizen, his liberty at Juarez last Thursday. This statement contradicts the official information given to Thomas D. Edwards, the American consul, by Gen. Villa, that Bauch had been taken to Chihuahua, where his case was being reviewed.

WILL ASK FOR AID.

Wife of Convict Will Seek Assistance Under New Law.

The family of Abraham E. Lavine, who was ordered to the state penitentiary at Stillwater by Judge Bert Fesler last week because he had violated the terms of his parole when given a chance to make good after having pleaded guilty to wife desertion, will apply to the juvenile court for state aid under the so-called mother's pension act. Lavine failed to support his wife and four children and they are said to be in destitute circumstances. Under the law, the juvenile court is authorized to extend county aid to a wife with dependent children if her husband is in the state penitentiary.

A SCHOOL FOR BRIDES

New York East Side Innovation Proves Great Success.

New York Mail: Could anything be more practical than a little three-room flat outfitted as a model home, the whole affair being used as a school for brides? St. George's church—picturesque old landmark of Stuyvesant square—has opened such a school, with two sessions a day. And maybe it isn't a success! Also, maybe it is.

Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, presented the school to St. George's Memorial house through the city mission committee of the church, which is composed of women as kind as they are wealthy.

It was intended for "children more than 12 years old," for it is the children of congested East side neighborhoods who are the teachers of their parents when it comes to matters of modern household art.

School Proves Popular.

Older girls heard of it, however, and clamored for admission to the classes. New little brides heard of it and, longing to start their married life aright, also clamored. Now, Miss Jessie McCutcheon says, the school threatens to outgrow its allotted space and spread all over the neighborhood.

Miss McCutcheon, from Edinburgh, Scotland, is the teacher. In a blue gingham house frock and white cap that hides a mass of wondrous gold hair, she puts her pupils through the daily duties of a "three-room" household and incidentally feeds them a jolly good meal.

The Hundred Dollar Flat.

Everything in the three rooms could be bought for $100. Yet they are perfectly and sanitarily furnished and illustrate a comfortable home for a small family.

One bedroom has a double deck bed. Here four tots can sleep comfortably, two by two, laid scrupulously head to feet. There is a crib, too, for there's always a baby.

A chiffonier contains all the children's clothing and they are taught to keep it there. In a corner is a homemade closet with gay chintz curtains and a pine shelf a foot from the floor for shoes. On top sit a row of pasteboard millinery boxes resplendent in wall paper overcoats, and as ornamental as you please.

"A Place for Everything."

Cleanliness is dinned into the pupils and the joys of the washstand and the toothbrush emphasized. "There's a place for everything" is the slogan, and every student heeds it.

The living room contains a couch dressed in gay chintz by day, but opening double at night by a single twist of the wrist. Another curtained wardrobe is in this room, for ma's and pa's best clothes, with the usual shoe shelf. The chairs are of white pine of the common or 75-cent variety, grandly stained with brown which cost only 50 cents a can and was enough to stain chairs, table, shelves and floor.

In the kitchen everything is scrubable. Five-cent fruit jars serve as holders for cereals, sugar, flour, dried peas, beans, etc. On the window sill is a "cold weather refrigerator" made of a box with an oilcloth curtain.

All windows of the flat are curtained in snowy cross-bar muslin, cheap, pretty, durable and easily kept clean. At top of the windows is a pleated frill of 6-cent blue checked gingham, and it is amazing how stylish it looks.

Spick and Span and Charming.

The whole place is spick and span and as fascinating as a newly furnished dollhouse.

Each room is the basis of a lesson. Miss McCutcheon drills her classes first in the making of coffee and toast, and the preparation of a cereal, for breakfast. After they've made it, they eat it. Then comes the airing and tidying up of the "living room," which is made completely ready so that there will always be one spot where company can be received, no matter how soon it may be after breakfast.

Then the children's bedroom is tackled. After that the scene of operations is in the kitchen. This interests the pupils most of all.

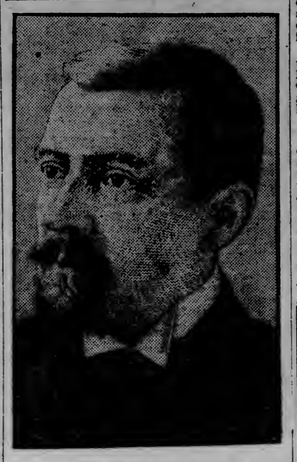

Simple but nutritious dishes are prepared. Stew is a favorite; also potato soup, bread pudding, custard, rice cakes, prunes and boiled apricots. The delicatessen system of housekeeping is sternly discouraged. Bakeshop sweets of doubtful origin and dubious colorings are warned against.

Plain, cheap fare, easy to cook and to digest, is the order of the model kitchen, and little Scotch Miss McCutcheon manages to put many a nugget of useful philosophy into her household lessons.

Eager for the Lessons.

"Is it all appreciated?" she exclaimed in reply to a query. "Well, I should say it was. It's almost pathetic to see how eager the East siders are to learn good living. They fairly drink in the lessons, and a trip through the neighborhood would soon prove to you that they profit by every word. I believe any bride who modeled her home after this three-room flat would be assured of a happy and prosperous married life!"

NEWLY ELECTED TO COLOMBIA PRESIDENCY

JOSE VICENTE CONCHA.

Jose Vicente Concha is the newly-elected president of Colombia. He was elected unanimously. He was candidate of the Conservative party, against Gen. Uribe of the Liberals. But the Liberals withdrew Uribe and left the field to Concha. The Colombian minister of foreign affairs announced that the unity of the people in the matter of internal affairs was a guarantee of unity and fairness hereafter in dealing with foreign problems.

GERMANY'S TWO OLDEST ACTIVE GENERALS

GENERALS HAESELER AND ZEPPELIN.

This is an interesting picture of the oldest generals in the German army, taken on the field at the maneuvers recently. They are Gen. Haesler and Gen. Count Zeppelin.

NEW SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR FOR ISLANDS

W. T. DENISON.

W. T. Denison is the new secretary of the interior of the Philippines. He sailed for his post Feb. 3 after eight false starts. He was appointed to succeed Dean C. Worcester. Mr. Denison had been one of an investigating committee which recommended the removal of T. S. Sharretts as a member of the board of general appraisers and at the instance of Sharretts, Senator Smoot had the Denison nomination held up in the senate. Denison went to San Francisco and engaged passage on a steamer for the Far East, but he canceled passage when he got no word of confirmation by the senate, and in this way he engaged passage and canceled it eight times before he was finally confirmed. The notice of confirmation got to him just fifteen minutes after his eighth ship sailed. But he got another a week later.

It Heats the Kitchen in Cold Weather
—It Takes the Heat Out in Warm Weather
IS YOUR KITCHEN COMFORTABLE THE YEAR ROUND?
Champion INTERCHANGEABLE GAS, COAL & WOOD Range
TWO-IN-ONE

Investigate this Range Before you place your order for a new stove.
Very little attention is given to heating the kitchen in the average home. This is easily accounted for, as only a short time ago when we used the good old coal range, it furnished plenty of heat and the kitchen in the winter was always comfortable. But when using the ordinary gas range the home on a cold winter's morning is a veritable cold storage plant. Many in order to heat the kitchen light the oven burner and leave the oven door open, filling the home with fumes known as Carbon Monoxide, which is one of the most deadly poisons known. Few people realize the great amount of sickness produced in this manner. The Champion Interchangeable is the only range made that positively takes all the poison fumes out of the house, as it is the only range made that successfully burns gas under the lids, closed up the same as a coal range. By closing the direct damper we carry the heat across the top and down around the oven. This enables us by the use of only two burners to cook on four lids, to heat the kitchen in cold weather, and partially heat the oven and warming closet. If we light four burners we can cook on six lids, therefore you see that we fully save one-third on your gas bill.
The ordinary gas range fails to heat the kitchen in the winter, and with the open grates over the fire it is just as unsatisfactory on a hot summer's day with the heat and fumes rolling up and around the cooking utensils. If you stop to think of it, your wife spends considerable time in the kitchen cooking three meals a day and this portion of the home should be made just as comfortable as any other. Another unpleasant feature about the open grate range is the fact that there is no arrangement by which the meal can be kept warm after it is cooked.
If you keep the fire going you over cook the dinner and with no fire it gets cold. The Champion Interchangeable Gas and Coal Range keeps the home warm in the winter and cool in the summer. By opening the direct dampers the heat passes across the top, heating the vessels and passes directly up the chimney. Another pleasant feature is, after the meal is cooked and you are not ready to serve it, simply turn the gas down low and you will keep it warm just as you would on a coal range. The oven is so arranged that you can bake with gas without heating the top of the range.

WHEAT FIRM UP TO CLOSE

Strong Cash Situation and Decreased Visible Supply Sends Market Up.

Flaxseed Sells Higher With Good Demand From Operators.

The market closed strong at the top. May wheat closed ¼c up and July ¼c up. May flax closed ¼c up and July ¼c up. Oats closed ¼c up at 37⅞c@38⅜c. Rye closed unchanged at 56c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 38¾@38½c bid and July at 37½c bid. Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 82⅛c bid and calls at 92½@92⅝c bid.

After a rather weak opening on lower Liverpool cables, the wheat market firmed up today and held at around Saturday's price basis up to the final hour. A bullish factor came in a decrease of 1,392,000 bu showing in the American visible supply during the week. Corn supplies decreased 58,000 bu and oats decreased 465,000 bu. The cash situation was strong, with supplies diminishing steadily and the prospect of elevator stocks being drawn upon heavily in the near future. Chicago reported sales of twelve cargoes to the seaboard for export, and it was intimated that shipments are being made direct from Southwest interior points to the gulf. Export call at Winnipeg was said to be heavy with twenty-five carloads reported sold yesterday to go to Portugal. Liverpool was weak at the start on the increased world's shipments, but the market there stiffened up at the close on less favorable advices regarding the Australian crop and small Indian offerings. The European visible increased 2,536,000 bu in the week.

Shipments at Duluth continue light, inspections today coming to 15 cars, while there were just 35 cars of all grains on the tracks for the three days. Receipts here last week aggregated 217,000 bu of all grains, while shipments came to 159,000 bu, of which 30,000 bu were wheat and 35,000 bu flaxseed. An improvement in the wheat outgo from the elevators was reported.

Receipts at Minneapolis are heavy just now by reason of arrivals of stuff that had been bought to arrive. Arrivals down there for the three days came to 929 cars against 679 last year.

May wheat opened unchanged at 93¼c and held at that figure up to the final hour. The July option opened ⅛c off at 94c and gained ⅛c. May durum opened unchanged at 93¼c and held there.

Slight Gain in Flaxseed.

The market in flaxseed showed strength from the opening on good general demand from operators and light offerings. Inspections of the seed at Duluth today were just three cars and there was on the track only three cars.

At London flaxseed closed 2¼d higher, while at Antwerp its quotation was unchanged. The market at Buenos Ayres was closed today.

May flax opened ⅛c up at $1.56⅛c and it advanced ½c during the first few minutes trading and held at around that figure throughout the session. The close come at $1.57. The July option opened ⅛c up at $1.58 and closed at 158½ bid.

At Winnipeg May flax closed at $1.37½ bid and July at $1.40⅛ bid.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—On Monday wheat was under realizing sales ¼@½d lower, with pressure in March on the liberal world's shipments and heavy increase on passage. Corn closed ¼d lower notwithstanding light world's shipments.

"Today steadiness in Winnipeg in face of the lower Liverpool cables yesterday, caused shorts to cover and the opening was unchanged. Later March advanced ¾d with the firmness in spot, liberal sellers of forward delliveries and strength in Berlin. Less favorable reports come from Australia, with India not offering, although harvesting is rather general, and offers from Eastern Europe are lighter. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady, unchanged to ⅜d higher than yesterday.

"Corn opened unchanged, and later March declined ¼d with renewed pressure from yesterday with lack of support.

"European visible wheat, 82,320,000 bu, against 79,784,000 bu last week, increase 2,536,000 bu.

Private Australian cables received at Liverpool confirm a short yield for the late crop and offers are firmly held. Stocks are decreasing rapidly.

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Some complaints are heard of excessive rain; general outlook for wheat is good.

France—The general outlook is less favorable and many fields are being replowed as a result of damage from freezing and vermin. The weather is seasonable.

Germany—There are no complaints regarding the crop outlook; field work is progressing with the weather mild.

Russia—The weather is mild and the snow is disappearing. Supplies are generally liberal.

Roumania—The outlook is favorable. Arrivals for shipment are small, as farmers are holding, but the belief is that offers will shortly increase.

Hungary—The weather is mild and snow disappearing, with many reports of damage.

Italy—The outlook is favorable with the weather seasonable.

Australia—A short outturn for the late crop is confirmed.

India—The harvest is becoming general. Little wheat is being offered, with prices very high.

Barley, 44@65c; rye, 54@55c; bran, unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Generous Snowfall Puts Down the Price of Wheat.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Generous snow covering that affords protection to the winter crop today brought about lower prices for wheat. The European visible supply showed a decided increase and there was a heavy gain in the amount of wheat on ocean passage. Quotations opened unchanged to ⅛c lower and gradually underwent a moderate decline all around.

Kansas and Nebraska reports that ice covered many fields before the snow came and that much wheat might be smothered led to a rally, which was aided by a decrease of the visible supply total and by rumors of export sales. The close was steady, ⅛@¼c net higher.

Corn weakened with wheat. Prospective lessening of receipts, however, steadied prices after a short time. The opening was the same as Saturday night to ⅛@⅜c lower, with transactions afterwards chiefly at the bottom level.

Better feeding demand gave the bulls the advantage in the last hour. The close was steady at a net advance of ¼@⅜c to ½c.

Country buying made the oats market relatively firm. Selling pressure was light.

Provisions dropped because of lower prices for hogs. First sales were 2½c to 7½c down, and there was a subsequent setback.

NET RESULTS UNIMPORTANT

Prices of Stocks Depressed at Opening But Declines Slight.

Liquidation Extensive in Minor Stocks But Standard Shares Firm.

New York, Feb. 24.—Lower prices for some American stocks in London, selling here on a small scale for foreign account and experimental sales by bear operators, depressed prices slightly for a time today, but there was a sufficient demand at concessions to prevent a material decline.

The pacific attitude of the British government regarding the latest complications in Mexico robbed the bears of their one weapon, and they were unable to bring out long stock by pressure against the more vulnerable shares. The possibility of important decisions by the supreme court on reconvening today, restricted speculation during the market.

Bonds were irregular.

Most of the active stocks opened a shade lower today. Trading was light and the movement was kept within narrow limits, except in the cases of a few of the less active shares. Central Leather and General Motors lost a point. The Rock Island issues continued their declines, the common, at 5¼, and the preferred at 8⅞, receding new low records.

Secondary quotations were better, but the demand was not inclined to follow prices upward. Speculation became listless on the rally. Bonds were relatively more active and fluctuated widely and uncertainly.

There was more general weakness in low priced railroad shares, following a drop of ⅞ to 2 points in the Denver & Rio Grande issues. Missouri Pacific preferred, Railway Steel Spring and Goodrich were under active pressure.

Prices of the standard shares were maintained in spite of liquidation in the minor stocks. Pullman and Delaware & Hudson rose sharply on a few buying orders.

The market closed easy. Speculative sales made more of an impression on prices of the prominent shares because of the widening scope of the selling movement in the low priced stocks. Some issues receded slightly but net results were unimportant.

MOST SACRED SPOT ON EARTH.

What may perhaps be described as the most sacred spot on earth, says a writer in the Wide World, is the grotto or manger in the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem. This small underground chamber, reached from the church above by a flight of steps, is said to be the site of the actual manger where Christ was born, and a silver star, let into the floor underneath the altar, is alleged to be the exact spot of the Nativity. Above the star hang fifteen lamps, which have continually illuminated the little chapel for several hundred years. The altar is adorned with most elaborate embroideries, the work of royal princesses, while from the ceiling hang a number of brass lamps and a few paintings. There has, of course, been no little controversy as to whether this is the actual site of the original manger. To begin with, it is underground, and many people wonder how it could have been used by cattle and horses. Here, however, we have to remember that in the East donkeys and mules often dwell in underground stables and the staircase would present no difficulty to the agile native cattle of Palestine. No less an authority than Col. Conder has declared that "the rude grotto with its rocky manger may, it seems to me, be accepted even by the most skeptical of modern explorers."

38 POULTRY, EGGS and BABY FOWLS ARE WANTED!

S. C. RHODE ISLAND REDS: 1st Cock, J. W. Nelson.

THERE are a large number of people in Duluth and vicinity who will buy breeding stock, eggs, baby fowls or chickens for laying this season. Some one will gladly purchase what you wish to sell. Herald want ads are the best poultry salesman available.

CIRCULATION GREATEST —RATES LOWEST

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in the world in a city the size of Duluth. Its rates for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other paper in Minnesota. Best results are gained from ads when definite information is given. When information is lacking the presumption is that desirable features are lacking. Information as to contract rates and the probable amount of space your ad would take gladly given.

TANNER TELLS HOW HE AND MOYER WERE SENT FROM HANCOCK

Western Federation's Auditor Testifies Before the Congressmen.

Miners Approach End of Testimony Regarding Strike.

Witnesses Tell of Breaking Up of Parades of Strikers.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles H. Tanner, auditor of the Western Federation of Miners, took the stand today before the congressional committee and described the deportation of Charles H. Moyer and himself.

"Moyer was standing at the telephone in his room," Tanner said, "when there was a rap on the door. I was standing by the bed and Moyer himself opened the door with his free hand. A crowd of twenty or thirty rushed in shouting, 'Where is Moyer? Where is Moyer?' At the same time three men covered me with automatic revolvers. Then Moyer, by the telephone, replied 'I am Moyer.'

"Several men made a rush for him and bent him almost double. Another man rushed in from the hallway and struck Moyer, as he was bent over, on the head with a revolver. The gun exploded and Moyer was wounded in the back."

Were Rushed From Hotel.

Tanner said Moyer and he were then rushed out of the room, down the stairs and out of the hotel. They were hustled across the bridge to Houghton, where they were placed on a train for Chicago in charge of two deputies, one named Hensley. They were warned that if they ever came back they would be hanged.

On the bridge, the witness said, he was struck over the eye by one of the crowd. He showed the committee a scar.

Shortly before Moyer and himself were attacked, Tanner said, they had been waited upon by a committee of citizens who had asked Moyer to ac-

CHICAGO TO APPEAL SCHOOL BOARD CASE

Action Means Mrs. Young's Opponents Will Not Take Seats.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Mayor Harrison declared today that the city would appeal from the ruling of Superior Judge Foell, which yesterday virtually reinstated the four public school trustees removed from office by the mayor a few months ago.

The four ousted trustees, whose opposition to Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, caused a storm in the school board, will not have an opportunity to resume their seats, it was said, because an appeal to the supreme court would not be decided before their terms would expire in July.

HEARS HIS WIFE'S FUNERAL BY WIRE

Former Judge, Dying of Pneumonia, Too Ill to Leave Room.

Paterson, N. J., Feb. 25.—An adjusted telephone installed for the purpose, made it possible for Former Judge James Inglis, who is dying of pneumonia, to hear the funeral services read over the body of his wife, Mrs. Ella M. Inglis. Though the service was held in the parlor of the Inglis home, Mr. Inglis was too weak to leave his bedroom upstairs.

When the services were begun a receiver was lifted to Judge Inglis' ear. He kept it there until the last word was said in the room below.

Mrs. Inglis died Sunday of pneumonia.

SHERLEY AND PALMER LEAD REPEAL FIGHT

Talk With President About Panama Canal Tolls Plans.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Representatives Sherley and Palmer conferred with President Wilson today over organizing the administration fight in the house to repeal the Panama tolls exemption.

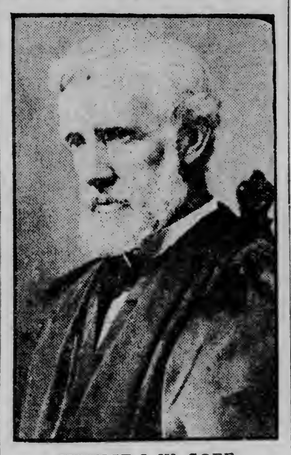

"I feel confident the house will sustain the president," said Representative Sherley afterward.

Representative Palmer said it had not yet been determined whether initial action would be taken by the house or the senate, but that he was sure the repeal would be put through with little difficulty.

Both Palmer and Sherley originally voted against the exemption. Other administration leaders, however, such as Representatives Underwood and Kitchin, who voted for it, do not feel they can make the argument for reversal, though they themselves will not take part in any opposition to the president.

It is practically certain now the fight will be led by Representatives Palmer and Sherley as soon as the president indicates in a letter to some member of congress his reasons for desiring the repeal. There is confidence at the White House that both houses of congress soon will repeal the protested clause without difficulty.

SEVERELY CRITICIZED IN BECKER DECISION

JUSTICE J. W. GOFF
Of the New York Supreme Court.

Justice John W. Goff has presided at many famous trials. He was born at Wexford, Ireland. He came to this country when a boy. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1870. He has been on the supreme court bench of New York since 1907.

TELLS ABOUT MANILA ROW

German Admiral Admits He Threatened to Shoot Americans.

Von Diederich Criticizes Dewey for Conduct of Blockade.

Baden Baden, Germany, Feb. 25.—Admiral von Diederich himself admits he informed the British naval commander in Manila bay at the time of the Spanish-American war that he would shoot any American officer who attempted to board a German warship "to make inquiry and establish her identity," in carrying out the orders of Admiral Dewey.

This admission was made today in a further narrative of events given to the Associated Press.

Ground for Complaint.

The controversy between Admiral Dewey and the German admiral arose over the visiting between the vessels of the various powers, which, according to Admiral von Diederichs, was quite promiscuous. He admitted there was a certain justice in Admiral Dewey's complaint as to the German ships being constantly on the move, although this was necessary and in no way meant to be unfriendly.

The bulk of the German squadron was about to be withdrawn, said the German commander, when the conflict arose over the right of visitation, and he then decided to retain his whole force there.

Admiral von Diederichs blamed Admiral Dewey for the clash, and intimated that it would never have arisen if the American commander had merely protested officially about two "trivial incidents" instead of firing shots in order to stop two German pinnaces. One of them was passing the American

GOETHALS BILLS ARE FOUGHT AT ALBANY

New York Police Organizations Oppose Enlarging Commissioner's Power.

New York, Feb. 25.—Rival delegations went to Albany today to appear at the legislative hearing on the so-called Goethals police bills. Mayor Mitchel headed a group of prominent citizens who wished to see the bills passed. William B. Ellison, a former corporation counsel, was the chief representative of the opposition, which is backed by organizations within the police department.

The purpose of the bills is to enlarge the powers of the New York police commissioner. They were introduced to pave the way for Col. George W. Goethals to accept this office.

FORMER NEW JERSEY SOLON IS SUICIDE

H. A. Harvey Kills Himself Owing to Poor Health.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 25.—Hayward A. Harvey, 45 years old, formerly a state assemblyman, committed suicide in the Lackawanna railroad station at Orange early today by shooting himself through the heart with a revolver. His act was attributed to temporary insanity, arising from ill health.

MAY NEVER TRY BECKER

New York Man's Friends Predict Freedom--May Ask Old Job.

Justice Goff Severely Criticized By Court of Appeals.

New York, Feb. 25.—Charles Becker, former police lieutenant, convicted of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who has just been granted a new trial, was visited in the death house at Sing Sing prison today by his attorney, Joseph A. Shay.

Tomorrow, the attorney told Becker, he expects to serve the remittur of the court of appeals on the prison warden. Becker then will leave the death house, where he has been confined since the fall of 1912, and be returned to a cell in the Tombs prison until the final disposition of his case.

Behind him in the death cells, Becker will leave the four gunmen convicted of the actual killing of Rosenthal. The court of appeals overruled the petition of the gunmen, "Dago Frank" Cirofici, "Gyp the Blood" Horowitz, "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg and "Whitey" Lewis, and they will be executed next month unless the governor grants executive clemency.

May Never Be Tried Again.

The opinion was expressed by the attorneys and friends of Becker that he would never be tried again as the instigator of the murder of Rosenthal, and there also was much talk that Becker, if he eventually goes free, will seek reinstatement on the police force.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, who will determine whether Becker shall be tried again, has thus far refused to say what further action he will take in the case. It is known, however, that Mr. Whitman believes a second trial would be futile in the face of the decision of the court of appeals. That decision in effect stamps "Sam" Schepps, one of the principal witnesses for the state, as an accomplice in the murder plot in which "Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Weber and "Harry" Vallon confessed implicating Becker.

The decision, it is pointed out, also leaves the district attorney in an embarrassing position with reference to Rose, Weber and Vallon, who might, under certain circumstances of a new

KING GEORGE WILL SEE BASEBALL GAME

Notifies American Managers That He Will Be on Hand.

London, Feb. 25.—King George and several members of the royal family are to be present tomorrow at the baseball game between the New York and Chicago teams. The game is to be played at the Chelsea football grounds. Practically the entire American colony will attend, together with the staffs of the embassy and the consulate general.

The king, who is an ardent follower of football and cricket, has never witnessed a first-class baseball game. He announced to his suite, when he heard that the American teams were coming to England, that he would see a game if possible. Today he definitely notified the managers of the visiting teams that he would be present.

Americans in London are hopeful that the interest displayed in the game by the king will assist in converting England to baseball.

The two teams were the guests of honor today at a luncheon of the American business colony. Consul General Griffiths presided.

CRACKSMEN TRY TO BLOW VAULT IN IOWA TREASURER'S OFFICE

Finally Abandon Effort and Escape With Only $5 Cash.

Bind and Gag Two Watchmen--Third Sleeps During Explosions.

Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 25.—An unsuccessful attempt to dynamite the vault in the state treasurer's office here was made early today. Two of the state house watchmen were bound and gagged, but the safe blowers got only $5, which they took from a cash drawer in the treasurer's office.

After two explosions were set off around the door of the vault, the men apparently gave up in disgust.

The watchmen who were overpowered were Mills Russell and George Carpenter. A. J. Gay, another watchman, is said by the police to have been "peacefully asleep in the supreme court room" while the attempted robbery was in progress.

The cracksmen, four in number and masked, entered the building about midnight. After binding and gagging the watchmen they drilled four holes in the vault and set off the charges, which failed to open the door.

After they had left Russell succeeded in releasing himself from his bonds and telephoned the police, who immediately began work on the case.

The treasury safe contained about $7,600 in currency and more than a million dollars' worth of securities, including $200,000 worth of capitol extension bonds, according to William C. Brown, state treasurer.

Detectives working on the case said there was considerable mystery as to how the bandits got into the capitol. They were hidden in the board of parole rooms when Watchman Russell,

Twelve Firemen Hurt By Hot Air Explosion—Man Missing.

Lynn, Mass., Feb. 25.—One hundred automobiles were lost in a fire which destroyed the Essex garage, a three-story brick building on Broad street today, with a loss of $300,000. Stephen Alhas, an employe, is missing. Twelve firemen were seriously hurt in a hot air explosion.

CRITICIZES CITY SYSTEM

Dr. Rucker Says Not Enough Is Spent on Health Work.

Declares Well-Paid Officer Should Devote All Time to It.

Chicago, Feb. 25. — A public health officer, to be efficient, must give his full time to his public duties, it was declared today by Gen. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon of the United States public health service. In an address to the federation of state medical boards, Gen. Rucker asserted that there were three requisites to thorough public health administration.

"These three are well trained, well remunerated, full time health officers," said Gen. Rucker. "The power behind him in the shape of intelligent, accurate law, and an adequate appropriation.

"Efficient public health administration comprehends the application of the principles of epidemiology.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom from disease. The epidemiologist must therefore devote all his time to the performance of his official duties. In such important work as this no man can serve two masters. Therefore, public health officers must be full time officers and must be adequately salaried.

Few Such at Present.

"At the present time there are very few such men who receive salaries commensurate with their responsibilities. Public health is a rather expensive necessity, and the public cannot get it from poorly paid, poorly prepared men.

"Granted the efficient man, he is powerless without legal backing. The statute books too often are clogged with a hodge podge of illogical and impractical sanitary laws. A great mass of the sanitary law, unfortunately, was enacted at a time when he we did not have very accurate knowledge regarding the factors in the dissemination of disease. One of the most useful things that could be done in furthering the cause of public health would be the revision of the sanitary laws.

"In the great mass of sanitary laws there is one notable omission. Few states have an efficient law for the collection of morbidity statistics. It is the thriving carrier of disease who is dangerous. Morbidity reports show the location of the food from which disease may spread."

STOP WORK TO PLAY IN SNOW

People in and Near New Orleans Enjoy Novel Pastime.

Parts of Georgia Get First Fall in Twenty Years.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 25.—Attracted by the strange sight of heavy snows in this locality, many persons in various sections of Mississippi and Louisiana today rose early and remained away from business in order to enjoy the novelty. The heaviest fall was at Laurel, Miss., where the ground was covered six inches deep, with the snow still falling. At Meridian there was a fall of three inches. The weather was much colder on the gulf coast, and sleet fell, but no snow. The snow here is the first since 1903.

Macon Is White.

Macon, Ga., Feb. 25.—Macon experienced the first heavy snowfall in several years today. Three inches already have fallen and the snow continues. The temperature is 30 degs.

First in Twenty Years.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 25.—For the first time in something like twenty years, Savannah is experiencing a snow fall today. About 2 inches fell. In Columbus, Ga., 2 inches of snow fell, the first snow of consequence in fifteen years.

Cold in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 25.—Clear skies and temperatures ranging from zero in Columbus to 18 below at Zanesville prevailed in Ohio today. Fair weather and rising temperatures were forecast.

Under Zero in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 25.—Zero was passed by the weather bureau's thermometers throughout Western Pennsylvania this morning, 1 deg. below being the official record in Pittsburg. At Freeport, on the Allegheny river, the mark was 14 below, and at Parker, Pa., the government river man reported 22 below.

Big Four Train Stalled.

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 25.—All steam and interurban lines out of Bloomington today had lifted the storm embargo and trains were running in all directions, with the exception of the Big Four. The trains on the Big Four still are stalled in drifts both east and west of Bloomington, and the first train of that line to reach Bloomington since Sunday came from Peoria today over the Lake Erie & Western tracks.

VILLA WILL NOT GIVE UP HIS VICTIM

Medical Examination of Benton's Corpse All He Will Grant.

Says Respect to Dead Forbids Removal of the Corpse.

Capture of Huerta Gunboat Pleases Constitutionalists.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 25.—Official confirmation of the hanging of Clemente Vergara, American citizen, by Mexican Federals near Hidalgo, Mex., was received today by United States Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo. The report says Vergara's body still is hanging three miles from Hidalgo. Consul Garrett immediately left Nuevo Laredo for the scene.

Vergara had been ordered released by the Federal commander at Piedras Negras as a result of representations in his behalf by American authorities.

Washington Addresses Villa.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Further representations were made by the American government today to Gen. Francisco Villa, pointing out the importance of giving up the body of William S. Benton, the Scotchman recently executed at Juarez, whose death officially is being investigated by the United States and Great Britain.

Immediately upon receipt of word from Consul Letcher at Chihuahua that Benton's body would be exhumed for the benefit of Benton's widow and relatives, who could visit the cemetery with an American representative, a second request went forth to Villa asking that the corpse be turned over to the widow on American territory.

Villa's refusal to accede to the request for the body has not met with favor by officials here, who now are seeking to impress upon him, through Consul Letcher, the importance the world will attach to such a refusal.

Carranza May Act.

Gen. Carranza, chief of all the Constitutionalist forces, is expected in Juarez within a week. It is understood here that he will take charge of an investigation of the Benton case upon his own account.

Upon the character of the wounds found, rests proof of Villa's version of the killing. If the body is found riddled with rifle bullets, officials think the story of an execution after a courtmartial will be confirmed and attention then will be further directed to a point now carefully being investigated, as to whether Benton had committed crimes, as Villa charges, and was of a disposition to fight with firearms.

Indications were today that the investigation would last for several days, with no final judgment until all the

FORMER PASTOR IS GUILTY OF SWINDLE

Francis S. Baker, Once at Bay City, Awaits Sentence.

New York, Feb. 25.—Rev. Francis S. Baker, formerly a Congregational minister in Waterbury, Conn., will be sentenced on Tuesday for grand larceny in connection with a loan swindle for which his partner, William Harney, was sentenced to ten months in prison. The two men induced their victims to pay fees for the work of "searching" titles to properties offered the defendants as security for loans. The titles would be declared unsatisfactory and the fees kept by Baker and Harney. The latter was a witness in Baker's trial. Baker is 50 years old and an attorney living in Brooklyn.

A graduate of Oberlin, Baker was for a time secretary of the Young Men's Christian association at Bay City, Mich., and later went to the Yale divinity school.

TURNS SANE AFTER SPOUSE FALLS DEAD

Shock of Wife's Insanity Cause of Man's Death.

Viroqua, Wis., Feb. 25.—Solfest Bringe, aged 42, dropped dead here yesterday when his wife, to whom he was devoted and who had been acting strangely for several days, was pronounced insane by physicians. The same doctors who made the examination of the woman examined the body of the man and found he had died of rupture of the brain. The widow today has recovered almost as suddenly as she was stricken and is now believed to be entirel, rational again.

MOB KILLS NEGRO AND BURNS CORPSE

Effort to Burn Murderer Alive in Mississippi Fails.

Leland, Miss., Feb. 25.—Sam Petty, a negro accused of killing Charles W. Kirkland, a deputy sheriff here, late yesterday, was shot to death by a mob of 300 men and his body burned. An effort to burn the negro alive failed when the flames burned the ropes with which he had been bound. Petty was riddled with bullets when he attempted to escape.

Petty, wanted on a trivial charge, killed Kirkland with a shotgun when the officer entered a cabin in which the negro had taken refuge. Petty was captured by a posse, and before officers could get possession of him a mob formed and determined on the torch as a means of execution.

The negro was bound and placed in an oil-soaked dry goods box and the match applied. A moment later, the man, his clothing aflame, broke from his fastenings and started to run, but before he could gain headway he was shot dead. The body was replaced in the box, fresh inflammables were piled about it, and within half an hour it was burned to ashes.

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE CRIME PROSECUTION

Supreme Court Rules on Seizure of Prisoner's Papers.

Washington, Feb. 25. — Criminal prosecutions in the United States may be revolutionized by a decision of the supreme court restricting the conditions under which prosecuting officials may seize papers belonging to persons accused of crime.

The immediate result of the decision was that Fremont Weeks, an express messenger at Kansas City, Mo., will be given a new trial on a charge of using the mails to further an alleged lottery scheme.

The point that the government improperly seized papers in the "dynamiters'" case against Frank M. Ryan and other bridge union officials in a raid in Indianapolis, has been raised, and the present decision may enter into that prosecution if a new trial is grunted, as sought in an application for review filed with the supreme court.

Weeks was arrested at a railroad station by one group of policemen, while another searched his house. After his arrest the United States marshal entered his house and procured over 600 letters which were used against the prisoner when he was placed on trial. No search warrant had been issued.

Justice Day, in giving the court's unanimous decision, held that Weeks' constitutional guarantee against unreasonable search had been violated.

FIRE IN WHOLESALE DISTRICT CAUSES $75,000 LOSS---CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

THE ICE-COVERED RUINS.

Duluth's wholesale district suffered a $75,000 fire last evening, when the Barthe-Martin company's three-story building at 102 West Michigan street was completely gutted by flames, causing a $45,000 loss to the wholesale grocery firm, a $20,000 loss to the Huntley Printing company, which occupied the second floor, and approximately $10,000 loss to the structure itself.

The origin of the fire is unknown to Fire Chief Joseph Randall. It is believed, however, that the blaze started near the elevator shaft on the second floor. The alarm was turned in at 7:10 p. m., but it is believed that the flames had gained considerable headway when they were discovered, as the structure was a mass of fire when the department arrived.

Four minutes after the first call was received, a 4-11 alarm was turned in and all the apparatus in the city, with the exception of that at the West Duluth and Lakeside stations, was sent to the scene of the fire.

The flames were coming out of every window, with the exception of the front of the first floor, where the Barthe-Martin company had its offices. The fire made a clean sweep from the rear of the ground floor to the top of the building.

Floors Fall.

A short time after the department arrived, the upper two floors fell through, and the firemen had to work from the roof and from the upper windows, and at one time there were twelve streams playing on the building.

About 9 o'clock the firemen began to get the flames under control. They continued their work until midnight, when the apparatus began to leave. The last engine left the scene of the fire a few minutes before 1 o'clock this morning.

A. C. Barthe, president and treasurer of the wholesale grocery company, said this morning that in his opinion his company suffered a complete loss. It is possible that some of the stock stored in the basement may be found intact when an examination is made. The stock and equipment were valued at $45,000, of which Mr. Barthe said this morning 90 per cent was insured. The company occupied the basement, first and third floors of the building, all but the first being used for storing purposes. Mr. Barthe announced this morning that the company would open temporary quarters within a day or two and that business would be done there until further arrangements could be made.

W. W. Huntley, president of the Huntley Printing company, which occupied the entire second floor, said this morning that the stock and equipment was worth about $25,000, with $10,000 insurance. He believes that his loss will be about $20,000, although it is almost impossible to estimate it as the damage to the printing presses is unknown. Mr. Huntley said this morning that a new $5,000 linotype machine was received Monday and it was first used yesterday. It was not yet insured, he said. The printing company also plans to open temporary quarters within a day or two.

Loss On Building.

The three-story structure is owned by Charles Davis of East Milton, Mass., a suburb of Boston. The building is valued at $25,000 by C. P. Craig & Co., real estate agents for Mr. Davis, a representative of which said this morning that it was insured for $20,000. It is believed that the loss on the building will amount to at least $10,000.

Mr. Huntley was the last person to leave the building last night. He said this morning that he had gone out about 6:30 o'clock, and at that time there was no semblance of a fire. It is possible, he said, that it may have been burning in the rear of his floor without his knowledge.

Street car traffic was tied up for more than an hour after the department first arrived on the scene. Most of the eastbound cars passing First avenue west were turned around at Third avenue west, especially the West Duluth and Superior cars. The others were held at Seventh avenue west turn until orders were given about 8:15 o'clock permitting the regular schedule.

Hundreds of persons were attracted to the scene of the fire by the blaze. The need of a fire-line especially for such a fire as last evening was made apparent, because of the insistence of the crowds in getting too close to the burning structure. In case the front wall had fallen, it is probable that many fatalities would have occurred.

NATION-WIDE PROHIBITION

Daniel A. Poling Predicts End of Liquor Traffic By 1920.

"Flying Squadron" Will Visit 150 Cities During Present Year.

Daniel A. Poling, who made a phenomenal run for the governorship of Ohio on the Prohibition ticket at the last election, is in Duluth today and predicts nationwide prohibition by 1920. The temperance forces are united and are co-operating for the first time in the movement and commercial men as well as all political parties are supporting the cause of prohibition as never before, he says. Mr. Poling spoke at the Commercial club this noon before the Duluth Association of Office Men on "The Grip That Holds" and will speak at the First Presbyterian church tonight on "The Conservation of Humanity."

Mr. Poling is a young man and represents the new forces at work in the prohibition movement. He is now making a tour of the country speaking on his favorite theme as well as various other subjects in the spotlight of public interest. In an interview with The Herald today Mr. Peling said:

"Since July 1, 1913, every educational, religious and temperance organization has declared for nationwide prohibition, and for the first time in the history of the temperance movement they have found a program of common agreement.

"On Nov. 13 last in Columbus, Ohio, ninety-seven national organizations were represented in a convention and these all agreed on a national program and united in favor of prohibition. On Dec. 11 the committee of 1,000 met in Washington, D. C., and under the behest of this committee a joint resolution was framed calling upon the various states to frame an amendment for national prohibition. The resolutions were introduced in the United States senate by Senator Sheppard of Texas and in the house by Congressman Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama.

Five States Will Vote.

"In the fall of 1914 five states including California, Oregon, Idaho, Colorado and Washington will vote on state-wide prohibition. The prohibition cause will probably win in three states and has more than a fighting chance in California and Colorado. In three coast states women will vote for the first time on this question. About three women out of five at least can be counted on to vote for prohibition. Utah will vote on the question in 1915, and there the prohibition cause will probably win owing to the action of the Mormon church in declaring for temperance reform.

"Prohibition is getting some of its warmest support from the commercial organizations of the country. Ninety-five per cent of the corporations now discriminate against drinking men. In January, 1914, the Pittsburg board of trade declared for national prohibition. The Pittsburg Gazette-Times, the publication of United States Senator Oliver, has also declared for national prohibition.

"On Nov. 6, 1914, the flying squadron, comprised of representative men from various political parties, will begin a nation-wide tour in the interests of prohibition. They will visit 150 different cities of the country including every state capital.

"The chairman of the flying squadron is ex-Governor J. Frank Hanley of Indiana. Other members are Eugene V. Chafin of Arizona, Clinton M. Howard of New York, Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, Dr. Ira Landor of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. Armour, secretary, of Tennessee.

"From the standpoint of temperance men the most hopeful sign is the spirit of unit that pervades the movement everywhere.

"The slogan of the Christian Endeavor societies 'A Saloonless Nation by 1920,' first adopted two years ago at Atlantic City at the international convention, is now enthusiastically indorsed by every department of the temperance forces and bids fair to become a fact in government."

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

TEN MEN RETIRED IN CHICAGO'S PRIMARY

Fifty Thousand Women Take Part in the Election.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Fifty thousand women voted in the primary election here yesterday. It was their first chance to express themselves at the polls since the legislature granted them the right of suffrage, but many who were registered refrained from voting in order to avoid allying themselves with a political party.

The eight woman candidates for aldermanic nominations were only partly successful. In some cases their male opponents received the votes of more women than did the female candidates.

Ten aldermen were retired to private life as a result of the ward fights, in which the women took a lively interest. All those defeated are Democrats, and with one exception were opposed by the Municipal Voters' league.

In the six wards in which the Harrison forces contested with those of Roger C. Sullivan, Harrison was the loser in five and may claim only part credit for the victory in the sixth.

Miss Drake Nominated.

In the First ward Miss Marion Drake defeated Karl N. Wehle for the Progressive nomination. She received the votes of 114 men and 148 women against Wehle's 7 men and 14 women. John J. Coughlin, Democratic candidate for re-election, received the votes of 1,600 men and 96 women.

In the Second ward Miss Sarah M. Hopkins was third of the four Democratic candidates. Thomas T. Hoyne was victor.

Lida E. McDermut, Gertrude Dubin and Maude J. Ball, Socialist candidates in the Seventh, Twentieth and Thirty-first wards, had no opposition and received few votes, male voters predominating.

Election commissioners here declared the woman vote in the aldermanic election would be much greater than at the primaries, as few women voted in some wards where there was no opposition for party nominations.

SMALLPOX IS PREVALENT

Several Cases Are Reported From Lakeside and West Duluth.

A small epidemic of smallpox has broken out at Lakeside.

Seven new cases were reported from the suburb this morning and yesterday three cases were discovered. Several cases of the disease have also been found in West Duluth, in the vicinity of the Longfellow school. The health department officials are making careful inquiries to learn whether or not any other cases exist in the vicinity of those which have thus far been located.

The disease is in comparatively mild form and some of those who may have it may not feel sick enough to call a physician. Mingling with others will spread the disease. Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, reiterates his warning that all persons who have not been vaccinated should protect themselves in that manner without delay. The health director states that all school children should be vaccinated, statistics showing that the other alternative is likely to be smallpox before the child has finished the eighth grade.

The city also has about forty cases of scarlet fever, spread largely by persons who had mild attacks and did not visit a doctor. They infected others by continuing to move about as usual. Dr. Webster asserts that any one who finds a rash breaking out or who has a fever should not take any chances of attending themselves, but should consult a physician.

The health department authorities state that there is no occasion for undue alarm, but that proper precautions should not be neglected. The city has very little diphtheria or typhoid fever.

LITTLE HOPE FOR GRINDEN'S LIFE

Wounded Clerk in Worse Condition --- Chances Against Recovery.

Christ Grinden, 31 years old, 1023 Eleventh avenue east, who accidentally shot himself while hunting near the Alger-Smith line at Milepost 47 last Sunday afternoon, is reported as being still in a critical condition at St. Mary's hospital, where he was taken following the accident.

It was announced by one of the hospital attendants this morning that Grinden's condition is worse today and little hope for his recovery is held out. He is being attended by Drs. Magie and Ekblad.

Grinden, in company with a trio of friends, was returning from a hunting trip of a few days when the accident happened. He stumbled while crossing a field and accidentally discharged his .22 rifle, the bullet entering just above the left shoulder blade. It partly severed the spine.

The other hunters ran to a nearby farm and obtained a sled on which Grinden was brought to the Alger-Smith line and later transferred at Knife River to a Duluth & Iron Range train, which brought him to Duluth.

Grinden is married and is employed as a clerk by the Kelley-How-Thomson company.

DISCUSSED BY THE ROTARIANS

Summer Festival Plans Meet Approval of Members Present.

George H. Bate, secretary of the Duluth Rotary club, stated today that in an informal discussion of the summer pageant before the members of the club last evening, it was the sentiment of the majority of those present that the holding of a pageant and festival on a large scale, with committees thoroughly organized to handle it, would be about the best form of advertising that the city could possibly secure through any medium.

There was not the necessary number of members present last evening to take official action in approving the summer pageant idea, but it is believed that the matter will come up at the next meeting of the club.

"Personally I am heartily in favor of the idea of holding a summer pageant here," said Secretary Bate, today. "I have little doubt that the majority of the members of the Rotary club are also in favor of holding the festival or fete, if it can be staged in the proper manner.

"I would oppose the holding of a summer celebration of any sort, unless we can do the thing correctly and in a manner befitting Duluth.

"A summer show, something on the general order of the Rose Show of Portland or patterned somewhat after the Mardi Gras of New Orleans, would, in my opinion, prove a wide medium of advertising for Duluth and would also bring a great number of people to our city.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

List of Pallbearers for Capt. Sellwood Not Yet Completed.

The funeral of Capt. Joseph Sellwood, who died yesterday afternoon following an illness of several weeks, will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the family residence, 1802 East Superior street.

Rev. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct the services at the residence, after which the body will be removed to the family vault at Forest Hill cemetery.

Richard M. Sellwood is arranging for the funeral, but was unable to announce the list of pallbearers this morning. Several of Capt. Sellwood's closest friends and business associates are now out of the city, and the final arrangements are held up until word is received from them. A list of active and honorary pallbearers will be announced.

CANADIANS FREE ACCUSED PASTOR.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 25.—Rev. J. T. Williams of Newcastle, Pa., arrested in Toronto and denied admission to the United States by the immigration officials, was released by the Canadian immigration authorities last night. Williams was formerly pastor of a Congregational church at Newcastle. When arrested in Toronto he was with Mrs. George Thomas, with whom, it is alleged, he left the Pennsylvania town. Mrs. Thomas has returned to her home.

SUSPENDED POSTAL EMPLOYE FOUND DEAD.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 25.—The body of Orra Weil Williams, former superintendent of the money order division of the Salt Lake City postoffice, was found in the swimming pool of a public bathhouse yesterday. Williams, who had been employed at the postoffice here twenty years, and his assistant, Alma W. Harper, were suspended Jan 5 for alleged irregularities in their handling of funds.

Although their cash accounts balanced, the postoffice inspectors objected to their practice of keeping a private fund in which they placed over-remittances from other postoffices, using this fund to make up shortages. The entire amount involved was less than $50. They were not arrested.

Harper committed suicide by shooting Jan. 6. Bruises on Williams' body and other circumstances led to the belief that his death was accidental. He had a wife and four children.

Catarrh! WHETHER IN Head, Throat, Stomach, Kidneys or Bladder, Use S. S. S.

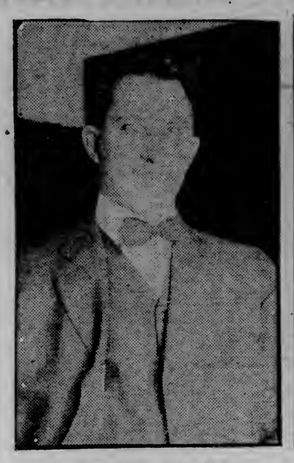

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antidotal remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infects the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores.

For special advice on any blood disease write to the Swift Specific Co., 306 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. from your druggist.

Always insist that you want S. S. S. and nothing else. Beware of all attempts to sell you a substitute.

MYRA DIETZ BECOMES BRIDE OF MOTION PICTURE PRODUCER

B. EUGENE NEWMAN.

MRS. B. EUGENE NEWMAN.

Mayville, Wis., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Myra Dietz, daughter of John F. Dietz, famed in the Northwest as the "defender of Cameron dam," because of his long fight with the authorities that concluded in his capture and conviction for shooting a deputy sheriff, was married here before a large gathering at noon today in the M. E. church by Rev. Mr. Dunkley to B. Eugene Newman, a motion picture producer of Chicago.

Mrs. Mae Mitchell of Hibbing, Minn., was the matron of honor, while the bride was accompanied by four maids, her sister, Miss Helen Dietz, Misses Alme and Emma Peterson of Fond du Lac, Wis., and Miss Nellie Richards of Calumet, Mich., all wearing pink and carrying carnations and attended by Walter Aldach, Robert and Alvin Lentz. Leslie Dietz, a brother of the bride, was best man, while her brother Clarence gave her away.

The bride wore white pearl satin, imported lace veil, pomps to match, and carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley. The church was thronged, 300 invitations having been issued. Motion pictures were taken of the assembling of the party, the actual ceremony and the departure of the bridal party, by staff movie men. The couple will leave at 5:30 for Houston, Tex., and other Southern points, returning via Tampa to Chicago, where they will reside.

LYCEUM—"The Red Rose."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Red Rose" has to do with student life in the Latin quarter of Paris. The locale is suggestive of care-free happiness, and the particular scenes depicted in Mr. Fisher's play reflect the best to be found in real and imaginary student life. Its story deals with the love of a young millionaire art student for Lola, an exquisite artist's model, toast of the Bohemian quarter for two years. That the girl turns out to be the daughter of a wealthy and distinguished nobleman and that everything ends happily is to be expected. The first act shows the interior of an art school where the students are drawing from a living model. The second is an outdoor scene on the estate of a nobleman just outside the French capital. The third depicts the Four Arts ball, where are introduced many of the beautiful and novel dances which help more than a little to lift "The Red Rose" out of the rut of musical comedy. The scenery and costumes are said to be most elaborate. The chorus of twenty-five girls have been chosen not only for looks, grace and youth, but for ability to sing and dance. "The Red Rose" is a singing and dancing show. The book and lyrics were writter by Harry B. Smith and his brother, Robert B. Smith. The music is by Robert Hood Bowers, and the staging was done by R. H. Burnside, for the last four years general stage director for the New York hippodrome.

From newsboy on the streets of San Francisco to the Orpheum stage is the record of Nick Verger, whose songs are one of the bright features of this week's bill at the Duluth Orpheum theater.

Verger was formerly a newsboy in the California city. He had a remarkable tenor voice and used to appear at newsboys' entertainments. One day he arranged a little rhyme containing the names of the papers he sold, and set it to a popular tune. Instead of calling his papers as the other newsboys did, he used to sing his little ditty about them. Owing to the fact that his stand was on one of the busiest corners in San Francisco, he soon became something of a local celebrity. The newspapers printed stories about the singing newsboy, and the attention of a theatrical manager was attracted to the boy. He sent the youngster to a vocal teacher who placed the boy's voice, and gave him some preliminary instruction.

The youngster then secured a vaudeville engagement, and he is now earning and saving money to continue his musical studies. He is ambitious to become an opera singer. Meanwhile he is helping to support his parents from his earnings on the vaudeville stage, and devoting all his spare time to study.

Next week's Orpheum bill will be headlined by the musical comedy favorite, Cecil Lane, who will be remembered for his success with Florence Holbrook in "Bright Eyes."

Nellie Gilbert, one of the girls in the act presented by Elsie Gilbert and her Romping Girls and Collies, which will close its engagement at the Empress tonight is proud of her record as an all around athlete. She holds the amateur swimming championship of the New Jersey coast and the lawn tennis championship of her profession. She is also the proud possessor of many trophies won at handball courts and at the Brighton Beach race course last summer she drove a racing auto ten miles in 13 minutes and 13 seconds, a world's record for a woman driver.

Miss Gilbert being a lover of outdoor sports has been around Duluth every morning, watching the young people skate, ski and play various other games.

Tonight will witness the final tango contest. In this contest all the selected couples from Monday and Tuesday nights with the ones selected tonight will compete for the final prize. Much interest has been shown in these tango contests.

Manager Abrahamson of the Empress theater has decided, owing to the growing motion picture craze, to give his patrons three reel feature films in conjunction with the regular vaudeville program. This policy will take effect this comng Thursday matinee when four new and up-to-date acts will open for the last half of the week. The feature film will be a Western drama "The Lost Treasure."

TEXAS EXPERIMENTS WITH PAROLE SYSTEM

Convicts Will Do Public Road Work on Profit-Sharing Basis.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 25.—Revocable paroles for fifty convicts were signed by Governor Colquitt yesterday, and with their departure from the Huntsville penitentiary today the state will inaugurate an experiment in the management of prisoners without guards or shackles, and a profit-sharing plan for their work on public roads.

The state will receive $15 a month for each convict's labor. Half of this will go to the penitentiary fund and half to the man's personal account. The county in which the men work will maintain them without the expense of guard and overseers.

Governor Colquitt today announced that preparations were about complete for the paroling of forty more men under similar conditions to the Texas state railroad for construction work. All of the men selected for parole are whites, being between the ages of 20 and 26, and have served the majority of their terms of five years or less. The paroles are revocable for disobedience.

Spooner Firemen Dance.

Spooner, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The firemen gave one of the most successful mask balls Monday evening at the Auditorium. Over fifty couples were masked. Some attractive and unique costumes were on display. Supper was served at the Queen River hotel.

ASHLAND WATER RATES ARE ORDERED RAISED.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 25.—The state public utilities commission has just made an important order affecting the local water supply. The commission finds that the plant is worth $500,000; that the water supply is unfit because of sewage reaching the intake, and ordered the water rates raised so that the company will be able to pay about 6 per cent dividends on this valuation.

It is charged that the company has been paying low dividends because of inflated valuations, and that attempts to purify the water with filters have been without avail.

Consider the Advantages of Concealed Window Lights

You merchants and storekeepers who take particular pride in the attractiveness of your show windows, ought to investigate the many decided advantages of Concealed Electric Lights.

A brilliantly lighted window is not always well lighted. On the contrary, too much illumination is often as bad as too little. The unnatural glare sometimes prevents spectators from seeing your goods on display in their true values. Also your lighting fixtures may not be in the best position to concentrate the illumination at the most advantageous points.

Like An Attractive Stage Setting

A window illuminated by Concealed Electric Lights is as pleasant to look upon as a well-arranged stage setting; for the effect produced is really identical—no lights are visible, yet the adequate, generous illumination attracts and holds the interest of every observer. Let us explain how you can use Concealed Electric Lights to advantage.

WORK OF PREPARING FOR CITY'S GREAT MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL UNDER WAY

Committees Wanted From Every Public Organization in Duluth.

Call for Suggestions for Spectacular and Unique Features.

A. C. PEARSON.

A. K. SQUIER.

Without a dissenting voice yet heard, the movement to hold a city pageant and midsummer festival in Duluth in the summer of 1915, now seems to be fairly launched.

The plans will not interfere with the "Lark-o'-the-Lake" plans for the coming summer. These are already under way, but to carry through a festival of the magnitude desired, requires an early start. The year 1915 will be exposition year at San Francisco, and thousands of tourists will be crossing the continent to attend the celebration of the opening of the Panama canal. There will be great rivalry among the railroads and the inland cities to attract these tourists. They will come from all parts of the world, and the transcontinental travel will undoubtedly be the heaviest in history.

If Duluth can have a big midsummer festival to offer as an attraction, added to the beauties of the lake trip, it is believed that a majority of these tourists will pass through Duluth either going to the exposition or returning.

The Duluth retail merchants have taken the first definite step toward organizing. A committee of three members, A. K. Squier, W. B. Brinkman and A. C. Pearson, has been named to serve on a general committee to handle the arrangements, and they will also ask every public organization in Duluth to appoint a similar committee of three, one of whom shall be the president. When all of these committees have been appointed, a meeting of the general committee will be called, and a permanent organization effected. A large committee representative of the entire city is desired. An immense amount of preliminary work will have to be done, and the committee will have to be thoroughly organized and each detail of the work assigned to some member or sub-committee. The general committee may comprise 50 or 100 members, depending on the number of organizations that send representatives.

Others In Line.

The retail grocers have already appointed their representatives.

Last evening the Rotary club fell into line. There was not a quorum present so the representatives could not be elected, but those present were heartily and unanimously in favor of the project, and there is little doubt that at the next meeting a strong committee will be chosen.

The Arab patrol of Aad temple is already in line, and has pledged itself to do anything it is called upon for.

The Aad temple as a whole will probably take similar action.

The attitude of the Drama league is already known. The Drama league is the real originator of the pageant plans, and the members of the league are enthusiastic over the plan to combine the pageant with a general city festival.

During the next week or ten days many other public organizations are expected to fall in line. Among the clubs and societies whose assistance is desired, are the West Duluth, West End and New Duluth Commercial clubs, the Boat club, numerous improvement societies, the fraternal orders, the Woman's council, the various social and athletic clubs, the Duluth Commercial club, and any other organization that will do its share to make the festival a city-wide affair.

Ideas Wanted.

Ideas are wanted. Any suggestions for the entertainment features may be sent to The Herald, and the Herald will see that they are placed before the committee when it is finally organized. New and spectacular features must be secured to advertise the festival and to provide entertainment when the visitors arrive, and the committee members are desirous that every citizen turn himself into a committee of one to devise some such feature that will be unique and at the same time distinctive of Duluth. If these suggestions are sent to The Herald they will be published, with or without the name of the sender as he desires, and referred to the committee when it is formed.

FROSTBITE WAS FATAL

Second Meadowlands Settler Dead as Result of Carousal.

Fell Asleep With Feet Exposed to the Bitter Cold.

Two Meadowlands settlers are dead as the result of a carousal, which took place at the home of one a week ago last Sunday. Last Wednesday afternoon the frozen body of J. C. Lindstrom, 65 years old, was found outside of his cabin, about four miles east of Meadowlands. Dan Payne, 59, suffering from exposure, was found in his own cabin by a neighbor. He was brought to St. Mary's hospital that evening and in Duluth it was found that both his feet were frozen. After suffering agonies for more than a week, he died at the hospital at 6 o'clock this morning.

Payne and Lindstrom had celebrated on Feb. 15 by getting drunk. Whisky bottles found in Payne's cabin last Wednesday gave evidence of this fact. After drinking up to about 4:30 o'clock Lindstrom bade his friend good-bye and left for his shack but a short distance away.

Lindstrom, it is believed, became so stupefied from the effects of the liquor that he fell to the ground when he reached the door of his cabin. He was found lying in the snow just outside the door. He had evidently attempted to unlock the door, as the key was found in the keyhole.

Payne told of the carousal after he was brought to St. Mary's hospital. He remembered having crawled into bed after Lindstrom left his cabin. The fire had died out and Payne pulled the coverings over his head to keep warm. He failed to cover his feet and when he awoke he found that both of his lower limbs had become so frostbitten that he was unable to move without extreme pain. He was compelled to lie in bed until assistance came.

Trapper Finds Him.

Last Wednesday morning Charles W. Swanson, a trapper living near Meadowlands, dropped in at Payne's cabin and there found him lying in bed unable to move. Payne asked about his friend, Lindstrom, saying at the time that it was strange the latter had failed to show up since the preceding Sunday. An investigation by Swanson disclosed Lindstrom's frozen body in front of his cabin.

Payne was given temporary aid and taken to Meadowlands, from where a misleading report was sent out that a murder had been committed. Coroner McComb, Sheriff Meining, Deputy McDonald, Assistant County Attorney White and a local undertaker rushed to Meadowlands that afternoon and they brought Payne back with them Thursday morning. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

The body of Payne has been removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms, from where it will be sent this afternoon to Pine City, Minn., where his relative live. The funeral will be held there Friday afternoon.

The body of Lindstrom was taken to Meadowlands last Sunday and it was buried there Monday afternoon. Lindstrom owned a valuable eighty-acre farm and Payne the adjoining forty-acre tract about four miles from Meadowlands.

CHILD WIFE FREED OF MURDER CHARGE.

New York, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Marie Masio, 16 years old, who in one year graduated from a grammar school, married, became a mother, killed her husband and was imprisoned on a murder indictment, was quickly acquitted last night by a jury in Long Island City. When called to hear the verdict in the Queen's county court, the youthful prisoner held her infant in her arms.

Immediately after leaving school, Mrs. Masio was married to Tony Masio, 22 years old. After the baby's birth, Masio, it was testified, sought to drive her to the streets that he might receive her earnings.

STATE FOR DEMOCRACY

State Senator Works of St. Paul Thinks This a Democratic Year.

Favors Hammond for Governorship--Booms at Get-Together Dinner.

That this is a Democratic year in Minnesota and that that party has a fine chance to elect a governor and a full state ticket, is the belief of State Senator S. D. Works, formerly of Mankato but now of St. Paul.

Senator Works, one of the leading Democrats of the state, arrived this morning on business. He was at the Democratic get-together meeting and banquet held at the West hotel in Minneapolis yesterday afternoon and last evening. The senator said today that the state central committee will soon make arrangements for a mass meeting to be held in one of the Twin Cities for the purpose of deciding on a ticket for nomination. Their announcement is expected soon.

Senator Works said that the meeting and dinner yesterday were productive of a number of booms for the governorship nomination and for other places on the ticket as well. Among those boomed for governor were Samuel Nelson of Luverne and Carlos Avery of Glencoe.

SENATOR S. D. WORKS.

The speakers at the banquet were numerous and included C. C. Daniels of Washington, D. C., a brother of the secretary of the navy, and John Walsh of Ashland, Wis., brother of Senator Walsh of Montana, and Maj. Albert Pfaender of New Ulm.

"Congressman Hammond," said Senator Works, "was the favorite in the governorship talk. There is no doubt about that; and there is also no doubt that if he says the word the mass meeting to be called will indorse him. Dan Lawler could not defeat him, for he has no right to ask party support. He has always been a bolter and trouble maker in the party. He bolted Bryan and at one time bolted Governor Johnson. The party would be much better off without him.

Propitious For Hammond.

"Were I in Congressman Hammond's place it would not take me a minute to make up my mind. He is going to have a harder fight than usual for re-election, because of the fact that two strong Republican counties have been added to his district. His ambition is to be governor and he will never have a better chance than now. Democracy is in the air these days. The wonderful record of President Wilson has put the party in this state in a position such as it has never enjoyed before. There have been Democratic governors, of course, but they have been elected because of their personality and not because of the party. It is different this year, and in addition to that Mr. Hammond has the personality as well, backed up by a fine record in congress.

"Even facing the chance of defeat, I would rather be beaten for governor than for a return to congress, were I Mr. Hammond. And it should also be remembered that there are fine chances for election in this state this year, the Republican party being all torn asunder. Even should the anti-Eberhart people select one man to run for the nomination and win, the machine forces are ready to cut his political throat, and the Democrats would get the benefit.

"The 750 Democrats who took part in yesterday's meeting seemed to be harmonious and I believe that the mass meeting to be called will result well for the party."

EIGHT-HOUR LAW IN FORCE AT CAPITAL

Some Employers Threaten to Raise Prices as Result.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The new model eight-hour law for women workers in the national capital went into operation today, with laundries and many other service establishments threatening increases in charges to the public, and moderate price restaurants proposing to replace their girl waiters with men. Department stores prepared to comply with its terms by lengthening the lunch hour and 6 o'clock closing.

The law provides that no woman under 18 years of age shall be employed before 7 a. m. or after 6 p. m. Government clerks and a few other classes of women workers do not come within its prohibitions, which cover principally manufacturing, mercantile and mechanical establishments, laundries, hotels, restaurants and transportation offices.

BANQUET AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A big attendance is expected at the banquet and mass meeting to be held tonight at the First Presbyterian church when Daniel Poling of Ohio will give an address on "The Conservation of Humanity." There will be a banquet at 6:30 o'clock and the address and a musical program will be given. The program follows:

Music by trio: Mrs. Ter Bush, cello; Miss Jeanette Saunders, piano; Miss Emily Smith, violin.
Prayer, Rev. J. A. McGaughey.
Introduction of speakers, C. J. Hockin.
Address, Daniel A. Poling.
Offering, musical selection during this period.
Benediction, Rev. Bruce Black.

Tri-County Carriers Meet.

Red Wing, Minn., Feb. 25.—Rural mail carriers of Goodhue, Wabasha and Dakota counties, members of the Tri-County Rural Carriers' association, held their annual convention here and these officers were elected: President, H. F. Hines, Cannon Falls; vice president, Edward Nelson, Zumbrota; secretary-treasurer, Frank Schenach, Red Wing.

BILLS FOR CHIPPEWAS

School, Health and Land Rights Covered By Pending Bills.

Measures Comprise Suggestions Made By F. H. Pequette at Capital.

F. H. Pequette of Sawyer, Minn., of the Fond du Lac reservation, who went to Washington, D. C., early in January as a representative of the Chippewas of Minnesota for the purpose of securing needful Indian legislation, was in Duluth today, en route to his home. While in the national capital, Mr. Pequette placed the grievances of the Chippewas before the Indian commission and United States Senator Clapp and Congressman Miller, and as a result several Indian bills are now pending in congress. Chief Mike Diver accompanied Mr. Pequette, but returned early in January, the latter remaining to see Messrs. Clapp and Miller.

F. H. PEQUETTE.

The pending legislation calls for an Indian hospital for Fond du Lac reservation to cost $25,000; homestead allotments for Indians; money for educating and civilizing the Indians and the education of Indian pupils.

A bill involving property rights was introduced in the senate by Senator Clapp and provides "that any Indian who was on Jan. 14, 1889, a member of the Fond du Lac band of Chippewas in Minnesota, is entitled to an allotment on the Fond du Lac reservation in the state of Minnesota, as though such an Indian had been then residing on said reservation, and the secretary of the interior is authorized to allot eighty acres of land upon said reservation not otherwise disposed of to any adult Indian establishing his membership in the said Fond du Lac band without regard to the residence of such Indian."

Another bill was introduced by Senator Clapp giving jurisdiction to the court of claims in the matter of the Chippewa Indians in Minnesota with reference to Fond du Lac lands.

The court of claims is called upon to render judgment regarding the claims of the Chippewas for timber upon lands in the Fond du Lac reservation which may have been classified by the secretary of the interior as agricultural lands.

The house bill calls for $25,000 for constructing, equipping and maintaining a hospital for the relief of the Chippewas at Fond du Lac reservation. The bill provides, also, for the drawing whatever sum may be necessary for support and education of Indian pupils at the Indian school at Mount Pleasant, Mich., and for 225 Indian pupils at Pipestone, Minn.

SOCIALIST WILL LECTURE.

G. R. Kirkpatrick Will Speak Monday Against Militarism.

George R. Kirkpatrick, author and lecturer, will speak on "The Iron Fist" at the Auditorium Monday evening next, under the auspices of the Socialist party of Duluth. Mr. Kirkpatrick is said to be an effective speaker, and his address Monday night will be directed against militarism. Recently he took part in a debate with Henry Clews, the noted New York banker, which was the subject of considerable comment by the New York press.

The committee in charge of the meeting at the Auditorium has sent invitations to the trade unions, women's clubs and ministers of all the churches, with the request that it be brought to the attention of the members of these organizations, as well as the congregations of the different churches.

The Socialists may bring Charles Edward Russell, the well-known Socialist writer, to Duluth on March 11. The matter will be taken up at the city central committee meeting tonight for final action.

Mr. Russell will be in Minneapolis on March 10 and St. Paul March 12, and the Duluth Socialists have been notified that they can have him on March 11.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

A delegation of Duluth temperance workers left last night and yesterday afternoon for Minneapolis, where a "get-together" conference of workers against the liquor traffic is being held today and tomorrow. Representatives of all anti-liquor societies are present at the meeting, the object being to unite in an effort to drive liquor out of the state by getting together on some basis of work and not working independently of each other. Those from Duluth who are attending the meeting are: Mrs. Alfred Jaques, Mrs. Alice Warren, Mrs. L. E. Gustafson, Mrs. Joseph Cochran, L. A. Simonson, R. R. Forward, Dr. R. W. Bowden, W. T. Wilke, Rev. Ray E. Hunt, Bert Wheeler and Dr. Ishkanian.

WOOD ALCOHOL IN WINE AT WEDDING

New York, Feb. 25.—Two sisters are dead and two other young women are in a dangerous condition as the result of what is said to be wood alcohol poisoning, contracted through drinking wine at an East Side wedding last Sunday night. The police believe that several other young women who attended the wedding have also been taken ill.

Hinds Changes Mind.

Portland, Me., Feb. 25.—Congressman Asher C. Hinds, who recently announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, has reconsidered his decision and will enter the Republican primaries.

OHIO LABOR AND TAX LAWS UPHELD.

Washington, Feb. 25. — The Ohio woman labor law and the Ohio excise tax law applicable to railroads were both upheld as constitutional by the supreme court.

Validity of the woman labor law was questioned by Annie Hawley, a milliner of Columbus, who was charged with violating the law by employing females in her establishment longer than ten hours a day.

The excise tax law was attacked by the Marietta, Columbus & Cleveland Railroad company and by the Ohio River & Western Railway company on the contention that the tax, which amounts to 4 per cent on gross earnings, was greater than the value of the privilege taxed—that of doing business in the state.

LOS ANGELES CHIEF'S HOUSE BURGLARIZED.

Los Angeles, Feb. 25.—Chief of Police Sebastian's home was entered yesterday while he was down town at his office, and jewelry valued at $300 taken. The house was deserted at the time.

COUNCIL HAS A BUSY DAY

Many Routine Matters Disposed of at Tuesday's Session.

Settles Claims, Buys Autos and Receives Demands for Damage.

In addition to turning down the ordinance making East Fond du Lac a residence district, revoking Charles Sholund's saloon license at 101 East Michigan street and amending and postponing the ordinance licensing bartenders, the city council transacted considerable routine business at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

W. B. Getchell appeared before the commissioners to urge quick action on the part of the city in order that the building of a subway under the D. M. & N. tracks at Highland street may be hastened. He expressed the belief that the railroad would bear the entire cost of the subway and approaches if the city would close to traffic a number of streets and avenues. He explained that the highways in question could not be closed entirely but that the city could take steps to divert most of the travel from them. He asserted that the plans have been prepared and are now in the hands of the work division. He said that early action is necessary if the subway is to be constructed this year, as the company will not do the work after the ore trains start running.

Commissioner Murchison said that he received the plans Saturday and that the matter is to be taken up at an informal meeting of the commissioners this afternoon. It is probable that the city will take any action which may be necessary on its part at the next meeting, which will likely be held next week.

Bridge Ordinance.

At yesterday's meeting an ordinance appropriating $1,800 as half the cost of building a bridge over Keene's creek on the Getchell road was given its first reading. This road leads to Bay View Heights, Proctor and the territory back of that part of the city.

A resolution was passed authorizing a settlement of $2,500 with Emil Johnson, whose home at 626 Eighth avenue east, was recently wrecked by a gas explosion.

A resolution was passed fixing the salary of the superintendent of maintenance of the works division at $2,000 a year. James G. Lawson, a civil engineer, will have charge of that branch of activity of the works division this year, having recently been appointed to the position by Commissioner Murchison. The same resolution fixes the salary of a foreman of grading at $3.50 a day.

The resolution awarding a contract for a Universal motor truck to the Mutual Auto company was passed without discussion. During the week several of the commissioners investigated the merits of the various trucks on which bids were submitted and were satisfied that the truck of the Mutual company gave good value for the money. The purchase of an Oakland automobile for the works division was approved. The city is paying $650 in cash and trading in one of the old cars.

Upon the recommendation of the city engineer the request of property owners that the sidewalk on Twenty-first avenue east, above Fourth street, be laid next to the curb, was denied. The engineer reported that this would not be the best construction.

Chester W. Poole of 630 North Fifty-sixth avenue west filed notice of a claim for $500 damages alleged to have been done to his property by the recent breaking of a nearby water main.

Adelphi Saloon License.

N. B. Dunphy made application for a saloon license at 2803 West Superior street. This is for the Adelphi hotel, gutted by fire a short time ago. At that time it was reported that a number of residents in the vicinity had started a movement to prevent another saloon being located at that place. It was claimed yesterday that this probably would not be effectual. Karl Lehto made application for the transfer to himself of the saloon license held by Mrs. A. K. Mattson at 160 South First avenue east. The saloon has a poor reputation and another application for a transfer at that place was denied two weeks ago.

The ordinance appropriating $35,500 for the purchase of materials for the water and light department was passed and an ordinance appropriating $40,000 for pipe for the same department was given a second reading.

May Maguire filed notice of a claim of $2,000 for personal injuries. She asserts that she was badly burned about the head and face through the city's negligence in furnishing her with a defective gas stove.

The plat of the Fay addition was approved after it had been agreed to put another road through the center of the tract.

W. D. Gordon was granted an auctioneer's license and G. Green was granted a license for a second-hand store at 707 West Superior street.

TELLS EVILS OF THE SALOON BACK ROOM

Chicago Investigator Finds It Causes Downfall of Girls.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Girls and women are among those imperilled by conditions which permit 14,602 women to drink daily in 478 saloon back rooms on four main thoroughfares of Chicago.

These are conclusions in the report of a "survey of Madison and Clark streets and Wabash and Cottage Grove avenues," made by the Chicago South Side club.

The investigation was made, the report states, by a "conscientious woman familiar with such work. Through one ruse or another she avoided drinking any liquor throughout her entire experience.

Out of the 478 saloons visited on the three main highways of the city, north, east and west, only twenty-seven fail to contribute in some manner to the demoralization of women and girls, according to the report, which lays the burden of blame on "back rooms" and "wine rooms." It says:

"Most of the women drinkers in the saloons covered by this report were amateurs who might be daughters of almost anybody. Nearly half of the saloons use music to attract the trade, and forty have cabarets. The investigator was struck with the fact that the majority of the women drinking were young girls, either working girls or 'girls of leisure.'"

"Note was taken of downtown saloons," according to one section of the pamphlet, "and their close relation to the stage entrances of the theaters and the consequent temptations laid in the path of the chorus girls."

The investigator had some difficulty in ascertaining the way in which chorus girls are led to their destruction, but finally she succeeded. "Men lie in wait for the girls, and invite them to drink." Abolition of the back room is urged as the most important step to be taken to rectify conditions.

KILLS GIRL WHO REJECTED HIM.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25.—Disappointed in love, Abraham Pepper of Tacoma, Wash., called Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, his former sweetheart and a bride of a week, into the hall of the hotel here where she was spending her honeymoon, shot her dead at her husband's feet, and then shot himself. With a bullet in his head, Pepper was rushed to the Central Emergency hospital, where his chance for recovery was said to be slight.

Pepper and F. L. Johnson, manager of a Tacoma music store, were rivals for the hand of Miss Dorothy Danheuser. Pepper had kept company with the young woman for five years, but Johnson was successful, and a week ago he and his bride left Tacoma for a honeymoon in California.

Pepper followed, and called at Johnson's room. Mrs. Johnson opened the door and Pepper fired. As the woman crumpled to the floor without a word, and while the husband was rushing toward her assailant, Pepper shot himself.

New Southern Rates Held Up.

Washington, Feb. 25.—An increase of 2 cents a hundred pounds in the freight rates on cement from Indiana points to Memphis, to New Orleans and other destinations in the South, proposed by the Southern and Southwestern railroads, was suspended by the interstate commerce commission until June 26. An inquiry into the advance already has been instituted.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

ASK COMMISSION TO BE PRESENT

Fifth Ward Club Will Urge Improvements for This Year.

Invitation has been extended to members of the city commission to attend the meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club to be held next Tuesday evening at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street. The commissioners' presence is said to be desired by the members because, they say, they would like to know what prompted numerous boosts in the salary of nearly all of the city employes.

The subject was taken up at the last meeting of the club early this month and put over until this meeting in order to give the commissioners an opportunity to be present and give their reasons. The members of the club also intend asking the commission what it proposes to do for the Fifth ward.

Among the improvements which the club has been asking for is the culvert over Buckingham creek. The club members say that the covering for the creek must be laid this year from Superior street to Third or Fourth street. This part of the creek is said to be nothing less than an open sewer in the summer and a menace to the health of the community.

Grading and paving of some of the streets as well as street lighting will also occupy the attention of the members.

ASK BETTER ROADS AND MARKETS

Hermantown Farmers' Club Wants Improvements This Season.

Better roads through the farming district and market facilities in the western end of the city of Duluth will be the subject discussed by members of the Farmers' and Producers' club of Hermantown, at the Hermantown Woodmen hall Monday evening. Action may be taken to ask the county commissioners to extend the Getchell road from the Morris-Thomas to the Hermantown road this year.

With only about two more months before many of the farmers will be appearing at the local markets, it is probable that the farmers may take some action regarding setting certain days on which they will appear in the West end and in West Duluth. It is probable that they will decide this year to occupy the West end market on three days of the week instead of two days as last year.

The extension of the Getchell road from the Morris-Thomas highway to Hermantown road will enable farmers farther north to get to West Duluth as easily as to the West end. This, say many of the farmers, is desirable because they have customers in both parts of the city.

The Orpheus Singing society will hold its meeting tonight at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The meeting nights of the society have recently been changed from Monday to Wednesday.

The St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church has planned to give a series of midweek teas in the parlors of the church during Lent. The first of these affairs will be held Thursday afternoon next week.

Rev. C. B. Kendall of Hartford, Mich., was the principal speaker last night at an entertainment given at the Central Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Kendall spoke on "Things We Believe But Do Not Understand."

Found Frozen Stiff.

Kasota, Minn., Feb. 25.—Charles Colson was found dead on the floor of his little shack in this village by his son, who had come to see why he had not put in an appearance as usual in the stone quarry, where he was employed. He was found beside his bed, frozen stiff. The coroner decided an inquest was not necessary.

Miner Given Judgment.

Bessemer, Mich., Feb. 25.—A jury in circuit court here returned a verdict for $2,700 for Sven Johnson against the Montreal Mining company. The plaintiff was injured in the company's mine three years ago and lost an arm.

CORPORATION LAW OF OKLAHOMA INVALID.

Washington, Feb. 25.—The Oklahoma statute of 1908, in effect forbidding foreign corporations doing business in that state, from removing suits against them from state to Federal courts in that jurisdiction, was held unconstitutional by the supreme court.

WANTS AEROPLANE FLEET FOR U. S.

Washington, Feb. 25.—A $15,000,000 aeroplane fleet is proposed in a bill by Representative L'Engle of Florida. He painted a picture of cities being destroyed by bombs from invading air craft and compared the foreign air fleets with those of the United States, which, he said, was composed of "twelve obsolete, man-killing aeroplanes."

MILLERS AND FOOD MAKERS VICTORS

Bleached Flour Case Decision Is Blow to Government's Fight.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Millers and food manufacturers generally throughout the country won a decisive victory over the government when the supreme court held yesterday that Federal inspectors could not condemn under the pure food law "bleached flour," unless they proved that the flour contained enough poisonous ingredients added in bleaching to make the flour injurious to health.

Officials of the department of agriculture have fought the case bitterly, contending that the adding of any quantity of poisonous ingredients was in violation of the law. They concentrated their efforts to have this principle established in the bleached flour case, because the decision will be applicable to every other proceeding involving an article of food claimed to contain added poisonous or deleterious ingredients.

Alsop Process Used.

The case originated in the district court of Western Missouri. The government sought to condemn 625 sacks of flour bleached by the Lexington Mills company by the so-called "Alsop process." The government claimed that in bleaching the flour to give it a color to hide its inferiority certain nitrates or poisonous ingredients were added and that this violated the law, no matter what the quantity. The district court so held and the jury condemned the flour. The Eighth circuit court of appeals held the district court erred, and so did the supreme court.

In announcing the decision, Justice Day pointed out that the government only complained that 1.8 parts to 1,000,000 of a poisonous character was added by bleaching. He held that every word of the pure food law, prohibiting in interstate commerce a food if it contained "any added poisonous or other added deleterious ingredient, which may render such article injurious to health" must be given its true meaning.

Consumer's Health Considered.

"If it cannot, by any possibility, when the facts are reasonably considered, injure the health of any consumer," said the justice, "such flour, though having a small addition of poisonous or deleterious ingredient, may not be condemned by the act."

Department of agriculture officials were not prepared to say what action they would take as a result of the court's decision.

MAY NEVER TRY BECKER

Appearance Has Changed.

Becker's stay of sixteen months in the deathhouse has resulted in changes in his appearance. He has improved in health, and his makeup is that of an athlete in training. During his incarceration he has read a great deal. His reading included the Bible, Shakespeare and many other works of literature.

"What do I think of it?" Becker said, in answer to a question as to his opinion of the court's ruling. "Well, what would you think of it if you heard such news after you had been in this place for sixteen months, sentenced to death for a crime you never committed?

"I tell you that deathhouse is an awful place. Just think of it! I've seen twelve men march past my cell to die since I have been there! Most of them went like men, too. But you can believe that things like that are hard on anyone's nerves. I've fought to keep out those influences from my mind, and I've succeeded."

Referred to Ecclesiastes.

When a request was made through Warden Clancy for a statement, Becker sent out a paper containing "Book of Ecclesiastes, chapter 51, 1st to 17th verses, inclusive."

"They express my sentiments," he said.

Jack Rose, the chief witness for the state against Becker, said today he was ready to testify again in the case if wanted. He showed feeling when mention was made of the suggestion that Becker was made a victim in order that he and others who confessed their part in the plot might be saved.

"If it can be proved," he said "that it was a frame up, I want to take the cell made vacant by Becker. I want also to pay the penalty, and I want to waive immunity. We must all face the judgment of God. There and there only can I be judged upon the testimony I gave at the trial."

"Bridgie" Weber, who is living in Passaic, N. J., refused to discuss the Becker decision. "I have nothing to say. I don't want to be bothered about it any more," he said.

Gunmen Notified.

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 25.—"It's a long lane that has no turning," Charles Becker said in the "death house" of Sing Sing prison when he received the news of the court's decision.

The four gunmen were not notified until night that their conviction had been affirmed and that they must die in the electric chair. The warden went to their cells and said:

"I am sorry, boys, that I bring you bad news. The court has turned down your application for a new trial."

"That's all right, warden," said "Lefty Louise," "we know the job is no cinch for you."

"Dago Frank" said: "God's will be done."

The other two gunmen said nothing.

Justice Goff Criticized.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Severe criticism of Justice Goff is included in the decision of the court of appeals giving Charles Becker a new trial. Justice Goff, the court held, erred in many of his rulings at Becker's trial, and appeared to be prejudicial in his attitude toward the defendant. The reversal was based solely on these grounds.

No attempt was made by the court to say whether the weight of evidence against Becker was sufficient to warrant his conviction. It was pointed out, however, that the testimony against him was given by witnesses of low class, and as much of it was open to doubt, he therefore was entitled to a fairer trial than he received.

All of the seven members of the court except Judge Werner, who acted as presiding judge when the appeal was argued, concurred in the prevailing Becker opinion, which was written by Judge Hiscock. In a dissenting opinion, Judge Werner said the main contentions of the state had been amply proved to warrant conviction.

The much-mooted question as to the status of Sam Schepps, whom the jury in the Becker case decided was not an accomplice to the crime, still is unsettled. The prevailing opinion merely said that there was doubt in the minds of some of the court as to the propriety of excluding Scheeps as an accomplice.

Unanimous on Gunmen.

The decision in the case of the four gunmen, "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis," "Dago Frank," and "Lefty Louie," was unanimous. They had averred that the evidence against them was insufficient to warrant conviction, and also that the court had erred in handling their cases, but these contentions were held by the court to be groundless.

The date for the execution of the gunmen will be fixed by the court within a few days. The warrants are in the clerk's office ready for the signatures of the judges when they decide if the electrocutions shall take place. The law says the execution shall not be deferred more than six weeks after the judgment of conviction has been annouced. The court of appeals, however, usually allows only five weeks to elapse. If precedent is followed, the gunmen will be electrocuted during the latter part of March.

Although the court of appeals made no attempt to pass on the weight of the evidence, nor to fix the status of any of those alleged to have been connected with the crime other than the five convicted men, it dealt at length with their testimony.

Regarding Sam Schepps.

Regarding Sam Schepps, whom Justice Goff permitted the jury to find was not an accomplice, the opinion said:

"While the presiding justice permitted the jury to find that Schepps was not an accomplice of Rose and the others, and therefore guilty like them of the murder of Rosenthal, some of the members of the court believe that the finding was opposed to the overwhelming weight of the evidence."

Attention was called to the fact that Becker never was directly connected with the crime, but that the testimony of others who were jointly suspected, convicted him.

Other features regarding the testimony which the opinion pointed out follow:

That none of the witnesses against Becker was able to fix or approximate the date of the so-called Harlem conference at which it was declared Becker made the arrangement with Jack Rose and others to kill Rosenthal.

Grave Doubt.

That there is a grave doubt if there was any evidence whatever to corroborate the testimony of the six witnesses to the effect that Becker was an accomplice to the killing.

That when the so-called Harlem conference took place, Rosenthal had obtained no attention to his complaints against Becker. This weakens the theory of the prosecution that because of Rosenthal's complaints, Becker desired him slain. It is reasonable to suppose that Becker would not resort to such desperate measures.

That the two chauffeurs who are said to have carried Rose and his friends to the Harlem conference never were produced.

After referring to all of these facts and circumstances, the opinion went on to say that in the light of much doubt existing as to Becker's guilt, he certainly was entitled to the fairest trial, which he did not get under Justice Goff.

Much Space to Goff.

Practically all of the opinion was devoted to a criticism of the New York justice. The only serious error attributed to District Attorney Whitman was that in his opening address he referred to Becker as a "grafter." Becker not being on trial for grafting, it was held, the district attorney should not have made this statement because it might have prejudiced the jury.

The court said that it was impossible, in an opinion, to portray the unfavorable atmosphere that existed at the time of the trial, but pointed out some of the rulings of Justice Goff which were held to have prejudiced the defendant's case. Some of them follow:

At the opening of the case Justice Goff threatened to have Mr. McIntyre, senior counsel for Becker, removed because he objected to remarks of the district attorney.

Criticized Counsel.

Justice Goff frequently criticized Becker's counsel for trivial peculiarities in their forms of questions, intervened to protect the state's witnesses on cross-examination, and on one occasion, when Becker's counsel asked Mr. Whitman to concede a fact, the justice said, "No, I will not let him concede it."

The haste of the trial is also criticized.

Repeatedly Justice Goff refused to allow Becker's counsel to have papers they were entitled to that were in the possession of the district attorney, and some of the justice's rulings passed beyond the limit of discretion and were erroneous as matters of law.

It was pointed out that Becker's counsel should have been given the fullest opportunity to cross-examine Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, who were in constant communication and conference with each other and were "engaged in the common undertaking of attempting to save their own lives by placing in forfeit that of Becker."

Attitude Toward Witnesses.

The different attitude that the justice took toward witnesses caused remark. Witnesses who proved disappointing to the justice were treated with harshness and manner of suspicion, it was declared, while Schepps, the state's star witness, was protected by the justice in various ways.

Witnesses were asked questions by Becker's counsel, which were excluded by Justice Goff, but later, when the district attorney recalled the witnesses, the identical questions excluded were put to them by order of the court, the opinion declares.

Much space in the opinion was devoted to Justice Goff's order that Mr. McIntyre conclude his examination of Jack Rose on the same day on which he was called. This was the day that Mr. McIntyre pleaded physical and mental exhaustion, and when he said he could go no further the court said time was being "wasted" and terminated the examination.

Examination of Rose.

On this phase, Justice Hiscock said: "Rose was concededly the most important witness of the prosecution. If, as claimed by the defense, a wicked conspiracy was framed by him and his associates to throw upon the defendant the responsibility for Rosenthal's murder, and thereby secure immunition and save their lives, Rose was clearly the inventor and chief promoter of this conspiracy.

"The defense should have had an opportunity for a searching, complete and advantageous cross-examination of Rose, such as was not afforded at the end of long and unusual hours, when counsel was exhausted mentally and physically."

Attention is called to the fact that the error of the course which was followed was clearly conceded by recalling Rose at the close of the case, and offering to allow the defendant then to complete his cross-examination.

Charge to the Jury.

Of Justice Goff's charge to the jury it is said that he defined with accuracy many of the principles of law which governed the jury, and "then outlined in much detail and most effectively the claims of the prosecution and the evidence which had been produced to support these claims, leaving it to the jury, with few and meager exceptions, to evolve from their own unaided memories the recollection of any arguments or evidence in behalf of the defendant which tended to contradict or rebut such arguments and such evidence of the prosecution.

"In his extended remarks concerning the witness, Rose, and which seems to us to have assumed somewhat the form of an argument in favor of his credibility, no attention is called to the fact that he had saved his own life by agreeing to give evidence against Becker."

While Becker's counsel may have been obstructive, the opinion said, there was no evidence that they were ever disrespectful to the court. Some of the least errors in the case might be overlooked, it was pointed out, if the evidence of guilt had been so clear that the court might believe justice had been done in spite of them, but such was not the case.

Fundamental Demand of Law.

"The fundamental demand of our law is that the accused shall have a fair trial, and that if that right has been infringed," the opinion concludes, "not in respect of mere technicalities, but in substantial matters, he shall have another opportunity to meet his accuser and establish his innocence. That is our opinion in the present case.

"Under the rulings of the court, the defendant did not have that manner of trial which the law guarantees to him. His counsel was hampered and embarrassed; his case was discredited and weakened; full and impartial consideration by the jury was impeded and prevented. He never had a fair chance to defend his life, and it would be a lasting reproach to the state if, under those circumstances, it should exact its forfeiture."

an old soldier, came along. Without warning, Russell said, they jumped on him, overpowered and tied and gagged him and dragged him into the treasury offices, where they at once began work on the vault.

Two on Lookout.

Two of the men were posted as lookouts and as Watchman Carpenter, also an old soldier, came along on his rounds, they grabbed him and tied him up and took him to the treasury room alongside of Russell, where one of them stood guard. Beyond a scuffle there was no fight in either case, according to the watchmen, who told their stories to the police today.

Carpenter, in an interview, said that while he and Russell were lying bound on chairs in the treasury room he hoped that Watchman Gay would wake up, but the latter slept calmly while his mates were prisoners.

Carpenter wiggled out of his ropes shortly after the cracksmen left the building, and notified the police. He said the men evidently were experts, but that they quit work on their own account, apparently having become disgusted with their failure. He described them as being middle-aged men, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, and one, the leader, about 6 feet tall.

Slept All Through It.

Watchman Gay knew nothing of the attempted safe blowing until awakened by Carpenter, according to the latter. He did not hear the explosions nor the sound of the cracksmen's voices.

Chief of Detectives Jackson found three broken drills on the floor of the treasury offices, which he said were the kind used by experts.

MEXICAN FEDERALS HANG AMERICAN

facts had been gathered. Officials regard the delivery of the body as of first importance, however.

Secretary Bryan visited the White House before going to his office to read overnight dispatches. He made no comment on the situation.

White House Statement.

White House officials, after Secretary Bryan had left, made this explanation of the status of the inquiry regarding Benton's body:

Two dispatches were received yesterday, one from Consular Agent Carothers, saying Villa would not permit a view of the body "at this time," but would do so later. That message came during the afternoon.

Late last night a message was received from Consul Letcher at Chihuahua, who had been in personal conference with Villa. He reported Villa was willing to have the widow and relatives of Benton see the body when it was exhumed, and that their visit would be permitted in the presence of representatives to be designated by the American government.

The change in Gen. Villa's attitude as reflected in these two messages, it was said, was the result of representations by the United States that his attitude was not satisfactory.

The United States will designate an army surgeon as one of its representatives, and an examiantion of the body will be made, according to White House officials.

Give Body to Widow.

While apparently satisfied that an opportunity for medical examination of the corpse has been made, the latest representations to Villa request that after the examination the body be delivered to the widow for burial wherever she may wish.

The state department is hopeful that through Gen. Carranza, Villa's superior officer, it can succeed in getting Benton's body. No answer has been received today to representations sent to Carranza yesterday at Nogales. The mail report of the proceedings of the court-martial had not reached Washington.

Secretary Bryan had communicated to the British embassy the latest message from Consul Letcher, announcing Villa's willingness to permit the widow to view Benton's body, but his refusal to allow its removal. That, however, may not meet the demands of the British embassy.

Secretary Bryan declined today to intimate what he would do in the event that Villa persisted in his refusal and Carranza could not be induced to intervene.

Favor Cavalry Invasion.

Discussing possibilities, some officials here said there really was no legal obstacle to Brig.-Gen. Bliss sending a force of American cavalrymen from the border patrol to recover Benton's body if it can be located. That such would mean an act of war which must first be authorized by congress, was denied by some officials. They pointed to President Wilson's declaration that there is at present no government in Mexico. Such a condition, they say, would justify such action, somewhat similar to that taken in China during the Boxer uprising, when a large international force entered the country without any declaration of war. Such a course would be one of last resort, but its legality was held to be beyond question.

The 800 marines already on battleships in Mexican waters will be reinforced by 300 sailing from Pensacola, Fla., on the transport Prairie, probably next Sunday. Secretary Daniels explained that the Prairie was being sent to Vera Cruz solely to provide accommodations for marines on already overcrowded battleships.

No Embassy Guard.

Secretary Daniels said today that no orders had been issued for the landing of a guard for the American embassy at Mexico City, and that no request for such a force had been received at the department.

Secretary Bryan later conferred with the senate foreign relations committee at the capitol. He had with him an armful of books and documents, some of them, it was said, relating to Mexico. Besides the Mexican situation, the committee and Mr. Bryan discussed the pending treaty with Nicaragua for the purchase of a perpetual option on the Nicaraguan canal route and naval station rights on the Gulf of Fonseca for a consideration of $3,000,000.

Reports Conflict.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 25.—Uncertainty still prevailed here today as to what Gen. Villa of the Constitutionalist army proposes to do regarding the request of the United States government that he deliver to the widow the body of William S. Benton, the British subjest whom he executed last week at Juarez.

Conflicting reports of the rebel general's proposed action have been received here. A message sent by Villa to the American consul at Juarez was translated to read that Benton's body will be delivered to the widow, but not at the present time.

However, American Consul Letcher at Chihuahua, where Gen. Villa is making temporary headquarters, reported that Villa declines to deliver the body, but that he will permit the widow or other relatives to visit the cemetery with American representatives, and that for their benefit he will order an exhumation of the body, which will then be reinterred in the grave from which it would be removed.

"Respect to the Dead."

In a telegram to one of his subordinates at Juarez, Gen. Villa was reported as saying:

"I will not give up the body, out of respect to the dead. It was interred with all religious observances and a cross erected over it, and I will not allow the sacrilege of its removal."

United States secret service operatives said they had received information, which they did not make public, that indicated that Gustav Rauch, the missing German-American, has met a fate similar to Benton's.

Constitutionalists today expressed their pleasure over the reported voluntary surrender yesterday of the Federal gunboat Tampico, with its crew, to Constitutionalist officials at Topolobampo. The surrender of the Tampico gave the rebels their first armed vessel.

Interest in the case of Benton centered in the arrival of Charles Percival, British consul at Galveston, who was expected here today to make a thorough investigation. His efforts to find out just how Benton was killed, it is expected, will bring a definite statement from Gen. Villa at Chihuahua as to what may be done with the body.

Consul Wants Protection.

London, Feb. 25.—The British government, it was announced today, still is awaiting an answer from the state department at Washington to its request to the United States government to secure a safe conduct from Gen. Villa to enable Consul Perceval of Galveston to participate in the investigation into the death of William S. Benton at Juarez. Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under-secretary for foreign affairs, stated today in the house of commons that the foreign office was not prepared to order Consul Perceval to leave El Paso for the dangerous districts of Mexico until it had received some assurance that he would be safe in so doing.

SUFFRAGISTS WILL NOT STOP CAMPAIGN

Refuse to Promise Good Behavior to British Court.

London, Feb. 25.—Five prominent suffragists were brought before the Bow street police court today charged with obstructing the police during last night's demonstration in parliament square, when they protested violently against Premier Asquith's refusal to receive them.

The prisoners were Laurence Housman, author and artist; Henry W. Nevinson, war correspondent; Mrs. D. A. Thomas, wife of the Welsh coal magnate; H. D. Harben and Miss K. Haig.

The magistrate ordered them all to give bonds of $25 each to guarantee their good behavior for six months. The prisoners all refused to enter into the bond.

In a speech from the prisoners' enclosure, Laurence Housman said:

"I am here as a protest against the treatment of women political offenders. I shall continue to protest so long as I think it justified and necessary."

In the ordinary courts, offenders refusing to give bonds remain in prison for six months.

Alfred Meynell, another prisoner, was charged with assaulting the police and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or go to prison for seven days.

Woman Sent to Hard Labor.

Phillis Brady, a militant suffragette accused of arson, was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment at hard labor by a magistrate, despite the jury's recommendation of mercy on the ground that she had been led astray by other militants.

Miss Brady was arrested on the charge of being one of the suffragettes who set fire to the residence of Lady White, widow of Field Marshal Sir George White, at Englefield Green, Surrey, on March 20, 1913. She is 24 years old and graduated at Cambridge university with honors in mathematics and economics.

BERRY WILL FILED.

Duluth Man Left $26,000 Estate in This County.

Frank C. Berry, who died Feb. 5, at Biloxi, Miss., left an estate of $26,000 in St. Louis county, according to the petition of Harriett M. Berry, widow, for the admission of his will, also asked the probate court yesterday to grant her letters testamentary. With the exception of two $500 bequests made to a sister and niece living in Minneapolis, Mr. Berry directed that his estate be divided among his widow and five children.

DAMAGE CASE SENT TO FEDERAL COURT.

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 25.—A damage suit for $10,000 brought by Anna Doherty against the Michigan Transportation company for the drowning of Dave Doherty has been transferred to the Federal court. Doherty and a companion were drowned last fall while loading supplies on a vessel.

Omaha Brakeman Held.

Eau Claire, Wis., Feb. 25.—William E. Hart, a brakeman employed by the Omaha railroad, had a preliminary hearing yesterday before Judge Brace on a charge of breaking into a Michigan Central box car on the Omaha tracks at Altoona, Wis., Feb. 19, and stealing nineteen pairs of shoes and a pair of rubbers, and was held for trial in $1,000 bail.

YOUR HEALTH FIRST

Very many men and women come to us intimating that they have long been indifferent to health—some say that they have come to us only as a last resort—while others say that they have never been really sick, but never quite well. All of these people realize that their health has not been what it should be and know that insidious diseases have been at work incapacitating them for the full enjoyment of physical and mental powers, reducing their efficiency more and more and placing them in a precarious position as regards their future and happiness.

There are many others in exactly the same position who should recognize the fact that after all, health, perfect health, is of first importance. If your nervous energy is impaired, if you have diseases that affect your vital efficiency, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Blood Poison, Stricture or any chronic or newly contracted trouble, we can show you why you should consider your health FIRST.

You can profit by a prompt visit. Advice honest and candid. Examination free and strictly confidential.

Send Name and Address Today ---You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and we are convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

We think we owe it to our fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy company, 4471 Goodyear Building, Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but we send it entirely free.

Woman's Realm

Third in the series of events planned by the university extension department for Duluth is the concert which will be given Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Central high school assembly hall by the MacPhail trio of Minneapolis. The program includes violin, voice and piano numbers, with William MacPhail, violinist; Grace Chadbourne, soprano, and Gertrude Reeves, pianist and accompanist.

The trio is one of the leading concert companies of the state, and is well known by music lovers in Duluth as well as in the Twin Cities.

Mr. MacPhail is one of the leading violinists of the Northwest, and critics write that "beautiful tone, depth of feeling, charm and refinement are characteristics of his playing."

Course tickets for the series have had such an extensive sale that the reserved seat section is entirely sold, but single admission tickets for this occasion will be sold at the door for gallery seats.

The program which has been arranged for this concert follows:

PASTOR TALKS.

Rev. George R. Gebauer Speaks Before Literature Class.

"Some of the noblest religious thought has been given, not by theologians but by literary men," said Rev. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, yesterday afternoon in his lecture on "Literature and Dogma" given at the meeting of the Ladies' Literature class held at the home of Mrs. Alexander Braden, 1814 East First street.

Mathew Arnold was the writer whose ideas and views of religion and life were chiefly discussed by Mr. Gebauer yesterday, the speaker bringing out his points with the usual keenness and insight which characterizes his talks, and the members of the club and their guests invited for the afternoon enjoyed his scholarly thought.

"We, every one of us, carry the skeleton of our ancestors' faith around with us and it is bound to color our faith to some extent however deep a thinker we may be," said Mr. Gebauer, "and this I believe is true in Mathew Arnold's case for his works show the influence of his early teachings and training. To him form meant nothing and life all, but he really gives a new dogma, while criticising those who had given others."

The speaker outlined Arnold's theory of righteousness, and truth and his teachings. He compared him with Tolstoi and said that Arnold's influence is still felt as evidenced by study of his works and life by a club of the character of the literary class.

An informal discussion followed Mr. Gebauer's lecture, members of the class asking questions which brought up interesting points and Mrs. Herbert Spencer, president of the class, announced that German literature will be taken up for class study next year.

CHILDREN OF SWEDISH CROWN PRINCE SNAPPED BY CAMERA

SWEDISH ROYAL CHILDREN.

This photograph just received in this country shows the four children of the crown prince of Sweden. They are Prince Gustaf Adolf, born in April, 1906; Prince Sigvard, born in June, 1907; Princess Ingrid, born in March, 1910, and Prince Bertil, who will celebrate his second birthday on the twenty-eighth of this month. It has been reported that the king of Sweden as the result of the crisis over national defense may abdicate in favor of his son. In that case little Gustaf Adolf would become crown prince of Sweden.

EVENING SERVICE.

Day Observed at Pro-Cathedral.

An Ash Wednesday evening service will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at Trinity pro-cathedral in the church, Rev. Dr. Thomas H. MacLean, vicar of the church, conducting the service. He will give a short sermon on "Ash Wednesday and Lent Duties."

Informal Evening.

Mrs. P. W. Galagher and Mrs. James P. Ryan entertained at cards last evening at the home of the latter. Cards were played at six tables and the prizes were won by Mrs. J. M. Doherty, M. Mosock and Edward Galagher. A dainty lunch was served, after which dancing was enjoyed by the following guests:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
Heglund, John Ryan,

Priscilla Club Party.

The members of the Priscilla club entertained their husbands and a number of friends at an informal party last evening at the home of Mrs. S. D. Morse, 3516 Allendale avenue. The decorations were carried out in red and white, and the evening was spent with games. Mrs. Paul Thompson and C. M. Hon of Minneapolis won the prizes.

At Bethel.

The weekly women's meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Bethel, Mesaba avenue and West First street, at 2:30 o'clock, to which all women interested are cordially invited to attend. The talk by Wilke Clock, announced for this meeting, has been postponed on account of Mr. Clock's illness, and Mrs. Thomas McGregor will be the speaker instead.

Day of Prayer.

All women interested in missions are invited to attend the services of the Day of Prayer which will be held at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and First street, tomorrow under the auspices of the Interdenominational Missionary union. The morning session will begin at 10:30 o'clock and the afternoon session at 2 with a basket lunch at noon in the dining rooms of the same church. The program in full for the day is as follows:

Charity Ball.

The Sisters of Israel have planned their twelfth annual Purim charity ball, to be given Tuesday evening, March 10, at Coffin's dancing academy. The committee in charge is completing arrangements for the affair.

Travel Talks.

Travel talks of particular interest were given yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the travel class of the Twentieth Century club, held at the library clubroom. Mrs. John MacLeod spoke on China and some phases of its history and costumes, and Prof. W. H. Schilling of the Central high school told interesting tales of his trips abroad, speaking especially of Germany, Rome, Naples and Switzerland.

PRINCESS ELIZABETH NOTED FOR BEAUTY

ELIZABETH OF ROUMANIA.

Princess Elizabeth of Roumania, who will marry the crown prince of Greece, is the oldest daughter of Prince Ferdinand, heir to the throne of Roumania. She was born Oct. 11, 1894. She is noted for her beauty.

Masquerade.

Shrove Tuesday was celebrated last evening by the Elks with a masquerade ball at their clubrooms, Third avenue west and First street. The ballroom presented a pretty picture with its motley throng of masqueraders in elaborately conceived costumes, some stately, some comic and picturesque. La Brosse's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing, and only the old-fashioned waltz and two-step were given place on the evening's program, the new dances being entirely barred. There were about 150 dancers at the party, who enjoyed the evening's fun and the parade of costumes.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. Arthur H. Schwartz of 1603 East Superior street entertained at a bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home. Jonquils and narcissus in pretty clusters carried out a color scheme of yellow and white, and the card favors were won by Mrs. H. La Bree and Mrs. E. L. Cheney.

Wedding Anniversary.

Members of Stadheim lodge, Daughters of Norway, surprised their president, Mrs. Lena Johnson at her home, yesterday afternoon in celebration of her twentieth wedding anniversary. There were thirty guests and Mrs. Johnson was presented with a number of handsome gifts. The afternoon was spent informally and refreshments were served.

Two Parties.

Miss Strasburger and Mrs. Lignell were hostesses at a pretty bridge party this afternoon at their home at No. 15 Chester terrace and will entertain at a second party tomorrow afternoon. Pretty clusters of flowers decorated the rooms.

Lodge Notes.

There will be no regular meeting of Aerial Hive No. 975 in the hall Friday, Feb. 27.

• • •

Gate City Temple No. 10, Pythian Sisters, will entertain at cards Friday afternoon at K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. The hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. N. Wood, Mrs. R. C. Foster and Mrs. H. McKenzie. A business meeting of the temple will be called at 2 o'clock, and the card games will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

W. R. C. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Relief corps will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Memorial hall, courthouse. Business of special importance will be transacted and a full attendance is asked for. Mrs. C. B. Young will be the hostess at the social half-hour which will follow the meeting.

Two Hundred Dancers.

About two hundred dancers enjoyed the dancing party given last evening by the Emmet club at Coffin's academy, Lake avenue and First street. Blewett's orchestra played a program of sixteen numbers.

Mrs. Longworth Wears Ribbon Bow at Knee.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Nicholas Longworth has introduced a new fashion fad in the knee knot which she is wearing on most of her gowns. It consists of a huge bow of ribbon with many loops which catches her draped skirt into a bunch at her left knee. Mrs. Longworth is wearing black for her grandmother but her gowns are the latest fashion.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. R. D. Handy and little son, Mason, of 1922½ East Superior street, left this morning for Excelsior, Minn., to visit Mrs. Handy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mason of that city.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Manthey have returned from their wedding trip which included a visit at Chicago, Detroit and Flint, Mich., and South Bend, Ind. They are at home at 1209 West Fifth street. Mrs. Manthey was formerly Miss Margaret Tidball.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Crassweller have returned from their wedding trip and are at home at 4230 East Superior street. They have visited Panama and Costa Rica and other Southern points.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Peyton, and the Misses Alice Peyton and Martha Peyton of Fourteenth avenue east and Superior street will leave tomorrow for California where they will spend two months.

Misses Dorothy and Elizabeth Olcott of 2316 East First street will return tomorrow from Smith college, where they have been visiting for two weeks. This was their first visit at the school since their graduation last June.

• • •

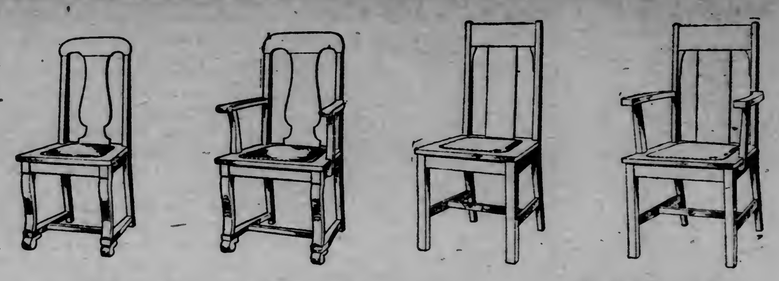

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cobb of Woodland have as their guest this week C. M. Hon of Minneapolis.

• • •

Miss Margaret O'Brien of 22 Winona street, Woodland, and Miss Marie Couture of 418 Forty-third avenue east left last evening for a trip to Chicago. They will be gone ten days.

"MY MYSTERIOUS FRIEND"

Boys of Cathedral High School Delight Big Audience With Their Presentation of Clever Comedy.

Last evening, in the auditorium of the Cathedral high school, the members of the La Salle Dramatic club, presented the delightful comedy, "My Mysterious Friend." A large audience witnessed the production.

The generous applause and spontaneous peals of laughter bore flattering testimony to the excellence of the play and to the finish that marked the acting. A notable feature was the appearance of boys in female roles—a departure which did not, in the least, detract from the parts.

"My Mysterious Friend" is a comedy in three acts. It tells of the efforts of one Ebenezer Packingham, a retired cotton planter, who goes to New York, with his hard-earned millions, to buy his way into the upper circles of society. When money fails him, he hits upon the happy expedient of catching the attention of society by offering to the public gaze what he calls a "fad," —a would-be Theosophist, who accidentally gets into his house.

The magic powers of his "mysterious friend" involve him in a multitude of difficulties, but the obliging Theosophist is equal to every emergency, and finally succeeds in leading Packingham to a realization of the futility of his efforts to win by money what money cannot control.

The character of Ebenezer Packingham was impersonated by Raphael Graves, with remarkable skill. He injected into the role a vigor and personality that held the audience completely.

In "My Mysterious Friend" Fred Ouellette appeared to great advantage. Dressed in his theosophist robes, ever ready to exercise his pretended magic powers, he seemed a solemn priest of some far-off Indian tribe. His acting was always artistic and intelligent.

Edward White was "Charles Packingham," the college boy. He is a lover of sport and the unhappy owner of a father, who sees little good in college games or boyish pastimes. His difficult problem was to keep to the middle of the road, between a carnival of pleasure and the wrath of a vigorous old father. Edward White solved the problem admirably.

There were three female impersonations by boys. As Mrs. Beakman Streete, Matthew Ahern was the typical widow in search of a third husband. The character lends itself to much amusement and the acting of young Mr. Ahern drew from it all that was in it. Hugh McDonald carried the role of Bernice, the cotton planter's daughter. The haughty child of wealth and social aspirations was deftly depicted by him. As Liza, the colored servant, Clarence Killeen won much applause.

Vincent McKinnon, as the "Rev. James Tweedles," a missionary from Africa, carried himself with all the dignity of the profession. The energy that he injected into the part made it stand out strikingly. Albert Hart, as "Tom Valentine," the courageous lover, was equally successful in imparting to his role a personality that won friends from the spectators. The acting of both was pleasing and true.

James Parrett, as the indomitable "Heine Dinkenspiel," won much applause. Paul Corcoran, as the aspiring poet of the family; Edward Anderson, as his father's boy, and Joseph McDermott, as the society man, appeared to fine advantage, their acting being quite pleasing. H. Haley, E. Ahern and P. Helewski appeared in "Bill Olson," "Jim Brigson" and "Senor Patchetti," respectively, with much credit to themselves.

The singing of Leo Spooner was particularly pleasing.

Taken, all in all, the whole production was a great success.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Keep Your Feet Warm and Your Lungs Protected.

There entered a street car together a man and woman, both muffled in furs, but with a difference—and such a difference. It was a bitterly cold morning when no excess of bodily covering and no superabundance of vitality seemed able to hold their own with the cold. Immediately all eyes turned upon them, they were such a contrast.

I repeat they were muffled in furs, for emphasis. A fur cap, fur-lined coat with fur collar, clothed the man. Above the rim of his coat collar his nose showed red, and despite his heavy boots and woolen gloved hands, he kept up a sort of tattoo with both all the way to town.

His companion, a woman of his own age, 30 or thereabouts, wore a luxurious fur coat and her gloved hands were thrust into the pocket of a great muff. But her throat was bared in a deep V more than half way to her breast bone, and her feet were encased in silk stockings of excellent quality but thin enough to display the flesh beneath. These were thrust into fashionable pumps with great steel buckles.

"Explain the riddle, will you?" asked the man beside whom I sat. "Why is it that hardy, vigorous manhood so often shows to disadvantage beside a frail reed of a woman on a day when the thermometer is below zero? Why is it that a man who has availed himself of every means of keeping warm will look as though he was chilled to the marrow, while a woman who does not hesitate to expose two of the most vulnerable spots on her body—lungs and ankles—can look as radiantly oblivious of the pranks of old Boreas?"

"I don't know," I made reply, "unless it is pride that keeps a woman warm or looking as though she was. The knowledge that she is the mold of fashion has sustained many a woman while she endured tortures, like tight corsets and shoes that pinch insufferably. The endurance of extreme cold in stoic-like fashion is not considered too great a price to pay for the satisfaction of being a la mode, you will find."

A doctor of some renown has claimed that women possess an extra layer of fat, to account for their apparent imperviousness to the cold. However this may be, fat or thin, women seem not to feel the cold in anything like the measure their brothers do.

It's just possible, of course, that we should all be better for less clothing, no matter what the weather. However, I'll continue to place my faith in the abiding health of those people, male and female, who follow the old-fashioned rule of keeping their feet warm and dry and their lungs well protected against the cold.

"Wherever I roam
On my globe-trotting rambles
There's no place like home,
And no soup like Campbell's."

The song that reached her heart.

In fact it reaches all our hearts—especially when they are accompanied by hungry appetites and the near approach of the dinner hour.

Then is the time we most keenly appreciate the satisfying song of

Campbell's Tomato Soup

With its inviting fragrance and natural color, its tasty zest which appeals to the most critical, and its wholesome nourishing after-effect there is indeed no other soup like it.

THE SUMMER FESTIVAL BALL IS SET A-ROLLING.

The action of the directors of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association yesterday makes an actual, tangible start toward the midsummer festival and pageant for 1915.

The committee appointed by the merchants—and it is a good one—is instructed to communicate with other organizations and invite them to appoint similar committees, the whole to form a general committee on arrangements. When that committee is formed, and a formal organization made, such details as dates, programs, ways and means, etc., will be rapidly worked out.

In the meantime, the grocers' association already had appointed such a committee, and other organizations doubtless will promptly follow suit.

First, of course, a general committee was essential. That could be brought about only by some organization taking the initiative to form it; and the retail merchants have now assured a fair start for the enterprise by taking the necessary initiatory step.

Centering its efforts in a great pageant and spectacle, the greatest in the country, at midsummer when such events are impossible elsewhere, Duluth can have a famous week that will attract thousands here to learn of the splendid climate, the ideal living conditions, the unparalleled advantages for summer outings in the lakes and streams and wooded retreats all around us, the fact that climatic conditions make possible a hundred per cent efficiency the full year around and so make this an ideal place for industry, and the fact that there is no place in the world with a fairer present and a surer future, no place better to live in and be healthy and happy and comfortable in and to make money in than Duluth.

The enterprise will pay dividends bigger than anything else Duluth can take up.

And there will be a chance for everybody to take hold and help make it a success. Much depended upon the right kind of a start, and the right kind of a start has been made.

If it's true that Benton tried to kill Villa, the result was indisputably a victory for the home team.

DRINK AND THE PAYROLL.

The problem of drink cannot be solved by prohibition, because men cannot be made to change their habits by command.

Far more than any sumptuary legislation can do to solve this problem is being done every day by the growing realization that no drinking man is at a hundred per cent efficiency. The conviction of a man who drinks that he is better off physically, mentally, morally and financially if he does not drink is a far more powerful force for temperance than the insistence of somebody else, expressed in speech or in law, that he shall not drink.

The economic factor in the attack on the drink problem is one of large significance today. Concrete evidence of this is again provided in the case of the manufacturing establishment at Chester, Pennsylvania, whose proprietors recently issued a bulletin to the effect that they would advance wages ten per cent to any employe who would agree not to drink.

Just in cold-blooded business terms, these employers take the stand that the employe who does not drink is worth at least ten per cent more to them than the employe who does.

And that does not mean drunkenness, either; for of course they would not employ drunkards. The employe who abstains altogether, they figure, is worth more to them than the one who drinks even temperately.

Incidentally, it is related that nearly all of the employes of the Chester plant have accepted the ten per cent increase, and have signed pledges.

American flour sells in China for from $1.15 to $2.10 a bag. Must be that prices get seasick in the long trip across the Pacific.

JOSEPH SELLWOOD.

It is sad indeed to think that Capt. Joseph Sellwood—"Joe" Sellwood, as everybody knew him—is dead. The usual words, the only words available, always seem absurdly inadequate to describe so great a loss.

But it is also rather terrible. Capt. Sellwood was such a man of iron—iron will, iron purpose, iron constitution, iron determination—as though he had absorbed the qualities of the metal in the mining of which he spent so much of his busy years; his stores of energy were so unflagging, so apparently inexhaustible, that somehow his death carries with it more than the usual warning of man's mortality. He was one of those whose apparent physical indestructibility makes death the greater shock.

If iron had been all there was in his character, he might have made a great record in his field, and died all but unregretted. But it was not all. There was a side to his character, little known but wide in its circle of results, that endeared him to the few that knew. His generosities—and they were many—were dealt out secretively, furtively, almost as though he had been ashamed of them. It is hard to say which was finer—the generosities themselves or the manner of them.

Many years ago an important position in a Michigan mine fell vacant. The management was at a loss to fill it.

"I can do it," said a young Cornish stripling who had been laboring faithfully but unnoticed in a humble position. And he did do it. He had been attending to his own work, meanwhile quietly understudying the man above him. When opportunity came, he was ready for it, and it was his first step upward in a career that made him one of the greatest miners of his time. That Cornish lad was Joseph Sellwood; and the incident reveals much of his character, much of the secret of his abounding success.

If ever a career was self-made, Captain Sellwood's was. What was done for him, he did. It is as hard to imagine him coddling himself in the warmth of another's patronage as it is now to imagine him—dead, his career ended, his busy brain still, his indomitable will no more.

What there was in him—and there was much—flowered by self-development. It found expression because it must, because it was driven by the iron purpose that made him work prodigiously, often during long hours that inevitably shortened his life. In his field a shining success, Captain Sellwood's passing leaves a mighty gap. There are few men big enough to fill it.

Down in Fond du Lac county, Wisconsin, one family reports three sets of twins and three single births in six years, and another reports two sets of twins within eighteen months. What do they want of a eugenics law in Wisconsin?

THE MEANING OF THE TREATY.

Those who refuse to let go of an opportunity to subsidize the shipping trust at the cost of national honor profess to doubt that the provisions of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty inhibit the exemption of American coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama canal tolls.

There were two Americans who above all others were qualified to testify on this point—John Hay and Joseph H. Choate, John Hay, like Lord Pauncefote, is dead. But Joseph H. Choate, who was ambassador to England when the treaty was made and helped to negotiate it, is alive, and now he has testified:

> As the lips of both these diplomatists and great patriots, who were true to their own countries and each regardful of the rights of the other, are sealed in death, I think that it is proper that I should say what I think both of them, if they were here today, would say—that the clause in the Panama toll act exempting coastwise American shipping from the payment of tolls is in direct violation of the treaty. I venture to say that in the whole course of the negotiations of this particular treaty, no claim, no suggestion, was made that there should be any exemption of anybody.

The claim that the toll exemption act is not a violation of the treaty MAY be made in good faith, but it looks like the most arrant hypocrisy. Those asserting it MAY be inspired by the public interest, but it looks as though they were rather inspired by consideration for the shipping trust, which alone will benefit by the exemption, or by a desire to play peanut politics by "putting the administration in a hole" through foreign entanglements.

Unless memory plays us false, the fact is that when this treaty was being considered in the senate of the United States, an amendment was formally offered that would permit the very thing that has now been attempted, and that the senate showed its complete understanding of the meaning of the treaty by voting down that amendment overwhelmingly.

On the one side is the nation's honor, the nation's reputation for integrity, and the worth of the nation's pledged word. On the other side is the shipping trust and the hope of the two coasts that the trust will be kind enough to give them a benefit over the interior. With the side that represents the nation's honor are President Wilson and the best elements of all parties. With the shipping trust are such senators as Gallinger of New Hampshire, La Follette of Wisconsin, Bristow of Kansas, Smoot of Utah, and CLAPP OF MINNESOTA.

If you happen to know a man who says he wishes he could disappear from sight, don't you believe him unless he takes the next train to Mexico.

When Is a Fresh Egg?

By the President of the Housewives' League.

In 1912 Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the Housewives' League, discovered that women were paying fancy prices for cold storage eggs, believing them to be "strictly fresh." The majority of women did not realize that hens do not lay much in winter, and that fresh eggs in winter are scarce. They supposed that when an egg is marked "strictly fresh" it is "strictly fresh," and yet the supply of fresh eggs in winter corresponds with the supply of strawberries in January. She said:

Eggs went into storage during the summer of 1912 at 18 and 20 cents a dozen. If we count 2 cents a dozen for carrying in storage and 8 cents additional for incidental charges, those eggs, even then, should never have been more than 30 cents a dozen! Yet women paid 50 cents a dozen and never questioned why they had to do it.

The housewife's idea of storage eggs was that they were all bad. She knew absolutely nothing of all of our wonderful cold storage system, what it cost to place products in storage, to carry them and to bring them out, and therefore she kept on buying these goods marked "fresh," "fresher" or "freshest" at any prices set upon them.

During this campaign I went to a store where I saw three crates of eggs marked 30, 35 and 50 cents a dozen. I said to the tradesman: "Those 50-cent eggs, what are they?" He replied: "Fresh eggs, madam."

"Yes," I said, "I know—fresh eggs, but what kind of fresh eggs; are they Western eggs or state eggs, or what?"

The tradesman began to look interested, but still asserted they were "fresh eggs." I then said: "As a matter of fact, aren't they storage eggs?" To which he reluctantly replied, "Yes."

"Now, here," I said, "you know and I know that the best cold storage eggs should not be, at this time of the year, more than 30 cents a dozen." He looked at me quite seriously and asked if I were a "wholesale dealer." I told him I was not. "Well," he said, "you seem to know about it. You can have them for 30 cents," and out of the box marked "Strictly fresh eggs, 50 cents a dozen," I obtained one dozen for 30 cents. "You seem to know" was the secret.

The next day I saw in a window a carton of eggs marked 25 cents a dozen. In the store I found a similar carton of eggs marked "35 cents." I asked the tradesman: "What is the difference in these eggs?"

"There is no difference; they are the same eggs," he answered.

"Then why the difference in price?" I asked.

"Because," he answered, "I have certain customers who will not purchase a 25-cent-a-dozen egg, and so I am obliged to make two prices."

Who was really to blame here?

Terpsichorean Note.

Life: A delightful innovation has been announced by the managers of the Cafe Terrible. Beginning next Monday they will conduct a series of Dejeuners Dansants, or breakfast tangoes. These will be held in the famous Hades Room of this noted resort and the hours will be from 7 to 9 a. m. Admittance is to be by subscription and subscriptions will be open only to those young and old men and women who have proof that they never did anything useful in their lives and never intend to. In addition to those who subscribe, however, the managers say they will use discretion about admitting anyone else provided he or she seems to have money.

Mademoiselle Scandale, originator of the famous Pas Pajame and the Nightie Nestle, has been engaged to dance professionally every morning. There will be no charge for the dancing, but there will be served a breakfast of coffee and rolls at the special fixed price of $18.50, cream and butter extra. The thanks of the dancing public is certainly due the managers of the Cafe Terrible for filling up this awkward gap in the dancing day.

The Wisdom of Quiet.

From the private papers of Henry Ryecroft, by George Gissing: More than half a century of existence has taught me that most of the wrong and folly which darken earth is due to those who cannot possess their souls in quiet; that most of the good which saves mankind from destruction comes of life that is led in thoughtful stillness. Every day the world grows noisier; I, for one, will have no part in that increasing clamor, and, were it only by my silence, I confer a boon on all.

The Two Old Men.

There was something quaint and lovely
  about the two old men,
As they sat together in the crowded car.
I, with the other young people around me,
Watched them, and heard their quiet conversation.

We gathered, in that little trip downtown
Through the great city, thundering with pain,
That these two wise, yet simple comrades, knew
Each other long ago, and here revived,
Through some exquisite accident,
  Their boyish friendship after many years.

We caught but fragments of their pleasant talk,
But quite enough to love them for the way
They both recalled the record of old times.

And I thought: When I am very old and very tired,
I hope God sends to me so naturally
An old, old crony, to renew lost days;
A comrade whom I knew when I was young.
One, unashamed as I, to show his heart
Wholly to me, unmindful of the crowd,
The curious crowd that might be all about us.

The Demagogues of the Pacific Coast

Editorial in Chicago Tribune.

The actions of a number of public men on the Pacific coast are not only utterly selfish but are exceedingly unwise in putting the interests of their section before and against the interests of the whole country.

The nation has stood behind the Pacific coast states in the settlement of the immigration problem. In the interest of the Pacific coast states alone the nation has assumed the risk of war.

Instead of appreciating the self-sacrificing spirit of the rest of the country and acting in a manner to cause the least embarrassment to the nation, Californians and other Pacific coast politicians have played the demagogue, have stirred up international animosity, and have invited a passage of arms from which they would be the first to run in case of danger.

The international complications with Japan have rendered trebly important the maintenance of friendly relations with the other nations of the earth. These nations, naturally, resent the Panama toll law, under the terms of which the United States has violated its solemn obligation and has sought to subsidize an American monopoly at the expense of the national honor.

California politicians believe that this subsidy to the coastwise shipping trust will have the effect of a subsidy to the Pacific coast states at the expense of the states of the interior.

In consequence they advocate the violation of the nation's honor and the inviting of the hostility of the nations of the world at the same time they are inviting war with Japan.

Never in the history of the country have any set of politicians sought to sacrifice the national welfare to sectional advantage to the extent that the Pacific coast politicians are now doing.

In their demagogic appeal for popularity at home they are sowing the wind.

The people of the United States will realize that the Pacific coast politicians are trying to exalt their section at the expense of the whole country.

A spirit of retaliation will be aroused and legislation will be passed, which, instead of discriminating in favor of the Pacific coast, may well be expected to discriminate against it.

The sensible people of the Far West should shake out of office the demagogues who misrepresent them and put into positions of power men loyal to the United States, her common prosperity and the national honor.

Conservatives of Today; Yesterday's Radicals

Walter Rauschenbusch, writing from the precincts of a theological seminary, depicts the change by imagining that, in the year 4000 B. C., a Syrian village had fallen asleep, and was awakened to life today. The people take up the affairs where they left them, discussing the social unrest, and its dangers to their civilization, when they are interrupted by the pastor of "a staid Pennsylvania town" "who prides himself on being untainted by radical social notions." After listening to their tales of woe, he expounds the orthodox conception of the American family as the true solution, "advising them to treat the wives as their equals, to live for their children, and to give the servants one night off per week." Patiently they explain to the stranger "that his views are Utopian; that authority would be undermined if a man could not beat his wife;" that polygamy is an index of high morality, since the best citizens have the most wives, and you have to change human nature to make monogamy compulsory; that slaves would have nothing to eat if they had no masters to feed and employ them; that a father, being the author of a child's life, has a right to take its life if he considers it superfluous." The American, aglow with Christian indignation, describes how wisely his wife manages the common finances and selects his neckties; how he sends his girls to Vassar, and how he would hate himself if his family regarded him as a tyrant. "But he sees dark frowns gathering on the faces and ominous whisperings running about. He pales as he hears the ancient Hittite equivalent for 'socialist and anarchist' applied to himself."

They That Work.

O hark, for the hour is coming,
When your ears shall anointed be,
Aye, listen, 'tis rising and swelling,
O'er populous land and sea,
The morning stars began it
At the dawn of creation's birth,
And the circling spheres go swinging
And singing it unto earth.
And earth shall forget her groaning,
And learn the song of the spheres
And the tired shall sing that are moaning,
And the sad shall dry their tears.

Refrain:
Blessed are they that work,
Blessed are they that work,
For they shall inherit the earth in the dawning, dawning day.

For the song of the spheres in motion,
And motion and toil are life,
And the idle shall fail and falter,
And yield at the end of strife,
As the stars tread forth appointed
And the sun gives forth its heat,
So the sons of men shall labor
Ere they rest in honor's seat.
And kings are to serve the people,
And wealth is to ease the poor,
And learning to lift up the lowly
And strength that the weak may endure.

Lo, the burden shall be divided,
And each shall know his own.
And the royalty of manhood
Shall be more than crown or throne.
And the flesh and blood of toilers
Shall no longer be less than gold,
And never an honest life shall be
Into hopeless bondage sold.
For we the people are waking
And high and low shall employ
The splendid strength of union,
For liberty, life and joy.

Human Nature on the Wire.

Chicago Evening Post: A man on a "two-party" telephone line recently complained to the company that he never could use his line because the other fellow on the wire was always using it.

The company established a three days' "supervision" of both instruments. It found that in this period the complainant used his telephone fifty-one times, the longest call being thirty-three minutes, while the man complained of used his telephone just eight times, the longest call being six minutes.

Human nature is one of the oddest commodities floating around this universe.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—This story, necessarily has to include an unconfirmed report of a remark made by William Sulzer, the deposed governor of New York, at the time of his impeachment trial.

Sulzer was in a conference with a man and took occasion—so the story has it— to observe to him:

"Yes, and when history is written, some years hence, it will say: 'The four great men of the United States have been George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and William Sulzer.'"

Now, mind you, the story is not entirely confirmed. Maybe Sulzer never said it. Let us hope he did not, even though he was modest enough to put himself last. But at any rate, the conversation was reported and was told a little while ago to a group of New York congressmen, including Senator O'Gorman.

"Well," smilingly commented O'Gorman, who is reasonably tolerant of the views of others, "if Sulzer did say it, he wasn't far wrong, at that. He picked three out of four."

Candor is one of the prevailing characteristics of Representative Herman A. Metz of Brooklyn. Metz always says precisely what he thinks. If you were to walk up to him and ask his opinion about a highly prized new necktie, and Metz thought it looked like a Welsh-rabbity dream, he would frankly tell you so. Similarly, if a beautiful woman should ask him for a frank opinion about the fit of a gown, she would get the whole truth. He might regret having to hurt her feelings, but nothing could induce him to tell a lie for the sole purpose of being agreeable.

Metz is equally opposed to needless formality, and he declines to do those things which are done for no other reason than to follow custom.

Some time ago Metz was one of a committee of American manufacturers appointed to arrange about exhibits at a big Berlin exposition. One of those chiefly interested in the Berlin exposition was the Princess Charlotte, elder sister of Kaiser Wilhelm, and Metz had occasion to enter into some correspondence with her. He received a letter or two from the princess written in her own handwriting. Now the princess, while a delightful woman personally, and well connected, writes just a fair hand. When you get a letter from a woman who writes only moderately well to start with, and does it all in German characters, you have bumped into a serious proposition.

Metz devoted about a week to trying to decipher the woman's writing and by the time he was ready to make reply, he was utterly disgusted with letters written in pen and ink. So he called a stenographer and asked her to "take a letter to the Princess Charlotte."

The whole office force went right up into the air.

"Goodness gracious sakes alive!" they told him; "don't you know it would be the height of discourtesy to write to a princess of the royal blood on a typewriter. She probably never got a typewritten letter in her life."

"Then," said Metz, "she's about to have a new thrill, for I'm going to write her one."

At the close of his note to the princess, he added this postscript:

"You will kindly pardon my breach of custom in addressing you on the typewriter, but I write a villainous hand and I desire to save you the annoyance in making out my handwriting that I suffered trying to read yours."

That admirable candor made a great hit with the princess and she immediately wrote Metz an invitation to visit her at her palace.

Metz did so, a little later on, and the princess made a great fuss over him. He attended a banquet at the palace one night in honor of a number of distinguished guests, and occupied a seat near the princess herself. Everybody else at the table invariably addressed the princess as "Your royal highness," but that seemed needlessly long to Metz, and he spoke to her simply as "you." All the other guests were horrified at this, but the princess leaned over and patted Metz on the shoulder, saying: "You're all right."

They got as thick as thieves and the princess confided to him how amused she had been when she attended the coronation of her cousin George as king of Britain. The thing that amused her was the way the queen took out a little pocket mirror and consulted it to see if her crown was on straight.

In the course of the evening the princess asked Metz, how he liked the palace where she dwelt.

"Well, to tell you the truth," replied the candid Metz, "it is a nice place to visit for a couple of days, and I am highly honored to be here, but I shouldn't care for it at all as a steady diet."

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana has devoted a great deal of energy for a number of years to fighting the Amalgamated Copper interests in his state. He has fought them across trial tables and politically. One day, notwithstanding their disrelish for him personally, the Amalgamated came to Lawyer Walsh and wanted to know if he would sell them a legal opinion on a certain matter.

"Certainly. That's my business," replied Walsh. "But I'll probably charge you a pretty steep fee."

"We'll pay it," they told him.

He prepared an opinion that covered only twelve typewritten pages, but the story is that it cost his rich clients about $3,000 a page. Which is even more than is received, on the average, by newspaper writers.

The House of Life.

They are the wise who look before,
  Nor fear to look behind;
Who in the darkness still ignore
  Pale shadows of the mind.

Who, having lost, though loss be much,
  Still dare to dream and do;
For what was shattered at a touch
  It may be mended, too.

The House of Life has many a door
  That leads to many a room;
And only they who look before
  Shall win from out its gloom.

Who stand and sigh and look behind;
  Regretful of past years,
No room of all those rooms shall find
  That is not filled with fears.

'Tis better not to stop or stay;
  But set all fear aside,
Fling wide the door, whate'er the way,
  And enter at a stride.

Who dares, may win to his desire;
  Or, failing, reach the tower,
Whereon Life lights the beacon-fire
  Of one immortal hour.

Elect a Good Legislature.

Anoka Union: High taxes are hitting hard the taxpayers, but all they can do is to pay them and kick.

That's Hardly Possible, Is It?

Buffalo Journal: The solution of the elimination convention will be for each of the candidates to abide by the action of the convention and withdraw if they are not indorsed. It follows that they have the privilege of getting as many delegates favorable to them as they can, as was the time honored custom in regular state conventions. The danger lies in the ability of the machine organization to get enough delegates to nominate a candidate who will be less acceptable than Eberhart.

One View of the Cashman Law.

Hill City News: Wonder how Tom Cashman of Owatonna and some of those who are loud in their praise of the distance tariff law would feel toward Tom's pet measure if they lived in this neck o' the woods and had a bunch of ties, pulpwood, lagging or cordwood to market? From here the law looks as if it were sadly in need of repairs. It has boosted the transportation charges on these items within the state until they are fairly prohibitive. For instance, there are vast quantities of fuel wood here, other places need this fuel but cost of transportation is so much that the wood cannot be retailed at a reasonable figure.

The distance tariff law may be a good thing for the shippers in the southern part of the state, but it is a detriment to the development of the north end.

Very Well Equipped.

Ada Herald: Dan O'Neill of Thief River Falls has filed as a candidate for state senator from the district comprised of Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties. Mr. O'Neill has had several years' service in the state legislature, is a hustling and progressive citizen and is well equipped to represent his district.

Well, He Did Before.

St. Cloud Times: Washington telegrams say that Lindbergh may again file for re-election as a Republican. Can he take the oath required: that he supported and affiliated with the Republican party at the last election?

Cheap Price at That.

Roseau Region: A certain editor in Meeker county was appointed secretary of the state game and fish commission and ever since he assumed his duties last fall his editorial columns are filled with praise for the commission. As it is one of the lamest departments in the capital it is badly in need of the bought support it gets.

Thinks Like Frank Day.

Albert Lea Standard: If the Democrats of congress do not exercise better foresight and judgment upon the question of woman suffrage than they have so far shown they will miss a great opportunity to assert leadership in a cause second to none in justice and in the promotion of equal rights and which is as sure of triumph as are the coming of the eternal years.

Fishing With a Sickle

Lippincott's: Your diamond varies its color according to the angle at which it is viewed.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Purvis, widely known as the author of the "Saturday Night Sermons," published by one of the great newspaper syndicates, is also in demand as an after-dinner speaker. He has the art of telling a story on himself so that you laugh with him rather than at him.

He lives in a fashionable suburb, where it is considered bad form to do one's own work. But in that parsonage scant ministerial dignity permits, and perhaps ministerial finances compel, the folks to do their own "chores."

The other afternoon the minister had just finished mowing the lawn in front of the manse, and was down on his knees trimming the edges, hat over his eyes, sweat pouring down over his face. Around the corner came sauntering a fashionable dame recently moved into "the Hill." The minister's quickness and directness of action caught her attention. She lowered her sunshade and adjusted her glasses to watch him work. She glanced at the man, then at the house, and again at the man. Being feminine, her curiosity was aroused, although curiosity isn't feminine—it's human.

"What is the lady's name who lives here?" she condescendingly asked, in a tone of well-bred interest.

"Mrs. Purvis."

"Are you her yard-man?"

The sweat-faced fisher of men gave a quiet grin. A strange fish was nibbling! He gave his sickle a little tug upward.

"Yes, 'm, the only one she has."

"Do you like your job?"

The cork was going under! Must be a hungry fish that bites like that!

"Yes, 'm. Fairly well."

"How much"—as an I'll-grab-the-bait thought flashed through her mind—"how much do you get?"

The fisher's eyes twinkled under the straw hat.

"O—oh, my board, and an occasional suit of clothes."

"You work very cheap."

"That's what I tell Mrs. Purvis sometimes."

"Are you a drinking man?"

"No, 'm"

"Do you chew?"

"No, 'm"

"Smoke?"

A non-committal, slight shrug from the bent-over figure.

"Oh, well, even if you do, you might do worse. Do you go to church on Sunday?"

"Yes, 'm. Every Sunday. Twice."

"Well! Then, you're not such a bad fellow."

"That's what Mrs. Purvis says, when she's in a good humor."

"How would you like to come and live with me?"

An uninterpretable movement under the hat.

"Not without asking Mrs. Purvis first."

"I like your loyalty. Some day I'll come around and speak to Mrs. Purvis."

"Yes, 'm. Maybe I'll speak to her about it, too."

When the doctor told Mrs. Purvis that a neighbor woman wanted him to come be her yard-man, she simply sniffed the air and flashed, "I think she's pretty cheeky!"

Kind-Hearted Marjorie.

Boston Transcript: Marjorie, age 5, had been given some chocolates of various sizes. Picking up a little one, she said: "This is a baby chocolate," and of a large one: "This is a mamma chocolate." She then swallowed the little one, and lifting the larger chocolate to her mouth to eat that also, she said: "Don't cry, baby, your mamma is a-comin'."

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Charles S. Parsons gave a farewell stag party last evening at his residence, 11 East Third street, for Thomas C. Moore, who leaves March 1 for Chicago to accept a fine position with an insurance firm. The party was a complete surprise for Mr. Moore, who was presented by his friends with a handsome meerschaum pipe. The guests were: E. J. Crossett, J. F. Martin, E. Hanegan, Brewer Mattocks, J. F. Wray, Warren Mendenhall, Leroy Wilson, J. H. Noyes, A. J. Frantz, C. F. Frantz, W. G. Wrong and E. C. Maxfield.

There are numerous aspirants for the city offices to be filled when Mayor-elect Lewis and the new aldermen take office next month. For city attorney, O. W. Baldwin, J. D. Holmes, W. C. McAdam and Attorney McPherrin are mentioned, but it is generally believed that Page Morris will be selected. It is expected City Clerk Richardson and Deputy Clerk Austin will be retained. There is a host of candidates to succeed Dan Horgan as chief of police, but Harry Armstrong seems to have the call. Ex-Mayor M. J. Davis is said to be slated to succeed Henry Truelsen as president of the board of public works, and for the other vacancy on the board ex-Alderman C. A. Long, J. W. Rowley, Charles R. Haines, Emil Engle and A. Swordling are talked of. For T. W. Abell's place as clerk of the board, Fred Russell, A. M. Kilgore, W. A. Kennedy and George T. Hughes, who formerly held the office, are said to be candidates. There are indications that John T. Black, ex-chief of the St. Paul fire department, will quit selling fire department supplies and take charge of the Duluth fire department, succeeding Chief Jackson. Jerome E. Cooley is likely to be city assessor. J. H. Robinson will probably remain as building inspector.

Percy Payne, about 19 years old, who is employed in the Exchange building, fell from a second-story window to the sidewalk on Michigan street yesterday afternoon. The bridge of his nose was broken and three fingers were knocked out of joint. He will recover.

Duluth holds the Governor Merriam medal, having won it yesterday from Tom Scott of St. Paul at the Glen Avon rink. To R. J. MacLeod's rink is due the honor of capturing the coveted prize. The four men composing the rink were: Thomas Gibson, lead; Ronald Smith, second; Henry Hurdon, third; R. J. MacLeod, skip. The score was 16 to 11. Donald MacLeod's rink of Duluth got third prize in this event. C. M. Griggs' rink of St. Paul won first prize in the Glen Avon contest, James Chisholm of Superior second, George O. Nettleton of St. Paul third, and Sam Hastings of Minneapolis fourth. Nell Smith of Superior won the consolation match. Alex McCulloch of St. Paul second. The special prize of four brooms for the highest score was awarded to Tom Smith's rink of St. Paul, and the booby prize for the smallest score went to James Chisholm's rink of Superior. The contest between the rinks of George O. Nettleton of St. Paul and Ronald Smith of Duluth for the Royal Caledonian tankard was won by Nettleton.

The Machine's Solicitude for the Primary.

Minneapolis Journal: Among those who are inexpressibly shocked over the calling of the state conference of anti-machine Republicans to concentrate on a candidate against Eberhart is the esteemed Duluth News Tribune. It is probably unnecessary to add that the News Tribune is a supporter of the machine and of its program.

The News Tribune calls the conference "a rump convention to nullify the law" and adds that "there can be no possible excuse, except rule or ruin, for doing what the legislature refused to legalize, what the law forbids in spirit, if not in words, what is wholly inconsistent with the purpose of the law and what is wholly without lawful provision or lawful machinery."

The tender solicitude of our Duluth contemporary for the primary law makes a touching spectacle. But isn't it about time to remember that by no law, either in letter or spirit, can the American right of free assemblage for political discussion and action be abridged?

The machine holds its conferences in secret. The real Republicans of Minnesota, the majority of the party, now plan to hold a conference in the open. Who shall gainsay them that privilege?

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

The letter of Cyrano de Bergerac, published last week, seems to have aroused a fruitless religious discussion. Any further letters on this subject will be barred after this issue of The Herald, as the discussion, apparently, can lead to no conclusion, and only serves to create ill feeling.—The Editor.

FIGHTING FOR ONE'S COUNTRY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A questioner says to me: "How is it that you Socialists always tell the workingmen not to fight for his country? Would you neglect to take arms and fight if it was necessary to free our country?"

To this I must say: In the first place, the workingman has never at any time had any country of his own. It is always owned by a few that do not work, but always work the workers. All that the workingman has is his labor power—his two hands. Secondly, the Socialists do not believe in killing, they believe in the Golden Rule. "You shall not kill." "Live and let live" is our motto. To fight with the sword of savagery will not give us freedom, but slavery. We have had enough of these and we are not made any better by it.

Here I will advise the questioner to go and hear George Kirkpatrick, who will speak at the Auditorium on "Militarism" Monday, March 2. He is one of the ablest speakers in the ranks of the Socialist party. He will be able to tell what war is for. T. O. M.

CYRANO COMES BACK AT CRITICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a communication from C. E. Staky in your issue of last night, I am accused of blasphemy. Yes, I suppose I was blasphemous. When Christ said, "Woe unto the scribes and pharisees" they thought he was blasphemous, and for every reformer that ever lived there has been another blasphemer. But as I am none of these, I wish it understood that all comers will be met by me with words out of the mouth of Christ himself, and, Mr. Staky, I will refer to Matt. vii, 1. And if he likes to read his New Testament he might do well to look up Matt. v, 22 before referring to a person as deluded or foolish. As for II Pet. ii, I must say it refers more directly to your own case, for I have met your remarks with quotations from Christ's teachings. I am a Christian—how about you, Mr. Staky—a Petrian, eh?

Yes, I believe the church should be as progressive as the times. By that I do not mean it should be varied—the Lord knows there is too much variation now—twenty-five different denominations all praying to the same God and fighting each other.

Mr. Staky rightly remarks that the Christian religion is not a fad, to be changed according to the will of man. But you must admit, Mr. Staky, that considerable progress has been made since the days of Christ, when cattle and sheep were driven into the temple to be slaughtered. Or perhaps they do offer blood sacrifices in your church? No, the religion cannot be changed, although twenty-five different creeds are trying their best to throw it out of plumb. Christ says, Himself, in Luke xvi, 17, "And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass than one tittle of the law to fail." But this does not mean that everything must be at a standstill, when it comes to religion. You realize that the ten commandments hold good today as they did when Moses brought them down from Mt. Sinai. Certainly! But the world is different now, you'll admit. Yet these words of God adjust themselves to all ages, all races of people, all corners of the earth, for the simple reason that they were given by a God that is perfection itself. This God says: "Be ye perfect, for I am perfect, the Lord thy God." And God being the acme of perfection, perfection in your case includes growth or progress, until you attain the perfection necessary to be "as God himself, knowing good and evil"—Gen. iii, 5. This much for progress.

To Danield Blue Bead of Texas I will simply say that hymns and churches are the works of man and not of the Creator. And then—if the name has any connection with the "garret region," I don't quite see where Mr. D. B. B. of T. has anything on me. Yours progressively,

CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

ANSWERS CYRANO.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I've read the letter of Cyrano de Bergerac where he asks for one passage in the Bible about going to church. I wish to tell him that the only church recognized by God is the church of the Firstborn which are written in heaven, (read Heb. xii, 23,) and a passage about its meeting (read Heb. x, 25,) and about man-made creeds is the command given in Revelation xviii, 4. Respectfully yours,

M. CHRISTOPHERSON.

ANOTHER RAILROAD MAN HEARD FROM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I don't know who Mr. or Mrs. Railroadman is.

I am a railroad man, too, but don't sign it that way. Whosoever wrote this piece seemed to think that there are but three classes of railroad men who have to work on Sunday, while there are about twenty classes who come under the railroad head and have to work on Sunday, and it often is the case that that is the very day he has to work and work the hardest.

It is all done to please this very broad-minded and deep thinking public of ours.

And if the organized classes ask for time and one-half, or any other little consideration that puts an extra cost onto the railroad companies, thereby causing them to ease up on their Sunday and holiday work, this very broad-minded and deep thinking public of ours will come out and say we are the most unreasonable set of human beings the Lord ever created.

All the railroad companies have to do is to get their side of the story published and show where it is going to cost them millions of dollars and will place the road in the hands of the receivers to get this grand people of ours who cannot see a point until they are pricked by it, to believe that we are a bunch of apes with only our animal instinct to guide us.

And as Mr. or Mrs. Railroadman puts it, we will, if we get any relief, have to resort to our dear old Uncle Sam as we have in some more cases.

There is a lot that could be said about such matters that might wake the public up to the fact that they are not the only ones who have a whistle to sell or an ax to grind.

Yours respectfully, J. J. SCRIBNER.

ONE OF THE "DELUDED."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Staky classifies all persons who are not religious as deluded; but it occurs to me that he, by mistake, substituted the word deluded for enlightened. As for advertising the "House of God," (made by man) I contend it is done for profit. If that is blasphemy, make the most of it.

Staky said, "people are wrong for not having the word of God," but I doubt whether he ever received a message from Him outside of the Bible. The cowpuncher remarks that Cyrano has forgotten he is living at present in civilization; and I (for one) doubt whether civilization will come before religion departs. Yours truthfully,

THE FLEA AND THE ELEPHANT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Cyrano, the man who advises the public not to go to church, nor the children to Sunday school, says the Bible does not tell us to go to church. It may not in just those words. I am ashamed to say I do not know it well enough to argue that, but I do know that Jesus Christ calls the church His bride, for "He bought her with His blood and for her sake He died."

Don't ever expect the church to change, for Jesus says: "I am the same, yesterday, today and tomorrow." It is the one thing that never changes, and the only one.

As to the church with low lights and smoking halls, if that is what we are looking for, we had better not go to the house of God for it. We go there because we want to praise the Lord instead of ourselves and our own selfish motives.

You must have a very unusual child to be caused nervous breakdown from Sunday school going. Better have a physician look him over. "For the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."

However, if you were more anxious to do the will of God and correct your own faults, instead of picking at the church, you would have all you could do, no doubt.

When you begin to criticize the church you are like a flea trying to kill an elephant, so you better give it up. A. W. G.

TO CYRANO.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly insert the following reply to "Cyrano":

You are entirely correct in stating that Christ never recommended a "Thirty Years' War" as a means of extending His kingdom; in fact, He has distinctly forbidden the use of the sword for such a purpose.

An attendance at one service would hardly be sufficient to enable you to judge as to how brightly the grace of God is made to shine at a certain church; the theme and purpose of that sermon may have been something else.

The experience of your little boy is certainly much to be regretted; wrong methods were certainly used; but it would hardly be right to condemn a whole church for a single mistake, or even many; none of them are absolutely perfect.

Nowhere in Scriptures will you find that Christ has said: "I recommend that you go to church," or "I say unto you, 'Go to church.'" There were no Christian churches at that time. Church services are for the purpose of worshiping God; the chief element of a service should be the preaching of the Word. One should attend church to hear this Word (also for other reasons). Christ has in many places recommended the hearing of his Word. As you ask for only one passage, I will refer you to one, that, to my mind, is very clear, namely, Luke xi, 28, which says: "Blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it."

I do not know what your idea of a progressive church is, but I gather from your article that you do not care for the "newfangled ideas" or innovations, and want a church "where the grace of God would be brought into the light before everything else." Am sorry that you have not found such a one. There certainly ought to be many of them. If you are still seeking, I can at least tell you of one. If you wish this information, make it known through the Open Court, and it will reach you, provided The Herald will forward the letter to you, which I am sure it will. E. W.

ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR THIEF RIVER

Executive Committee of N. M. D. A. Plans for Next June Meet.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association met here Monday and arranged the program for the convention of the association to be held at Thief River Falls, June 3, 4 and 5. A feature of the meeting besides the usual excellent addresses will be the organization of a woman's auxiliary association. Mrs. F. C. Corell of Big Falls will make public the committee on this organization in a few days.

The meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association at Thief River promises to excel all former attempts in the way of boosting Northern Minnesota.

It will be in charge of A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the Northeast Experimental farm at Grand Rapids, who is also chairman of the committee on agriculture of the N. M. D. A.

Invitations to all county commissioners, county agricultural agents, high school agricultural teachers, rural consolidated school agricultural teachers, teachers' Crookston agricultural college, teachers Duluth and St. Cloud normal schools, and railroad development and agricultural agents have been issued.

Chicagoan to Speak.

Bert Ball of Chicago, secretary of the crop improvement committee, National council of Grain Exchanges, will be one of the principal speakers on the topic, "A Large Yield of Better Grain." Probably one whole day will be devoted to this subject, discussing the organization necessary and the methods of accomplishment.

Others on the tentative program and the subjects are:

Eli S. Warner, vice president Minnesota State Agricultural society, St. Paul, "The Fair;" Hugh J. Hughes, Minneapolis, editor "Farm Stock and Home," "The Credit the Farmer Needs;" J. W. Wheeler, St. Paul, president Capitol Trust company; W. P. Kirkwood, Minneapolis; Dean A. F. Woods, University farm, St. Anthony Park; C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education; Clifford Willis, Minneapolis; P. V. Collins, Minneapolis; A. D. Wilson University farm, St. Anthony Park; D. A. Willard, Northern Pacific railway, St. Paul; E. H. Hoverstad, Soo line, Minneapolis; F. R. Crane, Great Northern railway, St. Paul; D. B. Jewell, International Falls, county agricultural agent Koochiching county; A. A. Crane, Minneapolis, vice president First National bank; W. A. McGonagle, Duluth, president Missabe railway; Charles P. Craig, Duluth, chairman state efficiency commission; William N. Killen, Soo line, land commissioner; representative Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.; representative Southern Minnesota Better Development league; representative West Central Minnesota Development association.

For Forest Patrolmen.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Percy Vibert, ranger in the United States forestry service here, announces that he will furnish blanks and information desired by those wishing to apply for the position of patrolmen in the Minnesota forestry service, District No. 2, a civil service examination for which will be held here at the city hall, March 2, 9 a. m.

Y. M. C. A. PLANNING TO GIVE REAL CIRCUS

Duluth is to have a real circus some time in March.

The Young Men's Christian association, which had a custom of giving such an event yearly, has decided to revive the custom, which was dropped three years ago. The committee of the physical department will meet Thursday and begin plans for the event.

It is expected that the circus will be an elaborate affair with sawdust rings, a menagerie, acrobats, and all other performers necessary to assure a fine program.

J. HAM LEWIS FOR REFORM OF COURTS.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 25.—The simplification of court procedure and the creation of a general popular confidence in the judiciary must come largely through the American lawyer, in the opinion of Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois expressed in an address here last night at an annual banquet of the Kansas City Bar association.

ROYAL

The world-wide standard

Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

Royal Baking Powder is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder and its use is more economical than other leavening agents, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Cheap baking powders, containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or advertised as pure and wholesome. Such mixtures are not desirable for food ingredients. Most persons have learned to their sorrow that a low price does not always mean economy. This is especially so in a food article. No baking powder can properly be substituted for Royal.

Read the ingredient clause upon the label. If it does not show "Cream of Tartar," don't buy the powder.

ORDINANCE IS AMENDED

Hicken's Measure to License Bartenders Is Radically Changed.

Action on Commissioner Hicken's ordinance proposing to license bartenders was laid over until next week after it had been amended in three particulars at the meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon.

The amendments reduce the license fee from $5 to $1 per year, eliminate the provision requiring the wearing of badges, and strike out the requirement that applicants state whether or not they have ever been convicted of a crime.

A storm of protest has been made against the measure since it was introduced. The bartenders declared that it would be an injustice to tax them for the privilege of working; that they should not be "tagged like curs in the street," and that the ordinance could serve no good purpose. Another argument was that it would shift responsibility from proprietors, where it properly belongs, to the bartenders. The bartenders had considerable outside support in their contentions.

It is doubtful if the ordinance will pass if it comes to a final vote. If this seems apparent it is not unlikely that the ordinance will be withdrawn or tabled before a vote on it is taken.

EYE SHADE IGNITES; WEARER IS DEAD.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—A spark from an electric arc ignited a celluloid eye shade worn by R. W. Miller, employed at the Blue Island Power plant. The shade burst into a mass of flames and before Miller could tear it from his head, he fell to the floor unconscious. He died from his burns.

MR. OR MRS. DYSPEPTIC! GET YOUR STOMACH RIGHT---PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

In Five Minutes! Time It! No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness, Belching.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction, or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomaches regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

BANKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Report Business Locally to Be in Satisfactory Condition.

Factory Payrolls in Duluth Beginning to Be Big Item.

Duluth bankers agree in the statement that the business situation locally and through the district was never more encouraging than at the present time. It is said that trade here has been remarkably well maintained throughout the winter months, and it is thought that while there has been no boom in any direction solid, progress has been scored in both commercial and industrial circles. National and state banks at Duluth have, by all accounts, been afforded better outlets for their funds during the last three months than has been the case with financial institutions located in most other sections of the country.

Rates on commercial paper have been maintained at 5½ and 6 per cent, and it is expected that a general stiffening up to the higher rate will come about next month with the added call for money to be counted upon for financing the various spring operations.

"In so far as I can judge, trade here is in a satisfactory condition and it looks as if everything is going to be all right this spring," said J. W. Lyder, cashier of the Northern National bank today. "Conditions through the country are also encouraging, with confidence apparently being gradually restored. I was surprised at the alacrity shown by the national banks in joining the Federal reserve system and at the number of state banks that have become members."

No Weak Spots.

"Business in Duluth is good for the season, and I cannot detect any weak spots in so far as this district is concerned," said David Williams, vice president of the First National bank. "There is a better demand for money for employment in lumbering and woods operations with that trade getting back to a normal basis. The outlook seems to be growing brighter all the time in the iron trade, so that there is promise of good activity in mining on our ranges during the coming season."

"During my twenty-five years banking experience, I never saw general business as good in Duluth as it has been this winter," averred J. D. Mahoney, assistant cashier of the American Exchange National bank. "The number and variety of the sources from which business is emanating here will surprise any one taking the trouble to investigate it. We are gathering together many factories of one nature or another and their payrolls are mounting up into large figures. In banking circles we count upon a slack period coming along as a matter of course during the winter, but this year, beyond a few odd days, we have not had it."

Better Call For Money.

Improvement in the call for money is reported at Chicago and New York, indicating increased requirements in commercial directions. A reassuring feature of late has been the good call for bonds which usually precedes activity in other quarters.

Touching upon the situation, a prominent New York banker says:

"The restoration of money to normal conditions means more than has yet been taken into account in estimating future prospects. Money is the blood circulation of the financial system and any condition affecting it produces curious and oftentimes mysterious maladies in the commercial body, which are frequently attributed to other causes. We are now entering upon an era of peaceful and naturally-robust existence financially, due to the restoration of healthful money conditions, and industry will now be given full opportunity to benefit by its own enterprise and application."

It is reported that country banks are now returning to the treasury department some of the money deposited with them last fall for crop-moving purposes. These deposits amounted to approximately $40,000,000, bringing the amount of government funds in national banks on Nov. 24 last up to $94,000,000. That aggregate had been reduced by Feb. 17 down to $69,000,000.

URGES TRAINING FOR ALL WOMEN

Woman's Field No Longer Confined to Home, Says Dr. Phelan.

Dr. Raymond V. Phelan, in his university extension course on "Labor and Life," last night at the Commercial club auditorium lectured on "Woman and Her Work."

"Woman labor is obviously as old as human existence," said Dr. Phelan. "The industrial revolution and modern times neither created woman labor nor its problems, but modern times in industry gave rise to the problem of woman labor away from home and to the difficulty of lack of labor for some women, when many industries passed from the home to the world.

"Working men at one time resented woman's presence in industry and talked of a condition when she would return to the home. But labor has long since abandoned this dream of a returning past, and today organized labor stands sensibly for equal pay for equivalent service regardless of sex, for advocation of girls for work in the world as well as in the home, and for organization of women at work in the world."

The lecture showed clearly how the woman working in the home is a producer and a breadwinner. "A family does not consume money," he said. "It consumes utilities in the form of shelter, food, clothing, education, and home comfort. The housewife is engaged in creating these utilities. She is a co-supporter of her family.

"The woman trained to do something in the world will give a better race. For she chooses marriage freely. She is likely to be a more competent mother, a more helpful wife, a better manager of family property, a less helpless widow. Economic evolution has put woman into the world of work. A broadening intelligence and morality will give her ever more opportunity. For in the woman trained for work in the world as well as in the home lies the hope of 'a superior race.'"

At the request of some persons who intend to enter the course next Tuesday, Dr. Phelan has promised to include among his lectures a discussion of scientific management or the problem of under-production.

Would Head Off Recall.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the sufficiency of the recall petition directed against President H. L. Henke of the Mandan city commission accepted so far as signatures are concerned, an effort is now being made to head off the proposed election on the plea that the charges cited are too general in character to provide a sound foundation for such election.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug store, 13 West Superior street.

TURNS DOWN PETITIONERS

City Council Refuses to Make East Fond du Lac Residence District.

Necessary Four-Fifths Vote Not Obtained—Two Vote Adversely.

The ordinance making East Fond du Lac a residence district failed of passage when it came before the city council yesterday afternoon for final action.

Commissioners Merritt and Voss voted against it, and as a four-fifths vote was necessary to carry the measure, it was declared lost.

The owners of summer cottages at the western suburb strongly urged the passage of the ordinance, as the restricting of the district would have prevented the erection of an icehouse on the river front. Property for that purpose was bought some time ago by the Duluth Ice company and under the action of the council yesterday the company can proceed to build. Had the ordinance been passed it is claimed that an ice warehouse would have been erected at substantially the same place, but on the railroad right-of-way, which is 200 feet wide at this point.

The failure of the ordinance was a great disappointment to the objectors of East Fond du Lac, many of whom were present at the meeting, but it was gratifying to many men living at Fond du Lac. They have permanent homes there and the ice company will furnish a number of them with employment throughout the year.

Judge Clark of the district court, who rendered the opinion, held that the court had no right to interfere with health regulations.

LODAL WOMAN NOW A BIG ADVERTISER

When one of our woman customers recently bought five botles of Harmony Hair Beautifier to give to her friends for Christmas, she started all by herself a mighty big advertising campaign, because not only does each one of the women to whom she gave a bottle of the Beautifier now consider it indispensable for the proper care of the hair, but each of them has been the means of getting several of her friends to use it. As a consequence, if things keep on in this way for a few months longer, we will be selling more of it than of all other hair preparations combined. Sprinkle a little Harmony Hair Beautifier on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

SHOWS WHERE SCHOOLS FAIL

Secretary Redfield Talks at Dayton on Industrial Awakening.

Predicts Greater and Growing Efficiency and Content in Industry.

Dayton, Ohio, Feb. 25.—An industrial awakening which will revolutionize the nation's business, minimize the possibility of wrecked and wasted lives, and elevate working men and women to positions that will keep them alive in safety and decency, was confidently predicted here last night by William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, speaking on the human side of factory, commercial and industrial life before the Greater Dayton association.

"I speak of this not in criticism; not as finding fault that more is not done, but rather as opening the door to a mighty hope," Mr. Redfield said.

"We have prided ourselves upon our education in this country, for we have done much and made great sacrifices that our children might be taught; and there are those of you who, like myself, have had nothing except that which the generosity of an intelligent public gave to them in the way of school instruction. But here another door opens wide, leading into a prospect rich in its promises of social and industrial improvement.

Where the Schools Fail.

"Good as our schools are; they leave much undone. We are not teaching our boys and girls how to work. We turn them out—speaking of the country as a whole—at 14 years of age, the larger part of them, from our grammar schools with a certain amount of academic knowledge, but without any training whatever for the real work of life. The boy suffers in his pay and in his product a good many years before he can pick up by questioning here and there, or learn from mistakes how to support himself at a definite trade. The girl suffers perhaps worse, with a terrible cost to the nation in wrecked womanhood.

"I have not time to go into the tragic question of the need for industrial education, into the thought of the wasted young lives that lack leadership, that go out into the world not knowing how to do any one thing well. It is one of the real tragedies that has its pitiful reaction in every industrial home. The mechanic would have his son learn a trade well, and not have to struggle to get it as his father did. Another would have her daughter taught something which will keep her alive in decency and in safety and without the risks young working women so often must run.

Nation Is Waking Up.

"The thought of the nation has been too supine on this matter, but it is now beginning to awake, and the quick response of the young people to vocational education in the states where it is furnished, the splendid results of such great institutions as you own state has put at the disposal of its youth, the fine example of your neighboring state, Indiana, in providing for a broad scheme of industrial training—all of these things point to an educational movement which almost staggers the mind when one grasps what it may mean in destroying human misery and in relieving human want.

"Within every American mill and workshop today there is going on a process of evolution which is producing amazing results in a higher and yet higher effectiveness. I have with me a report made by an engineer of an American shop to the salesmen of the company with which he is allied, showing the improvements in their methods of manufacture in the last six months of 1913.

"The works had been operated for years with profit, doing well in a competitive business, but the new spirit of efficiency had gotten into them, and the results were amazing. Accuracy took the place of ignorance; precision displaced the 'rule of thumb.' This process improved itself to where twenty-eight times more work was done than before.

Value of Men and Women.

"I am thankful to say there has come also another, and a greater factor far than any mere mechanical thing. This is the growing appreciation of the value of men and women in industry. This is the wisdom which teaches us that the human side of our factories is more valuable than the mechanical or the material side. This new light shows to us clearly that, in the responsiveness of human beings to leadership, lies an opportunity for production at low cost, with comfort to the worker and increased income also, which will lead us to industrial victories greater than any we have ever achieved.

"The improvements of our methods and the higher valuation put upon the great human factor in our work have already begun to show in the increase in our competing power abroad as well as in great advances at home.

"Suppose that in Ohio every boy and girl knew how to do well some one simple kind of productive work. It would revolutionize your factories and your homes and make for peace and contentment throughout all your broad area. This, and no less than this, is that to which we are coming and to which the door has already swung partly open.

In Agriculture, Too.

"In the field of agriculture the same outlook faces us. The secretary of agriculture informs me that the total arable land in the Union is about 935,000,000 acres. If we were to cultivate all our arable land on the basis of the results we are getting on the 12 per cent of it which is yielding maximum returns, we should again rather more than double the total."

HUSBAND ANSWERS FRAUD CHARGES

V. H. Gran Denies Wrongful Motive in Conveying Wife's Interests.

In answer to an action brought by his wife, Olga Gran, in which she charges that by fraudulent means he secured her signature to a deed conveying certain property to Oscar Pohjunen, Victor H. Gran denies that the conveyance was made for the purpose of defrauding her of her legal interest in the property. The suit was filed immediately after papers in the divorc action had been served.

Mrs. Gran in her complaint alleges that her husband, in contemplation of the divorce action, persuaded her to sign away her rights to two city lots by fraudulently representing that he intended to exchange it for other property on the Cuyuna range. John A. Mattnnen, in whose name the real estate now stands, was also made a party to the action.

In his answer, filed yesterday, Gran claims that he entered into an agreement with Pohjunen by which the latter agreed to trade a certain tract of land on the Cuyuna iron range for the two city lots owned by the Grans. He alleges that after the transfer was made, Pohjunen changed his mind about the trade, and that the lots were sold to Mattanen for a valuable consideration.

CALLS AUTOMOBILE ROAD "PEACOCK LANE"

Shackleford Attacks Plan of American Motor Association.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Transcontinental highways proposed by the American Automobile association were characterized as "Peacock lanes over which the members of this high-browed, joy-riding association may strut," by Representative Shackleford of Missouri, attacking what he called the "editorial canning factory" maintained by the organization to promote the measures it favored.

With funds the association collected from its 451 subordinate automobile clubs and the like, Mr. Shackleford declared, a "nefarious lobby" was maintained in Washington and the "all-essential long green" was collected to fight the re-election of opponents of motor road bills. He read a letter from the president of the association to a member in Kansas City, Mo., urging that support be withdrawn from the Shackleford $25,000,000 good roads bill now before the senate, having passed the house. The measure provides for dirt roads in rural free delivery districts.

SAYS SOMEBODY GOT OFF WITH $200,000,000

Senator Norris Charges Misappropriation of New Haven's Funds.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Charges by Senator Norris that some one had stolen $200,000,000 from the stockholders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad precipitated a hot discussion in the senate, several senators insisting that Mr. Norris was guilty of loose and unwarranted language. Senator Norris retracted nothing, however, insisting that his statements were warranted and the adoption of his resolution, under debate, would have a salutary effect.

The resolution would direct the attorney general to inform the senate in regard to the reorganization of the New Haven system, and to give the senate certain details. It asks specifically whether any contemplated agreement between the department and the railroad provides for immunity from prosecution to anyone connected with the railroad, and whether it contemplates the surrender by the railroad or any of its stockholders of the right to bring action for damages on account of past misappropriations of funds.

Senator Lodge served notice that he would speak against the resolution.

"As director of dance records for the Columbia Graphophone Company, I feel that I can share with the dancing world one of the greatest secrets of my success as 'Master of the Modern Dance.'

"It is the genuine spirit of the modern dance.

"This is now wonderfully expressed through the new Columbia modern dance records and is within the reach of all .

"The tone volume and brilliance of these records are always sufficient and the rhythm of every step is just so clear and definite that they simplify the teaching in every case. They are an immense aid to both teacher and pupil. Yours very truly,

"G. HEPBURN WILSON."

These instruments and records are for sale exclusively by us. The indorsement of the two highest authorities on the modern dance in America ought to be sufficient to convince you of the merit of this product.

VASSER GETS FOUR MONTHS

Sneak Thief Pleads Guilty and Draws Workfarm Sentence.

Ernest Vasser, 22 years old, who was bound over to the grand jury two weeks ago on a charge of second degree burglary, having entered the residence of J. C. Hunter at Woodland on Feb. 4 and stolen a watch and stick-pin, changed his plea to guilty yesterday afternoon on a charge of larceny in the second degree.

The prisoner was brought to the police court, where after a formal rearraignment he was again bound over to the district court, this time on a charge of larceny.

When brought before Judge Cant in district court, Vasser pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four months on the work farm.

Vasser was arrested by Detective Terry after he had come to the officer's home in search of food and lodging. The detective recognized Vasser as the man wanted for the burglarizing of the Hunter residence, a description having been given the police by a Superior pawnbroker, to whom the Hunter watch and stick-pin had been sold the previous day. Vasser at first denied the accusation, but later admitted his guilt and was brought to police headquarters by Detective Terry.

WHITE PINE MAY BE SOLD DIRECT

Owners Chafing Because Other Grades Are Freely Substituted.

It is learned from reliable sources that there will be more white pine lumber in the retail yards, or at least there will be a greater number of retail yards where white lumber may be purchased, in the very near future.

Minneapolis and St. Paul already have awakened to the situation and the attention of Duluth is being called to it. The Weyerhaeusers control the white pine situation in Minnesota to a very considerable extent, and while the news does not come direct from that interest it is learned that if retailers do not more generally carry white pine to supply the demand there will be other avenues for allowing that kind of lumber to reach the consumer.

It is claimed that there are many retailers in Minnesota who inform their customers who ask for white pine that they have none, that there is no white pine, and, if so, that the price is prohibitive. They then induce the prospective builder to take an inferior grade and pronounce it just as good.

"There may be more profit for the retailer in inferior lumber," says a prominent lumberman, "but there is a demand, large in the aggregate, for white pine, which is not being filled simply because the retailers aim to substitute something else to the retail trade. The result will be, if this policy is persisted in, that a flood of white pine will find its way direct to the consumer, unrestricted, and the artificial barrier, once broken down, will be kept down."

WOULD REFORM "POOL ROOMS"

New Organization of Proprietors Aims to Enforce Laws.

Proprietors of billiard rooms who recently formed an organization to further their interests and eliminate objectionable features associated with them state that it is a mistake to close their places of business with pool rooms, believed by many to be gambling dens.

They explained that the local billiard rooms are places of amusement where those with spare time may amuse themselves at a game which is entirely unobjectionable, being played at the Y. M. C. A., in homes and other private institutions. One of the aims of the new association will be to endeavor to remove the belief that billiard rooms are the first step in the downfall of young men.

The association has drawn up a set of rules by which all members will be governed. Among their provisions are the barring of minors, whether they intend to play or loiter, the prohibition of profane language or rowdyism and the elimination of gambling in any form. The billiard room proprietors have agreed to investigate all complaints made by parents, to keep their places clean and sanitary, to allow no intoxicants and to close promptly at 12 o'clock.

Joseph Di Marco was elected president of the association, Joseph McDonald was chosen vice president and Harry Silk was made secretary and treasurer.

BREAKS HIS LEG; YELLS "MURDER"

Man Thrown in Saloon Wrestling Match Injured --Adversary Arrested.

So strenuous was the wrestling match between John Lathalla and Otto Pouse in the rear of Andrew Maki's saloon at 332 Lake avenue south last evening, that Lathalla's leg was broken, when Pouse attempted to get a toe hold on his adversary.

Lathalla was unable to move after he had been downed. He yelled that he had been murdered and an examination disclosed that his left leg was broken. The police ambulance was called and the injured man was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where the member was set by Dr. Robert Graham.

Pouse was arrested by the police on a charge of drunkenness, but was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Lathalla is 26 years old.

TRAIN VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

Herbert Reinarts, a laborer, yesterday afternoon identified the body of Frank Miller, 38 years old, who was killed by a Northern Pacific freight train under the Lake avenue viaduct last Sunday afternoon, as an old comrade, with whom he worked in the woods for several years.

According to Reinarts, Miller had lived in Duluth for the last ten years, working at odd jobs in the city and the woods during that time. Reinarts knows nothing about Miller's relatives, however.

The funeral of Miller was held this afternoon from the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms and the body was buried at Park Hill cemetery.

SEVEN WILL BE DEPORTED

Undesirable Citizens Will Be Sent Back to Former Homes.

Have Either Committed Crimes or Become Public Charges.

Seven aliens, who have committed crimes or have become public charges, are to be taken by the local immigration officers this evening to St. Johns, N. B., and New York, from which ports they will be deported.

Five of the foreigners are now in Duluth and will be taken by Immigration Inspector McDonald and two attendants, Walter S. Petty of the customs office and Miss Rose Trummer, a trained nurse from Superior. They will pick up two more for deportation on the way East.

Among the seven who are to be deported are Kataryn Bolawenner and Harry Stecko, who crossed the Canadian border into Virginia several weeks ago without the proper inspection. They were found living together in Virginia by the police and were turned over to the immigration authorities. The woman will be taken to New York and Stecko to St. Johns, from which ports they will board separate boats for Austria.

Nestor Holm, 30 years old, was arrested recently in Duluth for stabbing a fellow roomer at a Finnish boarding house. Following his arrest it was learned that Holm once served a term in a Finnish prison for stabbing and for this reason he is being deported to Finland, an alien having once served in prison for a crime being barred from entry in the United States.

Michael Krasilnukow, 30 years old, came into this country from Canada by crossing the river at International Falls. He was arrested in the Minnesota city the other day for attempting to commit a serious crime, and he is to be sent back to his former home in Russia. He came to Canada last June.

Nels Robert Johanson, 20 years old, recently became a public charge, and as he has been in this country but a short time, he is to be taken back to Sweden. Johanson is suffering from tuberculosis.

These five aliens will leave this evening, and at Ironwood the immigration officers will pick up Joseph H. Seymour, a subject of Great Britain, who is suffering from tuberculosis, and who is to be sent back to his own country. At the Soo Emma Siren will join the officers, she having become a public charge at Houghton recently. She is also suffering from tuberculosis.

Inspector McDonald and his attendants will return early next week.

MAY SETTLE BIG LAWSUIT

Appeal May Not Be Taken From the $100,000 Verdict.

As a result of negotiations which have been pending for several days, it is rumored that the claims of Spencer & Marshall, local attorneys, and Frank A. Barber, a Duluth mining man, against the Higgins Land company are to be settled out of court, in which event the $190,000 verdict which was returned in favor of Spencer & Marshall on one of their claims will not be carried to the supreme court.

The terms of the settlement which have practically been agreed upon, it is said, have not been given out. It is believed that the figure of settlement which will be reached will be somewhere between $100,000 and $150,000, and that it will dispose of all claims which the local attorneys have against the Higgins company for services in the Higgins-Olcott mining lease case and in other matters. It is stated on good authority that in addition to the case which went to trial and the Barber case, there are five other causes of action in which Spencer & Marshall are interested pending against the company.

Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are attorneys for Spencer & Marshall, and the Higgins Land company is represented by Fryberger, Fulton & Spear and Greene, Forbes & White. The Higgins Land company owns valuable mineral interests on the Mesaba iron range. The company was organized several years ago by the late Frank W. Higgins, former governor of New York.

FORMER SHERIFF ON THE STAND

William C. Sargent Tells of Events Leading to Trenholm Arrest.

William C. Sargent, who was sheriff of St. Louis county for six years, during which time settlers in the Cedar Island lake country were engaged in bitter strife with the Cloquet Lumber company which was engaged in cutting disputed timber claims, testified today that J. W. Dempster, deputy sheriff, who caused the arrest of Ephraim A. Trenholm, homesteader, for threatening to dig up and destroy a dam, was sent to Cedar Island lake at the request of William B. Phelps, who has acted as attorney for the Cloquet Lumber company for a number of years.

Sargent was originally a defendant in the lawsuit brought by Trenholm against the lumber company for $8,000 damages for malicious arrest nearly thirteen years ago but before the case was brought to trial, the action was dismissed as to him and also as to J. W. Dempster, the deputy. Mr. Sargent was called as a witness today by S. G. Briggs, attorney for Trenholm, and asked but one question. It was "At whose request did you send Dempster to Cedar Island lake?" Mr. Sargent replied that it was at the request of Mr. Phelps.

H. C. Hornby, manager of the Cloquet Lumber company at the beginning of the trial, testified under cross-examination that Mr. Phelps had been usually consulted in the Cedar Island lake affairs and that he had represented the company in these matters. The testimony brought out so far bears out the contention of the plaintiff that the arrest of Trenholm was at the instigation of the lumber company, although this is denied. Trenholm was acquitted of the charge. He was imprisoned for five hours. The arrest occurred on June 17, 1901.

BOYS FORM AN ATHLETIC LEAGUE

Sunday Schools of All the Churches in Duluth Are Eligible.

Sunday school boys in Duluth are to have an athletic organization for the promotion of all kinds of sports.

Last night at the First M. E. Sunday school, representatives from the First M. E. Sunday school, First Presbyterian, Pilgrim Congregational, Lester Park M. E., Endion M. E., First Christian and St. Paul's Episcopl were present to hear reports from the delegates who attended the Y. M. C. A. convention. After the reports were given, the meeting was open for a discussion on forming an athletic association. Short talks were made by Dr. John W. Hoffman, W. H. Shilling and J. R. Batchelor. All the schools represented voted to enter the league, and elected J. R. Batchelor temporary chairman, and W. H. Shilling temporary secretary.

Another meeting will be called in the course of a week, and each Sunday school will elect two delegates to represent the school on the athletic council.

At the next meeting officers will be elected and committees appointed. The first event to be staged will be an indoor field meet, basket ball, baseball, swimming and other outdoor athletics will be promoted throughout the year.

Any Sunday school wishing to enter the association should communicate with Mr. Batchelor at the Boys' Department, Y. M. C. A., or Mr. Shilling, at the Duluth Central high school.

STARTS ACTION TO RECOVER ON TIES

Gust Lungren Sues W. & P. Railway for Sum of $551.76.

An action in replevin was started in district court today by Gust Lundgren against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company to recover the value of 1,452 railroad cross ties which he alleges were unlawfully taken from his possession by the company. Lundgren alleges that the ties were piled on the company's right-of-way in 55-16 and that during the fall of 1912 the company converted them to its own use without paying him for them. He asks for a judgment of $551.76, the value of the ties.

HALL DENIES REPORTED TALK

Traffic Commission Already Working on New Duluth's Case.

According to the morning paper the New Duluth Commercial club is about to take up with Attorney General Smith an alleged discrimination in freight rates against New Duluth. It is claimed that M. A. Becklinger, chairman of the club's committee on public affairs, reported that he had taken up the matter with G. Roy Hall, traffic manager of the Duluth Commercial club but that Mr. Hall said that nothing could be done without disturbing rates to the center of the city.

Mr. Hall told The Herald today that nothing of the sort was said. He says that he told the New Duluth representative that the traffic commission was working on the matter and formulating a plan to bring about just what was desired for three weeks before the New Duluth club made a request; and that as soon as possible this plan will be presented to the state railroad and warehouse commission.

"If the New Duluth club is going to take matters in its own hands and take the matter up with the attorney general," said Mr. Hall "then the fat will be in the fire for fair and New Duluth will profit nothing. When the New Duluth representative talked to me I asked him if he understood the plan and if it was satisfactory. He assured me that he did and it was. It seems though, judging from his report, that he did not understand what was coming off."

CLUBMAN ACCUSED UNDER MANN LAW

J. Parker Whitney's Arrest Is Ordered at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 25.—A warrant was issued here last night by the United States district attorney for the arrest of J. Parker Whitney, millionaire clubman and bon vivant, charged with violating the Mann "white slave" act.

Whitney was located at Rockland, Cal., on his father's $3,000,000 ranch. He would not talk over the telephone.

FUNERAL OF H. H. HANFORD

The funeral of Heber H. Hanford, 68 years old, pioneer business man of this city, who died Tuesday noon after a short illness of Bright's disease, was held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon frm the family residence.

Rev. W. W. Lawrence of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church read the service and interment was at the Forest Hill cemetery.

The pallbearers, all former business associates of Mr. Hanford, were J. R. McKay, R. M. Hunter, G. W. C. Ross, W. J. McCabe and J. D. Stryker. Mr. Hanford came to Duluth in 1861 and was very prominent in the early growth of this city. He is survived by his widow, two children, Arthur and Bertha, both of this city, and two brothers.

FORMER PARTNERS AT LOGGERHEADS

A. G. Meagher Sues J. G. Fogarty for Remainder of Settlement.

Austin G. Meagher and Joseph G. Fogarty, former partners in the real estate and land business at Floodwood, are at loggerheads in a lawsuit which was instituted by the former in district court today.

Meagher is seeking to recover $967.83 from Fogarty, claiming that this amount is still due him since a settlement of their partnership affairs in October, 1912. Fogarty bought out Meagher's interest and it was agreed that $1,250 should be paid, it is said. Meagher alleges that all he has ever received has been $282.17. He is suing for the remainder.

LONG HOSPITAL SIEGE.

Michigan Man, Recovering From Gunshot Wound, Has Operation.

Stambaugh, Mich., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie McRea, a prominent farmer in the Beechwood district of Iron county, returned to his home this week after a five months' stay in the Stambaugh hospital. McRae was convalescing from the effects of gunshot wounds received last summer, the result of a hunting accident, when a fortnight ago he suffered a recurrent attack of appendicitis, an ailment that had bothered him for several years. "You might as well fix me up for all time, doctor," said McRae, and the patient was once again taken to the operating table.

The Wash Goods Show

Is a Delightful Revelation of Fabric Beauty

Really there has never before been anything like it in this city. You surely should see it. It is an exposition of weaver's skill and designer's art of two continents. Side by side you may see the finest creations of American looms and those from foreign lands.

Choose which you will, if it's here it's good, and moreover it's in good style.

Much that you will see is exclusive and cannot be seen elsewhere now or here later. On the more staple weaves it is quite possible that you can get just as good values elsewhere, but from what we hear you will not find such assortments to select from, and many of the finer things you will find nowhere else. Altogether there is every reason for you seeing the display and we trust you will pleasure yourself by an early visit.

THERE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE WINTER SUITS LEFT AND NOT MUCH OF THEIR ORIGINAL PRICES

As lots have grown smaller, prices have grown less. And now the final reductions have been made. The very limit of value-giving has been reached. Suits have been arranged in THREE lots. Take your choice as follows:

By BRUCE

FATE is a millstone around the necks of some of the mortals of this world, pulling them below the limpid levels of mediocrity. In the case of others it is kind, leading kindly to the plains of affluence and power.

A long list of coincidences lifted Charles Murphy from the position of a baseball writer on the old Cincinnati Times-Star to the lofty baseball perch of owner of the four-time pennant-winning Cubs, one of the greatest teams in the history of baseball.

Always thrifty, alert and with both orbs peeled for the main chance, Murphy bumped face to face with a million. One day the man who has just left the arena of baseball walked into the office of James Hart, the then owner of the Chicago Nationals—for that was before the days of the Cub christening.

Hart was sick and consequently pessimistic. He said he would like to sell. Quick as a flash Murphy asked Hart for an option on his stock. Later he secured the option.

Back to Cincinnati went Murphy and to every one of the business men he knew he broached the proposition of securing the controlling interest in the Chicago National league baseball club.

And to each and every earnest inquiry the nay nay was returned to Charles W. Murphy.

The man now famous in baseball had about abandoned the whole glorious idea of securing the controlling interest in the club that was later to become famous by the winning of pennants and world's championships. He bought tickets for Chicago, and then decided to take in the baseball game at Cincinnati.

Joseph Garretson, managing editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star and Charles P. Taft were at the game—the loving hand of fate in the case of Murphy.

Garretson was a friend of Murphy; one of the few men that the man after the Cubs was friendly with. Murphy called Garretson over and told his story. The story so moved Murphy, so the yarn goes, that he cried, real and genuine tears coursing down his round face.

Mr. Taft is said to be a sympathetic man. He inquired the reason for the tears and the whole story came out.

Here is another stroke of fate—the same fate that sends some men to the gallows and electric chair.

A. C. Anson borrowed some money from Charley Taft and gave stock in the Chicago club as security. Anson was never able to pay back the money and the stock, some $30,000 worth, was in the possession of Mr. Taft.

Taft told of this and asked Murphy if he thought he could get the Taft money back if he was financed in the venture.

But why go on? Most of the remainder of the story is fairly well known. Taft gave Murphy, the man about to throw up the job buying the Chicago Nationals, the money, and Chance and Evers and Tinker and Kling, et al, made a millionaire out of Murphy.

Thus do we see the mysterious workings of fate; fate the fickle, the capricious; the wooer of smiles, the dispenser of joy; fate the grim teacher of the sorrows of this world; who knows, who can even attempt the problem?

In the Case of Gotch.

NAPOLEON came back from Elba and was shorn of power. John L. Sullivan emerged from the lap of idleness and was defeated by a stripling of slim sinuousness. From the sunny and lazy heat of California came James J. Jeffries, marching to the music of public clamor—and there are times when the sad meditations of two of the greatest fighters of the world must be bitter and filled with the sting of regret.

We read of the possible return of Frank A. Gotch to the wrestling ring. The king of them all had better be careful. Great as Frank is, crafty and versed in every move of the game, there are some of the followers of the sport who believe that the immense Stanislaus Zbyszko stands as a rival who may tear the title from the keeping of the able Iowan.

Maybe Gotch knows too much about the game for Fristensky; but with Zbyszko, slower, less finished and less flashy, the case may be different, for in his own inimitable way the Pole is one of the real wonders of the wrestling world.

Waiting at the Springs.

HUB PURDUE, Southerner, pitcher and interesting baseball character, and this despite the fact that his glory has been buried under the bushel of the Boston Nationals, is at Hot Springs vaguely wondering where he belongs and what is to eventually become of him.

Before he slid precipitously from baseball Charles W. Murphy wired for Hub and Sweeney to come on to Chicago and join the team they belonged to. Other orders have followed on the heels of the Murphy ukase, stating that it is the move of the Boston Nationals.

In the meantime the gentle and poetic Hub sits and watches the vapor ascend from the earth and speculates mildly upon the machinations of mere men.

It's a great life—but don't let the dog bite you.

Looks Bright for Feds.

YESTERDAY a traveling gentleman was leaning against the desk at the Spalding. He fell to talking of the Federal league and its close and more or less affable association with the city of Chicago.

"I would like nothing better than to own the Federal league franchise in Chicago," quoth the T. G. "I live on the North side of Chicago and so do 500,000 other people.

"There have been Sundays when 8,000 people would turn out to see one of the Logan Square games. Of course the Federal league will not give us the same article of baseball that the older leagues will give—that is, right at the start; but it will probably come later, and they will get the crowds."

They do whisper around the wrestling camps that the sailor has cut the grape and all of the other habits that prevented him from becoming one of the greatest wrestlers of the world, and is at the present time in prime shape.

It makes little difference to the patient Waino—he will meet them all.

AFTER "BIG SIX" TO MANAGE BROOKLYN

Federal League Will Let Mathewson Name Own Terms--Latter Carefully Considering Offer.

New York, Feb. 25.—The Federal league has made Christy Mathewson, star pitcher of the New York Nationals, a proposition to manage the Brooklyn Federals at his own terms. President Gilmore has wired Mathewson as follows:

"Will you manage the Brooklyn Federals? You can name your own terms."

"This is no stall," said Gilmore. "We want a big man to manage Brooklyn and have failed to get Stahl. We honestly want Mathewson. He is not signed up as yet with the Giants, and we will gladly give him twice as much as he received from the New York club last season."

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—"I have received the Federals' offer and I will give it careful and serious consideration," Christy Mathewson said last night, in regard to the proposition made him to manage the Brooklyn Federal league team at his own terms.

"It is not only the salary. There are a number of considerations which enter into the matter," he said.

MEETING POSTPONED.

National League Will Not Meet Until March 16.

New York, Feb. 25.—It is announced from National league headquarters here that the meeting of the board of directors scheduled for Harrisburg tonight was called off by President Tener.

President Tener then decided to call a meeting of the National league to be held here March 16. At this meeting the famous Evers - Sweeney - Perdue trade will be settled.

HOCKEY TEAMS IN DOUBLE-HEADER

There will be a double-header of hockey entertainment this evening at the French rink in the West end. The Universals and Big Duluths are to meet and the Kelleys and Lakes will hitch up.

As the race in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league is nearing an end, interest in the final games should increase.

The Lakes are leading the league, not having lost a single game during the season. In the event of the Lakes winning the contest scheduled for this evening it will be almost impossible to beat the hardware workers out for the gonfalon.

Both the Kelleys and the Big Duluths are going fast and some fine hockey is expected to be shown.

ZBYSZKO TO MEET LURICH

Ketonen and Sailor Jack to Appear on Same Bill.

BY BRUCE.

The last appearance of Stanislaus Zbyszko in Duluth in all probability will be in the contest with George Lurich, the Russian, at the Auditorium on the evening of Friday, March 6.

With Gotch out of the game and with no heavyweights in sight to contest for the world's title with the really wonderful Pole, there is little doubt that the present tour of the United States is the last that the huge champion of the Old World will ever make.

Zbyszko has property and interests that are quite sufficient to keep the wolf from raving around the door of his Polish domicile. In addition to being a lawyer and an ex-officer of the army, the barrel-chested wrestler is the owner of a large hotel and city property back in his beloved Poland.

In Lurich the Zby one will meet a powerful and experienced grappler. It is not believed that Lurich or any of the other wrestlers before the public at the present time can defeat the human cargo of beef and brawn that is ably represented in the athletic body of the gigantic Pole.

The best that any of them can do, with Gotch out of the running, is to go out and battle as best they can with a Titan of the mat that knows no fatigue and who wears the other man out by merely permitting his opponent to maul around that 240 pounds of bulk.

Ketonen and the Sailor.

Waino Ketonen will meet Sailor Jack in a finish contest on the same card. The sailor some time ago offered to wrestle the Finn on the winner-take-all basis, but it is probable that Jack will change his mind as the time comes to wrestle, for in the Waino one the marine will be going up against the greatest man he has ever wrestled, and a wrestler who can make the going to suit the somewhat strenuous, not to say tempestuous, nature of the sailor of the inland seas.

Every day Ketonen expects a letter from his manager, Will Thornton of London, Eng., announcing the signing of articles of agreement with Mike Yokel.

It looks as if Mike and Waino will clash this year, as the papers of Salt Lake City are practically forcing Yokel to either wrestle the wonderful little Finn or acknowledge that he does not wish to defend his title against Ketonen.

In the sailor, reformed and really in the best condition of his career, if the statements from various sources are to be depended upon, Ketonen will meet a rugged man.

According to the announcement of the future plans of Zbyszko, the huge Pole will sail for Europe early in the spring, and will probably leave the future wrestling of the family to the younger brother, Wladek.

WHY DAVID WARFIELD NEVER MAKES UP.

In the American Magazine David Warfield, the famous actor, writes an article telling the story of his development on the stage. In the early part of his story he tells how in one of his early parts—the part of Melter Moss in "The Ticket of Leave Man"—he had an experience which made him averse to "making up" for a part:

"I guess my performance was pretty bad. I know my spirits were down to zero. I had no idea of the character of Moss but, as he was a Jew, supposed he must necessarily have an exaggerated nose. Instead of the regular make-up putty I got some of the stuff from a glazier and put it on my nose. For a time it did very well, but presently the warmth of my flesh and gravitation caused it to elongate beyond my wildest dreams of what even a Jew's nose should be. Every few seconds I crowded it back, which gave it a bulbous, bell, or pear shape. It wobbled and threatened to drop off and it's a miracle to this day that it stuck fast at all. When I grabbed it my fingers left deep ridges in it, and it began to spread, changing its grotesque shape with every squeeze. Even now I dread to think what would have happened if I'd sneezed and blown the thing to atoms. That nose threw me into a panic. I inwardly prayed that the show would wind up, and it did—in a week!

"My experience with the nose was most distressing, and suggested to me even at that early stage of my career the absurdity of much of the practice of making-up. In a way, it influenced me, for today I never make up, in the old sense. I put on a little side-whiskers in 'Peter Grimm' to give character perhaps. That is all. As a fact the importance of making-up is much exaggerated. We indicate age by a touch here and there; sternness or geniality by the proper lines, that is all. Some actors are flattered by being told that their make up was so artistic that the audience didn't recognize them—the actors. But it wasn't artistic. We don't know a face by any one feature, but by a combination of features. We all have noses, eyes, and mouths, more or less alike. But the combination will not be repeated absolutely among the 1,600,000,000 that people the earth. So, to change one feature throws the whole combination out, disguises it. Therefore I claim that any man may disguise himself by a great nose or a false mustache without proper claim to being artistic."

The municipal authorities of Berlin have forbidden men to smoke while driving automobiles, ruling that many accidents have been due to the practice.

TROPHIES ARE BEING DISPLAYED

Even a passerby would be impressed with the idea of the prowess of the rowing crews of Duluth, were he to walks down Superior street.

In the Columbia corner window, in the Lake Hardware company's window and in Kelley company's window there are displayed the cups and trophies that have been captured by the Duluth Boat club's crews at the various regattas of the Northwestern International Rowing association and the regattas of the National Rowing association of America.

There are quite enough cups and trophies to go around, which makes it quite possible for all three of the stores to make a fine display.

LICENSE IS TURNED DOWN

Council By Unanimous Vote Ends Career of Sholund Saloon.

Drinking Party After Hours Brings Prompt Action From Hicken.

The city council yesterday afternoon revoked the saloon license of Charles Sholund at 101 East Michigan street by a unanimous vote.

Sholund lost his permit to retail intoxicants in Duluth as the aftermath of a drinking party in his salcon in which he and John Nelson, another saloon keeper, and two Superior women of alleged loose character were the principals.

They were arrested one night last week after midnight. Sholund was booked at police headquarters for keeping his saloon open after hours and will be tried on that charge in police court tomorrow. In the meantime he was served with a notice to appear before the council at the yesterday meeting to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

Backed by State Law.

When this matter was reached Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, stated that Sholund had violated section 18 of the ordinance regulating saloons, which provides that licenses shall be revoked when it appears that the licensee is not of good moral character or has not complied with the provisions of the ordinance. He added that the state law contains similar provisions and also provides that officials who fail to observe it shall be liable to impeachment. When Attorney C. V. McCoy, who appeared for Sholund, asked that the record show that Sholund's license was revoked because he was not of good moral character, Commissioner Hicken objected, asserting that the council wasn't censoring the man's moral character but was revoking his license because it appeared to its satisfaction that Sholund had violated the ordinance by keeping open after hours.

McCoy asked that action on the license be postponed until after Sholund's trial in police court. This was not allowed. McCoy then presented three petitions, containing about 500 signatures, bearing testimony to Sholund's good reputation and asking that action on the license be postponed until after his trial in police court.

Open After Hours.

At the direction of Commissioner Hicken the policemen who arrested the participants in the midnight drinking party gave the council their version of the affair. Patrolman Boland said that his attention was first attracted by the sound of a woman's voice and that when he learned there was some one in the saloon he summoned assistance from headquarters. Patrolman Clendenning said that he was one of those who responded and corroborated Boland's story. The officers said Nelson and Sholund were drunk and that the women were "feeling pretty fair." They waited about fifteen minutes before the door was opened. They found three empty champagne bottles in the office of the saloon.

When Commissioner Hicken announced last week that Sholund would be summoned before the council to show cause why his license should not be revoked, he said that at the expiration of Nelson's license, which runs out July 1, he would recommend to the council that it be not renewed. Nelson is part owner of the Nelson and Erickson saloon at 21 East Superior street. Sholund's license had until July 20 to run.

DEFENDS FIXING OF PRICE OF GOODS.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Standard prices, fixed by manufacturers, are a protection to small merchants, Henry E. Kerstein of Rochester, N. Y., told the house judiciary committee, protesting against the proposal in pending anti-trust bills to prohibit price fixing.

John Manson of New Haven, Conn., told the committee that prohibition of interlocking directorates should extend only to the larger institutions among banks. He believed mutual savings banks should not be included.

MANY LEAVE CANAL ZONE

Ending of Work on the Canal Causes Numerous Departures.

Anxiety Over Spread of Water Cabbage and Water Hyacinth.

Panama, Feb. 25.—It is, in many respects, very much like a college commencement season on the isthmus just now. From the thousands of men who have been taking long courses in practical canal building classes are being graduated almost daily, a commencement season which will probably continue for many months.

Men who have put in the full course might be believed to welcome release from the tropics, but on every hand there is a sort of Alma Mater sentiment expressed by many in the hope that they will return to the scene of their engineering triumphs for further service of some sort. A majority of the men who are laying down their books and shovels are going away with no other diploma than pride in having participated in a monumental work. That is enough to bind many men together and it may be no surprise that some such organization as the Canal Diggers' Alumni association is an outgrowth of this common pride.

There is general satisfaction expressed that the chief engineer will stay until the last, and overlap for a time at least as the civil governor of the canal zone. But this appointment of Col. George W. Goethals as governor is practically the only definite answer the bigger men of the canal work have been given as to what next for a big job.

Metcalfe Retiring.

With Col. Goethals' appointment Richard L. Metcalfe, who had been in charge of the civil administration, and Joseph Bucklin Bishop, secretary of the canal commission, are winding up their work. Mr. Metcalfe will probably return soon to the United States but he declares that reports that he intends to enter the race for the governorship of Nebraska are erroneous. He asserts that it is not his present intention to do so, leaving his future an open question.

It is generally understood in the zone that Secretary Bishop will be appointed by President Wilson in the capacity of official historian of the canal. It is intimated that this is the wish of Col. Goethals who believes that the official history of the canal should be compiled while the undertaking is fresh in the minds of those who took part in it and by a man who was as intimately associated with it as was Mr. Bishop. The secretary will probably remain here until the official opening of the waterway, set for January, 1915.

"Concrete Man" Relieved.

Among the division engineers who have lately been relieved of their duties is Lieut. Col. William L. Sibert, the "concrete man." He was in charge of the construction of all concrete work on the Gatun locks, dam and spillway. Where he will go when the isthmian canal commission ceases to exist on April 1 is another open question, but in some quarters it is believed that the construction of the projected Alaskan railway may furnish a suitable field for his activities, as it will for many who have finished their work here.

Every one believes that Col. W. C. Gorgas, the sanitary expert who rid the isthmus of yellow fever pests, and who is now engaged in a great sanitary work in South Africa, will be the next surgeon-general of the army.

H. H. Rosseau, the naval engineer who has always been regarded as Col. Goethals' right hand man, will probably remain on the isthmus until the finishing touches have been given all the docks and shops at both ends of the canal. At Balboa this work, in his charge, has only just begun and notwithstanding the headway that is being made daily, it is apparent that it will be at least another year before the building which will serve as the future headquarters of the canal force and the naval shops and dry dock will be ready to turn over to other hands. Even with this done it is believed that Col. Goethals will find further need of his "right hand" man in connection with the canal operations.

Lieut. Col. H. F. Hodges, United States corps of engineers, is another of the constructors of the great waterway whose services will be required until at least the end of the present year. His work has been in looking after the important electrical installation at the three great locks and in providing for the aids to navigation through the canal. It is expected that this work will be completed before the end of the present year. Then the canal will be said to be really in condition for the safe passage of ocean going vessels and not before.

Water Cabbage Spreading.

Some anxiety is manifested by Walter F. Beyer, assistant engineer in charge of aids to navigation in the canal itself, over the appearance of large quantities of water cabbage and water hyacinth that are growing rapidly and spreading over the surface of the canal. These plants are forming in large and small floating islands, and it is feared will prove a hindrance to navigation.

Within a brief period after the closing of the gates of Gatun spillway the water cabbage began growing along the banks of the lake that was formed. Now they have suread all over the surface of the lake, and floating about in great islands that are becoming very dense. These plants have very long roots and in shallow water become anchored fast to the bottom. Recently the water hyacinth made its appearance, and like the cabbage is floating about in large islands.

The growth of the latter is much faster than the cabbage and form in masses of great density. It is feared that ships will have considerable difficulty in piercing these masses. Already means are being considered for the destruction of plants or at least for their control so they will not obstruct the channel.

The danger from the plants is said to be greatest where the canal is narrowest, because they will there find anchorage and gradually overspread the entire waterway. The danger is regarded as not so great in Gatun lake because they have a tendency to remain near the shore.

BARNES TO ATTEND LAKE CONFERENCE

Shipping Interests Hope to Form Plans for Better Co-operation.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club, who recently went to New York, will be present at the conference of the lake cities held in Buffalo, N. Y., today and tomorrow.

This conference is probably the most important of its kind ever held. United States engineers, shippers and various commercial bodies will be present and it is the aim of the meeting to formulate a feasible plan for co-operation among the lake cities. Secretary of War Garrison has been very active in rousing interest in the meetings and hopes to see much good result.

About Your Own Vigor

Sent Free To Men

MANHOOD WINS IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE.

MR. READER:

Here is something I have to offer you absolutely for nothing—a little private book of special information about the legitimate uses and unnatural abuses of manly vigor; about the preservation of manly strength and its possible self-restoration; an illustrated pocket compendium of 8,000 words, 72 pages and 30 half-tone photograph reproductions—which I am very pleased to send by mail, absolutely free of charge, in a plain sealed envelope, to any man, young or elderly, single or married, who writes for it.

Over a million of these books have been thus sent to applicants all over the world since my free offer first appeared. Publishers are charging as much as $2 for books on sex subjects, while my book is free. Therefore, reader, if you would like a great fund of inside information relating directly to the subject of manly vigor, all put up in perfectly plain, easy-to-read language, with many hints that you can surely apply to your own self, no matter how strong you may be, or how nervous or rundown you may be—if you want to know the facts about this particular subject, given to you without a single scare, then fill in the coupon below, send it to me and receive my book, sealed, by return mail. In one part of this little publication I describe a mechanical invention of my own, which I call the SANDEN Vitalizer, something you wear at night as an aid to the restoration of lost or waning strength; but you are not expected to get one of these appliances unless you decide for yourself that you want one. The book is complete, and there is absolutely nothing you are required to buy or pay, either now or in the future. Therefore, please send me your name and address today.

SANDEN, Author.

MANHOOD! The quality which rules the world today. My friend, there never was a time in the history of the human race when real, sturdy manhood, manly vigor and manly courage counted for as much as they do now, this very minute. No matter what your years, whether you are 20 or 60, you must be either entirely in the race or entirely out of it. It is invariably the fellow who proves up strongest in this human strength that forges to the front, while weaklings stand aside; it is he also who is in most demand and most sought after by women and men of his community, simply because he radiates that marvellous magnetic influence which only an abundant vigor and rugged manly health can radiate. I believe any man can hope to completely develop or restore this same vigor or manly strength, no matter what his past follies may have been, provided he is willing to REALLY MAKE THE EFFORT; and provided, of course, he is not weighed down by extreme old age or is not incurably diseased. To my mind, the road of the one who wants more vigor is perfectly plain, but it is a road that any man MUST travel if he attains the highest ideals in respect to his own manhood. See information in my free book.

As to the SANDEN Vitalizer, previously mentioned, will say it is a little mechanical appliance, weighing but a few ounces, which you wear at night. This Vitalizer generates and sends forth a certain soft, penetrating force which I call Vitality. It drives this Vitality into your nerves, blood, muscles and organs as you sleep. It is quieting to the nervous system—or, at least, so users say. Men write that it takes pain out of the back often at once and restores vitality in ninety days. Remember, the general information of the free book is independent of this Vitalizer, and you are not expected to get one of these little appliances unless you want to. You can write me later as to that if you so desire. With special attachments, my Vitalizer is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. If you live in or near this city I should be most pleased to have you call in person at my office, where you may see and test the Vitalizer free of charge. Hours—9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1. Or if inconvenient to call, do not fail to write for the free booklet.

To Get Free Book Please Use Coupon.

If you live too far to call, or if you cannot call, please fill in the coupon below and send it to me. You will receive free, sealed, by return mail, my 72-page illustrated book, containing 8,000 words, a complete compendium of useful information for men, young or elderly, single or married, who want the truth about the subject of vital strength, its preservation, its possible self-restoration and its legitimate use and wanton abuses. You get it all free.

CANADA AND HER RAILWAYS

Intercolonial Railway Operated at Loss During Last Fiscal Year.

Canada's experience in government railroad ownership and operation is shown in some statistics contained in the Toronto Globe.

The Intercolonial railway running from Halifax to Montreal with a mileage of 1,462 miles sustained a loss from operations in its last fiscal year of $161,000 against a profit of $231,000 the year before. During the same period, Canada's privately owned railroads with 29,304 miles in operation saved $75,000,000 for net earnings, a gain of $6,000,000 over the year before.

All the railroads up there including the government line enjoyed increases in gross revenues for the year, amounting in the aggregate for the private systems to $37,000,000 and to $1,346,000 for the Intercolonial. While the private railroad worked under a ratio of 70.9 per cent, the government-owned railroad piled up a ratio of 101.3 per cent.

Railways in Canada as well as those in the United States have suffered from the rise in operating expenses. While gross earnings for 1913 rose 17 per cent, operating expenses increased 20.7 per cent. During the last fifteen years, while earnings per train mile increased 89.8 per cent, operating expenses per train mile climbed up to 105.9 per cent. Wages have played an important part in the rise amounting to 45.09 per cent in 1913 against 38.61 per cent in 1910.

FOUR CHILDREN BORN IN EIGHTEEN MONTHS

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Selms, Sheridan drive, just beyond the city limits, are the parents of four children born within eighteen months. The first twins, a boy and a girl, arrived in October, 1912, and are but a few days over 17 months old. The second couple, two girls, were born Monday.

"Relieved my Rheumatism

—Yes, and after I'd been laid up all winter, had doctored, and tried everything I could think of, and was just about ready to give up the fight, the pain was so terrible—that's what Sloan's Liniment did for me. And it'll do as much for you."

Sloan's Liniment never fails. It's penetrating—goes straight to the sore spot—kills the pain. All you have to do is to lay it on lightly—no rubbing required.

STOPPED SHOULDER PAINS
Mrs. J. H. Bleckwedek, of Groton-on-Hudson, N.Y., writes: "I had rheumatic pains in my shoulders and back so bad I could not move without screaming. We happened to get a half bottle of Sloan's Liniment from a neighbor and it worked like magic; the second application relieved my suffering entirely."

RELIEVED SCIATIC RHEUMATISM
Mr. Perigo, of 647 W. 25th St., Des Moines, Iowa, writes: "We have used Sloan's Liniment for over six years and found it the best we ever used. When my wife had sciatic rheumatism, the only thing that did her any good was Sloan's Liniment. We cannot praise it highly enough."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT
is splendid for sprains, bruises, neuralgia, lumbago, lame muscles and stiff joints. Always keep a bottle in the house.
At all dealers. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00

TONY MIKRUT IS SENTENCED

Must Serve One to Five Years for Shooting Saloon Keeper.

Plea for Leniency for Sake of Family Draws Court Lecture.

In district court this morning, Judge Dancer pronounced a penitentiary sentence on Tony Mikrut, aged 30, who was convicted last week by a jury on a charge of second degree assault. Mikrut will serve from one to five years at Stillwater on the indeterminate plan.

Tony entered the saloon of Martin Fajeditch, Raleigh street, on the afternoon of Jan. 6 and fired two shots at the proprietor after the latter had refused to give him a drink. Mikrut dashed out of the saloon, but was later rounded up by the police. During the morning of the same day, Mikrut became angry at the bartender and hurled a telephone instrument at his head. In the afternoon shooting affair, Fajeditch escaped without injury.

Mikrut, when brought before the court for sentence this morning, asked the court for leniency. He reminded the judge of the fact that he had a wife and two small children at home. The court, in turn, reminded him that it would have been better if he had thought about them before he became reckless with firearms in the saloon on the day in question.

Mikrut insisted upon the story told at the trial, which was to the effect that he had purchased the gun early that day from a stranger for 50 cents. He asserts that he met the man early in the morning. The court told Mikrut that the story sounded improbable, but Mikrut swore that it was true.

Dow-Hamilton.

Miss Lydia Helen Dow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Dow, of 417 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, was married yesterday noon to Aubrey Robert Hamilton, the ceremony taking place at the Westminster Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. Mr. Halston of Proctor. The attendants were Misses Hulda Dow and Mabel Bernstadt. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents after the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will reside at 301 East Fifth street, where they will be at home after March 5.

REDMEN HOLD JOINT "POW WOW"

Superior Brothers Entertained By Members of Duluth Lodge.

Days of the early settlers when Indians were numerous in the woods adjacent to the city, were called to mind by those "old timers," who stayed out until late last night. Reminders of the attacks of the redskins and former massacres might have momentarily flitted through their minds when they saw the Superior members of the Improved Order of Redmen returning home after having partaken of the hospitality of the Mesaba tribe at the Great Eastern hall.

Nearly 250 members of the order from the various lodges at the Head of the Lakes participated in the celebration. That number of seats were provided in the big hall and when a Herald reporter arrived at 10 o'clock every chair was occupied. On the stage a brown mottled goat munched with satisfaction at everything in reach.

The program following the "feed" was informal. "Silver Joe" Konkel, mayor of Superior, was present and took part in the jokes that passed back and forth.

Among the speakers were Mayor J. S. Konkel, Commissioners Charles O'Hara and F. L. Tomlinson of Superior; T. J. McKeon a member of the supreme lodge; Oscar Ahlgren, register of deeds of Douglas county; J. M. Eichten, captain of the Ojibway degree team of Superior; and George E. Dow, R. J. Neville, J. L. Bacon, M. J. Duffy, A. S. Andrews, Fred Hertlein, M. C. Erzonkala, Charles Zeman, Albert J. Daly and Orton Eigel of Superior; and Frank Watson, W. E. Tuskin, John Connolly, J. C. Ramsbottom, L. Hector, W. S. McCallum, A. L. Armstrong, C. R. Brown, Oscar Lund, and Nels Maynard of the local lodge. Sheriff John R. Meining was scheduled to be present and speak, but was represented by Oscar Lund, who, on behalf of the sheriff, presented the crowd with cigars.

MRS. MARKUS DIES.

Well-Known West Duluth Woman Succumbs to Bright's Disease.

Mrs. Lizzie Markus, 55 years old, wife of W. F. Markus, 12 North Fifty-fourth avenue west, died at 1:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of six hours from acute Bright's disease. Mrs. Markus was taken suddenly ill shortly after 6 o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Markus was a pioneer resident of the state. She has resided in West Duluth for the last twenty-three years, and when a girl lived with her parents in this city forty years ago. She leaves besides her husband, a son, William, of Gilbert, Minn., and a daughter, Miss Leola Markus, a teacher at the West Duluth Industrial high school. She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Simmons of Marshall, two brothers, E. M. French of Montana, who has been visiting here for the last two weeks, and W. W. Simmons of Marshall, and a sister, Mrs. E. K. Gillet of Weyerhaeuser, Wis.

The body will be taken to Wadena, Minn., over the Northern Pacific at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The funeral services will be held in Wadena.

With the Curlers.

Three games were played at the Western curling rink last night. Quinn won from Iltis, 12 to 10, in the first game of the Commercial club event; Brown won from Zauft, 14 to 9, and Judson defeated Mallory, 16 to 14, in the Burns event.

Four games will be played tonight, all on the Burns event. These will be between Wieland and Olson, Iltis and Wade, Sullivan and Quinn and between Judson and Evered.

WILL ASK FOR BETTER RATES

Commercial Club Will Appeal to State Attorney General.

Members of the New Duluth Commercial club will ask the state attorney general to take up alleged discriminatory freight rates, according to action taken at the meeting of the club last night. A committee consisting of R. Taylor, secretary of the club, and M. A. Becklinger, was appointed to take up the matter. The Duluth traffic commission is already working on the matter with the railroad and warehouse commission.

Through the activities of the club consent has been given by the steel plant officials to open a gate at the western end of the plant through which employes of the plant residing at New Duluth and Gary may enter. This gate, members of the committee say, will do away with an additional walk of more than a mile for the employes.

Commissioner Murchison will be asked to have the department of public works make the fill on Commonwealth avenue less hazardous. It is said that on several occasions automobiles and rigs have had narrow escapes from going over the embankment.

WEST DULUTHIAN DIES IN BEMIDJI

Does anyone in West Duluth know Jonas Larson?

Lieut. C. E. Wilcox of the West Duluth police station is in receipt of a communication asking for the location of relatives of the man, who is said to have died Monday at a hospital in Bemidji.

The address is incomplete and a search made by officers of West Duluth and West end have proved futile. The following is the letter:

"Bemidji, Feb. 23.

"Chief Police,
"West Duluth, Minn.

"We have the body of Mr. Jonas Larson, who was brought from the Northland Pine company's camp to hospital at Bemidji, Minn., where he died. He gave his address as 36 Twentieth avenue north, West Duluth. If he has any relatives or friends have them write or wire us as to the disposition of the body. He worked at the lumber camp for a day and a half and had no money.

FALL FROM ROOF FATAL FOR UTTI.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 25.—William Utti, aged about 30 years, was instantly killed Feb. 23, when he fell from the roof of his dwelling house at Phillipsville. He fell while chopping ice. Mr. Utti was manager of the Finnish Workmen's Co-operative company's store at Kearsarge. He was a native of the Copper country.

MORE SUITS OVER CHINA IMPORTS.

New York, Feb. 25.—A conference between United States Attorney General McReynolds and Assistant Attorney General Snowden Marshall on the status of the government's claims against importers of French chinaware and the actions against them now pending, was followed by the filing of three additional suits, aggregating $2,017,813, making the total involved $4,592,158. The suits were brought by Mr. Marshall in the Federal district court.

The suits now filed, as well as those entered previously, allege that the defendants undervalued by means of false invoices and declarations, chinaware imported from France, and seek to recover the money alleged to have been lost by the government.

DISCHARGED HAWLEY TEACHER BRINGS SUIT.

Hawley, Minn., Feb. 25.—Papers have been served by Sheriff Whaley in an action for $5,000 damages by Miss Annie A. Christianson against H. B. Plummer, Albert Thysell, Archie Cameron, J. L. Johnson, I. W. Swenson and O. E. Smith. Miss Christianson, a Michigan girl, is the teacher here who was summarily dismissed from her school on Jan. 24 and the defendants are members of the local school board, except O. E. Smith, who is the superintendent. One member of the school board, Mrs. William Ritteman, is not included in the action.

NIAGARA FALLS BAN IS REMOVED.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 25.—The smallpox ban that has been in force here the last eight weeks was removed yesterday. Churches will hold their midweek services tonight and theaters will open Thursday. Dr. Herman Biggs, state commissioner of health, has instructed the local authorities that he has no objection to all places of public assemblage being opened, provided that only vaccinated persons be admitted. There are now only sixteen cases of smallpox under quarantine. Over 20,000 persons have been vaccinated.

WILSON SISTERS ON AMATEUR STAGE.

New York, Feb. 25.—Miss Margaret Wilson and Miss Eleanor Wilson, two of the president's daughters, appeared on the amateur stage at a fashionable hotel here last night in "Sanctuary," a bird masque. Miss Margaret sang in the prologue and Miss Eleanor played the part of Ornis, the bird spirit. Mrs. Wilson sent a letter expressing regret at her inability to be present.

Spooner Home Talent Play.

Spooner, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—A play will be given at the Spooner Auditorium by local talent on March 19, under the management of J. M. Peterson, assistant cashier of the Security State bank. The play will also be given at the different playhouses in the neighboring towns.

Victim of Lockjaw.

Welcome, Minn., Feb. 25.—John Werner, Jr., injured his hand in a corn sheller two weeks ago and five days later lockjaw set in and was followed by his death.

Boston Apartments Burn.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 25.—Sixty persons were carried down ladders by the firemen in a fire which did about $25,000 damage to the fashionable Riverside view apartments on the Fenway early today. The temperature was below zero, causing much suffering.

NEW YORK BANKER'S DAUGHTER GETS DIVORCE FROM OIL MAGNATE

MRS. F. C. CARLEY.

Mrs. F. C. Carley has just secured a divorce. She was the daughter of a New York banker and her name before her marriage was Irene King. Her husband was head of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky. The divorce was granted on the usual statutory grounds. Mrs. Carley did not ask alimony.

SEES TWO NEW ERAS COMING

Picturesque Fashions and Prosperity on Way From East.

Two new eras, one of style and the other of prosperity, are just being ushered into the United States working from the East westward, according to E. A. Silberstein of the Silberstein & Bondy company, who returned today from a three weeks' trip to New York city.

"The styles now being introduced on Fifth avenue and other New York style centers mark a new period in American dress," he said. "The source or sources (they represent no single period) hark back to the Queen Anne period and other periods of extreme fashions. Noted painters, such as Gainsborough and others, have been drawn from for suggestions, and the Medici collar, flounces, ruffles, etc., are very much in evidence. The models now being displayed are striking and picturesque and are unlike any ever shown in this country before.

"The fashions, however, are graceful and harmonious and seem to be gaining instant popularity.

"The business outlook is something that everyone is thinking of at present, and I am very optimistic after studying conditions in the East. It looks like a new era of prosperity to me—not a boom or temporary spurt of activity, but solid prosperity based on sound conditions and confidence in the administration. The wise and conscientious handling of public affairs by the Wilson administration is beginning to have its effect in the East by a loosening up of the money situation and plans for tremendous activity and improvements in all lines of business. I am basing my statements on business enterprises already under way and not from reports or opinions.

"For some time, however, I look for no unusual jump in business. It will take a little time to get adjusted to new conditions, but after that there should be an unprecedented era of good times.

"The fact that many men have been unemployed in many large cities this winter is due partially to unfavorable weather conditions and secondly to the men themselves. This question of finding work for the unemployed is gradually being adjusted and prospective improvements all over the country will bring employment to the idle.

"An interesting thing I noticed in New York was the changing of the business center from Twenty-third street to Fifth avenue and the district about Thirty-fourth street. The old time business thoroughfare is now being deserted and storeroom of all kinds there is hard to rent at any price."

PRACTICE STARTS FOR MINSTREL SHOW

Annual Y. M. C. A. Camp Reunion Will Be Held Friday Night.

Practice for the Boys' department Y. M. C. A. annual minstrel show began last evening. The show will take place the first part of April and will be the finest production that the club has ever put on.

The camp meeting has made final arrangements for the annual camp reunion, which will take place Friday evening. The committee has planned a novel program. The campers will bring their blankets with them and prepare to stay all night. Supper will be served in the evening after which a regular camp fire program will be carried through. When taps is sounded, each tent group will be assigned a place on the gymnasium floor to sleep. At 6:30 revelle will sound and breakfast will be served at 6:45. This will be followed by the morning dip, which will take place at the Y. M. C. A. pool. All 1913 campers are invited.

The electrical club will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 under the direction of Arthur Ringsred.

Sunday Sherman Coy, former captain of the Yale football team, will be the speaker at the Sunday club. This meeting is open to all boys in the city over 15 years. Lunch will be served at the close.

The high school Bible study class met at the Boys' building last evening for dinner.

YOUTH'S ACT HAS WRECKED FAMILY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—Information from Southampton, Eng., that Lewis Brooks Brace, a young Briton, said to have robbed his parents of $10,000 here, was under arrest in that city, brought to light a report that the young man's act had wrecked his entire family, and that his father in consequence had been deported to Nassau, in the Bahama islands, as an undesirable alien.

The story was pieced out by the police, after receipt of a cable from United States Consul Swalm at Southampton saying Brace had attempted suicide and, believing himself to be dying, had confessed. His father was a rancher near Whittier, a suburb.

DASH WOOD ALCOHOL ON BURNING CLOTHES

Two Dilworth, Minn., Women Come Near Causing Man's Death.

Dilworth, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Throwing wood alcohol on a man whose clothing was on fire did not extinguish the flames as planned by two women in the Wiley store here. In the absence of Mr. Wiley, A. E. Delemater attempted to start a gasoline light plant by pouring wood alcohol into the cups. The flames flared up and the women, thinking a pan contained water, threw the wood alcohol on the man. He ran into the streets a living torch and a pedestrian rolled him in a snow bank. Delemater was taken to a hospital and will recover.

Bricks Without Straw

The Israelites had a tough time in Old Egypt making "bricks without straw," and today, 4,000 years later, many people are making "bricks without straw"—doing the unnecessary thing—traveling the crooked path—never arriving—anchoring at last in the port of missing ships; derelicts, worn out with the worry of small things, the cost of high living, down-hearted and discouraged. Don't try to make "bricks without straw." Don't order "just ordinary coal," when Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal, like Opportunity, is knocking at your door. It costs no more than "just ordinary coal." Give your furnace a chance to show what it can do. The Ground Hog says six weeks more of Winter (ha! ha!). Did ye not hear the scraping of the shovel against the bottom of your bin this morning? Order Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal, today, and you'll NOT make "bricks without straw." You'll travel the straight and easy road, the road to happiness, ease and contentment.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

DAIRYING IS CHIEF THEME

Cutting Prominent Figure in Farmers' Short Course at Brainerd.

A. B. Hostetter of Duluth Is in Attendance at the Meetings.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the opening session of the farmers' week short course, the lecturers devoted their attention to dairying, Mr. Bauer covering this subject in an exhaustive manner. Dairy stock on exhibition was judged. The livestock exhibit includes several head of cattle, five being dairy stock and two beef cattle.

In attendance at the sessions, which lasts from Tuesday to Saturday inclusive, are A. B. Hostetter of Duluth, district agricultural agent, and A. J. Gafke, county agricultural agent.

At the Commercial clubrooms are sample exhibits of ten ears of seed corn, and those who brought in corn samples include C. F. Peterson, J. M. Elder, A. M. Peterson, F. H. Gruenhagen, Magnus Lindskog and others.

Tuesday morning forty farmers were present. Today's program has been changed to include variation in cream test and creamery management, judging beef and dairy cattle, selection and testing of seed corn, silos and silage, closing with a conference and topics of interest to the community. It is expected that the attendance will increase, many from Pillager and neighboring towns having signified their intention of being present.

Take Over Dairy.

The Farmers' Produce company has taken over the Echo Dairy company and engaged its former proprietor, H. A. Lidenburg, as manager. It is said $2,500 was paid for the transfer of the property. In the spring the farmers' company will build a warehouse, either of brick or cement block, locating the same between the Holst and Standard Oil company warehouses. The stock subscriptions are spread over a wide area. Seventeen individuals and corporations have subscribed for $2,000 worth of stock. On a list of smaller holdings one finds twenty who have taken from one to five shares at $10 each. Over 100 farmers have subscribed. Soliciting subscriptions is a committee composed of A. L. Hoffman, F. H. Gruenhagen and Carl Zapffe.

STATE DAIRYMEN MEET AT FARGO

Three-Day Session of North Dakota Organization Is On.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota state dairymen began a three days' session here this morning, to conclude Friday afternoon.

There is a display of milking machines, cream separators, creamery machinery, models of dairy barns and silos and other things of interest to men engaged in the dairying industry. These exhibits give the show a more practical side than in former years and the large attendance indicates the increasing interest in dairying.

Welcomed to Fargo.

Secretary Hardy of the Commercial club welcomed the delegates and C. E. Batcheller, a banker-dairyman of Fingal, responded. The president's address was delivered by S. F. Crabbe of Fargo.

The afternoon program provides for an address on "Extending Credits for Dairy Stock," by W. F. Stege of Medina, with a discussion led by Maj. Persons of Minot; "Beginning Dairying at Hettinger," by W. R. Lanxon, superintendent of the sub-station at that point; "Cautions to be Observed in the Purchase of Dairy Cattle," by F. W. Merrill of Fargo.

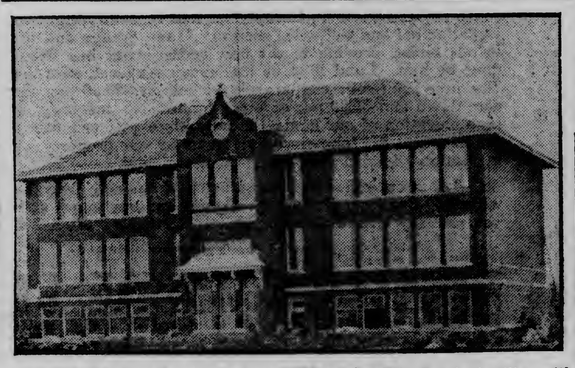

Tonight there will be addresses by E. W. Fowler of Minneapolis, City Milk Inspector James of Fargo and Justice Bruce of the state supreme court. Two of the national officers are attending the show.

SPOONER, MINN., IS PROUD OF ITS SPLENDID PUBLIC SCHOOL

Spooner, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—People familiar with the great fire that swept over Spooner and Baudette only three years ago will marvel at the splendid manner in which both towns have been rebuilt. This village rebuilt its public school better than ever and all visitors to the building declare it one of the finest of its size in the state.

GOOD ANTI-TRUST LAW IS EXPECTED

Declares Secretary Daniels' Brother to Gopher Democrats.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 25.—An anti-trust law, just and equitable to all interests, will be passed by the present congress. C. C. Daniels, of the department of justice at Washington and a brother of the secretary of the navy, made this statement in an address last night at a large meeting of Minnesota Democrats.

"Without making any apologies to the steel trust, the railroad trust, or any other trust," he said, "the present administration intends to pass a law that will protect every person and every interest in the United States as nearly as that can be done."

The occasion was a banquet which followed a meeting of the Democratic central committee.

The only other speaker from outside the state was John Walsh of Bayfield, Wis., a brother of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Sauk Rapids, Minn., Feb. 25.—Friday, the 13th, appears to have appealed to Inez Stager, the 16-year-old granddaughter of Mrs. W. J. Stager, to leave her home here, as she dropped from sight that date, and her grandmother has searched in vain for her in the Twin Cities.

According to Mrs. Stager, dime novels, "Nick Carter" and other stories of that type, with girl heroines, caused the girl's departure from her home, for many of these were found hidden about her room. Her grandmother says that she also found manuscripts in Inez's room of stories which she had written herself on blood-curdling and hair-breadth adventures.

The Minneapolis police have started a diligent search, but so far have no clew as to the girl's whereabouts.

LAURIUM SUICIDE.

Young Man Found Dying in Home With Revolver Beside Him.

Laurium, Mich., Feb. 25.—Harry Thompson, 23 years old and son of E. E. Thompson of 109 North Iroquois street, Laurium, was killed late Feb. 23 by a revolver bullet and is believed to have committed suicide. The young man, still living, was found in the bathroom of the Thompson home directly following the sound of the shot. Dr. D. D. Todd was summoned, but there was no hope of prolonging life and Thompson died within a half hour. The bullet entered his chest over the heart. The young man made no ante-mortem statement. Lying beside the body was a revolver.

DAIRYING POPULAR IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—That there is a greatly increased interest in dairying in North Dakota is evident from the agitation for new creameries. The efforts of the advocates of dairying are beginning to see evidences of a big future for the industry and are elated over the bright prospects.

INFIRMARY LOSES DEAN.

Resident of Forty Years in Houghton County Institution Dies.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 25.—Timothy Kelley, who for forty years has made his home at the county infirmary, recently died at that institution. Mr. Kelley was the dean of the institution, having lived there longer than anyone else. His judgment was deferred to by the others and he took a pardonable amount of pride in the unique position he held among them.

Charles Johnson succeeds Mr. Kelley as the oldest resident now at the infirmary, having twenty-seven years to his credit.

WANTED IN ILLINOIS.

Two Clay County Farmers Arrested on Alleged Bankruptcy Fraud.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 25. — Edwin and Walter McCormick, brothers, prominent farmers of Clay county, were arrested late yesterday by United States Marshal Buckman, charged with fraud at Danville, Ill. It is alleged that the men, then known as Edwin and Casaway, formerly lived at Danville, where they, as bankrupts, failed to surrender their entire property to their creditors, but came with the proceeds to Western Minnesota and each purchased a large farm. They had been here three years.

NORTH DAKOTANS VISIT WISCONSIN.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—More than fifty farmers and business men from the vicinity of Williston, N. D., visited the Wisconsin agricultural college yesterday to study advanced farming methods. Wisconsin's agricultural prominence was exalted in speeches by Governor McGovern, dean H. H. Russell and others. The delegation went to Waukesha today, to Rosendale Thursday, and then to Minnesota.

NEW TRIAL FOR OSIG.

St. Paul Man, Unjustly Convicted, Gets Another Chance.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 15.—John Osig, convicted with Joseph Gyarmati of the murder of Gyarmati's wife in St. Paul last June, was granted a new trial yesterday by Judge G. M. Orr, district court by reason of Gyarmati's confession after they were both convicted, that Osig took no part in the murder. Judge Orr, who sat at the trial, holds that, with the testimony of Gyarmati excluded on account of his confession, there was not sufficient evidence to support the verdict convicting Osig.

"Justice demands that Osig be given a new trial," said Judge Orr. "A new trial is the only way in which his innocence can be established if he is innocent. A pardon by the board of parole, would liberate him, but it would not remove the stain of conviction."

EIGHTY GRAND CHILDREN

Attend Sixtieth Anniversary of Preston, Minn., Couple.

Preston, Minn., Feb. 25.—A feature of the celebration of the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Connor, which occurred here today, was the presence of the ninety grandchildren of the couple. Mr. O'Connor, who is a well-to-do farmer in the eighties, expressed the hope in an address to the family that the number of grandchildren would grow to 100 before he was called away.

MACHINERY CONCERN HELD NOT LIABLE.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—That a farm machinery manufacturing concern is not liable for damages in case a machine is sold, properly equipped, according to statute, was the substance of a decision of the supreme court yesterday. The case in point was a suit involving damages claimed from the selling of a corn shredding machine.

"In view of the specific and absolute statutory duty to maintain safety devices and guards upon such machines, no one should, in the absence of such maintenance, be permitted to claim that they were useless and thus place liabilities upon the seller," says the court.

BANKRUPTCY STAYS ALL PROCEEDINGS

Barnesville, Minn., Feb. 25.—The hearing for J. W. Barnady and F. C. Cary of Moorhead for contempt of court was stayed because a petition in bankruptcy was filed against the Red River Potato Growers' association in United States court at Fergus Falls. This stays all proceedings in state court.

DRUMMER SEEKS NORTH DAKOTA JOB.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 25.—The first candidate for state railroad commissioner to announce his candidacy and platform is H. A. Barwind of Bismarck, a traveling salesman. He believes a railroad commissioner should reside permanently at the capital and devote his entire time to the office.

Dickinson Elks Bar Tango.

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Dickinson lodge of Elks will have none of the tango dance at its parties, the decree having been issued by the officials of the lodge. The action results from the report made by a special committee which recently observed several couples attempting the dance at one of the lodge's functions and said the dance was "disgraceful."

Aged Smoker's Fatal Snooze.

Antigo, Wis., Feb. 25.—Theodore Broker, 95, a public charge, died Monday as the result of burns received Saturday night. Broker fell asleep smoking in bed.

Wreck Victims Recover.

Worthingson, Minn., Feb. 25.—Those still in hospitals here as a result of the wreck of passenger No. 2 on the Omaha road two weeks ago, will be able to return to their homes in a short time. Only seven of the seventeen who entered the hospitals remain, John Achen and son, John Greer, James Coleman, H. S. Chaney and wife and son.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Minot, N. D.—Mrs. A. Blom of Drady died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Feb. 22. Mrs. Blom was an old settler in this section.

Fargo, N. D.—The funeral of A. Sweningson was held at the home Feb. 23. Dr. R. A. Beard, pastor of the First Congregational church, read the funeral service and a quartet sang. At the close of the service the body was taken to Riverside cemetery and placed in the receiving vault, services at the burial ground being held in the chapel.

Bismarck, N. D.—Civil Engineer T. R. Atkinson has returned from Beach, where he has been spending considerable time recently assisting the officials of that city in preparing the special assessment lists covering the water works and sewer system there.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The North Dakota comity commission will amend its constitution in such manner as to permit of the speedier dispatch of business, and which amendment is designed at affecting more effective decisions concerning several fields in which rival churches may be seeking to establish a foothold.

Beach, N. D.—Douglas Anderson, a small boy, was struck by an auto and seriously injured. The youth, with others, was playing in the street and when the driver of the auto sounded the horn the Anderson boy stood his ground in the middle of the road and was struck.

Portal, N. D.—The last step has been finished in organizing Portal as a city. The proceedings of the incorporation have been filed with the register of deeds and also with the secretary of state.

Fargo, N. D.—The North Dakota Chess association voted to meet next year at Bismarck and elected these officers: President, Hon. E. T. Burke, Bismarck; vice president, E. C. Fleming, Fargo; secretary-treasurer, John Gammons, Bismarck.

Ardoch, N. D.—The public school building here was burned to the ground, Friday, Feb. 13. A free text book system was in use, and practically all of the books went up in smoke. The Forester lodge rooms were of Gwinn, dropped dead on the street there Feb. 23. For some time he had been employed at the Gwinn livery, and he formerly worked in Ishpeming. He was 50 years of age and single.

Marquette—Ed Hogan of Superior, Wis., who has been visiting his father, Edward Hogan, has gone to Clairmont, Fla., to spend the remainder of the winter. He will join Mrs. Hogan in Chicago.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

La Crosse—The name of Olaf R. Skaar for postmaster here has been sent to the senate by President Wilson, according to word received by La Crosse Democrats from Joseph W. Davies, commissioner of corporations.

Madison—Three members of a New York legislative committee investigating the question of mothers' pensions held a conference here Monday with the state board of control. Assemblyman C. D. Rosa of Beloit explained the provisions of the Wisconsin law. The committee visited Milwaukee yesterday.

La Crosse—While the family was visiting at a neighbor's house, fire destroyed the residence of Dr. R. M. T. Kinnear and all its contents. The blaze is believed to have been started by leaking gas. The loss is $7,000. The house was one of the landmarks of the city, having been erected before the Civil war.

Wautoma—Lack of evidence freed Marshall Peters and Charles Anderson of Red Granite, charged with dynamiting the derricks of the Wisconsin Granite company at that place on Jan. 17, and the men went free. Clarence Darrow and Senator Kileen had charge of the defense.

Madison—Assemblyman Thomas Mahon of Eland, executive counsel in the office of Governor McGovern, is to retire from politics and devote himself to the practice of law in Milwaukee. He has formed a partnership with an attorney of that city.

Waukesha—Joseph Wilson of Baltimore, President Wilson's brother, has been a guest of the Rev. E. P. Loose. Mr. Wilson is general manager of the promotion development department of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty company of Baltimore.

Appleton—Edward McDermott, Clayton, was killed when a load of lumber on which he was riding tipped over on him.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—The United City party has nominated this ticket to be voted for March 4: For mayor, Abram Ojala; for clerk, W. J. Hoffenbacher and Eneas McCauley; for treasurer, Charles E. Rouleau.

Houghton—The preliminary declamation contest, in which eleven students will take part, will be held in the Houghton high school March 3, to select four pupils to contest for first and second honors on Friday evening, March 6, at which time the oratorical contest will also take place.

Marquette—Mrs. Arthur Young, who for the past three years has been organist and directress of St. John's choir of the French church, has resigned.

Ishpeming—Ted Swanson, who has been visiting in the city since Friday, left Monday morning for Marinesco, on the Mesaba range, where he has charge of two diamond drills.

Houghton—Because Macchi's attorneys are busy at the congressional investigation of alleged violations of constitutional rights, the case of Charles Macchi, charged with criminal libel of Michael Borgo, a prominent Calumet resident, has been postponed in Justice C. O. Jackola's court, Calumet, until Friday, Feb. 27.

Marquette—Ward Powell, son of D. W. Powell, died suddenly Feb. 24, of Bright's disease, from which he suffered only a short time. He was 30 years of age and had always lived in Marquette. Besides his parents, Mr. Powell is survived by two sisters, Mrs. H. J. Hornbogen and Miss Pearl Powell of this city, and one brother, Arthur Powell, also of Marquette.

Ishpeming—John E. Venner, who has been manager of the Ishpeming band for several years, has resigned, and will be succeeded by Charles Olson. Mr. Venner has gone to the Copper country, where he has accepted a position.

Crystal Falls—Jerome B. Schwartz, who was a pioneer mining man on the Menominee range, died last Wednesday in Los Angeles, Cal. The news of his death came as a surprise. The body has been placed in a vault at Los Angeles and within two or three months will be brought to Crystal Falls for burial.

Gwinn—Nels Bergenson, a resident

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—Dave Palmer, the Sauk Rapids lad who was sentenced to ninety days in jail for offences committed in his home village, appeared before Judge Roeser Feb. 23, after remaining in jail since his sentence, and was put on probation on the Leslie Smith farm.

Crookston—S. M. Silvertson and J. M. Hanson of the Crookston school board have started on a scouting trip with the idea of engaging a superintendent for the local schools. They went first to St. Paul, where they had an appointment with State Inspector of Schools George B. Alton, and from St. Paul proceeded to Red Wing and a number of Southern Minnesota cities to do some quiet investigating.

Moorhead—Chief of Police O'Laughlin recovered W. M. Nesheim's bicycle at Fargo and returned it Mr. Nesheim. It had been stolen from in front of the drug store and was pawned at one of the Fargo hotels.

Brainerd—William Klapel, whose son met death at St. Mathias last week by strangling to death, met with misfortune shortly after attending the funeral of his boy. Driving out in the woods, his sleigh collided with a heavy stone and his leg was broken as he brushed against a tree.

Grand Marais—A petition, signed by eighteen voters, was filed with the village clerk, asking for the submission of the license question at the village election in March.

St. Hilaire—A union temperance rally will be held at the Imperial hall Sunday evening, March 1, at 8 p. m. M. Martison, the state business manager of the Anti-Saloon league of Minneapolis will be the speaker of the evening.

Stillwater—The funeral of Olaf Engstrom, a local resident since 1883, who died Sunday, aged 59, was held Tuesday. Mr. Engstrom is survived by the widow and two daughters, Mrs. John L. Anderson of Regina, Can., and Ellen, a teacher in our city schools; a brother, Andrew Engstrom, living in Connecticut, and a sister, Mrs. Soderberg of Barron, Wis.

Little Falls—Howard Clark, well known here and a member of the high school graduating class of 1913, has signed up to go on the stage in Seattle, taking the leading part in a stock company production.

Northfield—Catholics of this city have completed a church costing $40,000, for the use of the parish of St. Dominic, of which Rev. P. F. Meade is priest. Dedicatory exercises were conducted by Archbishop Ireland. Priests from the Twin Cities and neighboring towns attended.

Albert Lee—The dates for the 1914 Freeborn county fair will be Sept. 16, 17 and 18. The management has adopted the plan of township exhibits. A spelling school for the children of the city, village and rural schools will be held.

Stillwater—B. H. Duehay, recently appointed by the United States department of justice as an examiner of United States applicants for parole, with Rev. S. G. Smith and C. E. Vasaly, both of Minnesota board of parole, are here to participate in the examination for parole of fifty-one out of 218 Federal prisoners in the state prison.

MEXICAN SITUATION IS TENSER

Bryan Discusses Developments With Members of Senate.

Vergara, Hanged By Huertistas, Was Texan Ranch Owner.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Further complicated by dispatches telling of official confirmation received by Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo of the hanging by Huerta troops of Clements Vergara, an American, near Hidalgo, the Mexican situation took on more tensity, if it could be said there was any change at all.

Secretary Bryan discussed the situation with the senate foreign relations committee, and for more than two hours answered questions by senators. Both the secretary and senators declined to discuss their conference, except to say that the trend was to get at the facts, leaving questions of policy for future determination.

Will Examine Body.

Gen. Villa's proposal for an American examination of the body of William S. Benton, the English ranchman he executed at Juarez, without permitting its removal from Mexico, has been accepted by this government, without waiving, however, any further movement to demand its delivery on American soil.

British Consul Perceval at Galveston today was ordered to proceed at once to El Paso, where he is expected to arrive tomorrow to go to the grave in Juarez with a delegation of Americans. Maj. Gen. Scott, commanding the United States troops there, will detail an American army surgeon and any other officers to accompany the British consul. A member of Benton's family will be taken with the party.

That course has been decided upon pending the outcome of efforts to obtain the surrender of the body to Benton's family, which will not be abated in the least. An immediate examination, even under limited conditions, has been decided upon in order that decomposition, which is very rapid in the Mexican climate, may not obliterate the evidence of the wounds.

Vergara a Texan.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 25.—Clemente Vergara, hanged by Mexican Federals, was a citizen of Webb county, Texas, where he engaged in the ranching business. He used an island in the Rio Grande opposite his ranch at Palafox, Tex., as pasture for his horses. Vergara complained that Mexican Federals were stealing his horses and a small detachment of Texas rangers were sent to his ranch.

On Feb. 13, Mexicans appeared on the island and called to Vergara to come over, saying they would pay him for the horses. The rangers advised against complying, but the ranchman decided to go.

When Vergara reached the island, according to reports, he was struck in the back of the head by the soldiers and made unconscious. He was then carried into the interior of Mexico.

Release Was Ordered.

Representations on behalf of Vergara were made to the Federal commander at Nuevo Laredo, and to Gen. Maass at Monterey. The ranchman's release was promised and apprehension for his safety was allayed until his long absence caused additional inquiries to be made. Information was given out by the Mexican authorities that Vergara's release had already been ordered.

Yesterday reports were brought to Consul Garrett that Vergara had been hanged by the Mexicans, either on the night of his capture or the morning after, and the consul dispatched an emissary to Hidalgo to learn the facts. The report confirming the hanging was brought here today.

WEDDED BLISS WAS VERY BRIEF

Wedded bliss was short but not particularly sweet for Gertrude Trocki, 25 years old, who is seeking relief from the divorce court after less than four months of married life. In district court today she filed suit against Ikeman Trocki, 30, asking for an absolute separation.

They were married, she says, in this city on Nov. 3 last. Hardly had the wedding vows dropped from his lips, she states, before he proceeded to break them. She claims that he constantly called her vile names and accused her of infidelity.

On Dec. 19 last, she asserts, he threw her out of bed and after cursing her and declaring that he would have no more to do with her, left the house. Since that time, she claims, she has been dependent upon her relatives for a livelihood.

INJURED MAN IS AWARDED $35,000

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ernest V. Padrick was awarded a verdict of $35,000 against the Great Northern railroad by a jury in Judge Kelly's court today. He sued for $50,000. The verdict is one of the largest ever given in Ramsey county.

Padrick's case is a particularly pathetic one, as he has been made a nervous wreck and can hardly walk; even when supported by crutch and cane, as the result of paralysis. He was hurt in a wreck near Boxelder, Mont., Dec. 22, 1912, while employed as an express clerk.

The railroad company offered no defense, admitting negligence, but submitted the case to jury trial in order to have the sum for settlement placed.

PROF. STROMBERG NEARLY FIRE VICTIM

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. Ashley A. Stromberg, instructor of Scandinavian languages at the University of Minnesota, narrowly escaped death in a fire that destroyed his home here today. After heroically saving the members of his household, including Mrs. Stromberg, his two sons and a guest, from the flames, Prof. Stromberg remained at the telephone in an endeavor to call the fire department, until he was overcome by fire and smoke. He was rescued by firemen and is at a hospital, where it is said he will recover.

CALL IS ELECTED IN KENNEDY'S PLACE

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Homer D. Call of Syracuse today was elected state treasurer at a joint session of the legislature, to succeed the late John J. Kennedy, who killed himself in Buffalo a week ago.

Call was supported by Progressives and Democrats and received 98 votes to 96 for Archer, Republican. Former Governor Sulzer voted for Mr. Call.

Pulford, How & Co., 609 Alworth building.

Wolf Bounties Paid.
St. Louis county's wolf population is steadily decreasing. Yesterday eleven pelts were brought to the county auditor's office and the state bounty of $7.50 in each instance claimed. A total of $82.50 was paid out of the state wolf bounty fund on warrants issued by County Auditor Halden.

Must Support Child.
Richard Hanson pleaded guilty in district court before Judge Cant yesterday afternoon to a charge of bastardy and was ordered by the court to pay the woman he wronged $20 on or before March 1, and $10 each month thereafter until $250 had been paid for the support of the child.

Grape Fruit.
Insist on the Black Diamond Brand.

Bookkeeper Sues.
For services performed between Jan. 1, 1910, and Oct. 1, 1912, while employed by the Duluth-Husa Copper Mines company as bookkeeper, J. L. Benz claims that $500 is still due him. In district court today, suit to recover that amount and interest since Oct. 1, 1912, was started by Benz against his former employers.

Informal Conference.
The city council is scheduled for an informal meeting at the mayor's office this afternoon. The conference was called at the request of Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division, to discuss the subway on Highland street under the D., M. & N. tracks, the question of removing more stone from the Point of Rocks this season and financial ordinances for the works division.

New Realty Company.
The Real Estate Securities company, organized to engage in a general real estate and loan business, filed articles of incorporation today with Charles Calligan, register of deeds. The incorporators are Thomas A. Merritt, Bert N. Wheeler and Guy W. C. Ross, all of Duluth. The capital stock of the company is $50,000.

Give Entertainment.
An entertainment was given last evening by the pupils of the Williams' Orchestral school assisted by other local talent at the Kalamazoo hall. There were numbers by Lena Signer, Lucella Williams, Ethel McDonald, N. Nichalski, and a comedy sketch, "Help Wanted," given by Miss Richey, I. Monley, W. Glenn and Miss Blanch Black.

Gets Assistant.
James W. Wheeling of Chicago has arrived in Duluth and will be associated with Hugh McKenzie, the photographer, taking charge of the office and studio work.

Office Is Moved.
Owing to the crowded condition at the postoffice building, the navy recruiting office will be moved from its present quarters on the third floor to an office in the rear of the building on the same floor. The lower office will be occupied by the immigration inspectors of this district.

Bank Will Close.
The City National bank will close at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon because of the funeral of Capt. Joseph Sellwood, who was president of that institution at the time of his death.

Publicity for Duluth.
The Duluth Commercial club has a full page "feature" story on Duluth, the City of Gardens, in the St. Paul Star and fifteen other papers supplied by a syndicate to which the club publicity committee furnishes information. The page is attractively gotten up, well illustrated and well written by George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the club. In the American City another article appears from the pen of Mr. McCarthy. It is on "Checking Pavement Defects."

Meeting of Lewis Men.
D. E. McLennan of Minneapolis, W. D. Gordon of Minneapolis and James Mitchell, advertising manager of the Northwest Farmer of Winnipeg, Man., are here today to attend the annual banquet of the Society of Lewis, which is made up of people born in the little island of that name off the west coast of Scotland.

Office Men Meet.
The Duluth Association of Office Men held its weekly luncheon this noon at the Commercial club and was addressed by D. A. Poling of Ohio, who will lecture this evening at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Poling gave a very interesting address on "The Grip That Holds" and held the attention of his auditors from the beginning.

Dredge Owners Sue.
A collision between a steamer of the Pittsburg Steamship company and a dredge belonging to the Northern Dredge company of this city in the Ashland harbor on June 12, 1913, is the basis of a suit for $2,150.61 damages filed in district court today. The dredge company blames the vessel owners for the accident. The dredge was permanently stationed in the bay at work excavating a slip adjacent to the dock of the Pittsburg & Ashland Coal company.

Mumps at Escanaba.

Escanaba, Mich., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—An epidemic of mumps is prevalent here. Scores of persons in all parts of the city are suffering from the disease and the condition of some persons is reported serious. Old as well as young are affected. Isolated cases began to appear several weeks ago and the number has increased with alarming rapidity.

Railroads

WANTS $50,000 FROM RAILROAD.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—Supported by a crutch and scarcely able to walk, Eugene V. Padrick testified in his own behalf in Judge Kelly's court, where he is suing the Great Northern railway for $50,000 damages.

Patrick alleges he was injured in a collision at BoxElder, Mont., Dec. 22, 1912, while he was at work as a mail clerk. Mrs. Padrick also appeared as a witness.

TWO RAILROADS PAY DOCK TAX

Ashland, Wis., Feb. 25.—The Northwestern Railway company paid City Treasurer Nohl $17,875 ore dock tax. The Soo Line had paid $3,600 ore dock tax under protest.

The supreme court is expected to pass on the constitutionality of the law this year, and the decision will be of importance to Ashland as a considerable portion of the receipts are from the dock tax.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

WILL CONSULT McGRAW.

Mathewson Won't Sign With Federals Without Conference.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 25.—Before signing a contract with the Giants or accepting the proposition of President Gilmore to name his own terms for managing the Brooklyn Federal club, Christy Mathewson said today he would talk the matter over with John McGraw, the manager of the Giants. Mathewson was planning to leave today for the Giants' spring training camp at Marlin Springs, Tex., where he expected to meet McGraw.

"Some people have the report that I have signed my contract with the Giants," said Mathewson today. "I have not, and I'm considering the offer of the Federal league. I shall decide on neither proposition, however, until I see McGraw or someone else in authority, at Marlin."

CLOQUET TEAM WINS.

OBITUARY

Judge James S. Young of the United States district court for the Western district of Pennsylvania, died suddenly at his home in Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 25.

Adam Finck, pioneer of St. Paul, died Feb. 24 at the residence of his son, E. W. Finck, 1555 Lincoln avenue, aged 83. Mr. Finck had been a resident of St. Paul almost uninterruptedly since 1855, when he came from Milwaukee. He was in business at St. Paul for more than thirty years, and served at different times in the board of aldermen, board of education, board of control and board of county commissioners.

Mr. Finck was born at Waldgesheim, Germany, and left that place with his parents June 17, 1847, for America.

Mr. Finck remained in business until 1888, when he retired, and since that time he had made his home with his son.

Mr. Finck is survived by four children, Mrs. Henry D. Defiel, Otto A. Finck of Milwaukee and Edward and Walter Finck of St. Paul.

Charles H. Wallace, a graduate of Hamline university, class of 1902, and one of the school's most famous football players, is dead at Newport Beach, Cal. Wallace participated in the battle of Manila, and his death is declared to be the direct result of disease contracted while serving in the islands during the Spanish war. With his brother Louis he left Hamline to go to war, being a member of the Thirteenth Minnesota. The brothers returned later to finish their college course. Five brothers in all graduated from the Hamline institution.

Wallace came to Minnesota from Drayton, N. D. He married Miss Edith N. Gold of Redwood Falls, Minn., a member of his class, soon after he graduated.

Thomas W. Gridler, third assistant secretary of state under the McKinley administration, died suddenly at his home in New York of heart disease.

Mrs. Mary Fancher Williams, wife of Prof. S. N. Williams of Cornell college, Iowa, and a leader in the W. C. T. U. movement in Iowa, died in Chicago Feb. 24 at the home of her daughter.

WILL SPEAK TO SOCIAL WORKERS

Mill City Woman Will Talk on Young Girl Problems.

Mrs. Flora S. Davis, supervisor of the Florence Crittenton Home for Girls at Minneapolis, who is visiting in Duluth, will address a gathering of social workers at the county commissioners' room, courthouse, at 10:30 tomorrow morning.

A special invitation for those interested in the welfare of the young girl and the problems of caring for wayward juveniles is extended. Mrs. Davis will explain also the mission and methods of the institution she represents.

FIRE DOES BUT LITTLE DAMAGE

Workmen repairing the Palladio building were met with a cloud of smoke when they began wrecking the ceiling on the ground floor about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Cries of fire were immediately heard about the basement and first floor of the building that soon brought hundreds of office people into the halls. The smoke began coming rapidly out of the hole in the floor and an alarm was turned in by one of the workmen.

The firemen had little trouble in finding the smudge, which was in the ceiling at the rear of the Joseph H. Bonna curio store on the corner of the building. No fire had started, but it would undoubtedly have broken out, if the workmen had not opened the ceiling when they did.

The curio store was damaged to the extent of about $100, including the ceiling and stock that was ruined by falling plaster. The floor of the Anchor Line offices on the upper floor was also slightly damaged.

FINAL ACCOUNT.

Executor of M. J. Clark Estate Has Completed His Duties.

Frank Jewell of Grand Rapids, Mich., today filed with the probate court his final account as executor of the estate of the late Melvin J. Clark, whose death occurred at Grand Rapids on Nov. 23, 1909. Clark left property in St. Louis county valued at $70,000, mostly in real estate. With the exception of a few bequests, all of the property has been distributed in accordance with the terms of the will among the widow and three children.

John Gonska yesterday petitioned the probate court for letters of administration on the estate of Vacil Stachorski, whose death occurred at Two Harbors on Dec. 17, 1913. Gonska is attorney in fact for the widow. The estate is this county consists of a cause of action for wrongful death and a small amount of personal property.

INJURED MINER SUES FOR $3,000

Crushed under a huge rock which fell from a dump car at the Utica, an open pit mine near Hibbing, Sept. 20, 1912, Mike Mijacich, an employe at the mine, claims that he sustained a permanent injury to his back. In district court today, suit for $3,000 damages was started against the Crete Mining company, operators of the mine. Mijacich alleges that his injury was due to the negligence of the company.

Superior

FEBRUARY SUN HELPS START BLAZE

A glass container with colored water used to decorate the front windows of a drug store and the slanting rays of a hot afternoon's sun started a fire in the window of Priest's pharmacy, 1012 Tower avenue, yesterday afternoon.

A handy seltzer bottle liberally used by the clerk extinguished the fire.

RULES TAX IS PAYABLE AT SOURCE

High Court Upholds Decree Against Allouez Dock Company.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—Affirming the judgment in the case of the city of Superior against the Allouez Bay Dock company, the supreme court yesterday held that the income tax of a corporation is properly payable in the locality in which it is situated and not at the state capital.

The company, a subsidiary of the Great Northern railroad, refused to pay an income tax of $100,310.04 assessed against it in Douglas county, on the grounds that it was directly responsible to the state. It demurred to the city of Superior's complaint brought to compel payment.

FOURTH MAN NOW IN MAYORALTY RACE

James R. Hile, a resident of Superior for twenty-five years and present circuit court reporter, has entered the mayoralty field and will be one of the candidates against Mayor J. S. Konkel this spring. This so far makes it certain that at least four men will be in the race, the others being Mayor Konkel, Alex J. McRae and E. T. Harris, the Socialist nominee. It is expected that at least four more will file their nomination petitions before the last day, March 4.

Wife-Beater Insane.

Charles Malm, who last week was arrested on a charge of wife beating, was yesterday examined as to his sanity and adjudged insane. He was taken to the Mendota asylum.

EMERGENCY FUND TO FIGHT HOG CHOLERA

State Officials Draw on Treasury for Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Acting under the statute giving authority to the governor, the state auditor and the state treasurer to appropriate money in cases of emergency, these officials today agreed to set aside $15,000 from the general revenue funds of the state to continue the manufacture of hog cholera serum at the university college of agriculture until the 1914-1915 appropriation is available on Aug. 1 next.

This action was taken after a conference at the governor's office this morning, attended by Governor Eberhart, State Auditor Iverson, Deputy Treasurer E. L. Erickson, acting for State Treasurer Walter J. Smith, President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota, Dean A. F. Woods of the college of agriculture, Comptroller George H. Hayes of the university and Attorney General Smith.

MINE OWNERS HEARD IN COLORADO PROBE

Clash Over Federal and State Interests Marks Trinidad Hearing.

Trinidad, Colo., Feb. 25.—Testimony for the mine owners was continued today in the congressional investigation of the Colorado coal miners' strike.

It is expected that the presentation of the employers' side of the case will take up all the rest of this week. Frank E. Gove, attorney for the Victor-American Fuel company, stated that more than 100 witnesses were ready to testify for the operators, but that the testimony would be carefully selected and witnesses eliminated whose stories are found to be duplicates of those already told on the stand.

A clash over the right of a congressional committee to inquire into charges of corruption in local and state elections and involving far-reaching issues of state and Federal jurisdiction led to the most dramatic scenes thus far witnessed in the investigation.

At the end of two hours of wrangling, in the course of which the committee once completely reversed its ruling on the admissibility of evidence relating to alleged political corruption in Las Animas and Huerfano counties, the session was adjourned with the understanding that such evidence, in a limited amount and held strictly to matters within the personal knowledge of the witnesses, would be heard.

LOTOSKY GETS TWO YEARS FOR FRAUD

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 25.—Elias Lotosky, recently arrested at Grand Rapids, Wis., on a charge of defrauding numerous persons of this province out of hundreds of dollars while posing as a steamship agent, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary today. It is also said that he was wanted in New York.

PASTOR IS INJURED IN STOPPING FIGHT

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 25.—Rev. F. L. Brooks, pastor of the Summerfield Methodist Episcopal church, is nursing a broken arm and other injuries received when he attempted to stop a fight between two teams of basket ball players on the floor of the church gymnasium last night. The minister was rushed across the floor and roughly handled, but stuck it out with the warring factions until they separated.

BECKER WILL HUNT ROSENTHAL SLAYERS

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 25.—As soon as Charles Becker gets out of prison, he will devote all his energies, he said, to running down the men who are responsible for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. The former New York police lieutenant, who was granted a new trial yesterday for the Rosenthal murder, declared today that he could furnish information which would bring the real culprits to justice.

"After I have done that," said Becker, "I shall be willing to go back to the police department, if they want me."

ELLIS IS DENIED CHILDREN'S PRESENCE

Chicago, Feb. 25.—William Cheney Ellis, former Cincinnati leather merchant, charged with murdering his wife in a Chicago hotel last October, became dejected in court today when he heard that the Cincinnati court had refused to permit his children to be taken to him.

He had planned to bring them here by a writ of habeas corpus. While he was bemoaning their absence, Judge Petit, presiding in the murder trial, sharply scored a county physician who was in doubt whether he could be present as a witness for the defense if called on.

"You will answer the subpoena of this court," said Judge Petit, "or you will remain here till you are needed."

Ellis sat unmoved through the incident.

H. A. Salter, a room clerk at the hotel in which Mrs. Ellis was shot, told of sending the house detective to the room after being telephoned by Mrs. Ebersole, who had been told on the telephone by Ellis that he and his wife were dying.

The state sought to show that Ellis had no intention of killing himself, and introduced testimony to prove that the door of the Ellis apartments was unlocked when the house detective entered.

ADMITS THE MONROE MIGHT HAVE ESCAPED

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—Capt. Berry of the steamship Nantucket, admitted on the witness stand today in his trial before the local Federal steamboat inspector on charges of negligence in causing the collision with the steamer Monroe, that if he had stopped his ship when he first heard the Monroe's whistle the disaster, which cost forty-one lives, might have been averted.

"I suppored he was stopped, and that I could easily pass him," Capt. Berry explained.

Under cross-examination of Solicitor Thurman of the department of commerce and labor, the captain further admitted that his judgment was in error when he guessed he could see a mile ahead in the fog.

Capt. Berry contended in his testimony that the Monroe was out of her course. He said he maintained a speed of about 12½ knots through the fog after he heard the Monroe's whistle, up to within a minute of the collision.

REHEARING DENIED TO LEO M. FRANK

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 25.—The supreme court of Georgia today refused to grant a rehearing on the unsuccessful appeal for a new trial for Leo M. Frank of Brooklyn, N. Y., under death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan.

MAJOR ON TRIAL FOR BAD CONDUCT

New London, Conn., Feb. 25.—Taking of testimony began today before the court-martial at Fort Terry, Plum Island, in the trial of Maj. Benjamin M. Koehler, former commandant at the fort, on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The trial is behind closed doors. Lieut. Austin G. Frick, Sergt. Barrett and a private at the fort are among the witnesses.

CHICAGO MURDER LAID TO BEGGAR

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Healy, wife of a wealthy druggist, was slain with a bread knife in the kitchen of her home yesterday. Mrs. Healy, the police believe, was the victim of a beggar whom she refused to feed. The bloodstained knife and a pair of cheap cotton gloves were found on the floor beside Mrs. Healy.

Mrs. Healy was found by her husband, when he returned home for dinner. Although still alive, she was unable to speak and died without making a statement.

VALUABLE COURT RECORDS ARE GONE

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 25.—Court records which are irreplaceable and which officially record steps in litigation over property worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, have disappeared from the vaults in the courthouse here, Clerk of Court Hamilton discovered today. Scores of big cases are affected.

The clerk made the discovery in trying to locate the papers in the MacDonald Lumber company assignment in 1890, the facts therein cited being wanted as proof in a case now pending in Clark county. He found a part of the file in a heap of rubbish after a three-day search. Part of it had disappeared altogether, and in his search he found that the files in many other cases were gone.

The matter will be reported to the county board at its March meeting.

Steamer Hits Warship.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 25.—Two of the six-inch guns of the battleship Ohio were damaged when the British steamer Atherstone, outward bound, rammed the port side of the warship yesterday. The damage was said to be slight. A board of inquiry has been ordered.

ON THE IRON RANGES

MANY YEOMEN AT VIRGINIA AFFAIR

Joint Class Adoption and Banquet Are Held.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Several hundred Yeomen from all over the range attended the joint class adoption of the homesteads of Virginia, Eveleth, Gilbert and Kinney at the Moose hall last night. A class of over fifty candidates were initiated, the work being done by the ladies' drill team, which also exemplified the Black Knight work. W. E. Davy of Des Moines, Iowa, chief correspondent; J. H. Murphy of St. Paul, state manager; Ada L. Garland of Superior, supreme sentinel; P. F. Harouff, district manager, and B. F. Fowler of Two Harbors assisted in the work. A banquet was given at the New Fay hotel following the initiatory exercises.

Banquet Program.

Arnold McKenzie presided and the following program was carried out: Invocation, P. F. Harouff; greeting, J. W. Trimble, Virginia; guests' response, J. H. Murphy, St. Paul; "Duty of Officers and Men," Ada L. Garland, Superior; "Yeomanry," W. E. Davy, Des Moines; "Progress of Range Yeomanry," P. R. Harouff, Two Harbors; "Fraternity," B. F. Fowler, Two Harbors. Short addresses were also made by Thomas Sharp, Gilbert; Isaac Grange, Eveleth; Mrs. Dorothy Morse, Kinney, and John A. Prince, Virginia. A dance at the Moose hall following the banquet closed one of the most successful lodge affairs ever held on the range. From here the officers went to Two Harbors, where a similar meeting will be held.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR VILLAGE HEAD

Twenty-two Aspirants in All File for Chisholm Offices.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the filing of candidates completed at the closing hour for filing at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the official ballot will contain the names of four candidates for president, ten for trustee, four for recorder, three for treasurer and one for constable, as follows:

President—Gust Anderson, Joseph Austin, Matt Borin, Henry Fugere.

Trustee—Edward Ahonen, F. W. Anderson, Frank Bay, Thomas H. Dunlevy, Matt Jaasko, J. P. Jackse, J. H. McNiven, Anton Mahne, Leo C. Mitchell and Carl J. Peterson.

Recorder—William Conley, B. E. Culver, M. J. Thompson, C. Minty Tramontin.

Treasurer—Charles E. French, Frank Gouze, Phil Grennler.

Constable—A. H. McDougal.

These twenty-two candidates are for the most part running independently, although there is already a disposition on the part of some of them to merge their strength. Political hopesters believe that a number of the candidates will withdraw before election. The only offices carrying pay are the recorder's and treasurer's.

MUCH WATER PIPE TO BE LAID THIS YEAR

Hibbing Water and Light Board Plans on Doing Much Work.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local activity this year was forecasted last evening at the meeting of the water and light board when the secretary was instructed to call for bids on 10,000 feet of water pipe to be laid in Alice, and conduits for more than twenty blocks of White Way to be installed on Second and Fourth avenues, and on the cross streets between First and Fifth avenues, and considered bids for the drilling of the two wells to be sunk on the land south of the village, against which condemnation proceedings have already been started. The bids for the well work were laid on the table, and it is claimed that a second attempt will be made, all being above the estimates that had been prepared.

The work that is to be done in Alice will be carried on in connection with the laying of the sewer that is already under way. The two pipes will be laid in the same trench, cutting down the expense of installation materially.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN.

Give Affair at Tower for Sophomores of High School.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The juniors of the Tower High school entertained the sophomores in the high school reception hall, which was prettily decorated in red, white and blue crepe paper, flags and pennants, the party being a Washington birthday affair. The number present was thirty, including teachers. After a pleasant evening of games and music, a delicious lunch was served by the junior girls.

The W. G. Class of the Presbyterian Sunday school held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. A. Ericson. The meeting was spent sewing dresses for children in an India missionary school. After the sewing was completed lunch was served.

Miss Ethel Burgess gave a 6 o'clock dinner in honor of the Misses Lugenia Jeffery and Elizabeth Olson. Others present were Misses Minnie Campaigne, Emma Schade, Ruth Hewitt and E. Burgess.

The Misses Alberta and Minta Ritto entertained at their home on Monday evening. Those invited were the Misses Irene and Mildred Ross, Alice, Lenora and Lillian Murphy, Evelyn Peterson, Jeanne and Helene Gallieu, Hazel Martin and Maud Powell.

VIRGINIANS USING WATER TOO FREELY

Letting Taps Run to Prevent Freezing Blamed for Shortage.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many complaints have been made during the present winter as to low water pressure, many consumers claiming that it was impossible at times to get water. The matter was taken up by the city council last night and Mayor Murphy stated that the cause of the trouble lay in the fact that many owners and tenants of buildings keep the water running to prevent the taps from freezing. He said that 1,500,000 gallons an hour are being pumped and that this should be ample to furnish a sufficient pressure to supply every consumer. The water and light commission will be asked to take immediate steps to correct the trouble.

Two propositions for the furnishing to the city of a pulmotor were received, one from Floid Fuller of Duluth and the other from Noyes Bros. & Cutler of St. Paul. The figures submitted by both were the same amounted to $190 delivered in Virginia. The matter was referred to the police and fire commission with the recommendation that they purchase the instrument.

A communication was read from Louis B. Walton of the architectural department of the state university in which he assured the council that as soon as it was determined what sort of a building would be required for the proposed municipal garbage house he would be glad to give every assistance in his power.

To Collect Back Taxes.

The city will collect taxes on the south half of Virginia lake for the years 1896 to 1911, inclusive. This land had not been placed on the assessment roll for the years named and City Attorney Morgan informed the council that the taxes for those years could be put on next year's roll and collected.

John Costin, Jr., Thomas Gill, Joseph Roinan, J. E. Hanson and Alexander Reid were named to appraise the value of lands south and southwest of the city, which it is sought to acquire by condemnation proceedings for sanitary sewer purposes.

SHOWS PROFICIENCY IN MANUAL TRAINING

Night Class Maintained in Chisholm School Displays Talent.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Talent in manual training is displayed by the night classes of that department. Three nights per week are devoted to the department and the class being made up of married men as well as regular students of the school is productive of many useful and artistic household pieces. Foot stools, roll top desks, plant pedestals, chairs, library tables, kitchen cabinets, sideboards, dressers, etc., are turned out. The class has twenty-five students, who are very punctual in attendance and the students often have to wait to get to some of the machines. The various machines are motor driven and the demand for these machines is such that they are kept busy during all of the time the class is in session from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

The domestic science night class has about twelve members, some of whom are outside of the school work but are taking a keen interest in the work.

A drawing class in connection with the manual training is proving an interesting feature.

WOMAN IS ACQUITTED.

Jury Holds Ethel McCarthy Did Not Rob Man in Chisholm.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—After being out but a few hours the jury in the case of State vs. Ethel McCarthy, charged with grand larceny in the second degree, returned a verdict of not guilty. She was charged with having met the complaining witness in Adam Peyton's saloon at Chisholm, and taking him upstairs, where it was claimed she took money from his pocket.

The case of Whitfield Helmer against his brother, Mose Helmer, started yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff claims possession of a team of horses and wagon which he asserts was given him in payment of a wage account. Attorney Austin appears for the defendant, and V. L. Power for the plaintiff.

WOODSMAN FALLS ON AX.

Badly Cut and Brought to Chisholm for Treatment.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Maki, working in Hackett & Parks' camp north of Buhl, received a very painful though not serious wound in the neck as the result of falling upon the sharp blade of an axe which he was carrying on his shoulder. He was brought here for treatment and will be able to return to work within a month. While walking along the roadway he fell and the axe struck his neck cutting a gash several inches long.

DULUTHIANS WILL BOWL AT HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth Elcora Bowling team has arranged for a game with the local Maras quintet for next Saturday evening, and local pin spillers are looking forward to seeing an interesting match. The Duluth men are making the trip purely for pleasure, W. A. Kethel and Mr. Ratkovic who are interested in having friends in this village. The five men who will represent Duluth are Piering, Whitney, Seller, Allorson and Kamp.

Foley Joins Virginia Team.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 25.—Bill Foley will leave for Virginia, Minn., to take up the offer that was given to him about two weeks ago. Mr. Foley has decided to play with the Virginia team rather than stay here to play local ball. Mr. Foley is a well known Calumet young man, especially among the baseball fans.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

MUCH PULPWOOD IS NOW BEING RECEIVED

Large Amount Docked at Two Harbors Preparatory to Boat Season.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pulpwood business here is at its best, and George Spurbeck in charge of the unloading and piling is kept busy with a large crew of men handling it as it is received here from the various shippers on the iron range. An average of 25 cars is received each day, making an average of 325 cords which is handled here daily and made ready to be shipped down the lakes as soon as navigation opens.

Local pulpwood receipts this winter are expected to pass all previous years' by several thousands cords. It is estimated that around 25,000 cords will be docked here before the shipping season is over.

Some Big Shippers.

By far the bulk of the pulpwood is shipped in over the Iron Range from various places although some is hauled in by farmers living in this locality. N. B. Schank & Co. of Summitt are the main shippers. M. R. Hannula of Rilze is also a very heavy shipper. Others who ship much of the pulpwood to this port are: Wester Halforn of Hornby; George Berry of Rollins; Charles Smedberg of Skibo; William Maki of Reno; Joseph Sedell of Reno; Hoffren & Koski of Skibo, and Nick Karl of Ridge.

While the shipping has only recently gained a healthy stride the pulpwood has been coming in slowly since early in the fall and at present it is estimated that about 8,000 cords has been received and docked so far this winter. As soon as navigation opens the pulpwood will be shipped to the Hammermill Paper company at Erie, Pa.

Besides the large receipts at this port the receipts at Knife River will also be very heavy this winter. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 12,000 cords will be docked at that port this winter. The pulpwood is brought into Knife River over the Duluth & Northern Minnesota railway from shippers on that line.

GETS $100 VERDICT FOR DEATH OF DOG

Miss Dahl Recovers Amount Sued for Before Virginia Judge.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Carey in municipal court today decided that Miss Dahl was entitled to recover $100 and costs from the Mesaba Electric Railway company for the loss of her dog, killed by a car of the company here in March last year.

The judge heard the case yesterday afternoon, R. Dahl, a brother of the plaintiff, appearing in her behalf and A. Mac. Washburn of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell for the company. The court reserved judgment until today, when he decided the plaintiff was entitled to the full amount sued for.

It is not known whether the company will appeal.

AWAITING DECISION.

Ruling in Eveleth Mayoralty Case Is Looked for.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Terald.)—Eveleth people are hoping for an early decision in district court in the election contest case of Saari against Gleason, involving the local mayoralty which was submitted some time ago. The constitutionality of the corrupt practice act having been raised the attorney general asked the judge to be allowed to file a brief upholding that act because of the far-reaching effect if the act were declared unconstitutional, and the understanding here is the district judge at Duluth having the matter under advisement is awaiting the filing of the brief by the attorney general before making his ruling.

Whichever way the judge decides it is expected the case will go to the supreme court.

SEEKING RE-ELECTION.

H. A. Holmes of Coleraine Out for Iron Range Township Clerk.

Coleraine, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local political pot is beginning to simmer. The latest announcement is H. A. Holmes of Coleraine for re-election as clerk of Iron Range township. His popularity in this mining district won a former election and his administration of the duties, his friends say, makes one term well deserve another.

There have been no other announcements of candidates for this position.

HIBBING COUNCIL MEET POSTPONED

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the absence of Mayor Power and Trustee Geiselman, the council meeting which was scheduled for last evening was postponed until Friday afternoon, when several important matters are to be considered.

VIRGINIA CLUB HAS DISCUSSION

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Which, a Y. M. C. A. or a Municipal Gymnasium? Why?" was discussed by the Men's Fortnightly club at its first meeting last evening in the clubrooms of the public library. The discussion was led by C. E. Hendrick, E. D. McNeil and A. F. Benson, several others taking part. A paper was read by Dr. Henry E. Michelson, school physician on "School Health Here and Elsewhere," and another by Dr. J. M. Fisher on "A Visiting Nurse." The matter of effecting a permanent organization was deferred until a meeting to be held two weeks from tonight, when the nominating committee will submit a list of officers for the approval of the club.

Physician Gives Recipe For Gray Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Author Gives Simple Home Recipe That Will Darken Gray Hair.

Dr. Stanton Burroughs, the well-known physician and author, recently made the following statement: "Gray hair can be easily darkened by the following simple recipe which you can mix at home: To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. bay rum and ¼ oz. glycerine. Apply it to the hair every other day until the desired shade is obtained. It not only is an excellent hair darkener but at the same time removes dandruff and other ills of the scalp. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost.

CHISHOLM FAMILY IS FOUND DESTITUTE

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friends of Mrs. Marta Galovich, living on the Monroe road, reported to the authorities that she was in destitute circumstances as a result of her husband, Pete Galovich, having deserted her and their three small children some two months ago taking with him all the money they had. Officer W. E. Talboys investigated and arranged for temporary relief. It was found that no fuel or provisions were in the house and she was otherwise facing starvation.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ladies of the Methodist church entertained several hundred people at their birthday party, which was one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the social life of the church. A program of music began the evening and was followed by tableaux, in which colonial scenes were depicted.

Rev. J. B. A. Idstrom of the Swedish Lutheran church is expected to return today from Minneapolis, where he attended the annual conference of the Swedish Lutherans.

Dr. F. C. Coolbaugh conducted a special service Sunday morning appropriate to the national day, and in honor of George Washington.

Rev. E. W. Blayer, pastor of the Mahoning street M. E. church, returned Saturday evening from Salem, Mo., where he was called by the illness and death of his aged mother.

Hibbing Church Notes.

May Promote Downing.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. E. Downing, for the past three years connected with the Shenango Furnace company, has been placed in temporary charge of the mine, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of John A. Savage. It is reported that Mr. Downing will be given the general superintendency.

Fine Embarrass Dance.

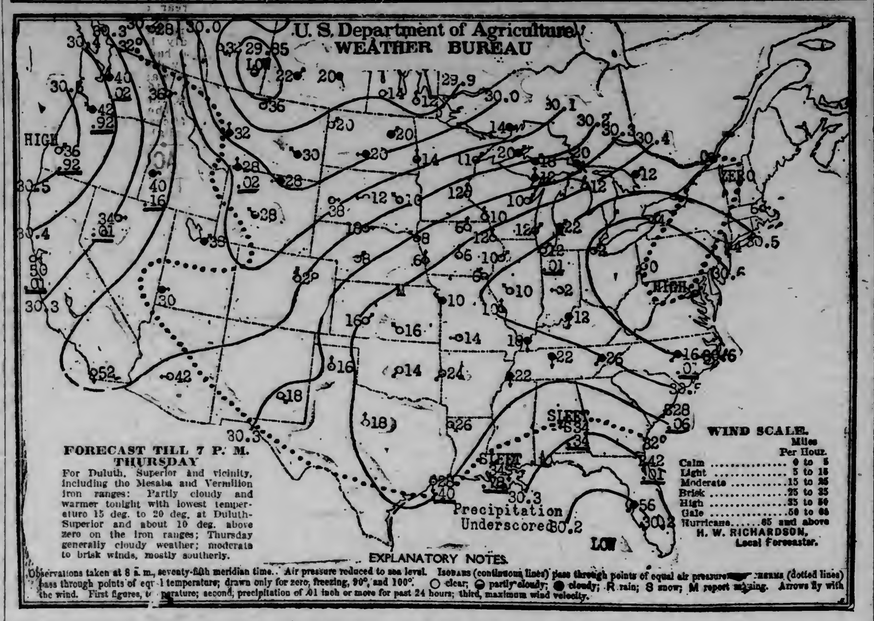

Embarrass, Minn., Feb. 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Embarrass Dancing club gave a successful dance Saturday evening, participated in by local people and several from outside points. An orchestra from Virginia furnished the music.

WOULD MAKE M. D. DEGREE HARDER.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—A higher standard for the degree of doctor of medicine was raised in the report of Dr. N. P. Colwell, secretary of the council on medical education at the conference of American Medical association. The council has been investigating graduate medical schools and has concluded, Dr. Colwell said, that more efficient physicians can be developed only by making their degree more difficult.

The report was discussed by Dr. H. W. Hill, president of the University of Missouri; Dr. Horace D. Arnold of the Harvard university graduate school; Dr. Elias P. Lyon, dean of the medical school of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. R. W. Powell, registrar of the medical council of Canada.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

The change from the bitter cold of a few days past to the milder atmosphere seems to be suiting most people in view of the fact that the snow is staying. Ten above was the worst landed out during the night; and that is the worst promised for tonight.

It was clear and crisp a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:56 and will set at 5:47 this evening, giving ten hours and fifty-two minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Cold weather continues in Atlantic states and the extreme South except Florida. Freezing temperature occurred last night southward to and including the whole of the following states: New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, Mississipi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina. Sleet occurred at Galveston last night and at New Orleans this morning. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over South Atlantic and Gulf states, Northern California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and Idaho."

General Forecasts.

vessels and was held up because her flag was not showing plainly, and the other was approaching the Olympia at night with a message and was not promptly identified.

Thought Action Unfriendly.

The German admiral felt that Admiral Dewey's action was decidedly unfriendly. He sent his flag lieutenant, Von Hintze, to make a formal protest against the action of the McCullough in halting the German cruiser Irene in order to learn her identity. This, said the German admiral, was the incident incorrectly attributed to hte Cormorant by Admiral Dewey.

The American admiral retaliated with an announcement that no ship, commercial or naval, would be allowed to pass his lines. He then announced his intention of sending an officer on board every warship arriving in the bay "to make inquiry and to establish her identity."

The word "inquiry" apparently aroused the ire of the German admiral, who identified it even today with a claim to the right to cross-examine any German commander.

Talked With Englishman.

Admiral von Diederichs said he discussed the situation with the British commander, and told him that he would shoot any officer attempting to carry out this order of Admiral Dewey.

A substantial victory for the Germans was claimed by Admiral von Diederichs in the final settlement, by which any arriving warship was to report itself to the American commander and afterwards was required only to show its flag.

According to the German admiral, his call on the Spanish authorities was justified, inasmuch as no blockade had been formally proclaimed.

Before leaving Manila, Admiral von Diederichs and Admiral Dewey exchanged presents and cordial letters, burying the hatchet and blaming the newspapers for the friction. Admiral von Diederichs said he had hoped the affair had been forgotten, and Admiral Dewey's action in reviving the controversy in an erroneous statement was a matter of surprise and regret to him.

"Latent Mistrust."

Admiral von Diederichs attributed the troubles between the Germans and the Americans largely to malicious reports in the English papers in China and the absence of definite regulations governing the blockade and the movements of foreign warships. He indicated, however, that a latent mistrust was responsible in a measure.

He was desirous of co-operating with and supporting Admiral Dewey from the beginning, he said, but the American admiral's fondness for Capt. Chichester, in command of the British squadron, and the time Admiral Dewey spent with the British officers, kept him from seeing as much of Admiral Dewey as he would have wished.

The foundation of the trouble was laid with the arrival of the first German cruiser, the Irene. It was reported in Manila that the Irene's band played the Spanish anthem when passing the American squadron, which was interpreted to mean that the Germans were coming to take the Spanish side. As a matter of fact, said the admiral, the band played the American anthem, but the erroneous version reached the American saliors and excited ill feeling.

Explains Presence There.

The concentration of the German squadron in Manila bay, to which Admiral Dewey objected was due, according to Admiral von Diederichs, to a purely fortuitous chain of circumstances. He believed German interests at Manila would be adequately protected by the small cruisers Irene and Cormorant and planned to concentrate the balance of his squadron at Tsing Tao. The emperor, however, sent a cable message to him to proceed to Manila and assume personal charge.

Mildly, but very decidedly, Admiral von Diederichs declared the account of the incidents, as related in the Dewey autobiography, contains many errors, which he attributed to defective memory of the events, or misinformation obtained from subordinates.

cept the sum of $30,000 which had been raised on behalf of the victims of the Calumet disaster.

He said Moyer replied that it was a matter for the people themselves to decide whether they would take the money. He refused to give a statement to the newspapers urging them to do so. He promised, however, to call up the secretaries of the various locals and to urge them not to discuss the Calumet disaster. He was in the act of calling the secretaries when the attack came.

Cruse Had Just Left.

Sheriff Cruse and his deputy, Block, left the room after the committee and Tanner said they had not been gone more than two or three minutes when the mob entered.

"Did not Moyer say he believed the shooting to have been accidental?" was asked.

"He did not say so to me."

"Did either you or Mr. Moyer offer any resistance?" asked Chairman Taylor.

"We didn't have time," said Tanner. "Moyer thought it was the same committee coming back."

Charles D. Heitala, secretary-treasurer of the local union, testified as to the number of men on strike and said 5,961 were receiving benefits.

He declared the majority of these men are heads of families and estimated that more than 36,000 were dependent on strike benefits.

Says Abbey Forbade Parades.

Dan Sullivan, district president of the Copper Mine Workers' union, told the congressional investigators today that soldiers had broken up strikers' parades in Hancock and on two occasions in September, he said, Gen. Abbey had warned him that the parades must stop.

Maj. Pepper, of counsel for the militia, objected when Attorney Hilton, for the miners, asked the witness if he had ever seen any members of the militia drunk. The committee permitted Sullivan to say that he had seen a national guardsman under the influence of liquor in Hancock on Saturday night in September.

"A veteran of the Civil war took hold of the soldier's arm and told him not to disgrace the uniform," said Sullivan.

Sullivan denied on cross-examination that the strikers on parade ever interfered with non-union men going to work, or yelled "scab" at them.

Other union officers and organizers testified that the militia had broken up strikers' parades in other parts of the copper district.

Attorneys for the striking copper miners today neared the end of the testimony which they expected to present before the congressional committee that is investigating the strike.

Evidence to show that the transportation of United States mail had been interfered with as the result of strike activities on the part of the deputies and sympathizers with the mine owners, was presented yesterday. All of the witnesses but one testified for the strikers.

Told of Mail Troubles.

After two strikers had testified that they were unable to get their mail at Mohawk postoffice on Dec. 10, because the postmaster had closed the office and had gone to Calumet to participate in the Citizens' alliance parade, Wainto Hiltunen, aged 18, clerk in the postoffice, was subpoenaed as the committee's witness. He said the office was closed at noon on that date, and mail arriving in the afternoon was not distributed until the next day. Art E. Foley, the postmaster, had shut up the office to march in the parade, he declared.

Joseph Dunnigan, who said he had a contract with the government to carry mail to the train at Ahmeek, testified that on Dec. 17 last, deputies delayed the mail by holding it at the train in a tent.

A striker living at South Range, Sanderle Hluepenaa, testifed that he was stopped by deputies while on his way to the postoffice at Painesdale on Dec. 8. On cross-examination the witness admitted that the road on which he was arrested was on company ground, but that it was the only road in general use. He said he was on his way to mail a letter.

Kept in Guarded House.

Nearing the end of their case, the strikers offered witnesses on subjects already covered. Harry Best of Harrison, Mich., testified that he came here a month ago among a carload of strikebreakers to work in the Osceola mine. He tried to leave the train at Flint, he said, and was prevented by deputies. At the mine the strikebreakers were kept in a guarded bunkhouse, he said, and were not permitted to leave.

The witness said he was assaulted by a trammer boss and so badly hurt that he was ill for five days. He had the boss arrested, and the case had not come to trial.

Several witnesses testified as to alleged assaults made upon them by deputies and soldiers.

Representatives of the National Guard decided to offer evidence in answer to the strikers' charges, provided the governor approved.

"Saw Soldiers Drunk."

Appearing as a voluntary witness when the strikers announced they had presented all their complaints against the militia, Kendall T. Parker, painter and decorator, declared that he frequently had seen soldiers drunk in Hancock. On two occasions, he said, he had assisted intoxicated militiamen to camp.

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever, in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright, red blood. Thin blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every hour of the day and night. But fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up the oxygen which it gives. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the lassitude, palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You must have pure, rich blood to enjoy complete health. A booklet "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

HAND MAIDS FILE SUIT.

Bring Action Against Northern Concreting Company for $958.

The Northern Contracting company and Runquist & Barnard, contractors, are defendants in an action filed yesterday in district court by the Poor Hand Maids of Jesus Christ, a Catholic organization, which is in charge of the St. Francis hospital, Superior, in which it is sought to recover $958.25. It is alleged that the defendants collected that amount belonging to the organization as hospital bills, but that they have failed to remit. The transactions cover a period between July 1, and Dec. 20, 1913.

Rupture Cured At Home

Old Sea Captain Cured Himself by Simple Means Within Reach of All Sufferers.

His Remedy and Big Interesting Book Sent Free to All Sufferers.

If Captain Collings could cure himself of a double rupture that kept him bed-ridden for years, by a simple means of his own invention, why cannot you achieve the same blessed result by doing as he did? You can't be much, if any, worse off than this old seafarer was, for no truss could hold his rupture. Doctors told him he must be operated upon or die. Yet he cured himself absolutely and his big, free book tells how.

"Blast my toplights! I can dance the hornpipe as well as if I'd never been ruptured!"

Why should you continue to go through life with the awful handicap of a rupture? Why be annoyed and embarrassed by awkward, uncomfortable and ineffective trusses that are only makeshifts at the best? Why be denied so many of the pleasures and joys of life because the slightest violent exertion may cause the truss to slip and the rupture to displace?

Do not put up with these things. Get Captain Collings' absorbingly interesting book and his free Remedy that is so generously offered to those who suffer as he did for so long. Costs you not a penny—places you under no obligation whatever. Just clip and mail the coupon below and receive book and remedy free of all charge and prepaid.

WHEAT UP ON GOOD BUYING

Market Advances on Strong Cash Situation and Export Trade.

Flaxseed Has Fair Upturn With Active Demand Through Session.

The Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 25.—The market was slightly easier at the close. May wheat closed ¼c up and July ¼c up. May durum closed ¼c up and July ⅛c up.

Oats closed ⅜c up at 38¼@38⅜c. Rye closed unchanged at 56c for the best grade and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 37¼c and July at 38⅜c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 92⅜c bid and calls at 92⅝c bid.

Wheat took another upward turn today as a result of the strong cash situation and advices of substantial export business in hard winter wheat. Liverpool and all the European markets were higher, in line with further unfavorable Argentine crop reports and firmness of Australian offers.

Against these bullish conditions, Bradstreet's world's visible report showed a decrease of only 945,000 bu in the week, making supplies stand at 199,082,000 bu. The corn visible decrease was also nominal at 56,000 bu, and oats decreased 1,486,000 bu.

There was news of wheat exports from every quarter. Chicago reported 170,000 bu hard winter sold for export. Boston advised that space for twenty loads had been taken for March delivery at Liverpool. Kansas City wired that one of the largest houses there had sold wheat for export. Baltimore reported the working of some Manitoba wheat, and New York advised that space had been engaged for wheat to go to Europe.

Of the 939 cars of wheat received at Minneapolis yesterday, ninety-three were winter wheat, the first consignment of 500,000 bu bought to arrive there.

There was a good cash demand for wheat here at the May price with the mills bidding for everything coming in. Receipts here are expected to show improvement within the next few days, as a result of the advance in quotations. Farmers offerings were advised today to be fair volume at some points in the West.

May wheat opened unchanged at 93½c and gained ½c up to final hour. The July option opened unchanged at 94⅜c and advanced ¾c. Durum also shared in the betterment after a weak opening. The May option opened ½c off at 93⅜c and it advanced ⅜c.

Flaxseed Turns Stronger.

The market in flaxseed was strong throughout the session under the impetus of substantial buying. Crushers were in the market, steadily picking up lots to cover current requirements. The close was off from the top. Shipments of the seed from the elevators here down to Minneapolis are a feature of the situation. This is the first time in years that such shipments have been made at this season, and it is brought about through the current light receipts.

The seed closed 1½c higher at Antwerp today; ¾c up at Buenos Ayres and unchanged at London.

May flax opened at $1.57 and it advanced on steady buying to a close of $1.57¾, or ¾c up. The July option opened ¼c up at $1.58¾ and it closed ⅞c higher, at $1.59¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.37⅞ and July at $1.40½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Baker received the following wire from Chicago: "Cables are unchanged to ¼d lower. Cargo demand abroad was reported as excellent. The domestic situation is unchanged with seasonable weather everywhere. The future action of the market still depends on whether foreigners keep on buying our cash wheat."

There was a little better demand for cash wheat at Minneapolis today, but premiums were unchanged. Elevators are picking up No. 1 northern at ½c over May, which checks any further decline. The mills are fair buyers of choice wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ½c to 2c over May and velvet chaff ½c to 1c over May. Flour continues quiet with the demand limited to small lots in scattered territory. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 93c to 95c and No. 2 northern at from 90¾c to 93c.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: "There have been no developments to indicate damage to winter wheat or freedom therefrom. It will take some growing weather to ascertain the actual conditions. If winter lingers longer than usual and March should subject the wheat to unusual conditions there is some reason for fear. But at present the winter wheat is in a watchful waiting position. Hog packing West in the week ended Feb. 21 was 481,000 against 547,000 last week and 549,000 last year."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—The disappointing American cables and easier feeling in Winnipeg were offset by a good over-night cargo demand and at the opening there was some support with values unchanged. Later there was a disposition for profits and prices declined ⅛@¼d on expected larger arrivals and the weather in the American winter wheat belt. Toward midday speculative support developed and part of the decline was recovered with sellers firm on firmness in Australian offers and continued unfavorable reports from Argentine. At 1:20 p. m. the market was dull but steady, unchanged to ⅛d lower.

"Corn was nominally ¼d higher. American firmness and light arrivals were factors but Argentine weather is favorable and crop prospects are excellent. Mildness with general thawing prevails in Russia and Southern Europe and there are fears of a return of cold weather which would result in severe damage.

Argentine reports regarding wheat are becoming pessimistic and lack of offerings from the interior with poor quality is causing anxiety.

Referring to the world's crop, Broomhall says: "In revising my estimates of the world's crop made necessary by the light present promise in both Argentine and India and reckoning that yield in Russia approximately 160,000,000 bu more than last year, I arrived at a grand total of 3,688,000,000 bu against 3,632,000,000 bu last year. Earlier this season I estimated the yield of the world at 160,000,000 bu over last year."

The visible supply of wheat in Europe this week is estimated to amount to 82,320,000 bu, against 79,784,000 bu last week, thus showing an increase of 2,536,000 bu. Last week there was an increase of 2,288,000 bu and last year an increase of 700,000 bu, when the total amounted to 80,900,000 bu.

Grain stocks at Duluth and at Port Arthur and Fort William compare favorably with those of last year. Though there is not as much grain afloat at either Head of the Lakes, the aggregate amount in store was approximately the same on Feb. 21 as a year ago. Stocks of all grains in elevators here aggregated 20,040,838 bu and there was afloat 1,934,602 bu. At Port Arthur and Fort William stocks in store at the end of last week were reported at 18,419,964 bu, and there was also afloat over there an aggregate of 7,393,690 bu of all grains.

It is said by Duluth vessel men that although the price of grain has been advancing during the last two weeks, there has not as yet been any active demand for tonnage. Grain prices here are now, however, getting nearer an export basis and it is regarded as probable that chartering of vessel space will begin soon.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Opens Unchanged and Advances on Export Reports.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 25.—The wheat market opened about unchanged today and advanced on reports of an improved export trade. The market continued strong through the morning.

Wheat—May opened, 92¼c; high, 92⅝c to 92⅜c; low, 92⅛@92¼c; closed, 92½c. July opened, 93½c; high, 94@94¼c; low, 93⅜@93½c; closed, 93¾@93⅞c bid. The flour trade remained quiet and steady. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 69,855 bbls. Barley, 43@65½c; rye, 54@55c; bran, $22.50.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Eases Off With Good Weather and Bearish Cables.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Wheat eased off today owing to favorable weather and to the fact that cables were disappointing to the bulls. There was a steadying influence, however, in foreign bids close to the market. Some attention also was given to the rapid rate at which elevator stocks were disappearing Northwest. Prices opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower, and after a temporary rally, seemed again inclined to sag.

Subsequently export sales here and elsewhere turned the market in favor of the bulls. Closing prices were easy, though at a net advance of a shade.

Corn hardened as a result of cold weather and the decreased visible supply. One of the largest houses here took a conspicuous hand in the buying. Opening figures, which varied from ⅛c off to a shade advance, were followed by a material upturn all around.

Assertions that farmers were not selling tended to sustain the advance. The close was nervous, ¼@⅜c to ¾c above last night.

Enlarged consumption of oats for feed gave confidence to bulls in oats. The market therefore readily sympathized with the corn bulge.

Provisions rose on account of the smallness of hog receipts. Initial sales were a shade to 7½c higher, and much of the gain ocntinued to be held.

EVERYTHING LOOKS FINE, DECLARES HILL

Railroad Man Not Considered for Federal Reserve Board.

Washington, Feb. 25.—James J. Hill talked with President Wilson today about business and said afterwards that the outlook for prosperity was bright and that things were moving.

Mr. Hill was mentioned recently as a probable selection for the Federal reserve board, but administration officials said today that he was not being considered in that connection.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Selling on Large Scale and Bears Hammer List Energetically.

Unfavorable Turn in Steel and Copper Industry Is Reported.

New York, Feb. 25.—Speculators sought to influence general selling today by uncovering weak spots, confining their efforts largely to the Southwestern railroad shares.

Increasing weakness of low-priced stocks and renewal of selling here for foreign account reacted on the market, which was generally lower, but losses at no time during the morning were severe. Stocks came principally from professional sources, although there was some outside selling from discouraged holders of long stock.

Bonds were easy.

Prices were generally lower at the opening of the market today. The market remained in an apathetic condition and recessions among the prominent stocks were slight. Mexican Petroleum and Missouri, Kansas & Texas lost nearly a point.

Weakness of the Southwestern group depressed the market more generally. Kansas & Texas fell 1½ and the preferred 3 points.

Active selling depressed the general level further after the midday. The popular shares reflected more emphatically the acute weakness of the low priced issues. Amalgamated, Union Pacific, the Hill stocks and Reading gave way about a point.

Professional selling ensued on a large scale on unconfirmed reports that definite developments would occur in the Mexican situation during the week. Losses of 1 to 2½ points were made in a large number of important stocks.

The market closed weak. Pressure was applied more vigorously because of the reported unfavorable turn in the steel and copper industry. Stocks were poured out in quantity and bears hammered the list energetically. Final figures showed losses of 1 to 3 points.

FACTS ABOUT THE TIDE.

New York Sun: To the ordinary lay mind the tides along our coast are most puzzling. He knows that the tides rise and fall twice in twenty-four hours and that this depends in some mysterious way on the moon. But if in his travels he sees a spot along the shore where there is no tide he is at a loss to account for it.

To be exact, there is only one ocean in the world where the tides follow the moon with regularity, and this is the great Antarctic basin. And the reason is that there is the only place a sweep of water is to be found that is entirely uninterrupted by land. The enormous waves caused by the moon's attraction courses round the world south of Cape Horn and the Cape of Good Hope, with absolutely nothing to break it. Here in our northern hemisphere great masses of land interrupt the tidal waves, and, combined with the shallowness of the inland seas, cause them to perform antics which seem most strange.

The depth of the water has much to do with the tidal irregularities. Out in the open ocean, where the tide is abysmal—about 5,000 fathoms—the speed of the waves is amazing. Where the depth decreases to five fathoms the tide cannot travel more than fifteen miles an hour. In England, for example, which is surrounded by narrow, land-broken seas, the result is that they get some of the most dangerous tidal races and currents to be found. The most formidable of these is the whirlpool between the islands of Jura and Scarba, on the west coast of Scotland. This is known as the "Caldron of the Spotted Seas."

There the current runs at times at the rate of more than twelve miles an hour, and the force of a heavy tidal current rushing up to the wide-mouthed river forms what is called a "bore." A most striking example of this tidal feature is often seen on the Amazon, when a moving wall of water, reaching from bank to bank and to a height of more than twenty feet, will rush inland.

THEY PASSED HIM.

Woman's Home Companion: The civil service examinations for the fire department of Chicago contained the following:

"Name three fire-extinguishers."

When the papers were returned for correction, an answer to the above was:

"Chief, lieutenant, and sergeant."

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred Dollars and interest at six per cent from September 12th, 1912, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James A. Kirkwood, Jr., Mortgagor, to William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at two o'clock P. M., as document No. 10126 and entered in Register of Titles No. 51, on page 142, and which mortgage covers lands originally registered on June 7, 1902, the certificate of title therefor being recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in Book 1, Register of Titles, page 4, according to the provisions of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws of 1905 and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

And whereas, The said William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees and Holders of said Mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Thirteen Hundred ($1,300.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 12th day of September, 1912, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot One (1), Block C, London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the Fourth day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Thirteen Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 16th, A. D. 1914.

HOW'S BUSINESS, MR. GROCER?

Could You Possibly Do Any More With Your Present Equipment?

Of course you could.

The question is, do you WANT more business if it may be had without expense to you.

You will answer "yes" to that, too.

On your shelves are many articles that are advertised all over the country by the makers. In Duluth these articles are advertised in The Herald.

There is a demand for these goods, and if you want to increase your business be sure your customers see these products prominently displayed in your windows and on your counters.

Push the advertised articles. Help the manufacturer who helps you. More profits will follow.

BECKER CASE GUNMEN ARE DOOMED TO DIE IN WEEK OF APRIL 13

Executive Clemency Only Thing That Can Intervene.

No Effort Made Yet to Get Governor Glynn to Act.

Becker's Removal From Sing Sing to Tombs Is Ordered.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Gyp the Blood, Lefty Louis, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank, the four gunmen jointly convicted with Former Police Lieut. Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, will be electrocuted during the week beginning April 13. The date was fixed by the court of appeals today, when the judges signed the four death warrants.

The exercise of executive clemency by Governor Glynn now is all that can prevent the death of the gunmen. No appeals for pardons have been received by the governor.

Becker to Leave Sing Sing.

New York, Feb. 26.—The formal order of the court of appeals, permitting the removal of Charles Becker from the death house at Sing Sing prison to the Tombs in this city, preparatory to a new trial on the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was filed here today. It was expected that Becker would eat his dinner tonight in the Tombs.

District Attorney Charles S. Whitman will not personally assume the responsibility of letting Charles Becker go free on the charge of murdering the gambler, Herman Rosenthal. The prosecutor's present intention is to move for a second trial of the former police lieutenant, whose conviction as Rosenthal's slayer was set aside by the state court of appeals.

It was reported that Mr. Whitman, feeling that he could not obtain a second conviction owing to the wording of the higher court's ruling concerning evidence presented at the first trial, planned to seek Becker's indictment on the charge of extortion and bribery instead, basing his allegations on information that as head of the "strong arms" squad, Becker mulcted gambling houses. Mr. Whitman, however, denied he had such a move in mind.

CO-EDS DRIVEN OUT BY DORMITORY FIRE

Men Students Rescue Girls and Then Fight Flames.

Gambier, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Many girl students, for the most part scantily clad, were rescued in zero weather early today when fire attacked Lewis Hall, the dormitory of Harcourt seminary. The fire was discovered shortly after 3 a. m. and already had gained considerable headway when male students began the work of rescue. After taking the girls to safety, efforts were directed to fighting the fire, which was under control half an hour later.

CHICAGO ELECTION OFFICIALS ACQUITTED

Five Found Not Guilty of Falsifying the Tally Sheets.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Five Republican and Democratic election officials accused of falsifying tally sheets in the election of November, 1912, were found not guilty by a jury today. The defendants were two Democratic judges of election, a Democratic committeeman and a Republican judge of election and Republican clerk. Several special grand juries have investigated the alleged frauds, which were charged to have been committed in the interest of municipal candidates.

The accused Democratic committeeman was Morris Abrahams, unsuccessful candidate for an aldermanic nomination in Tuesday's primaries. He was a saloon keeper and brother to the late "Mannie" Abrahams, alderman and former Illinois state legislator, who was one of the Democrats who voted for William Lorimer for United States senator.

SMALLPOX CARRIED TO SOCIETY PEOPLE

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 26.—On a charge of violating quarantine and spreading smallpox danger among numerous society families of La Crosse, Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner were brought into court today. They pleaded not guilty and their case was adjourned. Three children of the Wagners have smallpox and their home is quarantined. It is charged by the district attorney that both have broken quarantine, and that Mrs. Wagner particularly, who has been working by the day in houses where extra help was required, has exposed one family after another to the disease. Numerous prominent persons are under close observance for the detection of possible smallpox symptoms.

Trans-Atlantic Pool Renewed.

Hamburg, Feb. 26.—The continental shipping pool in which the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines are the principal parties concerned, was renewed today for a period of five years, all the questions in dispute between the companies engaged in the Trans-Atlantic trade having been settled.

MISCONDUCT LAID TO WASHINGTON JUDGE

DANIEL THEW WRIGHT.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Charges of irregularities and misconduct against Justice Daniel Thew Wright of the District supreme court here, who attracted national attention when he sentenced Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the labor leaders, to jail for contempt of court, were made in a petition filed with President Wilson today by Wade H. Cooper, president of two local savings banks.

The petition contained allegations of irregularities in the conduct of his court, and also of his personal conduct.

Justice Wright formerly was an officer in one of Cooper's banks. Disagreements over the management led to litigation and bitter controversies between the two men.

NOTED PUNCH DRAWER DEAD

Sir John Tenniel, Who Caricatured Lincoln, Dies, Aged 94.

Was Founder of Modern School of Political Cartoons.

London, Feb. 26.—Sir John Tenniel, for many decades the leading British cartoonist, died today at the age of 94.

Sir John Tenniel was the famous English cartoonist who so mercilessly caricatured Abraham Lincoln during the Civil war. He was the dean of the world's great political cartoonists.

Tenniel held the record for continuous service. Fifty years were spent, with scarcely a holiday, as cartoonist for London Punch. His pencil pleased millions. He set the principle of the political cartoon so firmly that it has been adopted the world over. His keen political foresight was worked out in more than 2,000 sketches touching upon, and perhaps deciding, the great world events during the last half of the nineteenth century.

Queen Victoria received the famous cartoonist, and in 1893 knighted him for his services to his country.

Illustrated Aesop's and "Alice."

His first great achievement as an illustrator was in his youth when he figuratively stepped into the hearts of children of all nations as illustrator of "Aesop's Fables," and won even more fame as the original illustrator of Lewis Carrol's "Alice in Wonderland."

"Do they suppose there is anything funny about me?" was his answer to the offer to join Punch, in 1851. He had just submitted his design for frescoes in the palace of Westminster. It was with reluctance that he gave up his ambition to be a great painter and

"SABER RULE" STILL HOLDS IN GERMANY

Attempt to Get Military Reform Bills Passed Collapses.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—The movement in the German imperial parliament to abolish "Saber rule" by the army collapsed today. The dissolution was announced by the committee considering various bills for prohibiting the intervention of the military without a requisition from the civil authorities, forbidding the use of arms by the soldiery except in self-defense, and subjecting soldiers to civil jurisdiction.

JOSEPH C. MACKIN ADJUDGED INSANE.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Joseph C. Mackin, a prominent and powerful figure in Chicago and Illinois politics in the '80s, was adjudged insane in the county court today and was ordered committed to the Dunning institution.

Mackin was convicted of ballot box stuffing after a trial which involved many men then prominent in the public eye. Three months ago he became a paralytic and recently was taken to the county hospital.

MAY DEPORT MISS EMERSON

England Not Acting Yet, But Warning Is Given.

Michigan Suffragette Subject to Terms of Alien Act.

London, Feb. 26.—Confirmation of the statement that no steps are being taken by the British government for the deportation of Miss Zelie Emerson, the militant suffragette of Jackson, Mich., was given by Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in a printed reply to a question put to him in the house of commons today. The home secretary added:

"However, if Miss Emerson again commits an offense bringing her within the provisions of the aliens act, the question of applying to the court for a recommendation for her expulsion will be considered."

The original question also was asked whether there was any precedent for the deportation from the British Isles of an American citizen as an undesirable alien. To this Mr. McKenna replied that 143 American citizens convicted of crimes had been expelled from the British Isles during the eight years since the enactment of the alien act.

Mr. McKenna today had an audience with King George in connection with Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst's application for an interview with his majesty.

WOMEN BURN SCOTCH HISTORICAL RELICS

Put Torch to Village Church Near Dunbar Field.

Dunbar, Scotland, Feb. 26.—An arson squad of militant suffragettes today burned to the ground the historic parish church of the village of Whitekirk. A quantity of suffrage literature was left strewn about the scene.

The church was erected in 1297 and contained many relics of the battle in which the Scots were routed by Oliver Cromwell's forces in 1650. In the vicinity is the famous battle ground of Dunbar, where the English defeated the Scots in 1296 and caused John Balliol to give up the crown of Scotland.

Many priceless relics and curios from the Holy Land were destroyed by the fire.

The incendiaries had sprayed the interior of the church with inflammable oils. They also used explosives which shattered several massive slabs of stone.

FOOT OF SNOW IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Business Houses and the Schools Close and Street Cars Stop.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 26.—The snowfall in Columbia and vicinity reached a total of 11.7 inches last night, surpassing all records of the local weather bureau. Business was suspended today, schools were closed, not a street car moved, and Columbia's large suburban population was snowbound. Snow is reported from nearly every section of the state, the heaviest fall in twenty years being reported in some localities.

BUDGET PLAN MUCH NEEDED

State as a Whole Does Not Know Where It Stands.

Real Budget System Natural Product of Good Organization.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sure it might be worse. Look at the conditions fifteen years ago for superlative worseness in state appropriations. That was when the printing department was piling up deficiary claims as high as $80,000 a year. That was when the legislature appropriated $97,000 a year for judges of district court and authorized the expenditure of $138,000. They went on creating more judgeships without revising the appropriation adopted ten years earlier.

Look at the happy-go-lucky course of the university. They did not pretend to live within their means and often they did not even know how far they had gone in the hole. Since two years ago the university has been on a pay-as-you-go basis. They know where they stand and they know exactly where they are coming out. They know what they have and what they can expect.

Every department nowadays lives within its means. This idea of letting everybody open an account and charge it to father like a young wife without an allowance doesn't go any more.

State Doesn't Know.

Each department, so far as its own accounts are concerned, knows pretty well how it is doing and where it stands financially. It is only the state as a whole that doesn't know what it is doing or where it stands. Oh, yes,

EMBODIES LESSONS FROM THE TITANIC

Fifty Thousand Ton Steamer Britannic Launched at Beifast.

Belfast, Ireland., Feb. 26. — The launching today of the Britannic, the 50,000-ton White Star liner, marked an important development in constructional safety so far as engineering ingenuity can insure it.

The Britannic, intended for the trans-Atlantic service, had only just been laid down when the Titanic disaster occurred, and as a result of that accident the plans of the new liner were almost completely remodelled. She is a triple-screw steamer, 900 feet in length, and there has been introduced into her construction every device possible to prevent a recurrence of the disaster which overtook the Titanic. A complete inner skin extends to a considerable height above the load line, the most vulnerable portion of the vessel, and the height and number of the bulkheads has been increased.

Big Claim Made.

It is claimed for the Britannic that she will be able to float with six compartments flooded.

The inner skin consists of heavy plating, which extends for more than half the length of the vessel, from the watertight bulkhead in front of the forward boiler room to the after end of the turbine engine room. It is connected to the outer shell by longitudinal tubes and angles, with especially strong connections at bulkheads and watertight divisions. In addition, an extra watertight bulkhead has been introduced and the existing bulkheads have been carried up to the bridge deck.

SEEK RE-BIRTH OF OHIO G. O. P.

Amalgamation With Bull Moose Is Object of Meeting.

Borah Attacks Beveridge and Perkins in His Speech.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Delegations from all sections of Ohio arrived here this morning to attend the Republican state "harmony" meeting, which was held this afternoon with a view to solidify the Republican and Progressive ranks in the coming campaign. Many delegations were accompanied by brass bands.

United States Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho was the principal speaker at a "dollar dinner" served at Memorial hall at 1 o'clock. D. M. Massie of Chillicothe discussed state issues from the Republican viewpoint.

The statement emanating from party leaders, that emphasis at the gathering must not be placed on personal ambitions and rivalries is thought to have precluded the announcement of candidates for nominations for United States senator and governor. The leaders urged prospective candidates to refrain from discussing their candidacies for fear that they might interfere with plans for amalgamation.

Speech by Borah.

Open war on monopoly was advocated by United States Senator Borah of Idaho in an address here today before the luncheon. The time had come for "remedies not palliatives," in dealing with industrial monopolies, and he urged a vigorous policy on the part

GERMAN OFFICER IS KILLED IN DUEL

"Gross Insult" Leads to Fight Between Lieutenants.

Metz, Germany, Feb. 26.—Lieut. Haage of the Ninety-eighth infantry regiment, stationed here, was killed today in a duel with Lieut. Von La Valette Saint George, a comrade of the same regiment. The encounter was brought about by a "gross insult," according to the official report, which does not, however, give any other details.

METEOR DESTROYS HOUSES IN POLAND

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Feb. 26.—A number of houses were destroyed by a huge meteorite which descended today in the village of Jendkovitzy in the Polish province of Gielce. The meteorite emitted sulphurous fumes.

SEES GREAT AMERICAN GAME FOR FIRST TIME

GEORGE V., King of England.

KING SEES CHICAGO WIN

British Ruler Is Roundly Cheered By American Ball Teams.

London Sporting World Well Represented at the Game.

London, Feb. 26.—Three hearty American cheers and a tiger was the welcome given by the baseball teams to King George on his arrival today on the Chelsea football ground to witness the game between the New York and Chicago teams.

The players were grouped immediately in front of the royal box, and the rattle of the hurrahs immensely pleased the royal sportsman, who repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments. The king was accompanied by Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador, and the full staff of the American embassy, as well as a large suite of court officials.

The ambassador introduced Charles A. Comiskey, John J. McGraw, Joseph Farrell and James J. Callahan, with all of whom the king shook hands.

The members of the American colony made the occasion a holiday and were present in great force among the five or six thousand spectators.

Sport Leaders on Hand.

All branches of British sports were well represented. Many of the leading cricket and football players were on the ground, taking keen notice of all the points of the game. The earl of Lonsdale and Baron Desborough, both prominent in sporting circles, were among the many titled personages surrounding the king.

The crowd was greatly amused while awaiting the arrival of the king, by the baby mascot of the Chicago team. During practice the boy went to bat and made a home run through the affected slackness of the New York players.

The game went eleven innings.

King Applauded Wildly.

When Faber, in the middle of the match, retired Chicago with three men on bases and only one out, the king applauded as wildly as any of the American fans.

The king told Ambassador Page, who throughout had been coaching him as to the intricacies of the game, that he had thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. One of the royal party, the earl of Chesterfield, had less pleasant memories of the occasion, as someone in the crowd stole his tiepin, valued at $2,500.

The result of the game was:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	5	8	0
New York	4	9	4

The batteries were:
Chicago—Benz, Scott and Bliss.
New York—Faber and Wingo.
Umpire—Klem.

FINDS $10,000 IN SOME OLD TIN CANS

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 26.—A dispatch from Masonville, N. Y., says that a treasure which rivals those of Capt. Kidd days has been uncovered in that village, when Mrs. Mary Butts, former housekeeper for Jacob Oswell, who died recently, found secreted in the cellar in tin cans $10,000 in gold and bills. Oswell was distrustful of banks and believed in taking care of his own money. The money has been turned over to his estate.

REJECTED MAN KILLS SELF IN GIRL'S HOME

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26.—Benjamin Cummings, 25 years old, son of J. B. Cummings, a banker of Lebanon, Neb., committed suicide last night at the home of Miss Minnie Nelson, who yesterday rejected his proposal of marriage. Miss Nelson's uncle, with whom she lived, said that the family had gone down town after Miss Nelson had rejected Cummings' offer, and upon returning at night found Cummings in an upstairs room dying from a rifle wound in the head.

PERCEVAL WILL WAIT.

Washington, Feb. 26.—At a conference today between Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Spring-Rice, it was decided that British Consul Perceval will not proceed into Mexico for the examination of William S. Benton's body until "better arrangements can be made."

Mexico City, Feb. 26.—Provisional President Huerta today refused permission to the United States government to send 2,000 American marines as a guard for the legation here. This information came direct from Gen. Huerta himself.

For several days there has been considerable discussion in official circles about the sending of a legation guard to Mexico City, similar to those sent by Great Britain and Germany, and while it is admitted that the Washington administration had been considering the advissbility of such a step, it was positively stated that no decision in the matter had been reached.

It also has been reported here the Huerta government was not averse to having foreign countries send legation guards to Mexico City, and that the diplomatic representatives in Mexico City from practically all the na-

FOOT OF SNOW IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Business Houses and the Schools Close and Street Cars Stop.

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 26.—The snowfall in Columbia and vicinity reached a total of 11.7 inches last night, surpassing all records of the local weather bureau. Business was suspended today, schools were closed, not a street car moved, and Columbia's large suburban population was snowbound. Snow is reported from nearly every section of the state, the heaviest fall in twenty years being reported in some localities.

BUDGET PLAN MUCH NEEDED

State as a Whole Does Not Know Where It Stands.

Real Budget System Natural Product of Good Organization.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sure it might be worse. Look at the conditions fifteen years ago for superlative worseness in state appropriations. That was when the printing department was piling up deficiary claims as high as $80,000 a year. That was when the legislature appropriated $97,000 a year for judges of district court and authorized the expenditure of $13?,000. They went on creating more judgeships without revising the appropriation adopted ten years earlier.

Look at the happy-go-lucky course of the university. The did not pretend to live within their means and often they did not even know how far they had gone in the hole. Since two years ago the university has been on a pay-as-you-go basis. They know where they stand and they know exactly where they are coming out. They know what they have and what they can expect.

Every department nowadays lives within its means. This idea of letting everybody open an account and charge it to father like a young wife without an allowance doesn't go any more.

State Doesn't Know.

Each department, so far as its own accounts are concerned, knows pretty well how it is doing and where it stands financially. It is only the state as a whole that doesn't know what it is doing or where it stands. Oh, yes,

EMBODIES LESSONS FROM THE TITANIC

Fifty Thousand Ton Steamer Britannic Launched at Belfast.

Belfast, Ireland., Feb. 26. — The launching today of the Britannic, the 50,000-ton White Star liner, marked an important development in constructional safety so far as engineering ingenuity can insure it.

The Britannic, intended for the trans-Atlantic service, had only just been laid down when the Titanic disaster occurred, and as a result of that accident the plans of the new liner were almost completely remodelled. She is a triple-screw steamer, 900 feet in length, and there has been introduced into her construction every device possible to prevent a recurrence of the disaster which overtook the Titanic. A complete inner skin extends to a considerable height above the load line, the most vulnerable portion of the vessel, and the height and number of the bulkheads has been increased.

Big Claim Made.

It is claimed for the Britannic that she will be able to float with six compartments flooded.

The inner skin consists of heavy plating, which extends for more than half the length of the vessel, from the watertight bulkhead in front of the forward boiler room to the after end of the turbine engine room. It is connected to the outer shell by longitudinal tubes and angles, with especially strong connections at bulkheads and watertight divisions. In addition, an extra watertight bulkhead has been introduced and the existing bulkheads have been carried up to the bridge deck.

SEEK RE-BIRTH OF OHIO G. O. P.

Amalgamation With Bull Moose Is Object of Meeting.

Borah Attacks Beveridge and Perkins in His Speech.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Delegations from all sections of Ohio arrived here this morning to attend the Republican state "harmony" meeting, which was held this afternoon with a view to solidify the Republican and Progressive ranks in the coming campaign. Many delegations were accompanied by brass bands.

United States Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho was the principal speaker at a "dollar dinner" served at Memorial hall at 1 o'clock. D. M. Massie of Chillicothe discussed state issues from the Republican viewpoint.

The statement emanating from party leaders, that emphasis at the gathering must not be placed on personal ambitions and rivalries is thought to have precluded the announcement of candidates for nominations for United States senator and governor. The leaders urged prospective candidates to refrain from discussing their candidacies for fear that they might interfere with plans for amalgamation.

Speech by Borah.

Open war on monopoly was advocated by United States Senator Borah of Idaho in an address here today before the luncheon. The time had come for "remedies not palliatives," in dealing with industrial monopolies, and he urged a vigorous policy on the part

SEES GREAT AMERICAN GAME FOR FIRST TIME

GEORGE V., King of England.

KING SEES CHICAGO WIN

British Ruler Is Roundly Cheered By American Ball Teams.

London Sporting World Well Represented at the Game.

London, Feb. 26.—Three hearty American cheers and a tiger was the welcome given by the baseball teams to King George on his arrival today on the Chelsea football ground to witness the game between the New York and Chicago teams.

The players were grouped immediately in front of the royal box, and the rattle of the hurrahs immensely pleased the royal sportsman, who repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments. The king was accompanied by Walter Hines Page, United States ambassador, and the full staff of the American embassy, as well as a large suite of court officials.

The ambassador introduced Charles A. Comiskey, John J. McGraw, Joseph Farrell and James J. Callahan, with all of whom the king shook hands.

The members of the American colony made the occasion a holiday and were present in great force among the five or six thousand spectators.

Sport Leaders on Hand.

All branches of British sports were well represented. Many of the leading cricket and football players were on the ground, taking keen notice of all the points of the game. The earl of Lonsdale and Baron Desborough, both prominent in sporting circles, were among the many titled personages surrounding the king.

The crowd was greatly amused while awaiting the arrival of the king, by the baby mascot of the Chicago team. During practice the boy went to bat and made a home run through the affected slackness of the New York players.

The game went eleven innings.

King Applauded Wildly.

When Faber, in the middle of the match, retired Chicago with three men on bases and only one out, the king applauded as wildly as any of the American fans.

The king told Ambassador Page, who throughout had been coaching him as to the intricacies of the game, that he had thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. One of the royal party, the earl of Chesterfield, had less pleasant memories of the occasion, as someone in the crowd stole his tiepin, valued at $2,500.

The result of the game was:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	5	8	0
New York	4	9	4

The batteries were:
Chicago—Benz, Scott and Bliss.
New York—Faber and Wingo.

FINDS $10,000 IN SOME OLD TIN CANS

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 26.—A dispatch from Masonville, N. Y., says that a treasure which rivals those of Capt. Kidd days has been uncovered in that village, when Mrs. Mary Butts, former housekeeper for Jacob Oswell, who died recently, found secreted in the cellar in tin cans $10,000 in gold and bills. Oswell was distrustful of banks and believed in taking care of his own money. The money has been turned over to his estate.

REJECTED MAN KILLS SELF IN GIRL'S HOME

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26.—Benjamin Cummings, 23 years old, son of J. B. Cummings, a banker of Lebanon, Neb., committed suicide last night at the home of Miss Minnie Nelson, who yesterday rejected his proposal of marriage. Miss Nelson's uncle, with whom she lived, said that the family had gone down town after Miss Nelson had rejected Cummings' offer, and upon returning at night found Cummings in an upstairs room dying from a rifle wound in the head.

Washington, Feb. 26.—At a conference today between Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Springs-Rice, it was decided that British Consul Percevai will not proceed into Mexico for the examination of William S. Benton's body until "better arrangements can be made."

Mexico City, Feb. 26.—Provisional President Huerta today refused permission to the United States government to send 2,000 American marines as a guard for the legation here. This information came direct from Gen. Huerta himself.

For several days there has been considerable discussion in official circles about the sending of a legation guard to Mexico City, similar to those sent by Great Britain and Germany, and while it is admitted that the Washington administration had been considering the advisability of such a step, it was positively stated that no decision in the matter had been reached.

It also has been reported here the Huerta government was not averse to having foreign countries send legation guards to Mexico City, and that the diplomatic representatives in Mexico City from practically all the na-

TREATMENTS WILL BE GIVEN AT YOUR OWN HOME.

HOPE, COURAGE

Are you suffering from any chronic ailment; are you one who has that old story to tell, (given up by the doctors as hopeless)? Do not give up, throw aside prejudice and try once more. My method of Natural Treatments will not cost you any more than your board would cost you at any good hotel, excepting I make a cure; then my charges are low compared with what an M. D.'s would be even though he didn't cure—but I never fail to deliver the goods. My specialty is cases that the doctors declare hopeless. Below is the story of Mrs. M. Tahtinen, box 31, Poplar, Wis.

"Dear Mr. Lee, 331 North Sixtieth avenue west, West Duluth, Minn. Dear Sir: I write to tell you how much I appreciate the wonderful change you have made in me. For the last twenty years I have not known what it was to enjoy a good night's sleep, and at my age, which is 59 years, I certainly never expected to enjoy the health I have enjoyed since taking your treatments. When I first heard of your Sanitarium I didn't have much faith, but I concluded to try, as I had tried and given up the Medical Doctors years ago, but you have done more for me in one month than they have been able to do in years, and Mr. Lee, if you need anyone to whom to refer, you may use my name, as I would be glad to see all sufferers avail themselves of your wonderful cure. Yours respectfully, "MRS. M. TAHTINEN.

PILLSBURY HERE TO ASSIST RITTENHOUSE.

Charles E. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, consulting engineer, is in the city conferring with and assisting W. B. Rittenhouse in the work of appraising the Duluth-Edison electric company's properties for the purpose of determining a fair value as a basis for the purchase of the plant by the city.

Mr. Pillsbury is well known in Duluth, having been engaged about two years ago by the county taxing officials to make an appraisal of the property of the Duluth Street Railway company to be used in personal property tax collection proceedings pending against the traction company.

Mr. Pillsbury also was recently selected by the city of Minneapolis to act as one of two experts in appraising the properties of the Minneapolis Gas Light company in connection with litigation in which the city is attempting to establish a new gas rate. The company is fighting the move on the grounds that it is confiscatory.

Kidney and Bladder Trouble Causes Great Distress

It gives me great pleasure to recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to any one suffering from bladder trouble.

For four years I was troubled by hemorrhages from the bladder and was not able to get any doctor who could help me. I was in such shape that sleep at night was impossible on account of distressing symptoms. While bending over I would be stricken with such a pain that it was impossible for me to straighten up. Mr. Henry, one of our leading druggists, advised Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root; although I never had any faith in patent medicines, as a last resort I purchased a dollar bottle of Swamp-Root. I noticed a decided change and after using two bottles I was completely cured. It seemed remarkable that I should be cured so quickly after being ill so long. But since this took place nearly two years ago, I have never been troubled and would highly advise any one suffering from the same trouble to at least give Swamp-Root a trial and think the results will be the same as mine.

Yours very truly,
THOMAS A. BENNETT,
Greensburg, Indiana.

Personally appeared before me this 14th day of February, 1913, Mr. T. A. Bennett, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

GRAND JURY'S TASK LIGHT

Prolonged January Session Cuts the March Criminal Calendar.

Charges Cover Various Complaints; List of Grand Jurors.

Owing to the prolonged session of the January grand jury the calendar of criminal cases to be disposed of at the March term of court will be lighter than usual. According to County Attorney Warren E. Greene, about twenty cases will be presented to the March grand jury, which will convene next Wednesday when the new term of court opens.

By reason of the investigation of the News Tribune's charges against the police department, the January grand jury was in session two weeks longer than would have been necessary under ordinary circumstances. The grand jury, however, disposed of all criminal cases which arose during that period. Otherwise these matters would have been presented to the March jury.

Cases to come before the March grand jury include charges of grand larceny, forgery, burglary, robbery, desertion, indecent assault and adultery. Five defendants who have been bound over in the lower courtts have pleaded guilty on information and their cases will not be presented to the jury.

The grand jurors who have been summoned to serve at the March term are: George Berhends, Hibbing; Thomas W. Benny, Eveleth; Walter S. Crandall, Hibbing; D. Cheruim, Gilbert; Oscar J. Enroth, Virginia; Jens Ecklid, Virginia, and W. N. Hart, C. F. How, Sr., Charles Iltis, Iver A. Iverson, Claude McClure, Alex B. McCollom, Donald McAdams, John McDermid, Harry E. McCallom, A. R. McCormack, T. E. Maher, Joseph D. Molitor, W. E. Malmo, Frank C. Marshall, H. L. Pineo, Louis Ramstad and Whitney Wall of Duluth.

AAD TEMPLE, N. M. S., NAMES COMMITTEE

Takes Definite Action on Arranging for Midsummer Festival.

Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, which took the first step toward making the proposed midsummer festival a reality instead of merely a matter of speculation, has got down to "brass tacks."

H. W. Richardson, illustrious potentate of the temple, has appointed a committee of three to co-operate with similar committees of other organizations which have already taken action in connection with the establishment of a festival for the midsummer season, or who will later—for all are getting into line.

This committee consists of Jesse Norton, Harry Nesbitt and H. W. Richardson, and will be prepared at any time to act with other committees on call.

The temple members took no lukewarm action in this matter but heartily indorsed the midsummer festival idea and stand ready to put their time and energy into it.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Woodland Neighborhood Club Will Be Formed Monday Evening.

Miss Susan House, principal of the E. R. Cobb school, announced today that owing to a conflict of dates with other city school activities, the meeting called for tomorrow night at the schoolhouse to organize a Woodland neighborhood club, has been postponed until next Monday night.

It is planned to form an organization to take in all the families of the Woodland district, whether they have children in school or not, and at the meeting Monday suggestions will be made for the holding of a series of neighborhood entertainments and social meetings.

WIRE DISSOLUTION PLANS APPROVED.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Plans by which the American Telephone & Telegraph company will dispose of its $29,000,000 of Western Union Telegraph stock through Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York, acting as underwriters, have been approved by the department of justice, and according to information here, the stock will be transferred within a short time.

The underwriters will dispose of the Western Union stock to parties other than the American Telephone & Telegraph company, so that the separation of the two concerns shall meet the ideas of Attorney General McReynolds.

BOUND TO SUE FOR DAMAGES

Commercial Club Will Insist on Making Road Pay for Hall.

As a special order of business tomorrow night the West Duluth Commercial club will discuss the proposed lawsuit against the Canadian Northern railroad for alleged damages to the West Duluth fire hall. An invitation has been extended to City Attorney Clapp to speak before the club and tell its members what has been done so far relative to bringing the matter into court.

Club members aver that an attempt has been made to have the agitation for a claim for damages quieted. Several members of the club say that they have been approached on the subject, claiming that the line of argument used has been that the amount of damage is so small that the city should not bother with it, and that the Canadian Northern should not be antagonized when it is contemplating a large amount of improvement for this end of the city. Members of the club say say they intend securing the city's rights if it becomes necessary to employ special counsel to fight the case for them.

GETTING READY FOR ITS BANQUET

Commercial Club Committee Will Take Action on Saturday Night.

Preliminary plans for the annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club will be made at a meeting of the general committee to be held Saturday evening. Thursday evening, April 30, has been selected as the date for the banquet.

In former years it has been customary for the club to hold its banquets on the second Thursday in April. The later date this year has been decided on, in the hope that the weather may be more agreeable to visiting guests.

It is planned to have an automobile trip to the steel plant, around the boulevard and to points of interest, in case the speakers' committee is successful in securing well known orators for the program. The speakers will be guests of honor on this trip.

NEW SCHOOL FOR SUBURBS

Additional Property Needed Will Be Condemned.

As a result of the action of the school board it is likely that the new steel plant industrial district will have a new school building, centrally located, before very long. The board has been purchasing lots in a centrally located portion lying between New Duluth and Gary, and has obtained fourteen of them, each 25 by 140 feet in dimension, for $271 a lot. Six more lots are desired but the owners are emulating some of the professional baseball players, and are holding out for $400 a lot. As a result the board will have to begin condemnation proceedings unless the property owners surrender.

As it is desired to have the new school open for the beginning of the next school year the board has ordered condemnation proceedings begun and the matter will be pushed. As soon as the property matter is out of the way building will be at once started. In the meantime bids will be received. The present school is too far to one side of what is now the center of population, and the board has had to supply a portable school to take care of the children who would be inconvenienced by attending the present school.

"The Literacy Test."

"The Literacy Test" will be the subject of a debate by the Irving Social Center Debating club this evening. Several of the young men members of the club will take part in the debate. A lecture to be given by Dr. Mary McCoy on "Heredity and Its Relations to Sex Hygiene," will also feature the evening's program.

With the Curlers.

The Wade rink will be called upon tonight to defend the Western Curling club's championship buttons which its members have been wearing since last week. The Judson rink will play against the present holders. Two other games are scheduled for this evening bothing the Burns event. These are Quinn against Mallory and Zauft vs. Iltis.

Last night the Judson rink defeated the Evered rink 8 to 7, and Wieland won from Olson, 11 to 10. Both of these games were also in the Burns trophy.

WILL PRESENT PLAY IN ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The young people of St. James' Catholic church will entertain on St. Patrick's day, March 17, with a three-act drama, "Down East," at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Rehearsals are now being held three times each week.

The young people taking part in this play have in past years proved successful in the presentation of plays given on this day.

Those taking part will be Alex Bethune, Clifford Bujold, Frank Sears, Roy Sears, Leo Deutsch, Miss Agnes Ehr, Miss Cecilia Schultz and Miss Emeline Brett.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Helen Erickson, 2 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, returned last evening from Rush City, Minn., where she has been visiting relatives for two weeks.

DEMAND MORE PAY ON NORTHERN PACIFIC

Conductors and Trainmen's Representations Announced at Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 26.—Demand for a general increase in wages has been made to the Northern Pacific by the conductors and trainmen through the Brotherhod of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors, according to announcement by George T. Slade, vice president of the Northern Pacific, who, with President J. M. Hannaford, is in Tacoma on an inspection of the entire line.

Mr. Slade received word that the increased schedule had been presented by the train operators while he was en route here.

He declined to discuss what attitude the road would take.

"It is regrettable that it comes just at this time," Mr. Slade remarked.

He was unable to state just what the exact demands were. He said that General Superintendent I. D. Richards of Tacoma, who is now in St. Paul, and G. A. Goodell, general manager of the lines east of Paradise, Mont., will confer with representatives of the employes in St. Paul.

Move Was Expected.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—Although no official announcement has been made here, reports have been current for several days in railroad circles that conductors and trainmen of the Northern Pacific soon would present demands which would include a general increase in wages and changes in working conditions and hours of labor. It is not known when the conference between General Superintendent Richards and representatives of the employes will take place.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Casper Sands, for nearly thirty years a conductor on the Great Northern, with Grand Forks as his headquarters, is dead at Tacoma, Wash., where he has resided for eight years, from cancer.

Mr. Sands formerly resided at Sandsville, Minn., which town was named in his honor. Originally his parents were settlers of Kandiyohi county, Minn., where they resided for many years.

LETS DIETZ GO TO WEDDING TOO LATE

Governor Signs Permission After Ceremony Is Over.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—Governor McGovern yesterday, it became known today, granted a request that John F. Dietz be allowed to leave the state prison to attend the wedding of his daughter, Myra, to B. E. Neuman of Chicago, but not until the wedding was over.

The letter to the governor requesting this permission was not signed, but it is supposed to have been written by the daughter. The governor required that the letter first be signed. He did not know the wedding was scheduled to be held yesterday.

ELIMINATE CROSSINGS

Subway at Highland Street Would Accommodate Bulk of Traffic.

Commissioners Look Over Right-of-Way—May Act Monday.

The construction of a subway under the D. M. & N. tracks on Highland street would make it possible to divert the bulk of the traffic now traversing the grade crossings.

After personally going over the ground this morning the members of the city commission felt that no difficulty would be encountered in closing most of the crossings to traffic, at least for a period of years, upon the completion of the subway and the improvement of Highland street.

It is estimated that the subway would cost the railroad $50,000, including the approaches. The members of the West Duluth Commercial club want the work done this spring before the opening of the ore season and for that reason have been urging the city to take early action looking towards the closing or restricting of the grade crossings and the improvement of Highland street. The commissioners tentatively decided upon which crossings could be closed, or practically so, but before taking any definite action will submit their views to the West Duluth Commercial club. The club will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night and it is likely that this matter will be passed upon at that time. If this is done it is probable that the council will pass the necessary resolution at its regular meeting Monday afternoon.

The council members went to the end of the Fifty-seventh avenue west car line this morning and walked along the railroad right of way from that point to Tacony street, which is now the main artery leading to Bay View Heights, Proctor and the country tributary. When the subway is opened and Highland street improved the traffic can follow that route to a connection with the Getchell road, which will afford a much easier grade than is now available. From Highland street an easy connection can be made with the road leading past Oneota cemetery, which will divert most of the traffic now crossing the tracks at Fifty-ninth avenue west. The other crossings which the railroad desires to have abandoned are relatively unimportant.

OBITUARY

William Andrews, for many years a member of the Andrews Opera company, died Feb. 24 in Medford, Ore., after a long illness. The body will be brought back to Mankato, Minn., and the funeral will take place there Friday afternoon at the home of his brother, Dr. J. W. Andrews. Will Andrews for years sang principal roles in the English operas produced all over the country by the company which bore his name, and which was made up, in grent part, by members of that family. He gave up the stage in 1896 and lived at Waterville for several years. Half a dozen years ago he and his brothers, Ed and George, went to Medford, where they own fruit property. Mr. Andrews was 71 years old. Beside the brothers named and three sisters, Mrs. Florence Clayton of St. Paul, Mrs. Alice Parker of New York and Mrs. Mary Stone of Mankato, there are two daughters, Mrs. Grace Fiero, who lives in Medford, and Mrs. Edith Stevens, who, with her husband, James Stevens, sang in Minneapolis this season in "Robin Hood."

Rev. Samuel Rolles Driver, religious professor of Hebrew at Oxford university, and canon of Christ church, died at Oxford, Eng., Feb. 26. Professor Driver was probably the greatest authority on Hebrew. He took a prominent part in revising the Old Testament.

Putnam Griswold, American basso and member of the Metropolitan Opera company, died in a private sanitarium in New York, Feb. 26. He was operated on for appendicitis on Feb. 10. Complications developed. Mr. Griswold was born in Minneapolis in 1870. He made his first appearance as an operatic star in London in 1901. He was a great favorite in Berlin, and was twice decorated by the kaiser, before whom he had sung at the palace. His death came at a time when he was considered at the height of his operatic career. He made his last appearance in New York on Feb. 8. A widow survives him.

G. Lacey Crawford, part owner of the St. Louis Nationals, died at his home in St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26. Death resulted from a throat affection. He was 43 years old.

CHICAGO WOMAN'S MURDERER CAUGHT

Has Spent Time in Jail on Several Minor Charges.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The murderer of Mrs. Elizabeth Healey, who was slain in her home in Lincoln avenue Thursday, has been captured, according to the police.

The accused man, Richard Schultz, who did odd jobs in the neighborhood, was arrested yesterday and, the police declared, confessed that he attacked the woman and threw her to the floor. Schultz said he did not know whether he had inflicted the fatal wound in her throat.

"I went to the back door of the Healy home," said Schultz in his signed confession. "I asked her if she had any work and she said 'no.'

"Then I grabbed hold of her and I don't know if she fell or not. I walked through the kitchen door into the back room and I don't know what I did. I ran down the stairs. She was bleeding from a big cut on the neck when I left her, but I don't remember of having any knife in my hands. I remember now of seeing all of the blood on her neck and on the floor."

Schultz has been well known to the police for a long time. He has been arrested a number of times, and spent several terms on minor charges. He had no regular occupation, they said, but earned a little money doing odd jobs from time to time.

BOY'S AMBITION IS SATISFIED

Vernon Smith, 12 Years Old, Wants No More City Sensations—Farm Life Good Enough.

Vernon Smith, 12 years old, has lived in a small town all his life. He never until a week ago saw a large city, with its street cars, theaters, bright lights and bustle. But to see these things was his ambition, and this was realized last Thursday, when he was brought to Duluth by Andrew McGrath. Now Vernon declares he has seen all he wants and, weeping, asks to be taken home.

Vernon lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, at Solana, a small town on the Soo road about sixty miles from Duluth. Just outside of this town Vernon's father owns a farm and on this farm Vernon and his eight brothers and sisters were born. He has lived there since birth and he wanted to see life, so when Andrew McGrath, a farm laborer living at Solana, said he was going to Duluth to have his teeth fixed, Vernon was willing and ready to go along and visit here for a few days. But McGrath forgot to mention that he was also planning to have a good time, besides attending to the fixing of his teeth.

The pair arrived here Thursday and straightaway went to the Fifth avenue hotel, where McGrath obtained a room. Vernon went out on Superior street to see the sights. They certainly dazzled him—the high buildings, street cars, automobiles and life in general, as he had often pictured them in his young mind.

But the dream was to be shattered. When Vernon returned to the hotel, his protector was gone, and an investigation disclosed the fact that McGrath was out trying to get drunk. In fact, he had already attained success in his effort, the boy said this morning, when he told his story to Chief Troyer. Yesterday afternoon, said Vernon, McGrath failed to give him any money for food, and he wanted to go home. He cried all night long, he said.

This morning Vernon was found standing in the union station, crying. He wanted to go back home. He had seen enough of the big cities. Patrolman Grinager brought the boy to police headquarters, where he told his story, and a few minutes later McGrath was arrested on a charge of drunkenness. He will be arraigned this afternoon.

In the meantime Chief Troyer is making arrangements to send Vernon back to his home. He will probably be taken back this evening.

"I wanted to see a big city, and I guess I got enough," sobbed Vernon at the close of his story to the police this morning.

SIOUX INDIANS SEE BIG WHITE FATHER.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Sioux Indians from the Pine Ridge reservation of South Dakota shook hands today with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan. They were presented by Senator Sterling and said they were having a good time in Washington, except that their shoes were too tight, which made walking somewhat uncomfortable.

PAINT WITHOUT OIL

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Paint Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes.

A. L. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. He calls it Powdrpaint. It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint weather proof, fire proof and as durable as oil paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone or brick, spreads and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much.

Write Mr. A. L. Rice, Manuf'r., 581 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

CITY DADS GO COASTING

Three Commisisoners Have Bobsled Ride on Return From Junket.

"Kids" Give Their Distinguished Guests Two Bad Spills.

Three members of Duluth's city council, Mayor Prince and Commissioners Hicken and Murchison, renewed the thrills of their "kid" days when returning this morning from their trip of inspection over that part of the D. M. & N. tracks under which it is proposed to build the Highland street subway.

They went coasting, were dumped over twice and had a great time brushing the snow from each other's clothes and laughing over their mishaps.

As they reached the top of the Tacony street hill, coming down from the railroad, two youngsters with a set of bobs were just starting down. Commissioner Hicken gave them a highball and the boys immediately invited as many members of the party as could find a seat to pile aboard. Three of them occupied the space available, and with a parting wave of the hand the party scooted down the steep and slippery incline. Just before they reached Fifty-ninth avenue west, with the bobs traveling at express train speed, the steering rope broke. The sled veered sharply to the left, flew over the sidewalk and upset at the edge of a steep gully. By a streak of good luck they just missed striking a big boulder, which might have caused a serious accident.

The city dads and the kids rolled over a few times and picked themselves up amid the hoots of the other members of the party. Quickly taking stock and ascertaining that no one was hurt, they tied up the rope and started out bravely to complete the last lap, giving the ha-ha to those who a minute before had been mirthful at their expense. But alas and alack. At the next corner the kid who was steering got his foot tangled up with the rope, which had been too hastily repaired. The bobs again veered and ran into a cross walk. Once more the city dads flew into the air, landing on the street in a tangled heap. And once more they gathered themselves together and made a hasty inventory which disclosed that all had escaped unhurt, except for rather a painful bruise on Commissioner Murchison's arm.

But it's an ill wind which blows no one good, and the erratic flight of the mayor and his two colleagues saved them and the others a 20-minute wait for a street car. When they had wiped the snow from their eyes they saw a street car coming down the hill and made a hurried dash to stop it. The others took the cue and spurted down the grade, reaching the corner as the car came to a stop. Had they not made connections they would have been obliged to stand about twenty minutes for the next car, or walk down the hill to another car line.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Murchison had vivid recollections of that part of the city, for it was past the spot where the city fathers had their first spill this morning and up Fifty-ninth avenue west that they helped boost one of the city's automobiles when they were making another inspection trip a couple of months ago.

SHOW MRS. ELLIS LOVED HUSBAND

Letters Using Endearing Terms Read at His Trial.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Many expressions of devotion to her husband were contained in a letter from Mrs. Elinor Ellis of Cincinnati to her oldest daughter, written three days before Ellis killed his wife in a hotel here. The letter was read on behalf of the prosecution in the trial here of William Cheney Ellis, a Cincinnati leather merchant. It was dated Chicago, Aug. 13, 1913, and read:

"My Dear Little Girl: It would be so nice to have you with me. I surely miss all my darlings dreadfully, you, little Violet and daddy. It is a beautiful day, and I am just wandering around looking at the pretty things in the shop windows. When I got to this hotel I just popped in to write you a letter, as it is nice and quiet and no one paid any attention to mother. Cousin Morris showed me how to find my way and he is to meet me at 12:30 and take me to lunch.

Heard From "Daddy."

"Daddy's message was given me over the 'phone at 7:05 and I was so glad to hear from him. Mother wishes she could kiss her darlings all around. Here is one for you, one for Violet and a whole lot for daddy. Your devoted, "MOTHER."

This, and another letter written a day later, were introduced through the testimony of Philip Fosdick of Cincinnati, brother of Mrs. Ellis. Fosdick testified that Ellis had estranged Mrs. Ellis for a time four years ago by drunkenness, and recently had confessed to him that he was nearly ruined financially by losses on horse races.

Fosdick testified that Ellis came to Chicago to shadow his wife because he suspected she had come to Chicago to meet a young dry goods merchant named Caldwell of Brantford, Ont.

"Ellis asked me to come to see him the night before he left," said Fosdick. "He showed a telegram he found in his wife's dresser. I advised him to go to Chicago and see Elinor and get the matter off his mind. He was extremely nervous."

CONGRESSMEN SEE SURFACE WORKINGS

No Guide Found Yet for Copper Mine Trip.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The congressional committee today went to South Range to inspect the surface workings of the Champion mine. MANY SEEK FREEDOM

Many Divorce Cases for March Term of District Court.

Thirty-seven Suits Filed—Ten Are to Be Contested.

While the March term grist of cases for the divorce court is not larger than usual, it is probable that judges of the district court will be kept busy during the latter part of next week listening to tales of broken wedding vows and unhappy married lives.

Thirty-seven actions for divorce have been marked for trial on the March term calendar of civil cases, which has just been compiled. Many of the cases have been continued over from the January and former terms of court and other have been instituted but recently.

About one-fourth of the suits for separation will be contested. In the other cases, the defendants are in default and the divorces will be granted without opposition, if sufficient cause is shown to the court. The contested cases include the following:

Alexander D. Kerr vs. Helen Kerr.
Alma Nelson vs. William Nelson.
Mikolaj Mierzwinski vs. Agnes Mierzwinski.
Victor H. Gran vs. Olga Gran.
Sarah Eden vs. Charles W. Eden.
Elizabeth Miller vs. James H. Miller.
Charles Engman vs. Wilhelmina Engman.
Karn Gudith Nelson vs. John Nelson.
Maud Dillon vs. Lester Parnell Dillon.
Stella Ida Dunliski vs. Peter Dunliski.

The uncontested divorce actions on the March term calendar are as follows:

Nannie Munslow vs. Albert E. Munslow.
Ethel M. Kuneith vs. Charles D. Kuneith.
Nellie Iagiela vs Ignac Iagiela.
Helga Mathilda Murray vs. Charles Franklin Murphy.
Bertha E. Gaster vs. George Bertram Gaster.

MONEY POURS INTO COFFERS

Saturday Last Day to Pay Personal Property Taxes.

Money is fairly pouring in the county coffers this week, according to County Treasurer George H. Vivian whose office force is busy this week receiving personal property taxes. Saturday is the last day on which personal property taxes for 1913 may be paid without penalty. On March 1, 10 per cent will be added to the amount of the tax, if outstanding.

A number of big checks are coming in with every mail, according to Mr. Vivian. Among those received since yesterday noon were the following: F. A. Patrick & Co., $8,773.44; Butler Bros., $1,840.06; Stone-Ordean-Wells company, $6,643.42; Trout Lake Lumber company, $3,732.04; Northwestern Fuel company, $1,999.43; Radford & Wright company, $2,023.17; Zenith Furnace company, $4,115.53; Capitol Elevator company, $1,972.02.

Among the larger individual taxpayers who have sent in checks this week are: Thomas F. Cole, $4,101.01; G. G. Hartley, $1,101.48; Chester A. Congdon, $4,868.32, and M. H. Alworth, $3,850.61. The counter collections have been very heavy this week.

WANT SAGINAW OUT OF BOUNDARY TREATY

Smith and Fordney Appeal to House Foreign Committee.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Federal Fish Commissioner Smith and Representative Fordney asked the house foreign affairs committee today to exempt Saginaw Bay from legislation to put into effect the Canadian boundary treaty. Otherwise, they said, the fishing industry at Saginaw would be destroyed.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, O. All druggists.

WANT SHORE FOR REFUSE

City Would Continue Dumping Along the Lake Front.

Would Drive Piles to Protect Canal From Sediment.

Because it is the most convenient place which could be secured, the city will endeavor to make arrangements which will enable further dumping along the lake shore east of South First avenue east (St. Croix avenue).

The subject was discussed at an informal meeting of the council in the mayor's office yesterday afternoon. Commissioner Murchison pointed out that no time should be lost as the place will be needed within a few weeks. He said that the regular dump is available but that it necessitates a longer haul and is therefore considerably more expensive. He asserted that spring will soon be here and that it will be but a short time before the works division will have a large amount of refuse to haul from the streets.

Last fall the Federal government prohibited further dumping along that part of the lake shore as considerable sediment was being washed into the canal, forming a shoal which threatened to become a menace to navigation.

Might Drive Piles.

The council believes that an arrangement could be made whereby piles could be driven to form a barrier which would prevent the dirt from finding its way into the canal. Mayor Prince stated that he would ask W. A. Whitney, who owns a piece of the ground along the lake shore, to confer with him upon the subject, to ascertain whether or not some agreement cannot be reached. The city has instituted condemnation proceedings to secure possession of a strip of land along the shore from the mainland to the canal, which would give the city riparian rights, but these have not progressed far enough to enable the city to exercise any claims.

Damage Claims.

Mayor Prince expressed the belief that the city should continue paying all damage claims from the general fund, as has been done for years past. He stated that the fund of each department should be charged with any damages which arise in connection with its activities. To illustrate, he explained that if a man were injured while working for the park department or through its negligence the damages should be assessed against the park fund, or if it were through the library, the library fund should be charged, etc. He asserted that this would be the proper and business-like method, as in that way each fund would bear its proper burden and not unjustly handicap the general fund. Some of the commissioners did not indorse the plan, stating that this was not contemplated at the time the budget was reached, but the matter will probably come up again when the levy is made for 1915.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp gave it as his opinion that it would not be necessary to pass an appropriation ordinance to enable the works division to proceed with the improvement of Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues west, but that it will be necessary to advertise for bids for the material. The works division proposed to do the work by day labor.

Note: The door of the mayor's office, where the conference was held, was closed during but a part of yesterday afternoon's session. And then it was shut by a commissioner who arrived late and who probably closed it through habit.

ENGLAND SUITED WITH HAGUE PLAN

Self-Governing Dominions Will Have to Pass on It.

London, Feb. 26.—The draft of a treaty establishing a peace commission at The Hague, which was recently submitted to Great Britain by the United States government, is regarded by the British foreign office as generally acceptable.

Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, informed the house of commons today, however, that the treaty would have to be considered in conjunction with the self-governing British dominions, as certain special provisions in regard to them would be required.

He promised to ask the state department at Washington whether there was any objection to the publication of the treaty here. If there is no objection he will lay it on the table of the house.

The foreign secretary expressed the hope that the ratifications of the arbitration convention between Great Britain and the United States, renewed on May 31 last year, would be exchanged shortly.

CLAIMS MANN LAW CASE IS BLACKMAIL

Whitney Says He Has Expected Trouble for Some Time.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26.—J. Parker Whitney, millionaire clubman accused in a warrant of violation of the Mann white slave law, was arrested on his ranch in Placer county. Whitney asked for particulars when arrested, and was told that he was specifically charged with having transported Genevieve Hannan from New York to San Francisco for immoral purposes. He said:

"I have been expecting this trouble for some time, and I am glad things have come to a climax. It is simply a case of blackmail."

Gave $20,000 Bonds.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 26.—J. Parker Whitney arrived here from his Placer county ranch in custody of a deputy United States marshal. He was able to obtain bonds in the sum of $20,000 and was released. Whitney wore his characteristic cowboy hat. The only statement he would make was that he refused to stand for a "shake-down."

Girl Has Since Married.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—Genevieve Hannan, the young woman involved in the white slavery charge against J. Parker Whitney in San Francisco, was married here Feb. 2 to Arthur N. Harris, member of an El Paso family. The wedding ceremony was performed at night, after Harris had awakened R. S. Sparks, county marriage license clerk. Sparks did duty as a witness.

Harris gave his age as 24, and Miss Hannan said she was 22. Sparks said they told him they had known one another several days.

VANDERBILT RACE IS ON

Veteran Drivers Start Over Perfect Santa Monica Course.

Santa Monica, Cal., Feb. 26.—With a course record of 78.72 miles an hour to beat, sixteen big cars, piloted by some of the best known motor drivers in the country, started today in the first Vanderbilt cup race run on the Pacific coast. The best time heretofore made in a Vanderbilt event was 74.07 miles an hour.

The sixteen cars were sent away at intervals beginning at 10 o'clock. The distance is 294.035 miles, or thirty-five laps of the 8.401-mile course, which ought to be covered by the winners in less than four hours, it is said.

The veterans Oldfield and De Palma, and Earl Cooper, who won last year's Santa Monica road race, were the favorites. The course was pronounced in perfect condition, despite the storm of last week, which washed out nearly every other speedway in the county.

BEHAN SYNDICATE GETS COLD FEET

Withdraws Offer to Buy Cubs—Fears Reserve Clause and Outlaws.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Behan syndicate, whose offer for the controlling stock in the Chicago Nationals was refused by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, yesterday, has withdrawn from the field. This was announced by Louis J. Behan after he had met his clients and discussed with them the events of his visit to Mr. Taft. The syndicate, he said, did not consider the stock control and franchise worth more than $500,000, under the present conditions in baseball, and believed its offer of $750,000 for a majority share of its stock much more than it would want to pay now.

The questionable legality of the reserve rule and the existence of the Federal league were main reasons for the withdrawal of the Behan effort to get the stock.

RITCHIE ON WAY EAST FOR WOLGAST FIGHT.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, left today for Chicago. On March 12 in Milwaukee he will box a 20 rounds with Ad Wolgast, the former champion who lost the title to him on a foul in 1912.

GRAVES IS HOPEFUL.

Young Chippewa Pitcher Hopes to Do Great Work for Athletics.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Graves of Walker, the Chippewa Indian who pitched for Brainerd, left yesterday for Jacksonville, Fla., to join the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp.

"I hope to make good," said Joe, as he gripped the hand of a friend.

"I know what this chance means that Connie Mack has given me. I am just going to pitch the best ball I know how. My father played ball in Philadelphia and he and Ed Rogers advised me to go to Connie Mack. He has given me a six months' contract at $150 a month."

Superior

CUPID HANDICAPPED BY EUGENICS LAW.

Cupid is having a hard time breaking any records in Superior this month. The eugenics law has proved too much for him to surmount so far and to this date since the law went into effect the licenses to marry have fallen off about 60 per cent when compared with that of last year. Up to yesterday only eighteen licenses had been issued for February and nineteen in January, as against more than eighty for the same period last year.

Many of the couples who marry are said to be going to Minnesota for their licenses, but officials are scouting this. The law requiring couples residing in Wisconsin to file health certificates if married outside of the state and, which provides a term in the penitentiary if not done, is said to have an efect of prohibiting Gretna Green marriages.

Company Being Formed for Morning Daily in Superior.

Superior may within a short time have a daily morning paper of its own. Subscriptions for stock are now being taken for the venture and it is said that many local people have liberally contributed toward it.

William P. Welch, manager of the Standard Fuel company, and a few friends, are back of the affair. According to supporters of the movement it is probable that sufficient stock will be subscribed so that the first issue of the paper will make its appearance early in the spring.

Mr. Welch is running advertisements asking for stock subscribers.

Drawing Grand Jury.

H. E. Ticknor, clerk of the United States court, this morning started drawing the March grand jury. The grand jury will meet next Wednesday and the term of court will open on March 10. As yet nothing of a local nature is expected to be taken up by the grand jury.

Investigates Death.

William Trott, brother of E. C. Trott, who died in the city jail a few days ago, is in the city today. This morning he told a newspaper man that he intended to fully investigate the cause leading to the death of his brother, and intended to push matters against the police if the department is found responsible for the death.

Coal Dock Improvements.

Improvements aggregating about $100,000 in value will be made to the Pittsburg coal dock at Allouez this spring, according to contracts which recently have been let. The improvements include enlargement of the storage facilities, installing better machinery and hoists and will make the dock, when completed, one of the most modern at the Head of the Lakes.

Mrs. Nixon Drops Dead.

Mrs. D. C. Dixon, 57 years old, wife of the superintendent of the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company, dropped dead in the hall of her home, 1927 Iowa avenue, at 10 o'clock last night. Death was due to heart trouble. Mrs. Dixon has been a resident of Superior for more than twenty years. The funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

Waives Examination.

Leslie Anderson, who was arrested on a charge of burglary as he was leaving a local physician's office, and who claimed to be a dope fiend, waived examination when arraigned in police court this morning. He was bound over to superior court.

IRONWOOD CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

A VISIT WILL BE ENLIGHTENING.

Here Is the Reason

One good reason why a few young men and women succeed easily and why so many others fail is:

THE FEW SAVE THEIR MONEY AND THE MANY DON'T.

The amount you are able to save, of course, will be a material help in the future—but the habits formed with a savings account will be a great aid in your business affairs for the remainder of your life.

Save, if you would succeed.

BEWARE!

MR. MOVIE PICTURE MANAGER,

One more underhanded step on your part—one more crooked deal to restrain the EMPRESS THEATER from giving your fellow townsmen FEATURE PICTURES in connection with their VAUDEVILLE show and you will find yourself in the United States courts. You have gone too far when you demand the Film Companies not to furnish us with FEATURE FILMS. We will give the PEOPLE OF DULUTH feature films and will do just as we advertise if we have to employ our own companies and make our own pictures. You have grown fat and wealthy on the profits derived from the patronage of your own townspeople. SPEND MORE MONEY. Give your patrons an extra picture or two once in a while. Copy after the EMPRESS and the EMPRESS POLICY. We don't care. We are here to do good and make a fair profit—not to do 'em good and grab it all. We mind our own business and want to be let alone.

THE EMPRESS THEATER WILL ALWAYS GIVE THE BEST AND MOST IT POSSIBLY CAN FOR THE MONEY AND NO MOVIE MANAGER CAN STOP IT

It is just a year since we took over THE EMPRESS and we have made a phenomenal success, not only have we surprised the citizens of Duluth but have received many compliments from some of the oldest managers of the the larger cities. We find after being in business a year the patronage has been so large and our profits satisfactory that we can afford to give OUR PATRONS an additional THREE-REEL FEATURE FILM and with

OLD FIGHT BEING AIRED

War Between Settlers and Lumber Company Subject of Suit.

Events which transpired thirteen years ago in and around Cedar Island lake, when homesteaders on unsurveyed land were engaged in a bitter warfare with officials of the Cloquet Lumber company, which cut timber from certain disputed tracts were vividly recalled by witnesses this morning at the trial of the suit of Ephraim A. Trenholm against the lumber company for $8,000 damages for an alleged malicious arrest.

Trenholm was one of the six men arrested for attempting to dig up a dam which had been built across a creek on his land for the benefit of the lumber company. During the spring of 1901 considerable timber had been put into the lake and it was the intention of the company to drive the logs down the creek.

Trenholm testified that the dam caused the water to cover and destroy his crops and in order to protect his own interests, he summoned his neighbors together and attempted to dig a hole through one end of the dam. While he and others were at work, they were stopped by a deputy sheriff, who, according to Trenholm and others who testified in his behalf, announced that he had been sent there to protect the interests of the lumber company.

Granville A. Burns, aged 75, a settler who has been involved in lawsuits over the Cedar Island Lake situation for the past twenty years, took the stand this morning. Mr. Burns told of the arrest and of the imprisonment of Trenholm, himself and others for six hours in a lockup. At a trial held later all were acquitted. All have suits for malicious arrest pending against the company. Besides Burns and Trenholm, the others who are suing are Michael Cronin, P. J. Payne and W. S. Douglas, all homesteaders.

Mr. Burns recently recovered $28,000 from the Cloquet Lumber company in the Federal court for timber cut from his property during that spring. The case hung fire in the Federal court for several years. This morning Mr. Burns testified that prior to his coming to Cedar Island lake in 1892 he had worked eleven years as a railroad detective and ten years as chief of police at Tonawanda, N. Y.

The plaintiff rested his case this morning.

Third Sewer Finished.
The works division completed its third winter sewer job yesterday. The sewer extends from First street to Superior street between Thirty-first and Thirty-second avenues east. The cost was approximately $500, as compared with the engineer's estimate of $585. The construction of a sanitary sewer in Winona street between Rendle and Allendale avenues, estimated at $1,760, is being begun today.

Wrestler Sent to Farm.
For breaking the leg of John Lathalla in a wrestling bout at Andrew Maki's saloon, 332 Lake avenue south, Tuesday evening, Otto Pouse will have to spend the next twenty days on the work farm. He was found guilty in police court yesterday afternoon and given a straight sentence. Lathalla was taken to St. Luke's hospital following the wrestling match, which ended with the breaking of Lathalla's left leg.

Leg Broken; Didn't Know It.
When Arthur Murray was arrested this morning on a charge of drunkenness, it was discovered that his leg was broken. Police Surgeon Murphy was called and he ordered the injured man taken to St. Luke's hospital. Murray is unable to tell how his limb was broken, except that he was in a fight last evening. Just how it happened, he does not remember.

Sent to Work Farm.
For being drunk three times, Olaf Lindberg this morning drew a straight sentence of sixty days on the work farm. Dan Pearson, who was arrested a second time on a charge of drunkenness, also pleaded guilty and was fined $40 and costs or thirty days on the farm.

Held on Woman's Complaint.
John N. Bishop, 32 years old, a structural iron worker, was arrested yesterday on a charge preferred against him by Katherine Larson. He asked for an examination and the hearing was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Will Close at 2 o'Clock.
In observance of the funeral hour, the City National bank, of which Capt. Sellwood was president, will close tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Deserted in Alaska.
Declaring that her husband, Hibbard E. Porter, 56, mining engineer, had deserted her four years ago in Alaska, Emma Porter, 36, yesterday asked for a divorce in Judge Cant's division of the district court. The desertion, she testified, took place at White Horse, Alaska, on April 28, 1910. They were married Oct. 26, 1908. The court has taken her case under advisement.

Widow Petitions.
Augusta Cecilia Fransk of Tower today petitioned the probate court for letters of administration on the estate of her late husband, Oscar Erick Fransk, who died, aged 26, at his home in Tower on Nov. 15 last. Fransk left a widow and four children. His estate consists of personal property valued at $150 and a cause of action for wrongful death.

Seeks Treble Damages.
Frank Anderson in district court today started an action in replevin against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company to recover the value of 461 railroad cross ties, which he claims were taken from the company's right-of-way between Duluth and Virginia without his consent and converted to the company's own use. He alleges that the ties were taken between Nov. 1 and Dec. 31. The value of the ties is given as $161.35, but Anderson is seeking $484.05, treble damages.

WHO FIRED FIRST SHOT IN COLORADO?

Trinidad, Colo., Feb. 26.—The month-old dispute between striking coal miners and mine owners as to who fired the first shot in the labor war in Southern Colorado was threshed out before the congressional investigating committee today. Witnesses for the coal operators have their versions of the battle at Ludlow on Oct. 7, between guards in an automobile and strikers from the tent colony.

Witnesses for the operators today swore that the first shots were fired by the strikers. Counsel for the miners sought to establish their claim that the guards fired into the Ludlow colony before the strikers used their guns.

A. C. Weiss, publisher of The Herald, underwent an operation at 11 o'clock this morning at the Mayo hospital at Rochester, Minn.

It was reported at 2 o'clock this afternoon that the operation had been successful and that he was recovering from the effects of the anesthetic.

SETS DAY FOR HEARING MOTIONS.

Judge Page Morris issued an order this morning setting aside the last Thursday of each month as the day when the Federal court will hear motions and arrange for hearings during the subsequent month.

The order by Judge Morris follows: "It is hereby ordered, that the last Thursday in each month at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the courtroom in the postoffice building at the city of Duluth, be, and they hereby are, established as the regular time and place when motions requiring notice and hearing may be made and disposed of in the Fifth division of this district."

CELEBRATES, THEN DIES.

West Salem, Wis., Feb. 26.—A few days after he and his aged wife celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary, Martin Ladd, wealthy retired merchant of this place, died here yesterday. Mr. Ladd was one of the pioneers of Western Wisconsin and was identified with the business activities of a wide section of the state in the early days.

Millionaire Killed.
Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 26.—Miss Lurine Middleton, a Los Angeles society girl, was seriously injured and Dennis O'Connor, a wealthy Hulsa oil producer, was killed here today when a passenger train struck O'Connor's motor car. O'Connor believed he could pass a crossing ahead of the train. O'Connor's Texas oil holdings are said to represent almost $1,000,000.

EQUITABLE WILL FIGHT STOCK PLAN.

New York, Feb. 26.—The Equitable Life Assurance society, it was authoritatively learned today, will institute legal action to restrain the Union Pacific Railroad company from distributing its holdings of Baltimore & Ohio stock and a cash dividend of $3 to holders of Union Pacific common. Such a disbursement plan was recently announced. The Equitable holds $1,618,000 par value of Union Pacific preferred. Other holders of the same stock already have instituted suits against the Union Pacific.

BRITISH COLUMBIA RADIUM LAW SURE.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 26.—The British Columbia legislature adopted the radium bill on second reading last night, and as the opposition approved of the measure, its passage is assured. Briefly, the measure provides for the provincial government's sharing in any discovery of radium in British Columbia to the extent of 50 per cent; it rewards the discoverer $5,000 upon proof of discovery; and it amends the mining act so that radium will not be classed with other minerals.

CUBAN SUGAR WILL GET LOWER RATE.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Attorney General McReynolds held today that Cuban sugar is entitled to a reduction of 20 per cent under all other tariff rates under the new law.

LIBERAL TRADING IN MINING STOCKS

Eastern Copper Issues Close Higher on Good Investment Buying.

The market in mining stocks at Boston braced up today with the reappearance of investment buying. Moderate advances were shown at the close in most of the active issues. Butte & Superior ruled steady with a large volume of trading recorded in it. The issue closed unchanged at $35.25. Calumet & Arizona closed 25 cents up at $67; Franklin, 87 cents up at $6.25; Greene-Cananea, 50 cents up at $38; North Butte unchanged at $28.50; Shattuck unchanged at $28.50, and Amalgamated Copper a fraction up at $73.50.

Calumet & Corbin was the feature in the Duluth curb list, selling locally and at Boston at from 22 to 25 cents. It closed at 24 cents bid.

Alex Scott sold at $5; Cliff at from 45 to 50 cents and Interstate at $4.75.

Tennessee Copper earnings for the year ending Dec. 31, showed a surplus available for dividends before depreciation of $1,067,503.

At St. Louis, lead closed at $3.90@3.92½ and spelter at $5.25.

Gay & Sturgis had the following wire from Boston today: "While it is true that the Mexican situation is becoming more acute, it has caused hesitation on the part of the strong element, which has been the most bullish on the market during the past ninety days and some selling by the smaller bulls, I am of the opinion that the greater part of the selling during the past two weeks has been by the bear crowd, which has been up to recently, very badly beaten in the market. To me this has been conducive to a much stronger position marketwise, and as fundamental conditions are really better than in years I cannot see anything but the long side for some time to come. I believe in buying them right here."

It is estimated by a New York copper expert that producers' statistics for February will show close to a standoff between production and deliveries.

The London correspondent of the News Bureau cables:

"Small dealers here are quoting 14½c for electrolytic."

DEFENSE BEGUN IN MRS. BUFFUM'S CASE

Little Valley, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Special Prosecutor George W. Cole has rested the people's case against Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, on trial charged with the murder of her husband. Patrick S. Collins at once outlined the plan of the defense, and placed in evidence the testimony of the woman's five sons. Under a bitter cross-examination the boys never varied in the story they told.

The boys said their father had been a heavy drinker the last year of his life, and that they, with their mother and sister, Laura, who died on Feb. 2, this year, of poisoning, were sick last summer at the time the father and husband became ill and died.

The boys said they had heard their father say frequently when drinking: "The only way to do away with myself and the whole family."

Will Prove Threat.
In his address to the jury, Mr. Collins said he would prove this threat of wholesale destruction, and that Buffum always had been abusive to his wife.

Justice Brown held the statement made by Mrs. Buffum to Mr. Cole in Buffalo on Dec. 10 to be competent evidence, and it was read to the jury.

On the witness stand, Mrs. Buffum's sons sustained the claim of the defense that the horse liniment referred to in the alleged confession was a myth. Each swore that there never had been any of the poisonous liquid in the house.

it is all in the auditor's report for year before last and the year before that. But it is impossible to read it as a continued story. Just as it is impossible for the legislature to know till after it has adjourned what its transactions have been.

Of course, what it needs is the budget system. But the budget system is not a thing in itself. It won't stand alone like the Cheshire cat's grin. When every professor went to the legislature lobbying single-handed for his own department, the university would have had a sweet time adopting a budget system. When each institution came charging on the legislature with its demands, a lot of good it did for the old board of corrections and charities to submit its suggestions.

As C. P. Craig of the efficiency commission says, it isn't budgets we need; we have sixty budgets now. The real budget system is the natural product of good organization.

The Business Way.

In a railroad corporation, for instance, every man who spends any money puts up his need to the man above him, who knows in which direction within his own department the money is most needed. He puts up his demands to his superior officer who knows in which one of the branches under him the needs are most urgent. The superior officers put it up to the heads of the company. And they apply to the directors who tell them how far they can go, but depend on their recommendations for the proportionate expense for several objects.

Minnesota as a state cannot have such a budget system. For Minnesota as a state has no such organization of its government. Fifty or sixty departments, boards and commissions are judges of their own needs, ignorant mainly of the needs of others. To sort out and weigh their demands

DRUG CLERK TELLS HOW TO CURE INDIGESTION

Recommends to Sufferers the Best Stomach Remedy in Duluth Today.

"It is a wonder some of us have stomachs left," remarked a well-known drug clerk recently. "While all drug stores sell a score or more of stomach remedies for which there is a wide demand, most of them are just pepsin pills which digest the food that is in the stomach at the time. They have no curative or strengthening effect on the stomach at all, and of course do not reach or cure the cause. So the same people keep on coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dispeptics. When anyone really asks my advice, I swear by and recommend ordinary bisurated magnesia, which doesn't digest the food at all but just acts as an antacid and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heartburn, sour rising, wind, bloating, fullness, etc., in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

"Doctors make mistakes sometimes, too," he continued. "My own aunt had all kinds of trouble with her stomach for years. She bought and used several styles of digestive pills but got worse right along, as naturally she would. Finally she went to a doctor, who nearly scared her to death by telling her she had cancer of the stomach. She came to me with his prescription and told me what he said. I thought it was nonsense, so I sent her to another doctor whom I knew very well and he didn't tell her anything, but just gave her this same thing, bisurated magnesia. She took it two weeks and never has had any stomach trouble since and that's three years ago. She's my own aunt and I know this for a fact. Yes, a lot of bisurated magnesia is sold in Duluth. All the druggists have it, I suppose, and all you take is a teaspoonful after every meal. It's all right."

calls for a legislature composed of angels. And Minnesota does not always get that kind of a legislature.

With a reasonable organization of the government it will be possible to have the requests for appropriations proportioned up so that a legislature composed of mere mortals can exercise sound judgment in telling the department how far to go.

of the Republican party in this regard. At the same time he assailed the attitude on this issue of such leaders of the Progressive party as Former Senator Beveridge of Indiana and George W. Perkins of New York, who, he said, maintained that monopolies "were the proper thing and all they need is a little regulation."

Pleading for all men who believe in the principles of the Republican party to aid in its rejuvenation as a progressive party, Senator Borah declared that "even if the Republican party was at an end, I could never join the third party so long as it stands, as it now stands, if I correctly understand its leaders, on this question of monopoly."

"Monopoly," said Senator Borah, "is ten thousand times worse than black slavery—it is the father of class domination, the molder of chains both for the body and for the soul, and cannot exist in any form with safety to the people in a republic. Here, sir, is where I could never be a third party man. Upon this issue I would have to disagree with that party, even if I agreed with them upon all others."

MIDYEAR CONFERENCE.

Minnesota Methodists Will Meet in St. Paul Next Monday and Tuesday.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—A midyear conference for all Minnesota Methodism will be held here Monday and Tuesday next.

Bishop W. A. Quayle and Bishop William O. Shepard of Kansas City are to be the principal speakers.

The subject of the conference is "Conversation on Things of the Kingdom of God." Dr. H. C. Jennings of Cincinnati and Rev. Andrew Gillies of Minneapolis, will speak, besides a number of local Methodist laymen.

MANKATOAN PRESIDENT.

Minnesota Surveyors and Engineers End State Meeting.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—After a two-days session, the Minnesota Surveyors and Engineers' society closed its annual meeting yesterday afternoon with the election of officers. St. Paul was chosen as the next meeting place in February, 1915.

The new officers are Walter S. Brooks, Mankato, president; J. E. Mullen, St. Paul, vice president; George H. Herrold, St. Paul, secretary; W. F. Rosenwald, St. Paul, treasurer.

The society appropriated $100 toward the establishment of a permanent headquarters in St. Paul.

SUMMER STOCK AT THE LYCEUM.

The Lyceum theater will have a summer stock company after the close of the regular theatrical season.

Manager J. L. Morrissey of the Lyceum theater, in a telegram to The Herald from New York, states that he has just completed signing the company which will be seen here during the summer months, and he promises some surprises when the personnel of the company is announced.

BADGER TREASURER IS GIVEN VERDICT.

Fond du Lac., Wis., Feb. 26.—A suit against Former State Treasurer Dahl charging that Dahl as custodian had released $50,000 in securities of the Wisconsin Savings & Loan company, when there were outstanding obligations, resulted in a verdict here for Dahl.

PETERSON IS CONFIDENT

Minneapolis Candidate for Governor Says He Can "Lick" Eberhart.

Points to Result of Senatorial Primaries in Proof.

James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, recently candidate against Senator Knute Nelson for the United States senate, and now an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was in the city this morning and a part of the afternoon, visiting friends, sizing up the situation here and conferring on matters political.

Mr. Peterson says that he can "lick" Governor Eberhart in the primaries and that he considers a divided field much better for him than for the governor. He does not say that he will or will not abide by the decision of the elimination convention to be held in Minneapolis on March 13; but from the general tone of his remarks, about the only conclusion that can be reached is that Mr. Peterson will abide by the decision of the convention if he is its choice and under no other circumstances.

"I would not care to say at this time," said Mr. Peterson today, "that I will or will not be guided by the decision of the conference. I must see what sort of an affair it is first. If its personnel is properly representative then there would be good reason for standing by its decision; but should it not be then it would be hardly fair to ask one to be guided by a number of men who could hardly guarantee their own votes. But it is too early to say yet.

"The trouble with a conference of this sort is that about the only ones who reside in distant portions of the state who will attend are those who have the car fare. If one merely wanted to take anybody why I guess he could get enough; but 'anybody' won't do. We must have a representative gathering or it will do no good."

Can Beat Eberhart.

Mr. Peterson was asked whether or not he believed he could beat Governor Eberhart in the primaries as the situation now stands; that is, with the anti-Eberhart field containing two other candidates besides himself.

"Yes," he replied promptly and emphatically, "I can lick him. I consider that the more candidates there are in the field the better for me and not for the governor. In the last primaries when I ran against Senator Nelson I got 1,100 more votes for senator than Eberhart did for governor, and that number, I believe, will for the most part stick to me. Besides that Governor Eberhart is not nearly so strong this year as he was the last time he ran. He has lost ground. Think a moment: Had Eberhart been running against Nelson when I did, do you think that he would have received nearly as many votes as I did? Everybody realizes that he would not. I can lick him, and I expect to."

Mr. Peterson declared himself strongly in favor of the primary system. He said that there is no reason for the howl that is going up from certain sections of the state and by certain factions against the primary and in favor of a return to the convention system.

"We have had only one primary election," said he, "and to my notion it worked well, and as the people get to understand it better it will work still better. With the primary we wiped out graft in the Twin Cities, a thing which we were never able to do under the old system. In this system the people get a chance to rule, while before the machine always ruled. I would fight with all my strength against the destruction of the primary system."

LARSON MAY FILE.

Assistant Secretary of State Has Congressional Aspirations.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—James A. Larson, assistant secretary of state, may enter the race for the Republican nomination for congress in the Second district. Larson left yesterday for Redwood Falls, and before leaving said that he intends to look over the situation with a view to becoming a candidate.

Interest in the Second district situation has been revived by the talk that Congressman W. S. Hammond, Democrat, may retire or run for governor, Senator J. E. Haycraft of Madella filed for the Republican nomination some weeks ago. Senator Frank Clague of Redwood Falls may get into the race. James Ruane of Slayton is in the race as an out and out Stalwart Republican, and Paul Dehnel of Worthington has filed as a Progressive.

BRILLIANT NEWSPAPER WORKER LOSES LONG FIGHT WITH DEATH

Guy Finch, former Northwest editor of the Duluth News Tribune, died at his home at Fond du Lac this morning at 6 o'clock. Tuberculosis, from which he has been a sufferer for about eight months, was the cause.

For the last six months he has been living at Fond du Lac in an effort to fight off the ravages of the white plague, but to no avail. He has been failing perceptibly of late and his newspaper and many other friends who have seen him occasionally, have realized that the end was not far off. Surviving him are his bride of less than a year, who has been his constant attendant; his mother, a brother and a sister who reside in Butterfield, Wis.

Mrs. Finch was May Stanley, a well known newspaper writer. It was a newspaper romance. Both had worked on the Herald-Review for E. C. Kiley at Grand Rapids, Minn., before coming to Duluth, and later both worked on the morning paper here. They were married on March 6, last year, at the Kiley home at Grand Rapids, so that their married life has lasted one week less than a year.

Mr. Finch came here from Grand Rapids two and a half years ago and "held down" various desks on the News Tribune, being a capable and all-round newspaper man, possessing real ability and the faculty of gaining the friendship and good will of those with whom he was thrown in contact.

Mr. Finch was born in Des Moines, Iowa, May 22, 1887, so that at the time of his death he was not quite 27 years of age.

HUERTA SAYS HE REFUSED TO LET AMERICANS LAND

tions had recommended such action.

Gen. Huerta said he was asked by Washington to agree to the dispatch, in addition to the Americans, of 1,000 more men made up of Germans, English and French. To all of this he returned a negative reply on the ground that there was no need for such precautions.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, refused either to confirm or deny the information.

Charge O'Shaughnessy is making efforts to obtain the release of Inocenzo Benavides, an American citizen who, it is believed, has been consigned to service in the Mexican army. Benavides, who is a Texas cattleman, was in Saltillas, near Monterey, buying cattle, according to friends, when he was arrested charged with conspiracy. He was sent south from Monterey, but his exact whereabouts is not known.

"Never Asked," Says Wilson.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Word came direct from President Wilson himself today that the United States never had requested permission to send marines to Mexico City, and had neither discussed nor taken up the subject in any way with Mexican officials.

The American government today was exerting every influence at its disposal to obtain from Gen. Villa the surrender of the body of William S. Benton, the British subject recently executed at Juarez. No reply had been received to the instructions sent to Consul Letcher yesterday to find Benton's grave, and Secretary Bryan was surprised by news dispatches quoting Villa as saying Benton was buried in Chihuahua City. There have been persistent reports here, too, that the body was cremated.

Talked It All Over.

Secretary Bryan conferred with President Wilson and said that nothing new in the situation had developed. Official denial came from the White House of one published report that Rear Admiral Fletcher had recommended the landing of marines at Vera Cruz.

Attention chiefly was centered on the Benton investigation, and high officials conceded that future development of the American policy toward Mexico hinged largely on the outcome of the inquiry.

Another feature of the situation was the fact that the Benton incident promises to develop into a test of Carranza's authority and influence as chief of the Constitutionalist movement. Every sort of pressure, it is understood, is being brought to bear on Carranza, both by Americans and Mexicans who have the confidence of Washington officials, with the idea of impressing upon him the necessity of a clear and convincing explanation of all the circumstances surrounding the death of Benton.

Carranza Must Make Good.

If Carranza cannot obtain that from Villa, the power of the so-called "first chief of the Constitutionalists" will fall in the estimation of the Washington government.

Officials here have for some time been disposed to feel kindly toward Carranza, and favorable reports on his character were transmitted to President Wilson by William Bayard Hale. Should it develop, however, that Carranza is without control over Villa, it is more than probable that relations with Carranza will be viewed by officials as of less importance hereafter.

Persons in a position to know the viewpoint of the president and his cabinet officers, say the disposition of the administration is to insist upon the facts of the Benton episode, and possession of the body for medical examination; but that there is nothing yet to indicate a critical stage.

Another published report, which attracted attention of officials, was to the effect that the American embassy in Mexico City had been equipped with machine guns. The only arms there, it was said, are several rifles, imported just before the street fighting which ended in Madero's downfall.

Consul Goes to Hidalgo.

Laredo, Texas, Feb. 26. — United States Consul Garrett and S. J. Hill of Laredo, brother-in-law of Clemente Vergara, were expected to reach the scene of Vergara's execution by Mexican Federals near Hidalgo, Mex., today.

The consul's visit to Hidalgo today was largely to demand formally that Vergara's body be surrendered to the family for burial. Opposition to this was not expected, for, at last reports, the body still was hanging to a tree and the Mexican troops have not denied the manner of his death.

Personal responsibility for Vergara's death, however, hardly will be fixed until an extensive investigation is made. Col. Alvarez, commander of Nuevo Laredo, has assured Consul Garrett that the guilty men will be punished.

A report that rebels were responsible for the seizure of Vergara on his island pasture in the Rio Grande and his subsequent death was not given credence by those in touch with border affairs. It was pointed out that rebels have not operated in that section of Coahuila for months, though there are several bands of Federals opposite Vergara's ranch.

Report on Bauch Doubted.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 26.—Investigation of the story told last night by A. Michaelis to the effect that Gustav Bauch and thirteen other Americans were locked up in a jail in Juarez was set on foot today.

Despite Michaelis' assertion that his father is a Brooklyn, N. Y., banker, his tale was received skeptically, for American Consul Edwards has been assured that with the execution of W. S. Benton and the removal of Bauch no foreigners remained behind the bars.

No Such House Found.

New York, Feb. 26.—No relatives or acquaintances of A. Michaelis could be found today in Brooklyn. There is no such street and number as that given by Michaelis as his former home.

Where Is George McCarthy.

Painesville, Ohio, Feb. 26.—The family here of George W. McCarthy, a railroad engineer, were waiting today for word from Secretary of State Bryan and Congressman Gordon, as to whether a report that McCarthy had been slain in Mexico more than a year ago had been verified.

Mrs. McCarthy has placed the inquiry in the hands of Judge C. H. Nye here, and he has communicated with the state department and the representative from this district as to McCarthy's fate.

McCarthy was a railroad engineer and is reported to have been dragged from a train en route from El Paso to Mexico City and killed. It was two years ago that he left this city. He went first to New Orleans. Later his wife heard from him and he was in Texas. He wrote her early in December, 1912, that he would be home for Christmas, but he did not come. She placed the matter in the hands of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which McCarthy was a member, and they learned that he had entered the employ of the Texas & Pacific, left El Paso with a train for Mexico, and never came back. McCarthy was 32 years of age. He was a native of Bridgeport, Conn.

Was Villa's Chauffeur.

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Request has been sent to Thomas D. Edwards, American consul at Juarez, Mex., to conduct a search for Frank J. Schuyler, 20 years old, of East Syracuse, who has acted as chauffeur for Gen. Villa. Previous to three weeks ago, relatives had received frequent letters from Schuyler. He had participated in motorcycle races in various parts of the country under the name of "Jack O'Neil."

accepted the offer. Ruskin once said that the cartoonist might have won renown as a painter, and added: "Tenniel has much of the symbolic mystery of imagination which belonged to the great leaders of classic art."

Tenniel was a wizard in forecasting political events. He and his associates would gather on Wednesdays and discuss the subject of the cartoon for the next week's issue. Thus they had to decide a week in advance what was to be the outcome of current political troubles.

Only Failed Once.

In all his half century of service, Tenniel, it is said, made but one false prophecy. It was during the rebellion in Sudan. Gen. Gordon and his army were besieged in Khartum. A British army was marching to the rescue. The next issue of Punch showed Tenniel's cartoon, picturing Gordon clasping the hand of the relieving general, with the army of relief in the background. The title read: "At Last." The journal was scarcely on the newsstands when word came that Khartum had fallen, and Gordon and his garrison massacred.

Americans will remember the furore created by Tenniel during the Mason and Slidell affair in 1861, when the United States was forced, in the interests of peace, to give way to England. Mason and Slidell, appointed by the Confederate government to represent it in England and France, were seized on board an English mail steamer by Capt. Wilkes of the United States sloop San Jacinto, and Great Britain forthwith demanded their release.

Punch gloated over the episode, and Tenniel pictured Lincoln in a cartoon as a coon up a tree. Beneath stood John Bull with a gun. The legend ran:

"Coon: 'Air yo in earnest, Colonel?'
"John Bull: 'I am.'
"Coon: 'Don't fire; I'll come down.'"

On Lincoln's Death.

On Lincoln's death Tenniel's bitterness against him disappeared. His cartoon pictured Britannia in sorrow laying a wreath upon the martyred American's bier with Shirley Brook's lines:

"You lay a wreath on murdered Lincoln's bier,
You, who with mocking pencil, went to trace
Broad for the self-complacent British sneer
His length of shambling limb, his furrowed face?"

Sir John was a typical old-world gentleman—born in London in 1820. During the latter part of his life he became totally blind. Even during his service on Punch he had the use of but one eye. The other was lost during his youth while fencing with his father. He bore his affliction philosophically. In referring to it on one occasion he remarked: "It is a curious thing, isn't it, that two of the principal men of Punch, Du Maurier (author of Trilby) and I, have only two eyes between us?"

The political leaders, artists and literateurs in London will gather about the bier of the venerable patriarch to pay tribute to his genius. It is probable that a memorial exhibition will be given of his most celebrated sketches.

EXPLOSION HEARD ALL OVER BERLIN

Twelve Dead and Eight Dying Owing to Factory Disaster.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—Twelve men were killed and eight others fatally injured today in an explosion which destroyed an extensive aniline dye factory in Rummelsburg, a suburb. There were 400 employes in the building at the time of the explosion, which was heard all over Berlin.

The firemen were unable to enter the buildings owing to the poisonous fumes, and it was not possible to ascertain the full extent of the disaster.

U. S. UNIVERSITY IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

Dillingham Bill Would Meet Wish First President Expressed.

Washington, Feb. 26.—George Washington's wish, expressed in his will, that a University of the United States be established in the District of Columbia, may be fulfilled by a bill introduced by Senator Dillingham. The university would provide the highest possible instruction in the sciences, arts, and letters, to promote the advancement of knowledge by original research, and so relate itself to state universities as to encourage elevation and uniformity of standards.

The bill would appropriate not more than $500,000 for grounds and buildings, and a fund of $5,000,000, the income of which would be used to maintain the university.

DANISH CREW ARE LANDED IN SPAIN

Corunna, Spain, Feb. 26.—The German steamship Wildenfels today landed fourteen survivors of the Danish steamship Ekliptika, which foundered in the Bay of Biscay during a storm on Feb. 23.

The rescue of the shipwrecked sailors occurred amid enormous seas. Boats were lowered from the Wildenfels, but were unable to get alongside the Ekliptika. Everybody on the Ekliptika jumped into the water and fifteen were picked up, but the captain of the Danish vessel was fatally injured and died after he had been dragged into the lifeboat. Seven of the crew were drowned.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase In Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal, amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by the Boyce drug store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

OPPOSE CHARGING FOR SPOTTING CARS

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 26.—A resolution protesting against the recent suggestion of the Interstate commerce commission that railroads should charge for spotting cars on private sidings and switches was adopted as a special meeting of the chamber of commerce of Pittsburg. The session was stormy and the resolution was carried by a majority of one vote.

H. H. Willack, in furthering the resolution, stated that to charge for spotting would mean an increase of at least 10 per cent in freight rates for owners of switches and sidings, of whom there are more than 25,000 in the territory affected.

GATHERING OF LAND MEN

Convention in Minneapolis Next Month Will Be Largely Attended.

There is every indication that the landman's convention which will be held at the Hotel Dyckman in Minneapolis on March 4 and 5 will be largely attended.

The committee in charge, consisting of E. C. Garrigues of Minneapolis, E. F. Farmer of Minneapolis, W. R. MacKenzie, secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, John D. Deets, secretary of the Southern Minnesota Better Development league, and M. E. Harrison, secretary of the West Central Minnesota Development association, has received many assurances of support. The committee believes that representative men from all parts of Minnesota will gather in Minneapolis on the dates mentioned and that many from this part of the state will be in attendance. All railroads have agreed to offer special terms and co-operate with the movement in every way. Following is the program:

Prayer, Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D., Minneapolis, St. Mark's Episcopal church; address of welcome, Mayor Wallace G. Nye, Minneapolis; response, Chairman E. C. Garrigues; appointment of committees on organization, resolutions, etc.; address, "Boosting," Charles S. Mitchell, Duluth, Duluth News Tribune; address, "Possibilities of Minnesota," Allen D. CANADIAN PACIFIC WILL OBEY THE LAW

Has No Intention of Using the Panama Canal.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Assurances that the Canadian Pacific railroad has no intention of attempting to evade the provision of the Panama canal act barring railroad-owned ships from the canal, has reached Washington through official channels.

With this assurance came a further declaration that the Canadian Pacific would not send its fleets through the canal even if there were question about its right to do so, because the company's officials could see no advantage to be gained by changing their present routes across the Atlantic and Pacific.

This information was received with particular interest here because Senator Bristow and others in congress have charged that agitation in favor of repealing the section of the canal act giving free tolls to American vessels was in the interest of the great Canadian railway and steamship corporation.

It has been suggested in the debates, however, that the transcontinental roads opposed the free tolls provisions not so much on account of the advantage American ships would be given over other nations, as because of the low rates at which ships passing through the canal free of tolls would be able to carry freight in competition with the railways.

News of the attitude of the Canadian Pacific came in the form of an official report from that corporation to the Canadian government.

"NO WORK, NO FOOD," ORDER TO PRISONERS

Lazy Ones Are Handcuffed to Trees in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—County prisoners who refuse to work on public roads are handcuffed to trees and fed upon bread and water until they are willing to do so, according to statements made here by persons who recently concluded an investigation of accusations made by alleged victims of such punishment.

The charge was made by ten men who were recently convicted here of rioting in the Plaza last Christmas day. They were sentenced to serve from three months to two years in the county jail, which meant that they would help build roads. One of the prisoners charged that he had been thus trussed up one day until noon, although he had been willing to go to work at 10 o'clock.

Capt. Shehl, in charge of the prisoners, said all that was done to the unruly was to handcuff them to trees, and that the result was merely to make the men "awfully tired." He said the law prohibits striking them.

ST. LOUIS PROTESTS NEW GRAIN RULING

Asks Commerce Commission to Restore Old Privilege.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Cancellation of the privilege of trans-shipping grain and grain products from St. Louis and East St. Louis to points east, unless the inbound bills of lading show that the grain actually originated west of St. Louis, induced the filing of a complaint with the interstate commerce commission today by the Merchants' exchange of St. Louis. The commission was requested to restore the privilege without the necessity of proving the origin of the grain.

FEVER SCOURGE IN COLLEGE TOWN.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 26—Mayor Dobbins has ordered all theaters and billiard rooms closed because of fear of scarlet fever. Theaters and public schools in Urbana also have been closed. This action followed a conference with representatives of the state board of health. The situation was declared to be well in hand by officials, who denied there was any intention of quarantining the two cities.

Many students of the state university have departed for their homes in

CATARRH OF NOSE AND STOMACH

Relieved by Peruna.

MR. DELBERT B. CRAFT

Mr. Delbert B. Craft, R. R. 4, Lowell Ind., writes:

"For a long time I suffered with chronic catarrh of nose, throat and stomach. I would continually take cold and my stomach was in bad condition. I truly suffered untold misery. I took various medicines and tried the treatment of several physicians, but I felt no better.

"A friend advised me to take Peruna. I wrote to the Peruna Medical Department, who prescribed treatment. As soon as I commenced to take Peruna, I was surprised at the relief it gave me. I kept on taking it until I had taken thirteen bottles and was cured.

"I would advise all those afflicted with catarrh to use your remedy."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

spite of assurances by Dean Clark that no new cases had developed during the day, and that none of the sixteen patients at the university was seriously ill.

The deaths of Miss Ona Reno, a volunteer nurse, and Mrs. Frank Lingren, a bride, were the direct cause of Mayor Dobbins' action. Five deaths have occurred, two of them among students. Fifty students are quarantined.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS MOST BANKS LISTED

Minnesota Has 270 in New Federal Reserve System.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Pennsylvania led all states in the number of national banks applying for membership in the new Federal reserve banking system, according to figures given out by the treasury department. Guilty of Manslaughter.

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 26.—John Stangus, who stabbed Frank Moran, Sept. 10, was found guilty of manslaughter.

Mothers Often at Wit's End

—trying to find a safe, nourishing food that will agree with the baby that has just been weaned.

This is an important epoch, and on securing proper food depends the future growth and health of the child.

Grape-Nuts prepared as follows has often solved the perplexing problem.

Place one or two teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts in a cup of hot water; stir for five minutes, at intervals; pour off the liquid portion and add a little sugar. Feed this "liquid Grape-Nuts" to the child.

Milk and cream, and more of the softened Grape-Nuts may be added later on.

This food is convenient, economical and safe. It is worthy a trial, especially where other "Infant Foods" do not make good.

LEWIS MEN AT BANQUET

Big Gathering of Scotsmen Enjoy Dinner and Entertainment.

The third annual banquet of the Lewis society of Duluth took place last evening at Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

As the menu was printed in Gaelic its reproduction for the benefit of the general public is considered dangerous. Following the dinner a typical Scots dance was given, with the music furnished by an orchestra of Canadian Lewismen. The society is formed by Scotsmen and women whose birthplace was in the island of Lewis, just off the West coast of Scotland, or by their descendants, and it has a large membership in this part of the country. Its officers are: President, Simon Clark; honorary presidents, Norman Macdonald and D. M. Macdonald; vice president, M. Macaskill; secretary, M. Buchanan. The entertainment committee last evening consisted of M. Macaskill, Norman A. Matheson, Norman MacLean, William Morrison, P. M. Young, John McKay and D. M. Morrison. Fully 140 attended last evening, many of them being from the ranges, one from Winnipeg and several from the Twin Cities.

Simon Clark was toastmaster, and following his remarks bagpipe selections were given by the Clan Stewart pipe band. P. G. Brown sang "The March of the Cameron Men;" D. M. Morrison gave an address on "Religion and Education in Lewis;" Miss McLean danced the Highland fling; Miss Elizabeth Macdonald sang "Sound the Pibroch;" Alex Macrae spoke on "The Land We Left and the Land We Live In;" J. R. Batchelor sang "Macgregor's Gathering;" Miss Daisy Macaskill gave the sword dance; Franklin P. Stevenson sang "Swedish Lauderism;" W. D. Gordon of Minneapolis recited "Jeems Kay's Christhmas Goose;" Don MacLennan of Minneapolis gave a Gaelic song; Thomas Chalmers gave a reading; and a Gaelic trio that was much enjoyed consisted of D. M. Morrison, Capt. M. A. MacLennan and Don MacLennan. The closing number was a Scotch reel by Percy Young, John MacKenzie, Robert Mowbra and D. E. MacLennan. Only one number of the original program was changed. Mrs. Alex MacLennan was to have given a vocal solo, but was prevented by sickness. In her place Mrs. T. R. Hancock gave a recitation. Miss Mina Macaskill was accompanist.

HAS $20,000,000 FOR PUBLIC GOOD

Cleveland Foundation May Reach $30,000,000 By 1915.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26.—F. H. Goff, originator of the Cleveland foundation, announces that $20,000,000 has been pledged for the purposes of the institution, and predicts that the amount will reach $30,000,000 in another year. The foundation was formed to provide for wealthy men a means of devoting during life, or leaving at death, a portion of their property for the public good.

Coincident with the announcement came the appointment of a committee to supervise an impartial investigation of local industrial, social and civic conditions, the material gathered to be used in the proper expenditure of the foundation's funds.

The committee will inquire into such matters as the social evil, infant mortality, conditions in workshops, the wage problem, and the divorce evil.

Investigation of the social evil may be made in connection with the work of a committee representing the Federated churches. This committee started its duties yesterday, its particular object being the abolishment of the segregated district.

THACKERAY BOOKS AND LETTERS SOLD

First Day's Dealings Bring in a Total of $32,901.

New York, Feb. 26.—The sale of the Thackeray collection from the library of Maj. William H. Lambert of Philadelphia began here yesterday. It yielded at afternoon and evening sessions $32,901 for 389 items. There are 1,331 items in the library to be disposed of.

The day's top price was $1,075, paid by the C. E. Laurrat company of Boston for Charlotte Bronte's preface to the second edition of "Jane Eyre," which she dedicated to Thackeray.

Thackeray's admiration for Mrs. William Brookfield, the wife of a clergyman, who was also his friend, found abundant utterance in letters. Maj. Lambert had a collection which had never been published. There were forty-three items in the lot. They brought a total of $8,877.50. George D. Smith bought all the others. He paid $775 for a letter from Thackeray to Mrs. Brookfield in which he said:

"When H. Hallem spoke as he did tonight I am sure he said what has been upon his mind for many months, that he was angry at my constant visits to you. But, thank God, I have never concealed the affection I have for you. Your husband knows it as well as I do, and I think I have such a claim to the love of both of you as no relationship, however close, ought to question or supersede."

CHEER SUGGESTION TO JOIN DEMOCRATS

Utah Bull Moosers Adjourn Without Taking Any Action.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 26.—The state conference of Utah Progressives adjourned without having taken formal action, although declarations by local speakers favoring fusion with the Democrats and opposing fusion with the Republicans were applauded. The platform adopted contains a plank against accepting campaign contributions from corporations and against assessments on candidates of the party. The delegates present made up a cash fund of $500 for campaign purposes and signed pledges calling for $600 a month in addition.

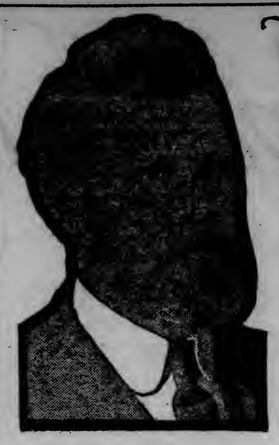

The platform adopted declares for the initiative, referendum and recall, direct primaries and non-partisan judiciary, and pledges the party to put complete senatorial, state and county tickets in the field.

Demand Utilities Commission.

The "invisible government" is charged with having prevented the enactment of laws fixing maximum freight and passenger rates, as provided by the Constitution, and a public utilities commission is demanded. A state labor commission, a state immigration commission, the use of the state's credit for constructing irrigation projects, and reference of the liquor question to popular vote, are favored.

The platform condemns existing taxation practices as favoring corporations and rich and influential individuals to the disadvantage of smaller taxpayers, and provides for the maintenance of the party organization and integrity.

The conference was well attended by delegates from various portions of the state.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Distress" writes: "My hair is so oily and straggling I wish you could tell me something to make it soft and fluffy. It makes me positively homely. I also have a great deal of dandruff."

Answer: Many women would be more beautiful if they had soft, fluffy hair. I can tell you a very simple remedy, one that will make your hair soft and fluffy. It will overcome dandruff, itching scalp and lustreless and falling hair. Ask your druggist for a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol and use according to directions, and you will be surprised to note the difference in your hair.

"Fred W." writes: "I suffer with headache, indigestion, nervous debility and am also thin almost to the danger point. What can be done for me?"

Answer: You can very readily overcome these difficulties by using 3-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. They are put up in sealed cartons with full directions. These are highly recommended by physicians, and if used according to directions you will soon be rid of headache, your indigestion will be gone and you will gain from 10 to 30 pounds. These tablets should be taken regularly for several months and I am confident you will gain in flesh.

"Lee" writes: "I have tried so many remedies for rheumatism that I am almost afraid to try any more, but if you can tell me a sure remedy I will try it."

Answer: Do not be disheartened because you have not been able to find something that would overcome your rheumatism, for you can be relieved if you will take what I tell you. Get from the drugstore: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams, sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla, 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at mealtime and again before going to bed.

"Fern" writes: "I have suffered with a bad cough for some time and I am also weak and tired most of the time, which I think is due to the severe coughing. Can you give me a remedy?"

Answer: Yes, your weakness is due to the coughing, but you should be well relieved by using the following: Get a 2½ oz. package of essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle, then take a teaspoonful every hour or two until the cough is cured. This makes a full pint of the very best and safest cough syrup. If your druggist does not have mentho-laxene, have him order it for you of the wholesale firms.

"Old Couple" writes: "My wife and I are both victims of kidney and bladder disorders and have taken treatment for some time, but don't get relief. Will you give us your advice?"

Answer: "The ordinary symptoms from such disorder are puffing under the eyes, swelling ankles, feverishness, dry skin, blood-shot eyes, pains like rheumatism, and a too scant or copious flow of urine, with frequent calls, especially at night. The best prescription I can give is balmwort tablets, a splendid compound, especially for such troubles. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Doctor: What can I take for a bad case of indigestion? I have suffered with it for many years and nothing I take helps at all. I am also bothered with constipation."

Answer: You should not neglect indigestion and constipation, as it leads to more serious trouble; very frequently appendicitis is caused by this neglect. Begin at once and take tablets triopeptine. These are packed in sealed cartons with full directions for taking.

"P. H. C." writes: "When a man is down and out, with such symptoms as loss of appetite, insomnia, vertigo, weakness, nervousness, irritability and a listless tired feeling even after a night's rest, what can be done to restore oneself to good vigorous health?"

Answer: Right living and a powerful, harmless, invigorating tonic, such as three grain cadomene tablets should cause new life forces to accrue to your great benefit. Your recuperative forces will gradually improve and health return.

"Mrs. W. W. C." asks: "Can I take off 40 pounds of fat? I weigh 180 pounds; too much for my height."

Answer: Yes, you should by taking, as per the directions which accompany, 5-grain arbolene tablets, put up in sealed tubes and sold by well-stocked druggists. They are very good for any fleshy person to take.

"Anna R." writes: "I have taken medicine from several doctors for liver and kidney trouble and constipation, but it does not seem to help me at all. My skin is sallow. I have constant headaches and dizzy spells. What shall I do?"

Answer: The best remedy that I know for your trouble is 3-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets). These are packed in sealed tubes with full directions. Most of the remedies only aggravate, but if you take the sulpherb tablets regularly for a few weeks you should be well. This will purify the blood and your skin will lose that sallow look.

"Busy Mother"—Bedwetting can be easily controlled in children by giving them the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water an hour before each meal.

• • •

"Samuel E." writes: "My pitiable condition is obviously due to intemperate living, but if I can find relief I will surely not disobey the laws of nature again. I am troubled with insomnia, nervousness, weakness, trembling limbs, severe headaches and a general poor health which unfits me for both work and pleasure."

Answer: A powerful tonic which will improve the nerves, aid nutrition and stimulate the organic functions can put you on your feet and make a real healthy man of you. Obtain three grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes and take regularly as per directions which accompany each package.

CRITICIZE PARCEL POST EXTENSION

Washington, Feb. 26.—Criticisms of Postmaster General Burleson's action in abolishing the 50-mile parcel post zones and extending the service's low rates to territory within the 150-mile zones blocked passage of the post-office appropriation bill yesterday in the senate. Senators Bryan and Bristow led the attack, the latter questioning other senators one by one as to whether they regarded the rates as fair to the places having the short haul.

"The American people have benefited from the postmaster general's change," replied Senator Vardaman, "and anyway, no system is perfect."

Senator Williams disagreed with his colleague.

Senator Bristow was speaking when the bill was laid aside for the day.

Lewis Bull Moose Choice.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 26.—William Draper Lewis, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, was formally invited to become the Progressive candidate for the nomination of governor of Pennsylvania, at a conference of Washington party leaders here yesterday.

Brigands Capture Americans.

London, Feb. 26.—Two Americans have been captured and carried off by Albanian brigands, according to a telegram received at Vienna from El Bassan, Albania, which was forwarded to the Central News agency here.

ELIOT OPPOSES ANY CUT IN IMMIGRATION

Says Country Needs Laborers in the Rural Districts.

New York, Feb. 26.—The further restriction of immigration would increase the scarcity of labor in the rural districts and smaller cities in the United States, says Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard in a letter received by the National Liberal Immigration league, written in reply to the question whether he still held a view to that effect given expression on Jan. 10, 1911.

Dr. Eliot says that a scarcity will prevail as long as there is a sparseness of population and enormous unused natural resources, in the development of which both new capital and labor will be needed.

"Not a single argument for further restriction of immigration has yet been made," he adds, "which does not violate the plainest principles of sound American industrial development, or which does not propose to abandon or maim the noble policy of the United States which has made this country the hope of the multitudes who cannot yet find freedom and comfort in their native lands."

Woman's Realm

An explanation of the Florence Crittenden Home and its aims was the subject of an interesting talk given by Mrs. Flora S. Davis, superintendent of the Crittenden home at Minneapolis at a meeting held this morning in the courthouse for women interested in social work in the city.

"When a girl comes to us for care and protection she is made to feel that she has a home and is put on her own honor as far as we feel it wise to do so," she said. "Advice and counsel are then given and home management is taught. The highest ideal we can put before these girls is the home management and they become very proud of their knowledge of housekeeping. We secure legitimate employment for them, make them feel that we are not going to let them fall, and trust them. This helps much in straightening out even the most incorrigible of the girls, and with a little study of the individuality of each girl we can reach them as schools with a stronger correctional method could not do.

"There is no age limit to our work, any girl or woman asking for care, or for whom care is asked, is received and aid is never refused in so far as we are able to help."

Mrs. Davis told of individual cases of girls who had come to the Home for care and shelter, and spoke of the co-operation of the Home with other institutions of the kind in Minneapolis which were receiving the backing of the civic officials.

Surprise Party.

Miss Lillian Gruneau was pleasantly surprised at her home, 1219 East Ninth street, last evening by a party of friends. The time was spent with dancing and games by the following guests:

Misses—
Sadie Mondeau, Lillian Gruneau,
Dolly Mondeau, Anna Johnson,
Mae Zaiser, Elsie Hubert,
May Holmes, Mrs. Gruneau.
Messrs.—
Kurt Florman, James Berry,
Carl Johnson, Alf Teppin,
Robert Zaiser, Art O'Donnel.
Erick Johnson.

At Y. W. C. A.

All members of the Young Women's Christian association are invited to an informal evening party to be held this evening at the association building. A little sketch, "Her Old Sweet Hearts," will be given by a few of the girls who live at the building and there will be games and the serving of refreshments.

Junior Guild.

A special meeting of the Junior Guild of St. James is being planned for Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Bishop's clubrooms. A musical program will be given and a short talk by some of the members of the senior guild. All young people interested are cordially invited to attend.

Lenten Services.

A special musical program has been outlined for the Lenten and Easter season for the vesper service hour at the Pilgrim Congregational church on Sunday afternoons.

There will be a fifteen-minute organ program by Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Dworshak or Miss Faith Helen Rogers each Sunday beginning at 4:15 o'clock and the vesper service will begin at 4:30 o'clock. The service next Sunday afternoon, the first Sunday in Lent, will be devoted largely to music, the vested chorus choir under the direction of Miss Rogers with Mrs. Dworshak at the organ, will give as features of the program numbers from Gounod's beautiful and famous "Solemn Mass to St. Cecilia."

On Palm Sunday, April 5, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Theodore Dubois will be sung entire. This is one of the most beautiful of modern choral works, the annual presentation of which is becoming an impressive accompaniment of the Lenten season in the musical centers of the country. Single numbers from this cantata will be sung at intervals during March and on Sunday, March 22, the music of the afternoon will be given by the Apollo club.

These services are open to the public and all interested are invited.

Hostess at Bridge.

Mrs. A. H. Gibson of 1509 East Second street was hostess at a pretty bridge party on Tuesday afternoon at her home. Auction bridge was played at nine tables and the rooms were decorated in yellow and white with Jonquils and tulips in pretty clusters. The card favors were won by Mrs. E. C. Alstead, Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. L. L. Culbertson, Mrs. James Maney, Mrs. S. L. Reichert and Mrs. C. A. Bronson. Mrs. Gibson was assisted during the afternoon by Misses Mary Emily Merritt, Dorothy Meakin, Gladys Duby and Mamie Bray.

Club Socials.

A Scandinavian afternoon has been planned for the March social of the Twentieth Century club, which will be held next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the library clubroom. Two talks of unusual interest will be given, one on "Reminiscences of Sweden and Some Swedes" by Mrs. Harold Figraeus and Mrs. H. P. Bjorge will talk on "The Evolution of Norwegian Women in the Past Century."

Mrs. J. B. Richards, general social chairman of the club, and Mrs. I. N. Sodahl, Mrs. William Carlson and Mrs. Odin Halden will be the hostesses for the afternoon. Tea will be served after the talks and members have the privilege of inviting guests to this affair.

At Bryant School.

Another social affair of the club which will be held tomorrow in the informal reception which will be held at the Bryant school from 3 to 6 o'clock, when the club members will receive with the members of the Bryant School Mothers' club for all women of the city who are interested and especially for mothers of the Bryant school pupils.

The regular meeting of the Modern Drama class of the club will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral for the continuation of the reading of D'Annunzio's play, "The Dead City."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

A Parent Should Have a Child's Confidence.

What to do to gain the confidence of children is a question that has ever been uppermost in the hearts of all true parents, though they may not have been particularly successful in entering, as they would like to, into the interests and ambitions of their offspring. It is that they do not know how, and not that they are indifferent to the happiness and well-being, both morally and physically, of their children.

Should you ask me to show you the roads by which you might arrive at the destination of your child's unbounded confidence, I should point to those whose sign-boards bore "Truth," "Justice," "Consideration" and "Firmness" upon their wide flung arms. If these are adhered to and a little sympathy and understanding of childish pleasures and sorrows also ever borne in mind, there should result almost complete confidence between parent and child.

Do you realize that some of the very first things a child notices in his parents, I may say his mother particularly, because she is more clearly associated with him in his daily life, is her inclination and very generally her habit of not being exactly truthful in her talks and dealings with him. She often in this way sows the seed for a slight distrust most unconsciously and most innocently.

Never make the mistake of promising a child something and then failing to keep your word, if you would hold his respect and confidence. Usually the mother thinks that the child will forget, or hopes that it will, anyway. Often the child is scolded and even punished for bringing up the subject of the promise, and often, too, the mother patches up one broken promise with another of the same nature. This is neither truth nor justice, and the child soon learns to distinguish that it is an injustice.

Show your child some consideration. He is a human being like yourself with hopes and ambitions and ideas all his own. They are just as worthy of consideration as any of yours, and possibly more so. Whenever he does wrong or something that you think is wrong, give him an opportunity to explain his side. A child who is punished for something for which he is not responsible does not forget the injustice very quickly, and sometimes never.

Be firm with your children if you would enjoy their respect and confidence. Do not tell them one thing today and something else tomorrow. The children are at a loss how to understand this vacillating tendency, and here again children and parents lose something from the common bond of confidence that should hold them together. A firm and loving hand is necessary in the guidance of children.

She claims equality of sex by calling herself J. Hungerford Milbank and not Mrs. Milbank. She is the organizer of a regiment of women in New York and she hopes the movement for the military training of women will extend to the uttermost parts of the United States. She has letters from many cities showing an interest in the proposition. The Milbank female soldiers are organized as the First Regiment of the United States Columbians and they drill every evening in one of the public schools. They wear this tasteful uniform and the privates carry rifles while the officers wear swords. Col. Milbank says military drill will teach discipline and poise to women and she thinks most of them need both.

"The Red Rose."

"The Red Rose," a musical comedy that has made the rounds of the theatrical circuits for several years and which was introduced in Duluth by Valeska Surratt, renewed old acquaintances at the Lyceum theater last night with Lottie Kendall substituted for the dashing Valeska. Miss Kendall, while not of the "abandon" type, gave a pleasing interpretation of the artist model's role and won laurels probably equal to those of her predecessor.

The music of "The Red Rose," which was so infectious when it was first heard, has lost a little by the wear and tear of many months of whistling on the streets and innumerable repetitions in cafes and cabarets, but it still contains a few gems. Miss Kendall, while not possessing a remarkable voice, appeared to advantage, and had excellent support in many numbers.

Particularly pleasing were the numbers "Come Along, My Cherie," "I'd Like to Go On a Honeymoon With You," "The Queen of Vanity Fair," and others.

A petite and attractive singer, new to Duluth audiences, is Sylvia Jason, who appeared as "Gyp." She possesses vivacity and charm and is a sweet melodist. This combination of attractions made her one of the favorites of the cast.

Al Rauh, as "Dick Lorimer," in the leading male role, played his part well. His able assistance to Miss Kendall did much toward making the production a success.

Miss Kendall's gowns were varied and charming and the chorus was attractively costumed.

Amusement Notes.

One of the biggest pictures seen at the Lyceum was "The Traffic in Souls" last week. Hundreds of people were not able to get seats during the engagement.

Another feature picture dealing with the same subject opened at the Lyceum today and will continue Friday and Saturday. It is entitled "The Voice of Satan."

This picture is taken from New York life, and deals with the white slave traffic as at present carried on in the big cities, and at the same time brings out a lesson never to be forgotten. "The Voice of Satan" pictures were run in New York city for fourteen consecutive weeks to capacity business and were the subject of a Sunday sermon at nearly every English speaking church in the city during the engagement. During the coming engagement at the Lyceum there will be a matinee starting at 1:30 each afternoon.

Vaudeville performers are constantly devising new ways to pass the time while they are waiting for their appearance on the stage, and at the Orpheum theater there are two popular forms of amusement.

The Orpheum orchestra owns a checker board, and spirited games may be seen in progress in the dressing rooms at almost any time the theater is open. The musicians are "checker sharks" and whenever they are not in the orchestra pit playing, they may be found settling the checker championship. They are always on the lookout for any checker players among the visiting players, but only one has been found this season who could hold his own with the musicians.

This week another fad has displaced checkers in popularity. It is a silly little contrivance which has been called a "bong-bong," and consists of a wooden cup attached to a stick by a string. The hollow in the cup just fits over the end of the stick. The stick is flipped and an effort made to catch the cup on the end of the stick as it whirls in the air. Apparently the game could be suited only to an institution for the feeble minded, but those who come to scoff remain to "bong bong." The stage employes are going around with "bong-bongs" in one hand and shifting a piece of scenery with the other, and the performers may be seen in the wings diligently trying to catch a wooden cup on a stick while they wait for their cues. The game was introduced by two performers on last week's bill, who reported that it had spread all over the circuit and was as much a craze as diabolo was a few years ago.

Four acts of vaudeville and three reel feature film will be the attraction at the Empress theater for the last half of this week commencing with the matinee performance today. The three reel feature film, "The Lost Treasure," will open the program. This beautiful Western story is enacted by

EARL F. LEASOR
As the Roman Buffoon at the Empress.

Edward Coxen and Winnifred Greenwood. "The Lost Treasure" relates how in the frontier days a breath of suspicion was enough to incite the ever-ready mob to violence and the lynch law.

Headlining the vaudeville acts will be La Veen Cross and company, who have an act entitled, "Roman Sports and Pastimes." The company includes, S. W. La Veen, Alex Cross, Max Katz, Charles Kuttler and Earl F. Leasor. There is said to be plenty of clean comedy in the act.

Second in importance will be Reba and Parquet, dancers.

Downs and Gomez are a pair of colored singers.

The fourth act is Becker and Adams, a pair of comedy singers and talkers.

CABLES TO CALL HER HUSBAND A FOOL

English Woman Upbraids Spouse Who Deserted Her.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 26.—"Cowardly fool! How about the children?" was the text of a cable message which Charles Cale, a passenger on the steamer Arabic, found awaiting on his arrival from Liverpool. It was from his wife, whom he is alleged to have left with two children at Burnley, Eng., when he eloped with Mrs. Florence Beavers. The couple, who had crossed the ocean as "Charles Heap and wife," admitted their identity, according to immigration officials. They were ordered deported.

MASONIC FUNERAL FOR H. M. TELLEE.

Denver, Colo., Feb. 26.—The funeral of Former United States Senator Henry M. Teller was held today. Private services at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. G. E. Tyler, were conducted by Rev. B. T. Vincent, a retired Methodist Episcopal minister and lifelong friend of the former senator, assisted by Rev. Guy E. Konkel of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, of which the deceased was recently a member. Interment was made with Masonic honors. The services constituted one of the most remarkable Masonic tributes ever paid a Coloradoan. The ritual at the grave, which was attended by several hundred Masons, was conducted by William S. Pickerell of Durango, grand master of Masons of Colorado, assisted by other grand lodge officers.

LIBRARY GETS NEW ROOMS

New Books and Equipment Also Provided for West End.

Sunday Opening and Longer Daily Hours Among Changes.

Beginning next week the West end branch of the Duluth public library will have large and commodious quarters. Moving from the old quarters at 222 Superior street began today and will continue until all the books and equipment have been moved to 20 North Twentieth avenue west, next to the Home laundry.

The old quarters were situated on the second floor and back from the street, making access to readers difficult. Miss Frances Earhart, chief librarian of the main library, and Mayor W. I. Prince have been working some time to secure better quarters, more equipment, and a larger collection of books. All the things have now been accomplished, and the residents of the West end are urged to take advantage of the excellent opportunities now offered.

The new quarters are in a store building on the first floor with a front view. This will make access easy and the rooms are light and comfortable. Several other changes have been made to better conditions.

The hours have been changed and lengthened for readers. The library will now be open from 1 to 9 p. m. daily except Sundays when the hours will be from 3 to 8. The former hours were 3 to 6 daily and 3 to 9 Saturday.

Sunday opening is a new departure in the West end, and this change has been made only by extra expense and more help.

Miss Maud Grogan, the librarian, will be in charge and will be assisted on Saturdays and evenings.

Owing to the work entailed in making necessary changes the new quarters will not be opened until Tuesday or Wednesday next. The old rooms also will be closed Friday and Saturday of this week.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE AND POLITICAL RINGS.

Henry Rines, speaker of the house and a candidate for the Republican nomination for state auditor, makes this very pertinent suggestion in his newspaper, the Mora Times:

> It is only through patronage that the state machine is able to continue in power. The fact is creating a strong sentiment for the placing of state employes under civil service. They would then hold office during good behavior, and would not be obliged to depend upon the success of some candidate for office to insure their continuance upon the state's payroll. Under civil service better work would be secured. Instead of devoting their time to politics the state's servants would be attending to their official duties.

The argument is unanswerable.

Nobody can be alive to what is going on in this state without knowing that a great deal of the time for which the taxpayers pay well is spent in political service instead of public service.

There has lately been a rather wholesale distribution of state jobs among country newspaper editors, accompanied by a great access of zeal in behalf of the administration and its political plans.

One great cause of the high cost of state government in Minnesota is easily located when so many of the state's servants are politicians first and public servants second.

It is waste, and worse than waste because it helps perpetuate a condition of state government that ought not to exist for a moment.

Minnesota should by all means put its servants on a civil service basis, because it will make their jobs contingent upon good service instead of faithful political service that often is inconsistent with good public service, because it will relieve them of the embarrassments of forced political contributions, because it will save the state money and improve the state service, and above all because it will pull from under the machine its main props and supports and thus in destroying one machine will make impossible the formation of another.

A few more disappearances and Mexico will begin to get near the class to which Laporte, Ind., once belonged.

THE PLATFORM AND ITS PLANKS.

The Toledo Blade, a Bull Moose victim, betrays concern over the fate of two planks in the Democratic platform.

It notes that President Wilson is convinced that this plank was an error of judgment:

> We favor the exemption from tolls of American ships engaged in coastwise trade passing through the Panama canal.

And the Blade asks if this plank, too, is to be cast overboard as a mistake:

> We favor a single presidential term, and to that end urge the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution making the president of the United States ineligible for re-election, and we pledge the candidates of this convention to this principle.

Public opinion on the first-named plank is all but unanimous. It was a mistake; moreover, it seems to have been "slipped over" on the Democrats when they were not looking.

How about the second plank?

Well, in the first place, there is not a word in that plank to prevent President Wilson's being a candidate for a second term, or to stop the Democrats from supporting him for it.

It urges the adoption of a one-term constitutional amendment, which after it is submitted by congress must be ratified by three-fourths of the states. That's all; and in the meantime the present provision that does not limit a president even to a third or fourth term still stands.

There may be a wider division of opinion about this plank. For our part, we believe it to be a mistake, and to be not worthy of support. The people's best assurance of the loyalty of a president lies in the fact that if he makes good he may be honored by a renomination and re-election. That keeps any president eagerly listening for the will of the people.

But if there can be no re-election, it is human that the president should have less regard for public opinion and more for his own.

The president of the United States has far more power than many hereditary monarchs, and if he wields it regardless of the public will he can do an immense amount of mischief without running the least risk of impeachment. To adopt a one-term plank is to invite that danger. Moreover, it is to invite the danger that the end of a presidential term will come with an ideal president in office, engaged in highly delicate adjustments which he, better than anybody else, can complete, and the country thus be forced to "change horses in the middle of the stream" whether it wishes to do so or not, and whether it should or not.

Both of these planks are errors; and there is no sanctity in a political platform that can make error right. When a party, given power, finds that it is pledged to do the wrong thing, then it should by all means reject the planks which pledge it to error.

A party's first duty is to its country, not to its platform.

And by the way—don't forget those personal property taxes.

IS THE MISSION OF MUCK-RAKERS ENDED?

Perhaps most of us have not yet realized the revolutionary character of the change that has come over the discussion of public affairs in the last year or two.

Just a little while ago, most of us were busy belaboring Special Privilege and its captain of the host, Corrupt Politics.

Now our flails beat the empty air.

The enemy is no longer there.

Special Privilege is whipped out of the temple of liberty. Corrupt Politics is to be found only here and there, in some yet undisturbed basement lodging, or some overlooked attic rookery.

They will come back, of course, if the public relaxes its vigilance; but in the meantime they have gone; and the change is far more radical and momentous than most of us realize.

Mark Sullivan, a shrewd observer who reports congress for Collier's Weekly, thus vividly describes the situation from the Washington viewpoint:

> To an observer at Washington who takes a leisurely look at the past and tries to guess the future, the fact that probably is most worth insisting upon is that congress and the government are CLEAN.
> Five years ago, in the lower house Cannon and his little ring were completely in power. In the senate Aldrich was supreme and was just beginning to make that tariff of which many schedules were written by the employes of the corporations which benefited by them. The Lorimer scandal was just commencing. Special interests were in the saddle and the owners of privileges had the ear of the men in power. The beginning of the end of this old regime came with the Insurgent uprising, led by Murdock. The process was completed when Wilson's public reference to the lobby, last June, resulted in a house-cleaning. All the reason has gone for that agitation which made up the bulk of the political comment of from three to six years ago. At the present time there is practically no criticism to be made of the improper affiliations or alliances of public men with special interests. Almost no criticism can be made of men because of their motives. Such unfavorable criticism as can be directed at public men now must be based for the most part on low efficiency, or the lack of high intelligence, or a too intense partisanship. The intention to do what is right is practically universal; current discussion arises chiefly out of honest differences of opinion as to what is best. It is worth while for any person to spend an hour reflecting upon the political revolution that has occurred in the United States.

It is, indeed, a great and glorious victory. The confusions of boss rule, special privilege, blind partisanship and bourbonism that obstructed progress are cleared away. The path is clear for progress.

It is a great and glorious victory. But its fruits depend upon continued public vigilance and insistence.

Has she begun to talk about housecleaning yet?

THE NATIONAL RESERVE SYSTEM AND THE STATE BANKS.

Attorney General Smith having held that there is nothing in the laws of this state to prevent state banks participating in the Federal reserve system by buying stock in the Federal reserve banks, state bankers have before them the question whether or not they should follow the national banks into the new system.

This question each state bank or banker will decide according to the best judgment of the best interests of each state bank.

On the whole, it would seem that state banks have nothing to lose and much to gain by following the example of the national banks.

The participation of the state banks will increase the success of the new system; and the new system will provide resources of great value not available to banks which do not come into it.

Indeed, it is altogether probable that competition, when it is discovered that the rediscounting privilege gives the member banks a considerable advantage over non-member banks, will draw many if not all of the state banks into the new system.

The borrower-patron of a bank has a right to expect the largest possible latitude of service. If the member bank is able better to provide for its customers than the non-member bank, naturally business, following the line of least resistance, will tend away from the non-member banks to the member banks.

In short, it would not be at all surprising if bank customers insist that all banks shall be members of and participate in the advantages of the new banking system.

Which, surely, is a consummation greatly to be desired.

Why this delay in picking Becker for police commissioner of New York?

The Express Companies Bob Up

Kansas City Star: Isn't it curious the way the reactionary politicians think they can put things over on the people?

The latest case is their proposal to tie the hands of Postmaster General Burleson to keep him from developing the parcel post. Of course they would be the first to disavow any such intention. What they want to do is to "observe the Constitution." They fear American institutions would go to pot if the executive, in the person of the postmaster general, were to be allowed to encroach on the legislative department in order to increase the usefulness of the parcel post.

Don't you see that it would be highly dangerous to permit the postoffice department to run its own affairs? Why, it might make the rates so low that there would be a deficit. The only safe way is for congress to hold a tight rein.

That is the sort of argument that always is put up when something is to be put over. The Constitution and the "separation of the powers" invariably are invoked on behalf of special interests.

But the thing is too transparent in the attempt to cripple the parcel post. The people are "on" and the trick won't work.

Bunk.

Bunk, bunk, bunk! This is the land of bunk!
You may see men every day
Who are piling up riches fast;
Their daughters in fine array
Go haughtily riding past;
Their wives wear jewels rare,
In evil their sons are sunk;
What is it that has brought them here? Bunk!

Bunk is the stock in trade
Of seven men out of ten;
From bunk big fortunes are made
By pompous and talkative men;
Most of the things you see
And most of the stuff you read
Are nothing but bunk, for we
Ar partial to bunk, indeed.

We applaud the bunk in the play,
We like the bunk in the book;
There is bunk in the poet's lay
And bunk in the lady's look;
There is bunk in the statesman's speech
And bunk in the smooth man's smile;
Bunk is the thing that each
Is falling for all the while.

Bunk, Bunk, Bunk! This is the age of bunk!
It comes in every shape,
And it comes in every guise;
There seems to be no escape
For the foolish or for the wise
What most men call success,
And what most men think renown,
Is nothing more or less,
If the truth must be written down,
Than bunk.
—S. E. Kiser in the Chicago Record-Herald.

Meal Time in a Small Village.

Zona Gale in the Woman's Home Companion: I don't know how well you know villages, but I hope you know anyhow one, because if you don't they's things to life that you don't know yet. Nice things.

I was thinkling of that the morning that Friendship Village remembers still. I was walking down Daphne street pretty early, seeing everybody's breakfast fire smoke coming out of the chimney, and hearing everybody's boy splitting wood and whistling out by the chip pile, and smelling everybody's fried mush and warmed-up potatoes and griddle cakes floating out, sort of homely and old-fashioned and comfortable.

"Look at the family," I says to myself, "sitting down to breakfast, all up and down the street."

The Torment of Cold.

Sidney Lanier: I thank heaven that I know what it is to be cold; to be cold from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, to be cold from the cuticle in to the heart; I thank heaven for it, because, knowing this, I have a new revelation of the possibility of suffering, and I am able to find a paradise in a common wood fire.

Knowing this, I declare to you there is not a more pathetic sight in the world than a poor man who is thoroughly cold from week to week. It is the refinement of torture.

It does not gnaw like hunger; which presently becomes a sort of insanity and relieves itself; it is a dead, unblest, icy torment. I used to see men in the army whose silent endurance of cold brought more tears to my eyes than all the hunger and all the wounds.

The Advantage of Being Dull.

Thackeray: There is a quality in certain people which is above all advice, exposure, or correction. Only let a man or woman have dullness sufficient, and they need bow to no extant authority. A dullard recognizes no betters; a dullard can't see that he is in the wrong; a dullard has no scruples of conscience, or doing right; no qualms for other people's feelings, no respect but for the fool himself. How can you make a fool perceive that he is a fool? Such a person can no more see his own folly than he can see his own ears. And the great quality of dullness is to be unalterably contented with itself.

Reasoning a Priori.

New York Weekly: Teacher—Did Columbus know that he had discovered a new continent?

Class—No; he thought it was India.

Teacher—Correct. Why did he think he had found India?

Bright boy—I s'pose it was 'cause the inhabitants were Indians.

Modern Thrift.

New York Sun: Lack of plain old-fashioned thrift.—Spokesman-Review.

In short, that highly respectable virtue which A is angry because B doesn't practice, and B is angry because A doesn't practice. Both love plain old-fashioned thrift, practice handsome new-fashioned deviltwaggoneering.

Looks That Way.

Is Woman's Head More Level Than Man's?

Editorial in the Boston Globe.

Aspasia, wife of Pericles in fact if not in law, was generally regarded by the Greeks as the true source of the noblest thoughts and utterances of the Athenian genius of democracy.

She taught Socrates, who was some teacher himself.

Isabella, four centuries ago, was told by the learned men of Spain that the doctrine of the Antipodes—of people with their feet upwards—was neither godly nor reasonable; but the queen, ready to pawn her jewels to defray expenses, assumed the responsibility of sending ships over the "abyss" into which the Spanish sun sank every evening.

America would not have been discovered in 1492 if the discovery had depended upon the initiative of Ferdinand.

"The mighty empire of Russia," says De la Croix, "was hewn out in the rough by Peter the Great; the form of this colossal figure was softened by another; and it has received more of the human appearance from the able hand of Catherine II, who, by the instructions which she gave to the commissioners who formed her code of laws, proved herself worthy of governing a great empire. She did more for Russia by her equity and beneficence than all her generals did by their warlike virtues. So vast an empire did not need wider bounds; its true welfare could be more essentially promoted by favoring population, by wise laws, by encouraging industry and commerce, by cultivating the arts and reconciling them to a stubborn land, uncongenial to their nature; by bettering the manners of a still savage race of nobles, and by communicating sensibility to a people whom the roughness of their climate had rendered impenetrable to all the soft affections and social virtues of humanity. These are the works which already make the name of Catherine illustrious, and will reflect glory on her memory."

How many of the czars who have reigned since have ruled as wisely as did that czarina?

Elizabeth was perhaps the greatest of English monarchs.

Maria Theresa, the "Mother of Germany," who battled with Frederick the Great for fifteen years, certainly had a long and level head.

In response to the proclamation issued by George the Third for the suppression of rebellion and sedition, as the remonstrances of our own forefathers were called, a Massachusetts woman wrote a letter to her husband at Philadelphia, as follows:

"This intelligence will make a plain path for you, though a dangerous one. I could not join today in the petitions of our worthy pastor for a reconciliation between our no longer parent state, but tyrant state, and these colonies. Let us separate; they are unworthy to be our brethren. Let us renounce them; and instead of supplications, as formerly, for their prosperity and happiness, let us beseech the Almighty to blast their counsels and to bring to nought all their devices."

Abigail Adams, please note, penned a Declaration of Independence many months before Jefferson and his colleagues in the Continental congress decided to cut loose.

From time immemorial women have been the cleverest (as well as the truest) in matters of the heart.

Living correct lives themselves, as a rule, their judgment is the soundest concerning what is harmful to the health and happiness of those they love.

About a year and a half back, Mr. Edison's family went away on a visit. Whereupon he immediately sent word to a few of his old cronies, electrical experts and the like, to gather at his Menlo Park laboratory. They toiled and tinkered and experimented for 142 hours in one week. The time clock showed it—more than twenty hours a day. Then Mrs. Edison returned and broke up the Insomnia club, thereby saving the wizard of the singing movies to complete his present task of giving the inhabitants of Podunk grand opera with a 10-cent admission fee.

Feminine advice in regard to finance and religion, if more generally sought and accepted, would, I think, put the bankruptcy courts out of business and cause the collapse of the go-to-church movement for lack of a raison d'etre.

Is woman more level-headed than man? Not always, but oftener!

The ideal scheme is to have them planning and working together—the intuition of the one supplemented by the experience of the other.

A March Mood.

Here's Spring come again—the old harlot—
Back to her haunts again;
And the blood of the world runs scarlet,
With the harsh desire, the shattering pain.
Yet—here are the same old tricks—
The smile and the sidelong glances;
The stale and hackneyed romances;
The magics that do not mix . . .
The same old stock in trade—
The blushes and airs of a maid
That flies from a bashful pursuer,
While she herself is the wooer
That will be obeyed.

Tripping the tawdry measure,
Singing her worn-out song,
She accosts you with tales of her treasure—
Glib patter of love and of pleasure—
And oh, you are carried along.

But look at the paint on her cheeks,
It is thick with thousands of years;
And hark to her voice as she speaks,
It is trembling with age—not her tears.
She is old, lad, believe, she is old—
She is hardened and bitter and cold;
A wanton that has no more fire in her soul
Than a burnt bit of coal;
A vampire that sends the blood coursing, and then
Sucks out the spirits of men. . . .

But the fool is still blandished and blinded,
And the poet still babbles of bliss;
And even the wise and the sensible-minded
Are bewitched by her kiss.
Yet though she is old as the winter,
And her insolent beauty is shed,
They will clasp her and rhyme her and tint her
Till the last of her lovers are dead.
—Louis Untermeyer in March Smart Set.

In the Tango Age.

The Pathfinder: Reginald de Bacchus, profligate son of a millionaire soap maker, sat up in bed and begged for water.

"This is the end of my social career," he moaned. "I drank too much last night at the ball and staggered into everything."

"'Ardly, sir, 'ardly," murmured his valet, apologetically. "Heveryone's praising you for inventing a new dance."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Taggart is a Kansas congressman with a knack at epigrammatic talk and a line of philosophy of the brand they grow in Kansas.

Taggart is a member of the house committee on the judiciary, which is going to undertake a lot of legislation to regulate the trusts. And he has a number of ideas about how a trust should be handled. When the proper time comes he will spring these ideas on the committee, and it is a safe assumption that what he has to say will come out in the form of short sentences whittled down to a sharp point.

When he was a prosecuting attorney out in Kansas, Taggart made a study of criminal traits and propensities. He evolved a few opinions of his own about the treatment of crime and today he thinks one should handle a wicked corporation much the same as one would a wicked man.

"Make it inconvenient to do wrong rather than impose a big penalty for doing wrong," says Taggart.

"This is a material world and we must use material means to gain a material end.

"The only persistent crimes are those that bring material gain.

"Few trains have been wrecked for meanness or revenge.

"But many have been stopped at the point of a gun for hope of gain.

"Years ago there was talk of hanging men who scraped away the silver or gold from coins. But the practice continued.

"Then Sir Isaac Newton, I believe it was, thought of having milled edges, and making it impossible to pass a coin with the milling damaged. That ended coin multilating, because it ceased to pay. There was no more need of hanging anybody.

"The same with trusts. Instead of fining a corporation for underselling a small competitor in one locality, compel it to sell at its lowest price in every locality.

"Throw up obstacles that make it difficult to do wrong without material loss."

Taggart was opposed to the provision in a recent bill for a reading test for immigrants.

"Keep out all immigrants if you will," says he, "but why bar those that work with a pick and shovel instead of with their wits?

"The illiterate fellow comes and does your work; the smart quick-witted one schemes and takes away your money."

Taggart is the foe also of large military and naval appropriations. On this point he said:

"The man in uniform stands around idly holding a gun and producing nothing.

"Those who produce have to pay his salary.

"If every man standing around with a gun were to substitute a hoe and spade the high cost of living would never be heard of more.

* * *

"The great trouble in this country is the stress laid on talk.

"Nothing brings such great reward as talk.

"The politician that talks longest or best goes farthest.

"People think that as a man talks so is he.

"If Paderewski could talk as well as he plays the piano he could be a master politician.

"Caruso's song turned to talk would move multitudes.

"The best religion is that which gives a man's family plenty of food and places them together at home evenings.

"If I were going to carry religion to a man I would like to catch him in front of an open fireplace with his slippers on.

"The trouble with most reformers is that they talk from the point of view of a man in a Morris chair.

"Remember that most preachers are addicted to wearing dressing gowns."

Taggart was asked why he became a lawyer.

"By eliminstion," he replied.

"I used a process of reductio ad absurdum.

"When I had reduced every other possibility to an absurdity, law only was left.

"You know, the practice of law is ever the last resort of an enlightened man."

So it goes. These were all picked from one casual conversation with Taggart. It seems just as natural for him to express himself in epigrammatic phrascology as for Henry James to use only long sentences that required a guide and a compass.

In appearance Taggart is slender, with a sprightly, smooth-shaven face. He has a sharp little nose, and both his eyes and hair stand alert. His whole countenance has a good-naturedly incredulous look as if it were saying:

"I don't know about this."

A small detached group of congressmen were listening to a certain other member making a speech. All were thinking things about the speech and the speaker that they did not feel like saying out loud.

One of them turned to Representative Hamilton of Michigan, with a look of inquiry.

"As a speaker," responded Hamilton, gravely, "that man has not an inferior in the whole United States."

* * *

One of the most frequently encountered family names down in one of the Kentucky counties lying in Representative Ben Johnson's district is Guess. On one of his first campaigns for congress, Johnson stopped at farmhouse and said:

"My name is Johnson. May I inquire yours?"

"Guess," said a member of that family.

"You've got me," said Johnson.

Very Annoying.

Life: It was deucedly thoughtless of Congressman Lewis of Maryland to gather all those revealing statistics about telephones and telegraphs. Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to find out that our telegraphic rates are the highest among twenty countries and that, as one consequence thereof, we rank but ninth as telegraph users. And of course it is no less disturbing to discover that in the matter of local telephone charges we rank but fourteenth among sixteen countries.

But it is done now and the only thing left is to think about it as little as possible. To brood over the matter would simply end in our having to do something and that in turn might disarrange some of our most cherished dividend-paying traditions. Everybody knows that the proper way to have telephones and telegraphs is to make dividends the chief desideratum. Now, then, let everybody close his or her mind and let there be an end on't.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

Don't Try to Get Away From It.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Ore can't get away from the notion that Duluth and the iron range towns should work together for the better development of St. Louis county.

It Attracts Attention Anyway.

Fergus Falls Journal: Duluth is inaugurating a new reform which ought to help and that is the licensing of bartenders. With brewery-controlled saloons it has been the custom to move bartenders about and as soon as one got into trouble in one place to send him to another place. In this way all violations could be thrown onto the bartender by the owner of the saloon and by changing bartenders punishment was escaped. Duluth is going to look up the record of drink mixers, charge them $5 for a license, compel them to wear a badge when behind the bar and make them responsible in a general way as well as the saloon keeper.

And They Might Get Shot! Fine!

Hill City News: The Duluth Herald suggests, anent raising the embargo on arms to Mexico, sending all the gun toters down there with their guns. Good idea and we second the motion, but it won't work. Gun toters are miserable cowards and there might be some danger connected with the expedition.

France Seems Well Supplied With Politicians Herself.

Le Sueur News: "Certain parts of France are afflicted with heavy fogs, and the authorities propose installing huge blowing machines on the hilltops to disperse the trouble," says The Duluth Herald. Why not be neighborly and loan them some of Minnesota's politicians whom we do not need at home because much of the fog has been dispersed?

Credit to Whom Credit Is Due.

International Falls Press: Much credit is due the Duluth Commercial club for the victory recently gained through the traffic commission by which Duluth is given the same rates in lake and rail transportation as is given to Chicago, which means a saving to the Northwest of at least $560,000 per annum in butter and eggs alone, or a saving to the consumer of 40 cents per 100 pounds in freight rates.

Some Good Advice From Outside.

Aurora News: The Duluth people who want an ice carnival during the winter to attract attention to the Zenith City would do well to devote their attention to the many natural attractions of Northeastern Minnesota which would bring in needed settlers instead of tending to make them believe that this is a district of ice floes and snow drifts.

Most Unkind! Most Unkind!

Brown's Valley Tribune: Duluth has just decided not to hold a carnival of winter sports, for the reason that the impression might get abroad that Duluth is a cold place in winter, the same as it is in summer.

The Two Matches; A Fable

Robert Louis Stevenson: One day there was a traveler in the woods of California, in the dry season when the trade winds were blowing strong. He had ridden a long way and he was tired and hungry and dismounted from his horse to smoke a pipe. But when he felt in his pocket he found but two matches. He struck the first and it would not light.

"Here is a pretty state of things," said the traveler, "dying for a smoke, only one match left, and that certain to miss fire. Was there ever a creature so unfortunate? And yet," he thought, "suppose I light this match and smoke my pipe and shake out the dottle here in the grass—the grass might catch fire, for it is dry like tinder; and while I snatch out the flames in front, they might evade and run behind me and seize upon that bush of poison oak; before I could have reached it that, too, would have blazed up; over the bush I see a pine tree hung with moss, that, too, would fly in fire upon the instant to its topmost bough; and the flame of that long torch—how would the trade wind take and brandish that through the inflammable forest. I hear this dell roar in a moment with the joint voice of wind and fire; I see myself gallop for my soul and the flying conflagration chase and outflank me through the hill; I see this pleasant forest burn for days and the cattle roasted and the springs dried up and the farmer ruined and his children cast upon the world. What a world hangs upon this moment."

With that he struck the match and it missed fire.

"Thank God," said the traveler and put his pipe in his pocket.

Firing.

A King of Clinkerdom am I when in my furnace clothes
The early morning finds me in the cellar.
I tell the Muse, "I must be gone to work my spirit loathes."
I see her grin with malice when I tell her.

She follows me down in the dark to josh my panting soul.
No Modesty will e'er this lady hamper.
Says she, "A thousand forests died so you might shovel coal—
Shut off the draft!—and don't forget the damper!"

Her eyes are full of mischief and her voice is soft and low.
She holds each fleeting moment to bewitch it.
"The earth stored up the sunshine a million years ago—
In the furnace by the shovelful you pitch it.

"Now turn the bars and shake her down! Your patience should be great."
(A prating Poll the Muse is, so I think her!)
"An angry dinosaur," said she, "once slavered in his bate,
And everywhere he slavered there's a clinker."

If some day in the cellar that old dinosaur I find
(The welcome thought comes to me very often.)
I'll fill his mouth with clinkers of the very hottest kind
And say to him, "Now chew them till they soften!"

To the Rescue.

Lippincott's Magazine: An Englishman sat at a New York boardinghouse table. One of the boarders was telling a story in which a "daschund" figured. She was unable for a moment to think of the word.

"It was one of these—what do you call them?—one of these long German dogs?"

The Englishman dropped his fork; his face beamed. "Frankfurters!"

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Ex-Congressman H. B. Strait of Minnesota died yesterday. He was a leading Republican and represented the Third Minnesota district in the lower house of congress from 1873 to 1885. Maj. Strait was one of the foremost bankers of the Northwest, was interested in fifteen banks in Minnesota, and was worth about $1,500,000. He recently resigned the presidency of the Germania bank at St. Paul owing to ill health.

John D. Allen, superintendent of transportation on the Duluth street railway, was presented yesterday by the employes of his department with a gold watch and chain. He will leave the employ of the company on March 1 and remove to Michigan.

The remains of John D. Boyd were accompanied to the tomb yesterday by the largest funeral procession ever witnessed in West Duluth. The funeral was conducted by Euclid lodge No. 198, A. F. & A. M., of which he was a charter member. Rev. Dr. Forbes delivered an eloquent sermon at the church. The pallbearers were Samuel Wells, George Hall, E. J. Luther, D. C. Prescott, H. P. Smith and George J. Mallory.

James H. Grey of West Duluth is circulating a petition for a position on the board of public works.

Steele Mackaye, the author and dramatist, died yesterday on a train in Colorado while en route to San Diego, Cal. He was 47 years of age. The failure of his "Spectatorium" scheme for the World's fair at Chicago, and the exhausting work he performed in connection therewith, produced his fatal illness.

W. D. Davis of Grand Rapids, Mich., is endeavoring to form an eight-club baseball league. His idea is to include clubs from Duluth, Ashland, Chippewa Falls, Superior, Stevens Point, Eau Claire and La Crosse. John Rouskolt, who managed the Oshkosh club of the Wisconsin league, is cooperating with him.

Mrs. E. C. Fletchard has gone to Williamsport, Pa., for a visit.

Mrs. J. S. Dinwoodie, who is now staying at Pueblo, Colo., for the benefit of her health, has sent a letter to the board of education of Duluth, tendering her resignation as supervisor of music in the schools.

John Doran of 15 West Second street fell on the ice on the lake while skating yesterday and broke a leg.

Mrs. H. J. Pulverman of Minneapolis is visiting her daughter, Mrs. M. I. Edilman, of 506 East First street.

Helplessness.

Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World: The greatest moment in our career is when we awaken to the shining truth that our life, to make or mar, is wholly in our hands; that neither dark destiny nor grim fate, nor the stars, nor the decrees of the gods, nor the machinations of men or devils, can cheat us of that greatness of soul and serenity of mind which are the crown of real success.

The most terrible note in the despair of the despairing is the sound of helplessness. To feel that the universe is a huge machine to grind us at last to dust, that the odds of existence are against us, and that we are borne down by the tramp of irresistible forces, this is the salt taste of failure.

But when a man has discovered that he himself is master, and that no outside force can touch his inner triumph, that discovery is as of a new world, the America of spirit, the opening vista of limitless opportunity.

An Ambiguous Answer.

Warren Mason in Lippincott's Magazine: Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were frequently in court. Sometimes Murphy complained of his wife, at other times Mrs. Murphy had her husband arrested for abuse, and on still other occasions neighbors had them both in court for disturbing the peace with their brawls. The judge was becoming rather tired of having them before him.

"This is the sixth time one or the other of you has been up before me for fighting," he declared, out of patience; "now, tell me truthfully, cannot you two live happily without fighting?"

"No, yer honor," replied Mrs. Murphy; "not happily."

Presumptive Evidence.

Philadelphia Ledger: "What made you think Mr. Lovetwel had been drinking?"

"Why, when the charlotte russe was set before him he tried to blow off the foam."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"PASSENGER SERVICE ONLY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

This is to thank you very much for the space in the Open Court column entitled "Church Going and the Railroad Men," but we regret very much the omission of the words which change the meaning entirely. One sentence should have read as follows: "To curtail work to passenger service only." RAILROAD MEN.

LEVER EDUCATIONAL BILL SNOWED UNDER

Washington, Feb. 26.—Attacked as an invasion of state rights, the Lever bill to authorize the commissioner of education to co-operate with states, educational associations or individuals in plans for the elimination of adult illiteracy in the United States, met overwhelming defeat in the house after an all-day debate.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. WILSON AND BRYAN

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—I have been pestering my poor little erudition to find a parallel for the relation existing between Woodrow Wilson and William J. Bryan. I have drawn on my small knowledge of ancient and modern history and all without avail. Sometimes I have found circumstances that appeared similar, but no one of them precisely fits the case. Here is Bryan, three times commander of the Democratic squad, serving as a subordinate to a man who never supported him.

Mr. Bryan is a great big man. I did not realize it until January, 1912. At the Shoreham hotel, in this town, Jan. 8 of that year the members of the Democratic national committee met to select a place and a time for the national convention. All the daughters of Moab in the Democratic party, especially "the Yallers," and all the children of the Philistines in that party, especially the protectionists, were agin Woodrow Wilson. That was manifest. It was brazen.

There were swarms of the henchmen of privilege about Levi Morton's tavern that bitter cold day when the snow was knee-deep outside. We Wilson men heard this from the Children of Cain: "Wait. Tomorrow we will spring the Joline letter, and that will cook the goose of the schoolmaster." And sure enough they printed the Joline letter in which Mr. Wilson had employed some language not at all complimentary to Mr. Bryan. I believe Col. Henry Watterson thought it had made Wilson's cake dough, and certainly Mr. W. R. Hearst proclaimed that it had settled the thing and made the nomination of Wilson impossible.

Now in those days were folks who did not know sang. They were playing Bryan for a little man with a mighty heap of contemptible vanity. Hating Bryan as the devil hates the altar, they wanted him, implored him, to pull their scorching chestnuts out of the fire. They represented to him that the nomination of Wilson would be a cruel reflection on him that would divorce him from the political business. In their rancor against Wilson they sought to enlist in their cause a man for whom they had less tolerance than they had for Wilson, if that were possible, and perhaps it was not. Greeks bear gifts, now, as then.

Well, matters and things went on. In a soap-box primary Champ Clark carried Illinois, and to folks who see but do not observe, everything looked bright for Champ. Right then and there my lovable old friend Champ did the most indiscreet thing even he ever achieved, nd that is saying much—he sent a congratulatory telegram to the chief of the "Yallers," and Hearst spread it clear across the continent in "yaller" headlines. I then knew Champ Clark's goose was cooked, and I said I stood as good a chance to be pope as Champ did to be president.

Well, the convention assembled. Mr. Bryan was the biggest man in it. He could have nominated Champ Clark, and possibly would have brought about that result had not the Clark forces ploughed with the Wall street heifer. That was notorious.

Suppose Clark had been elected president. Hearst would have been secretary of state, if he had been willing to take it, and I doubt that, for the man has some pride, Joe Bailey would have been secretary of treasury. We would have been at war with Mexico. The national debt would have increased hundreds of millions.

We escaped that calamity. For that blessing we owe more to Mr. Bryan than to any other. After Mr. Wilson's election the Moabites swore that it was unthinkable that Mr. Bryan, in the light of the Joline letter, could enter the cabinet; but he did, and after nearly a year of daily association with him here is what Woodrow Wilson thinks of the secretary of state:

"Your reference to the secretary of state shows how comprehensively you have looked on during the last few months. Not only have Mr. Bryan's character, his justice, his sincerity, his transparent integrity, his Christian principle, made a deep impression upon all with whom he has dealt, but his tact in dealing with men of many sorts, his capacity for business, his mastery of the principles of each matter he has been called upon to deal with, have cleared away many a difficulty and have given to the policy of the state department a definiteness and a dignity that are very admirable. I need not say what pleasure and profit I, myself, have taken from close association with Mr. Bryan or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him here to deserve not only our confidence but our affectionate admiration."

Wilson was told that if he put Bryan at the head of his cabinet the administration would be wrecked. Miles and miles of stuff to that effect was writ in papers that sincerely thought themselves Democratic. The Republican press consulted lawyers and hoped to get out injunctions restraining the president from naming Mr. Bryan secretary of state, so afraid they were of alliance between Wilson and Bryan.

Well, we have got a president who knows more than anybody else. He has pronounced views about matters and things, and let me tell you, it is impossible to fool this man Wilson.

He knows the situation and the Democratic party from ocean to ocean cheers as it contemplates the concord that exists between its two great leaders.

Let the heathen rage.

COURT HAS 271 CASES

March Term Will Have 114 Actions From January Calendar.

Sessions Will Open Before Judge Dancer Next Wednesday.

Two hundred and seventy-one cases are set for trial at the March term of the district court on the civil calendar which was sent to the printer yesterday. Of this number 114 are cases which have been continued over from the January term.

The March term will open next Wednesday morning before Judge Dancer. The total number of jury cases noticed for trial is 154, court cases, 81 and divorce cases 36. At the January term, 60 jury cases and 54 court cases were not reached.

The petit jury will not report for duty until the following Monday, March 9. Among those who have been summoned on the March panel are: Matt Buckhorn, Hibbing; John A. ENGLAND WANTS EYE KEPT ON CHIEF SAM

Washington, Feb. 26.—At the request of the British government, the state department has asked the department of justice to inquire into the proposed establishment of a negro kingdom on the Gold Coast of Africa by Chief Sam of Oklahoma. An investigation will be made, although it is not believed the American government can take any action to prevent the emigration of negroes.

The British officials suggested that Chief Sam and his followers might find the Gold Coast unsuitable for their kingdom.

HEINZE WILL SUE CHARLES W. MORSE

Claims He Has $597,700 Coming From Bank in 1907.

New York, Feb. 26.—F. Augustus Heinze obtained a supreme court order yesterday permitting him to serve summonses on Charles Morse by public application or through the mails in an action to recover $597,700 from him with interest from Jan. 8, 1909. Heinze and Morse both figured in the failure of banks after the financial panic of 1907. Morse went to prison and was pardoned.

The complaint sets forth that on or about Jan. 8, 1908, an account was started between the pair, and when the account was balanced, Morse owed Heinze the amount now sued for. This Morse agreed to pay, the complainant said, and adds that he is now in Europe.

CLANS TO GREET SCOTTISH CHIEF

Duluth and Superior Clans Will Entertain Royal Chief Findlay.

When A. G. Findlay, royal chief of the United States and Canadian Scottish clans, arrives in Duluth at 5:10 o'clock this afternoon he will be met by a large number of the Duluth clan and members of the bagpipe band.

From the Soo station the delegation will take Mr. Findlay to a Superior street cafe, where an informal reception will be held at 7 o'clock. After the banquet addresses will be made by Chief Findlay and W. S. Gordon, royal deputy, formerly of this city, but now of Minneapolis. Several vocal numbers will be given and a Swedish burlesque on Harry Lauder by John Alvin Johnson.

On Friday evening Chief Findlay will attend the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Clan Cameron to be celebrated at Superior. A number of merchants from Clan Stewart will attend.

The committee on arrangements consists of A. G. McKnight, chairman; Simon Clark and A. G. Macaulay.

Nothing Like "Tiz" for Sore, Sweaty, Calloused Feet and Corns.

"Pull, Johnny, Pull!"

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more soreness in corns, callouses, bunions.

No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ." "TIZ" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet. "TIZ" cures your foot trouble so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore and swollen. Think of it, no more foot misery, no more agony from corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25 cent box at any drug store or department store and get instant relief. Wear smaller shoes. Just once try "TIZ." Get a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents. Think of it.

GOOD PROGRAM FOR FREE CONCERT

W. A. McGonagle Will Speak and Miss Gladys Reynolds Will Sing.

An attractive program has been arranged for the free concert which will be given at the Masonic temple next Sunday, March 1. President W. A. McGonagle of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway will be the speaker and Miss Gladys Reynolds, soprano, will be the solist. The organ numbers have been well selected.

Miss Reynolds will give three attractive ballad numbers. The organ numbers will consist of two overtures, a Strauss waltz, and the ballet music from "Henry VIII," by St. Saens.

Mr. McGonagle will give a short talk on ore transportation, following the ore from the time it is loaded at the mine to its delivery at the furnace. The program follows:

WINNERS IN TANGO CONTEST

Duluth's first tango contest came to a close at the Empress theater last evening, with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Piper acclaimed by the audience to be the best tango dancers in the city; Miss Freda Jensen and Norman Johnson were a close second, and Fred Barr and Martha Boggs, third.

The dancers were judged by the applause given them during the contest and in this way the management was able to pick the winning couples. Mr. and Mrs. Piper received $15, Mr. Johnson and Miss Jensen, $10, and Mr. Barr and Miss Boggs, $5.

MARINE MEN ARE GOING TO SCHOOL.

Marine men spending the winter in Duluth have been organized into a class by Capt. Albert Swanson, who is in charge of the hydrographic bureau at the Head of the Lakes. The men are being taught the use of the compass, its proper adjustment and the methods of detecting the variations or error of the instrument from the sun and moon. The class is also being taught the depths of channels and passages at all points on the Great Lakes.

SOCIALIST LECTURES.

Charles Russell and Fred T. Warren Coming Here.

Duluth Socialists have arranged to bring Charles Russell, a Socialist writer, to this city March 11 for an address at the Auditorium. Plans were completed at a meeting of the central committee last night.

The committee has plans under way to bring Fred T. Warren, editor of the Appeal to Reason, for a lecture here May 1. The county committee has arranged to assess a small tax against every Socialist in the county to defray expenses.

PEOPLE IN DULUTH ARE AMAZED

No medicine has ever caused such amazement in Duluth as the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka. This remedy drains such surprising amounts of foul matter from the body that it is known as the most thorough bowel cleanser sold. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowel and JUST ONE DOSE relieves constipation and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street.

West End

BONDS MAY INTERFERE

School Board Favorable to Junior High School for West End.

Proposal Will Necessitate an Auditorium and Other Equipment.

The West end may have a junior high school at the opening of school in September, 1915. The scheme for such an institution has been approved by the school board, but the whole matter hinges on the advisability of issuing bonds for the construction of an auditorium at the Lincoln school, which would be used and for other necessary equipment. The board had considerable trouble in disposing of the recent issue of $200,000 bonds for the erection of the Cobb and Denfeld schools.

A delegation of West end residents, headed by John J. Moe, is expected to attend the next regular meeting of the board of education on the evening of March 6, and present their claims.

The Lincoln school at Twenty-fifth avenue west and Fourth street is centrally located in the district and as the independent school district now owns enough property at this place the purchase of additional property will not be necessary.

According to tentative plans of the board the building will be erected so that it will be nearly flush with the Lincoln school. This will give an opportunity of using one heating system for both buildings on the plan used for the heating plant at the Ely school and the R. E. Denfeld Industrial high school in West Duluth.

When the junior high school is established it is likely that a provision will be made for manual training, domestic science and other courses of a like nature.

The junior high school, it is believed, will serve to relieve the congested conditions of all of the grade schools of the West end. Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades will enter this school the same as is now the case at the Washington junior high school. First and perhaps second years of high school courses will be started, which will also tend to relieve the Central high school from its rapidly increasing congestion.

In addition to serving these two purposes it is the opinion of Supt. Denfeld that many more children will be given an opportunity to take a high school course or at least part of one. At present many children in the West end are compelled to give up the idea of a high school education because of the added expense of street car fare. While many of the parents would like to have their children have the advantage of this higher education, it is said that the added burden of paying car fare for one, two or three members of a family has proven too much for the family purse.

At least seven schools of the western end of the city will be benefited by the building of the new school. These are the Ensign, Munroe, Madison, Lincoln, Bryant, Emerson and Merritt. With the taking of only the seventh and eighth grade pupils from four of these institutions an attendance of nearly 400 children is expected for the proposed new school and it is believed likely that the attendance will come closer to 500 than the former number.

LAKESIDE GIRLS WIN AT BASKET BALL

The girls' basket ball team from the Bryant social center was overwhelmingly defeated in a game played with the Lakeside team at the Lakeside hall last night. The final score was 36 to 0.

A return game will be played at the Bryant school next Tuesday evening, when the Bryant girls claim that they will reverse the result.

DEGREE TEAM MAY GO TO DES MOINES

At a meeting of the Duluth homestead, No. 3131, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, to be held Monday night at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, plans for a campaign to take the members of the degree team to Des Moines, Iowa, this summer will be made. The team will also be reorganized with members whose attendance at the dedication of the home office building in July can be depended on.

Members of the local homestead intend trying to secure free fare for the entire team. This will be secured from the supreme lodge, according to advices received from the head officers, if members of the team secure 150 additional members to the order before the time of the celebration. Plans for this campaign will be made Monday night.

West End Briefs.

Rev. and Mrs. Milton Fish, 502 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, have left for Boulder, Colo., where they have been called on account of the death of Mrs. B. Williams, their aunt. Rev. and Mrs. Fish are expected to return home the latter part of next week.

The Rebekah Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, entertained this afternoon in the parlors of the church.

Walter A. Thayer of South St. Paul, who has been visiting in the West end for the last week, left last night for his home.

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, FLUFFY HAIR---25 CENT DANDERINE

No More Dandruff or Falling Hair—A Real Surprise Awaits You.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks's use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

PRESIDENT WILSON WIRES GREETINGS

Congratulates Minnesota Democrats at Late Mill City Banquet.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—The big feature of the Democratic get-together banquet held at the West hotel Tuesday night was the reading of the following message from President Wilson:

"Please extend my hearty congratulations to the Democracy of Minnesota on the occasion of the dinner given by the state central committee. I earnestly hope you may have a thoroughly enjoyable and successful occasion."

Letters were also read from Speaker Champ Clark, Chairman W. F. McCombs of the Democratic national committee, Oscar W. Underwood and W. S. Hammond.

Lynch Predicts Victory.

Fred B. Lynch predicted Democratic victory in the state, saying that Minnesota progressives distrusted the Democracy in 1912, but have learned now to know its sincerity. He outlined his ideas for reorganization of the state government, in the line of economy and efficiency, as something the Democracy could use as a state issue. Five-minute talks were given by Martin O'Brien of Crookston, Charles M. Andrist of Minneapolis, Senator T. E. Cashman of Owatonna, Albert Pfaender of New Ulm, J. M. Freeman of Olivia and Alfred Jaques of Duluth. Carl Andrist, a son of Prof. Andrist, played acceptably a violin solo. Judge M. C. Tifft acted as toastmaster.

Marquette Man Injured in Auto Accident Recovers Damages.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Melvin Webber, who was injured in an automobile accident here in the fall of 1912 while riding in a car driven by William Billings and owned by James H. Billings, has just secured judgment in circuit court here against the latter for $1,250 for injuries sustained.

The accident occurred near the Presbyterian church in this city, where the turn is made from Blaker street to Bluff street, the car overturning, Webber being the only one seriously hurt. He has not yet recovered from the effects of his injury.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 1.

Luke xii., 13-34: Trusting in Riches and Trusting in God.

THE CONNECTION.

The occasion is the same as in the last lesson, as Jesus was talking to the crowd that gathered while He was in the Pharisee's house taking breakfast with him. We are indebted to some headstrong opponent for interrupting Him in His talk for these digressions so full of truths for special conditions.

THE LESSON.

I.

Evils of Covetousness. 13-15.

"And one of the multitude said unto Him, Teacher, bid my brother divide the inheritance with me. But He said unto him, Man, who made Me a judge or a divider over you? And He said unto them, Take heed, and keep yourselves from all covetousness; for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

1. QUARRELS.—Here was a quarrel between two brothers, and of all the hatreds that between kindred is the most shocking and evil. In our day and land we are saved much contention over divisions of estates by the laws governing such matters. But in those times they had few or no laws save unwritten laws, and often brothers quarreled for years after their father died. Each succeeding judge would hear the case and any man of influence would be appealed to, as in this case. Here is one evil, then, of being covetous. It makes one unbrotherly.

2. PERVERSION. — Covetousness perverts a man. It is of the nature of the evil to pervert. To covet is more than to desire, it is to desire what another has, not something like it but the very thing itself. It perverts in two ways. It blinds the eye to the higher purpose of Jesus, which was to be a Redeemer rather than a reformer, to create brotherliness in the soul so that one would be brotherly in all one's dealings and doings. He judged not in such things but He did in their motives and impulses. His was not a cutaneous, but a fundamental treatment of the evil. It perverts in another way—centers the life in the possessions instead of the personality. Life consists not in what you have or do or know but in what you would be and try to become and achieve. To the covetous man having is above living, position more important than disposition. Covetousness is protean in form, but all its forms are to be avoided.

II.

A Warning Example to All. 16-21.

"And He spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully; and he reasoned within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have not where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my grain and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, be merry. But God said unto him, Thou foolish one, this night is thy soul required of thee; and the things which thou hast prepared, whose shall they be? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

1. UNSYMPATHETIC.—Jesus saw that the whole crowd had about the same spirit as the complaining covetous brother and that they needed special warning. This parable shows up the man who had made gold his one love. His prosperity was not wrong, else God made a mistake in furnishing us the raw materials of wealth and the fruitful seasons for producing it. His wrong was in loving it above all things else, including his fellow men. When he was embarrassed as to what to do with his great crops he didn't stop to think that he had fellow beings starving within sound of his voice. The pleasure of possessing it was greater than relieving their needs. He was possessed by his gold, not the gold by him.

2. STUPID.—If he had possessed the gold it would have made him more discriminating; as it possessed him it dulled his sense of the simplest things. He said "many years" but God said "this night thy soul shall be required of thee." His stupidity also shows in thinking he could feed his soul with gold or corn—"soul, take thine ease; eat, drink and be merry." Wealth was his weal; gold was his God. He also acted as if he could take it into the other world with him, or as if the craving of his soul which he was trying to satisfy with gold could have the same satisfactions over there. Pity such good things as crops and money should play havoc with his real life. They were not designed for that. They should make one feel still more dependent on God and more sympathetic with one's fellows, but they didn't. That's often the case these days, too. Such a man is as pitiable an object as one will find anywhere. He ignored the question of the welfare of his soul entirely, both here and hereafter. He didn't consider who would have his wealth when he was done with it. It's far better to leave children with culture of mind and soul than with only money.

III.

Trusting in God. 22-34.

We omit these verses. In them the Master went on teaching the vital truth that while men are not to put their trust in riches they are to trust in God and that, while material riches are not to possess us, we are to be rich toward God. We may be rich toward Him when we are poor in all other things, or when we are abounding in wealth. Here are some things He teaches:

1. SERENITY.—Especially as to the future. The habit of most people is to anticipate the future with "distressing anxiety," for that's what the word means and that's what Jesus forbids. Not discriminating forethought but distrustful and disquieting forebodings, not money but love of money does He forbid. He brings out two reasons why such anxiety is wrong. One is that it's useless, doesn't prevent what you are trying to avoid nor enable you to accomplish what you desire, any more than you can grow taller by sitting down and meditating about it. In fact such anxiety is apt to defeat one's wishes by paralyzing power, diverting aim and taking away all hope. The other reason is that God is interested in your affairs as well as you, more than you. That's because you are His creature, as birds, even such birds as ravens which probably mean crows and buzzards and other kinds of birds, are His creatures; and it's still more because you are His children and therefore far more precious than they. The lilies when dead are used for fuel, while you are to live forever. Reasoning from the less to the greater, as all may do, you see how foolish it is to be anxious in view of His provisions for you and His daily care for you.

2. TRUE RICHES.—There is a treasure other than gold. It is the gold of a Christian character. It is "toward God" for that character comes from Him and centers on Him with trust and love and fellowship in work. One may increase this treasure by the right use of the material gold and must develop it by the way one treats God. This treasure can be taken with us, in fact, is already stored up in advance in heaven.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

What is the character of those riches which a man may take with him through the grave? Happily there are spiritual millionaires unveiled to us in the word of God. And we have them moving about in common life today. How does Scripture describe them? Here is one of their characteristics. They are "rich in faith." The strength of their goings is determined by the assurance of invisible resources and they live and move "as seeing Him who is invisible." A man who says: "He hath delivered me from all my fears," is bound to be full of song. When the menace goes out of the heart the heart begins to sing. But the word of God gives us another lineament of the character that is untouched by the spoiler Death. It is "rich in mercy."—Jowett.

A certain mother has a habit of speaking, perhaps longingly, of the new gowns, hats, and the beautiful rings and brooches her neighbor wears. "Did you notice Mrs. Jones' lovely new diamond ring? It was a birthday present from her husband. He often gives her stones. Mrs. Smith has so many splendid rings, and Miss Johnson had a new pearl necklace last evening." "And just to think, mother," her young daughter exclaimed one day, in the tone of one who felt disgraced, "there isn't a diamond or pearl in this family!" "But you forget, daughter," spoke up the father, "that we have two family jewels more valuable than either." "What?" demanded she, and the mother looked up incredulously. "Listen to this," he said: "A worthy woman, who can find? For her price is far above rubies."—Cowan.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What form of covetousness is most common in our day?
2. In what way are you most susceptible to its power?
3. How may you convert the material into the spiritual treasure?
4. What things are you most anxious about?
5. How do you get help from your heavenly Father?

ROAD WANTS LARGE LOAN

Presses Canadian Government to Aid Coast to Coast Plans.

Bonus of $15,000,000 Last Year Stands in Way of Request.

To enable it to complete the construction of its main line from coast to coast during the coming summer, the Canadian Northern railroad is pressing the Dominion government for a loan of $25,000,000. In view of the fact that a straight bonus of $15,000,000 was granted to the company last year the proposal is meeting with considerable opposition from Conservative members in the Western provinces. These have gone so far as to threaten to bolt the party unless the government agrees as a concession to place wheat and flour on the free list. As Sir William Mackenzie, president of the road, declares that the Canadian Northern will be badly crippled for funds in the event of its loan application being turned down, interesting developments are expected before the question is finally disposed of.

Sir Donald Mann announced in the course of a recent interview at Toronto that the Canadian Northern proposes to build six more branch lines aggregating about 1,000 miles of road in Alberta this year. That undertaking will be carried through under an agreement with the local government, which will guarantee the capital outlay involved. Work on the unedrtaking will be started as early in the spring as possible, affording employment for thousands of men.

It is intimated that the Canadian Northern plans to inaugurate a weekly trans-Atlantic service next fall and is arranging to buy two new steamers for that traffic.

PRAISES SOIL OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY

Best in Union for Grass, Grain and Roots, Says W. A. Dickinson.

"St. Louis county's soil produces the best grass, grain and root crops in the United States, according to W. A. Dickinson, superintendent of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad demonstration farm at Meadowlands. Mr. Dickinson gave an address yesterday before the Central high school agricultural students. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides.

Mr. Dickinson treated dairying, herd improvement, the relation of live stock to the farm, and crop rotation on the dairy farm. He also distributed numerous bulletins and other literature relating to scientific farming. In speaking of climatic conditions, Mr. Dickinson said:

"The farther north you can produce vegetables and ripen crops, the better the quality. The same appears to be true of dairy cattle. From animals imported to this northern climate that are given proper care, the average offsprings are better than their parents to a remarkable extent.

"The average cow of the state does a little more than pay for her feed and care and keep up the fertility of the soil, but some pay the expenses of others that are only boarders. A large per cent of the cows in this state pay $2 in profits to every dollar of expenditure for feed."

Believing that better results can be derived by the students from lectures of this kind than from books, E. P. Gibson, instructor in agriculture at the Central high school, has arranged for a series of similar lectures to be given before the students who are taking this course.

MRS. PANKHURST WRITES TO KING

London, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, has written to the king asking him to receive a deputation from the Women's Social and Political union, to lay before him their claim for the parliamentary vote and their complaint of "the medieval and preposterous methods of torture whereby your majesty's ministers are seeking to repress the women's revolt against their deprivation of citizens' rights."

Mrs. Pankhurst, in her letter, argues that it is futile to seek interviews with the ministers, because they are the men the union accuses of betraying the women's cause and torturing its champions, and also because the women refuse to recognize the authority of men who are elected or appointed to office without their consent. She concludes: "Because women are without the vote, there are in our midst today sweated workers, white slaves, outraged children and innocent mothers and their babes stricken with horrible disease. It is for the sake and in the name of these unhappy members of our sex that we ask your majesty for an audience, and we are confident that it will be granted to us."

SAYS EDUCATION CROWDS HEREDITY

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 26.—Edwin Grant Conklin, head of the department of biology in Princeton university, in a lecture declared the time has come when society must take account of the immense importance of heredity in the development of man.

"Hitherto, all the attention of society has been fixed on education and environment," he said. "Hereafter more attention must be given to improvement of heredity of eugenics."

At the present rate on reproduction, Prof. Conklin said, the more highly educated classes would be unknown within a period of fifty years. He decried the feminist movement of today, "because it shows unmistakable signs of women escaping the duty of motherhood, which is a sign that means degeneration of the race in time," said he.

EIGHT CREDITORS SUE M'DONNELL

Actions Outcome of Debts Incurred on City Paving Jobs.

P. McDonnell, bankrupt, and the National Surety company, his bondsmen, are defendants in eight separate suits started in district court yesterday by local creditors. The claims aggregate $1,336.61.

The actions grow out of indebtedness incurred in connection with recent paving jobs in which McDonnell was the contractor. McDonnell was awarded contracts for grading and paving portions of East Fourth street, East Sixth street, East First street, Seventeenth avenue east and Twenty-second avenue east. Most of the contracts were let by the city council in April and May, 1913.

John Colbrath is suing for $91.80 for the use of three teams on the contracts and John Colbrath & Co. in two other actions are demanding $101.76 for the use of other teams and $500 for two horses, which, it is claimed, have never been returned. Frank Horgan, in five other actions, is suing for $643.05 on laborers' time checks assigned to him.

The National Surety company is made a defendant in the action because it furnished bonds to the city to insure the faithful and successful performance of the street improvements.

Property Shows Up Well.

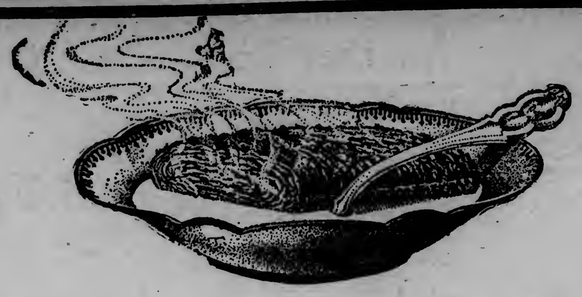

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The property of the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company, just west of here, joining the Pennington open pit mine is proving up to be a valuable ore body. The overburden is shallow and composed mostly of sand, similar to the surface of the Pennington, and all indications point to an important open pit mine. Drills are working in excellent grade ore.

NORWAY CELEBRATES HER CENTENNIAL

Christiania, Feb. 26.—The centennial of the separation of Norway from Denmark was commemorated yesterday by services in every church in the country. King Haakon, the court dignitaries and officials and the members of the storthing attended a thanksgiving service, and in the schools a pamphlet was distributed explaining the events of 1814.

NO VERDICT AGAINST THE "POWDER TRUST"

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 26.—The jury in the suit of the Buckeye Powder company for $5,000,000 damages from the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Powder company, rendered a verdict in the United States district court that there was no cause for action. The Buckeye company alleged that its business had been destroyed by the Du Pont company by illegal methods. The case had been on trial since Sept. 23 last year, and the jury retired Tuesday. The suit was brought under the Sherman anti-trust law.

Sixty-Six Per Cent.

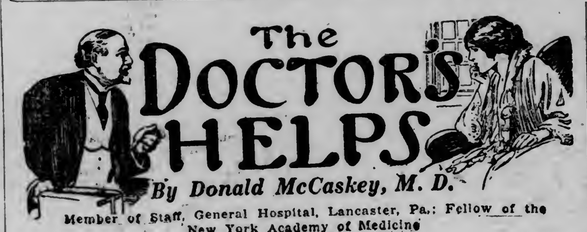

According to the last report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics the retail prices of the "principal articles of food" in forty industrial cities advanced sixty-six per cent. in fourteen years. The price of in all that time has remained the same, and it is just as satisfying, strengthening and sustaining as it was fourteen years ago —a complete, perfect food, supplying more real, body-building nutriment than meat or eggs, costing much less and much more easily digested. Your grocer sells it.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

A CURE FOR TRI-FACIAL NEURALGIA

A sufferer has written in for advice as to what he can do to avoid the attacks of tri-facial neuralgia:

"I have suffered for months. It comes intermittently, but each attack is more severe than the last. I have been told that there is very little that can be done for relief. Is this a fact?"

Neuralgia of your tri-facial nerve is not, in my judgment, a hopeless condition for you to be compelled to face. It is, however, particularly after it has been lasting intermittently for a number of years, a most desperate condition to cure.

Your letter says that you have had yours but a few months, so you, therefore, need not get scared at the chance of never obtaining relief.

Several avenues are open to you for treatment. First of all, cut out all pain-reducing dope in the shape of neuralgia tablets and headache medicine in liquid form. Simply dulling the life of your delicate nerve cells will not cure the ailment. When an attack strikes you, my counsel would be to apply heat locally to the face. Go further than this, however. Go through a good hot sweating bath. Use the tub. Take a Turkish bath or go to the hospital and have the attendant give you an electric light hot bake. This latter is nothing but dry heat. Its temperature, however, can be run up to above 200 degrees for a few seconds, and it is most highly stimulating to a clogged, poisoned system. You should, however, by all means have a physician's counsel before you indulge in any ultrahot baths. They are dangerous when ignorantly employed. Once a week for the next three weeks, say every Saturday night, take five grains of powdered calomel. In one hour follow this with a half a glass of castor oil fixed up in soda water by your druggist. (I mean one-half glass of the oil, not any less dose that anybody might wish to give you because of its taste.) If three months of this regular treatment does not afford you permanent relief, my judgment is that you have one or two things done: First, either have the base of the nerve injected with alcohol, or else have the Gasserian ganglion entirely removed. Both of these procedures are most delicate operations, but they cure the majority of patients.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 199 Waldo Street, Providence, R. I.

A Minister's Wife Writes:

CLOQUET, MINN.—"I have suffered very much with irregularities, pain and inflammation, but your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has made me well and I can recommend the same to all that are troubled with these complaints."—Mrs. JENNIE AKERMAN, c/o Rev. K. AKERMAN, Cloquet, Minnesota.

From Mrs. J. D. Murdoch, Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. MURDOCH, 25 Gordon St., South Quincy, Mass.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

For affections of the throat, chest or lungs, bronchitis, pleurisy, aches in back and joints, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, and kindred ailments

OPENS UP NOSTRILS, CLEARS HEAD, ENDS COLDS OR CATARRH AT ONCE

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BRANDT OWES SOME MONEY

Bemidji People Said to Have Been "Stung" Several Hundred Dollars.

Love for Chorus Girl Rejected, He Leaves for Old Country.

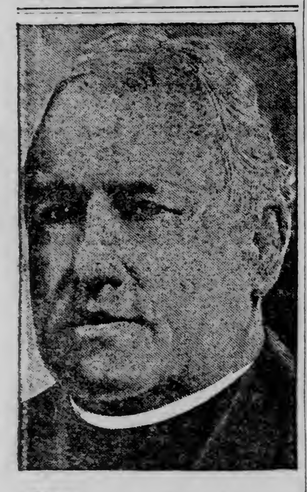

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The departure for Sweden of Foulke E. Brandt, the pardoned New Yorker, who came to Minnesota at the instance of Senator Knute Nelson to begin life again, never to return, attracted some attention here as he was employed in the local office of the Crookston Lumber company, and so far as known performed his duties with satisfaction.

Many times here he complained of being hounded by detectives and this fact made life unbearable for him. He became ill and for weeks was confined in a Minneapolis hospital. Later he returned to Bemidji and soon went to Fort Frances.

Was at Fort Frances.

He was given employment in a lumber camp near there and until the camp broke up several weeks ago held that position. He then went to Minneapolis and then to New York, from which city he sailed for Europe last Thursday, it being stated, after he had been rejected by a chorus girl whom he had asked to marry him, but cast him aside after hearing the story of his past life.

While in Bemidji Brandt made many friends and his record was practically forgotten. The fact that he left bills here amounting to several hundred dollars was given only slight consideration for he had gained the confidence of his creditors. Many of his personal effects and a trunk are still here.

STATE CONTESTS TO BE CONTINUED

North Dakota Youth Can Compete in Corn and Pork Raising.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Director Cooper of the Better Farming association announces a continuation of the corn and pork production contests this year under the auspices of the association, and says any boy or girl in the state who will be between 10 and 18 years old July 1 is eligible to enter the contests.

The plan of the corn contests is to increase the acreage and yield of the state, develop early maturing varieties and clean and improve the fertility of the fields.

The corn acreage and the corn yield has practically doubled in this state since 1910, but still there is an average of only five acres of corn for every farm in the state.

The pork contests are for the purpose of demonstrating the greatest amount of pork that can be produced from one litter of pigs within the shortest time at the lowest cost.

Cash prizes of $700 are offered for the winners in the corn contests, the state being divided into two districts, north and south. The prizes for the pork contest are $340 in cash, with many specials for the winners with different breeds.

WOMAN AND SON BOTH BEING HELD

Detained at Hurley, Wis., Charged With Killing Husband and Father.

Hurley, Wis., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest increases in the case against Mrs. Thersa Terell-Spitler and her son Frank, who are in jail here charged with killing Joseph Terell, the one time husband of the woman and father of the boy. It is alleged the woman prompted the boy to commit the crime. It is claimed that on Dec. 26, 1908, after being secreted in the attic of his home for three days, Frank Terell, then 14 years of age, shot his father, Joseph Terell, as the latter lay on his bed in the room below by firing through a crack in the floor of the attic directly over the bed. The father died the following day.

Frank was arrested, pleaded guilty and by the laws of Wisconsin was sentenced to the reform school by Judge Griff Thomas until he should reach the age of 21 years. After serving one and one-half years at the reform school he was released and since that time, it is said, has been implicated in crimes in Texas and several other places.

A short time ago Mrs. Terell, now Mrs. Spitler, had her son Frank arrested for assaulting her in a manner evincing a depraved mind. He was given a hearing in municipal court before Judge Thomas and bound over to the circuit court for trial. When arrested young Terell had a 44-caliber revolver on his person, also a billy club, and later two more billy clubs and a revolver were found at the Terell house.

Said Mother Prompted Act.

While on the witness stand, Frank Terell advised the court that his mother aided, assisted and advised him to kill his father in Dec. 1908. He also stated that the trouble between he and his mother was over the death of his father.

Mrs. Terell was arrested and upon a hearing before Judge Griff Thomas in municipal court, practically admitted the charge, and was bound over for murder. The circuit court will convene next June.

In the meantime, Mrs. Terell-Spitler and her son, are being held at the county jail.

INVITED TO CROSBY.

Minnesota U. Professors Asked to Make Headquarters There.

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the weekly meeting of the Commercial club Dr. Elftman was appointed or delegated to negotiate with Professor Lennerts of the University of Minnesota to induce him and his party to make Crosby their headquarters when visiting the Cuyuna range this coming season. Every year Prof. Lennerts makes trips somewhere in the state for survey and information relative to development and progress of unusual interest. This year it has been reported that he intends to come to the Cuyuna range, and it is expected through the aid of Dr. Elftman that Crosby will be the headquarters of the party.

DAIRYMEN'S MEETING.

Second of North Dakota Convention Brings Out Large Crowd.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a larger attendance today, the second day's session of the North Dakota State Dairymen's convention is proving to be unusually interesting. On the program this morning were addresses by Peter Miller of Grand Forks, "Improving the Quality and Increasing the Quantity of Cream on Farms;" E. J. Retzlaff of Springbrook, "Making a Success of a Promoters' Creamery;" Martin H. Meyer, Madison, Wis., secretary of the national organization, "Some Matters of National Importance."

This afternoon's program will consist of addresses by J. B. Irvine of Minneapolis, vice president of the national organization, "Stock Judging;" Prof. Martin of the agricultural college, "Testing of Different Breeding Associations;" J. Bacon, Grand Forks, "Practical Farming in the Red River Valley;" Dean Shepherd of the agricultural college, "The Shortage of Livestock and How to Correct It."

The dairy butter contest is attracting considerable attention.

This evening will be devoted to the annual banquet, which will be a general get-together-and-get-acquainted affair, with a number of responses to toasts.

FARMERS' SHORT COURSE ATTRACTS

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.) — The farmers short course being held at the Commercial club rooms continues to draw many interested people. Many were present yesterday to hear Prof. Chapman lecture on poultry. Pupils of the normal training department were present. The program included variation and cream test, and co-operative creamery management, judging beef and dairy cattle, poultry by Chapman, selection and testing of seed corn, silo and silage. Henry White of Gull Lake, spoke on poultry. C. Hendricks of Aitkin, took up corn. F. W. White of Marshall, spoke on stock judging. Thursday's program includes co-operation between city and country, judging. Thursday's program includes co-operation between city and country, judging of dairy sires, corn judging and testing seed corn, potato culture, barn construction and conference.

CONTEST BOND ELECTION

Trial at Crookston Involving Legality of Issue.

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last fall the people of Roseau voted a $2,000 issue of school bonds for the purpose of improving the school in that city and making an addition to it. After the election a few contestants filed suit in the district court claiming illegal methods in the election and asking that the bonds be not issued. The case will be tried today with Judge Watts of this city on the bench. R. J. Bell is the attorney for the contestant and M. J. Hegland, county attorney for the school district.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE.

North Dakota U., Fargo College and Manitoba University to Discuss.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual triangular debate between the University of Manitoba, the University of North Dakota and Fargo college, will be held Friday night. Manitoba university and North Dakota debate at Winnipeg; Fargo college debates a Manitoba team at Fargo, and the North Dakota university debates a Fargo college team at Grand Forks.

"Resolved, that European immigration as at present carried on, is detrimental to the best interests of the United States and Canada," will be debated.

LAKE OF WOODS BEING POLLUTED

Chairman Tawney of Joint Commission Talks of Coming Report.

Winona, Minn., Feb. 26.—James A. Tawney, chairman in the United States of the international joint commission, has returned from Washington, where he has been since Jan. 6 on matters connected with the work of the commission. The commission considered the matter of the Greater Winnipeg water district for diversion from Lake of the Woods and Shoal lake boundary waters of 160,000,000 gallons of water a day for domestic and sanitary purposes at Winnipeg.

At the same time the case of the Michigan Northern Power company for obstruction and diversion of waters of St. Mary's river at the Soo was continued to March 9.

As to Lake of Woods.

The commission also prepared and adopted its report to the government of both the United States and Canada on the Lake of the Woods investigation and also its report on the investigation of the pollution of waters that mark the boundary line from Lake of the Woods to the St. John's river on the east, a distance of almost 2,000 miles.

This report shows conclusively that the boundary waters are being polluted on both sides of the line from the Lake of the Woods on the west to the St. John's river on the east.

STATE MEETING IN ST. PAUL MARCH 31

Democratic State Central Committee Calls Such Gathering.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—Democrats of Minnesota will meet March 31 in a state delegate conference in the St. Paul Auditorium "to consider the welfare of the party and its organization." County mass conventions to elect delegates will take place in each county March 24, and will also provide for county and precinct Democratic organizations.

Definite arrangements for the meetings were determined yesterday by the Democratic state executive committee meeting in the West hotel in Minneapolis, carrying out the decision of the state conference held late Tuesday. The main purpose of the state gathering is to bring out a candidate for governor.

Duluthians Invited.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five hundred invitations to prominent residents of the Twin Cities, Duluth, Chicago and other northwestern centers have been issued by the committee in charge of the North Dakota Products dinner, which will be given in Grand Forks March 7.

Editor to Stand Trial.

Minot, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. D. McGahan, editor of the Minot Democrat, charged by Arthur LeSeuer with criminal libel, will stand trial in the district court, waiving preliminary examination and being released upon his own recognizance.

To Have Hearing.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Vogt, arrested in St. Paul several days ago just as he was about to commit suicide, will be given a hearing Saturday on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Vogt is being held in the county jail in lieu of furnishing a $1,000 bail, demanded by the committing magistrate, and which he has been unable to furnish.

Northrop Out of Politics.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—Dr. Cyrus Northrop will not permit the use of his name as a candidate for the state senate in the Twenty-ninth district. Though strongly urged by many East siders to accept the legislative service, he made his decision yesterday against the proposition. "I have no announcement to make, but I have decided not to file," said the university president emeritus.

Give Dance at Crosby.

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second dance of the season held under the auspices of the Crosby council of the Royal League society took place Tuesday night at Workers' hall, many couples attending. Music was furnished by Rochon's orchestra.

North Dakota Suffrage Paper.

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Suffrage Advocate is the name of a new publication in this city. It is for the purpose of boosting the suffragist cause. Mrs. William Falger of this city, vice president of the state suffrage organization, is the editor. There are guarantees of support to insure the permanency of the publication.

Kenosha Fire Bug Convicted.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 26.—George Kascak, charged with plotting to destroy the home of Jerry W. Decou, a manufacturer, was convicted here last night. More than 1,000 persons were in the courtroom when the verdict was read. Kascak charged that he was a victim of private detectives, who he said, planned the plot and induced him to get the dynamite.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Green Bay—At the special election Feb. 24 the question of reorganizing the city government by adopting the commission form was defeated by a vote of 2,330 to 1,375. This is the second time Green Bay has voted on this question.

Milwaukee — Mrs. Carmela Musso, now in the county jail awaiting trial for the murder of her husband, has filed a petition of survivorship, setting forth that her husband is dead and that she is sole heir to his half interest in the property at 374 Cass street, where he was killed.

Madison—A more centralized mothers' aid law than that enacted at the last session of the legislature was advocated by Governor McGovern and others at the conference of the state board of control and the committee from New York, investigating the mothers' plan. The governor favored mothers' pensions, but said that the platform pledge was not definite.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

WHEN Barney Riley started his meteoric career on the skis the few but faithful Irish of the Riley clan came in cars or in carriages or on foot to give cheers tinged and tingling with the brogue of Auld Ireland. Riley will be in the thick of the distance fight of Sunday—and so will Torli, and Torli is an Italian, and it's going some for an Italian to be in the business of ski jumping.

Looking further down the list we come to some of the most famous riders of the Northwest. They will all be there. The officers of the National Ski association are as anxious as the officers of the Duluth Ski club to make this meet one of the large leaps of the year, and neither expense, time, money nor trouble will be spared in the providing of one of the famous old time meets.

Gentle folk, the local club needs the money. Its coffers are strangely empty of the sort of material that the income tax collectors are making a lot of fuss over at the present time. Therefore, in the spirit of supporting the best kind of sports for the city in the best kind of way, it would help a lot if the people of the good city of Duluth would lend their support to a tourney that promises to be worth more than the price of admission.

In the years that have passed it was the custom to hold several tournaments during the course of the year. The tourney of Sunday will be the first and only one to be held in Duluth this season—and what is more to the point, it promises to be one of the best that has ever been held here.

Some of us have almost forgotten the names of some of the riders who used to appear on the hill in the days that are fading from view.

But glancing over the list one can recall Anders Haugen, the always interesting Barney Riley, August Nordby, Carl Lindberg, Ole Mangseth and others. These are some of the famous riders of the past.

Thorleif Knutsen of Chicago is the European champion. The appearance of this rider on the Chester Hill will be one of the chief details of interest in connection with the meet. Another of the interesting developments will be the comparison of the riding of Knutsen with that of the great Ragnar Omtvedt, the holder of the world's longest distance mark.

With Axel Hendricksen performing his sensational somersault in the air, with the burdensome skis strapped securely to his nether extremities, one can gather that those who journey out to the ski grounds have in store one large afternoon.

Zbyszko Is Coming.

THERE is only one Zbyszko, and that is the great and only Stanislaus. For three years the great Pole has made an annual appearance in Duluth. Zby is always interesting. As an athlete he is without the least exaggeration one of the greatest of the present day. As an individual, aside from athletic attainments, the greatest athletic Pole is a man of some parts, as they say in the English novels.

Zbyszko has traveled extensively, has read a number of books of large literary timber and can fluently discourse upon a variety of subjects in nine or ten different languages.

Naturally this has nothing to do with the wrestling of the human block house. Zbyszko is and has always been the greatest showman in the world. He is a card of huge proportions. Zbyszko has made more money than all of the rest of the wrestlers, excepting Gotch—because apparently the people would rather see him wrestle.

The powers of endurance of the mammoth Pole are unlimited. It is difficult for the ordinary man to get an effective hold on that tree-like body, let alone throw the huge-chested giant.

In London, Berlin, Paris and in other cities of the continent, Zbyszko has long reigned as the great card of the wrestling world. He comes to Duluth this time as the virtual winner of the Paris catch-as-catch-can tournament, giving the title to his brother Wladek, after the Zbyszko brothers had defeated all of the contestants.

In connection with the meeting between Zbyszko and George Lurich, the bout between Waino Ketonen and Sailor Jack will furnish plenty of amusement.

Ketonen will be opposed by one of the toughest matmen of his weight in the country and the bout should prove interesting.

As Ketonen stands today as the most prominent and persistent challenger of Mike Yokel, his work against the marine will bear close inspection.

Youth Against Youth.

IN Pal Brown and John Tecumseh Tillman the fans of the ring will see two comers disnute the narrow passage of the pugilistic path. To a certain degree Tillman stands sentry over the further advance of Brown; and just as much the prowess of Brown may dictate the pugilistic future of Tillman.

When two comers meet there is generally a battle. A draw to Brown would be tantamount to a virtual defeat; a draw will amount to Tillman to a virtual victory.

In the case of Brown it is everything to lose and not a great deal to win; while with Tillman the case is precisely reversed.

Tillman has little to lose in the coming fight. A defeat at the hands of Brown will not be an everlasting disgrace. Brown stands at the very precipice on the world-wide pugilistic eminence—and a little false step either way might make a lot of difference.

There is the whole thing in a brown nutshell.

Lawrence Brown must fight like a wildcat to make good with his own constituents—and John Tecumseh Tillman will be forced to fight like a wildcat, it is to be presumed, to keep from being licked.

Under the yawning circumstances it looks like a real fight.

Another little thing—Tillman isn't going in merely for the money, for he doesn't get much, no matter what he does.

Johnny and George think there is a chance. Honestly.

DEAL NOT OFF BUT SUSPENDED

Taft Considering Behan Offer But Latter Has Reservations Tied to Proposition for Control of Cubs—Other Syndicate Hopeful.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 26.—That the deal between Charles P. Taft of this city and Louis J. Behan, an attorney, representing a Chicago syndicate which wishes to buy the stock of the Chicago National league club owned by Mr. Taft, is still on, was indicated by Mr. Behan here last night just previous to his departure for Chicago.

Mr. Behan had a conference with Mr. Taft earlier in the day, and then said that Mr. Taft had refused his offer for the stock. Behan also said that he intended to take the first train for Chicago. Instead he remained here and conversed with some of the members of the syndicate over the long distance telephone.

He said last night that he offered Mr. Taft $750,000 for his Chicago stock, and had a certified check for $100,000 to bind the bargain. However, he said, the syndicate would not pay the rest until the players' reserve rule had been tested in court, or that the Federal league had withdrawn its team from Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The syndicate composed of William Hale Thompson, James A. Pugh and Charles A. McCullough took hope that it might have a chance to buy the Cubs, when news came from Cincinnati that Mr. Taft had rejected the bid made by Louis J. Behan on behalf of other Chicago capitalists.

McCullough said, however, that his group would take no further action until Mr. Taft answers their telegrams. So far, he said, Mr. Taft had not acknowledged having received one of the numerous messages sent him by the Thompson syndicate.

READY FOR BIG VANDERBILT RACE

Sixteen Cars Lined Up at Santa Monica Course.

Santa Monica, Cal., Feb. 26.—With perfect weather prevailing and thousands of motor enthusiasts lining the course, sixteen racing drivers brought their high powered cars to the Santa Monica race course starting line today and awaited the pistol crack which was to send the first car away in the 1914 Vanderbilt cup race.

Barney Oldfield ruled favorite when the race began, with Earl Cooper, winner of the last Santa Monica road race, a close second.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—Sixteen cars were given their last practice spins for today's Vanderbilt cup race of 294 miles over the Santa Monica course. Laps were made at speeds of 80 to 100 miles an hour, indicating that a new record would be made by the car that wins.

The course was not hurt by the storm of last week, which washed out many other roads and speedways, and it was pronounced to be in shape for record speed.

BIG DULUTHS ARE WINNERS

Team work and general all-around superiority enabled the hockey team of the Big Duluth store to administer a rather crushing defeat to the Universals at the French rink, last evening, the count being 9 to 1.

As the first score of the game was not made until after thirteen minutes of play, it looked in the first stages of the contest as if the score was to be close. But after Blais shot the first cage, a long shot from the sidelines, the scores of the clothiers came with unvarying frequency.

Alder made the next net on a pass from behind the goal, and Alder came back a few minutes later with the final score of the first half, the puck being neatly caged from a rebound from the net.

Alder scored four of the points for the clothiers in the second half, the goals coming in rather close succession. Blais shot the other two, one being a pretty loft from the sidelines. Wood, taking the puck from near center ice past the defense of the Big Duluths, made the only goal for the forlorn flour makers, and it was one of the prettiest pieces of work of the game.

There was little opportunity during the game to test out the defense of the clothiers, as the puck was being rushed most of the time by the Big Duluths.

SOME WILL JUMP.

Manager of Montreals Reports Loss of Part of His Team.

Montreal, Que., Feb. 26.—Word has been received from Manager Bransfield of the Montreal International League club, who is scouting across half the continent after reported jumpers to the Federals from the Montreal club, that Pitchers Jean Dale and Emil Richter, Third Baseman Boyle and First Baseman Hugh Miller, will again sign Montreal contracts.

Bransfield confirms the reports that Pitchers Frank Smith, Mattern, Mullin and Imlay, Infielders Lennox, Walsh and Esmond, and Outfielders Almeida and Duncan have jumped or will jump to the Federals.

Outfielder Hanford, First Baseman Art Griggs and Pitcher Mel Mason are now the leading holdouts on the Royals' reserve list.

Head of Athletic Board.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—Bee Lawler, last year's quarterback on the Gopher football team, was yesterday elected president of the athletic board of control of the University of Minnesota. Lawler, a star on the football and basket ball teams, had already been elminated from further athletics at the university by the eligibility committee of the faculty, on the ground that he was not pursuing a full college course.

BIG SQUAD TO GREET TEN EYCK

More Than Eighty Crew Candidates Have Been Lined Up.

Letters were mailed yesterday to more than fifty prospective candidates of the Duluth Boat club crews. Thirty-eight new names have already been handed to Clarence Stewart, captain of the rowing department of the club. This, with the squad of forty-five men out last fall, will bring the list of candidates who will start work on the machines Tuesday afternoon up to more than eighty.

A wire received yesterday from Coach Ten Eyck stated that he would reach Duluth next Monday, if he is able to close up his business affairs.

Work on the machines in the rowing room that has been fitted up at the Y. M. C. A. will begin next Tuesday afternoon. Mirrors have been rigged up and the ambitious worker for a place in one of the boats will have the advantage of seeing himself in action and will consequently get an exaggerated picture of himself doing something very wrong unless he obeys the instructions of the coach.

Never in the history of early spring work has there been the amount of interest exhibited in the task of getting out new candidates that is being shown this year.

Officers and members of the club have co-operated in the work, and if interest counts, there will be an amazing list of candidates to be given the eagle eye by young Jimmy.

USUAL PROGRAM.

No Changes Made for Harvard-Yale Regatta in June.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 26.—The program of the Harvard-Yale regatta on the Thames river at New London, June 18 and 19, announced by the Crimson management yesterday, includes the usual race of 'varsity fours as the opening feature of the second day. A suggestion that this race be eliminated, was advanced recently but apparently did not find favor.

After the fours finish, the freshman eight-oared race will be rowed during the morning. The big race of 'varsity eights will be held in the afternoon.

An afternoon race of freshmen fours is the only event announced for the first day.

WILLIE HOPPE STILL BILLIARD CHAMPION.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Willie Hoppe last night defeated George Sutton in the last 500 block of their 1,500-point 18.2 balk line billiard tournament, 500 to 160, making the total score 1,500 to 734.

Hoppe's grand average was 55 15-27 against Sutton's 28 6-26. Hoppe's average last night was 50, his opponent averaging but 17 7-9.

IF MEALS SOUR AND TURN INTO GAS, TAKE SODA

When everything we eat turns to gas and we eructate sour food and acrid fluids it means there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, says a noted authority. This irritating acid retards the process of digestion and promotes food fermentation. Our meals sour in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, constant belching of gas, sour risings or heartburn, fullness and often nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy a package of ten grain Sodagen tablets and take one tablet anytime followed by a tumbler of water which will instantly neutralize acidity, stop food fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

He further states that those troubled with chronic acidity should take one tablet regularly, an hour after meals for a while, as this simple antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

DULUTH NAG SHOWS SPEED

Zim Henderson Surprises Horsemen in Defeat of Dean Oakley.

Contest for the Possession of Trophy Is Close and Exciting.

Last Monday afternoon on the ice little Jim surprised the followers of horse flesh by defeating Dean Oakley in the half-mile pacing event that was reeled off in 1:02, according to one of the watches.

Most of the followers of the harness nags had chalked the event up to the credit of Dean Oakley before the horses left their stalls. That's the reason why they are making so much fuss over Jim Henderson at the present time—and that is also the reason why there is so much interest in the coming event of next Sunday afternoon, when Henderson, Dean Oakley, Boy Prince and Shamrock will meet.

One of the most surprising features about the win of Jim Henderson is the fact that the Duluth horse, weighing around 950 pounds, has never been campaigned. Jim has a mark of 2:24¼, but during his career has really had no racing experience.

Last year at Hibbing they started Jim Henderson, and outside of some racing on the local ice last year, the nag has had practically no experience on the track.

It was stated by a number of the local horsemen yesterday that Jim Henderson would be prepared during the remainder of the winter for a campaign during the coming racing season.

In the face of the showing against Dean Oakley and Boy Prince last Monday, there are some of the followers of racing who predict a bright future for the local oat-destroyer.

As the heads stand at the present time, Dean Oakley and Jim Henderson have one each. The series of races being staged by the local horsemen is for the possession of the trophy offered by the United States Horse Shoe Company of Erie, Pa.

As Jim Henderson and Dean Oakley have a heat each, and as Shamrock is billed to start in the races of Sunday, lovers of the harness horses are looking forward to some fine racing for Sunday.

SKI RIDERS WILL ATTEMPT TO BREAK MARK OF 144 FEET

Since 1909 the mark of the Chester hill ski slide has remained at 144 feet. On Jan. 16, 1909, Lars Haugen made a leap of 148 feet, but fell. Therefore the jump did not count.

There is also an unofficial mark of 152 feet. But the official mark of the hill is 144 feet, and this is the record that all of the riders in the tourney of next Sunday will strive to beat.

If effort upon the part of the local officials of the Duluth Ski club can bring about the result, there will be a shattering of the long standing mark.

Work was continued on the hill yesterday and a crew of men will labor diligently to put the slide in the best possible shape in the time that remains between now and next Sunday.

With the great Ragnar Omtvedt of the Norge Ski club coming, and with the Haugen brothers as competitors, not to mention the class of the professionals listed under the National association, the chances for the breaking of the hill record would appear to be of the brightest.

One of the features of the contest should be the attempts of Ragnar Omtvedt to come near the wonderful mark he made on the Ironwood, Mich., hill—a mark of 169 feet, which stands as the world's record.

MATHEWSON IS STILL ON FENCE

Expects to Come to Terms With Giants But Considers Federals.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 26.—Christy Mathewson, the Giant star pitcher, who has been offered the berth of manager of the Federal league Brooklyn club, left here yesterday for Marlin Springs, Tex., the spring training camp of the New York Giants. He carried with him his unsigned contract to play with the Giants, and, while reiterating his intention to seriously consider the Federal offer, declared he was confident of coming to terms with the New York National league team.

Jeff Tesreau, another Giant pitcher, also left for Marlin Springs yesterday. He likewise has been offered a Federal berth and was quoted as saying that he would jump organized baseball if the Giants did not meet his terms.

New York, Feb. 26.—"Mathewson has not yet replied to my telegram, which leads me to think that our proposition has started him to thinking," said President Gilmore of the Federal league last night, referring to the new league's attempt to interest the star pitcher of the New York Nationals in an offer to align himself with the Federals.

Mr. Gilmore also said the Federal league was after Speaker, Crawford, Magee, Wingo, Doolan and Fliss, of the world's tourists.

GETS STAR SHORTSTOP.

Long Branch Owner Gets Cuban Player—Federals Unsuccessful.

Long Branch, N. J., Feb. 26.—Dr. Carlos Henriquez, owner of the Long Branch club of the New York and New Jersey league, is back from Cuba with the signed contract of Charles Romanach, a star Cuban shortstop, who has been wanted by the Brooklyn National league club and also claimed by Cincinnati.

According to Henriquez, Ebbets refused to pay Romanach the bonus the young Cuban desired; therefore he would not sign with Brooklyn. As Romanach was a free agent, Henriquez signed him, and he says he will fight the Brooklyn club to a finish should they try to take the player from him.

Henriquez said that Conte, the Federal league agent in Cuba, has not been successful in his mission, and that Cuban players are sticking to organized baseball. He says Conte has approached Mercedes, Almeida, Romanach, Palmero, Luque and Gonzales, players now in organized ball, and that all have refused his offers.

MANY YACHTS ENTER EXPOSITION REGATTA.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 26.—Responses to the invitations sent out by the yachting bureau of the Panama-Pacific international exposition for an international regatta to be held here from April 5 to 25, 1915, are being received from all over the world, it was learned yesterday.

Among the organizations which have written for full particulars of the regatta, are the Imperial St. Petersburg Yacht club; the Austro-Hungarian Imperial and Royal Yacht squadron of Pola, Austria; the Royal New Zealand Yacht squadron of Auckland, N. Z.; the Royal Yacht club of Gothenburg, Sweden, and the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club of New York.

Great Britain will, of course, be represented by Sir Thomas Lipton's entry.

RESTRICTS SWITCHING BETWEEN THE LEAGUES

New York, Feb. 26.—The national commission has announced several important changes to its rules—changes made to comply with the agreement recently reached with the Players' fraternity.

The changes, according to Secretary Heydler of the National league, meant that no player will leave one major league unless clubs in the other league have been given opportunity to procure him; also that the player cannot be released to a league of low classification unless all intermediate leagues have been given a chance to get him.

The new rules go into effect immediately.

Breaks Altitude Record.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 26.—America's altitude record made by Lieut. H. B. Post in his recent fatal flight at North Island, was broken yesterday when Theodore McCauley, aviation instructor, ascended to the height of 12,139 feet. Post's record was 12,120.

Swimming Records.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—John P. Lichter, former University of Illinois star, set a new world's record of 21 3-5 seconds for sixty-foot tanks for plunging in the Central A. A. U. championships here last night. The former record was 22 seconds, held by M. Kaiser of the Missouri A. C. Perry McGillivray was disqualified in the 50-yards championship for impeding an opponent, and A. C. Raithel was declared winner. Time, 25 seconds. Michael McDermott won the 220-yard breast stroke championship for the sixth consecutive time, making the distance in 2:43.

DULUTH TEAM IS RIGHT FOR THE WINNIPEG GAME

Linder and Company in the Best Shape of Season and Two Great Games Should Result in the Series With All-Stars.

BY BRUCE.

With Duluth in the best condition of the season the two games with the All-Stars of Winnipeg promise to bring out the best hockey that has been seen at the curling rink this winter.

According to the dope from Winnipeg, a real aggregation of stars is coming to oppose the Linderites. In Connors, Vener, Connell and Mera of Winnipeg, hockey enthusiasts of the Western Canadian metropolis state that Duluth will see a quartet of stick handlers that classes with any players in the West. At least this is the lingo that comes from the Canadian end of the line.

Local followers of the game have come to the belief that anything that comes from Winnipeg in the way of hockey, must be good.

No greater exhibition of the game was ever seen here than the contest put up by the Winnipeg Victorias earlier in the season. Now another seven from the large and thriving center of the Western portion of the Dominion is coming to try conclusions in two games with the local team, which is in the best condition of the season.

Seats Are Cheaper.

Announcement was made by Secretary J. E. McGregor yesterday that the price of the seats would be reduced for the games with the Winnipeg team. Considering the fact that the seats will be cheaper and one of the best teams from the other side of the line is coming, the probabilities are that one of the largest crowds of the season will witness the contest of tomorrow evening and the one of the following evening.

In the two final games with the American Soo, Duluth showed the best form of the season. If the All-Stars are as good as they are reported to be, and there is certainly little doubt that they are, Joe Linder and his crowd will have to show the best hockey of the winter to win.

"We didn't get started until after the other teams of the league had a good lead," said Leader Linder yesterday. "Right now we have one of the best teams in theAmerican Hockey association. We are going to try to show the fans just how good we are."

The Canadians play real hockey and they generally play it all of the time, and the resulting of both of the games, no matter which teams win, should be two fine exhibitions of the greatest of all winter sport games.

Pelligrine Defies.

Frank Pelligrine, an Italian wrestler of Laurium, Mich., issues a challenge to any wrestler in Minnesota weighing from 175 to 185. Pelligrine has made quite a reputation in Michigan and longs for larger worlds to conquer.

Federals' Training Camp.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26.—Manager Phillips, of the local Federal league club, has announced that the first detachment of players would depart for the spring training camp on March 15. The local Federals will train at Wichita Falls, Texas.

DECLARES LIQUOR WORST ENEMY

Daniel A. Poling Delivers Address on Conservation of Life.

Declaring that liquor is the greatest enemy of conservation, Daniel A. Poling, president of the International Temperance council and candidate for governor of Ohio in 1912 on the Prohibition ticket, delivered a forceful address on the saloon question before a large gathering at the First Presbyterian church last evening.

"The highest conservation is that of human life. Liquor is its greatest enemy," declared Mr. Poling. "John Barleycorn employs 67,000 men and destroys nearly as many each year. More than 97 per cent of the industrial institutions of the nation are discriminating against drinkers.

"Science has proven that liquor is not a stimulant but a narcotic poison, and that even moderate drinkers are impaired mentally and physically by its use."

Speaking of the social effect of alcohol, the speaker pointed out that it stood behind white slavery, from which evil it drew vast revenues and behind all forms of civic corruption.

"The $2,000,000,000 which the liquor traffic annually costs this nation could give employment to seven and one-half times as many persons as are now working in industries and at wages five and one-half times as great," he said.

Mr. Poling addressed the members of the Duluth Association of Office Men at their regular luncheon at the Commercial club yesterday noon and was the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Christian Endeavor union of Duluth at 6 o'clock last evening. Besides being prominent in the national temperance campaign, Mr. Poling is an associate of the president of the Christian Endeavorer societies of the country.

SEEK MEANS TO PUT END TO DRUG HABIT

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26.—A plea for the relief of drug victims was made by Dr. Charles A. Towns of New York before a legislative hearing yesterday on bills designed to restrict the sale of habit-forming drugs.

"The drug problem in the underworld is one for the police to cope with," Dr. Towns said. "But drugs have worked greater havoc in the 'upper world' than in the underworld, and here the havoc has been wrought upon men and women who really are worth while, whom it is the duty of the medical profession, the drug trade and everybody who lays the slightest claim to decent humanity, to conserve."

A feature of the proposed laws is a provision designed to treat those who obtain drugs in violation of the law as victims of disease, and not as criminals. This provision would give a magistrate authority to commit habitual users of drugs to hospitals instead of to prison.

REFUGEES COST $75,000 A MONTH

Washington, Feb. 26.—Mexican refugees—soldiers, women, children and camp followers—harbored on the border, have cost the United States $142,254 so far, and will cost $75,000 a month hereafter. Secretary Bryan so informed congress.

Produce Trust Case Ended.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Closing arguments on the government's petition to restrain the Chicago butter and egg board from promulgating prices were heard yesterday by Federal Judge Landis, who will give a written opinion. The similar case of the Elgin, Ill., butter and egg board will be heard by Judge Landis next Tuesday.

TRADE MAKES GOOD GAINS

Jobbers Find Business Is Growing Despite Off-Season Handicap.

Crop Outlook Good and All Staple Goods Move Briskly.

Though the present is the off-season in many lines, the various Duluth jobbing houses are finding that business is mounting up into a substantial aggregate. Increases over a year ago are said to be the rule in practically every branch of trade.

Buyers in the city from points in North Dakota and Montana are enthusiastic in their expressions of opinion regarding the outlook for seeding of a large acreage this spring. With the big areas plowed last fall and the liberal snowfalls this winter, it is thought the crop will go in under the best conditions.

A feature generally commented upon by sales managers is the liberal placing of future orders in staple goods.

Few Changes in Groceries.

The volume of business being booked in both staple and fancy groceries is reported satisfactory all-round by the Rust-Parker-Martin company.

Price changes during the last few days have been comparatively unimportant, with the general tendency about a stand-off.

As a result of the weak situation in sugars, syrups have come in for a substantial reduction in quotations. Coffees are weak, with the outlook for lower prices. Compared with a year ago, the market in that commodity is off slightly.

Beans are weak, and it is to be noted that they are substantially lower than at this time last year. In imported fish, Norway mackerel is higher at the point of shipment, to the extent of the reduction in duty, so that prices to consumers are unchanged. Jobbers have canvassed the trade in olives and have taken orders on the same price basis as last season, though figures in first hands are up 10 per cent.

Dry Goods Trade Good.

Current business in dry goods is advised by F. A. Patrick & Co. to continue liberal for the season, with mackinaw trade for next fall especially good. Salesmen have been coming into the house for their fall samples during the last two weeks and they are due to be all on the road again next week. The firm's woolen and knitting factories are now operating full time, with a large force under employment.

Hardware Prices Firm.

Heavy early orders in steel goods, including the smaller articles in agricultural implements, are advised by the two Duluth hardware jobbing establishments, the Kelley-How-Thomson and the Marshall-Wells hardware companies. Good business in wire was placed just prior to its recent advance, and merchants are also showing a disposition to anticipate their requirements in nails, in which a raise is expected by March 5. Trade in general shelf goods is coming to hand liberally, and large shipments of heavy stuff from here over the West are forecasted with the opening of navigation.

Liberal Harness Orders.

"We are looking forward to one of the best March trades in our history," said E. A. Schulze of Schulze Bros.' company today. "Our tally of harness orders for immediate shipment is good, and taken on the whole, we are satisfied with the outlook in our line."

The market in leather is reported firm, and tanners predict a still higher range of prices in 1914.

Shoe Factory Busy.

L. D. Stickles, manager of the Northern Shoe company, said that the product of his company's factory is substantially heavier than a year ago, and that, taking future bookings as a basis, an active period seems assured for some time to come. He intimated that the company's salesmen will be on the road with their samples of fall footwear within the next two or three weeks.

Furniture Business Expands.

A marked increase over a year ago in its aggregate of furniture orders was advised by the De Witt-Seitz company. Salesmen are now out with their new samples, and in their reports they comment upon the readiness of retailers to place future orders. Northern Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota are being found relatively the best business producing territories by the house at present.

PROGRESSIVE TREATMENT FOR DRINK AND DRUG HABIT

Old-Time Methods Give Way to Modern Medical Science.

By modern scientific methods the "Drink Habit" is now successfully treated in Three Days or in a less number of days than the number of weeks required by the old time treatments. Instead of over a hundred painful, dangerous hypodermic injections, and the use of strong drugs, the modern NEAL way consists of the administration of purely vegetable, and perfectly harmless medicines, taken internally.

THE NEAL DRUG TREATMENT for the morphine or other drug habits requires 14 to 21 days and there is no pain, suffering, and sleepless nights as occasioned by many other treatments.

The NEAL is a home-like place. Guests have all the comforts of home. Everything strictly confidential. For full information, call or write for our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction." We mail it in a plain sealed envelope, without charge, on request.

LOST MONEY ON THE JOB

Contractor Not Willing to Continue Work on Point of Rocks.

Finances Will Not Permit City to Undertake the Work.

The city will not remove any stone from the Point of Rocks this spring of its own accord, but is perfectly willing that any contractor should undertake to remove stone to be used by the government in finishing its work at the Superior entry.

This was the tentative decision reached yesterday afternoon when the matter was discussed at an informal meeting of the city council in the mayor's office. The feeling was that the city's finances are too limited to warrant it in going to the expense which would be necessary, particularly as there appears to be no immediate need of opening Superior street for traffic.

Last fall Contractor John Fredin took out about 8,000 tons of rock. The city paid him $1 per ton while the city was paid 80 cents per ton by the Federal government. By this arrangement the cost to the city of removing a big slice of the cliff was 20 cents a ton. Contractor Fredin will not tackle the job again, according to the statement made by Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division. He lost about $1,000 and Commissioner Murchison stated that the contractor felt that the city should make up the difference to him. This sentiment did not seem to meet with the approval of the city fathers.

Since last fall Commissioner Murchison has had under consideration the matter of further cutting away the Point of Rocks. For several months one firm was figuring on the advisability of establishing a big rock crushing plant there, but after their investigation those interested finally abandoned the idea, the commissioner explained yesterday. He has had the proposition up with others, but none of them has appeared willing to tackle the job at a price which the city would be willing to pay. From present indications it looks as though the only work which will be done there this year will be that of the city in the operation of its rock crushing plant.

LAST RITES FOR JOSEPH SELLWOOD

Funeral Will Be Held Friday --Pallbearers Are Announced.

Richard M. Sellwood, son of Capt. Joseph Sellwood, who died last Tuesday afternoon, yesterday announced the list of pallbearers who will escort the body of Duluth's pioneer banker and mine owner to its final resting place tomorrow afternoon. They are all former business associates of Capt. Sellwood.

The active pallbearers will include George A. St. Clair, W. A. McGonagle, F. A. Patrick, James A. Ferguson, Joseph B. Cotton, Ronald J. McLeod, Archibald M. Chisholm and Pentecost Mitchell. The honorary pallbearers will be Judge Page Morris, W. T. Bailey, Capt. Alexander McDougall and Mr. Cameron of Cleveland. The last named was very closely associated with the late Capt. Sellwood.

The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence, 1802 East Superior street, with Rev. J. W. Hoffman of the First Methodist church officiating. The body will be placed in the Sellwood vault at the Forest Hill cemetery. In observance of the funeral hour, the City National bank, of which Capt. Sellwood was president, will close tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Among the out-of-town people who will be in Duluth for the funeral are W. H. Sellwood of Salt Lake City, a brother, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mathews of Ishpeming, Mich.

MAY BUY THE GAS LAMPS

City May Take Over Standards Owned By Welsbach Company.

Believed That Money Could Be Saved on Street Lighting.

The city council looked with favor upon the proposal broached at an informal meeting yesterday afternoon by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division, that the city handle street gas lighting entirely as a municipal utility.

Street gas lights are now being operated under the same terms as were in force when the city had a contract with the Welsbach Street Lighting company. The contract expired last April and was not renewed, but the same prices are being paid. The standards are owned by the Welsbach company. For rental and upkeep the city is paying the company 93 cents per lamp per month while the Zenith Furnace company is paid 37½ cents per month per lamp for gas, making a total cost of $1.30½ per month for each lamp, or $15.66 per year.

Commissioner Merritt submitted a report showing that 161 gas lamps are in use in the city at the present time. At the price of new lamps their value would be approximately $3,200. As many of them have been in service for many years it was the sentiment of the commissioners that they could be purchased for considerably less than that sum. Commissioner Hicken expressed the opinion that the entire outfit ought to be secured for $1,500.

The council is satisfied that the city could effect a material saving and give better lighting service by replacing many electric lights with gas lamps. Each bunch of incandescents costs $18.33 1-3 a year, as against $15.66 now being paid for gas lamps, and it is thought that this latter cost would be appreciably reduced if the city did its gas lighting directly. In other places, particularly where trees are large, it is asserted that gas lamps would give better results than the arc lights now being used. Each arc costs $55 per year.

The subject was discussed at some length and the consensus of opinion was that Commissioner Merritt should take up the matter with the Welsbach company and the Zenith Furnace company to ascertain what kind of a deal the city would be able to make.

ITALY REPORTED TO BE PROSPEROUS

Italian Consul Makes Public Reports From His Native Land.

Attilio Castigliano of Duluth, Italian consular agent for Minnesota and Northern Michigan, has made public reports he has just received from the Italian government, giving in a condensed form a statement of the financial condition of that country which undoubtedly will be of interest to his countrymen here.

During the last fiscal year the excess of receipts over expenditures was $26,000,000, this amount being apportioned for national improvement work this year, such as water works and roads. Notwithstanding the fact Italy engaged in a war with Tripoli and is even now encountering guerilla warfare in that section, and that the country had to keep in readiness for any emergency the Balkan war might bring, Italy carried this burden without borrowing a single cent from foreign countries, and during the same period Italian bankers were able to take over $190,000,000 in government bonds previously held in foreign countries.

Italy's commerce is shown by the statement there were 164,000 arrivals and departures of steamers reported to the government, and the number of men employed in marine work increased 100,000.

Savings bank deposits amounted to $1,500,000,000 on June 3, an increase of $25,000,000 during the six months preceding.

In 1905 the government took over practically all of the railroads of the country, now controlling about 9,400 miles of road. Up to the end of the last fiscal year $400,000,000 had been expended on equipment, and the increased revenue has been continuous, establishing the fact, according to Mr. Castigliano, that government ownership is a success. Last year's revenue was $130,000,000. To operate these roads the government owns 5,304 locomotives and 300 electric motors, the traffic through the numerous tunnels necessitated by Italy's mountainous topography being practically all electrified.

Another new departure is the life insurance branch of the government, controlling practically all of the life insurance business.

Improved sanitary conditions are indicated by the fact that the Red Cross society in 1901 cared for 1,263 cases of malarial fever and in 1910 only 187 cases.

Mr. Castigliano also states that Italian colonial development continues rapidly, and is very gratifying to the government as well as to Italians everywhere.

"FLYING SQUADRON" WILL FIGHT LIQUOR.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 26.—A new movement for the advancement of national prohibition, to be known as the "flying squadron of America," has just been completed, according to announcement here by J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, who is chairman of the executive committee of the squadron.

Among those associated with Mr. Hanly in the movement are Eugene Chafin, twice Prohibitionist candidate for president; Dr. Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn.; Clinton N. Howard of New York; Daniel A. Poling, vice president of the National Anti-Saloon league, and Mrs. Mary Harris Armour of Georgia.

The "flying squadron" declares in its prospectus that it will not represent any party or special interests, and will work entirely for national prohibition. The squadron, it is planned, will travel about the country, spending about three days in whirlwind campaigns in each of the largest cities and state capitals.

LESSEES SUE LANDLORD.

Action Brought Against J. Altman for $1,200 Damages.

Declaring that after they had paid the first month's rent to a storeroom at 1123 West Michigan street, J. Altman, the landlord, refused to perform his part of the contract and allow them possession, Mike Brown and John Bartelo started suit for $1,200 damages against Altman in district court yesterday.

Bartello and Brown declare that they rented the premises on Nov. 28, 1913, and paid $17.50 as the first month's rental at that time. Later, it is alleged, Altman secured the key to the premises from them on the pretense that he wanted to construct another door to the building. Since that time he has refused to turn over the key or allow them possession, it is claimed.

CUT OUT BOOZE OR LOSE THEIR JOBS.

Kittanning, Pa., Feb. 26.—Employes of the American Steel & Wire company here and in Leechburg, Pa., where the company has large plants, have been notified to withdraw at once from fraternal organizations that conduct clubs. Officials, in giving the order, declared the sale of liquor in such clubs impaired the efficiency of working forces in the mills.

Dock Worker Asks $5,000 for Alleged Personal Injuries.

Injured while unloading ore at Dock No. 4, Aug. 6, 1913, Charles Smithko, yesterday started suit for $5,000 damages against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company in district court. Smithko asserts that he was on top of a stationary car. When an engine coupled on, he says the jolt caused him to be thrown into an open ore pocket. Cuts and bruises about the face and head were sustained, it is alleged.

ADVERTISERS WOULD CENSOR ADVERTISING.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Advertising commissions, to be composed of advertisers, which will pass upon the honesty of the assertions in advertising copy before it is published, were urged at the fourteenth annual meeting of the Association of American Advertisers here, by Allen N. Drake of Buffalo, N. Y.

"The men who pay the money should combine against fraudulent advertising" said Mr. Drake. "Agents will fight fraudulent circulation claims by publishers."

MINNEAPOLIS WOMAN ESCAPES DANGEROUS SURGICAL OPERATION

Mrs. Sinclair Finds Wonderful Stomach Remedy in Time to Avoid Knife.

Mrs. Sadie E. Sinclair of 418 East Lake street, Minneapolis, suffered from stomach derangements for more than six years. She became despondent and hopeless. She feared she would have to undergo an operation. Her complexion suffered along with her general health.

Then she discovered Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and took a course of treatment. The first dose brought results. She wrote:

"Only one dose and I slept like a log. And I felt relieved right away. If I should need any more medicine you may be sure I will send for it. It is a wonder one can be rid of such conditions without pain. And my complexion is clearing; they all speak of it—I was so yellow and brown before."

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy works quickly and safely. It clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings swift relief to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver and digestive tract. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it has saved their lives.

The remarkable success of this remedy has caused many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Probably it is known among your own neighbors. Ask them. Go to Wirth's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has accomplished—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, manufacturing chemist, 154 and 156 Whiting street, Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its remarkable effects.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TREASURER'S JOB IS MOST POPULAR

Otherwise There Is Not Much Interest in Nashwauk Election.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Outside of the office of village treasurer there does not appear to be much interest in the competition for village offices to be filled by the election March 10. The caucus will be held Tuesday, March 3. Pasquale Verra and James Cannon seek the treasurership.

Those mentioned for village president are John P. Raatana, the present incumbent, and Abe Markus; for village trustee those mentioned are: John H. Carlson, Edward Wilson, Wilbur Ohles, Joseph de Petro and Frank Schinnelli. The clerkship job will be contested by William Summi and Michael O'Donovan.

ARE NOW DRILLING AROUND OXHIDE LAKE

Belief at Nashwauk That Body Extends Under the Water.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Property around Oxhide lake is being drilled and it is expected that the lake is in a center of a large ore body. The lake is situated three miles northwest of town and with the erection of the Crosby Mining company's concentrating plant, which is almost certain, and the already equipped brick plant in this vicinity, it will be of great value to Nashwauk.

CHISHOLM GETS MANY TENDERS

Bids to Furnish Trees and Dump Wagon Go Over to March 5.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council yesterday afternoon opened bids for furnishing trees for the park; for furnishing a dump wagon and for electrical fixtures for the detention hospital. All were examined and further action went over till the next meeting March 5.

The nursery stock bids follow: D. Hill Nursery company, Dundee, Ill., on evergreen trees, range from $1.75 to $2.50 each, and on shade trees to $2.00 each; L. L. May & Co. of St. Paul bid on a total stock required, $1,724.78; the Jewel Nursery company bid, $785. Coe, Converse company of Fort Atkinson, Wis., did not inclose a certified check, and their bid was not considered.

J. I. Case Threshing Machine company bid $115 each and $125 each for yard and a half and two yard capacity dump wagon and $27 and $32 respectively on a rooter. M. W. Turner of Duluth bid $417 for the three wagons. And Roine of Chisholm offered the wagons at $174 on the yard and a half and $182 on the two yard wagon. His price on the rooter was $27. Studebaker Bros. bid ranged from $108 to $124.15. The Austin-Western of Duluth branch made a bid of $117; their price on the rooter was $59.20. The Galion Iron Works, through their Duluth representative, submitted a bid ranging from $93 to $125, and on the rooter from $29.50 to $36.50.

On electric light fixtures for the detention hospital E. H. Graham submitted a bid of $223 and for the installation of the signal system, $87. The Mesaba Electric company's bid was $186.34 on fixtures and $133.94 on installation.

Johnson and Watne, contractors on the detention hospital, registered their second complaint on the slow progress the plumbing contractor was making. The council took the letter under advisement.

Liquor License Renewals.

Liquor license renewals were given to B. Bessetti, Sol Rublof and R. Maturi. John Champa was permitted to transfer his license to Zanone and Champa. John F. Johnson was permitted to transfer his liquor license to Gus Peterson. Oscar Johnson asked to transfer the location of his saloon from No. 219 West Lake to 217 West Lake but this was refused.

A committee consisting of Mrs. R. S. O'Neil, Mrs. Kleffman and Mrs. Freeman requested that some compensation be allowed Mrs. Mark L. Harris, who for the past several years has devoted a large portion of her time administering to the poor. The council placed Mrs. Harris' name on the payroll at $25 per month beginning Feb. 1, and made a further allowance of $50 for past services.

Name Election Officers.

The election judges and clerks for the annual election March 10 were named as follows:

Precinct No. 1, William Miller, Oscar Simstrom, judges; John B. Raeker, clerk; S. E. Greenthal, doorkeeper.

Precinct No. 2, F. W. Winder, Anton Peterson, judges; August Dodier, clerk.

Precinct No. 3, O. H. Higbee, Mark Merriman, judges; Harry Hurtebise, clerk.

Precinct No. 4, H. S. Rankin, Robert Handley, judges; H. J. Empey, clerk.

Precinct No. 5, H. W. McLaughlin, Guy Mitchell, judges; S. J. Musolf, clerk.

Deputy Recorder F. L. Austin was authorized to procure the services of Temple, Webb & Co. of St. Paul, to make the annual audit beginning not earlier than March 20.

Chief of Police George Donahue was instructed to procure necessary assistance in improving the morals of the town.

A. Y. Peterson, assistant general superintendent of the Oliver Mining company's Monroe district, was appointed on the water and light board to succeed William Bayliss, whose term expired this month. The appointment is for three years.

EVELETH BONSPIEL ON NEXT SATURDAY

Final Play in Competition for Bank Offer Is Scheduled.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the curling rink Saturday evening three final trophy games will be played. Dr. Harwood's rink and the postoffice rink, skipped by Postmaster Ed Hatch, will decide the ownership of the four kodaks set up by the Miners' National bank; B. O. Greening's rink will play J. A. Robb's rink for the possession of the Home Electric & Heating company's trophy, four electric toasters; and H. E. Loye's rink will be matched against C. B. Hoel's rink for the four pocket knives in the Malloy Hardware company's trophy.

DAMAGE CASE IS NOW BEING TRIED

Eveleth Man Would Recover From the Oliver Iron Mining Co.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The morning's session of district court today was taken up with trying to get a jury to try the personal injury case of Thomas Drascovich vs. the Oliver Iron Mining company and as soon as a jury is selected the introduction of evidence will begin. The plaintiff was injured in one of the company's mines at Eveleth before the workmen's compensation act went into effect. Edward Boyle appears for the plaintiff and Attorney Abbott of Duluth for the defense.

The jury late yesterday returned a verdict for the defense in the replevin case of Helmer vs. Helmer.

GAVE BOY LIQUOR IS CHARGE MADE

Virginia Saloonman and Bartenders to Face the Charges Monday.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Stubler, proprietor of a saloon, and John Stubler and Ted Stubler, two sons, who are employed by him as bartenders, will be given a hearing in municipal court next Monday on a charge of having sold liquor to a minor.

Father Makes Charge.

The complaint upon which they were arrested was sworn to by J. P. Denyes, and it is alleged that the liquor was furnished to his son, Ralph, who is a high school student 18 years old.

SKETCHES SUBMITTED.

Architects Appear Before the Virginia School Board.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sketches for the new South side school were submitted to the board of education last night by five architects. Those at the meeting were C. K. Shand, Virginia; Carl E. Nystrom, Clyde Kelly, E. G. German and W. T. Alfred of Duluth. None of the sketches was accepted, the board desiring further time to go over them. It is expected that a special meeting will be held on Saturday evening for the purpose, when the architect who will draw the plans will be decided upon.

NEW VIRGINIA DAILY.

Enterprise to Make Its Six-Days-a-Week Bow Next Monday.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Daily Enterprise will make its bow to the people of Virginia next Monday evening when the second daily paper in this city will issue its initial number. It will have the "pony" Associated Press reports and print every week day. The Enterprise Printing & Publishing company is back of the venture with Thomas Moody as managing editor and Charles G. Branham, late of Duluth and the Twin Cities, as editor.

COUNCIL MEETS FRIDAY.

Hibbing Body Then Expected to Hear Water Expert's Report.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The postponed session of the village council is expected to be held tomorrow afternoon. It is then expected that the exhaustive report made by a hydraulic engineer upon the waterworks problem will be presented. The report is expected to be thorough and to furnish ideas for the future of the plant in keeping with the village's expected growth.

Virginia "Experience" Social.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Epworth League of the First Methodist church will give an "experience" social in the basement of the church Friday evening. About two months ago the members of the league pledged themselves to earn $200 to help wipe out the old church debt, and at the social on Friday evening they will relate the manner in which the money was earned. There will also be a musical program and refreshments.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYEGLASSES!

A FREE PRESCRIPTION

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Do you wear eyeglasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

MAYOR OF TOWER WINS HIS POINT

Has Street Commissioner Selected Despite Some Opposition.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council Tuesday evening transacted considerable business. Mayor Roland presided. The city recorder presented a number of communications, one of which was the declination of Carl Howe to act as a member of the board of health. The mayor appointed John Taylor, and the council confirmed the appointment.

The matter of street commissioner was considered. Some objection to a street commissioner was evident, owing to the city's straightened financial condition. Alderman Strunch was of the opinion, if one was appointed, it be at a lower salary than last year. Andrew Thorpe was the mayor's choice and the candidate was confirmed. The bond of City Treasurer Pearson for $15,000, with Anton Gornick, A. A. Talle and H. L. Hallock as sureties, was accepted.

The matter of placing the new poles for the light system in the alleys was thought wise as they disfigure the main street.

The matter of cement sidewalk on the north side of Main street was believed quite possible and it is likely an effort will be made to get the improvement.

The condemnation of unsightly buildings and other structures will probably be among the early acts of the new council. It appears that in some cases buildings are built out into the alleys to a greater or less extent.

VIRGINIA'S LID TO BE EFFECTIVE

Chief of Police Rice Has Decided to Clean Up Range City.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Rice proposes to clean up the city and has launched a campaign that it is expected will bring about stricter law enforcement.

It is announced the police will see that every saloon observes the closing law and cocaine peddlers will have to leave town forthwith. A certain so-called club is under suspicion as harboring drug fiends and the police propose to put the place out of business. A notorious place where men and young women congregate, it is also reported, has come under the ban and some arrests are expected.

GRAND RAPIDS CAUCUS.

Meeting Friday Night to Get Ready for Spring Campaign.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A caucus will be held tomorrow evening at the village hall to select candidates for the election March 10. It is expected the present president, three trustees, recorder and treasurer will be candidates and their friends predict their re-election.

George Riddell, who is serving his seventh term as village president, may be asked to succeed himself.

The present village trustees—F. A. King, George Arscott and Dr. Thomas Russell—have held their offices for four years and will again be candidates, with the exception of King, who has been appointed register of the office at Cass Lake.

Frank Sherman, village recorder, and Lester Lofberg, treasurer, will be candidates for re-election.

LOGGER IS BURIED.

Funeral of James Affleck Is Held at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of James Affleck, a well-known logger, who died Tuesday at the home of his brother, was held from the home today, and interment was made in Itasca cemetery. The dead man had lived in Itasca county since 1878.

RABBI LEFKOVITS TO SPEAK AT ELY SUNDAY.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits of Duluth will be the speaker at the Methodist church here Sunday evening under the auspices of the Young Men's club.

Tuesday evening next, the Young Men's club will give a sleighride party to the members of the organization and their friends. This is the third social event given under the auspices of the club during the winter months.

COLDER

The balmy weather of the past day or two is threatened. The weather man says it will be colder, but at that it will not be so bad. Fifteen deg. above zero will not freeze much. It was 26 deg. above as the coldest during last night.

A year ago today was fair and cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:52 and will set this afternoon at 5:50, giving ten hours and fifty-eight minutes of sunshine, two minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Unusually low temperature continues in Southern states, freezing weather extending southward to including Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina. A killing frost occurred at New Orleans last night. The temperature has risen somewhat in Central, Northern and Eastern districts. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over South Atlantic and East Gulf states, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Nevada and Idaho."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours, ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Wisconsin—Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; somewhat colder tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled weather tonight and Friday, probably snow flurries; warmer in extreme east and colder in extreme west portions tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday; slightly colder in southeast portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday, warmer tonight in southeast portion.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday, except snow along Lake Superior; colder tonight.

BURIED AT ELY.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Joseph Markovich, who died Monday at the Shipman hospital, was held here this afternoon from the Catholic church. Markovich was a resident of Pennsylvania, coming to the Minnesota iron ranges about three weeks ago on a visit with friends and relatives. He was 33 and unmarried.

Aurora to Play Ely.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Friday evening a game of basket ball will be played at the Lincoln school gymnasium by the teams representing the Ely and Aurora high schools. Interest attaches to the game because Principal W. E. England of the Aurora high school, and coach of the Aurora team, was the coach last year for Ely and developed a team that was not defeated during the entire season. Superintendent of the Aurora schools, De Witt Adkins, was formerly principal of the Ely high school, and is a brother to the present principal, Stanley Adkins.

Grand Rapids Firemen Elect.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local firemen have chosen the following officers: Chief, Lester Lofberg; first assistant, Miller Williams; second assistant, William Whalling; secretary, William Powers; treasurer, E. A. Kremer; fire warden, Emil Litchke. The department will give its annual dance Easter Monday evening.

Destitute Nashwauk Family.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police William Hayes this week, under orders from the village council, extended relief to the J. Schulto family, who were in destitute circumstances. The officer provided food. It is said there are other families in a similar condition and their wants will be attended to.

Special Cars for Performance.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two special cars will be run over the Mesaba electric railway to Eveleth on Friday evening for the accommodation of those who desire to attend the production of "The Red Rose" at the Eveleth auditorium. The cars will leave Virginia at 7:30 and will be held in readiness near the auditorium for return immediately after the performance.

To Play at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia Technical high and the Hibbing high school basket ball teams will play at the Technical gymnasium on Friday evening.

Given Farewell Supper.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 26.—A farewell supper was given Sunday evening by Miss Anna Payne for William Baxendale, who left this week for his home at Silverwood, Mich.

WIDOW WINS CONTENTION.

Favorable Court Order Involving Big Racine County, Wis., Estate.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 26.—Attorneys representing Mrs. Charles Cushman, widow of a former resident of Racine county, announced that by virtue of a decision handed down in the supreme court of New York, Mrs. Cushman's suit against the estate of her husband's uncle, John U. Brooks, late a resident of New York, for the equity of her three children, had been granted and that approximately $1,000,000 would be turned over to the heirs when they become of age.

The contest arose when other heirs to the $8,000,000 estate contended that Mrs. Cushman, as guardian, should not receive an allowance for the support of the children and that as grand nephews the minors were not entitled to an inheritance. The order of the court entitles Mrs. Cushman $500 a month for the rearing of her sons. Cushman was a former Chicago attorney. Years ago he retired to a farm near here where he killed himself.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church was entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. Rice at the Pioneer terrace.

EXPECT DAIRYING TO BE BENEFITED

Hope Proposed Federal Station at Mandan Will Prove Boon.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Plains experiment station being established here by the government for the purpose of carrying on investigations to determine the best grains, grasses, fruits and shrubs for the semi-arid sections of the United States will add dairying and animal husbandry departments if the plan of the department of agriculture at Washington succeeds.

An effort is being made to secure an additional appropriation of $15,000 for this station with which to build a dairy barn, silos, add a herd of fifteen dairy cattle, some thoroughbred draft horses, some sheep and a few hogs. It is contended that the dairy and animal husbandry experiments are as important as the others and the animals can easily be fed on the grasses and grains grown at the station without additional expense. It is also likely that experiments will also be made on feeding and finishing beef cattle for market.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and bronchitis.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equaled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CUTS THROAT AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

Settler Living Near Brookston Concludes Spree By Taking Life.

Brookston, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Kalle Hemming Sahanen, a homesteader residing three miles west of this village, committed suicide at 9:30 yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor and then shooting himself with an automatic rifle. Sahanen had been drinking for several days and it is thought that he acted in a moment of insanity. He had resided near here since June, 1910, and was well and favorably known. This week he sold his land to Theodore Salli and was making preparations to make a trip to his old home in Finland. Sahanen resided in Duluth before coming to this vicinity to make his home. The coroner was notified and a deputy arrived from Duluth yesterday afternoon and took charge of the body. The dead man had no relatives here.

BURNED IN NEWBERRY.

Detroit Minister Had Troublesome Fire in Upper Peninsula.

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. J. A. Cottam, recently arrested in Wayne county on suspicion of having burned the First Methodist parsonage at Dearborn, a suburb of Detroit, of the church at which place he was the pastor, held a similar clerical position at Newberry for two years, serving from 1910 to 1912. In June of the latter year, a fire in the parsonage caused considerable damage. Insurance of $700 was paid, and of this sum the minister is said to have received $300. The clergyman went to his old home in England on leave of absence, shortly afterward, and prior to his departure his congregation held a reception at which he was presented with a purse of money.

BOTH NAMED SAME.

Two St. Paul Aldermanic Candidates Are August Hohensteins.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 26.—The names of 119 candidates, seven of whom seek the mayoralty, will be on the ballot of St. Paul's first primary election under the new charter, March 17.

The two August Hohensteins, both aldermanic candidates, will settle the problem of identification on the ballot if the attorney general believes it lawful for one of them to insert his middle initial. He was asked for an opinion.

VIOLATED AGREEMENT.

Report Finds Wisconsin U Dining Halls Management Broke Faith.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—The committee appointed at the student conference at the university commons reported that the management of the dining halls had not lived up to the verbal agreement in the rehiring of waiters when the service was resumed at the beginning of the second semester. The committee will report its findings to James F. Trottman, president of the regents.

PEET SUCCEEDS BARDON.

Takes Place of Superior Man on Lake and River Commission.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—Governor McGovern announced the following appointments yesterday:

Edward L. Peet, Danbury, as member of the Lake Superior and Mississippi river canal commission to succeed James Bardon, Superior, resigned; W. H. McFetridge, Baraboo, as member of the state park board; Victor I. Minahan, Green Bay, as member of the state park board.

LESS ENGLISH SPARROWS.

Bounty Paid in Michigan for Birds Reduces Number.

Vulcan, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Were it possible to take a census of the English sparrows and to make comparisons the bird population of Upper Michigan would be found to have suffered a big decrease the last three months. English sparrows are held by the law of the state to be a pest and during December, January and February there is a bounty of 2 cents on each of their heads. The result is an extensive slaughter in which boys chiefly indulge. Many thousands of the birds have been killed in Upper Michigan during the season now drawing to a close, but there are multitudes left. The season's greatest kill is believed to have been made by a boy at Gladstone. Louis Larson of that city had presented 657 heads for the bounty, at last accounts, and expected to easily increase his total to upwards of 600. The law is not in favor with many city and township clerks, even if it is highly relished by the farmers. The duty of disposing of the carcasses devolves upon the clerks, and often the task is unpleasant.

A TONIC FOR THE NERVES

Nervous people who have not yet developed a disease that can be recognized and treated by medical profession have the greatest trouble in finding relief. Irritation, headache, sleeplessness, nervous dyspepsia, all these discomforts make life miserable but are endured rather than run a doctor's bill without definite hope of recovery.

Every such sufferer should know the danger of such a condition of the nervous system. Nervous debility and even paralysis may easily result if the tone of the nerves is not restored.

The one big fact that brings hope and relief is that the nerves can be restored by building up the blood. It cannot be too often repeated that only through the blood can nourishment and medicine reach the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and quickly restore vitality and energy to a weak nervous system. A nervous person who gives these pills a trial is almost certain to see good results and, what is more, the benefit will be lasting because the trouble is attacked at its root. Thin blood makes weak nerves. Building up the blood restores the nerve force.

Get a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy of "Diseases of the Nervous System."

DULUTHIAN'S FATHER DIES IN HANCOCK.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Adolph Englert, an old and respected citizen, a native of Germany, aged 56, who came here when a young man and was connected with two local breweries and also filled the position of poundmaster, died Tuesday. He will be buried Friday under the auspices of the Sons of Hermann.

Mr. Englert's wife passed away eighteen years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. H. D. Armstrong of Duluth and Miss Florence of Chicago, and two sons, John of Duluth, a member of the police force in that city, and Frank, at home.

CONSIDER ROCK ISLAND NOTE ISSUE PLANS

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Illinois public utilities commission has taken under advisement a request of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company for authority to issue $7,500,000 two-year 6 per cent gold notes. Owen Thompson, a commissioner, said a decision would be issued from Springfield. Frank Nay, general comptroller of the road, said the money would be spent in the betterment of the roadbed and rolling stock.

Move Grand Duke's Body.

Rome, Feb. 26.—The tomb of Leopold II, the last grand duke of Tuscany, who was buried in the Church of the Holy Apostles here in February, 1870, was opened today. The body is to be transported to Vienna and placed in the imperial vault beneath the Church of the Capuchines, where the members of the Austrian imperial family are entombed.

High Thief River Price.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Feb. 26.—A high record price for business property was reached in this city Monday when the Citizens' State bank of this city purchased three lots in the center of the business district for $18,000. The bank will erect a two-story business block and bank offices on the site to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of Mother's Friend that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health in advance of baby's coming, and had a wonderful influence in developing a lovely disposition in the child.

There is no other remedy so truly a help to nature. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding and soothes the inflammation of breast glands.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, and not only banishes all distress in advance, but assures a speedy recovery for the mother. Thus she becomes a healthy woman with all her strength preserved to thoroughly enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend can be had at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 228 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their free book. Write to-day. It is most instructive.

MILITARY PAGEANT

Militia Companies and Degree Teams Give Interesting Exhibition.

Various drills, formations and "setting up" exercises were given last evening at the military pageant at the Armory, by various uniformed organizations of the city.

The opening was a grand review by Col. Resche and staff, including Companies, A, C and E, Third infantry, National Guard; First and Second division, Naval Militia, and drill teams from Duluth, Nos. 1555 and 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, and uniformed degree team, Order of Sons of Vasa.

A pretty feature of the pageant was the varied uniforms worn by members of the guard. One company wore full dress, another the "dress," while the third wore the service uniform.

After the review drills were given by the separate companies, in which Company C, commanded by Capt. Flodin, gave a bayonet drill; Company A, commanded by Capt. Lee, a tent-pitching exercise; and Company E, marching drill. Setting up exercises were performed by the Naval Militia with Lieut. Smith in charge. The West Duluth Modern Woodmen won applause for the skill displayed in their movements.

The West Duluth M. W. A. team was in charge of Capt. Salter and Capt. Quade had charge of the other Woodman team. The Vasa team was led by Capt. Lindstam.

Music was furnished by the Third Regiment band.

TRAIN DUG OUT OF SNOW IS WRECKED

One Coach Rolls Down Thirty-Foot Bank in Illinois.

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 26.—After being released from a snowdrift, where it had been fast since Sunday night, the second section of a Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis passenger struck three horses on a trestle one and one-half miles north of here wrecking the train. One coach rolled down a thirty-foot embankment, and the engine is on the edge of the trestle.

George Imgrund, general foreman of the local shops, jumped from the coach, and was badly injured. He was brought to his home in this city on a handcar.

FORTY-EIGHT HURT IN BOB ACCIDENTS

Two Collisions Occur in St. Louis--Three Victims May Die.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26.—Forty-eight persons were injured, three probably fatally, in two bobsled collisions here last night. In the first accident a sled carrying a dozen men and women down a hill crashed into another being drawn up the hill by an automobile. A few minutes later, in another part of the city, two heavily loaded sleds, coming down opposite inclines, met head on, battering one human load against the other.

MARKET IS STILL STRONG

Wheat Advances Fractionally With Further Liberal Export Demand.

Flaxseed Sells Higher on Appearance of Good Speculative Buying.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 26.—The market was slightly easier at the close. May wheat closed ⅛c up and July ⅛c up. May durum closed ⅛c up and July ⅛c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 38¼@38¾c. Rye closed slightly up at 56@56½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44@66c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 38⅞c and July at 37½c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 92⅜c and calls at 92¾c bid.

A continuance of good export business in wheat furnished the incentive for a firm market again today. Winnipeg was especially strong with sales of twenty-five loads, reported there for export and further business in sight. It was estimated that 1,000,000 bu of hard winter wheat with a sprinkling of Manitobas had been sold at Chicago, mainly for export during the last two days. Kansas City also reported exporters to be buying May wheat.

Liverpool was higher attributed to Canadian wheat being firmly held and the urgent demand for Australian cargoes. Spot wheat there was up ½d.

Duluth operators are generally bullish on the situation, pointing out that with the shipping out of stuff already contracted for, supplies in the Northwest will be reduced to a low notch, and that is likely to necessitate some climbing on the part of the millers for supplies.

With wheat, the market in coarse grains has become strong. Armour and other large Chicago operators are said to have reversed their position from the bear to the bull side of late and there has been general short covering.

Receipts at Duluth are in small proportions, inspections today coming to 21 cars against 63 last year. Elevator stocks here have not changed in the last four days. Wheat supplies in the houses now aggregate 13,253,000 bu. Stocks of all grains have increased just 9,000 bu in the last four days and now amount to 20,150,000 bu.

May wheat opened ⅛c up at 94c and held on that basis up to the final hour. The July option opened unchanged at 84⅝c and gained ⅛c. May durum opened unchanged at 93⅜c and strengthened ⅛c.

Flaxseed Still Advances.

After a burst of activity at the opening, the market in flaxseed became quiet throughout the session. The tone was, however, firm on light offerings, and steady demand, attributed to speculative quarters.

As a result of the filling of a batch of buying orders, quotations advanced a cent within a few minutes of the opening. Prices then eased off fractionally.

The May option opened unchanged at $1.57¾, gained 1c and closed with an advance of ½c at $1.58¼.

The July option opened ⅛c up at $1.59½, advanced ⅝c and closed at $1.60.

Cables were slightly off, with Buenos Aires ¼c down; Antwerp ⅝c down and London ⅝c lower.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.41¼ and July at $1.38⅝.

Cash Sales Thursday.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The sharp increase in export orders for hard winter wheat on the leading American markets during the last few days, is said to be accounted for in the light Argentine shipments and the surprisingly small visible supply over there. The total clearances from that country last week were only 2,376,000 bu against 5,090,000 bu a year ago, making the total so far this season 9,728,000 bu as compared with 26,184,000 bu in 1913.

Duluth grain men consider that the effect of the present heavy foreign contracting for hard winter wheat will be shown in a steady hardening in the markets and that it must lead to the liberal bidding by millers for stocks of spring wheat remaining in farmers' hands and in country and terminal elevators.

It is noted that Minneapolis millers have been scouring the country for weeks and have bought considerable grain to arrive several weeks ahead.

Country elevator stocks of wheat in the three Northwestern states are estimated by the Northwestern Miller at 15,000,000 to 16,000,000 bu, compared with 20,000,000 to 26,000,000 bu a month ago. Big reductions are looked for during the month of March on account of heavy sales made to arrive at the terminal markets.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The late easiness in America and closing easiness in Buenos Ayres were offset here by the forecast of light shipments from Argentine and India, and opening values were unchanged to ½d higher. Following the opening, there was free covering by shorts and speculative buying, and prices advanced ¼d to ⅝d with May leading. There is a good demand for Manitobas which are steadily held and an urgent demand for Australian, and full prices were paid last night for cargoes from there. Spot demand is good with prices generally ½d higher, and the strength in corn and a revival of the demand from the continent helped the advance. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was firm, ⅜@⅝d higher.

"Corn opened unchanged to ¼d higher and later advanced ⅛@½d with new Plate July leading. The strength in America, scarcity of supplies and Plate shippers buying July caused free covering by shorts."

An official Swedish report places the yield of wheat at 9,500,000 bu against 7,500,000 bu last year. The quality this season is poor. Oats are placed at 101,000,000 bu against 89,000,000 bu last year.

Baker's Chicago correspondent wired: "The domestic wheat outlook is ignored and everything for the immediate future depends on the attitude of foreigners. They show an inclination to follow our advances and if they continue to do so our futures will be forced to permanently higher ground."

Milder weather throughout the corn belt will make country roads impassable, cut the movement to small proportions and reduce the feeding and cash demand materially. While further short covering might carry futures higher, it will need a complete reversal of the cash situation and continued buying support to maintain the advances, a Chicago expert claims.

Broom hall cabled the following statistics: Stocks of corn at the chief importing centers on the continent show 2,630,000 bu against 3,740,000 bu last year. A year ago the quantity on passage to Europe of American corn amounted to 7,600,000 bu, while now there is only about 80,000,000 bu. Argentine supplies are exhausted and stocks at Black Sea ports on Jan. 1 were 3,800,000 bu, decreasing 2,500,000 bu.

The Minneapolis cash market was firm with the mills and elevators buying. One northern blue stem sold at from ½ to 2c over May, and velvet chaff at ½c and 1c premium. Flour sales were reported moderate. Cash sales were reported that there at from No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 93⅜c to 95⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 91⅜c to 93⅜c.

The following Russian grain news was received by Broomhall: "Weather continues mild with a large area showing an entire disappearance of snow. The crop outlook is generally favorable, but reports of damage continue to come to hand. The mild weather favors an early opening of navigation, but on the other hand it would be serious to the crop in case of a return of freezing. Arrivals are moderate and offers are firmly held."

A Minneapolis grain operator wired: "There has been an advance of $5 per ton in mill feeds in the past three weeks. In the meantime Argentina has shipped in a lot of bran, but still supplies in dealers' hands are small and the demand this week is fierce. This tends also to make corn and oats strong and I don't see how coarse grains are going down much."

Parker Paine received the following from Winnipeg: F. O. Fowler gives the following situation as on Feb. 23, for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta: "Wheat inspected to date 121,390,000 bu; in transit not inspected, 460,000 bu; in store at country points, 21,700,000 bu; required for country and country mills, 80,000,000 bu; in farmers' hands, 11,000,000 bu; total crop, 184,550,000 bu. The Northwestern Miller says: "A prominent Minneapolis man is responsible for the statement that stocks of wheat in first hands in the surplus producing proportions of the Northwest, particularly Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, have been drawn on to such an extent that mills there, or those which usually draw from that territory, are exercised over where they shall get their needed supplies during the coming summer.

"In view of this fact, terminal elevators at Minneapolis anticipate good outside demand for wheat this summer from mills which ordinarily do not buy in this market. Higher prices, rather than lower, are consequently looked for."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Goes Up on Scanty Shipment Predictions.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Predictions that shipments from Argentina and India would be scanty gave the wheat market today a new upturn. Commission houses were moderate buyers, impelled largely by hope of continued liberal export demand. Prices opened ⅛@¼c to 2@⅝c higher, and afterward showed a further advance.

Favorable crop advices from Kansas and Oklahoma tended later to render the market less bullish. The close was weak at ⅛c to ⅛@¼c net advance.

Corn rose in response to advices that foreign supplies including stocks in Argentina and the Black Sea ports were exhausted. The mild weather in the United States corn belt, however, acted as a check on the bulls. Trade was on a big scale. Opening prices, which were ⅛c to ⅜c up, were followed by an additional gain.

A reaction took place later owing to the slowness of shipping call from the East. The close was irregular, a shade lower to ¼c higher compared with last night.

Sympathy with the corn bulge helped to lift oats. Commission concerns, though, seemed to have plenty for sale on every advance.

Provisions did not keep step with the upward movement of grain and hogs. Longs were inclined to realize. First sales varied from the same as last night to 2½c higher, with later transactions at a lower level.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Better Chicago Prices Influence the Wheat Pit.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—Higher cables, better prices on the Chicago board of trade, and a stronger local cash demand influenced the wheat market here today. Both May and July options were ¼c to ⅜c above yesterday's prices.

Wheat—May opened 92¾c, high, 92⅞c, low 92⅝c, closed 92⅝@92¾c. July opened 91@91¼c, high 91¼c, low, 94c, closed 94@94½c bid.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Active Bear Demonstration at Opening of Stock Market.

Better Support Offered and Prices Hardened, Closing Steady.

New York, Feb. 26.—An active bear demonstration at the outset today failed to produce lasting results, and the market grew dull after early losses had been recovered. Selling by London and on direct orders from Paris and Amsterdam, made an impression on the international stocks for a time. Lower prices for copper metal operated against the copper shares here. Poor railroad earnings, reports of lessened commercial activity in various lines and uncertainty as to the Mexican outlook also were utilized to sell the market. Better support was offered, however, and as soon as the shorts attempted to cover, prices hardened.

Bonds were steady.

Active selling of stocks was resumed at the opening today and the declines of yesterday were extended. Steel, in particular, was under heavy pressure, and large blocks of Reading and Amalgamated also were thrown over. Declines among leaders ranged from small fractions to nearly a point. Missouri, Kansas & Texas preferred reached a new low figure at 53, a loss of a point. Wabash preferred rose 1.

Pressure lifted and room traders covered freely, raising the active list to a level within yesterday's close or above.

Bullish interest was revived by active bidding up of the principal stocks. Union Pacific's January statement, showing a loss in net of only $25,000, offset the announcement of a new suit to be brought to enjoin payment of the special dividend. Union Pacific advanced a point.

The market's steadiness, notwithstanding subsidence of the earlier active demand for both accounts, created a good impression. The bulls, however, were not disposed to follow up prices after the shorts had been driven in.

The market closed steady. Speculation flattened out toward the end. Pressure against Northern Pacific depressed it over a point, but otherwise the movement was trivial.

KAHN RAILS OVER MEXICO

Says Wilson's Policy Is One of "Deadly Drifting."

Republican From California Makes Speech in the House.

Washington, Feb. 26. — Representative Kahn, Republican, of California, in an address in the house today, expressed the hope that the administration's policy soon will give way to a new one which would bring about peace and tranquillity in the Southern republic. While opposing armed intervention, he asserted that "the present policy, unless speedily and radically changed, must inevitably lead to armed intervention."

"The fact that it became necessary to issue a proclamation removing the embargo on arms to be shipped into Mexico," Representative Kahn said, "is practically an admission of the failure of the policy of 'watchful waiting.' 'Deadly drifting' is a much more accurate description of the administration's policy. And since the embargo has been removed, what has happened? Additional murder, additional lawlessness, for which we are probably responsible."

Wants Pan-American Action.

Mr. Kahn urged that renewed efforts be made to restore peace in Mexico. He expressed the belief that if this government were to invite the co-operation of Argentina, Brazil and Chile in an effort to solve the Mexican difficulty, peace and order soon would be restored in that country.

He declared that he did not want to see armed intervention in Mexico, contending that the United States had no right to do so.

"We have intervened politically already," he said, "and, in my humble judgment, it was a mistake to have done so. And it is going to prove a most expensive experiment. To my mind all of Mexico would not repay the tears of the widows nor the wailing of the orphans that would result in consequence of our armed intervention."

"While we may have some jingoists in the United States who thirst for war," he continued, "I do not believe we have anything to fear from them. We have much more to fear from the jingoists of foreign lands. They are the real menace—if there be any menace anywhere.

Lesson From Experience.

"And from our own past experiences, especially in the War of 1812, in the Mexican war and just prior to the Spanish war, we ought to have learned the lesson that when the jingoists of a nation arouse the latent patriotism of the citizens of that nation into a blaze of passion, conservatism is thrown to the winds and nothing but armed conflict can appease the vengeance, for blood alone seems to be able to quell. Our own past experiences ought to determine our course in voting reasonable appropriations for the army and navy in times of profound peace."

Discussing the Monroe doctrine, which, he said, had come to stay, Mr. Kahn said the time also had come when this government should invite to conferences on questions affecting the welfare of the states on the American hemisphere, those Latin-American republics whose governments are stable, and who have made giant strides in commercial development, such as Argentina, Brazil and Chile.

"The co-operation with us of these states in extending the hand of friendship and fellowship for the amicable settlement of difficulties that confront the inhabitants of any Latin-American republic," he declared, "will have a great influence in establishing stable government in all of the republics on the Western continents."

TWO ARRESTED FOR FLOUR THEFT

Prisoners Accused of Hauling Loot to Superior Across Ice.

Accused of having stolen sixteen sacks of flour from a Soo line freight car standing in the yards at Rice's Point, and then hauling the loot to Superior on a sleigh over the ice, John Sayen, 21 years old, and Emil Bobell, 40, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Toewe and Bradley.

Bobell, who is said to have confessed to the theft, waived examination when arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree and was bound over to the March term of the grand jury. Bail was fixed at $250. Sayen, who was arraigned on the same charge, asked for a hearing and it was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Bail in his case was also fixed at $250. also fixed at $250.

The two men were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Special Officer Martinson of the Soo road. They live on Garfield avenue.

WILL TRY TO PUT LOAN SHARKS IN JAIL

New York County Seeks to Protect Those Forced to Borrow.

New York, Feb. 26.—To prosecute loan sharks and protect city employes whose need of ready money has forced them to pay exorbitant interest, a special deputy assistant has been appointed by the district attorney of New York city.

This deputy, Walter S. Mellbern, it was announced today, had been at work for several weeks, and the proprietors of ten loan companies are under arrest. Efforts will be made to send these alleged usurers to jail instead of letting them escape with a fine.

RATES ON KENTUCKY POTATOES ATTACKED

Discrimination Is Charged Against Several Railroad Companies.

Washington, Feb. 26.—An attack was made today before the interstate commerce commission upon the freight rates on potatoes and onions from middle Kentucky points to destinations in all parts of the country. The St. Matthews Produce exchange of Kentucky declared that the rates from its territory were from 2 to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher than they were from Louisville to the same destinations, although the Louisville shipments in most instances pass directly through the territory of the complainants. The Louisville & Nashville and practically all of the principal roads in Central Freight association territory are made respondents in the proceedings.

AGED RESIDENT IS SUMMONED

Clark Lathrop, 82 years old, one of the oldest residents in Duluth, died this morning at his residence, 823 East First street, where he had been ill for several weeks.

He came to Duluth about seven years ago from Minneapolis, where he had resided for nearly twenty years. Besides a widow, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. R. Kohagen, and one son, Robert, all of this city.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Stewart undertaking rooms, with interment at the Forest Hill cemetery.

SUICIDE'S BODY HERE.

Autopsy Will Be Held Over Body of Brookston Farmer.

The body of Kalle Sahanen, 41 years old, who killed himself yesterday morning on his farm, about four miles from Brookston, by first cutting his throat with a razor and then completing the deed with the aid of a shotgun, was brought to Duluth this afternoon by E. N. Von Verdo of the Crawford undertaking rooms, who went for the body last evening. An autopsy will be held here today. As far as can be learned, Sahanen's only relative is a sister living in Finland. The body will be buried here next week.

BRITISH DOCTORS WILL HONOR GORGAS

London, Feb. 26.—The British medical profession is preparing entertainments in honor of Col. William O. Gorgas, U. S. A., who is leaving South Africa for England on Feb. 28, on his way to America. Col. Gorgas left New York on Nov. 1 on three months' leave of absence and went to Johannesburg to inspect the sanitary arrangements of the mining camps, with a view to stamping out pneumonia.

The main feature of the series of entertainments here will be a banquet to "mark British professional appreciation of the splendid work of Col. Gorgas and his two assistants."

MONTREAL PRISON HOSPITAL BURNED

Montreal, Feb. 26.—A fire which broke out today in the St. Vincent De Paul penitentiary, a state institution, destroyed the hospital annex and did extensive damage to the surgical department. The patients in the hospital were all moved safely to the main building and no lives were lost. There are 399 prisoners in the institution, which is outside of Montreal.

Cruiser Is Refloated.

Toulon, France, Feb. 26.—The French cruiser Waldeck Rousseau, which went ashore on Feb. 23 in the gulf of Juan, was refloated today when the hurricane abated. The vessel apparently did not suffer any great damage.

Ulster Men Well Armed.

London, Feb. 26.—The Dublin correspondent of the Times learns on good authority that the Ulster Volunteers have more rifles than volunteers in some counties, and that they possess sixty machine guns.

GRAND FORKS CAMPAIGN.

Adoption of Commission Form to Be Voted on Next Monday.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the election on the commission form of government fixed for next Monday, Grand Forks is in the midst of an interesting campaign over the question of absndoning the old aldermanic plan. There are two mayoralty candidates in the field.

MILL CITY EDITOR IS SHOVELING DIRT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—Alexis Georgian, editor of a local Socialist paper here, yesterday began serving a sentence of thirty days in the Minneapolis workhouse, resulting from the publication of an alleged libelous article during the 1912 campaign. The editor was put to work as one of a gang of five shoveling dirt into the greenhouse, after having donned a pair of brown overalls, furnished by the superintendent.

Bull Moose Paper Closes.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 26.—It is announced that the corporation owning the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune has purchased the Cincinnati American, a 1-cent morning paper, and that the American will cease publication at once. The American has been in existence about a year and was a strong supporter of Col. Roosevelt and the Progressive party in politics.

TAFT URGES REFORM IN RULES OF COURTS; BACKS CLAYTON BILL

Former President Appears Before House Judiciary Committee.

Sees Trouble From Appointment of Judges for Life Terms.

Parker and Root Also Talk --Latter Scores Present Code.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Former President Taft appeared today before the house judiciary committee in the capacity of president of the American Bar association, and with several other members of the association advocated passage of the Clayton bill to authorize the supreme court to prescribe forms and rules of procedure for Federal courts on the common law side.

"All men delight in the exercise of patronage," said Mr. Taft. "Of course," he added with a broad smile, "on this matter I am speaking to the Republicans on your committee; not the Democrats."

The sally brought a ripple of laughter from the committee.

Life Appointments.

One of the troubles with life appointments for judges, Mr. Taft said, was that the temptation was strong to build up about themselves "judicial families." Lawyers knew, he said, that it was often a dangerous thing to make any charge against a court clerk before the judge who had appointed him. That temptation could be re-

JAMES ARGUES FOR UNIVERSITY OF U. S.

Illinois Man Says It Would Have Uplifting Influence.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, today submitted to the house committee on education an exhaustive argument in favor of the Fess bill establishing a national university in Washington, in which he emphasized the uplifting influence such an institution would exert.

President James pointed out that such a university, to be made effective, should be put under the absolute control of a board of trustees appointed by the president of the United States. He said it would be undesirable to combine private and public control in its management. He had no doubt, he said, that had Washington's suggestion been followed, "American education today would be distinctly farther along in every branch of its development."

Uplifting Influence.

President James expressed the belief, however, that if the Federal government were, even at this late day, to follow Washington's advice and erect a national university here, it would exert today the same kind of uplifting influence that it would have exerted if established a century ago.

"Such an institution," he declared, "would exert a subtle and far-reaching influence in the direction of emphasizing the importance of human science in the development of our civilization."

CLAIMS WIFE RUINED HOME

Ellis Tells Jury of His Last Hours With Her.

Declares He Never Knew When She Was Killed.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—With a wealth of detail concerning conversations with his wife during the days just before he killed her in a Chicago hotel last fall, but not a syllable directly touching the manner of her death, William Cheney Ellis today held the attention of court and listeners in his trial for wife murder.

He steadfastly declared that his wife had confessed her love for another man, and that he had pleaded with her to return to their Cincinnati home, where their two little children awaited them and where he was respected and prosperous.

"That night I implored her to go home with me to our two children. She said she could not help it—that she couldn't see how she could treat me that way because I had always been so good to her."

Remembers Nothing Else.

"I don't remember anything further," said Ellis, his voice strained. "My home had been broken up. I simply seemed to give way. The first thing I knew I—I—I found myself in bed with my arms around Mrs. Ellis. I had on her kimono—and—and—and I saw my darling wife was dead.

"I got the knife and cut my throat and wrists. Then I called Mrs. Ebersole and asked her if she would not come down right away. I told her something terrible had happened. She said: 'Don't let it happen until I can come down.' 'It is too late; we're dying,' I said.

"After that I cut my throat and wrists again. Then the officers came."

PARDONED AFTER LONG WAIT FOR EXECUTION

MRS. KATE EDWARDS.

KATE EDWARDS GIVEN PARDON

Has Been Waiting Nearly Thirteen Years to Be Executed.

Convicted Slayer of Husband Released Secretly at Night.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Kate Edwards who has been in the shadow of the gallows for nearly thirteen years for the killing of her husband, was released from the Berks county jail today under a pardon granted by Governor Tener, and secretly taken from the city to begin life over again. She was convicted of murder in 1901, and sentenced to be hanged, but four governors declined to fix a day for her execution.

After her conviction, petitions were circulated in many parts of the country and were signed by thousands of women protesting against the execution of one of their sex. William A. Stone, when governor, refused to fix a date and passed her case along to Governor Pennypacker, who let her death warrant remain in a pigeonhole, as did also Governor Stuart and Governor Tener.

Mrs. Edwards' case was several times taken to the board of pardons, but commutation of sentence always was refused.

Released Before Dawn.

Much secrecy was maintained as to the date of the woman's liberation. Her pardon arrived last night and she was released before dawn today. It is believed she was taken to Philadelphia, where she will be placed in an institution and cared for. She is nearly 60 years old.

Mrs. Edwards was convicted of the murder along with a negro, who was employed with her husband in a quarry near her home. The husband was found dead with his head battered in. A short time after her arrest Mrs. Edwards gave birth to a negro child.

The woman later confessed that the negro was innocent of the crime and he was granted a new trial and acquitted. Mrs. Edwards has five children living in different parts of the country.

CHICAGO CHINESE WILL DEMAND VOTE

Claim That Supreme Court Decision Makes Them Citizens.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The Chinese-American club of Chicago was incorporated yesterday with the object of establishing the rights of Chinese who are born in America of domiciled parents. More than 400 members of the organization will go to the polls here March 17 and demand that they be listed as electors.

"If the Chinese are challenged, the courts will be appealed to. We will cite a decision of the supreme court of the United States in which it is declared that a Chinese is entitled to citizenship when he is born of domiciled parents," asserted Charles F. Hill, attorney for the club.

ARBITRATION PACT FAVORED BY ITALY

Draft of Treaty Before Technical Body of Government.

Rome, Feb. 27.—The foreign office today notified Thomas Nelson Page, the American ambassador, that Italy is favorable in principle to the signature of a new arbitration treaty, similar to that concluded between the United States and Bolivia, as proposed by Secretary Bryan. The draft of the treaty has been submitted to the permanent technical commission of the Italian foreign office, which within a few days will pronounce its opinion.

TALK OF THE UNEMPLOYED

Delegates at New York Conference Seek Solution of Problem.

System of Employment Exchanges May Be Result.

COUNTRY IS FACING NO UNUSUAL CRISIS.

New York, Feb. 27.—The country is not facing an unusual crisis in its numbers of unemployed. This was the consensus of opinion expressed at the National Conference on Unemployment, which began a two days' session in New York today.

New York, Feb. 27.—Delegates to the national conference on unemployment gathered in the city hall today to find a remedy for irregularity of employment, to hit upon a practicable method of bringing together "the jobless men and the manless jobs," and so to organize the labor market that there may be a permanent thinning in the swollen ranks of the unemployed.

This floating army of men without jobs assumed such proportions in New York city that a municipal employment bureau recently has been formed. On the authority of the census bureau, 25 per cent of the entire number of working persons are without employment for from one to three months during the year.

Mayor John Purroy Mitchel opened the conference, which is to last today and tomorrow, with an address on "public responsibility."

Seek General Panacea.

The delegates brought to the conference special home problems from every large city in the country, and from an exposition of these special conditions, a general panacea is being formulated.

"This problem," said Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary of the American association for labor legislation, "will sift down to this: How are employers to employ a constant staff of men and keep them busy in slack seasons? Germany has done it, and certain manufacturing concerns and railroads in this country have shown that it can be done by shifting men engaged in construction work from one part of the country to another, as the slack season in any given locality leaves a surplus of labor. This obviates the necessity for the annual discharge of employes by railroads and the consequent swelling of the body of the unemployed.

Employment Exchanges.

"The definite constructive result of this conference," he concluded, "will be the establishment of a great many employment exchanges, which ought to be run by the state."

Already, according to Dr. Andrews, eight cities have established free employment exchanges.

FOUR TRAMPS IN WRECK OF FREIGHT

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 27.—Three tramps are thought to have been killed this forenoon when a Chicago & Northwestern freight train rolled over a thirty-foot embankment near South Milwaukee.

One tramp was seriously injured and three still are under the wreck. Twenty-five cars left the tracks. None of the train crew was injured.

Last Harvard Strike Settled.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 27.—The last of the several strikes by workers engaged in the construction of the Harvard freshman dormitories was settled today. About 600 men were involved at one time.

FORMER PREMIER OF CHINA IS POISONED

GEN. CHAO PING CHUN.

Tien Tsin, China, Feb. 27.—Assassination by poison is believed to have brought about the death here today of Gen. Chao Ping Chun, military governor of the province of Chi Li and former premier under President Yuan Shi Kai.

The Chinese statesman was ill only a few hours. He was stricken late last night and died this morning.

Gen. Chao Ping Chun was a native of Ho Nan and was one of the president's staunchest supporters. He was police prefect at Tien Tsin when he attracted the attention of Yuan Shi Kai, then viceroy of Chi Li. Shortly afterward he was given a post in the ministry of the interior.

After a period of unemployment in 1908 and 1910, he was appointed minister of the interior by Yuan Shi Kai in 1911, and this was confirmed by the national council at Nanking after the abdication of the emperor. He was acting finance minister and acting premier early in 1912, and in September of that year became premier by election and held the office till July, 1913.

NEED PAY NO TAX ON CHILDREN'S FUNDS

Mrs. Drummond Wins Her Case in English Court.

London, Feb. 27.—The court of appeals today denied the Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, Jr., is liable for the payment of income tax in England on money remitted to her from the United States under the provisions of the will of her late husband for the education of her three children.

The suit was brought by the British collector of taxes in reference to a specific sum of $50,000 remitted to Mrs. Drummond in the year 1908, but the effect of the judgment is to render her liable for the payment of income tax on all sums remitted to her under the will of Marshall Field, Jr. The testament provided that proper maintenance should be given to the children until they came into control of the money bequeathed to them.

BOSTON NEGROES ARE FOLLOWERS OF SAM.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 27.—D. B. Barrett of Boley, Okla., who calls himself a recruiting officer for Alfred Charles Sam, organizer of a proposed negro colony in Africa, declares that he has enrolled more than 100 Boston negroes as prospective colonists.

Sam's operations are under investigation in New York.

SENATE REFUSES TO HIT PARCEL POST.

BENTON'S BODY IN CHIHUAHUA

Villa Will Permit Joint English and American Inspection.

Intense Interest Follows Consul Perceval's Movements.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Consul Letcher telegraphed Secretary Bryan today that Villa would permit two Americans, two British representatives and two members of the family of William S. Benton to view the body of the dead ranchman. It is assumed that the body is at Chihuahua City.

Consul Letcher also reported that Gen. Villa would permit two physicians to accompany the American and British representatives and members of the Benton family and that he would furnish transportation and accommodations for all of them.

Secretary Bryan said just before entering the cabinet meeting, that Consul Letcher's dispatches also confirmed previous information that Benton's body was in Chihuahua City. He said arrangements would be made soon for the visit of the commission to Chihuahua to view the corpse.

Perceval in El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 27.—Intense interest was manifested here today in the mission of Charles Perceval, the British consular representative at Galveston, who arrived here last night to assist in the investigation of the execution by Gen. Villa of William S. Benton, a British subject.

George C. Carothers, special agent of the state department at Washington, was expected to leave here today for Chihuahua to make arrangements for the examination of Benton's body. He will make the trip on a railroad motor-driven velocipede.

Carothers today admitted that he had postponed his departure for Chihuahua, and while he was silent as to his reasons, it is assumed the arrival here of the British emissary, Charles Assaulted, Robbed, Hanged and Body Left Exposed.

Action of Federals Was Seen By Wife of Victim.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 27.—Friends of Clemente Vergara, the American who was hanged recently by Mexican Federals, were aroused today by the reports made by American Consul Garrett and Vergara's brother-in-law, S. J. Hill, who yesterday visited the scene of the rancher's execution near Hidalgo, Mex.

The dual investigation into Vergara's death was expected to assume definite outline today. The Federal investigation began several days ago, while the state's inquiry was ordered only yesterday by Governor Colquitt, who indicated he might take decisive steps toward punishing Vergara's slayers if they are discovered.

An attempt will be made to have Vergara's body brought here for burial.

Body Left Hanging.

Vergara was assaulted by Mexican Federals on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande and imprisoned at Hidalgo Feb. 13; two days later he was hanged from a tree three miles from that city and the body left uncared for until two days ago, when it was secretly removed.

This was established to the satisfaction of Hill and Consul Garrett. They returned to Nuevo Laredo late last night.

Federal soldiers at Hidalgo, they said, denied all knowledge of Vergara's death, and Capt. Rodriguez, commander there, was particularly emphatic that Vergara and the horses which the ranchman claimed had been stolen from him had been sent to Piedras Negras.

Hill, however, said he recognized the missing animals among the horses ridden by the Federal troopers.

Wife Saw Assault.

It was established, said Hill, that Vergara was seized on the Mexican bank of the river, and not on the island about which a question has arisen whether it is Mexican or American territory. Mrs. Vergara witnessed the assault on her husband.

According to Hill, Vergara had been told by Federal soldiers that Capt. Rodriguez wanted to settle with him for seven stolen horses, and, accompanied by his nephew, he crossed the river. The boy ran and hid in the brush when the soldiers knocked his uncle unconscious and, with the distracted wife watching from the other bank, took him away to Hidalgo.

Mrs. Vergara visited her husband in

MAYOR ENDS MANUAL COURSE IN SCHOOLS

Newburyport, Mass., Feb. 27.—Mayor Hiram Landford's belief that manual training should not be taught in the public schools, was put into practical effect today when the mayor sent a dray to the quarters occupied by this department and had all its working paraphernalia removed and placed in storage in the city hall. He announced that he would refuse to sanction bills for maintenance of the manual course after March 1.

Attorneys for the school committee will file a petition in the supreme court asking for a writ of mandamus to compel the mayor to furnish quarters for the school.

SERIOUS REVOLT IN PORTUGAL REPORTED

Madrid, Feb. 27.—The Spanish government has received information that an important revolutionary movement is in progress in Portugal. According to an announcement made today by the Spanish under-secretary of state for the interior, a condition of anarchy exists throughout Portugal.

Every effort is being made by the authorities here to obtain full particulars of the occurrences in Portugal, but hitherto it has been impossible to learn definitely what is taking place, as all communication, including even wireless telegraphy, is interrupted.

HUERTA RESPONSIBLE FOR VERGARA'S DEATH

Washington, Feb. 27.—That the American government regards the hanging of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen, near Hidalgo, Mex., as a subject for reparation by the Huerta government, became known after today's cabinet meeting.

Washington, Feb. 27.—After a long lapse in the diplomatic exchanges between Washington and the City of Mexico, an attempt has been made to reopen the correspondence by the submission of an appeal by the Huerta government for the reconsideration by the United States of the recent raising of the embargo on arms to Mexico.

The feature of the Mexican communication, said to have been issued at Mexico City last night, is the allegation that a state of anarchy now exists in so much of Mexico as is occupied by the rebel forces, and it also is charged that the immediate effect of the decree permitting the exportation of arms has been to place the rebels in a favorable situation for committing outrages, while preventing the Huerta government from repressing them as quickly and as energetically as it desires.

On the other hand, it is set out that wherever the Huerta government is in power, full protection has been given to nationals and foreigners.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD CUTS DOWN SERVICE

Eleven More Locals and Two Chicago Trains to Be Stopped.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 27.—Announcement was made today at the offices of the Pennsylvania company here that eleven local passenger trains are to be withdrawn from service March 1. Two limited trains between Pittsburg and Chicago are also to be taken off. This retrenchment follows changes in the Pennsylvania railroad schedule, announced last week, when eleven passenger trains were taken off the Pittsburg division.

EGG MARKET DECLINING

Prices Are Reduced With Larger Receipts From Poultry Fanciers.

Choice in Fruits and Vegetables Is Good for Season.

It will interest consumers today to know that with the incoming of warmer weather the market in eggs is again on the downward trend. While the quotation is just off a cent to 29 and 30 cents a dozen, it is predicted that a drop of several cents will come about within the next two weeks. Production is increasing rapidly, and with free importations hanging as a club over the market, it is thought that dealers will take care to protect themselves in buying on a low basis when putting away their storage supplies in April.

Butter Prices Higher.

Unlike eggs, the butter market is firm, according to the Bridgeman-Russell company. Prices are up a cent to 31@32 cents for the best creamery; 30@31 cents for first creamery, and 28 cents for June storage.

It is thought that the present situation in the trade is only temporary, however, and that with the make increasing and liberal storage supplies still available in the East, a lower range will come about in the near future. Just as in eggs, the prospect of importations will have an influence with the trade in arranging for storage supplies.

The cheese market is firm at last week's range of locations. If weather conditions remain normal, it is expected that a number of factories will resume operations for the season within the next three or four weeks.

The market in poultry is higher, the Victor company reports. A substantial demand for chickens and hens is being met with, and with the small current receipts of live or fresh dressed birds, it must be furnished mainly from frozen stock. Compared with other years, supplies of the latter are said to be small. Receipts of turkeys and geese are merely nominal now.

Oranges a Fruit Feature.

Apples and oranges are still the feature in fruits. Varieties available in apples are being gradually reduced, and while quotations are unchanged today, an advance is expected next week. The choice in barrel stock is now limited to Illinois Ben Davis.

A slight advance has come about in oranges as a result of severe storms in California delaying shipments. The quality of the fruit offering is said to be exceptionally fine. A large sale is reported in grapefruit, stimulated by the good quality of the stock offering. Prices are unchanged.

Green vegetables of all kinds are coming in freely, and prices are considered reasonable through the list. Tomatoes are now cheaper, and new Louisiana, Texas and Florida cabbage is now to be had.

Prices on such winter roots as carrots and beets are advised by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company to be higher as a result of stocks getting down to a low ebb. The market in onions is very strong on the same account, and higher prices are looked for.

There are said to be still large stocks of potatoes in growers hands through this district, and with the marketing of these on a liberal scale to be expected shortly with the opening of roothouses, the quotation in the vegetable is just steady at present. It is practically unchanged.

SPEND $15,000,000 AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The harbor commission has made public plans for the expenditure of $15,000,000 to improve the shipping facilities of Montreal. The commission wishes to spend $3,500,000 this year. A bill authorizing a $15,000,000 loan is now before the house of commons.

The proposed improvements include the construction of new freight sheds for the weekly services of the Hamburg-American and Canadian Northern steamship lines, the electrification of the harbor railways, the elevation of railroad tracks, the erection of great warehouses at the foot of Moreau and Beaudry streets, the extension of piers, a new bridge over the St. Lawrence river, and a new grain elevator, which would give Montreal the largest storage capacity of any city in the world.

CHIEF LAUDS DULUTH SCOTS

A. G. Findlay Gives Address to Local Clansmen at Banquet.

Duluth Scots Will Attend Anniversary Celebration in Superior.

Scottish stories and songs, combined with addresses made up a very interesting program at the banquet given by Clan Stewart last night at the Delmonico restaurant to A. G. Findlay, royal chief of the Scottish clans of the United States and Canada.

Chief Findlay was the principal speaker and was introduced by Simon Clark, past royal chief. Mr. Findlay opened his address by praising the Duluth clan, saying that Duluth was the best gateway to Canada that he knew of, and that the Western clans showed greater cordiality than those in the East.

"The best evidence being shown by the clans," said the speaker, "is the pride they are showing in their heritage. The clans tend to perpetuate the Scottish songs, poems, customs and traditions. This will always make better citizens of the members. The man who reviles his native land and then leaves it will never be a good citizen of his new country."

The period before the address was pleasantly passed in story telling and other diverting amusements. Among the most entertaining of these stunts was a "goose" story by W. D. Gordon of Minneapolis, royal state deputy; John Alvin Johnson, the "Swedish" Harry Lauder, gave a pleasing dialect imitation and short talks were made by Thomas Chalmers, John Christie, Robert Hutchinson, Superior; John Galbraith, and Dr. C. J. Wallace. Robert Mowbray played some selections on the bagpipe.

A large delegation of the local clansmen and their wives will go to Superior tonight, where the twenty-fifth anniversary of Clan Cameron will be celebrated. Royal Chief Findlay will be chief speaker, and a dansant will follow. The party will leave Duluth at 7:30 in a chartered car.

Among those present at the reception last night were: A. G. Fondlay, Seattle, Wash.; W. D. Gordon, Minneapolis; George Porteous, A. G. Macauley, Simon Clark, E. W. MacFherran, A. L. Campbell, John Christie, John G. Ross, Alexander Anderson, Thomas C. Chalmers, Robert Ferguson, William Morrison, Robert R. McMartin, James R. Martin, Kenneth McInnis, J. W. McLeod, George W. Clark, James G. Elder, D. A. Cameron, P. J. MacDonald, John Galbraith, John Gordon, Alexander Guthrie, Malcolm Buchanan, Alexander Macrae, James R. MacDonald, James E. Dingwall, Colin F. Brown, John Bennett, Alexander G. McKnight and Dr. Charles J. Wallace.

SCHULTE WILL SUCCEED FRITZ

Detective Will Fill Shoes of Demoted Police Lieutenant.

Detective Frank Schulte, who has the rank of lieutenant in his department, was yesterday afternoon appointed to temporarily fill the position of Lieut. Herman Fritz, who will be reduced to the rank of sergeant next Sunday as a result of the recommendations made by the grand jury following its investigation of the police department last month. Lieut. Fritz was recommended for censure and last week Commissioner Hicken and Chief Troyer announced that he would be reduced in rank on March 1.

Chief Troyer yesterday afternoon announced the temporary change at headquarters, which will be in effect, he said, until the sergeants on the police force take the civil service examination to fill the vacancy. Chief Troyer said this morning that practically every sergeant in the department is planning to take the test, as two of the officers receiving the best marks are to be picked for the lieutenancy. Another vacancy will be made on June 1, when Lieut. John Drannen will retire on a pension.

The date for the examination has not yet been announced, but it will probably be held within the next two or three weeks. Among the sergeants eligible to the promotion are Barber, Roberg, Weber, Butchart, Holmstrom, McDermott and Youngberg.

Chief Troyer said this morning that Sergeant Roberg will act as plain clothes officer while Detective Schulte occupies the lieutenant's desk at headquarters. The latter will act as night officer in charge of police headquarters, the position held by Lieut. Fritz.

It will be remembered that following the action taken by Commissioner Hicken and Chief Troyer last week, the names of Detectives Schulte and Terry were mentioned as possible successors to Lieut. Fritz. They both hold the rank of lieutenant in their department, but it is their wish to remain in their present work. Detective Schulte will return to his department following the selection of a permanent successor to Lieut. Fritz.

LUMBER OUTLOOK MUCH IMPROVED

Cutting Conditions Better and Eastern Buyers Are in Market.

An improvement in the general outlook in the lumber trade is reported during the last few days. Substantial inquiry from Eastern buyers is said to be materializing and liberal contracting is expected within the next two weeks. A heavy call is being met with for boxwood and the lower grades of lumber and it is predicted that the market in those lines will be cleaned up early. Prices in them are about on the same level as last year, but figures in the higher grade stuff are slightly off.

Trade at the lower lake ports is said to be picking up nicely with every indication of stocks being substantially reduced in filling the demand created in carrying through early spring building operations.

With the favorable conditions prevailing for work in the woods since early in January, it is predicted that the season's output of logs will be well up to the average.

The smaller operators have been aided in the light snowfall so that the cut of ties, piles and pulpwood is expected to be much larger than had been estimated.

SAYS MURPHY KEPT $25,000

Sulzer Testifies Again in Whitman's John Doe Inquiry.

Says Campaign List Shows Many "Dummy" Givers.

New York, Feb. 27.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, did not give back the $25,000 campaign contribution of the late Anthony N. Brady in 1912, as Murphy said he did, according to the sworn testimony of William Sulzer, deposed governor of New York.

Sulzer, a witness for the second time at the John Doe inquiry into political graft, testified that Murphy had told him that he turned the $25,000 over to the Democratic state committee. He added that Murphy also said that he had "fixed it" so that it would be reported in the committee's list of campaign contributions under the name of a dummy. It is the $25,000 which Sulzer says was first offered to him and which he refused to accept.

Murphy, in a recent political statement, said that he had given the money back to Brady. He will probably be called in the near future to tell his story under oath.

That Brady Payment.

Sulzer conceded that Murphy had given the sum of $25,000 back to Brady, but that it was not the same $25,000. The $25,000 was paid to Brady, according to Sulzer, to compromise a suit for $40,000 which he said Brady had brought against Murphy.

"Murphy sent J. Sergeant Cram to see Brady and get him to call off the suit," Sulzer said. "Brady was angry and wouldn't listen to Cram. He said Murphy had sworn falsely in his answer to the suit, and that he had better come across with the money or he would press the suit and expose him."

Murphy, on the advice of Samuel R. Beardsley, Brady's attorney, finally went to see Brady himself, Sulzer said, and Brady compromised for $25,000.

"Brady made him a present of $15,000," added the witness. "The summons and complaint in this suit, if they are not destroyed, would make interesting reading at this time."

Ryan's $10,000 Gift.

Sulzer also testified concerning the $10,000 contribution which Allan A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, the financier, asserted at the witness' impeachment trial he gave to Sulzer, and which was never reported in Sulzer's list of contributions. The witness said he gave it to John H. Delaney, now head of the state bureau of efficiency and economy, and that Delaney told him he had given it to Murphy. This was another contribution which he said Murphy told him would be listed in the name of a dummy.

He declared also that Delaney had kept for his own campaign expenses $5,000, which he (Sulzer) had given to him to "help out" the Democratic state committee.

"You'll find a lot of dummies on that list," continued the witness, "a lot of men who wouldn't give $1,000 to save the Democratic party from going to the demnition bow-wows." He named among these alleged dummies F. McAvoy, Tammany leader of Harlem, and George Washington Plunkett, another Tammany leader.

McAvoy, called as the next witness, denied he had ever "given one dollar to the Democratic party that was not my own money."

"I gave from $100 to $300 every year," he said, "in accordance to how I was fixed and my own interest in the campaign."

Plunkett, who was to have been called, failed to respond to his subpoena.

Gave for Farrell.

Another witness was William J. Sullivan, secretary to James Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation. He testified that in 1912, under the request of Farrell, he gave $2,500 in cash out of Farrell's personal funds to Arthur A. McLean, treasurer of the Democratic state committee. He produced a receipt made out to himself and signed by McLean.

It was brought out that the contribution was never reported by the Democratic state committee.

United States Senator James O'Gorman will be another witness who will be called to testify in the near future, according to Assistant District Attorney W. D. Embree, who conducted the day's examination. Senator James C. Stewart had said that it was James E. Gaffney who attempted to exact a political contribution from Stewart. Sulzer testified that O'Gorman had so declared to him.

Stewart is the contractor who testified that a man named Gaffney had solicited such a contribution from him as the price of obtaining a contract from the state canal board, but when confronted by James E. Gaffney, was unable to identify him as the man.

The hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday.

MODERN CHURCH ROUNDLY SCORED.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The modern church was assailed: peace funds were ridiculed, and the theory of evolution was scorned by speakers at the International Prophetic Bible conference. According to Rev. W. B. Riley of Minneapolis the modern church with its provision for "smoking rooms, dance halls and up-to-date stage" fulfilled the prophecy of the "abomination of desolation standing in the holy places."

"The debt of the nations of the world, due largely to war, is five trillion dollars," said Rev. C. I. Schofield of New York. "It makes one smile to think that a good citizen can hope to stop war by a gift of $10,000,000."

"One of the signs of the times," said Rev. Riley, "is the search for truth and the acceptances of lies. Take evolution—it is a hypothesis that never had any basis for existence other than the vaporings of a man who made his reputation in science by departing so far from the truth as to call universal attention to himself."

GREEN BAY WOMAN SEEKS LOST BROTHER

Mrs. Peter Lappens, 1149 Pine street, Green Bay, Wis., is anxiously awaiting word from Mayor W. I. Prince of Duluth whom she has asked to help locate her brother, Michael Metzler, from whom she has not heard for many months.

Mrs. Lappens believes that her brother might have been killed or injured in an explosion near this city. Information to this effect was received by her through an Iron Mountain, Mich., paper. No information that such a man was injured or killed here can be found.

WINS FIGHT FOR LIFE 6,000 FEET IN AIR

Blakely's Machine Turns Over and Engine "Goes Dead."

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—H. W. Blakely, an aviator, fought for his life 6,000 feet above San Francisco bay yesterday and won. Blakely was returning from a trip to Cloverdale, eighty-four miles distant, and when over the bay his machine turned almost completely over. At the same time his engine "went dead." Blakely managed to maneuver his biplane so as to make a spiral descent.

When within a few hundred feet of the water he unstrapped himself from his seat and leaped just before his machine struck the water. A tug captain rescued him and towed the aeroplane to shore.

SAYS COULD CROSS OCEAN IN TRIPLANE

Paris, Feb. 27.—Alexander Dumas, an engineer, has laid before the French Aerial association, presided over by Prince Ronald Bonaparte, the result of his studies of the problem of a trans-Atlantic aeroplane flight. Under the plan of M. Dumas, the trip would take sixty-two hours, exclusive of stops, of which there would be two—the Azores islands and Newfoundland—for fuel and provisions.

The machine advocated by M. Dumas would be a huge triplane, having an average speed of about fifty-one miles an hour and lifting planes area of about 16,000 feet.

ZION CITY FIGHT ON TOBACCO RESUMED

Zion City, Ill., Feb. 27.—The war on tobacco, waged by Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Zionists, which received a setback last week when the state supreme court held the anti-tobacco ordinance was unconstitutional, was renewed when the city council last night passed a second ordinance prohibiting smoking in any form. It is based on the claim that because of a scarcity of water for fighting fire, smoking is a menace to life and property. The ordinance fixes the fine for violations at from $3 to $25.

SERIOUS BLOW TO BRITISH LIBERALS

London, Feb. 27.—The Liberals have lost the seat in parliament of Leith Burghs in a bye-election made necessary by the appointment of its holder, the Right Hon. Renald Graufurs Munroe-Ferguson, as governor general of Australia. G. W. Currie, Unionist, won, receiving 5,159 votes as against 5,143 given M. Smith, Liberal, and 3,364 given Mr. Bell, the Labor candidate.

Not since 1832 had Leith Burghs returned a Unionist candidate, and the loss of this seat, together with the victory last week of a Unionist in Bethnal Green, is a serious blow to the government.

THE DEMAND Is increasing enormously Can we tell you the Reason Why?

WOULD REOPEN RAILROAD STREET

West End Merchants Say It Would Save Much in Drayage Charges.

Business men of the West end intend making an active campaign this year to get Railroad street opened from the dock district to Garfield avenue. The subject is to be taken up at the meeting of the West End Commercial club next Thursday, at which time it is probable that a special committee will be asked to inquire of the city officials as to what steps have been taken in the matter.

Several years ago railroads closed the passage between Garfield avenue and the merchandise docks east of there. This has made it necessary to haul whatever merchandise has been directed to the West end over Superior or Michigan streets.

By the reopening of Railroad street it is claimed that a long haul will be done away with, and will give the merchants a reasonable reduction in drayage charges.

More than five years ago the city council authorized an action against the railroad companies compelling the railroads to reopen the streets. After several postponements in the courts and changes in the city attorney's office, the lawsuit, it is alleged, has been lost sight of. Recently the city commissioners have been requested to again take up this matter and it is for the intention of finding out what has been done and to have the city push this matter, that the proposed special committee will be appointed.

"Because of the extra haul, our drayage bills are about 25 per cent higher than they should be," said a West end merchant this morning. "There is no reason why here should be any delay on the part of the city in taking this matter up at once and having the road ready for use this summer. Numerous shiftings in the city attorney's office have caused these officials to lose track of this important improvement."

Mrs. Chris Madsen, 117 Michigan avenue, entertained yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Claude Carpenter of Crookston, Minn., who is a house guest of Mrs. George Mueller. Music featured the entertainment, and luncheon was served. The guests were: Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. J. R. Fink of Superior; Mrs. George N. Mueller, Mrs. O. N. Lundberg, Mrs. R. Winness and Mrs. E. L. Munroe.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. John Geistman, 2118 West Third street, entertained last evening in honor of the sixteenth birthday of her sister, Miss Isabelle Felix. Games and music featured the entertainment. The guests were: Misses Margaret Callahan, Eva Grosby, Ethel Crosby, Emeline Brett, Myrtle Rivers, Blanche Ryan, Bessie McKinnon, Grace Dunleavy, Helen Winners, Elma Lyons, Elsie Lorme and Delia Felix.

Meet for Rehearsal.

Members of the Allen Bible class of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, who are taking part in the play "At the Union Depot," will meet in the church this evening for rehearsal. The play is to be produced by the class on March 20.

West End Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid society of the St. Paul's Episcopal church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, held an informal reception in the parlors of the church for members and friends yesterday afternoon. The affair was attended by about fifty women. Refreshments were served by the officers of the society.

The Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, was entertained in the guild rooms of the church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Gust Hjerpe was hostess.

Allen E. Bergman of Worthington, Minn., is spending a few days visiting friends in this end of the city.

Eric O. Olson of Allandale, who has been visiting relatives in the West end, left for his home last night.

Miss Agnes E. Sjoford of Minneapolis is a guest this week at the home of relatives in this end of the city.

Rev. Wilfred Clarke, pastor of the St. John's and Holy Apostles' Episcopal churches, will preach at a union service of the Holy Apostles' and St. Peter's Episcopal congregations at the latter church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. No services will be held at the West Duluth church Sunday on account of repairs to the interior.

U. S. ENGINEERS WANT MUCH TIMBER

Bids Opened for Material With Which to Improve Harbor Entrances.

Bids for timber to be used in the improving of harbor entrances on Lake Superior, were opened yesterday at the office of the United States engineer, and the lowest bids were furnished by the Northwestern Lumber agency of Tacoma, Wash., and the Waite Lumber company of Minneapolis. Both bidders offered to furnish the necessary timber at $8.90 per 1,000 feet.

The request for bids called for the furnishing of 162,912 feet of timber. It will be used in repairing and improving the entrances to Agate bay, Two Harbors and Marquette bay.

A number of bidders put in their figures, only one of them being from the Head of the Lakes, that being Corey Bros. of Superior. The highest bidder was the Hines Lumber company of Chicago, offering the timber at $11.50 per 1,000 feet.

Bids for the purchase of boats, buildings and 150 tons of junk which have been used at the Superior entry, the buildings as offices and store rooms, were also made. No bid was entered for the purchase of 20,000 feet of old lumber. Nothing will be done with the bids until the return of Capt. E. D. Peek, engineer in charge, who is in the East on business. The bids for the boats, etc., were:

Carroll Foundry company, Two Harbors, $20.50 for launch at Houghton and $27.50 for nine boats at Superior entry; Duluth Iron and Metal company, $325 for 150 tons of junk; E. L. Colbath, Allouez, Superior, $30 for six-room building; Richard Sparrow, Duluth, $52 for six-room building; $3 for two-room building, and $20 for four-room building.

Dunne Not After Toga.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Governor Edward F. Dunne has returned from Washington and announced that he will not be a candidate for the United States senate at the next election.

TAFT SEES SPIRIT OF BROTHERHOOD

New York, Feb. 27.—"There is a greater flow of the spirit of brotherhood through all human beings than there was a generation ago," said Former President William Howard Taft at the tenth anniversary of the Emanuel Brotherhood observed here last night.

"We see it in the larger tolerance, the different religious denominations have for each other, and we see it in the sense of responsibility of those who have been fortunate in accumulating wealth," he explained.

GRISCOM'S ART TREASURES SOLD

New York, Feb. 27.—Rembrandt's "Portrait of an Old Man" brought $36,000, and Sir Joshua Reynolds' "The Countess of Rothes," $25,000, at the opening sale here of the art collection of the late Clement A. Griscom of Philadelphia. Both went to dealers.

"The Thatched Cottage on the Moor," by John Cromo, brought $8,500 and was purchased by a Philadelphia firm. Three of the Dutch pictures in the collection will return to Holland, a Dutch buyer obtaining them. These are:

"Forest Scene," by Van Ruisdal, "Zalm Haven," by Jonjkind, and Israel's "Returning From the Boats."

PAYS $400,000 FOR VAN DYCK PORTRAIT

New York, Feb. 27.—Henry C. Frick has purchased for more than $400,000 one of Van Dyck's masterpieces, the famous full length portrait of Paola Marchesa Di Brignole, from the duke of Abercorn's collection. The transaction, it is understood, was made directly with an agent of the duke in London. The subject is the beautiful Genoese patrician, who is also the subject of the Van Dyck owned by P. A. B. Widener.

POSTPONE ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY MEET.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27.—Because of the inability of Chairman Charles B. Craig of Duluth to be present, the meeting of the state economy and efficiency committee, scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed until Wednesday, March 4, by authority of the executive committee.

Secretary Pardee wired all the members as to the situation.

New Professor for Harvard.

London, Feb. 27.—Rev. Dr. Kirsopp Lake, professor of early Christian literature and New Testament exegesis in the University of Leiden, has been appointed professor of early Christianity at Harvard university.

FOLK TO GO TO COMMERCE BOARD.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Joseph W. Folk, solicitor of the state department and former governor of Missouri, has been offered and probably will accept the new post of chief counsel for the interstate commerce commission, at a salary of $10,000 a year.

For Cuban Capitol.

Havana, Feb. 27.—The Cuban senate has passed a bill appropriating $1,000,000 for the erection of a Cuban capitol building.

SARGENT DEFINES A "LUMBERJACK"

Former Sheriff, Witness in District Court, Gives Word Picture of Character Indigenous to the Northern Woods, for Benefit of the Court.

What is a "lumberjack?"

Webster's unabridged dictionary is silent on this term, but W. C. Sargent, former sheriff, who was a witness in a lawsuit in district court this morning, was not "stumped" when asked by Attorney R. R. Briggs to give a definition offhand.

"You've mentioned a lumberjack in your testimony," said Mr. Briggs. "Now what is a lumberjack? Define it."

"Well, a lumberjack was and is commonly known," said Mr. Sargent, "as a man who follows the woods, who is able to turn his hand to any kind of road monkeywork, or work on the landing with a canthook or in the woods with an ax, or drive a team, or do anything that comes along; one who is willing to sleep anywhere they put him and all that sort of thing; spend his money freely when he's got it and when he's busted get back to the woods."

Mr. Sargent and H. C. Hornby, manager of the Cloquet Lumber company, were the only witnesses examined this morning at the trial of the $8,000 damage suit against the company for the alleged malicious and false arrest of Ephraim A. Trenholm, homesteader, during the Cedar Island lake trouble in 1901. The case may be concluded this afternoon, so far as the taking of testimony is concerned.

HOUSEWIVES LOOK THROUGH BAKERY

About 1,200 Are Received By Zinsmaster-Smith Company.

Fully 1,200 householders of Duluth attended a reception last evening given by the Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company at the plant at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street. This was the fourth reception of a series, which the company is giving to enable housewives to inspect the bread-making establishment. The reception was for the West end people last night but the people of the East end will be given the same opportunity later.

The guests were received in the main office, and from there they were taken to the plant and shown every process of bread making from the mixing of the dough to the wrapping of the loaves. The absolute cleanliness of the whole plant was noted with interest by the housewives.

Souvenir loaves of butternut bread wrapped in wax paper were given each guest and also flour sacks of sache. An orchestra furnished excellent music. Refreshments consisting of coffee and sandwiches were served.

LEAPS THROUGH SECOND STORY WINDOW TO ESCAPE OFFICERS

Just as Detectives Schulte and Irvine and Patrolman O. Olson this morning entered the room in which Andrew Nelson and three of his companions were drinking, for the purpose of arresting Nelson on a charge of petit larceny, the latter made a rush for the window and jumped out, falling a distance of fifteen feet. He broke his left ankle and after receiving treatment at police headquarters, where he was taken by the officers, was removed to the poor farm.

Nelson, according to two men who came to police headquarters this morning, had stolen some money from them and they asked for the arrest of the former. Nelson is well known to the police, having been arrested twice in the last year, once for trespass and another time for petit larceny.

Detectives Schulte and Irvine and Patrolman Olson were detailed to make the arrest and the trio went to 1002 West Superior street, where Nelson is rooming. They went to an upstairs room, where Nelson and three companions were drinking, and just as the officers entered, Nelson made a dash for the window. Failing to raise the window itself, he jumped through the glass, and an effort to catch him failed. Nelson fell to the ground, breaking his foot.

The officers rushed out of the house, expecting to find their prisoner dead, but Nelson was much alive and aside from the injury, was in good condition. He was taken to police headquarters, where his injury was dressed and later an examination made by Police Surgeon Murphy, who ordered him removed to the poor farm.

The two men, who made the original complaint against Nelson, now refuse to prosecute him, saying that he has suffered enough as a result of the attempted arrest.

ANDREW NELSON.

Nelson is 31 years old and came to Duluth last summer.

EVEN A GROWING BOY CAN OVEREAT

West End Lad Faints After Very Hearty Evening Meal.

Even boys 12 years of age, with a growing boy's appetite, can overeat.

Arthur Johnson, 12 years old, a good, healthy looking lad of the age when boys are wont to eat everything they see, finished his evening meal yesterday and told his parents that he was going to visit with one of his boy friends for a short while and that he would be back within two hours.

Granted his request, Arthur left his home at 1832 West Michigan street and was off to see his friend. When he got to 1826 West Second street, where his friend lives, Arthur dropped exhausted almost in the front doorway.

A few minutes later one of the persons living at 1826 West Second street came out and almost stumbled over Arthur. He picked the boy up and upon bringing him in the house, found the youngster in an unconscious state. All efforts to revive him failed.

The police were notified and Police Surgeon Murphy came out with the ambulance and after a few minutes succeeded in reviving the boy. In explanation Dr. Murphy said that the boy had overeaten that evening and that alone was the cause of his condition. The boy was then taken to his home. He is today reported none the worse for his experience.

ORDINANCE WILL PROBABLY PASS

Present indications are that the ordinance introduced by Safety Commissioner Hicken to license bartenders will pass.

Mayor Prince and Commissioner Voss are opposed to the measure and Commissioner Hicken and Meritt favor it. This leaves it up to Commissioner Murchison and he stated this morning that he will vote for the ordinance in its present form.

The much-discussed ordinance was amended at the meeting of the city council last Tuesday afternoon. The provision requiring the wearing of badges was stricken, the fee was reduced from $5 to $1 a year, and the requirement that applicants answer the question of whether or not they have been convicted of a crime was eliminated.

Despite the amendments the bartenders are as strenuously opposed to the ordinance as they were previously. They declare that it is wrong in principle and should not be carried. They say they should not be taxed $1 any more than $5 for the privilege of working for a living and that it will operate to shift responsibility from the proprietors of saloons, where it should be centered, to their employes, the bartenders.

SLEUTHS' HUNCH PROVED CORRECT

When Detectives Toewe and Bradley saw Martin Olson, 20, and George Foss, 65, walking arm in arm down Superior street about 11 o'clock last evening, they suspected something wrong, and they followed the two men up Fifth avenue west. They were rewarded a few minutes later by arresting Olson on a charge of grand larceny and returning $23.97 to Foss, from whom Olson is charged with having taken the money.

Just as the officers came within a few feet of the pair on First street and Fifth avenue, Olson turned suddenly about and, running out in the street, attempted to make a quick getaway in the alley at the rear of the Holland hotel. Detective Toewe was behind him in an instant, and after a short chase, overtook the fugitive and placed him under arrest.

At police headquarters Foss' money was found in Olson's pocket and the wallet was returned to Foss. This morning he swore out a warrant against Olson, and the latter was arraigned on a charge of larceny in the first degree. He waived examination and was bound over to the March term of the grand jury.

NOVEL PLAN FOR CUTTING OF ICE

Brewing Company Makes Record Speed By Use of Motor.

Those in charge of the cutting of ice for the Fitger Brewing company have evolved a novel and practical plan for the removal of the ice to the company's plant at Seventh avenue east.

The workmen cut the ice on the lake about a quarter of a mile from the plant, and it is piled on a string of four sleighs. This load is hauled in by a large motor truck. So effective is this method that the lone truck is able to make a trip every five minutes and handle the loads as fast as the men can get the ice into the sleighs.

The truck is equipped with chain guards on the wheels and skims over the ice with its load of four large sleighs, each bearing several tons of ice.

The men have arranged three strings of four sleighs each, one of which is always being loaded, another unloaded and the third is constantly in transit from the ice field to the company's plant. The truck makes a trip from the plant for the ice almost every five minutes.

In this way the brewing company should be able to make a record haul in a very short time. The new method has placed the old horse-drawing system in the discard as far as effective and quick work is concerned.

NOT SATISFIED WITH VERDICT

Judge Cant in district court tomorrow will listen to arguments on an alternative motion for judgment, notwithstanding the verdict, or for a new trial urged by the defendant in the personal injury case brought by Karl Larson against the Duluth Street Railway company.

On Feb. 11 a jury returned a verdict for $900 against the company. Thomas S. Wood, attorney for the company, today filed notice of a motion to vacate the verdict, or for a new trial. Larson was struck by an eastbound street car while driving a sleigh east on Oneota street near Thirty-eighth avenue west, on March 26, 1913. He sued for $5,800 damages.

CAPT. SELLWOOD'S FUNERAL HELD

The funeral of Capt. Joseph Sellwood, Duluth's pioneer mine owner and banker, who died Wednesday afternoon of Bright's disease, was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the family residence, 1802 East Superior street.

Rev. J. W. Hoffman of the First Methodist church officiated at the services and interment was in the Sellwood vault at the Forest Hill cemetery.

The City National bank, of which Capt. Sellwood was president when he died, closed today at 2 o'clock instead of 3 o'clock, the usual closing hour.

The pallbearers, who escorted the body of Capt. Sellwood to its final resting place included George A. St. Clair, W. A. McGonagle, F. A. Patrick, James A. Ferguson, Joseph B. Cotton, Ronald J. McLeod, Archibald M. Chisholm and Pentecost Mitchell. The honorary pallbearers were Judge Page Morris, W. T. Bailey, Capt. Alex McDougall and Mr. Cameron of Cleveland.

OPEN ROAD OIL BIDS.

The work division this morning opened bids on road oil to be used the coming season. It is estimated that from 140,000 to 150,000 gallons will be required. The prices bid ranged from 4.43 cents to 6¾ cents per gallon, for oils containing 40 per cent and 60 per cent asphaltum. Bids were submitted by the Northwestern Oil company, the Pure Oil company, the Standard Oil company and John Barber, Jr. No contract was awarded this morning.

Superior

Ask Injunction.

The Soo railroad yesterday afternoon filed an application in the circuit court asking a restraining order to prevent City Treasurer George Kane from collecting taxes against the railroad's ore and merchandise docks property. The petition is filed on the ground that this property has been listed with the state and taxes have been paid to the state, and that the levy by the city is unlawful and void. Luse, Powell & Luce appeared in court for the railroad company.

Death Comes Suddenly.

Calling to his wife to come quickly because he was ill, John W. Barry, 56 years old, 1319 Baxter avenue, dropped into a chair yesterday afternoon and expired before a physician arrived. Heart trouble from which he has been suffering for some time, was the cause. Mr. Barr has been a resident of Superior for many years. He leaves besides his widow two children. Funeral arrangements will be made upon the arrival of relatives from Milwaukee.

Elevator Stocks.

Elevators of Superior have approximately 7,500,000 bushels of grain stored in them this winter, according to reports just issued by some of the larger companies. Of this amount about 2,500,000 is bonded grain from Canada.

NELSON HAS BILL TO REPLACE NEWLANDS'

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Feb. 27.—A bill providing for the licensing of corporations engaged in interstate commerce, other than railroads, was introduced today by Senator Nelson. The licensing power is placed in the hands of the secretary of commerce, to whom corporations now organized are to apply for licenses within three months after the passage of the bill. New corporations are to make application as they are organized.

The bill makes stringent provision for government supervision of issues of securities and for keeping records of the business of the corporations, which are to submit annual reports to the department of commerce.

Senator Nelson said he had introduced the bill to replace the Newlands trade commission bill, which he regarded as an unnecessary measure, and the machinery for regulation and control of corporations is now provided in the department of commerce.

ANTI-TRUST BILLS THEME OF CAPITAL DISCUSSIONS

Business Interests Are Heard By Congressional Committees.

Newlands Offers Amendments to Trade Commission Measure.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Efforts of senate and house committees have turned toward perfecting as soon as possible the administration's anti-trust legislative program.

The senate committee on interstate commerce held its first hearing yesterday on the proposed bill to create an interstate trade commission, and amendments to limit the scope of that commission and to make it a purely advisory and investigating body were submitted by Senator Newlands, chairman of the committee.

Members of a committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States discussed the proposed commission before the senate committee while hearings were in progress before house judiciary and interstate commerce committees with relation to legislation to regulate holding companies, Federal control of railroad securities and shortening of judicial procedure under the Sherman anti-trust law.

In discussing the bill for a trade commission, the committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said it was not presenting the views of the chamber, since one of the duties of the committee was to present to the membership of the chamber for referendum vote a list of question concerning the proposed legislation.

Members of Committee.

The committee was composed of John H. Fahey of Boston, president of the chamber; R. G. Rhett of Charleston, S. C., chairman; W. L. Saunders, New York; Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin; Charles E. Matthewson, New York; Dr. Henry R. Sager of Columbia university; Guy E. Tripp of New York and Louis Brandeis of Boston.

Mr. Matthewson was spokesman and the members of the committee were in accord on every proposition except one advanced by President Van Hise. This was an amendment under which bodies of such individuals as lumbermen and fruit growers desiring to form co-operative organizations might submit their plan of organization to the trade commission which, if it approved the plan, would issue a permit. This plan, Dr. Van Hise thought, would be a help to men who desired to do a legitimate business, but did not know how far they could go under the law, and perhaps could not afford to pay high-priced lawyers. Mr. Matthewson argued that this plan was unworkable and unwise.

The rest of the discussion was on the trade commission bill with the amendments drawn by Chairman Newlands.

"Would Improve Bill."

Mr. Matthewson said the committee felt that the Newlands amendments would make a great improvement in the bill and would meet most of the criticisms that might have been made.

Mr. Matthewson thought it unwise to draw a line as to the size of corporations compelled to make reports, and suggested that the requirement should include all corporations except those subject to the interstate commerce commission and the comptroller of the currency.

He said he could, by the addition of a few lines, amend the Sherman anti-trust law so it would be satisfactory. He would say in his amendment that the law was not intended and should not be construed to prohibit combinations in restraint of competition unless such combinations were against public welfare.

The amendments to the interstate trade commission bill prepared by Senator Newlands were framed after he had conferred with President Wilson. One amendment, substituted for section 3 of the original Clayton bill, would limit the jurisdiction of the proposed commission to corporations "having annual gross receipts exceeding $2,500,000," and would make it optional with the commission whether it should demand records of corporations' affairs.

Text of Amendment.

This amendment would read in part as follows:

"That every commercial, mining and manufacturing corporation, engaged in interstate and foreign commerce which, by itself or with one or more other corporations owned, operated, controlled or organized in conjunction with it so as to constitute substantially a business unit, having annual gross receipts exceeding $2,500,000, shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the commission. The commission may from time to time require any such corporation to furnish to the commission such information, statements and records of its organization, business, financial condition, conduct, management, and relation to other companies in respect of or concerning interstate and foreign commerce as may be required."

Another amendment would protect corporations from unreasonable or unnecessary publicity of their affairs, providing that the commission should make public "in such form and to such extent as it may deem necessary and proper, the information obtained, except so far as may be necessary to protect trade processes, names of customers, and such other matters as the commission may deem not to be of public interest, and shall make an annual report to congress, and may submit therewith recommendations for additional legislation."

Unauthorized Publicity.

It would further provide that "any person who shall make public any information obtained by the commission without its consent or authority, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court."

A third amendment proposed would make it a misdemeanor punishable by fine not to exceed $1,000,000 or a year's imprisonment or both, for any person to "willfully make false entry in any books of accounts or records of any corporation" subject to the proposed act. The same punishment would apply to persons willfully furnishing the commission with false information.

Provisions of the original bill, empowering the proposed commission to investigate the affairs of corporations, would be considerably changed to assure the conduct of all such inquiries according to due process of law, and to make the commission purely advisory to the attorney general and the courts. These amendments would provide that the commission shall, upon the request of the attorney general, and may, upon application or upon its own initiative, investigate any corporation subject to the provisions of this act for purpose of ascertaining whether there has been in the organization or conduct of such corporation, or in its relations to other corporations or individuals, a violation of said Sherman act and amendments.

Findings Public Records.

The commission shall submit its findings to the attorney general and they shall be public records.

In proceedings in equity brought by or under the direction of the attorney general as provided in the Sherman act and amendments, the court may, at any stage in the litigation in its discretion, refer to the commission any issue in the cause or any proposed decree, or questions relating to the enforcement of any decree entered, whereupon the commission shall investigate the question or questions referred to it and report its findings, and conclusions to the court with a copy of the evidence. The recommendations of the commission may be asked by the court as to any decree proposed to be made. Said evidence, findings, conclusions and recommendations shall be public records.

DOUBT IF LOPEZ WAS IN ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—Minneapolis and St. Paul detectives, after spending twenty-four hours searching for a man said to be Ralph Lopez, the Bingham, Utah, bandit, today declared they believed that Lopez had not been at the horse sales in the Midway district, as was reported from the office of one of the dealers there. A Mexican purchasing horses for shipment south is thought by the police to have been the innocent cause of the flurry regarding Lopez.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

CHALONER WANTS MORE TO SPEND

Asks That Allowance Be Raised from $17,000 to $24,000.

New York, Feb. 27.—John Chaloner has filed a petition in the supreme court, through his counsel, asking that Thomas T. Sherman, administrator of his property in this state, be directed to increase his annual allowance from $17,000 to $24,000. Chaloner, who has been declared insane in New York state but is considered sane in Virginia, the state of his residence, derives most of his income, amounting to $40,000 net a year, from this state.

FRECKLES

February and March Bring Out Unsightly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads February and March because they are likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind the recent discovery of a new prescription, othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine should remove them. Get an ounce from Boyce drug store and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

ANTI-TAMMANY DEMOCRATS UNITE

Organize as "The Democratic Party in New York."

New York, Feb. 27.—"The Democratic party in New York," with the rooster as its emblem, was organized here yesterday by a committee of 250 citizens opposed to Tammany Hall and the leadership of Charles F. Murphy. Under a plan of permanent organization adopted, each election district is to be represented by a leader, the leaders to choose the assembly district leaders, the latter and others to comprise a central city committee which shall be the governing body. All the boroughs will be represented on the city committee.

The purpose of the party is to secure "honest and efficient government of the city on the basis of fundamental reforms" and to co-operate with the progressive Democrats of state and nation. The committee of 250 was evolved from the Anti-Tammany Jeffersonian alliance which placed a ticket in the field during the last municipal campaign.

TWO WEEKS THE LIMIT

Returning Woodsmen Say Men Are Kept on the Move.

Allowed to Work Just Long Enough to Pay Fares.

According to the stories of some of the men who are returning from work in the wood—perforce, they claim—working conditions are anything but desirable. These men claim that the lumber companies do not give them "a fair shake" and that their short period of work in the woods gains them nothing but about enough for railroad fare each way.

Sam Shuck and William Kemp, evidently sober and industrious men, judging from their appearance, came to The Herald office this morning and told their tale. Both are broke, but they did not want to borrow money.

"I'm no bum," said Shuck, "what I want is work, and a fair deal. We didn't get it where we were working."

Shuck then proceeded to tell his story. It was corroborated by his companion. They hired out to the St. Croix Lumber company, they claim, on Feb. 9 and wanted to stay until the middle of April. They had to pay their own fare both ways—that is the company, they claim, took the amount of the fare up out of their wages when settling time came. That took practically all of one week. The next week finished, they claim, they were told to "hit the trail and give somebody else a chance." That week's wages were about eaten up by the railroad fare back. All these men had when they struck Duluth was $1.35 each, so they claim.

Shuck and Kemp worked for the St. Croix company at Camps Nos. 20 and 21 on Crab lake. As was said they hired out on Feb. 9 with a number of others and last Monday, with fourteen others, were paid off and told to, "beat it." They claim they were to have received $26 a month but that because they worked only thirteen days and not a full month, they were paid off at the rate of 83 cents a day.

Both men claim that this hiring and firing of men is practiced right along and that nobody except the bosses is allowed to work a full month. Shuck said that he is "flat" and wants work of any kind—anything to earn a living; so does Kemp. Each claim that there are many other men in the same boat.

GO TO SEE THE MINES

Painesdale, Tri-Mountain, Baltic and the village of South Range. They spent some time inspecting the premises of the house where the Painesdale murders were committed; they were conducted through the shaft house of the old Baltic mine and saw every detail of the workings.

In the afternoon the investigators journeyed to Calumet and were shown over the Calumet & Hecla properties. The Red Jacket mine, penetrating the earth to a depth of more than 8,000 feet, excited great interest among them.

Talked With Shopmen.

On a trip through the Calumet & Hecla machine shops, the congressmen stopped frequently to talk with old employes and to inquire into their wages and their working conditions. They next visited the public bath house maintained by the company for the benefit of its employes, and watched several miners off duty disporting themselves in the swimming pool. Then they were taken through the high school, housing 1,600 students.

Congressman Switzer talked with a mounted deputy.

"I have heard a lot about deputies," he explained, "and I wanted to see what one was like."

The mine workers were at supper when the party invaded the bunkhouses at Ahmeek. Congressman Howell asked several if they were satisfied with their work and felt satified that they might leave at any time in spite of the guards. The reply invariably was in the affirmative.

Illinois May Send Aid.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 27.—The report of the committee of five appointed yesterday at the convention of the United Mine Workers of the state to consider an appropriation for the Michigan copper miners was expected to be made today.

A representative of the Western Federation of Miners asked that the strikers in Michigan be allowed $25,000 by the United Mine Workers of Illinois. A lengthy debate followed. Duncan McDonald then moved that the president appoint a committee of five to report back to the convention, and this was carried.

HUERTA APPEALS TO WILSON TO RESTORE EMBARGO ON ARMS

consequences" that arming of rebels will bring, in the opinion of the Huerta government.

The assumption in official circles is that Huerta does not, by the presentation of such a remarkable note, expect to bring about immediately a change of policy on the part of the Washington administration. The real purpose is believed to be to add another note to the exchanges, perfecting his case, as it were, for the consideration of the world powers.

It is not expected that the state department will return any formal answer to this last communication.

No Request for Help.

Rumors current in New York that President Huerta had requested the assistance of the United States appeared to be based on the memorandum issued by the Huerta authorities at Mexico City last night, appealing to this government to consider the effect of the recent decree raising the embargo on arms.

Whether such an appeal amounts to a request for assistance is regarded as a matter of construction, but there is nothing in the nature of a direct request for assistance, so far as officials have made known.

Consul Edwards at Juarez today reported that he saw the American, Gustav Bauch, in the Juarez jail on Feb. 18, and that according to authorities in the border city, Bauch was afterwards removed to Chihuahua with other Americans whose names were not given.

At the navy department today it was said there was no significance in the holding of the transport Hancock and her 800 marines at New Orleans. It was explained that the men have had a strenuous tour of duty in advance base maneuvers at Culebra, Porto Rico, and that they are entitled to the relaxation which a port like New Orleans affords. Secretary Daniels said they probably would not be brought back to Philadelphia until the weather is warmer.

Secretary Bryan said today he had no information concerning the reported confessions of Gen. Villa that he had ordered Benton's execution without a court-martial.

No Armed Forces.

President Wilson has taken the position that for the United States to send marines or armed forces of any kind into Mexico without the consent of the governing authorities there, would be an act of war. He declared emphatically that permission never had been sought either of Gen. Huerta or Gen. Carranza, and indicated clearly that no request of that character would be made in the near future. The president announced, too, that no change in the policy of the American government toward Mexico had been decided upon.

The president had been asked particularly about reports that American troops might be sent across the border to recover the body of William S. Benton, the British subject recently executed at Juarez, and concerning published dispatches that the United States contemplated sending marines to Mexico City to guard the American embassy.

Administration officials expressed the opinion that Gen. Huerta probably inspired the statement about American marines at this time merely for effect upon the Mexican people, whom he hoped to impress with his antipathy to the American government, as it is well known that permission to land marines for legation guards had been freely accorded by Huerta to other nations, including Great Britain and Germany.

The president explained that the talk of sending marines to Mexico had never gotten beyond the stages of mere discussion among administration officials. He said that when Great Britain and Germany sent marines to Mexico City to guard their legations, though the United States was apprised in advance of the step, and offered no objections, there was a natural disposition here to determine if the American government should take similar action.

Huerta's Position Weaker.

The president views the general situation in Mexico as far as the progress of the revolution is concerned, as but little changed. Huerta's resources, he thinks, have been weakened and he has learned of an undertone of dissatisfaction among Mexicans in the territory controlled by Huerta at the latter's arbitrary exaction of funds.

Incidentally President Wilson disposed of a report that an independent republic was being planned for Northern Mexico. He said he had information from men who knew Carranza's mind and the purposes of the Constitutionalists generally, that the idea of a partition of Mexico had been absolutely rejected and disavowed by them, and that their aim in the revolution was to redeem Mexico from the stain which Huerta had put upon it.

Reorganize Old Bodyguard.

Mexico City, Feb. 27.—"The brigade of the supreme powers" is to be reorganized, according to official announcement. No reason has been given as to why the step will be taken. Since the time of Pablo Juarez this brigade has been dropped from the army. While Juarez was president it was organized with the purpose of surrounding and protecting him whenever he had to leave the capital. The brigade accompanied Juarez when in 1863, he was driven to the northern frontier by the French and re-established his government there.

Berlin Denies Report.

Berlin, Feb. 27.—The German foreign office emphatically denies a report published in America that Germany has expressed to the state department in Washington its disapproval of President Wilson's policy in Mexico, and has suggested that the United States was making a serious mistake in not recognizing Provisional President Huerta.

Villa's Slowness Explained.

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 27.—As an explanation of his continued delay in attacking the Federal army at Torreon, 300 miles south of here, opinions were expressed freely by close advisers of Gen. Francisco Villa today that the rebel leader is content with his present supreme authority, and that he will not push southward until necessity seems to require it. Practically all of Gen. Villa's army is scattered along the railroad south to a point within a few miles of Torreon, and their positions have been unchanged for weeks.

Only feeble indications of Gen. Villa's intentions to move at the head of his troops have appeared. Meantime the Federal army is believed to have been constantly strengthening its defences and fortifying thke railroads south and east.

Belief has been growng that the Federals under Gen. Refugio Valasco soon may assume the offensive and send troops north to engage the Constitutionalists.

Lost Ground By Delay.

All impartial military observers agree that the rebels have lost ground by their delay. Waited upon by representatives of foreign governments and surrounded by ducal pomp of soldiers and civilians, Gen. Villa, after having risen from the position of a bandit within a few months, is wielding the powers of a dictator. No effort is made to conceal his dictatorship, and it is said his delay in moving southward is actuated by his desire to extend his power as head of the government.

Friends of Gen. Villa recall that before his recent victories he said that to capture and hold the state capital, after driving out his enemies, was the height of his ambition. It was from this city that Villa was driven many years ago as a bandit, and from which Diaz's soldiers were vainly sent to capture him.

Little credence was given here to oft-repeated reports that Gen. Carranza intended soon to travel from Sonora to assume control of the government in Chihuahua. Gen. Villa insistently refers to Gen. Carranza as the first chief of the revolution, but it was thought Gen. Carranza would delay his arrival in Chihuahua, if he comes, until Gen. Villa ultimately has moved southward.

His Word Is Law.

Villa has surrounded himself by men who accept his word as law. It was openly stated that for Mexicans to have expressed opinions adverse to Villa was sufficient to warrant execution and not to obey orders was punishable by imprisonment. A Mexican was put in prison because he was late with a train ordered by Villa.

New Money Ordered.

Douglas, Ariz., Feb. 27.—Constitutionalists are so much troubled over a recent discovery of many thousands of dollars of counterfeit rebel currency that they have decided to recall the present issue and replace it with new money, according to Consul Letver.

Send Chinese Across Border.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Feb. 27.—As a result of anti-Chinese demonstrations at Cananea, Sonora, this week, arrangements were made today to transport Chinese or other foreigners who might be endangered by a recurrence of the demonstration across the international boundary line across the United States.

Should further anti-foreign riots occur, it was announced, temporary special dispensations regarding Oriental immigration would be made by the United States immigration officials along the border.

Carden Off Coast.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 27.—Wireless messages received here today from the British cruiser Essex, with Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, on board, indicated that the vessel was approximately eighty miles off Galveston bar shortly before 9 o'clock. It was not considered probable the cruiser would reach port before 4 o'clock this afternoon.

BENTON'S BODY IN CHIHUAHUA

Arthur Perceval, to participate in the Benton investigation, and the receipt by Carothers of a bulky dispatch from Mexico account for the delay.

The presence of Perceval, who came here from Galveston, where he is British consul, was believed to mark the beginning of important developments in the Benton case.

Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Carothers and Perceval maintained complete reserve as to their plans. Perceval was expected to be guided by Gen. Scott in his official actions.

It was believed, however, that when the commission to examine Benton's body departs for Chihuahua, where Gen. Villa says it is buried, the British official would accompany it.

Anxiety Over Bauch.

Meanwhile anxiety over the disappearance of Gustav Bauch continued, although his case apparently is not involved in the Benton investigation. Rebels of Juarez and Chihuahua both deny that they have Bauch in custody. Belief in the report that he was shot as a spy last Friday is general on this side of the Rio Grande.

TAFT URGES REFORM IN RULES OF COURTS

moved by congress, Mr. Taft insisted, and the courts, as they are now constituted, could be vindicated without resort to the recall which he believed harmful.

He thought appointments of receivers by Federal judges should be made from a list furnished by the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Taft added that at some later date it probably would be advisable to provide for the examination of the rules of procedure by a commission with a view to hormonizing and administering the two sides of Federal court work. For the present he thought the authorization contained in the bill was all that should be attempted.

Mr. Taft said he wished to call the committee's attention to one fact: "You can safely consider this bill," said he, "since it has the approval of the Progressive party and of Mr. Root and myself. I want the committee to get that fact, that where two so widely divergent views agree upon one thing, it probably is a thing to be desired."

Parker Points to Ideal.

Alton B. Parker also dwelt upon the need of uniformity. Mr. Parker said there was an ideal in view, as suggested by Mr. Taft, of complete uniformity in procedure throughout the Federal courts, and perhaps even the state courts at some time.

Senator Root declared legislators had built up, under the pressure of individual interests, codes of procedure which prevented the courts from administering justice. His own state, he said, was the worst sinner in that respect, and that there a man might be compelled to try twenty suits to reach a decision on a simple claim. Corps of "acute, adroit code lawyers," had grown up under this abuse, he said, who were able to clog the wheels of justice with technical evasions. The man of small means soon became discouraged or even ruined, he said, while men of wealth secured immunity from being brought to justice.

TEXANS ANGERED OVER REPORT ON VERGARA'S DEATH

jail the following day and dressed his wounds, Hill said. On Saturday he was taken from prison, supposedly to be transferred to Piedras Negras. Later the body was seen hanging.

Two days ago the body disappeared and a newly made grave in the Hidalgo cemetery was noticed by several Mexicans, who since have told the Nuevo Laredo police.

Consul Afraid to Seek Body.

Consul Garrett said he was convinced by the Federals' attitude that it would have been dangerous for him to search for the body in the cemetery. He told Capt. Rodriguez that he would secure orders for the removal of the body. That no mistake could have been made in the identity of the man hanged is assured, it is said, by the identification of the body by half a dozen persons. Vergara was well known throughout that section.

Conflicting details in the story of Capt. Rodriguez aroused bitter discussion here. It was learned that Rodriguez had told Consul Blocker that Vergara had joined the rebels. Rodriguez denied that he ever had received any orders from the Piedras Negras commander, Gen. Alvarez, who told American authorities Vergara would be transferred there for safety. The Federal captain was insistent, however, that the missing man had been sent to Piedras Negras.

Colquitt Makes Appeal.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 27.—A request to know "whom the United States government now recognizes as the constituted authority in Mexican states bordering on the Rio Grande," went forward yesterday to President Wilson from Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas. The request was made for the purpose of demanding the surrender of the "abductors and murderers" of Clemente Vergara, a Texas citizen, executed by Mexican Federals.

Then, apparently answering the question himself, the governor asked consent of the United States, "in view of the condition of revolution and anarchy in these border states, to send rangers across the Rio Grande in pursuit of lawless elements of either faction when they cross into Texas and commit crimes."

Warned By Bryan.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Secretary Bryan last night telegraphed Governor Colquitt of Texas that the sending of the state militia into Mexico to apprehend those responsible for the hanging of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen, would involve a responsibility which the Federal government alone was in a position to assume.

The governor had inquired whether the Federal government had any objections to the sending by the state of a force to arrest the slayers of Vergara. Secretary Bryan replied that the Washington government was doing all that could be done to obtain the arrest and punishment of the offenders.

A similar situation arose in Texas in February, 1912, and February, 1913, when border troubles caused Governor Colquitt to declare he might send Texas rangers into Mexico either to prevent firing into American territory or to protect Americans. When, on Feb. 14, 1913, Governor Colquitt ordered four companies of militia to Brownsville, the war department telegraphed Gen. Steever, then in command of the department of Texas, "under no circumstances to permit their crossing the river, except under the specific order of the secretary of war."

MRS. BUFFUM'S TRIAL IS NEAR ITS CLOSE

Attorney Tells Jury Husband Tried to Kill Woman.

Little Valley, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, on trial for the murder of her husband, Willis Buffum, may know her fate tonight. Her attorney, Patrick S. Collins, began his summing up when court opened today.

It generally was conceded that the jury's verdict would be largely determined by its acceptance or rejection of the "confession" made by Mrs. Buffum at a Buffalo hotel, Dec. 10. Attorney Collins, in his closing address, held that the confession was wrung from a woman hounded by private detectives, and made at a time when her mind was disorganized by drink. He argued that there was no actual or circumstantial proof that the woman had planned the death of her husband.

Pointing out that Mrs. Buffum had been a hard working, faithful farm wife for twenty-three years, he showed in contrast that Willis Buffum repeatedly had abused his wife, and frequently threatened to kill himself and his whole family. During Buffum's last illness, and the spring before, all the Buffums, wife and children, had been sick, he said. He charged the poisoning to the husband.

FOOD LAWS THEME OF NEW YORK MEETING

New York, Feb. 27.—Delegates to the National Food Trades conference assembled in New York today to begin a determined campaign for better and purer foods. The chief object of the conference is to formulate an amendment to the present national food law, which will insist upon a stricter labelling of food products, and upon a uniformity of food regulations throughout the country.

Various national, state and municipal food officials were asked to participate in the conference, in order that the food laws may be discussed from the viewpoint of the public, the manufacturers and the distributers.

Seek Two Robbers.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upon information given by David Fultz, aged 24, arrested for burglarizing the Bismarck Hardware company, and whom the police say have confessed, Northwest police officials are engaged in a search for two men whom Fultz says participated with him in a robbery at Brainerd, Minn., about two years ago.

Fultz may have given the police their names, but, if that is the case, local authorities have withheld them. Accurate descriptions, however, are in the hands of the officials.

TINY MISS IS A TAXPAYER

Little 2-Year-Old Atheline Miller Contributes $1,228.63 to County.

Penalty Attaches on Personal Property Taxes After Saturday.

Atheline Morton Miller, a tiny miss of 2 years, enjoys the rare distinction of being the youngest as well as one of the largest individual taxpayers in Duluth. Baby Miller, through her mother, Mrs. Helen Spencer Miller, acting as guardian, paid the 1913 tax on her personal property to the county treasurer this morning. The tax amounted to $1,228.63.

Little Miss Miller is the daughter of the late A. M. Miller, Jr., who died in this city on Feb. 16, 1912, leaving a large estate. Two-thirds of the estate was left to a then unborn child and one-third to his widow. The baby was born shortly after her father's death. On May 24, 1912, her mother was appointed guardian. Mrs. Miller also paid her personal property tax today. It amounted to $805.53.

Tax money is still pouring into the county treasury, tomorrow being the last day on which personal property taxes for 1913 may be paid without penalty. The counter collections, according to Joseph Nelson, chief deputy in the treasurer's office, are exceptionally good.

The Duluth-Edison Electric company this afternoon sent in its check for its 1913 tax on personal property. The amount paid was $14,043.25. Other large checks received since yesterday were: St. Croix Lumber company, $5,658.90; Scott Graff Lumber company, $3,797.35; French & Bassett, $1,413.45; Northern Shoe company, $2,430.94; Gowan Lenning Brown company, $5,394; American Exchange National bank of Virginia, $1,576.78; C. d'Autremont, Jr., $1,012.46; George A. Gray company, $2,219.01; First National bank of Eveleth, $1,140.32; Ames-Brooks company, $1,554.74 and the First National bank of Virginia, $1,218.73.

TAX TANGLE IN THE COURTS

Differences which have arisen between the village of Hibbing and the township of Stuntz over the possession of certain undistributed taxes collected on mining property, now a part of the village but formerly belonging to the township, will be aired before one of the judges of the district court tomorrow.

The action is in the nature of a mandamus proceeding to compel the county auditor and county treasurer, as custodians of the tax money, to pay over to the village, or to the township, as the case may be, the remainder of the undistributed 1912 tax on the property which has been held back by the county officials owing to disputed claims.

The court will determine the rights of the respective parties to the litigation. The tangle was caused through the oversight of the Hibbing officials to make proper returns to the state and county officials of their official actions in annexing certain tracts. The Albany mine property was annexed in 1910. Although the proper return was made by the village officials to the secretary of state, the county auditor was not notified and the mine was carried on the tax books as a part of Stuntz township until recently. Two other tracts which were annexed by the village in January and March, 1912, are also involved. In both instances, the proper certificates were not filed with the secretary of state as required by law to complete the annexation proceedings until three or four days after the county auditor had made his book apportionment of the tax money. Pending the actual distribution of the funds, mandamus proceedings were brought to establish the rights to the money.

CHARGED WITH "SETTING" GUN

John P. Osbacken, 64 years old, a settler living in Section 35, range 53, St. Louis county, was arrested this noon by Game Warden August Tabor of Lake county on a charge of having set a gun in the woods.

Warden Tabor found the gun while going through the woods and almost stepped on it himself, he said this morning. This is considered a grave offense, as set guns have caused serious accidents in former years.

Osbacken will be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

PACIFIC COAST PHYSICIAN DISCOVERS NEW FOOD

This discovery comes in the nick of time. Daily our foods are getting dearer and scarcer. Predictions have been made that a way will be found for man to live on grass if prices of meats, vegetables and fruits continue to soar.

For years food specialists have looked hungeringly upon flax. The medicinal properties of flax are known to all, but because of its disagreeable flavor it has never been available for food.

A Pacific coast physician, studying the diet of the early Roman soldiers; who ate no meat but subsisted on grains, recently concluded that wheat and rye and flax were the ideally balanced ration for man. He determined to get rid of the objectionable odor and taste of flax. His discovery was one of those lucky strikes that come almost unawares. He has succeeded in absolutely killing the old flax flavor and bringing out a rich, agreeable nut-grain taste. The new product is called flaxose. As soon as American millers appreciate this wonderful "find" they will doubtless supply us with a better food for strength and health than any flour or cereal yet on the market. Flaxose combined with other grains will add to our food supply a critically needed ration that will at once prevent diseases of digestion and constipation, which are today forcing premature old age upon three-fifths of our population.

Woman's Realm

With the sunshine and warmer weather, outdoor sports enthusiasts are giving special attention to skating, skiing, and coasting for the time for these pastimes is limited and afternoon and evening parties are planned to take the place of the indoor social functions. The opening of the Lenten season, too, has put the ban on cards and dancing and theaters for many, and their attention has returned with renewed vigor to the outdoor exercises.

The Ski club has announced that after Sunday it will honor Curling club membership tickets for admittance to the Ski club grounds for the rest of the season, and all who hold membership tickets at the curling rink will be admitted to the use of the ski and toboggan slides, with toboggans, and club house ready for use at all times.

During the early part of the season the Ski club was open only to members of the club, but for the rest of the winter season the skaters may have the privilege of entertaining there, and a number of parties have already been planned for next week.

Outdoor sports in Duluth are always a large factor in the winter's social life with supper parties following an hour or two of coasting, skating, skiing, snowshoeing or ice boating and many parties have used the Oatka branch of the boat club for the supper and dance after the exercises.

NEIGHBORHOOD MEETING.

Woodland Residents Will Meet Monday.

The meeting of residents of Woodland planned for this evening for the formation of a Woodland Neighborhood club, to have been held at the new E. R. Cobb school, has been postponed until Monday evening of next week on account of other activities for this evening which interfered. Miss Susan House, principal of the school, has called the meeting and an invitation is extended to all residents of the district, whether they have children attending the school or not. Plans for a series of neighborhood social gatherings will be talked over and a club formed.

GERMAN LITERATURE.

J. A. Keyes Will Talk to Saturday Club.

Members of the Saturday club are inviting guests to an open meeting of the club, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at the library clubroom at 3 o'clock. German literature will be the subject and Mrs. Robert Spiegel will be leader for the afternoon. John A. Keyes will give a lecture on "Karl Marx's Philosophy," and a social hour will follow with the serving of tea.

W. R. C. NOTES.

Regular Meeting at Courthouse.

At the regular meeting of the J. B. Culver corps, W. R. C., which was held yesterday afternoon at the Memorial hall of the courthouse, an invitation was received from the Palmer corps of Superior inviting the Duluth members to a luncheon to be given on Monday, March 23, at Superior. It was decided not to hold the monthly card parties in Lent and arrangements were made to serve a luncheon on Thursday, March 19, at Memorial hall, courthouse, from 11:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

An all day meeting of the thimble bee of the corps will be held next Thursday, March 5, at Memorial hall, courthouse, and the members will make outing flannel nightshirts for the old soldiers in the home at Minnehaha Falls. Mrs. J. H. Sullivan will be in charge of the meeting that day in place of Mrs. B. M. Sampson, who is ill.

Thursday, March 12, the next regular meeting of the corps will be held at Memorial hall with Mrs. D. Burnett hostess at the social half hour which will follow the business session.

SOCIETY WOMEN MAKE CIGARETTES

—Copyrighted by the Bain News Service.

MRS. AUSTEN GRAY.

The latest move of society into trade is the association of Mrs. Austen Gray and Mrs. J. Fred Pierson, Jr., in the manufacture of cigarettes. Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Pierson are quite the real thing in New York society. No one knows why they have gone into this business enterprise except as a vent for surplus energy. Mrs. Gray was Alice Monroe Burnham, daughter of the W. A. Burnhams of Boston. Her husband, whom she married when he was just out of Harvard in 1904, is a son of the late Henry Turnbull and stepson of Judge John Clinton Gray of the court of appeals.

DAY OF PRAYER.

100 Women Attend Services at Baptist Church.

More than 100 women attended the Day of Prayer service which was held yesterday at the First Baptist church under the auspices of the Interdenominational Missionary union of this city.

Mrs. A. H. Brocklehurst, president of the union, presided, and during the business session reports of work which is being done by the programme committees for the summer school of missions which will be held at the Y. W. C. A. June 6 to 16 under the auspices of the union were given:

The leaders who are expected to lead the departments of the school next summer are: Mrs. Hill of New York city, who will conduct the study of the Home Missionary text book, "In Redman's Land;" Mrs. D. B. Wells of Chicago to lead the Foreign Missionary study of text book, "The Child in the Midst;" and Mrs. Ferguson of Monmouth college, who will lead the Bible study.

A committee from the Lakeside Presbyterian society which has been making a special study and investigation of the Mormon question presented resolutions favoring the adoption of an amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting polygamy which were unamiously adopted by the union, and petitions to the United States senators and the representative from this district were signed by all the women present.

Addresses were given by Miss Thompson, Mrs. J. D. Morrison and Mrs. E. A. Risdon which were inspiring and instructive in missionary work, and four prayer services applying to special needs held a high spiritual tone throughout the sessions of the day.

A vote of thanks was given the women of the Baptist church.

AT ROUND TABLE.

Supt. Denfeld Will Speak Monday.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of the public schools of the city will speak at the regular meeting of the Piano Teachers' Round Table of the Matinee Musicale, which will be held next Monday morning at the assembly hall of the Young Women's Christian association at 10 o'clock. Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"The Voice of Satan," a four-act photoplay which opened at the Lyceum yesterday for a three days' engagement, handles the white slave traffic question in a very comprehensive way, the production showing the snares to which married women as well as young girls are subject in the great cities.

Dealing as it does with one of the greatest questions of city life, the films are worth the time of the thinking public. They show conditions that any woman may encounter at any time. While the white slave pictures of various film-producing companies have been censored in some cities, it is argued by many that they have a mission to perform and in many places have been the means of bringing about much good.

Others argue that the "white slave" traffic is largely a myth and that the pictures but serve to exploit the sensational features of it. At any rate the pictures are interesting large audiences at the Lyceum.

Cecil Lean of musical comedy fame will headline the Duluth Orpheum bill next week.

For several seasons Mr. Lean has been one of the most popular cards in the musical comedy field. He was formerly the center around which were built the La Salle theater productions in Chicago and later he made his big reputation in "Bright Eyes," which ran for two or three seasons. He has returned to vaudeville, in which he has been successful before, and is now touring the Orpheum circuit with two assistants, presenting songs and travesties. The other acts on the bill will be: Crouch and Welch, The Brads, Johnny Small and the Small Sisters, Asaki, a juggling Japanese on roller skates, Van Hoven, the mad magician, and Eugene Damond, a violinist.

This week's bill has proven a popular one. Harry Gilfoil has been warmly received at every performance, in his impersonation of his famous old character, "Baron Sands." Hilda Thomas and Lou Hall have provided much of the comedy on the program with their little sketch, "The Substitute." The Randalls with their sharpshooting and Kartell with his marvelous wire act have provided the sensations. Ruth Roye has contributed the necessary touch of ragtime with her songs. Nick Verger, the singing newsboy, has provided the musical feature, and Ward and Weber have a novel dancing act. Variety is not lacking in the program, and apparently every Orpheum patron has found at least one feature to his taste.

Opening with the three-reel film production, "The Lost Treasure," and closing with the headline acrobatic novelty, "Roman Sports and Pastimes," the vaudeville bill which opened at the Empress yesterday is varied throughout and far above the average seen at the local playhouse.

"The Lost Treasure" is a story of the West and the film proves to be a pleasing addition to the bill. The photoplay tells of the love of a cowboy for a ranchman's daughter while the constant dangers that befall him because of his enemies, are shown in an exciting manner. The picture is filled with melodramatic incidents and is replete with excitement and gun play.

The headline act. "Roman Sports and Pastimes," as presented by La Veen, Cross and company, proves to be a novelty in acrobatic specialties. Both La Veen and Cross appear as Roman gladiators and go through a series of tricks that are little short of marvelous. They are assisted by Earl F. Leasor, who furnishes the comedy for the number. He is nearly seven feet tall and, dressed in a Roman costume, he goes through a number of comedy tricks that made a hit at the opening performances yesterday.

Reba and Parquet open the vaudeville bill with an original dance and tango specialty number. They introduce the latest ball room steps and end with an acrobatic dance that is at least pleasing to see, even if the average theatergoer is unable to accomplish the feat. The tango and hesitation steps were gracefully executed by the pair.

A high class singing specialty is presented by Downs and Gomez, both of whom possess very good voices. They sing several old time melodies and close with a few selections from grand opera. Becker and Adams introduce a comedy singing and dancing act, which they open with a yodeling specialty and close with a rapid comic song.

The bill will continue until tomorrow evening, with the regular daily matinees.

FURNACE COMPANY OFFICIALS HERE

G. K. Wright, Joseph H. Beck, Lee Perrin and Charles H. McKee, all of Pittsburg and all of the Shenango Furnace company interests, are in the city today.

According to the statement of Mr. McKee the visit of the officials of the company has to do only with routine business matters. A successor to John A. Savage as local general superintendent, has not yet been named.

JINGLING BROTHERS' CIRCUS TO BE AT "Y"

The famous Jingling Brothers three ring circus will put on a two-day performance at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on March 23 and 24, under the direction of the physical department. The date for the performances was set and various committees to carry on the work were named yesterday afternoon.

The purpose of the circus is two fold. It is intended that it shall take the place of the old-time "Pops" which were given weekly during the winter season up to this year. It is planned, also, that the receipts will help raise a fund to defray traveling expenses entailed by athletes in trips to out-of-town contests.

Abou 150 participants will be engaged for the performances, and will include clowns, acrobats, wrestlers, bar men, aerialists, and various others. The "Y" concert band will furnish music.

The various committees appointed follow: Publicity, H. H. Hanna, chairman; music, H. Denny; booth and side show, M. Jaman; clown, Stanley Lamb; refreshment, A. Andreson; main show, Guy Warren; treasurer, F. A. Hathaway, and general manager, R. C. McLean.

PIONEER DEAD; HERE SINCE 1866

Mrs. Ole Gunderson Passes Away at Ripe Old Age.

Mrs. Ole Gunderson, one of the oldest residents of Duluth, died last evening at the home of her nephew, Thomas Knutson of 1423 South street. The cause of death was a general breaking down from old age, Mrs. Gunderson being 80 years of age. With her husband, who died five years ago, Mrs. Gunderson came to Duluth in 1866, and with the exception of a few years during which they resided at Chicago Bay, she has lived in Duluth ever since. Mr. Gunderson, who was widely known in Duluth and the north shore settlements, was a particular friend of almost all Duluthians who were addicted to hunting and fishing.

Since her husband's death, Mrs. Gunderson has resided with her nephew. She had no children.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Crawford's undertaking rooms, corner of Second avenue west and Second street. Interment will be in Scandia cemetery, London road.

URGE NOBEL PRIZE FOR PROF. BABCOCK

Madison, Wis., Feb. 27.—The fifty or more North Dakota farmers who are visiting dairy farms of Wisconsin this week have started a movement to have the Nobel prize of $40,000 awarded to Prof. S. M. Babcock, famous the world over for his invention of the Babcock milk test.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Young Men Are as Frivolous as Young Women.

Girls without any serious thought and apparently without a single true idea of what life really is and what right living really means, seem to be more and more in evidence as time flies by. But there are quite as many young men who lack sadly in the same particulars; the difference being that men sooner steady and apply themselves, because they are sooner thrust into the world, where they must get down to practical and serious work.

I realize this condition among young women because I am a woman myself, and can better measure the standard of splendid womanhood or what promises to develop it. But I do not hesitate to say that the young men match the young women in their frivolity and their extreme insincerity of purpose.

I suppose in all truth a boy's or girl's parents are more responsible for the false outlook than the child himself, though I do not blame parents in the sense that they wilfully and intentionally bring their children up to selfishness and an erroneous idea of things. I think the spirit of the age has a deal to do with it—the desire of parents to give their children every advantage and pleasure that slaving and sacrificing can procure for them.

So many girls of 20 and 21 are thinking merely of how easily they can get through life, or how they may squeeze through, without working, forgetting that work in some form is the common lot of most people and not so undesirable a lot, as the person who has idled the greater part of his life will tell you.

A great many girls think that those who meet them casually will think more of them if they at least pose as the lily variety of woman who toils not. They will tell you that they abhor housework and know nothing of its duties. It does not occur to them that the listener wonders just what they do like and just what they expect to do in the way of contributing their share to the toll demanded of human beings for the privilege of living.

The fact that a girl works for a living, that her parents are poor and only moderately well off, does not detract from the worth of a girl. That she helps her mother with the housework, never yet detracted from a girl's desirability among the sort of people that a girl should endeavor to cultivate as friends.

NEW COLUMBIA No. 6 REPRODUCER

Most wonderful improvement in tone reproduction in years, giving all shadings in each over and under tones and inflection in voice natural as life.

The needle arm is one solid piece like a tuning fork carrying tone complete to diaphragm. It has no springs, the resistance of which must be overcome. It has no rubber bushing on back to obliterate finer vibrations which make up the over and under tones.

The diaphragm is one-third larger, lowering the pitch and making tone more mellow and pleasing to the ear.

All GRAFONOLAS are now equipped with this new improvement. Come in and hear them!

ONE DAY TO FILE RETURNS

Reports for Income Tax After March 1 Draw Penalty.

All Royalties Taxable Subject to Allowance for Exhaustion.

Tomorrow is the last day for filing returns for those subject to the income tax law. Penalties are attachable for delays.

Owing to the wide discussion regarding the tax on royalties, J. J. Robinson, attorney of this city, wrote Cordell Hull, congressman from Tennessee, who framed the income tax law, asking if the Sargent Land company case, holding that royalties are not income, was considered in framing the bill. Mr. Robinson asked further if, at the time of framing the bill, 5 per cent of the gross value of the output at the mine was considered a sufficient deduction to return all capital invested in mining land.

Congressman Hull's letter indicates that it was the intention of congress to tax all royalties from mineral lands. The income tax law was made broader so as to avoid the objections raised in the Sargent Land company case. Congressman Hull's letter follows:

"J. J. Robinson, attorney, Torrey building, Duluth—Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of the 19th inst. I would say that the sixth deduction allowed in paragraph B and which also occurs in the corporation provision, paragraph G, (prescribing a deduction in the case of mines not exceeding 5 per cent of the gross value of the output at the mine), was the suggestion of Senator Walsh of Montana. The Minnesota case to which you refer was construing the corporation tax law. The provisions of the present income tax law are broader in many respects than those of the corporation tax law.

"I agree that a fixed rule as to exhaustion might well apply to a certain character of mines, whereas the amount would be too small when applied to other classes of mines, notwithstanding 5 per cent of the gross value of the output at the mine was prescribed as a general limitation with respect to all mines. Very truly,

"CORDELL HULL."

SENATORS PEEVED OVER NEWS LEAK

Discuss Proposal to Make Such Publication Penal Offense.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Publicity given to recent executive proceedings in the senate has so aroused some members of that body that a resolution has been introduced and referred to the committee on rules, directing the committee on foreign relations to conduct an investigation into the sources by which the executive information is obtained.

Publication of incidents in the debate on the general arbitration treaties last week precipitated discussion which gave rise to the resolution, which was introduced in a subsequent executive session by Senator Kern. During discussion of the resolution, senators were accused of violating their oaths in revealing executive affairs, and one senator proposed that a law be enacted which would make it a penal offense for anyone to publish facts relating to matters held secret under the senate rules.

Hot Secret Debate.

The suggestion precipitated lively debate behind closed doors, many senators vigorously opposing such action. One senator declared that in this day of growing public opinion against secrecy in legislation, a law to penalize publicity would arouse such a wave of indignation that it would be impossible of enforcement. Several members asserted that they would be willing to defend anyone accused under such a law, and would guarantee an acquittal in every case.

The suggestion did not pass beyond the stage of discussion. The resolution offered by Senator Kern was referred to the rules committee, which has not acted upon it up to this time.

EXPORTS LARGELY EXCEED IMPORTS

Nation's Foreign Trade Increases Since End of Fiscal Year.

This country's foreign trade is attaining increased proportions. For the month of January exports of general merchandise aggregated $203,799,517, while imports came to $154,469,263, showing an excess of $49,330,000 in exports over imports.

A favorable balance of trade to the extent of $463,914,612 was reported for the seven months, exports aggregating $1,521,835,540, while imports totaled $1,067,920,838.

During the same period last year the excess of exports over imports was $430,569,590.

The imports for the four months since the new tariff law went into effect were: October, $132,849,302; November, $148,216,636; December, $184,587,671, and January, $154,469,263.

NEW YORK CENTRAL BONDS AUTHORIZED.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 27.—The New York Central & Hudson River Railroad company has been authorized by the state public utilities commission to issue $70,000,000 of refunding and improvement mortgage bonds at 4½ per cent, the issue to be for the purpose of refunding outstanding notes which mature during 1914, one of the issues being for $30,000,000 and the notes maturing March 1. The total amount of outstanding notes to be refunded by this bond issue is $69,662,000.

NO AGREEMENT ON MINE WAGE SCALE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—The joint conference of miners and operators who have been here for several weeks to arrange a new wage scale for the central competitive bituminous fields, adjourned sine die late yesterday without reaching an agreement. It was stated that this does not necessarily mean a strike, as the existing agreement does not expire until March 31. It is expected the general conference will be reconvened in a Western city between now and March 31.

Suffrage Gains a Point.

Boston, Feb. 27.—A bill providing for a constitutional amendment giving the vote to women, has been favorably reported to the senate by the committee on constitutional amendments. It is the first time that such a report on a suffrage bill has been made in this state. The committee's vote stood nine to two.

BORAX SMITH'S AFFAIRS TANGLED.

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—Tangled affairs of E. M. (Borax) Smith, including the United Properties companies, a $25,000,000 New Jersey corporation, will not be financed along the lines proposed by a committee of San Francisco bankers who have taken them in hand, until the state railroad commission has looked into them more thoroughly. This was made plain by President Eshlman of the commission.

The San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railways, popularly known as the Key route, which is a subsidiary of the United Properties company, applied for permission from the commission to issue five-year 5 per cent bonds in the sum of $1,000,000, and $20,000,000 5 per cent notes. The notes were to have been financed by San Francisco bankers, and the whole transaction was described as merely temporary to tide over a crisis.

When Mr. Eshlman found that these 5 per cent bonds, themselves to secure an issue of notes, were in turn to be secured by underlying issues already marketed, he made it plain that the commission would not go on record, even temporarily, as approving all these underlying issues.

GRAND JURY HUNTS ST. LOUIS BRIBER.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27.—The grand jury has begun an investigation into alleged municipal graft in connection with the recently defeated proposition to increase the tax rate in St. Louis 10 cents on the hundred dollars to provide money for the completion of the free bridge.

Several months ago a merchant was indicted by the grand jury charged with having offered a $500 bribe to a member of the house of delegates from his ward, if the latter would vote for the tax increase. The present investigation was brought about by persistent rumors that a promtnent politician had used the merchants as a go-between in offering the bribe.

ALMA GLUCK TO MARRY ZIMBALIST.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 27.—Miss Alma Gluck, the prima donna whose recent statements concerning temptations that surround the American girl seeking musical education in Europe caused wide discussion, has confirmed here a rumor that she is engaged to marry Efram Zimbalist, a Russian violinist and protege of the last Joseph Fels. Zimbalist is now touring Russia. Miss Gluck said the marriage probably would be celebrated in June at the Fels home in London.

NO ACCIDENT IN SIMPSON SHOOTING

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 27.—A coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Laura Wilder Simpson, a society woman of Chicago, refused to return a verdict of accidental death in investigating her demise Sunday after she had been shot by a revolver which she had been handling. This was the second coroner's jury to pass on the case, and the finding was the same as that brought in by the first. Both juries decided that her case was not suicide, but could not render a verdict as to how she died.

The second hearing was at the request of her family and county authorities, who were not satisfied with the non-committal verdict first rendered.

Dr. William Wilder of Chicago, father of the dead woman, testified that there was not the least disposition on the part of his family to blame the young husband, Lawrence Simpson, in any way for the tragedy.

WITHDRAWS CHARGE AGAINST SULZER

New York, Feb. 27.—The charge that William Sulzer, former governor, and John A. Hennessy, who was his graft investigator, were in league with the state highways department to favor certain asphalt contractors as against others, was withdrawn here at a hearing before James W. Osborne, Governor Glynn's investigator. Henry A. Rubino, attorney for the Warner-Quinlan Asphalt company, announced he was unable to substantiate the allegation.

Rubino, however, refused to withdraw his charge that a $2,600 contribution from the Barber Asphalt Paving company, a competitor, passed from Hennessy to Sulzer.

Indorse Consolidated School.

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The consolidation of rural schools was heartily indorsed at the annual meeting of the Morton County Educational association held here. That consolidation is the keynote to real efficiency in rural school work was the burden of resolutions adopted.

THE APPALLING INCREASE IN TAXES.

From an abstract by the state auditor of the tax lists for 1913—relating to the taxes due the first of this year and now being paid—it appears the total taxes levied in this state last year for all purposes, state, county, city, school, village and township, amounted to $45,763,382.58.

The total levy the year before was $37,163,527.79,—and the gain for 1913 over 1912 was $8,600,854.79, or more than twenty-three per cent.

The total in 1903—only ten years ago—was $19,926,197.55; and the increase in ten years is $25,837,185.03, or nearly ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY PER CENT!

This, be it understood, involves not only the state but the counties, the cities, the villages, the school districts and the townships. Though the state may be and doubtless is the worst offender, the local units are not guiltless, as the remarkably high tax rates in many localities will show.

Of course this is in a way a sign of growth. It is also a sign that tax-levying and tax-spending bodies and officials have not been careful in counting the cost and in keeping track of the pace in public expenditures they have been making.

The startling thing about it is that the present pace in public expenditures is the swiftest yet. An increase of a hundred and thirty per cent in ten years seems startling enough; but the last year's increase is at the rate of two hundred and thirty per cent in ten years.

There must be a stop somewhere, of course. At the present rate of going taxes soon would become confiscatory. And the tendency is the same the nation over.

Surely the time is come, in the state and in each local subdivision, when tax-levying officials must take into account the pace at which this increase in taxes has been traveling, and must reckon how much longer it can be kept up.

Another interesting operatic number would be the swan song of a lame duck.

THE RED RIVER VALLEY SECESSION.

While we wish they had not done it, we also wish the Red River valley counties that have seceded from the Northern Minnesota Development association the best possible success and good fortune; and perhaps it may turn out for good after all.

It is true that the prairie country of Northwestern Minnesota and the timbered and cut-over territory of the north central and northeastern sections of Northern Minnesota are very different in character, and have differing problems. It is also true, as the Duluth News Tribune has said, that it was the cause of reapportionment that first knitted the northern counties together in a common purpose, and reapportionment has been gained.

But our idea has been—perhaps we are mistaken—that what Minnesota needs is not more sectional development enterprise, but more common development enterprise for the benefit of the whole state and of all parts of the state; not more development associations, but less. Or, at least, more harmony and co-operation between the development associations that exist.

For, after all, though representing different sections, the purpose of all these associations is the same—the development of Minnesota, and its glory and prosperity. No one section can help itself without helping the whole state, and the power of all the associations working together will manifestly be greater than their power working separately.

Intimations have been heard that the splitting off from the parent body of the Red River valley counties was inspired outside of Northern Minnesota altogether. We trust that these intimations are unfounded. They appear to be based on the fact that though there was no talk of division at the December meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association, a Minneapolis newspaper predicted that division would occur at that meeting. This perhaps inconsequential fact, and the presumption that the Twin Cities may have viewed with some jealousy the growth in power of the N. M. D. A., appear to be the only foundation for these suspicions. The proof is insufficient, clearly, and it is to be hoped that there is nothing more in it than mere suspicion.

At any rate, there is no occasion whatever for rivalry or unfriendliness between the new association and the old. Their division is in form only, not in spirit or in purpose; and the two associations will be found, we have no doubt, working shoulder to shoulder not only for the old purpose of developing Northeastern and Northwestern and North Central Minnesota, but for the glory and prosperity of the entire state.

And the division adds new emphasis to the need of greater co-operation, in form and in endeavor, between the several development associations of the state. Their purpose, after all, is the same; and they can achieve far more working together than they ever can working separately.

Now comes the statement that the ancient Egyptians invented the tango. Seems as if that ought to open the way to a brand new theory to account for the pyramids and the Sphinx.

SEATTLE AND HIRAM C. GILL.

Three years ago Hiram C. Gill was mayor of Seattle. His policy was liberal—"wide open," indeed. His chief of police was so zealous an advocate of the "open town" that his zeal landed him in jail.

Well, Seattle got tired of the sort of fame that went with the open town business, turned respectable, and recalled Hiram C. Gill. It elected George Cotterill in his place, and settled down to be good and happy forevermore.

That's a motion picture view of the pendulum of public sentiment on this always vexed question in one of its swings.

Sometimes the pendulum stays so long at one side that people get the idea that it is fastened there.

It's a good deal like the average person's view of the universe—that it is a completed and unalterable entity, and that the Creator's work of world-making is done. The processes of evolution are so slow that he does not see them work, and so supposes that they are not working. But they are, just as surely and as effectively as ever.

The pendulum of public opinion on the "lid" question in Seattle wasn't, it seems, stuck tight on the "closed town" side.

After three years of Cotterill and respectability, Seattle at a primary election the other day put Hiram C. Gill on the mayoralty ticket by an overwhelming majority. The election is yet to be held, and the exponents of respectability are hoping ardently—so ardently that it is plain that they are badly scared—that Gill and the "open town" can be beaten then.

The moral? We give it up, unless it is that the average sizable city's respectability is seldom very firmly fixed. On the whole, though, we guess the moral is that the pendulum that swings one way is sure sooner or later to swing back; and the farther it swings the one way, the farther it will swing the other when it swings back.

Maybe, after all, if it can be done the best thing is to get the pendulum in some good position where it is humanly possible to keep it, and then let the clock run down.

Just the same, the final word as to baseball in England will be spoken by Queen Mary.

THE SHORT BALLOT.

The New York legislature is attacking the matter of the short ballot in a way that looks like business; and a mighty sensible business it is.

The old idea that democracy consisted in making every possible public official elective by the people was well meant, but disastrous. Its result was a ballot so complex that only professionals could manipulate it; and the result of this was that while the people were engrossed with the contest over a place or two on that ballot, the professionals slipped their men into the neglected places.

New York has had an interesting illustration of that in its canal and highways scandals. The relation of these scandals to short ballot reform was vividly outlined by Henry L. Stimson in a Lincoln's birthday speech at Utica:

> Today the attention of the state is concentrated on the scandals which have been discovered in our great system of public works, our canals and highways. Did you ever consider that we have been placing the control of these great works largely in the hands of the tail of a ticket—an officer nominated in some back room of a convention after the real business of choosing the head of a ticket had been attended to, and the delegates were ready to leave the supposedly insignificant matter to the determination of chance or locality or favoritism?

So the New York legislature is considering, and is almost certain to submit to popular vote, a constitutional amendment providing that only the governor and lieutenant-governor, among executive officers, shall be elected, and that the rest shall be appointed by the governor, who shall be held personally responsible for their behavior.

If New York does it, other states will follow; and every state should do it.

Why elect others than the head of the ticket, when the head of the ticket is all that the voters pay attention to anyway?

If minor state officers are to be elected by the people, why should not the corresponding officers in the national government—the members of the president's cabinet—be elected also?

And, conversely, if it is safe to leave the heads of the Federal departments to the appointment of the chief executive, why is it not safe to leave to the appointment of the state's chief executive the heads of the several state departments?

The voters can and do consider well their selection of a governor; though even here they sometimes make mistakes, of course. They cannot and do not consider well their selections of minor state officers.

Therefore the wise thing to do is to remove these officers from the list of elective places, and by imposing the responsibility of appointing them upon the governor, thereby also impose upon him the responsibility for their conduct in office.

And that's the short ballot plan in state affairs.

The people of Germany are estimated to have spent about four million dollars for Christmas trees last Christmas. There ought to be a good market in that country for asbestos.

Under the Sun.

Kansas City Star: Some recent writers propose as a remedy for the economic diseases of the time a law limiting private ownership—the amount of wealth one may possess.

"Plato in the laws," says Aristotle in his "Politics," "was of opinion that, to a certain extent, accumulation should be allowed, forbidding, as I have already observed, any citizen to possess more than five times the minimum qualification."

Aristotle gives reasons for and against the idea and leaves one not sure what his own opinion was.

But in the course of the discussion he brings up another moot point of modern times—a dispute between single-taxers and Socialists. It turns on a plan for the better equalization of property by one called Phaleas.

"The equalization proposed by Phaleas is imperfect," says Aristotle, "for he only equalizes land, whereas a man may be rich also in slaves and cattle and money, and in the abundance of what are called his movables."

The modern equivalent of the different views there indicated is that the single-taxers complained of the "unearned increment" to land values, while the Socialists say there are other unearned increments resulting from the control of machinery and the over-accumulations of interest and profits as well as of rents.

But, going still further back than to Aristotle, was it not Solomon who said "There is no new thing under the sun?"

The Supreme Court Bible.

Christian Herald: It is a tiny little book, only five and a half inches long and three and a half inches wide. It is bound in bright red morocco leather, with the word "Bible" printed in diminutive gold letters on the back. But one doesn't see that red morocco cover unless he removes the little black leather slip which protects it. Long, long ago the little red Bible began to show wear and then the black leather slip was made to protect it—so long ago in fact that fifteen of those covers, made to protect the venerated little volume, were worn out in the service. It is without doubt one of the oldest Bibles, if not the very oldest Bible, connected with the government, and is certainly the most historical. It is the book upon which, since 1800, every chief justice, with the single exception of Chief Justice Chase, and every member of the supreme court, has taken the oath of allegiance when accepting his appointment to our highest tribunal. More than that, every attorney who has practiced before the supreme court since that date, 1800, has pledged his allegiance to the little volume. All, with one exception also, and that exception was Daniel Webster. It is told even yet of the supreme court of that day that Mr. Webster's fame as an orator had so preceded him that on the occasion when he came to argue his first case before the court, the clerk, Mr. Caldwell, in his eagerness to hear the great speaker, forgot to administer the oath.

With Thy Brother.

When thy heart, with joy o'erflowing,
Sings a thankful prayer,
In thy joy, O let thy brother
With thee share.

When the harvest sheaves ingathered
Fill thy barns with store,
To thy God and to thy brother
Give thee more.

If thy soul with power uplifted,
Yearns for glorious deed,
Give thy strength to serve
Thy brother in his need.

Hast thou borne a secret sorrow
In thy lonely breast?
Take to the sorrowing
Brother for a guest.

Share with him thy bread of blessing,
Sorrow's burden share;
When thy heart enfolds a brother,
God is there.

—Theo. C. Williams.

A Born Juror.

Pittsburg Post: "One of the talesmen blew out the gas last night," announced the sheriff. "We brought him around, though."

"Which one was it?" inquired the attorney for the defense.

"That pale fellow over yonder."

"Just the man for jury duty," commented the counsel with enthusiasm.

The Man With the Note-Book

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

President Huerta's recent tribute to the power of the press, in the form of an invitation to ten newspaper correspondents to come and tell the truth about Mexico at his expense, ought to be telegraphed over to England. A compliment to the power of the press is, by implication, a compliment to that humble but necessary cog in the great machine, the reporter. Now, in England the reporter, even though he is called a pressman, is not in good repute. And, oddly enough, it is at the hands of his elder brother, the literary worker, that the pressman suffers most. In spite of the fact that for a consideration the well-known playwright or novelist can be induced to write for the Daily Mail and so take the bread out of the reporter's mouth; in spite of the fact that a great many ultimate consumers of royalties began life in the grind of Fleet street, the reporter, as represented in current British fiction or on the stage, cuts a very poor figure. The general conception of him is of a rather disgusting and illiterate little beast with frayed cuffs and a note-book. Mr. Shaw, who ought to know better, has thus depicted him in "The Doctor's Dilemma;" Arnold Bennett, with a kindlier but equally patronizing touch, has drawn him in "The Great Adventure." Mr. Chesterton, in his new play, says: "He's worse than a guttersnipe; he's a Fleet street journalist."

The reporter, though a worm, is a cynical worm, and rarely puts himself to the trouble of turning. He is accustomed to see life from the inside and the underside, and it neither surprises him nor hurts him to be pilloried by the playwright who depends upon him for the half-column puff that makes the box office happy; or the author who entrusts to his imperfectly manicured hands a typewritten outline of his forthcoming novel, with a photograph, taken when the author's hair was not so thin on top; or the society leader who furnishes a list of the guests at her exclusive function; or the clergyman, whom he frequently misrepresents by making the clergyman say exactly what he did say; or the scientist whom he frequently misunderstands, though more honestly, one dares say, than the scientist is misunderstood by his scientific colleagues. Only now and then will the bitterness of the man conquer the cynicism of the reporter; and he will protest as one of the profession has recently protested in the columns of an English publication. He will say that it is not true that, as a rule, reporters come in through the transom on the coal chute; that they flourish big note-books; that they misspell common words. It is true that they do not always wear gloves, as Mr. Shaw accuses them of not doing. Yet why protest? Playwrights and authors will go on portraying the reporter as doing all these things, because the type has become fixed in common thought. It is said that Thackeray began this business of traducing the pressman. Dickens had his fling at him. Since then the type has become as definite as that of the stage Irishman.

If the reporter is inclined to be meek under such criticism, it is not altogether because he is a cynic. He takes it largely as a tribute to his power for good and evil. He recalls that from time immemorial satire has had its fling at every human institution, the church, the army, the doctors, the lawyers, the writers, the poets. Society has appointed agents to help it in the business of being born and dying, in making war, in fighting its legal battles, in curing itself of its diseases, in writing fables for its amusement; and, like every master to his hired man, society cannot refrain from now and then turning upon its hirelings and denouncing them for a pack of inefficient, pretentious knaves. How much more should the master's stick rattle about the ears of the particular hireling who has arrogated to himself the functions of the church, the law, medicine, science, literature, art? The reporter recognizes that a beating is all in the day's work. He is all the more exposed to satire because, by comparison with the power he wields, he is, indeed, a rather insignificant person. He is without the borrowed dignity of magnificent ecclesiastical vestments, without soldier's epaulets, the prestige of the lawyer's robe, the doctor's parchment and mystic language. He is just a chiel—except that he is more often Irish than Scotch—takin' notes. When he prints 'em there is an awful how-de-do. Society knows and resents it.

Outside of England the reporter is much better treated by his prosperous elder brother, the novelist and playwright. In French literature the journalist, as they call him, is very frequently a malignant figure, but rarely a guttersnipe. To the Parisian imagination the reporter is the man who makes and unmakes ministries, drives financiers to suicide, cements or disrupts international alliances, beats open the doors of the Theater Francais for the ambitious vaudeville artists, and has writers and painters eating out of his hand. Here at home we do not concede him so magnificent a role. We have kept some of the ridiculous outward trappings of the stage type—the note-book, the slangy, incisive speech, the all-wisdom. But the favorite hero of newspaper romance and the theater is the Titan city editor, manipulating half a dozen telephones and half a hundred men, issuing his orders in crisp, Napoleonic phrases, or shouting down the tube to the press-room like Richard III at Bosworth field—a magnificent apparition who is quite as unreal as the shabby little pencil pusher of British imaginings, but infinitely flattering to the profession.

His Stenographer.

(As He Dictates to Her.)

Does she love you? Well, I wonder—
Married twenty years, they say!
You, so bald and fat and funny,
Grubbing like a mole for money!
Guess she likes to spend the plunder—
Gee—she knows the way!

She's a grand one—Lord, what dresses!
Handsome, too, proud as a queen—
With her doings in the papers,
Dinners, dances, all the capers,
Likes to lead the show, my guess is!
You're the gold machine!

If she knew you as I know you,
Would she spend it—say?
If she knew each trick and quibble,
Little fishes hooked that nibble,
Business murders—would she show you
Such a grand-stand play?

You're a savage money maker—
Good to her, though, sure—and me.
Kind old pirate! What in thunder
Does she think of you, I wonder?
What neat stories do you take her—
So she will not see?

Of Course Not.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—For many weeks, Charles P. Higgins, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, has been carrying about a verbal message to William Jennings Bryan, without having the heart to deliver it. He fears it will make Mr. Bryan sad and downcast.

The message is from a once successful pickpocket now serving time in the penitentiary of a Western state. Higgins was a visitor at that penitentiary a while ago and the warden proudly introduced the pickpocket as one of his leading celebrities.

As soon as the pickpocket learned that Higgins was from Washington, his face lighted up and he exclaimed: "I wish you'd give my best regards to William J. Bryan when you get back there! He did me a great service once."

It seems that the pickpocket chap was one of several men in his profession who were traveling after Bryan during one of his presidential campaigns, because everywhere that Bryan spoke they found crowds, and crowds were their harvest fields.

Bryan learned that men in his audiences had been robbed, and according to the man's story, he prefaced his remarks at one meeting by a simple word of caution.

"I do not want to see any of our people robbed," said Bryan, "and I suggest that you one and all keep a close watch on your valuables, if you have any with you."

* * *

That was the signal for every man who had money on him to clutch his pocketbook, and in that way the pickpockets were able to tell just where great riches were located.

There was one man in the audience whom they had selected for a victim in advance, because it was known that he had just been to the bank after a large sum of money.

This man was a cautious person to start with, and after Bryan's warning he would not take his hand away from his wallet which he carried in a side trousers pocket.

The pickpockets tried to jostle him and worked every professional device they knew to coerce his hand out of his pocket. But the hand stuck there—until William Jennings Bryan came to the rescue.

Toward the close of the services, Mr. Bryan observed:

"I believe most of you here are in sympathy with what I have been saying. I wish that all who favor the propositions I have been discussing would hold up your hands, so that I can count you."

Then at last the man took his hand out of his pocket and held it heavenward. In fact, he held up both hands, for he was a Bryan enthusiast.

When he put his hand back in his pocket the money was gone.

Senator Kern was talking here the other day to an old friend from Kokomo.

"What's become of Bill Jones?" he asked, recalling a mutual acquaintance.

"Oh, Bill's doing well," replied the visitor. "He bought his wife a taxicab the other day."

One of the leading characteristics of Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer-philanthropist, is his fondness for John Burroughs, the naturalist.

As soon as Ford got rich he became greatly interested in all kinds of birds and he gathered together at his country place near Detroit all the rare varieties of birds he could lay his hands on. This hobby brought him into close touch with Burroughs and Ford thinks Burroughs is about the greatest man alive. As a consequence of this, everywhere that Burroughs goes an auto is sure to follow. Ford instructs his agents in whatever part of the country Burroughs happens to be, to see to it that Burroughs does not have to walk, but has an automobile constantly at his disposal. Just recently when Ford was arranging to go South with Thomas A. Edison to work out some automobilious plans, he made Burroughs promise to go along. His idea was to have Burroughs handy to talk to about birds, to furnish recreation at the close of each day's work with Edison.

Representative William A. Ashbrook of Ohio received an almost tearful letter recently from a woman in his district imploring him not to send any more government seeds or bulbs into their one tranquil home. It seems that Ashbrook, not content with sending a few radish and lettuce seeds, had franked a large consignment of narcissus and tulip bulbs as nuggets of good cheer to a few of the more fortunate among his constituents.

One woman put only part of the bulbs into the ground and put the others away for future reference. Then she hired a new cook, and shortly thereafter gave a big dinner, a feature of which was to be a certain kind of salad containing onions. Many a thoughtful reader has doubtless guessed by now what happened—how the bitter taste of the narcissus bulbs, inadvertently substituted for onions, complicated the feast—and how all was woe.

"We will not care for any more government bulbs," the woman wrote to Ashbrook. "The flowers could not possibly recompense for the trouble we had over the salad."

Where Farmers Co-operate.

Country Gentleman: France has 1,000 co-operative dairies, Germany 4,000, Switzerland 2,000, Denmark 2,000 and Finland 500. There are some 500 co-operative dairies in Ireland, but very few in England and Scotland.

France as well as Germany has a special "permanent committee" to study the question of co-operative grain storing and to promote action.

There are between 600 and 700 agricultural electricity societies in Germany. The cost for electricity to farmers averages 12 cents a kilowatt hour for light and 5 cents for power.

Holland has 500 co-operative horse insurance societies, insuring 70,000 animals, and Belgium 300 societies and 50,000 animals.

Denmark has 1,500 parish horse societies, in which losses are shared by all members.

Belgium has 400 goat insurance societies.

Cow and pig clubs exist all over Europe.

Germany has about fifty steam plowing co-operative societies. Farmers have to wait their turn for the use of the implement.

France has a total of 40,000 agricultural co-operative societies.

In the Balkans, before the war, Servia had 1,200 co-operative societies, Bulgaria 1,000 and Rumania 3,500.

The Father's Surprise.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Widower (to his little daughter, aged 10)—Dora, do you know that Susanne, our housekeeper, is going to be married?

Dora—Oh, I am so glad we're getting rid of the old pelican! Won't it be jolly. But who is going to marry her?

Father—Well, I am.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Good Advice.

Aitkin Republican: The Minneapolis Tribune says: "There are men and newspapers who do not like Governor Eberhart a little bit. They believe him to be the worst 'four-flusher' of a governor the state ever had." Well, why not let it go at that instead of trying to justify his shortcomings?

The Character of the Eberhart Opposition.

Roseau Region: At a meeting held in Minneapolis by representative men from all over the state it was decided to call a mass convention for the purpose of uniting the opposition against the Smith-Eberhart machine. From every part of the state reports come that the people are becoming disgusted with conditions and desire a new deal in the Republican party. Those who are in favor of allowing the breweries, public utilities corporations and other allied interests to control the executive department of this state through their willing agent are well satisfied with present conditions, but those who have no favors to ask are determined to bring about a new deal. When such men as N. J. Holmberg, J. F. Jacobson and Gunnar B. Bjornson place themselves at the head of this movement, you can bank on it that there is "something rotten in Denmark."

If They Don't, Heaven Save the State!

Anoka Union: Does anyone understand for a moment that of all the candidates for governor, any one of them will make any better one than Governor Eberhart has?

Hard to Improve on Dan.

Mahnomen Pioneer: C. L. Hanson of Thief River Falls has filed for the senate, opposed to Dan O'Neil. This is said to be because Thief River Falls failed to land the normal school. One of the reasons that caused Thief River Falls to lose the normal is a display of too much such as this.

The Need of a Change in Minnesota.

Deerwood Times: When one considers the opposition to the present state administration, which makes itself manifest throughout the state through the country press, one cannot help but think that the average voter pays very little attention to the facts put before him by these newspapers. Two years ago, public sentiment was expressed as emphatically by the papers as it is now, and still Governor Eberhart was re-elected by a big majority. Which all goes to show that the average voter does not care to learn the qualifications of the man for whom he votes. He simply votes for this man or that man because someone else does, caring little or nothing for the ultimate result. This year, however, there should be a change. The man who is interested in his own welfare should take time, occasionally at least, to study the present existing conditions and then when it is his turn to register his choice, he will be able to vote intelligently. Minnesota needs a change in administration—not necessarily a political change, but a change in control. Old-line policies are becoming threadbare from continued usage. Like a suit of clothes, they must be discarded, or kept for a future time when there is nothing better available. Machine domination is fast learning that it must bow to the superior strength of public opinion, as expressed by the will of the masses. Don't "vote 'er straight." "Vote 'er right."

Boom for Judge Nye.

Ada Herald: One of the best suggestions made in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor in Minnesota up to date is the name of Hon. C. A. Nye, judge of the district court residing at Moorhead. Mr. Nye is a lawyer of great ability and occupied a prominent position in the legal profession of Minnesota for several years. He has always been a staunch Democrat and would give the party one of the best candidates ever appearing on the Democratic ticket in Minnesota. If Mr. Nye can be induced to file as a candidate the people of Minnesota should vote him in by the biggest majority ever given a candidate for governor.

Ice and Advertising

Sioux City Tribune: Advertising is a science and those who have failed to realize it have overlooked something. Agitation having been started in Duluth for an ice carnival, The Herald of that city raises a protest which is likely to stop the project at its inception.

Duluth doesn't want to advertise itself as an ice palace city. The experience of Montreal is not so ancient but that there is still resentment in that city against the man who conceived the ice palace idea. There was lots of fun at the ice carnivals and they were held several seasons before the business men of the Canadian city realized that they were getting the worst kind of advertising out of them. The fame of the ice palaces reached round the world, and everywhere the impression was created that if you were on a trip to the North pole Montreal would be a good place to pause and recuperate for the final dash.

Duluth should shun the ice carnival idea as Dayton would a proposed flood carnival or San Francisco an earthquake carnival. Something more salubrious than blocks of ice in the dead of winter should be employed to attract attention to the metropolis of Lake Superior.

Eight o'Clock.

Of all the things the clock can say,
The one I do not like
Is "Eight o'Clock," that, twice a day,
The clocks and bells all strike.

For Eight is "Time-for-School," you know,
And Eight is "Time-for-Bed";
And when it strikes, you have to go—
There's nothing to be said.

Sometimes it's "Circuses" at Two.
And sometimes "Matinee,"
And Three o'Clock is "School-Is-Through,"
And Four o'Clock is "Play."

And Five o'Clock, and Nine, and Ten,
Eleven o'Clock and One,
Why, nice "Perhaps-Things" happen then—
("Perhaps" is always fun.)

And Twelve and Six go very fast,
With "Things-upon-a-Plate,"
But soon as Seven hurries past,
You hear the clock strike Eight!

So when I'm grown and have my say,
And help to make things go,
I'm going to take the "Eight" away
From every clock I know!

Planting Seeds.

Chicago Journal: Mr. and Mrs. Jones were very proud and fond of their chickens. Great, therefore, was their consternation when, on coming down the other morning for their breakfast eggs, they noticed that a favorite hen was missing, relates Answers.

"It must have been stolen," said Jones. Just then he observed Brown of next door digging in his garden.

Brown, who was a man of few words, was usually in bed at this hour, so Jones put his head over the wall.

"Good morning! What are you working at so early in the day?" he asked suspiciously.

"Planting."

"Planting what?" persisted Jones.

"Seeds," said Brown.

There was a snort from Jones, who had suddenly seen something.

"Seeds?" he shouted. "Why, that's one of my fowls you're burying, you scoundrel!"

"That's all right—seeds inside!" said the laconic Brown, as he resumed digging.

Appreciating Wilson.

Collier's Weekly: Collier's is in the same position as most of the progressive papers, of which the Kansas City Star is typical. The Star the other day ended a review of President Wilson's achievements during the past year in these words:

> A remarkable man, a great leader, an effective statesman. The country is just coming to realize the quality of Woodrow Wilson.

We wish we had thought of these words first. Looking backward over President Wilson's work at the end of a year, we find it possible to speak of it with unabated enthusiasm.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHERE IS IT?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Lost, strayed or stolen? One perfectly good and well developed Northeastern Minnesota Game and Fish Protective association. Last heard from in company with a proposition to establish a state fish hatchery in or near Duluth. Also accompanied by several other equally laudable projects. Any person having knowledge of the whereabouts of said association or its commendable plans will confer a favor on many interested persons by advising them thereof.

But seriously, Mr. Editor, what has become of the really progressive movement of some of Duluth's sportsmen looking to the better conservation and protection of game and fish? Surely, in this city of ours, with the large territory contiguous, there are men interested enough in hunting, fishing and outdoor sports in general to maintain and support such an organization, even if it did not require so much of the alphabet to designate it.

It would seem to the writer that it might be advisable to invite a revival of the old interest in the objects of the association and keep alive an organization effective in its sphere and of great value to the membership and city at large.

Who knows what has become of the older movement to this end? Yours truly. "ONCE A MEMBER."

SECOND PENALTY FOR SALOON KEEPER

Sholund Draws $100 Fine After His Saloon Is Closed.

Charles Sholund, proprietor of the saloon at 101 East Michigan street, who was arrested in a raid on the saloon ten days ago, when he, John Nelson, another saloon keeper, and two women were taken into custody at 1 o'clock in the morning, was found guilty in police court yesterday afternoon on a charge of keeping open before hours. He was fined $100 or thirty days in the county jail, but on motion of Charles McCoy, attorney for Sholund, Judge Windom granted a stay in execution of the sentence for thirty days.

In addition to this conviction in police court, Sholund's saloon has already been ordered closed by the city commission and his license revoked. No liquor will be permitted to be sold in that building for a period of one year.

When Sholund was arraigned in police court on Feb. 19 he pleaded not guilty to the charge of keeping his saloon open before hours and his trial was set for yesterday afternoon. He was permitted his liberty on payment of $100 bail.

The raid on Sholund's saloon was made at 1 o'clock in the morning, when Sholund, John Nelson, proprietor of the saloon at 21 East Superior street, and Olive Moody and Pearl Smith, two Superior women, were taken into custody by Patrolmen Boland, Cavanaugh, Olson and Clendenning. Officer Boland discovered the party in the saloon and when he notified police headquarters the other officers were detailed to aid him in making the arrests.

Nelson was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness and, pleading guilty, was fined $15 and costs or fifteen days in the county jail. He paid his fine. The two women were released following their arrest on payment of $10 bail each and, failing to appear in police court that morning, their bail was declared forfeited.

EUGENICS "SNARE OF MODERN THOUGHT"

Authropologist Says Man Has Not Changed Through the Ages.

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 27.—Granting eugenics as the greatest snare of modern thought, Prof. A. L. Kroeber of the anthropological department of the University of California declared in a lecture yesterday that the movement was a "joke."

"The American press and public treat it as such," he said.

According to Prof. Kroeber, "individual endeavor and high national ideals are the only things that will make better human beings."

"Heredity," continued Prof. Kroeber, "is the most misunderstood subject under discussion today. Ninety-nine per cent of what is commonly attributed to heredity has nothing whatever to do with it, and is merely a matter of individual or national environment.

"Scientists have run riot with the idea until they fail to distinguish between heredity, which comes from the inside, and inheritance, which like a fortune, comes from the outside.

"Man Never Changes."

"Civilization is an inheritance pure and simple, not caused in the slightest degree by heredity. Civilization has progressed, but man has stood still and probably will always remain the same.

"Alfred Russell Wallace was entirely right when he said that, in spite of the enormous advances of civilization, human intelligence and capacity have not increased in thousands of years. The men of the ice ages possessed the same mental capacities as those of the Anglo-Saxon of today, and until this fact is realized all history will continue to be misunderstood.

"So far as civilization is concerned, there is no such thing as an Anglo-Saxon breed or a white man's burden. Kipling, through his newspaper training, has made himself an effective poet and his idiosyncrasies have promoted false ideas of national philosophy. He did not know what a race civilization meant."

LABOR TO ACT ON HICKEN BILL

Trades Assembly Will Hear Report on Bartender Ordinance.

The Federated Trades assembly of this city is expected to make a protest against the proposed ordinance of Commissioner W. A. Hicken to tax bartenders, at its meeting tonight at Kaimazoo hall.

Committees were appointed at the last meeting of the assembly to investigate the proposed ordinance, and if the report of this inquisitorial body is to the effect that the act would be unjust, resolutions will probably be passed condemning the ordinance.

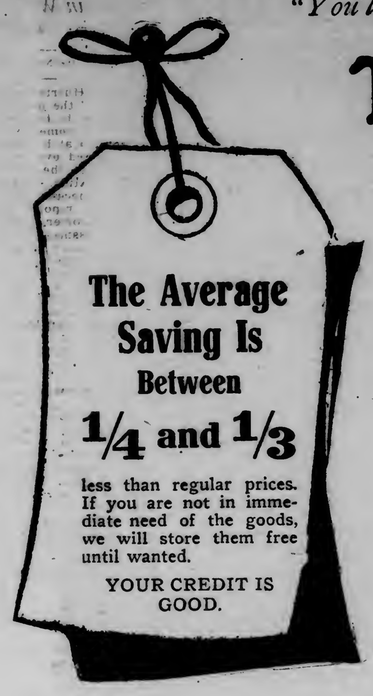

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

IS AGAINST REGULATION

Carlin of Virginia Would Dissolve Oppressive Combinations.

Congressman Talks at Meeting at Philadelphia Academy.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—United States Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire, George W. Wickersham, former United States attorney general, and Representative Carlin of Virginia were the principal speakers at a meeting of the Academy of Political Science here last night. The relation of the Federal government to industrial combinations" was the subject under discussion.

Dissolution and prevention of oppressing business combinations, not paternalistic regulation of great monopolies, is what Representative Carlin thinks will be the object of Democratic anti-trust legislation. Mr. Carlin, who is a member of the house judiciary committee, and who is aiding in the preparation of the administration's program to form trust legislation.

Although the speaker covered the whole field of proposed legislation, he dwelt particularly upon the Clayton-Newlands trade commission bill now pending before house and senate committees, defending the purpose of this measure to limit the scope of the proposed commission instead of giving it the vast powers, including authority to fix prices, contended for by many.

What is Proposed.

"It should be understood that the trades commission proposed by the Newlands-Clayton bill," said Mr. Carlin, "if enacted into being has no such power, no such purpose, no such paternal influence, as is contended for by many, but on the other hand, it is proposed to establish a commission in aid of the economic principle of dissolution.

"The Clayton bill recognizes that the machinery of the courts, and indeed, the courts themselves, are not equipped as they should be to accomplish the most efficient and desirable results. A court, in the contemplation of the dissolution of a great combination, should have the aid of a commission empowered to investigate any matter that may be referred to it by the court when a proceeding of dissolution brought by the government, is pending even including a proposed decree, so that the court in the 'unscrambling of the egg', may have the benefit of the knowledge of a scientific commission in the drafting of an intelligent, comprehensive and efficient decree.

"The Clayton bill meets this necessity, and none other is contemplated, save that of giving intelligent aid to the court when in the judgment and discretion of this tribunal it is desirable."

Interlocking Directorates.

Advocating supplemental legislation to the Sherman law, Mr. Carlin discussed proposed measures to give individuals the benefit of government decrees in suits against monopolies, and to prohibit interlocking directorates.

"The decisions of the supreme court in the Northern Securities, Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, and others along the same line," he continued, "have given splendid effect to the Sherman law; but above and beyond all else, they have established the fact that the relation of the Federal government to industrial combination is now one of a fixed and growing purpose, to restore individual efforts, to encourage honest dealings and trade by big business, and to insure the great body of the people against the tendency to extract from them exorbitant prices for the supplies and necessities of life.

"There has been nothing proposed, and in my judgment, nothing will be proposed, which has for its object the destruction of the game of business, if it may be so designated, but to the contrary, we are simply contemplating changing the rules by which the game may be played with greater fairness by all who wish to enjoy its privileges and its pleasures."

SAGINAW MAN IN EDUCATION OFFICE

Richmond, Va., Feb. 27.—Henry Snyder, superintendent of the Jersey City, N. J., schools, was elected president of the department of superintendence, National Educational association, in session here. Other officers elected were: P. W. Kern, Houston, Tex., first vice president; E. C. Warriner, Saginaw, Mich., second vice president; Mrs. Ellor Carlisle Ripley, Boston, secretary. Cincinnati was named as the next convention city.

The convention's position on sex hygiene in the public schools was set forth in the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we recognize fully the importance of the proper teaching of sex hygiene, but that we believe the ideal place for giving such instruction to be the home; that we believe the school should be willing and anxious to help the home in this matter as best it can, if instruction in sex hygiene is to be given in school by teachers specially qualified for such work."

The convention went on record as indorsing the establishment of a national university.

WISCONSIN BARBERS MUST PAY EXTRA $1

Madison, Wis., Feb. 27.—Barbers in Wisconsin who were granted licenses for $1 by the state barbers' board will, under the opinion of the attorney general announced today, find them to be void unless they pay another dollar immediately. The last legislature increased the license fee from $1 to $2. Without knowing that the fee had been changed, a number of licenses were issued. Mert J. Brennan of Janesville, secretary of the board, brought the matter to the attention of the attorney general.

UNITE LIFE SAVERS AND REVENUE FORCE.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Favorable report on Senator Townsend's bill to combine the life-saving service and the revenue cutter service into a coast-guard service was agreed upon by the senate commerce committee. The new guard would constitute part of the military forces of the country, operating under the treasury department in peace and as part of the navy in war. Provisions for retirement in the revenue cutter service would be extended to the life-saving service.

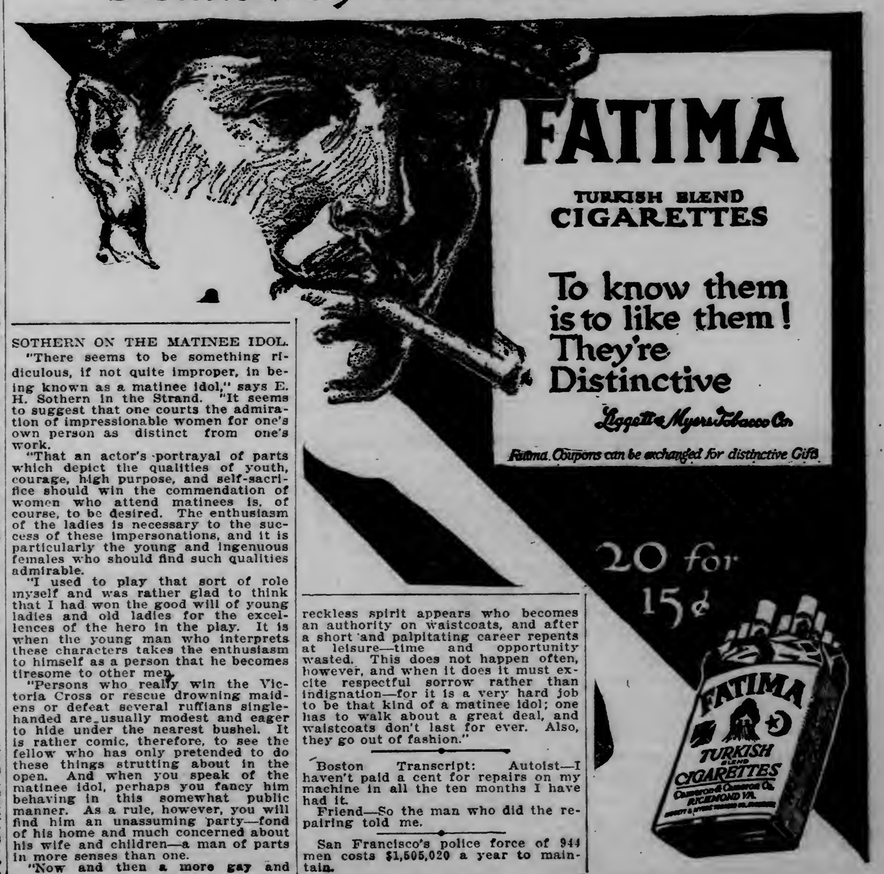

The committee also decided to report favorably Senator Bankhead's bill for four new revenue cutters.

MAKES COUNTERFEIT MONEY IN HIS CELL.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 27.—Such a fascination has counterfeiting for Thomas B. Lanton that, although he is now serving three years in San Quentin penitentiary for that very crime, he has been caught making counterfeit $5 gold pieces in his prison cell. A complete set of tools, molds and a quantity of metal were found hidden.

"The man is employed in the machine shop," said Warden Johnson, "because he is an excellent mechanic, and I presume he made his counterfeiting tools under the eyes of the guards. He has no use for money here, and must have been urged by the pure pride of workmanship."

Distinctively Individual

SOTHERN ON THE MATINEE IDOL.

"There seems to be something ridiculous, if not quite improper, in being known as a matinee idol," says E. H. Sothern in the Strand. "It seems to suggest that one courts the admiration of impressionable women for one's own person as distinct from one's work.

"That an actor's portrayal of parts which depict the qualities of youth, courage, high purpose, and self-sacrifice should win the commendation of women who attend matinees is, of course, to be desired. The enthusiasm of the ladies is necessary to the success of these impersonations, and it is particularly the young and ingenuous females who should find such qualities admirable.

"I used to play that sort of role myself and was rather glad to think that I had won the good will of young ladies and old ladies for the excellences of the hero in the play. It is when the young man who interprets these characters takes the enthusiasm to himself as a person that he becomes tiresome to other men.

"Persons who really win the Victoria Cross or rescue drowning maidens or defeat several ruffians single-handed are usually modest and eager to hide under the nearest bushel. It is rather comic, therefore, to see the fellow who has only pretended to do these things strutting about in the open. And when you speak of the matinee idol, perhaps you fancy him behaving in this somewhat public manner. As a rule, however, you will find him an unassuming party—fond of his home and much concerned about his wife and children—a man of parts in more senses than one.

"Now and then a more gay and reckless spirit appears who becomes an authority on waistcoats, and after a short and palpitating career repents at leisure—time and opportunity wasted. This does not happen often, however, and when it does it must excite respectful sorrow rather than indignation—for it is a very hard job to be that kind of a matinee idol; one has to walk about a great deal, and waistcoats don't last for ever. Also, they go out of fashion."

CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK CHILDREN NEED "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

A Coated Tongue Means Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Listen Mother!

Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has sour stomach, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills. Give a teaspoonful and in just a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food, clogged in the bowels, passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless fruit laxative and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown ups are plainly on each bottle.

Mother, keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Don't be fooled.

FUTURE WIFE'S HEAD FOOLS PHRENOLOGIST.

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—Although Joseph Rowley was able to give lectures on phrenology based on information gleaned through twenty years of service as a barber, he was unable to forecast the disposition of his wife, May, by feeling her head, according to his testimony before Judge Graham. Rowley said that his wife had a nagging temper and that she deserted him.

"Were you able to determine by feeling of a man's head whether you were going to get a tip?" asked Judge Graham.

Rowley confessed that he was not.

The barber, who lives at 562 Hayes street, was given an interlocutory decree of divorce.

COWS INFLUENCED BY SURROUNDINGS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—That cows have temperament and are influenced by environment was the decision reached by Judge Charles Wellborn of the superior court.

Judge Wellborn, in reaching this conclusion, decided that Mrs. J. E. Longacre must keep the bossie she purchased from H. E. Reeves, and if she desires to get more milk than the cow is now giving she must make it happy. The decision of a justice of the peace of Gardena was reversed.

Mrs. J. E. Longacre of Gardena bought a cow from H. E. Reeves when it was giving twelve quarts of milk a day. The cow immediately decreased the amount to five quarts. Witnesses described the change in surroundings and Judge Wellborn said he believed that accounted for the change in the quantity of the milk.

EATER OF DINNER ASKS BIG DAMAGES.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 27.—It is up to the Kansas supreme court to decide what a boiled beef dinner that caused indigestion, if it really did, is worth to its hungry victim in damages.

The district court of Smith county declared it was worth $1,000 and rendered a verdict for that amount. J. D. Manlone, a farmhand, who ate the dinner, thinks he should have $15,000, while Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Jones, who served the meal, and for whom Manlone worked, assert the farmhand should get nothing.

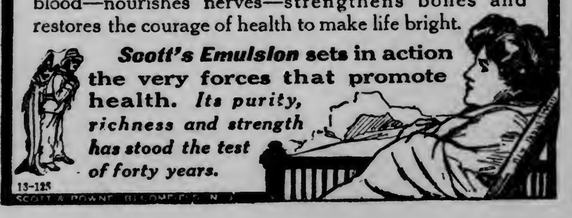

The case has come to the supreme court on appeal by Mr. and Mrs. Jones from the verdict of the lower court.

AFTER SICKNESS OR OPERATION

It is a pathetic mistake to accept drugs or alcoholic mixtures when nature craves nourishment to repair the wasted body and restore the vigor of health.

For forty years the best physicians have relied on the wholesome predigested nourishment in SCOTT'S EMULSION which is totally free from alcohol or opiates.

Scott's Emulsion sharpens the appetite—renews blood—nourishes nerves—strengthens bones and restores the courage of health to make life bright.

USE OF CANAL IS QUESTION

What Will American People Do With the Panama Canal?

Builder of Gatun Dam Presents Interesting Facts on Subject.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Lieut. Col. William L. Sibert, U. S. A., the builder of the Gatun locks, the Gatun dam, the breakwater at Colon harbor and the excavation of the channel between the Gatun locks and the Atlantic ocean, has written an interesting article on the Panama canal, his first contribution on the subject, for the National Geographic society. In his article, Col. Sibert asks this significant question:

"Now that the canal is essentially finished, what are the American people going to do with it? Shall the new markets brought into existence on the Pacific shores of Central and South America by this new cheap transportation route be supplied by the United States or by foreign countries? In my judgment, that depends, more than anything else, upon whether the congress of the United States enacts such laws as will bring into existence a United States merchant marine engaged in foreign commerce."

If there are any people who yet hold the idea that the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific will mingle in the canal, Col. Sibert dispels that idea with the two statements that for about 32 miles the canal is 85 feet above the level of the oceans and that "water will not flow uphill."

Painting the Mosquitoes.

"A little to the north of the Gatun locks the American and French canals intersect," continues Col. Sibert. "Had the French canal been completed it would now be out of date, for its locks would not be of sufficient size to pass the boats that would now offer. In 1912 Gatun had probably the greatest influx of malarial mosquitoes in its history. The sanitary department determined to locate all the breeding places for mosquitoes near Gatun, catch mosquitoes at each place, and after painting them turn them loose, and determine from the color of the mosquitoes caught in Gatun from what point they came. I went down there one morning to see how they were caught and painted. Mosquito bars were suspended from limbs tied up at the bottom. They had thousands of mosquitoes in them ready to be sprayed with a colored liquid, and the sanitary inspector was asked how he caught them. He said, 'We have a more scientific way, but this had to be done in a hurry. We simply let the mosquito bar down, as you would open a bed, left one side of it open, and put a Jamaica negro in there for bait.' As soon as the mosquito bar was full the bait was removed and the end tied up. I saw a Jamaica negro standing there. 'John, were you the bait in that bar?' I asked, and he replied, 'Yes, boss; that is the easiest money I ever earned—10 cents an hour for sitting there and doing nothing but just inviting the mosquitoes in.'

All Ships to Be Towed.

"In case a ship should break the upper lock gates and the Gatun lake should start to flow through the flight of locks to the sea, a swing bridge is provided for each upper lock, by means of which an emergency dam can be built across the locks. It is purposed to allow no ship to go through the locks under its own steam. Towing locomotives, four of them, will run down the guide walls, pass lines to the ship, two forward and two aft, and will then tow the ship into the locks, hold it during the time it is being raised or lowered, and finally deliver it alongside the guide wall at the other end. This is a precaution that has never been taken before in operating locks.

"In the beginning but very little provision was made for quarters for families of canal employes. It soon became evident that order could not be maintained, contentment prevail, and a permanent force kept unless the wives of the men were there; so the commission undertook to build family quarters. It was announced in circulars, etc., that employes would be provided with family quarters within ten months after arrival on the isthmus. Not only all the married men immediately applied for quarters, but nearly every unmarried man on the job applied. Family quarters carried with it free light and fuel. Nearly every young unmarried man the first time he came back from leave brought a wife if he could get one. The building department was consequently overwhelmed and the commission was forced to withdraw its literature and make no promises. An attempt was made after that to provide a certain per cent of the employes family quarters."

HENS PUT TO WORK IN POLICE STATION.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 27.—Mike Peterson and E. Nelson, the latter an ex-convict, were arrested in the Washington market, Thirteenth and D streets, on a charge of selling stolen chickens. Officers Huckaba and Kincaid, who had been watching the men for several days, caught them at 7 o'clock. The men had made sales before, and J. P. Hanlon, 4042 Sheridan avenue, identified chickens sold by the men as his property.

The men were staying at the Idaho house, where they had been for some time. One of the men, said Capt. Fitzgerald, had been talking, and said they got the chickens near Milton. There were fifteen fine White Leghorn hens.

Nelson has been out of prison only a short time, the police say, having been sent to Walla Walla for one to five years for forgery. Peterson has no police record, as far as the police know.

The chickens are at the police station and are much admired by Jailer Murphy and others of the police who are chicken fanciers. Boxes have been fixed as nests for the hens and filled with excelsior, and there is much discussion over who will be the owner of the eggs, if there are any eggs.

WED AT BEDSIDE OF HER DYING MOTHER.

Sturgis, Mich., Feb. 27.—Lying on her deathbed, a victim of the white plague, Mrs. Jennie Birely, aged 48 years, called her daughter, Gladys, to the bedside and said:

"Gladys, I am going to leave you soon. This disease has me in its grip and I'm unable to stand it much longer. Will you grant one request before I die?"

"Why, yes, mother. What is it?"

"I want you to marry Glenn Tattan. I know you love him, and he wants you. I could die happily if I could see you two married. Will you?"

"Why, certainly—that is, I'll speak to Glenn about it."

The following day Mrs. Birely's bedroom was the scene of a solemn wedding. The aged woman, weak from suffering, lay on her pillow and listened as the marriage vows were taken. A smile broke over her countenance. Then she lapsed into unconsciousness and a short time afterward died.

We Promise You Relief from All Stomach Troubles—Or Your Money Back

We honestly believe we have the best remedy in the world for indigestion and dyspepsia. We urge you to try it at our risk. If it doesn't relieve you—as we feel sure it will—we'll give back your money without a word. You know us—your family druggist. You know we wouldn't dare recommend anything we didn't know about, nor dare to break a promise. Therefore, when we recommend any remedy it is because we believe it to be better than any other to relieve the ailment for which it is made, and when we prove our faith in it and our sincerity toward you by promising to give back your money if it doesn't relieve you and in every way satisfy you, you have no possible excuse for doubt or hesitation.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets

are, we honestly believe, the best remedy made for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all other Stomach Ills

We Know They're Good

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, in addition to other ingredients, contain Pepsin and Bismuth, two great digestive aids used by the entire medical profession. They soothe the inflamed stomach, check the heartburn and distress, stimulate a healthy secretion of the gastric juice, aid in rapid and comfortable digestion of the food and help to quickly convert it into rich red blood, and thereby into flesh, bone and muscle. They relieve stomach distress promptly, and, used regularly for a short time, tend to restore the stomach to a comfortable, easy-acting, healthy state. They aid greatly to promote regular bowel action.

Delays Are Dangerous

Don't neglect indigestion, for it frequently leads to all sorts of ills and complications. The pain and discomfort is not the most unfortunate part. The fact that when the stomach is not acting right, the material needed to repair the wastes that are constantly taking place in the body is not being given to the blood either in the proper condition or fast enough is far more serious. Nothing will cause more trouble than an unhealthy stomach. The blues, debility, lack of strength and energy, constipation, biliousness, headaches and scores of other serious ailments result from the failure of the stomach to properly do its work.

You Risk No Money

Our willingness to have you use Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets entirely at our risk proves our faith in them. We always sell them this way, and it is because we know that they have greatly benefited scores of sufferers to whom we have sold them. There's no red tape about our guarantee. It means just what it says. We'll ask you no questions. You needn't sign anything. Your word is enough for us. We know that when they help you you will consider it money well spent even if they had cost you ten times as much. If they don't help you, the money you paid for them is yours, and we want you to have it.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores—the World's Greatest Drug Stores. In convenient boxes—three sizes: 25c, 50c, $1.00

RADIUM AS CANCER CURE

First Suggestion of Imbedding Radium in Bodily Tissue.

Letter Written By Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in 1903.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Washington physicians are wondering if Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and former president of the National Geographic society, was not the first person to suggest the imbedding of radium in bodily tissue as a curative agent for deep-seated cancers. They have discovered a copy of Science of July 31, 1903, in which is a letter written by Dr. Bell to Dr. Z. T. Sowers of Washington, dated July 21, 1903, which they believe to contain the first suggestion for the application of radium in the way that the most recent experiments in the world's scientific centers have proved most beneficial. The letter also appeared in the Scientific American of Sept. 12, 1903. The letter written in Baddeck, N. S., nearly eleven years ago, follows:

Should Be Put in Cancer.

"Dear Dr. Sowers: I understand from you that the Roentgen X-Rays and the rays emitted by radium, have been found to have a marked curative effect upon external cancers, but that the effects upon deep-seated cancers have thus far proved unsatisfactory. It has occurred to me that one reason for the unsatisfactory nature of these latter experiments arises from the fact that the rays have been applied externally, thus having to pass through healthy tissues of various depths in order to reach the cancerous matter.

"The Crooks tube from which the Roentgen rays are emitted is of course too bulky to be admitted into the middle of the mass of cancer, but there is no reason why a tiny fragment of radium sealed up in a fine glass tube should not be inserted into the very heart of the cancer, thus acting directly upon the diseased material. Would it not be worth while making experiments along this line?"

Dr. Sowers' reply follows:

"Dear Mr. Bell: The suggestion which you make in regard to the application of the radium rays to the substance of deep-seated cancer I regard as very valuable. If such experiments should be made, I have no doubt they would prove successful in many cases where we now have failures."

When the letters were called to the attention of Dr. Bell by physicians here recently, he modestly declined to claim that his was the first suggestion. He added, however, that should an investigation prove this to be the case nothing would please him more.

Actual Work Came Later.

While medical men here have not made an exhaustive search to find if Dr. Bell was the originator of the "imbedding in tissue" idea, they believe that actual work along this line did not occur until three or four years later. They cite an article, written by Dr. William H. Dieffenbach of New York, in the Medical Record of Dec. 13, 1913, in which the early steps in the employment of radium as a curative agent are described. Dr. Dieffenbach tells of securing a tube of radium bromide of 1,800,000 activity in 1902 and of additions being made to this amount later. In 1906, he says, solutions of 25,000 activity of radium were dissolved in gelatine, the object being to use an animal product as a vehicle for disseminating radium within tissues by means of injections. The physician, one of the pioneers in this line, fails to state exactly when the actual imbedding of the radium itself first took place. While they have not been able to find exact data on the subject, physicians in the office of the surgeon general of the war department are of the opinion that Dr. Bell's suggestion was the first of its kind to be made.

FAMILY GETS $3,000 FROM A STRANGER

Irishman Interests Himself Because Needy Ones Are Irish.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 27.—A receipt bearing a large seal has been received in probate court from Londonderry, Ireland, as evidence that work of providing something for the widow and five small children of one of his countrymen has been accomplished by Cornelius C. Collins, 2130 Monroe street.

The paper was an acknowledgment that Mrs. Maggie McDonnell of Londonderry, had received $3,000 from the Lake Shore railroad for her husband's death. This was almost entirely the result of the work of Collins, who had never known the husband nor any of his family and had never seen McDonnell until after he was dead.

McDonnell, who gave his name as M. J. Donnell in this country, was killed July 17 by a Lake Shore train. Collins read in the paper of the death of this countryman of his who, the paper said, had no relatives in this country. Collins found the body at the undertaker's, where it was sent by the coroner, got the pallbearers and arranged a funeral service for Donnell.

Collins inquired among the men whom Donnell had been working with on the railroad and found out what his correct name was and where he had come from. Having learned this, Collins found that the widow and the five children were in Ireland. He then had the probate court appoint him as administrator of Donnell's estate so he could take up the claim against the railroad for causing the man's death. The claim was settled out of court for $3,000 and the funeral expenses. Collins sent every cent of the money to the widow and the children.

And he did it all because Donnell was an Irishman in a strange country without a friend.

Pipe Organ Is Rats' Home.

Saginaw, Mich., Feb. 27.—The recent severe weather forced the rats in the auditorium to seek warmer quarters, and as a result the $25,000 pipe organ is out of commission. When the organist sat down to the board the organ refused to respond to her touch. Investigation showed that the rats had eaten away most of the leather in the bellows, built nests in the lower part and had eaten away most of the glue.

PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN DIGESTS FOOD WHEN STOMACH CAN'T---IT'S GREAT

Stops Indigestion, Sourness, Gas and Dyspepsia in Five Minutes.

If you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you need Pape's Diapepsin to stop food fermentation and Indigestion.

It neutralizes excessive acid, stomach poison; absorbs that misery-making gas and stops fermentation which sours your entire meal and causes Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer in five minutes that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that relief is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

WANT ONE-CENT LETTER POSTAGE

Nation-Wide Campaign Is Being Waged to Lower the Rate.

Business men of this city are watching with interest the campaign which is being made to secure 1-cent letter postage. Many are joining with the National One-Cent Letter Postage association, and are assisting the work for the lower rate.

C. E. De Witt, president of De Witt-Seitz company of this city, is taking an active part in the campaign and is urging local business men to give their support to the movement.

"We have been entitled to a lower rate on letter postage for many years," declares Mr. De Witt, who is now conducting a campaign to gain support for the postage association.

"No concerted effort has previously been made to secure it. The National One-Cent Letter Postage association has now taken up the work and has several thousand members scattered all over the Union. This association has for its sole purpose the cutting down of the present exorbitant rate on letter postage.

"In 1843 letters of one-half ounce or less were carried between New York city and Buffalo, a distance of fewer than 500 miles, for 25 cents. Similar high rates prevailed elsewhere. The act of March 3, 1883, established the 2-cent rate, which is still in vogue, despite the fact that the postoffice department makes enormous profits from this class of mail every year.

"In 1912 more than 9,500,000,000 pieces of first-class mail were carried by the postoffice department. The cost of handling and carriage, according to the department, was about $100,000,000. The revenue collected was about $170,000,000, leaving a clear profit to the government of about $70,000,000. A proportionate profit has been made each year of the last score.

"It was never intended that letter postage should pay a profit. The policy of the department, as outlined by the postmaster general, still continues to be that cost of service rendered shall be paid by each class of users of the mails, and that only cost shall be collected from any class.

"At the present rate the department is receiving on first-class mail a revenue of over 84 cents a pound, equal to $1,680 a ton, making a profit of 66 per cent. First-class mail supplies under 14 per cent of the total tonnage of the mails, yet it is required to pay 75 per cent of the total revenue. It has been clearly demonstrated that a 1-cent letter rate will amply pay."

CLINICAL CONGRESS OF SURGEONS JULY 17.

New York, Feb. 27.—Details of a clinical congress of surgeons to be held in London July 17 were brought over by Dr. Franklin Martin of Chicago, the secretary general of the congress, who arrived on the Olympic. The gathering will be held under the auspices of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America and will continue the work and investigation done at the congresses held in this city and in Chicago in 1912 and 1913. Among the thousand delegates expected there will be surgeons from all the principal cities in the United States. One of the principal subjects will be the cure of cancer and the surgical treatment of joint and bone deformities.

MOST SICKNESS COMES FROM WEAK, INACTIVE KIDNEYS

Recent Reports Show Hundreds Suffer With Kidney Troubles and Don't Know It.

There are scores of nervous, tired, run-down people throughout the country, suffering with pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, weaknesses of the bladder, (frequently causing annoyance at night) who fail to realize the seriousness of their troubles until such conditions as chronic rheumatism, bladder troubles, dropsy, diabetes or even Bright's disease result.

All this is due to weak, inactive kidneys. The kidneys are the filterers of the blood, and no one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly. It is even more important than that the bowels move regularly.

If you suffer with such symptoms don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of the new discovery, Croxone, which costs but a trifle, and commence its use at once. When you have taken a few doses, you will be surprised how differently you will feel.

Croxone overcomes the worst cases of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism, because it removes the cause. It cleans out the kidneys, and makes them filter out, all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder, and quickly relieves you of all your misery.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matterns not how old you are or how long you have suffered, it is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today handed down the following decisions:

State ex rel John C. Benson, petitioner, vs. Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, respondent—

Members of the legislature which enacted chapter 400, laws of 1913, are not prohibited by section 9, article IV of the Constitution from becoming candidates for state auditor at the ensuing primary election, there being no increase made by that law in the emoluments received by the incumbent of that office at the time of its enactment or at the time of its taking effect.

Order to show cause discharged.

HOLT, J.

Goodhue County.

Minnie E. Sheets, et al, appellants, vs. Robert W. Ramer, et al, respondents—

1. In a former action between these parties, plaintiffs alleged that defendants claimed title under a deed, that the deed was procured by fraud, and asked that the deed be set aside. Defendants admitted the deed, claimed title under it, and denied the fraud. The reply was a general denial. The court found that the deed was given for a valuable consideration, that there was no fraud, that defendant, Ramer, was the owner in fee of the land, and gave judgment dismissing the case on the merits. In the present action between the same parties plaintiffs seek to ingraft upon the deed a trust in favor of plaintiffs. Defendants answered, pleading the former judgment as an estoppel. The reply was a general denial. It was stricken out as sham.

2. A frivolous or sham reply may be stricken out on motion. A frivolous reply is one that does not in any view of the facts pleaded present a defense to the matter pleaded in the answer. A sham reply is one sufficient on its face, but so indisputably false that it presents no real issue to be litigated. Its falsity may be established by affidavit.

3. A judgment on the merits is a bar to a second action between the same parties on the same cause of action. Although the cause of action is not the same, the estoppel exists as to any point at issue in the second action which was decided in the first. The issue in this case was determined adversely to plaintiffs by the former judgment and that judgment is a bar to this action.

The reply was properly stricken out.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

George Kuehmichel, respondent, vs. Western Union Telegraph Company, a corporation, et al, defendants, Western Union Telegraph Company, appellant—

The defendant telegraph company employed a messenger during certain hours of the day and from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening. One afternoon he was told "there might not be anything after supper and so you stay by the 'phone and if we want you we will call you." At 7:15 he was called by the night operator and informed that there was a message for him to deliver. He responded. While riding to the office on a bicycle he negligently injured plaintiff. The bicycle was his own. He was not ordered to buy it or to use it, but he did use it in the business of the telegraph company, with its knowledge and assent. Held, he was in the service of telegraph company at the time, and that defendant is liable under the rule of law that the master is responsible for the torts of his servant, done in the course of his employment, with a view to the furtherance of his master's business, and not for a purpose personal to himself. The fact that he was told upon his arrival at the office that there was no message for him to deliver, but that he was wanted to relieve the night operator, did not take the case outside of this rule.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

Charles Koury, respondent, vs. C. G. W. Railway Company et al, defendants, Hoy & Elzy Company, appellant, C. G. W. Railway Company et al, respondents—

A finding of negligence which rests wholly upon speculation and conjecture cannot be sustained. In this case there is no evidence tending to show what caused the happening of the accident and it comes within the above rule.

The order denying appellant's motion for a new trial is reversed and a new trial granted. The other orders appealed from are affirmed.

TAYLOR, C.

Ramsey County.

Arthur Slaughter, respondent, vs. Illinois Central Railroad company, appellant—

Action for personal injuries based upon the Federal safety appliance act. The coupling appliances were defective, and plaintiff, in violation of a rule of the company, stepped between moving cars to uncouple them by hand and was injured. The court instructed the jury, in effect, that plaintiff could not recover, notwithstanding the violation of this rule, if, in consequence of the defective appliances, there was a reasonable necessity to go between the cars in the practical performance of his work. It was held in Poppler vs. Soo Railway company, 121 Minn., that such was the rule.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Marshall County.

O. J. Dahl, as father of Steinar Dahl, a minor, respondent, vs. Valley Dredging company, appellant—

1. It is the general rule that a trespasser takes his chances and must look out for himself, and that no duty rests upon the owner so to care for his property that a wrongful intermeddler shall not be exposed to danger.

2. It is the duty of one who invites others to use his property to exercise ordinary care to keep it in such condition that they may do so with reasonable safety.

3. The keeping of dangerous and attractive machinery where children may be expected to play, exposes them to a temptation which, as to those who lack sufficient mental capacity to be conscious of trespassers, is deemed equivalent to an implied invitation to play with it, and imposes a duty to use reasonable care to protect them from injury; but this rule applies only as to dangerous machinery and appliances naturally attractive to children.

4. Where articles in such common use as gasoline, naptha and kerosene are kept in proper receptacles, at a place where it is proper for them to be, and where there is no reason to anticipate that they will be meddled with, the mere failure so to guard them that trespassing children cannot get possession of them does not, in itself, constitute actionable negligence under either the doctrine of the "turntable cases," or the rule applying to explosives.

Winona County.

Johanna Ladwig, appellant, vs. Supreme Assembly of the Equitable Fraternal Union, respondent—

1. After two verdicts for the plaintiff the discretion of the court in granting a new trial for insufficiency of evidence should be exercised with caution. In this case the order granting a second new trial is sustained.

2. The defendant was not entitled to judgment notwithstanding the verdict.

Order affirmed on both appeals.

DIBELL, C.

Hennepin County.

Betsy Trovaten, appellant, vs. Northern Pacific Railway company, respondent—

An action for the breach of a contract by the defendant to convey land to the plaintiff, commenced in 1912, the breach occurring in 1901, is barred by the six year limitation prescribed by R. L. 1905, Section 4076, G. S. 1913, Section 7701.

Judgment affirmed. DIBELL, C.

Hennepin County.

Henry Anderson, respondent, vs. Eliza V Wood et al, appellants—

1. In an action for personal injuries it is held that considering the calling of the plaintiff, and the effect of the injuries upon his future earnings therein, the verdict was not excessive.

2. There were no errors requiring the granting of a new trial.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

Itasca County.

The Gregory company, respondent, vs. Max P. Shapiro, appellant—

1. A contract for the sale of lands, to be valid within the statute of frauds, must describe them with reasonable certainty; but they may be described by reference from one writing to another.

2. Under the statute of frauds, R. L. 1905, Section 3488, G. S. 1913, Section 7003, relative to the sale of lands, only the vendor need sign the contract; and if signed by the vendor and accepted by the vendee the contract is enforceable at the suit of the vendor.

3. The defendant conveyed a one-fifth interest in a state mining lease to the plaintiff, both signing the agreement. The plaintiff, as a part of the agreement, signed and delivered to the defendant a writing which provided that, under certain conditions, the defendant might take back one-half of what he had conveyed, within six months, or that the plaintiff, under the same conditions, and within the same time, might require him to take it back. It is held that there was a sufficient consideration to support the agreement; that the defendant was bound by it, though he did not sign it; that there was no lack of mutuality preventing the enforcement of the contract; and that, there being nothing inequitable in the transaction, the contract should be specifically enforced.

4. R. L. 1905, Section 2493, G. S. 1913, Section 5317, providing for the manner of execution of an assignment of a state mining lease is not a statute of frauds; and contracts relative thereto, observing in their execution the requirements of contracts for the sale of lands, are valid between the parties to them.

5. The provision of the agreement recited in paragraph three requiring the defendant, at the election of the plaintiff, to take back one-half of what he conveyed is enforceable, though the election was to be made within six months, and though the defendant might defeat the right of election by purchasing a one-fifth elsewhere within that period, the intent of the parties being clear notwithstanding the technical inconsistency of the provisions relative to re-purchase and sale.

6. Under the findings and the evidence the defendant did not purchase a one-fifth interest and thereby defeat the plaintiff's right of election.

Judgment affirmed. DIBELL, C.

UNITE FOR PROHIBITION

All Temperance Forces of State Pledge Full Co-operation.

Will Work With Legislature for State-Wide Prohibition.

A union of all the temperance forces, represented by the various organizations in the state, was effected yesterday in Minneapolis at the closing session of the "get-together" meeting which was held for two days at the courthouse. Resolutions calling for a state prohibition law and the referendum and recall were heartily approved.

Duluth was represented by fifteen temperance workers and Rev. Ray E. Hunt, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, presided over the permanent organization. Reports of an excellent meeting were made today by the Duluth delegates who returned home this morning. The delegates were: L. A. Simonson, R. R. Forward, B. N. Wheeler, John Boden, Rev. J. J. Daniels, Rev. Ray E. Hunt, Rev. J. H. Stenberg, C. E. Anderson, Dr. F. W. Bowden, Mrs. E. Gustafson, Mrs. James Cochran, Mrs. A. Jaques, Mrs. Alice Warren, Miss Jessie Mauck and Dr. A. T. Ishkanian.

Addresses were made during the meeting by Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota; Daniel A. Poling of Ohio; W. G. Calderwood, chairman of the state Prohibition ocmmittee, and President Ranklin of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league and others.

The meeting is reported to be the most important of all temperance gatherings over held in this state. Two hundred and seventy-six delegates were present and every temperance organization in Minnesota and various church and young people's societies were represented. Complete harmony prevailed.

W. G. Calderwood of Minneapolis made the arrangements for the gathering and was the prime factor in starting the movement for state-wide co-operation.

TIE COMPANY SUES BANKERS

Would Recover Balance of Sum Left on Deposit.

Claiming that the Merchants' & Miners' State bank violated the terms of an agreement with reference to the disbursement of a fund deposited with it, the Northland Tie company started suit in district court yesterday afternoon to recover $3,282.09.

The tie company alleges that it purchased 2,000 cords of spruce pulpwood from I. L. Lind Nov. 7, 1912, agreeing to pay for it at the rate of $5 per cord. To facilitate matters, $5,000 was placed with the bank with the understanding, it is claimed, that it should be disbursed to Lind in proportion to the delivery of the pulpwood. The bank was to receive a certain consideration for its services.

According to the tie company, Lind delivered 343 cords and received from the bank $1,717.91. It is claimed that the bank refuses to turn over the balance of the $5,000.

AFTER PURE SODA WATER

Are Duluth soda fountains insanitary?

A committee from the Housewives' league called upon City Attorney Harvey Clapp at his office in the city hall yesterday afternoon to represent that they are not cleanly and that in their present condition they are a medium through which disease may be transmitted.

The three women who formed the committee asked the city attorney to draft and recommend an ordinance which will require that the soda fountains be maintained in such shape that they will offer no menace to the public health. Among other things the women said that the glasses are not properly washed and dried; that the fountains themselves do not receive proper attention, and that zinc instead of lead pipes should be required.

They also asked that the city pass legislation requiring proper covering and handling of fruits and food products, particularly during the summer months. The city attorney expressed the belief that ordinances or state laws governing these features are now on the books but said that he would take the matter under advisement.

CONFERENCE ON SUBWAY

West Duluthians Will Meet Railroad Head and Commissioners.

City Is Willing to Hasten the Much Desired Improvement.

A delegation from the West Duluth Commercial club and the members of the city council will meet with W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to discuss the proposed subway under the railroad's tracks at Highland street.

A committee of the club, consisting of W. B. Getchell, David Sang and John Eklund, met with members of the commission this morning to consider the situation. The city officials assured the committee that the city will do its share to secure the improvement with the least possible delay. To that end they have directed the drawing of a resolution closing most of the grade crossings; urging the diversion of traffic to the Highland street route as soon as the subway is completed, and placing the council on record to do all in its power to secure the improvement of the street as soon as possible.

The commissioners went over the ground on foot yesterday morning and a survey of the situation showed that the building of the subway would draw most of the traffic which now passes over several different roads with grade crossings. They felt that most of the crossings would be almost entirely abandoned voluntarily when the advantages of the new route became apparent, and that no material hardship would be worked if most of them were barred for traffic for a period of years.

Commissioner Murchison said this morning that when the property owners along Highland street west of Fifty-ninth avenue west realized that the subway would make the street the principal artery of travel in that part of the city they would probably be glad to have it improved. He expressed the opinion that the benefits and the increased value of their holdings would more than offset the expense of such an improvement as would be necessary.

PROCTOR NEEDS A HIGH SCHOOL

Prof. A. W. Rankin, head of the college of education at the University of Minnesota, was in the city today, having come up to address the residents of Proctor in regard to the erection of a high school at that point. Tonight he will lecture at Carlton at a convention to be held there. Prof. Rankin's advice was asked as to the advisability of putting up a high school at Proctor. He told those interested last evening that there is no doubt but that it should be done. He advocated the erection of a building for high school purposes to cost $40,000 to $50,000.

"Proctor has about forty pupils of high school grade now and with the beginning of the next school year will have fifty or over. At present the high school work is very much handicapped because of the lack of proper facilities. Another thing lacking is industrial training, a rather unusual, and most unfortunate condition for an industrial town. But there are no facilities for this work just now and cannot be without a proper building. "Just what they will do I would not care to guess. It may be that the city will appropriate about $25,00 and get $15,000 to $20,000 from other sources. The town is in the unusual condition of being completely out of debt, and can well afford a school improvement of this kind."

SOCIAL CENTER WILL PRESENT A COMEDY

The Irving school social center Dramatic club will present its first play next Tuesday evening in the assembly hall of the building. The play to be given will be "Fascinating Fanny Brown."

Members of the cast have been rehearsing for the last month and for amateurs have displayed remarkable talent. The play is a two-act comedy in which "Miss Fanny Brown" is impersonated by a boy and makes ardent love to the men.

The cast follows:

Fanny Brown .....Clifford Stowell
Percival Gale.....Charles Everett
Billy Pearson.....Leo Duetsch
Harry Dudley.....Clifford Stowell
Mrs. Caldwell .....Edith McDonald
Audrey Caldwell.....May Norland
Dorothy Dudley.....Pearl Ayotte
Florence Howe....Katherine Connolly
Mrs. Moffatt.....Violet Siddall
Martha.....Dorothy Thayer

GIRL SENDS POLICE MATRON A PRESENT.

So grateful is one of the girls at the Industrial home who was sent there by Police Matron Mary Walsh that she sent the latter a hand-made wicker card basket yesterday afternoon as a token of appreciation. With the basket came a note in which the girl thanks the matron for her interest in her behalf.

EMPLOYE CHARGED WITH PETTY LARCENY

On the complaint of his employer, B. M. Deitz of 28 West First street, who claimed that he had appropriated a sample case and now refuses to return it to him, William Silver, 24 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of petit larceny. Silver pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $20. Silver claims that he is working for Deitz and that the latter owes him money for obtaining several contracts for the enlarging of pictures.

To Decide Auto Run.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargo autoists will decide Monday evening on the route for a sociability run this year. Last year it was to Crookston, Minn. The annual session of the local club will be held and officers elected. N. A. Lewis is the president.

IGNORANCE IS MENACE

Dr. Mary McCoy Gives Candid Address Before Social Center.

That sex ignorance has been the cause of an overwhelming percentage of disease and misfortune and to refuse the teaching of sex hygiene to children is a grave mistake, was the contention of Dr. Mary McCoy in a lecture on "Sex Hygiene" at the social center meeting at the Irving school last night. Dr. McCoy said that men have made a failure of the work of stamping out vice and that the women should be given the job in order that it might be thoroughly done.

"Teaching the children sex hygiene can be made a most profitable investment," said Dr. McCoy. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of medicine or medical attention.

"The froth of the streets and gutter, the unambitious and demoralized louts that throng the streets, a drain on taxpayers and the inmates of penitentiaries and insane asylums, are directly the cause of sex transgressions or sex ignorance. Were it not for the results of sex immorality, deliquents and hospitals would be greatly reduced in number. If absolutely free from disease or effects of heredity brought about by sex immorality, in time, the type of men and women would be so physically perfect that local diseases could make little headway.

Lectures to Students.

"...this subject should be given high school pupils at least twice each term. The lecturer should be plain spoken, of high moral character, good health, a good example of his teachings. Boys don't want to be preached to, but told. Society wrongs them by denying proper knowledge. To avoid a subject so paramount and thinking thereby that it is put aside forever is a grave mistake. Although sex hygiene in school is commendable, there is no place like home for the revelation of the more intimate secrets. Protect the innocent by teaching them.

"Legislation should be provided," continued Dr. McCoy, "making it a legal as well as a moral crime in bringing illegitimate children into the world. Heredity is more manifest because of sex transgressions than for any other cause. Bringing weaklings into the world should be regarded as a crime as well as a sin.

"Women should take up the work. Too long has it been in the hands of men. You see what they have made of it. We should educate instead of legislate, counsel instead of scold, and pray instead of scoff. This is the solution. Were it carried out it would not be long before most vices and evils would be done away with."

"KIDS" ARE STILL THE CHAMPIONS

Frank H. Wade and his "kid" rink again successfully defended the championship buttons of the Western Curling club against Dr. Judson's rink. The final score was 11 to 9 in favor of the present holders. This evening the Wade rink will play Brown's rink for the buttons.

Two other games were played last night. Mallory was defeated by Quinn in the Commercial club event, 12 to 10, and Iltis won from Zauft, 8 to 7, in the Burns event. This evening Olson and Iltis will play in the latter event and Evered and Wieland will play in the Commercial club event.

HAD RELATIVES HERE.

Woodsman Who Died at Bemidji Was Former Duluthian.

The body of Jonas Larson, 42 years old, the woodsman who died Monday in a hospital at Bemidji, after an illness of less than two days, has been identified as that of a former resident of West Duluth. He is a brother of Mrs. E. McAuley and Mrs. W. S. Pollock of West Duluth.

The body will be brought to Richter's undertaking rooms this evening from Bemidji. The funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Oneota cemetery.

Coasting Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schober, 5913 Tacony street, entertained last evening for members of the choir of the Westminster Presbyterian church. The guests enjoyed coasting on Fifty-ninth avenue for nearly two hours following which refreshments were served at the Schober home.

Repairing Church.

No services will be held Sunday at the Holy Apostles' Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street, on account of repairs being made in the main auditorium of the church. The congregation will hold joint services with the congregation of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street at 11 a. m. Sunday, at which Rev. Wilfred Clarke will preach.

Club Will Meet.

Considerable interest will center in the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening. It is probable that a report will be received from H. H. Phelps, a member of the committee which was to investigate the final assessment for the Polk street sewer, and the club will also discuss the proposed damage suit against the Canadian Northern for alleged damages to the No. 8 fire hall.

West Duluth Briefs.

Mrs. C. Chilstrand, 131 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, will entertain tomorrow afternoon for the Small Girls' Sewing society of the Elim Swedish-Lutheran church.

Carl Abrahamson, 2213 West Second street, entertained for the Tango Whist club at his home last night. Favors were won by Anton Johnson and Leo Johnson.

Mrs. J. T. Brandenhoff, 309 North Fifty-ninth avenue west, entertained yesterday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid Society and friends of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

Miss Ebba Sederholm of Ironwood, Mich., who has been a guest at the home of Mrs. J. H. Sederholm, 9 North Fifty-third avenue west, left yesterday for her home.

West Duluth council No. 4, Modern Samaritans, has planned to entertain socially for its members at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms, Monday evening. A program is being arranged.

Rev. Charles A. Scheick of Stoughton, Wis., will preach at both services at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues Sunday. In the morning he will speak on "The Christian's Service," and in the evening on "The Two Minds."

Ladies of the Merritt Memorial church have planned to entertain socially this evening for members of the congregation and friends at the home of Mrs. T. A. Merritt, 2426 East Fourth street. An informal program of music has been planned.

The Citizens' State bank is open for all baking business from 6 to 8 p. m. Saturday evening. Adv.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

HERE is something unusual indeed—speaking of money. Hans Wagner, unpinched by the stern Dame Necessity, failed to draw his salary until the end of the 1913 baseball season. Since he broke into the great national game the bow-legged Dutchman has been setting new world's records; but it is doubtful if he ever set a more unique precedent than the one that shrieks from the high hills—the one of failing to touch his salary until after the close of the baseball season.

The Hope Eternal.

READING in one of the English sporting journals of the exceeding high hopes entertained upon the part of the British toward Bandsman Blake, a fighter, mind, who has been reared, nurtured and kindly cared for upon the other side of the foaming brine, it occurs to us that hope after all is the enduring and eternal quality that buoys beset mankind.

Here during the passing years the British brethren have waited for the coming of a large fighter of promising proportions. Ian Hague, Petty Officer Curran and old Bomb Wells have hastened like the departing guests. And yet with the collapse of these men of straw of the ring the hope of the beef-fed Britisher rides loftily and steadily.

Again we reiterate, it is a great life.

The Dean Is Ailing.

WORD is rushed out of San Francisco that W. W. Naughton, the dean of the pugilistic writers of this country, is seriously ill. Should death touch big Bill with her clammy hand of fate, one of the greatest and withall the most interesting and instructive sporting writers of the day will be removed.

For years Naughton has covered the big fights of the country for a syndicate of newspapers. No big fight was really adjudged complete in all of its details unless Naughton was in the press row where he was tacitly acknowledged as the dean of the press workers.

Harry Weldon was one of the famous old time writers upon the fugitive sporting thought. Death comparatively recently removed from the ranks of the fourth estate Hugh E. Keough. Now comes the news of the serious illness of Naughton. Let us hope that he passes the perils of the valley of imminent darkness.

God Bless the King.

WHILE playing in London the members of the Giants and White Sox took occasion to give his Royal Majesty, the King of England, a democratic shout from the bronzed throats of a crew of American athletes. Introducing Muggsy McGraw.

JOHN J. McGRAW rises in the midst of Paris activities and remarks that Hank O'Day always favored the Cubs, went out of his way to do favors for Murphy and always gave the Chicago team the best of the decisions. One would be exceedingly liable to gather from the remarks of the live leader of the Giants that Murphy was in a way returning unto Caesar the things that were Caesar's.

One of the favorite outdoor sports of Mr. McGraw in the time past has been disputing with umpires. Perhaps McGraw does not in the least love or cherish Mr. O'Day, but he should not be so rude as to intimate that Hank was paid for giving the close ones to Murphy.

Bud Anderson Through.

AFTER receiving one of those disastrously unexpected wallopings that occasionally come at the hands of the novitiate, Bud Anderson has announced his retirement from the ring. Back to Medford, Or., for Buddy. A strong youth with little class—is the answer in the case of Bud. They can't say he wasn't game—and that helps a lot.

The Unkind Word.

IT was an unkind word upon the pernicious part of Charles W. Murphy that angered the present owners of the Chicago Federal team to success, up over the brambles and stones.

These same men went to Murphy with an offer for his stock in the Cubs. Murphy replied that he did not care to deal with messenger boys.

It was one of those unkindest cuts of all that parted James J. Jeffries and Billy Delaney.

Old Bill said something or other about Mrs. Jeff and Jeffries' reply ended the friendship that had been cemented by years.

All of you remember that Delaney was largely responsible for the Reno rout of Jeff, as he appeared in the corner of the colored man.

Proceeding further it is said in various conversational corners that it was a harsh word passed between Murphy and Evers that started the trouble between magnate and manager.

Someone should chase the harsh word into the foothills and tie a rope around its foot.

Away From the Middles.

JACK DILLON of Indianapolis, a sturdy youth withal, has in the past been causing much trouble among the middleweights. Now comes the announcement that in the future bouts the Hoosier will romp with the light heavies.

This indeed will be welcome news to some of the more slender youths of the 158-pound division. Men of the heft of Jack have been in the habit of making weight early in the afternoon and entering the ring somewhat on the order of the march of the elephants.

With Eddie McGoorty gradually outgrowing the middleweight lodge and the Dillon one tarrying not, there will be the open sesame for a championship debate between that flashy pair, Gibbons and Clabby.

Three Cheers for Bill.

WM. P. HART of Eau Claire is, it would seem, the livest member of the Wisconsin boxing commission. Bill is going to take up arms against the promoters who refuse to pay the boxers. Genial and possessing a knowledge of the boxing game, it would seem that the Eau Claire man is one of the real and genuine assets of the boxing game in the large state of Wisconsin.

Some of the others don't seem to be doing so well as Bill.

O'BRIEN SIGNS ANOTHER PITCHER

"Doc" Stanley Attaches His Name to a White Sox Contract.

One more recruit has been signed by the Duluth baseball club. They are coming fast. Yesterday Darby O'Brien closed negotiations with Doc Stanley, a pitcher of a small Wisconsin town, who has been very highly recommended to the Dook by a star player of this league.

Under the circumstances the player doing the boosting does not care to have his name used, as he might have been supposed to have recommended Stanley for his own team.

In discussing the signing of Stanley, O'Brien declared yesterday that the latest recruit of the White Sox club is said to possess a lot of stuff and have all the earmarks of a comer.

AMERICANS BECOME AUSTRALIAN CHAMPS.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 27.—The championship of Australasia was won by the All-American track and field team at Melbourne, Jan. 26, according to mail advices just received, from the antipodes. The silver shield awarded annually to the winning team, however, went to the Victoria state team which made second place, the rules governing the award specifically providing that only Australian teams may be its recipients.

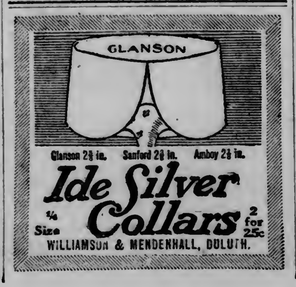

Of the fifteen events in the Melbourne championships, the track classic of the antipodes, the Americans won five firsts, tied for one first, and took a second and a third. They broke three records of the state of Victoria.

W. W. Naughton Stricken.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 27.—W. W. Naughton, the dean of sporting writers on the Pacific coast, was stricken early yesterday and taken to a hospital. It was said his condition was serious. The attack ultimately was diagnosed as one of acute indigestion, with the attendant cardiac symptoms caused by pressure of gas. Mr. Naughton improved steadily throughout the day and his physicians were so encouraged that they predict his recovery.

Will Abolish Betting.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 27.—A favorable report on the Hall anti-race track gambling bill was agreed upon by the house judiciary committee yesterday. It provides for the complete elimination of race tracks betting.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR DULUTH-ST. PAUL GAMES

Local Handball Stars to Meet Apostle Players in the Capital City for the State Court Championship.

The Duluth handball committee announced Saturday, March 7, as the date on which their men are to play St. Paul at St. Paul, for the state championship. St. Paul has defeated the best players of Minneapolis, who are used to playing on the old style one walled court.

The St. Paul players are reported to be in fine fettle and are practicing daily with the ball used exclusively in Duluth. The circus that was to be pulled off this week has been postponed until March 20 and 21, and in the meantime Duluth's handball players will have to advance their own expenses. The players representing Duluth will be chosen from the following: Dr. Floyd Clark, William Wendlandt, Sturm, C. Olson, Dreves, Hanson and Berry, all of whom are in prime condition for the contest. There is some talk of a banquet for the Duluth players on the evening of the events. St. Paul will not come for return games until April 4.

The Duluth volley ball team will play in St. Paul March 6 and in Eau Claire March 7. Needless to say they expect to win every game played.

The handball games will be for twenty-one points each, and the best two out of three to decide. Visitors have the choice of referee and balls to be used. No Class B men will be entered.

TILLMAN BEATS GOODMAN, QUALIFYING FOR BROWN

BY BRUCE.

John Tecumseth Tillman's defeat of that eminent trial horse and globe trotter, Danny Goodman, at Eau Claire, last evening, has started a large crew of stage hands busily at work setting the stage for the contest between Pal Brown and the aforementioned John Tecumseth on the lurid evening of the third of the coming month.

The Abram boys were regretful during the last days that a clause was not inserted in the articles of agreement preventing either of the principals of the meeting of the third from taking part in any bouts before the Superior swatfest.

It was figured out that Tillman might be injured in the set-to with Goodman—well, something else might happen. You never can tell, which was enunciated by George Bernard Shaw some moons agone.

But Tillman, according to the reports wired out of the Wisconsin city last evening, beat Goodman in every round of the ten and is now primed for the meeting with the idol of the ranges.

Brown and Goodman met in Superior before the Heidman bill was passed by the Wisconsin assembly and the ten-round bout was generally acknowledged as rather even, with Brown doing most of the work. If the reports from Eau Claire are accurate in every detail, the Minneapolis youth smeared it over the veteran from Chicago.

Tillman May Surprise Us.

As has been often reiterated, Brown should win on the dope. But dope is fickle and runs not to form. For instance, Eddie McGoorty licked Dave Smith of Australia in a round and then went on later in the land of the antipodes and fought a twenty-round draw with some one that Smith has whipped. Dope is a strange and elusive creature, unconfiding and of eccentric disposition.

Tillman will last the ten rounds with Brown, according to the judges of boxing who have expressed their opinion of the outcome to the writer. Our opinion of the fray is that Brown will beat Tillman—and the win should be decisive.

However, the Minneapolis youth is a comer and his career has furnished one sweet and long succession of surprises. The licking the slender Tillman administered to Johnny Salvatore on the range, when Salvatore was allowed to come in without even saying howdy to a set of scales, was convincing of the worth of the Mill City youngster.

Then came the tilt with Murphy. Here it was predicted that Johnny would get it and "get it good." The swarthy Chicago Italian is truly one tough ring nut. During the ten rounds of going Murphy never hurt Tillman, for the simple reason that he could not get near enough, and upon several well remembered occasions the slashing style of milling of Tillman forced the Wop to the ropes, the target of the uppercuts of John Tecumseth.

Therefore, all angles of the case considered, Tillman may not be the meek and lowly lamb led forth to slaughter. Brown has everything at stake and should go in from the start to show he is a ringman desiring and meriting encounters with the best in the merry brigade of the scrambling lightweights.

JESS WESTERGAARD TO MEET STANISLAUS ZBYSZKO IN DULUTH

Huge Jess Westergaard of Des Moines, Iowa, the placid Swede of the Iowa platte, will be the opponent of Stanislaus Zbyszko at the Auditorium on the evening of Friday, March 6. Westergaard was the original opponent chosen to meet the huge Pole, Dates interfered with the keeping of the engagement. Today came a wire announcing that Jess Westergaard would be able to accept the date and the huge and able 220-pound Swedish champion will be the opponent to face the formidable Zbyszko.

Classed along with Cutler as the best of the American wrestlers, no man of the native mat brood could probably give the large Pole a harder argument than Westergaard.

At present time Zbyszko is laying claim to the championship of the world. The retirement of Gotch from the game makes the claims of the wonderful Pole about the most valid of any of the title contenders. The defeat of the huge Alexander Aberg at Boston last evening further stamps Zby as the best in the world outside of the great and only Frank Gotch, an American citizen of Humboldt, Iowa.

Therefore the meeting between Zbyszko and Westergaard is about the best contest that could be secured for Duluth, for Westergaard stands as one of the very best of the American wrestlers.

Loses Football Man.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 27.—J. A. Gilman, Jr., of Honolulu, tackle on Harvard's championship football team last year, will not be able to play with this year's eleven, it was learned today. Gilman failed to meet requirements in his mid-year's examinations and has been forced to leave college. He will be allowed to return in September, but cannot participate in athletics until he regains his place in scholarship.

FREDDIE WELSH LOSES TO DUFFY

English Lightweight Champion Mastered By Lockport Boy in Every Round—Dundee Shades Pal Moore—Johnson-Moran Fight June 27.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27.—Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, was defeated by Jimmy Duffy of Lockport, N. Y., in an eight-round exhibition fight here last night.

This was the opinion of all the fight experts at the ringside, no official announcement will be made because Duffy had protested against the referee.

It was Duffy's fight from the start to the finish, his left jabs and right crosses scoring point after point.

There was much wrangling before the fight as to the amount of padding on Welsh's hands, and as the result the Englishman was forced to take it off. Duffy also took off the bandages on his hands.

New York, Feb. 27.—Johnny Dundee of New York outpointed Pal Moore of Philadelphia in almost every round of their 10-round contest last night.

Paris, France, Feb. 27.—June 27 was chosen as the date for the fight for the world's heavyweight championship between Jack Johnson and Frank Moran of Pittsburg. This date was set after a meeting between Johnson and the fight promoters.

ZBYSZKO CLAIMS WRESTLING TITLE.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 27.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish champion, claimed the Graeco-Roman wrestling championship of the world last night after defeating Alex Aberg of Finland in two out of three bouts.

PROMISES LIST WILL SURPRISE

Federal Roster of Players Will Be Announced on Saturday.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The names of the baseball players who have signed Federal league contracts will be made known on Saturday. This announcement was made here by President J. A. Gilmore, after a three hours' talk with the backers of the Buffalo Federal league team.

"We have between 160 and 170 players signed and expect to give out a complete list on Saturday," he said. "There will be some surprises, for we have a number of big league men whose names have not been mentioned."

Paso Robles, Cal., Feb. 27.—The Chicago White Sox, who arrived here after one of the most tiresome and adventurous trips ever undertaken by a major league baseball team on a spring training jaunt, began their "workout" yesterday under "Kid" Gleason, acting manager in the absence of Jimmy Callahan.

SAILOR JACK ISSUES DEFI TO KETONEN.

Cass Lake, Minn., Feb. 27.—"I want you to state that I will post $500 that there is not a welterweight in the world that can defeat me. I will let anyone select the man and wrestle him for said amount. I am not a comeback. I have been there the last four years. I don't have to make that statement; the fans in Duluth know better. I have been defeated in the last year, I will admit, but it was by heavyweights. The fact that Jack Harbertson of Ogden, Utah, refused to meet me shows that I am no back number, and, by the way, I will bet $250 that I can beat Ketonen. I don't care if he weighs a ton.

LEONARD CURTIS WINS FROM MARTIN JOHNSON.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 27.—L. C. Curtis won in straight falls from Martin Johnson of the Duluth fire department here last night, gaining the first in 27 minutes and the second in 26 minutes. Johnson was on the defensive the entire time.

Johnson stated to the crowd after the match that he believed Curtis to be the coming world's champion and that he had wrestled Ketonen and believed that Curtis would throw him.

Beloit, Wis., Feb. 27.—Beloit college won the basket ball championship of the Little Five conference last night, by defeating Monmouth college 39 to 17.

Rheumatic Blood—THE Story That Millions Tell—The Way to Prompt Recovery

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is a standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. Attempts are often made to sell something claimed to be "just as good." Insist positively that you will have nothing but S. S. S.

It contains only purely vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable, and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 307 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

AGGREGATION OF STARS ON THE WINNIPEG TEAM

Duluth Hockey Seven Will Meet Canada's Crack Players.

Many Teams Have Contributed to All-Star Lineup.

The members of the All-Star Winnipeg hockey team arrived here this morning, confident of defeating the strong Duluth Curling club seven in the first game of the series this evening.

Composed of the pick of the hockey stars of Winnipeg and some of the surrounding towns, it is expected that the All-Stars will prove one of the greatest teams that has ever appeared on the local ice.

Connors, who plays at goal, has played during the present season with the Civics of the Manitoba and Northwestern Ontario Hockey association. The Civics finished second in the league race, Kenora winning the pennant and are now challengers for the Allen cup.

Before coming to Winnipeg Connors played at Kingston, Ont., and was considered one of the greatest players ever turned out of that town, one of the hockey centers of Ontario. Connors is 22 years of age and weighs 140 pounds.

Laughlin at point is another star of brilliant order. He is twenty years of age and weighs 160 pounds. He was spare man on the Monarchs and played in a number of the championship games of the present season, the Monarchs being the present leaders for the Allen cup. Laughlin played on the Strathconas last year, this team being the winners of the independent city league of Winnipeg.

Goodie is the cover point and was a member of the St. Boniface city team during the present season. He is twenty-two years of age and is one of the giants of the team, weighing 170 pounds. This boy is touted as a wonder and is considered one of the best defense men in Western Canada.

Last year and the preceding year St. Boniface was the winner of the Manitoba and Western Ontario league championship.

Francis O'Connell, the rover, played with the Civics of Winnipeg during the present season, is twenty-one years of age and weighs 125 pounds, and is considered one of the cleverest and cleanest players of all the teams of Winnipeg. O'Connell stands today, according to the Winnipeg opinion, as one of the best rovers in Canada. He is a clever stick handler and always checking back.

Some Real Stars.

Addaway, center, 140 pounds, twenty-three years of age, was the center for the Strathconas this season and has had six years experience in Winnipeg city league hockey. He is a Winnipeg boy and is considered one of the best all-round players ever developed in this great hockey belt. Addaway is classed as a wonder in fast scrimmage work in front of the net.

O'Mera, right wing, weighs only 140 pounds, but is classed as another star. He played during the present season on the St. Boniface College Hockey team, winners last year of the intercollegiate championship. He is twenty-one years of age, is very fast and is considered one of the hardest and most accurate shots on the team.

Clark, left wing, has played opposite O'Mera for two years. Clark is twenty years of age and weighs 150 pounds.

Playing together for two years it is expected that Clark and O'Mera will give a fine exhibition of combination work, for in addition to the team work of this pair, Addaway is one of the best combination players of Canada.

Clark has a wicked shot, shooting from any angle and generally sending the puck along about four inches from the ice.

Turner is the spare of the All-Star combination. He is 20 years of age and weighs 160 pounds. Turner played on the Monarchs last year and was one of the dependable forwards. This years he has been playing intercollegiate senior league hockey, playing on the Winnipeg law school seven, winners of this year's intercollegiate league title.

Manager A. Hargraves of the Civics is with the team, as well as Secretary R. Wightman and W. Lawson and Trainer G. A. Harrison. These men will be with the team on its American trip.

DE PALMA WINS CUP

Defeats Barney Oldfield By Minute in Vanderbilt Event.

Does Not Have Mishap—Only One Accident During Day.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—Defeating Barney Oldfield by a trifle more than a minute in a 294-mile grind, Ralph De Palma, participant in scores of hard-fought motor contests, won his second Vanderbilt cup race yesterday on the Santa Monica course. His time was 3:53:41; Oldfield's, 3:55:01.

Sixteen cars entered the race and only five finished, but from the eighteenth lap to the finish, it was a contest solely between De Palma and Oldfield. De Palma won because he did not have to stop once in all the thirty-five laps of the eight-mile course. Oldfield forfeited what chance he had when he was compelled to stop and change a wheel in the thirty-fourth lap, and lost nearly a minute. The other drivers that remained in the race were W. H. Carlson of San Diego; Earl Cooper, who started a favorite, and George Joerlman, and they finished in the order named.

This was slower by three miles per hour than the course record set by Teddy Tetzlaff when he won a Santa Monica road race, but it was faster than the Vanderbilt cup record of 74.07 miles made by Mulford at Savannah in 1911, and faster than the speed De Palma himself made when he won the cup race at Milwaukee in 1912.

Only One Accident.

There was but one accident during the race. Edwin Pullen, who made one of the fastest laps of the day—eighty-five miles per hour—and was leading in the fourteenth lap, took a turn at terrific speed and crashed into an iron barricade which protected a throng of spectators. The car was wrecked, but both Pullen and his mechanician emerged unhurt.

The day was perfect and the course appeared in excellent condition, but the first lap of the race had not been completed before breakdowns and mishaps began, reducing the number of racers. Seven had quit or been ordered out before half the race had been completed.

Harry Grant, driving No. 1, who was first away, did not complete the first lap; Wishart, who was No. 2, lasted the first lap; Dave Lewis, who figured in a smashup that caused one death in a practice heat last week, was declared out of the race in the second. Marquis, Goode and Pullen followed in order, and then Gil Anderson, who took the lead in the fourteenth and held it to the eighteenth, broke a drive shaft and was forced to quit.

Most of the cars forced out of the race will be in shape to take their places Saturday in the grand prize race, which will cover a distance of 403.248 miles.

De Palma's prize amounted to $3,000. Oldfield won $2,000, Carlson $1,500, and Cooper $1,000.

INSTANTANEOUS FOR 3,500 MILES.

New York, Feb. 27.—The transmission of wireless messages 3,500 miles is instantaneous, in the opinion of Commander Henry H. Hough, U. S. N., who has been in Paris three years perfecting the conditions of the wireless exchange between the station on the Eiffel tower and the government station at Arlington, Va. Commander Hough arrived here as a passenger on the steamship Olympic.

GLAIM LOPEZ IS IN TWIN CITIES

Elusive Bingham, Utah, Murderer Bandit Reported Seen at Midway.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27.—Police of the Twin Cities are searching for a man believed to be Ralph Lopez, the Mexican desperado who took refuge in the mine at Bingham, Utah, after slaying six men. Moses Zimmerman, a horse dealer who met Lopez at Denver, told the police yesterday that the bandit appeared at a horse sale in the Midway district Wednesday.

"I met Lopez several times at the horse sale in Denver last July and I am positive it was he who appeared at yesterday's sale," said Zimmerman. Several of Zimmerman's friends corroborated the story.

Asked by the police why no effort was made to capture the bandit, Zimmerman smiled and replied, "Lopez shoots from the hip."

A few days ago Montana dispatches reported that the elusive bandit-murderer was seen at Billings, Great Falls and other points, while Wyoming also claimed to have him secluded in the mountain fastness of the famous Jackson Hole country.

BEGINS WAR ON FLY IN NEW YORK.

New York, Feb. 27.—While the mercury hovers about zero and snow lies deep in the streets, the committee on pollution and sewage of the New York Merchants' association, has begun its annual campaign against the house fly. In its first bulletin it urges that flies that have been hibernating in the warm corners of dwelling houses be sought out and killed.

"One fly now means innumerable millions later on," says the warning. "The time to destroy the fly is before it has had a chance to lay its eggs."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HOLUM TRIAL DRAGS ALONG

State Has About Concluded Evidence Against Milton Farmer.

Blood on Hatchet Found on Holum Farm Important Point.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—The trial of Matt Holum, alleged wife murderer, which has already continued ten days, may not be concluded till the end of next week. The prosecution may complete its case today or Saturday.

Varied stories told by Holum immediately after the death of his wife have been related by several witnesses. There are material features of Holum's stories that are contradictory, as related by the several witnesses, and on these the state relies to establish a part of its charge against the Milton farmer.

Probably the most important evidence introduced is that relative to blood stains on a hatchet, found on the Holum farm the day following the death of Mrs. Holum, and which the state maintains was used in killing her.

Animal or Human Blood.

Dr. Geo. A. Abbott of the state university, while unable to determine whether the blood was human or that of an animal, declared that analysis showed beyond question the fact that the hatchet had been bloody.

This hatchet, witnesses have testified, had been washed and sharpened up between the time they first saw it, and the time the prosecution got possession of it.

Several gruesome exhibits are included in the number of those introduced. Among others, are bloody garments worn by Mrs. Holum the day of her death.

Holum maintains his wife was accidentally killed by a horse's kick.

EQUITY SOCIETY SCORES MILLERS

New Rockford, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—The North Dakota Society of Equity, in its annual convention here, condemned Minneapolis millers because of their refusal to purchase grain from the Farmers' Selling agency.

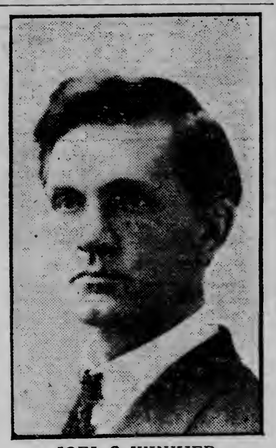

The society also adopted resolutions declaring war against the city of Fargo because of the recent disturbance in a public meeting there. The society threatens now to make a fight on the location of the state fair there, unless public apology is forthcoming.

WINKJER CLOSES DAIRY ADDRESSES

Gopher Dairy and Food Commissioner Speaks at Fargo Meeting.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The most successful dairy convention ever held in the state was concluded here this afternoon with an address by State Dairy Commissioner Joel G. Winkjer of Minnesota.

The addresses during the meeting

JOEL G. WINKJER.

have been of high order and instructive.

Afternoon's Speakers.

This forenoon's speeches were by Prof. Larson of the South Dakota A. C. at Brookings on "Profitable Side Lines for Creameries;" William White, Aberdeen, S. D., Federal dairyman, on "Creamery Conditions in the Dakotas, and Suggestions for Improvements;" R. C. Jackson, Grafton, Federal dairyman on "Remodeling Barns for Dairy Cattle."

The afternoon program provided for addresses by J. B. Irwin of Minneapolis, vice president of the national association, on "Breeding for Performance and Conformation;" John Christiansen of New Salem, on "Four Years of Breeding Circuit Experience in Morton County;" Joel G. Winkjer, state dairy and food commissioner of Minnesota, on "What Minnesota Has Done and Is Doing to Encourage Dairying."

Brakeman Found Killed.

Mankato, Minn., Feb. 27.—The body of James Ingram of Waseca, head brakeman on Chicago & Northwestern Passenger Train No. 481, was found lying mangled beside the track a block east of the local depot at midnight, Tuesday. No one has thrown light on his death. It is supposed he fell from the train.

WANTS CONTROL OF GRAIN ELEVATORS

North Dakota Railroad Commission to Ask for Legislation.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The control of the elevator business in North Dakota on the same basis that the banking business is now controlled, will be sought by the North Dakota railroad commission at the hands of the next legislative assembly, when bills covering the question will be introduced.

Maintaining that intelligible systems of bookkeeping should prevail in elevators, just as they are maintained in banks, the commission also contends that the elevator business is just as important, and probably even more so, than the banking business.

That such legislation would have a particularly desirable effect so far as the business of the independent elevator companies is concerned, is the belief of Secretary W. C. Cushing of the state commission, who has made an extensive inquiry into the subject.

Want Accounts Checked.

Mr. Cushing says frequent calls are made on the commission to send experts to check over the accounts of elevators. The managers of the independent concerns, in many instances, "don't know where they are at."

Dividends are often declared by elevator companies when an accurate system of bookkeeping would show that such dividends should not have been distributed among the stockholders. The result has been that, within a comparatively short time, the companies have found themselves in bad shape, financially.

Legislation that would give the rail commission greater supervisory powers over the manner of business would have a tendency to increase the public confidence in the business. Recent experiences of farmers in some sections of the state have been such as to shake whatever confidence may have existed.

Such new measures as will be proposed by the rail commission, Secretary Cushing says, will not cause any hardship for the affected concerns.

FALL INTO WELL IS NEARLY FATAL

North Dakotan, Half Frozen, Manages to Crawl Out.

Grano, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Falling into a well, feeling his clothing freeze stiff and failing to arouse his family by his cries for help, Jens Christiansen was in a dangerous position. He went into the well to see what was the matter with the cylinder of the pump and took a plank along to stand on. It slipped and precipitated him into the water from which he was able to crawl with difficulty and arrange an insecure perch. The house was closed tightly on account of the cold weather and his cries did not reach his family. Feeling that he would soon freeze to death in his wet condition Christiansen began to climb to the top and finally reached the surface after a desperate effort and crawled to the house.

FORMER CONVICT SUES.

Wants $95,000 Damages From Warden of Montana Penitentiary.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 27.—Oram Stephens, an ex-convict, who was tried and acquitted in a prison break which resulted in the killing of Guard Robinson and the wounding of Warden Conley, March 8, 1908, has filed suit in the Federal court against Conley & McTague, formerly prison contractors, demanding $95,000 damages and alleging cruel treatment and abuse while he was an inmate of the prison, prompted by malice. Stephens filed a suit in the state courts and it was dismissed. The date Stephens alleges he was subjected to cruel treatment corresponds to the one in which Rock and Hayes were later hanged.

Stephens claims right to file suit in the Federal court by reason of his being born in Canada and therefore a subject of King George.

SEEK GILBREATH'S JOB.

North Dakota Commissioner of Agriculture Has Sharp Opposition.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the most eagerly sought state offices is that of state commissioner of agriculture. There are three Republicans and one Democrat prominently mentioned for the place with the Bull Moosers so far unreported.

Brent Anderson of Churchs Ferry is a candidate as an insurgent Republican. He is a Ramsey county farmer and a member of the legislature.

The candidate in opposition to Gilbreath two years ago was S. Hutchinson of Benson county. He is an insurgent Republican and made quite a good race but was defeated by Gilbreath. It is understood he will make another attempt this year.

The Democrats are urging W. E. Byerly of Velva for the position. Mr. Byerly is a Democrat of long years' standing and the hold-over member of the North Dakota game board.

The formal announcement of his candidacy for renomination has just been made by Commissioner Gilbreath. He has served in that position for four terms.

TOO MUCH ACONITE.

North Dakotan, Addicted to Use of Drug, Takes Overdose.

Wishek, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Remer's sudden death was due to accidental poisoning, according to the coroner's jury. He was a farmer living near here and was addicted to the use of aconite when feeling badly and he had been complaining for a day or so and is thought to have taken more than he intended.

VIOLATING MANN ACT.

Is Alleged Against North Dakotan Under Arrest.

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 27.—United States Marshal Shea arrested J. O. Hansel at New England on a charge of violation of the Mann act.

Hansel was charged with bringing Iva Patterson, under 18, from Maryland last spring and keeping her for immoral purposes at his farm at Rainy Butte, and also of bringing the girl from Miles City, Mont., to Dickinson, on Feb. 4.

The girl has made a sworn statement which reveals a revolting state of affairs.

Hansel, who has a wife and children, was taken before United States Commissioner Everett here and placed under a $1,500 bond to appear on March 2.

ELEVATOR BURNED IN NORTH DAKOTA

Northwood, N. D., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eight thousand bushels of grain, mostly wheat, were destroyed when the Heising Grain company's elevator here was destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss of $12,000. While uncertain, it is believed the fire started from an overheated pulley. Two other elevators narrowly escaped destruction.

ALLEGES PRIEST KIDNAPED CHILD

Minnesota Lake, Minn., Feb. 27.—As a result of the disappearance of Russell Laurisch, 10-year-old son of Frank Laurisch of Danville township, the Faribault grand jury will be called upon to make an investigation. A warrant charging Rev. Mr. Holper, pastor of the local Catholic church, with kidnaping was issued by Justice of the Peace A. J. Gerlick following the refusal of Acting County Attorney H. J. Frundt of Blue Earth to issue the warrant, and the justice held Father Holper to the grand jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurisch are separated and Mrs. Laurisch took her daughters and left the town. Her present whereabouts is unknown. Mr. Laurisch kept the two sons. Recently the elder daughter, who is a member of Mr. Holper's church, returned. It is asserted that the two Laurisch boys went to the residence of Father Holper, that there the situation was discussed and that the younger boy left town in a buggy with his sister. The father declares the boy was kidnaped. Father Holper denies that he had anything to do with the boy's disappearance.

BRAINERD MEETING.

Town and Country Co-operation Discussed By Farmers.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the farmers' short course being held here this week there was a general discussion yesterday on "Co-operation Between Town and Country." Addresses were delivered by Clarence Converse, farmer; R. B. Withington, banker; Con O'Brien, merchant; D. A. Haggard, lawyer; Rev. R. E. Cody; Mrs. Irma Camp Hartley, county superintendent of schools; A. J. Garke, county agricultural agent; Mr. Peabody of the Farmers' Clubs; James M. Elder of the Brainerd Commercial club; Mr. Bower and A. B. Hostetter of the extension division; Prof. W. C. Cobb of the city schools; H. A. Lidenburg of the Farmers' Produce company creamery.

The program today includes a conference, held at the Commercial club rooms; horse judging at the stock room by F. White; dinner and question box; discussion on feeds and feeding and balanced rations; conference. At noon a luncheon was served with butter, milk and cream from the cooperative creamery of the Farmers' Produce company; coffee from the Commercial club and baked potatoes, Carman No. 3, Pingrees, Burbanks and Early Ohios prepared by the domestic science classes of the high school. The Northern Pacific railway has done wonders promoting the good points of the lowly potato and the farmers' short course will likewise give the potato the place of honor on the menu.

Lutheran Students to Meet.

Moorhead, Minn., Feb. 27.—Student representatives from all the schools and colleges of the Lutheran faith in the central states will gather in Moorhead March 8 for the annual convention of the students' union of the United Lutheran church. The delegates will be the guests of Concordia college.

Farmers' Theater Party.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—A big theater party will be given Saturday afternoon, February 28, when Con O'Brien and James M. Elder of Brainerd will be the hosts at the Columbia theater and to which they have cordially invited every farmer, every farmer's wife and every farmer's child in Crow Wing county. The tickets will be given out at the morning program of the Farmer's Short Course Week being held in Brainerd, the closing session being Saturday morning.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Fergus Falls—Mrs. Iver Grina, one of the oldest settlers of this county, died suddenly Sunday night from heart failure.

St. Cloud—The capacity of the United Granite company's quarters on Seventeenth avenue north is being doubled in the erection of a new shed, the cost of which, as given in the building permit, is $2,000. According to the information given out, the building will be 84 feet long by 40 feet wide and will be 22 feet in height.

Mankato—H. P. Jensen closed the deal Wednesday for the purchase from Thomas Hughes and W. W. P. McConnell of 127 acres in section 15, township of South Bend, known as the Minneopa Park farm.

Bemidji—Only one change is to be made in the Bemidji police force for the ensuing year, William McCuaig, mayor, having announced that his appointments, which are to be made before the council next Monday night, will be as follows: George Lane, chief; John Zacharias, Jacob Brown and Frank Ripple, patrolmen.

Crookston—The $15,000 paving bond issue was awarded by the city council to Wells & Dickey at par, with a bonus of $7.50 and accrued interest, the company to furnish the bonds at $2 each.

North Branch—At the conference of superintendents which met at Hinckley Feb. 21, called by Supt. Damon of Mora, it was decided to hold the next track and field meet at Mora, May 23. Supt. Damon was chosen chairman and Supt. Ringdahl of Rush City, secretary.

Rush City—There will be a farmers' short course at Rush City March 10, 12, 13 and 14. There will be seven instructors, and a carload of cattle and equipments will be sent by the college of agriculture.

Hinckley—Mrs. Dora Nermic of Brook Park township died Feb. 18, at the age of 74 years and 16 days. She was born in Bohemia in 1848 and was the wife of John Nermic, who died a few years ago. The funeral was held at Beroun, conducted by Father Leo.

Fergus Falls—A double wedding took place here Feb. 24, the contracting parties being Martin Aas of Barlow, N. D., and Miss Nellie Keller of that place, and W. M. Westerhaug of Friberg and Miss Mary Aas of Aurdal. The ceremony was performed early in the afternoon by Rev. S. J. N. Ylvisaker.

Stillwater—The Farmers' Co-operative creamery held its annual meeting Wednesday. Reports of officers indicated a successful year. The new officers chosen were: Edward Ramsden, president; J. F. Larson, vice president; C. J. Hollihan, secretary; William Van Tassell, treasurer. Andrew French of the state dairy department talked on creamery efforts.

Sleepy Eye—Joseph P. Cutting, oldest son of ex-Mayor C. P. Cutting of this city, and Miss Freddie Lucile Hildreth of Williston, N. D., were married in Minneapolis. After a short wedding trip they will reside at Williston, where the groom is proprietor of a drug store.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Appleton—The Masons have progressed far enough with the building proposition to instruct an architect to draw plans for a temple. A meeting will be held next week at which it will probably be decided whether they will commence work in the spring. If they build, it will probably be opposite the new Elks' club.

Ashland—In spite of severe winter weather the Bayfield county bridge-builders are making progress on the head of the bay road. The shorter of the two bridges has been completed and the bridge-builders are now at work on the long bridge over the big slough. A cofferdam is nearly completed for foundation work.

Milwaukee—The second annual report of the Milwaukee Free Employment office for the year ending Oct. 31, 1913, issued by the citizens' committee on unemployment, shows that 29,282 applications for work were made at the office during the last fiscal year. This was an increase of 6,532 applications over the previous year. Of the number, 15,660 positions were secured, an increase of 4,187 over the previous year.

Ashland—A stranger walked into the Hanson Clothing store and bought a suit of clothes, offering in payment a check for $49.30, receiving change amounting to $24.30. The check was signed B. O. Williams, and was drawn on Beachey Bros. of Bayfield, Wis.

Sheboygan—Frank Kohls, an employe of the Sheboygan Gas company, looked for a leak in a gas pipe in the Mission pool hall with a match. He will recover. The explosion caused but little damage.

Oconomowoc—Scout Master A. M. Heederik, recently appointed special field commissioner by the national Boy Scout body, has organized a troop at Hartland and a junior troop at Oconomowoc.

Portage—Daniel Behm, aged 17, son of Conductor George Behm, living on a farm near here, was bound and gagged by two strangers during his parents' absence. They ransacked the home and were frightened away by hearing a farm wagon on the road. They secured nothing.

Madison—Benjamin Bull, '15, was adjudged the winner over a field of eleven men in the junior open oratorical contest held at the University of Wisconsin on Tuesday. M. W. Wallach was accorded second place, and Nat Blart third. All three men are members of the Philemathia Literary society.

Edgerton—John Maltpress, probably the oldest settler in Edgerton, having resided in Rock county sixty years, has just celebrated the ninety-first anniversary of his birth. Mr. Maltpress was born in Witcham, Cambridgeshire, England, in February, 1823.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Mohall, N. D.—An effort is being made to induce the board of commissioners of Renville county to purchase the courthouse building, now under lease for a period of ninety-nine years. The building is owned by an investment company of this city.

New Rockford, N. D.—Evidence of the growth of New Rockford in business importance is found in the report of the local postoffice, in which the receipts for 1913 doubled those of 1912.

Wyndmere, N. D.—The Wyndmere Automobile club was organized at a well attended meeting of auto owners of this district, and plans for active work in the improvement of highways were made.

Larimore, N. D.—Miss Anna Parsons, aged 69, of Larimore, died at the state insane asylum at Jamestown, to which she was committed last fall, according to word received here Tuesday. The funeral was held at Glen Ullin, N. D.

Crary, N. D.—John Ruttan, who raises fine Percheron horses, was offered $500 for a 9-month-old stud colt at the midwinter fair at Devils Lake, but refused to accept because he believes the animal will be worth $1,500 in the next two years.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Petitions for the positions of assistant manager of the baseball and track teams at the state university will be received up to next Saturday by the athletic board of control.

Cavalier, N. D.—The Boy Scouts organized a council here and elected the following officers: President, Prof. Calahon; vice president, John O'Keefe; secretary, R. H. Rygh; treasurer, Rev. Oeder; scout commissioner, Rev. Reed.

Bismarck, N. D.—Richard, the little 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Register, was badly scalded about the face and arms and chest by pulling a pot of coffee over onto himself. For a time the little fellow's life was despaired of.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee — Ed J. Butler, manager of the Ishpeming theater, yesterday secured control of the Star theater, acquiring the interest of both Jafet Rytkanen, owner of the block in which the theater is conducted, and August Allen, who has been associated with Mr. Rytkanen in conducting the house ever since it was opened, two years ago last October.

Ishpeming — Walter Lally, son of Michael Lally, who has been studying for the priesthood for the past twelve years, will be ordained by Bishop Eis at St. Peter's cathedral in Marquette, Sunday, March 8. He will take the orders of sub-deacon in Marquette next Sunday and a week from Saturday, the day before his ordination, he will be made a deacon.

Houghton — Sheriff Cruse is advised by Dr. Campbell, superintendent of the Upper Peninsula hospital for the Insane at Newberry, that Joseph Vidmar, a patient from Houghton county, is to be deported as an undesirable alien.

Menominee — Thousands of pounds of herring are daily being taken from Green bay with nets set under the ice. The fishermen at Menominee are experiencing the best fishing since the bay froze over. The herring run on the average from four to five to a pound.

Marquette — Floyd H. Roach, of the Soo, is here taking the examination for a master and pilot's license at the office of York and Gooding, United States inspectors.

Calumet—James Berryman, an employe of the Hecla smith shop, was painfully injured when he was accidentally struck in the face by a rebounding sledge hammer. His lip was badly cut.

Escanaba—Charged with tampering with United States mail, Michael A. Sullivan, formerly of Laurium, was arrested here by United States Marshal Nick Whelan and lodged in the Kent county jail to await trial in the United States district court. At the jail Sullivan admitted his guilt.

Houghton — Richard Callahan of Hancock won the fat men's race, a feature of the Eagles' skating and dancing party at the Amphidrome. His only opponent was Peter Ostenzie of Hubbell. The distance was a half mile. Mr. Callahan was presented with a gold medal by the Eagles.

Hancock—The entertainment given in this city Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the ladies of the St. Patrick's church was very successful.

Marquette—Charles Perry died Feb. 24 at St. Mary's hospital after an illness of almost two years' duration. The deceased was born in Carleton, province of Quebec, in 1862. He came to Marquette at the age of 20. Two years ago, with his family, he took up his residence at Chocolay. A widow and six children, residing at Chocolay, survive him. The funeral will be held Friday morning.

Negaunee—Mrs. Nestor Tullin died Feb. 24 at her home at the Prince of Wales location after an illness of a month's duration. Mrs. Tullia was 36 years of age and is survived by her husband and a 6-year-old son.

Remedy Used By Three Generations

Mothers Who Took It When Children Now Giving It to Their Children.

There must be genuine merit to an article that has stood the test of two generations of users.

In the field of medicine none has had greater success, nor retained that success to a greater degree, than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is now being used by three generations of people. Its use in families is constantly becoming more general. The reason, primarily, is that it has merit. It is what it represents itself to be, a laxative-tonic; it does not make exaggerated claims nor use coarse language to set forth its virtues.

It is a medicine, but so mild and gentle a medicine that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet, in a slightly larger dose, it is equally effective for grown-ups. It is for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels, for constipation no matter how chronic, for dyspepsia no matter how severe, for biliousness, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, headaches, drowsiness after eating and similar complaints arising from a clogged-up condition of the bowels. It is pleasant to the taste and does not gripe. It can be used with safety and good results by anyone at any age or in any condition of health, and that person's health will improve. Every druggist sells it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

Thousands of families throughout the country are never without Syrup Pepsin in the house, among them Mrs.

WM. ROSWELL TAYLOR.

W. A. Taylor, 717 Lincoln Ave., Beloit, Wis. She has five children and gives Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to all of them as needed. Little William used to cry half the night with cramps and pain, but since being given Syrup Pepsin he does so no longer. The use of this remedy will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts, purgatives and physics generally as they are entirely too harsh. Syrup Pepsin cures gradually, but the cure is comfortable, safe and permanent.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TWO KILLED BY CAVE-IN

William Honey and Angelo Emiggi Lose Lives in Alpena Mine.

Working in Drift When They Are Caught By Falling Ground.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A cave-in in a drift of the Alpena mine, an Oliver Iron Mining company's property underground, one mile north of Virginia about 8:30 last night, cost two lives.

The dead:

WILLIAM HONEY, the foreman, aged 25, married.

ANGELO EMIGGI, miner, aged 44, single.

With another miner, an Italian, whose name does not develop, the two victims were charging a drill hole. The Italian left to recharge his carbide lamp and when he returned he found there had been a cave-in and the two others were crushed under the mass. He immediately gave the alarm and rescuers went to work digging the men out.

Both Bodies Recovered.

Honey's body was uncovered about 10 last night and Emiggi's about 3 this morning. Both were badly mangled. Mr. Honey was an Englishman by birth and quite popular here. He will be buried Sunday following services at the First M. E. church at 1 p. m. He is survived by a widow and a young daughter.

Emiggi was an Italian and had worked here a number of years. He will be buried from the Catholic church, probably Sunday.

Gilbert Miner Killed.

Gilbert, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—Walter Yrjola, aged 22, single, having a married sister living in Eveleth, was caught by a bank cavein at the Genoa pit yesterday and crushed to death. He was working with several other men ahead of a steamshovel when the bank gave way and crushed down on the party without a moment's warning. Yrjola, who was supposed to be nearest the bank, was caught without a chance to escape. The other men made a wild dash for safety and all escaped injury.

VIRGINIA TO HAVE PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Plans for Establishing Institution Are About Settled.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is assured that a parochial school will be established by Our Lady of Lourdes church here within a short time. Father Powers and members of the church have been working for some time on the preparations, which are now in an advanced stage. Several large sums of money have been contributed for the project.

The purchase of the Central school, which adjoins the church on the north, is being contemplated and a committee will probably be appointed to confer with the board of education relative to the matter. The argument is advanced that the board would make a good move in selling the Central school and erecting a modern grade building on the site of the present primary building on the corner of Walnut street and Wyoming avenue. Should the school be established it is thought it would attract many Catholic students from range towns and north country points.

NEW BUCKET CARRIER

Is Invented By Employe of Mine at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. R. Johnson of this city has invented an automatic bucket carrier for use in shaft sinking. By means of his invention the old style chain for bucket carrying is done away with and the bucket is automatically swung into position for dumping and back again. The carrier is in use at the Minnewas mine of the Oliver Iron Mining company, where Mr. Johnson is employed, and is said to work very satisfactorily. Last year Mr. Johnson invented a new switch which is in use at the Norman mine, and he is also the inventor of an extension socket wrench and a circle glass cutter machine, all of which are in use by the Oliver company.

Fined For Deer Killing.

Keewatin, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Roy Knudson, a young farmer from Bear river, was arrested by the chief of police on a warrant signed by the assistant forest ranger charged with having had a deer illegally in his possession. He entered a plea of not guilty before Judge O. J. Reppe of Keewatin, but finally withdrew it and entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $25 and $3.25 costs. The fine was paid.

MRS. HARRIS' GOOD WORK.

Chisholm's Village Matron Faces Exposure to Relieve Suffering.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—The placing of Mrs. Mark Harris on the regular village pay roll as matron to care for poor and distressed families is meeting with general approval by citizens. Mrs. Harris has for some time been actively devoting her time to this work and during the holiday rush was assisted by Mrs. Willard Bayliss. Mrs. Harris drove seven miles in the country a cold day in January and relieved the suffering wife and children of a homesteader who came to town, became intoxicated and permitted his family to actually suffer. The wife and children, poorly clad, were compelled to gather the wood to keep from freezing.

CHISHOLM TO HEAR METHODIST BISHOP

Bishop Quayle Will Lecture There Monday Evening, March 9.

Chishalm, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—Rev. Ralph C. Jones of the M. E. church announces that Bishop Quayle will lecture here Monday evening, March 9, on "Jean Van Jean" either in the M. E. church or the High school auditorium.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Burns, district superintendent, will deliver the sermon after which the second annual conference will be held. Mrs. William Anderson and George Blasing will sing.

NASHWAUK CAUCUS.

It Will Be Held March 3 to Select Candidates.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The caucus committee composed of Oscar Johnston, John F. Ring and John P. Lanto met Tuesday and posted notices to the effect that the village and township caucus of Nashwauk will be held at the village hall at 8 o'clock p. m. March 3. John P. Raattama will seek re-election as president and so far has no opposition. The different offices that will be filled are village treasurer, village clerk, three trustees, justice of the peace and constable.

The township caucus will be held immediately after the village caucus. The offices to be filled in the township are treasurer, clerk, supervisor and road overseer.

The village council will hold a meeting March 2 and appoint judges and clerks for the coming village election.

HICKEN IS PRESENT.

Duluth Commissioner Attends Grand Rapids Lodge Meeting.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Modern Samaritans held the annual installation of officers Monday evening. Imperial Scribe H. J. Achenbach of Duluth, assisted by W. A. Hicken, Duluth commissioner, former imperial scribe, conducting the installation. Following are the officers: Good Samaritan, Evaline Reilly; vice good Samaritan, Maggie Hitzler; past Good Samaritan, C. J. Eller; financial scribe, T. H. Shoaff; levite, Mrs. Della M. Eller; high priest, Mrs. L. R. Billeadeau; chief messenger, Bertha Allen; junior messenger, John Billodeau; centurion, Dr. Jules Gendron; watchman, William Wheaton; organist, Mrs. Iva Riddell. Will Hicken, a son of the Duluth commissioner, was also present and assisted in the ceremonies.

HIBBING VS. VIRGINIA.

Lively Basket Ball Contest Expected When Two Fives Clash.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—More than 100 rooters are expected to accompany the high school basket ball quintet to Virginia this evening to witness the game to be played there. A special car will leave on the Mesaba electric line at 5:30, returning at about 10:30. Some of the local people will take the train to Virginia.

Play Duluth Team Saturday.

Tomorrow evening the Duluth Central five plays here and the locals anticipate a fast contest. The Hibbing team has not been defeated by a high school team this season and believe that if they win the two games this week they will have a right to claim the championship of the range.

TO BEAUTIFY PARKS.

Virginia Pleasure Grounds to Be Improved Next Spring.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Olcott and South side parks will be considerably improved during next spring under the supervision of A. Morrel, a Minneapolis landscape artist, who has been in the city conferring with the park board and who has been instructed to submit plans and sketches at a meeting to be held next month. Work on the swimming pool, which will be located near the Gilbert road south of the city, will be commenced soon. Since the resignation of A. F. Thayer the board has been without a superintendent. Many applications have been received for the position and it is likely that a superintendent will be appointed at next month's meeting.

VISITS VIRGINIA ON GAS PLANT SCHEME

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. P. Smith, a representative of the American Gas Construction company of Newton, Iowa, is here conferring with the city officials relative to the proposed municipal gas plant.

WADDELL MAY YET PLAY BASEBALL

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—That he is not suffering from tuberculosis, but that his weakened condition is the result of an erroneous diagnosis by a Minnesota physician and the attendant treatment, is the statement of Rube Waddell in a letter to Edward Finch, one of the officers of the local club. Waddell in his letter told the circumstances surrounding his departure for the South and is of the opinion that he will again be able to play ball, despite the opinions of the physicians.

SETTLE CASE IN DISTRICT COURT

Damage Action Against Oliver Iron Mining Company Ended.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The damage case of Thomas Drascovich against the Oliver Iron Mining company to recover $10,000 for injuries sustained while working in the Adams mine at Eveleth ended abruptly in district court here today when a settlement was effected. The plaintiff's case had been made when about noon, after respective counsel conferred, Edward Boyle, for the plaintiff, and Mr. Abbott of Duluth, for the defense, it was announced the action would be dropped. The court accordingly discharged the jury. It is understood the company paid $2,000.

Buhl Saloon Keepers Fined.

John Anderson and Frank Letianen, two Buhl saloon keepers, indicted for selling liquor to minors, pleaded guilty today, and Judge Hughes fined them $100 each. Both paid. The court then adjourned until next Monday morning, when the trial of civil actions will be resumed.

ATTACKS POSTOFFICE.

Drunken Man Batters Uncle Sam's Building at Soudan.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dick Scribner was fined $9.50 and costs in a justice of the peace's court at Soudan for battering the door of the Soudan postoffice with a piece of wood while intoxicated. He was also placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace. Later he was placed in jail, awaiting advices from the postal authorities, because he attacked a postoffice building—then he was released because no intent to rob the postoffice was shown.

GRAND RAPIDS FORESTERS INSTALL

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Locksley court, No. 109, United Order of Foresters, held their annual election and installation of officers last Tuesday evening. Deputy Chief Ranger W. H. McMurchie of Duluth was there. The following officers were installed: Ranger, E. C. Kiley; vice ranger, Alice Miller; past ranger, Mrs. Hattie Kearney; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Gunn; secretary, Mrs. Margaret Finnegan; chief archer, Mrs. Lexon; chaplain, Mrs. Katherine Lent; inner woodward, Mrs. Vipond; outer woodward, Thomas Austed.

WILL PLAY BEMIDJI.

Two Harbors Five Leaves for Two Contests in Beltrami City.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The City basket ball team left last evening for Bemidji, where they will meet the basket ball team of that city tonight and Saturday evening. They will return home Sunday evening. The team is handicapped because Fillatrault, the star guard, could not accompany the team on account of not being able to leave his work. His place on the team will be filled by Sullivan. The following players left last night: Woodward, Kernan, Freeman, Johnson, Dwan, Sullivan and Manager Archie Grant.

DRUMMERS TO FARM.

Two Traveling Men to Go Back to the Soil in Itasca.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. C. Tyndall and Henry Hughes this week sold a farm of 211 acres on Bass Lake, near Cohasset to J. E. R. Neeck of Montana, traveling auditor for the Chicago & Northwestern railway, and O. E. Metzler of Savannah, Ill. Both are commercial travelers, but will give up the road and go to farming on their purchase, which is one of the finest pieces in the Bass Lake section. They also purchased all the stock on the place.

NASHWAUK WOMAN TRAPS BIG WOLF

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—While out looking at her different traps, which Mrs. D. A. McLeod had set near their farm, she found a large brush wolf in one of them. The brute was killed by several well directed shots from Mrs. McLeod's rifle.

SCANDINAVIANS TO DISCUSS CANDIDATES

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the Scandinavian club, recently organized, has been called for Sunday, when it is understood action will be taken on the candidates who are running in the village and township elections. It is claimed that one candidate for each office will be indorsed and considerable excitement is anticipated over the choice. As the club numbers some 300 members the indorsement is naturally coveted by all of the men running for the various positions.

HYOMEI RELIEVES

Catarrh, Head Colds, Snuffles Almost Instantly—You Breathe It.

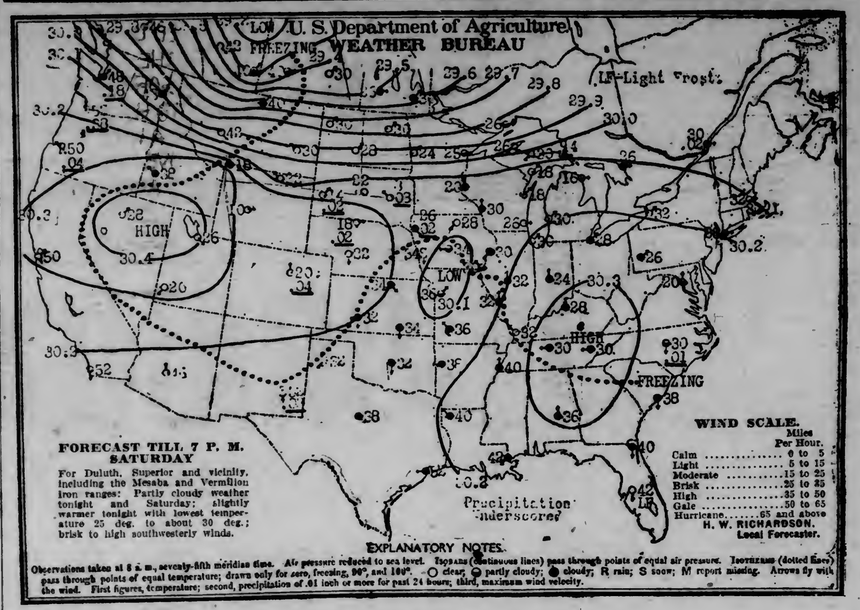

When your head is all stuffed up from a cold or a catarrhal condition, causing you to suffer with dull headaches, watery eyes, constant sniffling, spasmodic coughing, or an itching and burning sensation in the nostrils, you need a remedy that will give the quickest and most effective relief possible—something that will go right to the spot and immediately clear the head and end your suffering.

Use Hyomei—it is just such a remedy—a treatment that is harmless, pleasant to use, and leaves no disagreeable after effects. No round-about method of stomach dosing that takes hours to act. Simply pour a few drops of Hyomei into the inhaler that comes with every complete outfit—which can be had from any drug store—and breathe it. You will immediately feel its healing and health-restoring effect.

The antiseptic and germicidal oils that comprise Hyomei mix with the air you breathe so that this health-giving medication goes directly to the sore and inflamed mucous membrane lining the nose, throat and bronchial tubes—all irritation is quickly stopped, the congestion relieved, and the delicate tissues healed and vitalized. You will feel better at once.

Boyce drug store will refund the purchase price if you are not satisfied. This should be convincing proof that Hyomei is a dependable remedy. Ask for the complete outfit, $1.00 size.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. SATURDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Partly cloudy weather tonight and Saturday; slightly warmer tonight with lowest temperature 25 deg. to about 30 deg.; brisk to high southwesterly winds.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isopars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear, ◑ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

WARMER.

Instead of a drop of 11 deg. last night from the lowest of the night before, there was a drop of only 2 deg., and the melting is still going on today. It is now predicted that it will be still warmer tonight, with the lowest temperature not much below the freezing point.

A year ago today was fair and cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:52 and will set this evening at 6:50 o'clock, giving ten hours and fifty-eight minutes of sunshine, two minutes more than yesterday. The shine hours will pass the eleven-hour mark tomorrow.

Mr. Richardson has the following comment to make on weather conditions:

"Somewhat colder weather prevails in the Rocky mountain region, but elsewhere it is generally warmer. Moderate temperatures are the rule. Light frost occurred at Tampa, Fla., last night. During the last twenty-four hours light rain or snow fell over Quebec, North Carolina, South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico and the coast sections of Oregon and Washington."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Saturday, but with some cloudiness tonight; moderate temperature.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer in north portion tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer in east and south portions tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; moderate temperature.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer.

Montana—Fair tonight and Saturday; moderate temperature.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and probably Saturday.

Upper Michigan — Fair tonight; warmer in extreme east portion; Saturday increasing cloudiness.

WEDS AT COLERAINE.

Miss Anna Olson of Negaunee Fools Friends in Michigan Town.

Negaunee, Mich., Feb. 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—Announcements have been received here of the marriage of Miss Anna Olson, daughter of Mrs. John Olson of Case street, to John Anderson of Coleraine, Minn., at that place Monday. She left here Sunday for the Mesaba range before departing and she told her friends that she was going to visit friends there. Mrs. Anderson will return to the city today. Mr. Anderson is well known here, having been employed in the county for a number of years as a diamond drill runner. He is now employed as a foreman with the Cole & McDonald company and has eight drills under his supervision.

HIBBING PARK BOARD HAS FLOWER PLANS

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for a conservatory in which all kinds of flowering plants will be exhibited, are being made by the local park board, though it has not been definitely decided to incur the necessary expense. The superintendent is preparing the necessary specifications and data and will submit it at a coming meeting of the board. Calls for information regarding the local greenhouses and the park system are being received from all parts of the country and from many institutions.

Soudan Double Funeral.

Soudan, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elsie Silvola, aged 6 days, and Floyd Postainic, aged 1 year and 21 days, infant children of Finnish parents, were buried here early in the week following a double funeral.

Rev. Mapson of Ely had charge of the funeral services of a child of Mr. and Mrs. Puncher here Monday afternoon.

Old Rapids Firm Dissolves.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Feb. 27.—The abstracting and real estate firm of Kremer & King, the oldest concern of its kind in the county, has been dissolved, Mr. King withdrawing to give all his attention to the land office receivership at Cass Lake to which he was recently appointed. The firm started in business in 1891 before Itasca county was organized.

County Woodmen Meet.

Virginia, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county convention of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held here April 1. The county convention is held every three years. At the coming meeting delegates will be elected to the state camp. Local Woodmen are making elaborate plans for the entertainment of the visitors.

Lewis Visits Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. L. Lewis, secretary and publicity agent for the Commercial club, was here Wednesday gathering information regarding the extension of the interurban line from Hibbing as far as Nashwauk.

Tower School Exhibit.

Tower, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Tower school exhibition will be given in the Vermilion opera house tonight. All the grades will take some part in the affair.

Yellowstone Park Trail.

Mobridge, S. D., Feb. 27.—The Twin City Yellowstone Park Trail association met here. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. W. Parmly, Ipswich, S. D.; vice president, F. H. Barnard, Aberdeen, S. D.; second vice president, W. H. McCormick, Billings, Mont.; secretary-treasurer, O. T. Peterson, Hettinger, N. D.

SAW DULUTH IN 1843.

Little Falls, Minn., Feb. 27.—William Dobbyn, father of Supt. F. W. Dobbyn, Wednesday celebrated his 90th birthday. Mr. Dobbyn was born Feb. 26, 1824, in Ontario, Can.

In 1843, when Mr. Dobbyn was 19 years of age he left Canada and came to Duluth and two years later, in company with Lawrence Goodman, made a dangerous overland trip on foot from there to Memphis, Tenn. They carried a small tent, a few provisions and some simple cooking utensils which were packed on the back of a mule.

They started from the old Hudson Bay company's post at Superior and traveled continuously in a region where there were no roads and no white men. They made frequent stops at the Indian villages and obtained the good will of the Indians by making them presents of beads and other trinkets. They had no difficulty in obtaining food for game of all kinds, including buffalo and elk, was plentiful.

Served in Mexican War.

After arriving at Memphis the two friends separated, Goodman going to his home in Wisconsin and Mr. Dobbyn getting employment on a Mississippi flatboat. This boat was owned and run by Abraham Lincoln, and Mr. Dobbyn was well acquainted with the great president.

In 1846 Mr. Dobbyn enlisted in the army at St. Louis and served till the end of the Mexican war. At the time of his enlistment he was running on a river boat from St. Louis to New Orleans. Mr. Dobbyn has also been a sailor on the Great Lakes. After the war with Mexico he returned to his home in Canada, where he has lived ever since until a short time ago, when he came here to make his home with his son.

Mr. Dobbyn, in spite of his great age, is in perfect health, and keeps up on the news of the day, being a great reader of the newspapers.

The Glorious Beauty of Brown Hair

Is the Pride of Those Who Possess It and the Envy of Those Who Have It Not.

The straightest road and the shortest cut to the certainty of an attractive and beautiful appearance is the use of "Brownatone" Hair Stain. This preparation will instantly change gray, streaked or faded hair to the softest and richest golden brown, medium or dark brown or black—just as you prefer.

Be sure when ordering to mention the shade you desire.

Just comb or brush it into your hair.

"Brownatone" will always give you the most pleasing results and you need have had no previous experience.

Impossible of detection, will not rub or wash off, and needs retouching only as the hair grows out.

"Brownatone" hair stain is far superior to "dyes," and is absolutely harmless in every way.

Sold by all up-to-date druggists, in two sizes, 25c and $1.00. If you are offered a substitute, save annoyance by refusing it and ordering "Brownatone" direct from the makers. Insist on "Brownatone" at your hairdresser's.

A trial bottle and interesting booklet will be mailed for 10 cents.

Address The Kenton Pharmacal Co., 415 E. Pike St., Covington, Ky.

Sold and guaranteed in Duluth by Orpheum Pharmacy, Second avenue east and Superior street, Lyceum Pharmacy and other leading dealers.

VINCENT WILL TALK TO YOUNG MEN'S CLASS

JOHN BROWN, JR.

The committee in charge of the banquet, to be given on Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church, is making plans for the entertainment of the guests in general and particularly of its guest of honor, President G. E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota, who will be the chief speaker of the evening.

The banquet will be given by the Young Men's class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school of which John Brown, Jr., is president, and Judge W. L. Windom is teacher. The banquet will be held at 6:30 o'clock. President Vincent will take for his subject "Abraham Lincoln." John G. Williams will be toastmaster. Other speakers of the evening will be Rev. Robert Yost, pastor of the church, and Judge Windom, instructor of the class.

"MARRYING PARSON" TO RESIST RULING

Will Not Abide By Michigan Attorney General's Decision.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opinion by Attorney General Fellows that an ordained minister who ceases to be the pastor of any church and no longer preaches the gospel may not legally perform a nuptial ceremony, is not believed to affect Rev. T. R. Easterday of this city, Upper Michigan's "marrying parson." Should it be contended otherwise and should an attempt be made to enforce the ruling so far as he is concerned, Mr. Easterday is prepared to contest the issue in the courts.

Mr. Easterday is probably the only clergyman in the upper peninsula who does not fill a regular charge and he probably holds the state marrying record. He was ordained a Presbyterian minister half a century ago, since which time he has performed nearly 2,500 nuptial ceremonies. Mr. Easterday retired from an active pastorate years ago and for a long time past he has been Chippewa county's commissioner of schools. He has, however, frequently preached sermons in different churches and he has officiated at many funerals. The veteran clergyman declares he will continue to perform marriage ceremonies as long as he holds license from the Presbyterian church, and there is no prospect that this license will be revoked.

COSTS MORE MONEY

To Handle Turtle Mountain Mail Because of Parcel Post.

Dunseith, N. D., Feb. 27.—The parcel post will result in higher cost of handling the mail on stage lines, and in the Turtle mountain district two services will be abandoned as a result of the advanced cost.

Previous to the parcel post, mail handlers were able to make the trips with but one horse, but since then the mail carrying job has been the work of two horses. The consequent advance in bids has resulted in the announcement that the Juno and Bertha postoffices, supplied by stage, will be discontinued, and the patrons must get their mail at other established postoffice in the district.

CHIPPEWA FALLS FIRE.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Feb. 27.—Fire today destroyed the factory of the Northwood Furniture company, located here. Henry Towle, aged 59 years, an employe, nearly lost his life in trying to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher and was only saved by Thelasphore Picotte, another employe who rushed into the building and dragged Towle to safety. Both men were seriously burned but both will recover. The loss was $75,000 with $35,000 insurance.

RESISTANCE TO DISEASE

Why is it that one person can work all day standing in cold water, slush and snow with no harmful effect, while another with less exposure contracts colds, pneumonia, rheumatism, sciatica or something equally distressing and dangerous.

Because in the first case the body was in such perfect balance that there was "resistance" to disease. In the second there was lack of tone that invited ill health.

Keep your system toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no fears of rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly to be dreaded.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of face and lips that are the results of thin, impure blood.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

Send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

HAUGEN WINS SKI HONORS

Milwaukee Rider Defeats World's Champion at Mount Horeb.

Mount Horeb, Wis., Feb. 27.—Chicago, Milwaukee, Stoughton and Minneapolis skiers won honors in the first national ski tourney held on the new steel ski trestle here yesterday afternoon. Ragnar Omtvedt, world's professional champion, found all of a match in Torleif Knutsen, recent arrival from Europe and famous world skier. Knutson outpointed Omtvedt in the regular event and won the longest standing jump contest. Omtvedt made the longest jump of the day when he scored 130 feet but failed to stand. Anders Haugen of Milwaukee won the professional event with leaps of 115 and 125 feet and a total of 270 1-3 points. Knutson was second and Omtvedt third.

Andrew Olson of Iola came up as a dark horse when he won both amateur events with leaps of 104 and 104 feet and one of 110 in the longest standing jump contest.

More than 4,000 attended the meet. Among these were several state officers. A special from Madison carried over 700.

Mild weather made the snow sticky and prevented longer jumps.

The summaries are as follows:

Professional Class.

	1st. Jump.	2nd. Jump.	Points. Total.
Anders Haugen, Milwaukee	125	115	270 1-3
Thorleif Knutson, Chicago	117	120	266 1-3
Ragnar Omtvedt, Chicago	116	116	261 1-3
Ottar Landvik, Stoughton	110	105	244 1-3
Carl Ek, Red Wing, Minn.	102	100	220 1-3
Barney Riley, Mt. Horeb	120	110	211 1-3
Harris Anderson, Red Wing, M.	114	111	208 2-3

Longest Standing Jump.
Won by Torleif Knutson, Chicago, 116 feet.

Amateur Class Events.

	1st. Jump.	2nd. Jump.	Points. Total.
Anders Olson, Iola	104	104	235 2-3
Oscar Sundby, Stanghton	95	106	229 1-3
George Campen, Madison	92	95	214 1-3
M. Sundby, Stoughton	93	95	214
Hans Hanson, Minneapolis	92	91	212
Alvin Anderson, Minneapolis	91	98	174 1-3
Alfred Skau, Stoughton	92	92	170 1-3
Jack Beard, Madison	94	103	157 1-3
Otto Smithborg, Mt. Horeb	89	78	149

Longest Standing Jump.
Won by Andeta Olson, Iola, 110 feet.

CLASSY NAGS ARE ENTERED

Jim Henderson, Maxie C, Boy Prince, Shamrock, Dimple Foster and Dean Oakley will pace a three-in-five half-mile heat contest tomorrow afternoon on the lake course.

With so classy a bunch of nags facing the starter, the interest among local horsemen in the outcome of the contest is very keen.

As the races stand at the present time Dean Oakley and Jim Henderson have won a contest apiece. The win of the green Jim Henderson was the sensation of the season in racing circles at the Head of the Lakes and has furnished food for much gossip and deep thought.

Whether the Duluth horse can repeat the feat of defeating such classy entrants as Dean Oakley and Boy Prince, is a matter of some doubt among the local followers of horse flesh. The question as to what Jim Henderson will do in the races of tomorrow is furnishing the chief point of interest.

The races will be called at 2 o'clock and will be regular contests in the series of races that are being held for the possession of the trophy offered by the United States Horseshoe company.

CROSBY TEAM WINS CUYUNA CHAMPIONSHIP

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 27.—The Crosby city basket ball team cinched the championship of the Cuyuna range Wednesday evening by defeating the Aitkin city team, 26 to 25.

The game was fast and was only decided in the last minute of play.

The lineup was as follows:

Crosby—		Aitkin—
Elder	rf	Magnus
Lovdahl	lf	Ellis
Hudson	c	Becker
Regan	rg	McMonagle
Gaylord, Nelson	lg	Murphy

Summary: Field goals—Elder, 11; Hudson, 9; Lovdahl, 2; Magnus, 4; Ellis, 2; Murphy, 1; McMonagle, 1. Fouls—Elden, 3; Magnus, 6.

On these two victories and a defeat of Brainerd Y. M. C. A., Crosby bases her claim to the title.

NO PLAYERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED YET

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Federal league owners gathered here today for their meeting tomorrow. President Gilmore, who returned from Buffalo this morning, said that no complete roster of the league's ball players would be given out then, the owners having concluded to announce them team by team.

Some of the teams still are negotiating for players whose names they wish in the roster when it finally is published. In this connection, President Weeghman of the Chicago club, hinted that he was averse to naming his players until he had met the world's tourists on their arrival at New York. The Federal leaguers, it is understood, are confident that some of their offers to tourists, among them Speaker, Crawford, Wingo and Doolan, will not go unheeded.

Larry Schafly, manager of the Buffalo Federals, and Will Bradly, who was to have been manager of Toronto, were among the early arrivals today. Bradley signed to play for the league, and has not been assigned to any team.

Gun Club's Annual.

The annual meeting of the Duluth Gun club will be held at the Commercial club rooms on Monday evening. At this time officers will be elected and other business transacted. Arrangements will be made for the summer's trap shooting, also.

"Y" Quints Will Play.

The Commercial league basket ball games will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight. The Duluth Universals will play the Kelley Hardwares and the Glass Blocks will play the Lake Hardwares.

CITY EDITOR AND REPORTER FINED

New York, Feb. 27.—George Burdick, city editor, and William Curtin, ship news reporter, for the New York Tribune, were adjudged in contempt by Federal Judge Hand today for having refused recently to answer questions concerning their source of information relative to smuggling cases, accounts of which their paper printed. Each was fined $500, but the court said the defendants would have opportunity to purge themselves should they desire to answer the questions before another grand jury.

GETS AWAY FROM DEPUTY

Prisoner Escapes While Being Taken to the State Reformatory.

While being transported from Duluth to the state reformatory at St. Cloud, Mike Grbich, 24, one of a trio of highwaymen who were convicted in district court at the January term of court, escaped a deputy sheriff and is now at large, according to advices received here yesterday afternoon. Sheriff John R. Meining confirmed the report this morning.

Grbich and one Frank Jacobs, under sentence to the state reformatory for assault in the second degree, were in the custody of the officer, at the time Grbich broke away. Jacobs, so far as can be learned, did not attempt to escape. From all that can be learned of the affair at the sheriff's office today, the escape took place between Brainerd and St. Cloud. Sheriff Meining stated that he had received no details.

Grbich and two other men, Frank Liman and Joe Vaska, were convicted on Jan. 23 of having held up and robbed John Sparski of $25 at Eighth avenue west and Superior street on the evening of Jan. 7. All were sentenced to St. Cloud. The three men were believed by the police to belong to a crowd of seven gangsters who came to Duluth from Chicago several weeks ago.

When brought before the court for sentence, Grbich stoutly maintained his innocence.

RAILROADS PAY STATE $245,817.70

St. Paul Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seven railroads paid gross earnings taxes aggregating $245,817.70 to State Treasurer Walter J. Smith today. The roads are:

Chicago & Northwestern, $110,018.35.
Missabe railroad, $11,391.20.
Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba, $950.55.
Chicago, Great Western, $69,780.66.
Fargo & Moorhead Street Railway company, $260.64.
Duluth & Northeastern, $6,358.80.
St. Paul Bridge & Terminal, $5,308.29.
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, $41,-791.76.

ITALY WILL SEND AN EXHIBIT, IF---

Rome, Feb. 27.—The intention of Italy to participate officially in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco was communicated today to Thomas Nelson Page, United States ambassador to Italy. The notification to the ambassador, however, differs considerably from that made to Ira Nelson Morris, the commissioner from the exposition, which was absolutely unconditional.

The note to Ambassador Page contains the reserve clause that Italy could not exercise the friendly act of participating in the exposition if, in the meanwhile, the American immigration bill should be passed with clauses such as that calling for the carrying of American health officials on board Italian steamers. Such a clause would be considered by Italy as indicating an unfriendly attitude, according to the note, and it is pointed out that when Argentina took a similar measure Italy broke off diplomatic relations with that country.

THREATEN TRUNK STRIKE IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27.—A general strike of all the trunk makers in St. Louis, numbering 1,000 men and women, was threatened here today as the result of the demand of the workers that the employers recognize their newly organized union, which is affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World.

The entire working force of one of the three factories in the city walked out several days ago. Last night 400 trunk makers, including many employed at the two other factories, voted to call a general strike if the employers today refused to recognize the new union. All the employers have declared they will not recognize the union. The strike is being conducted by Frank Little of Chicago of the Industrial Workers of the World.

SAYS TEXAS WILL PROTECT U. S. ARMY

Washington, Feb. 27.—Representative Slayden, Democrat, of Texas, member of the military affairs committee, assured the house today that should Gen. Villa attempt to invade the United States the state of Texas would undertake to protect the Federal government and its army.

Mr. Slayden was replying in sarcastic vein to Representative McKellar's statement that the army was inadequate to perform its functions.

RICH MEN ORGANIZE TO FIGHT LOAN EVIL

New York, Feb. 27.—For the purpose of combatting the usurious loan evil and establishing loan and savings companies on the Morris plan throughout the United States and Canada, the Industrial Finance corporation was organized here today. Among the backers of the movement are Andrew Carnegie, Vincent Astor, Bishop David H. Greer, Dr. Elgin R. L. Gould, Arthur J. Morris, Nicholas Murray Butler and Theodore P. Shonts.

SHOT WHILE ON WAY TO CALL UPON GIRL

Muscatine, Iowa, Feb. 27.—Walter Becker, aged 17, while going to call at the home of Miss Effie Smith last night, was shot by a hidden assailant, the bullet passing through his arm. After reaching the young woman's home, Becker, accompanied by Miss Smith, went to a doctor's office, where the wound was dressed, telephoned the police about the assault, and then returned to the Smith home, where he finished his interrupted call.

The cause of the shooting is a mystery. Becker says he has no enemies that he knows of.

WOULD SEE LOST SON.

Dying Parent in Milwaukee Appeals to The Herald.

An appeal for the search of Joseph Butler is made in a letter received this morning by The Herald, in which it is stated that Joseph's father, Thomas Butler, is dying at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Tessie Dougherty, 3611 Clark street, Milwaukee. Joseph left his home in Granville, Minn., several years ago and every effort to find him has failed. Butler is reported to be a member of the Red Men's lodge.

WHITNEY FIGHTS TO AVOID INDICTMENTS

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—J. Parker Whitney, clubman and millionaire, was prepared today to go before the grand jury and make a vigorous effort to prevent indictments being returned against him on a charge of white slavery brought by Miss Genevieve Hannan.

Whitney will exhibit a number of letters from Miss Hannan, by which he says he will show the grand jury that he held out no matrimonial promises to her when she accompanied him from New York on a trip across the country.

Miss Hannan left for Chicago by way of New Orleans, last Tuesday. John W. Preston, United States district attorney, said it was probable her testimony would not be required. He expected the grand jury to return indictments against Whitney today on three counts, he said.

MAJ. OHLSSON KILLED IN PERSIAN FIGHT

Teheran, Persia, Feb. 27.—A detachment of 150 gendarmes is cornered in its barracks at Kazerun by a large body of tribesmen. The fight began yesterday. The commander of the gendarmes, Maj. Ohlsson, a Swede, was killed.

The assailants are Vasridiwan riflemen. Kazerun, the scene of the fight, is in the province of Pars, fifty-five miles west of Shiraz. Reinforcements have been dispatched from Shiraz, and a detachment of British marines from Bushire.

ELGIN BOARD MAY YET BE DISSOLVED

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Possibility of dissolution of the Elgin board of trade by governmental order or through voluntary action by the directors of the organization, was hinted today when it became known that the present Federal grand jury had listened to witnesses in relation to alleged fixing of butter prices.

The Federal grand jury, it is understood, has directed its attention to the allegation that price fixing still has been effected through the medium of alleged wash sales, or transactions fictitious in reality, but bearing the appearance of actual sales.

MINNESOTA ROADS ASK MORE TIME

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railroads centering in St. Paul will petition for an extension of time to prepare their interstate tariffs on the 2-cent rate in Minnesota basis. The final date for the new passenger tariffs has been sent by the interstate commerce commission as May 1, but traffic officials of St. Paul declare it will be impossible to issue all the needed rate sheets by that time.

TEBEAU HOME BURNS.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—The home of Mrs. George Tebeau, 5717 Sheridan road, was greatly damaged by fire today and she was assisted from the burning building by firemen. Her husband, who is the owner of the Kansas City team in the American association, is in the West. The flames apparently started in the basement and were not extinguished until after more than $10,000 damage had been done.

Bank Exchanges.

New York, Feb. 27.—Dun's review will say tomorrow: "Bank exchanges continue in much smaller volume than a year ago, the total for the five days this week being only $2,377,188,855, a falling off of 13.1 per cent. New York city reports quite a sharp contraction."

WE, J. A. WATTERWORTH, and WILBUR J. ALLEN, as President and Secretary, respectively, of Duluth-Florida Land Company, do hereby certify that at a special meeting of the stockholders of said Duluth-Florida Land Company called for the expressly stated purpose of amending the Articles of Incorporation of said Company as hereinafter set forth, held at the office of said Company in Room 5, Phoenix Block, Duluth, Minnesota, at two o'clock in the afternoon on Friday, the 20th day of February, 1914, pursuant to notice of said meeting duly given at which meeting a majority of the stock of said Company was present and represented, the following resolutions were duly adopted by a majority vote of all of the shares of stock of said corporation, to-wit:

"Resolved, That Article I and Article IV of the Articles of Incorporation of Duluth-Florida Land Company be amended so that when amended said Article I shall read as follows:

'ARTICLE I.

"The name of this corporation shall be Duluth-Florida Land Company. The general nature of its business shall be to purchase, own, hold, improve, and sells lands in the State of Florida. The principal place of transacting its business shall be at Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years from the date of its original incorporation.'

"And so that Article IV, when amended, shall read as follows:

'ARTICLE IV.

"The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00), which shall be divided into five hundred (500) shares of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, which shall be paid in money or property from time to time as required by the Board of Directors. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject, shall be seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00).'

"Resolved further, That the President and Secretary are authorized and directed to execute and cause to be filed, recorded, and published, as required by law, such certificate as shall be necessary to make these amendments effective."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto subscribed our names and affixed the corporate seal of said corporation, at Duluth, Minnesota, this 20th day of February, 1914.

MARKET HAS A REACTION

Wheat Sells Off With Lower Cables, But Close Is Strong.

Flaxseed Advances Fractionally on Good General Buying By Operators.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 27.—The market turned strong at the close. May wheat closed ⅝c off and July ¾c off. May durum closed ½c off and July ½c off.

Oats closed 1⅛c lower at 38¼@38⅝c. Rye closed unchanged at 56@56½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44 to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 37¼@37⅜c bid and July at 38½c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 92@92⅛c bid, and calls at 92⅝c bid.

Lower Liverpool cables formed the basis for weakness in the wheat market today. That precipitated a natural reaction after the show of strength extending over several days.

A Duluth operator reported the sale yesterday afternoon of a cargo of wheat now afloat at Buffalo, and export offers were received by him today, but they were out of line. Chicago advised sales today of two loads of hard winter wheat to Eastern exporters, and New York noted that exporters were active today in spite of lower cables.

With the exception of Minneapolis, which is receiving considerable grain that had been bought to arrive, stocks are now beginning to show decreases at primary points.

At Duluth wheat supplies have been practically stationary, showing an increase of just 3,000 bu in the last five days. Kansas City reported a decrease of 78,000 bu in the last four days. Arrivals at Minneapolis today were 432 cars against 278 last year, and with the heavy recent deliveries there, stocks increased 125,000 bu in the week.

Reports of Duluth elevator men are to the effect that farmers' marketings have been more liberal recently, the movement being attributable to the higher price range going, and an inclination on the part of growers to take advantage of the present good roads to bring their grain in.

The decline at Liverpool was brought about by the lower continental markets and more liberal Australian offers.

May wheat opened ¼c off at 93¾c and declined ½c more up to the final hour. The July option opened ⅜c off at 94⅜c and weakened ¼c more. May durum opened ⅛c off at 93⅜c and broke ⅝c.

Flaxseed Stays Strong.

There was fairly active trading in flaxseed with good speculative buying and spreading between the two options. The market was barely steady at the start, but it closed firm and fractionally higher. Cables were higher on the whole, with Buenos Ayres ¼c up; London 1¾d up and Antwerp ⅝c lower.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.58¼ and it closed ¼c up at $1.58½ bid. The July option opened ¼c off and closed ½c up at $1.60½ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.38⅝ and July at $1.41¼.

It is to be noted that as at the close yesterday, May flax at Duluth was 28¾c and July 29c higher than last year.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Watson S. Moore returned today from a month's holiday trip, during which he attended the convention of the National Chamber of Commerce at Washington as delegate from the Duluth board of trade, and visited Baltimore, Philadelphia, Buffalo and New York, after spending a short time in Florida.

Mr. Moore considers that the wheat market situation is steadily hardening. Stocks at Buffalo and the seaboard are being rapidly cleaned up, and he noted a good demand for spring wheat down here, both for export and from Eastern millers. That has brought about a decline in the soft wheat cash premium from 8c to practically parity at Chicago now.

The Minneapolis cash market was steady, with demand just fair. Elevators were picking up the cheapest contract grades and their buying checked a further easing of the premium. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ½@2c over May, and velvet chaff at from ½@1c over May. There was a little better flour demand for quick shipment, but aggregate sales were still small. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 92½c to 94¼c and No. 2 northern at from 90½c to 92¼c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The disappointing American cables yesterday and lower tendency on the Continental markets caused some pressure at the opening and values were ⅛d lower. Following the opening there was a further decline of ¼d to ⅜d on bearish advices from Australia and a noticeable increase in Australian offers with Continental inquiry slower. The spot market was generally ⅛d lower with cargoes under pressure and Russia offers for distant shipments larger and cheaper and Roumania likewise. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy, ⅜@½d lower.

"Corn opened unchanged and later declined ⅛d to ¼d with pressure in July."

Smaller spot demand and favorable weather and crop advices from Argentina offset expectations of light world's shipments and firmness in Danubian offers at Liverpool.

* * *

Baker received the following from his Chicago correspondent: "The failure of our wheat market to respond to yesterday's higher cables caused an easier tendency abroad and prices opened lower. There were large export sales yesterday of Manitobas and No. 2 hard, the latter via both Atlantic and gulf ports. There is nothing in our home situation on which to base a bull campaign. Milder weather will remove snow protection and make the plant susceptible to any sharp temperature changes."

* * *

Broomhall estimates world's shipments, exclusive of North America, at 8,400,000 bu against 10,024,000 bu last week. Of this Europe will take about 7,600,000 bu. Total shipments last week were 13,472,000 bu and last year 14,352,000 bu. Arrivals into the United Kingdom were about 3,600,000 bu. He predicts a fair increase on passage.

Australian shipments of wheat were 2,096,000 bu.

Modern Miller says: "The winter wheat crop was well protected by heavy snows this week. In Southern Illinois the fields were covered with ice for several days. There was some ice covering in Southern Kansas. Prospects generally are excellent. Milder weather is rapidly removing snow in the Middle states with the plant in good condition to withstand March weather."

Seeding operations throughout the Sacramento valley in California, are in full blast, some of the leading ranches operating traction gang-plows day and night to take advantage of the favorable soil conditions. In Sutter county, on the Noyes ranch near West Butte, a 75-horse power engine operates twelve plows, with seeder and harrows attached on a day-and-night schedule with three shifts of hands. The engine is provided with electric lights for night runs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Opens Lower on Good Weather and Bigger Receipts.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 27.—Increased receipts and better weather conditions caused wheat to open lower in the Minneapolis market today. The range, although narrow, ruled slightly under Thursday's prices.

Wheat: May opened 92¾c to 92¼c; high, 92¾c; low, 91⅞c; closed 92⅛c asked. July opened 92¾c to 92¾c; high, 93¾c; low, 93¼c; closed 93⅛c bid. Cash: No. 1 hard, 95¼c; No. 1 northern, 92¾@94¼c; to arrive, 94¼c; choice to arrive, 94¼c; No. 2 northern, 90¼@92½c; to arrive, 89½@91¼c; No. 3 wheat, 87¾@89¾c. Corn—No. 3 yellow, 57@57¼c; oats, No. 3 white, 37¼@37½c. Flax, $1.56½@1.59.

The flour market was firm, millers reporting an increased demand. Prices were unchanged from Thursday. Shipments, 59,807 bbl.

Barley, 43@64c; rye, 55½@56½c; bran, $22.50.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bearish on Foreign Shipment Prospects.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Prospects of large shipments from Australia and Russia had a bearish influence today on wheat. Dispatches from Australia said sufficient freight room had been engaged to carry the entire surplus crop of the commonwealth. In addition, many traders were looking for a setback, as the market for a week has been gradually advancing without any material reaction. The opening, which was ½@⅝c lower, was followed by more pronounced weakness.

Mild weather conditions together with the almost complete pause in export call, kept the market from any important rally. The close was steady, ¼@½c net lower.

Corn sagged under selling by commission houses and by one of the larger professional speculators. Offerings from the country were fair, and shippers reported but little improvement in outside demand. Prices started ⅛@¼c to ⅜c off and continued down grade.

Covering by shorts, however, brought about a reaction. The close was firm at the same as last night to a shade up.

In the oats crowd, action was determined solely by the course of other grain. The market nevertheless showed a good volume of business.

Provisions weakened on account of the slowness of trade in hogs. First sales varied from last night's level to 5c decline and there was a subsequent additional drop.

ORDER TO EXAMINE FINAL ACCOUNT.

State of Minnesota,
County of St. Louis—ss.

In Probate Court. In the matter of the estate of Marion N. Upham, decedent:

The petition of A. R. Morton, as representative of the above named decedent, together with his final account of the administration of said estate, having been filed in this court, representing, among other things, that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that said final account of said administration be examined, adjusted and allowed by the Court, and that the Court make and enter its final decree of distribution of the residue of the estate of said decedent to the persons entitled thereto, and for the discharge of the representative and the sureties on his bond. It is ordered, that said petition be heard, and said final account examined, adjusted, and if correct, allowed by the Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County, on Monday the 16th day of March, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., and all persons interested in said hearing and in said matter are hereby cited and required at said time and place to show cause, if any there by, why said petition should not be granted. Ordered further, that this order be served by publication in The Duluth Herald according to law, and by mailing a copy of this order to each heir and interested party at least fourteen days before the said date of hearing.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., Feb. 20, 1914.

By the Court, S. W. GILPIN, Judge of Probate.

Attest:
A. R. MORTON,
Clerk of Probate.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

All of Important Issues Show Gains of Point or More.

United States Express Soars Twelve Points--Close Is Strong.

New York, Feb. 27.—Passing of the financial strain at Paris and suspension of liquidation from Amsterdam gave the home market a good tone during the morning. Prices moved narrowly except for a time when the market was stimulated by erroneous reports from Mexico. A dispatch to a Wall Street news agency that the Mexican government had requested this country to assist in restoration of peace caused prices to bound up sharply, but trading grew dull and part of the grain was lost when it became known that the report was without foundation.

Northern Pacific's early heaviness was associated with its January report, showing a decrease of $503,000 in net earnings. Reports from Washington that difficulties had arisen in the negotiations for dissolution of the New Haven system made the stock heavy. It declined 2⅛ to 66⅛, within a fraction of its low record.

Bonds were irregular.

The stock market reverted today to the apathetic condition which prevailed prior to the recent decline. The undertone was good but business was light and movements were narrow. Rock Island securities were again heavy, the collateral bonds yielding a point. Northern Pacific was a point lower. General Electric rose 1.

Speculation became lively and prices advanced swiftly on rumors that President Huerta had requested the assistance of the United States. Mexican Petroleum jumped 4 points, National railways of Mexico second preferred 2, and Steel, Canadian Pacific, Atchison and Southern Pacific 1.

The market withstood special pressure in various directions well, and even advanced in cases where the shorts had been intimidated into covering. Official denial of rumored financing by the Northern Pacific rallied the stock to above yesterday's close. American Telephone turned weak and lost a point.

Speculative impulse was lacking in the latter part of the session and traders did little. Prices ruled well up to the best with some support showing for New Haven.

The market closed strong. Trading ventures on the long side were encouraged by new points of strength among investments and specialties. All of the important stocks showed gains of a point or more. United States Express soared 12 points.

GOVERNOR OBJECTS.

Urges Discharge of State Employe Who "Rang" in Odd Expenses.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 27. — Governor Byrne has issued a statement calling for the dismissal of Emil Gunther of the state insurance department. In his statement, Governor Byrne says:

"Any officer or employe of this state who will submit for approval a voucher for candy and theater tickets cannot remain in office while I am governor of South Dakota. It makes no difference whether such practice has been followed in another state, it will not be tolerated for a moment in this state."

WESTERN FEDERATION MAN STATE WITNESS IN PAINESDALE CASE

Sheriff Cruse Admits Report But Gives No Details.

Congressmen Go to Visit Stamp Mills at Lake Linden.

Spend One Day Seeing How Men Work in Copper Mines.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff James Cruse this morning admitted to be true a report that a striking member of the Western Federation of Miners has turned states evidence in the Painesdale murder case, in which three non-union miners, subjects of Great Britain, were killed in December. The shooting was done with high power rifles from woods a short distance from the house.

On Dec. 7, Arthur and Harry Jane and Thomas Daily were killed while sleeping in the Daily residence at Painesdale by rifle bullets fired through the building from without.

Four arrests have been made in connection with the murder, and one of the four arrested, all of whom are Federation of Miners members, has made a complete confession. The four are:

Nick Urbanic, Croatian agitator for the Western Federation.

John Huhta, secretary of the South Range local, succeeding Andrew Koski, who is under bond for the attempted murder of Deputy Sheriff Driscoll.

Joseph Juntunen and Valmer Jolonen, both members of the South Range local.

Huhta confessed.

Go to Lake Linden.

Hancock, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the congressional committee who are investigating the strike of the copper miners, expected to go to Lake Linden today to investigate the stamp mills there. Yesterday the investigators descended into several of the mines and saw the conditions under which the strikers had worked.

Public hearings will be resumed by

WOMEN OF RESORTS CURSE PURITY CHIEF

Write Letters After Begging Places to Eat and Sleep.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 28.—A number of girls from the segregated vice district, which is to be closed by the police here tonight, paid a second visit last night to Mrs. F. H. Ingalls and Mrs. Helen Fox, leaders of the purity crusade, and begged for a place to eat and sleep after the closing of the resorts. The following letter is a sample of the many received by the crusaders since it became evident that the police would enforce the order:

"Mrs. Engles: The only things the unfortunate women should have done when they called at your mansion should have been to repeat the days of Marie Antoinette and dragged you to a guillotine and taken off your head that has brought sorrow to so many hearts.

"We are human beings, and on bended knees ask God to curse you with sickness, sorrow and death, that you may find your place in hell where you cannot do anyone harm."

HORSE TAKES THEM TO OLEO BLIND-PIG

Federal Officers Find Illicit Factory--Seize Sixty-five Tons.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 28.—A horse was the detective which led Federal officers last night to discover a large quantity of colored oleomargarine on which, it is said, the government tax had not been paid, and to the arrest of Walter R. Morris, a produce dealer.

Federal officers raided what is said to have been an illicit oleomargarine factory located in a stable in the fashionable residence district last night, arrested Joseph B. Musick, the sole occupant of the factory, and confiscated about sixty-five tons of colored oleo.

The officers then loaded with oleomargarine a wagon found at the factory, and allowed the horse, also found there, to proceed without guidance. They declare the horse pulled the wagon without guidance a distance of two miles to Union market, and backed it against a creamery stall owned by Morris. It is charged that two wagon loads of colored oleomargarine, on which $600 should have been paid, were found in the stall.

The tax on the sixty-five tons of product, if paid, would have amounted to approximately $10,000.

TWO YOUNG TURKISH AVIATORS KILLED

Constantinople, Feb. 28.—Fethy Bey and Gadih Bey, young officers of the Turkish military aviation corps, were killed today while attempting to fly from Constantinople to Alexandria, Egypt.

After leaving Damascus on the way to Jerusalem, the aeroplane broke down in midair and the two aviators fell with it from a high altitude.

Fethy Bey rendered great assistance to the Ottoman army during the Balkan war, making many daring flights over the Bulgarian positions and bringing back valuable information.

LATEST INAMORATA OF DUKE D'ABRUZZI

LADY DIANA MANNERS.

New York, Feb. 28.—Has Lady Diana Manners succeeded Mrs. "Billy" Hitt in the affections of the duke of the Abruzzi? That is the report which comes from London. So the duke may not have been so very hard hit by the refusal of the fair Miss Elkins to become his morganatic wife. Lady Diana is the third daughter of the duke of Rutland and is 22 years old. She is accounted a beauty in England. Her sister is the marchioness of Anglesey.

SAYS GREED CAUSES EVIL

Massachusetts Legislative Commission Reports on White Slavery.

Finds Prostitution Permitted in Defiance of the Law.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28.—"The financial profit of the business of prostitution is the principal reason for its existence. No other form of criminal offense so flagrant and open and so harmful to the community would be tolerated for a day in this state."

These declarations are made in the report submitted to the legislature today by a commission appointed last year, which has conducted a detailed investigation in seventy-nine Massachusetts cities and towns.

The report says that millions of dollars are invested in establishments utilized for immoral purposes, and that "prostitution in all its ramifications constitutes a vast business extending all over the state."

Emphasizes Some Dangers.

The report emphasizes the dangers of unregulated lodging houses, public dance halls and recreation parks.

The commission has found widespread evidence of a strong public sentiment against the continuance of the conditions it has found to exist," and expresses the conviction "that this evil is susceptible of successful attack and treatment."

"The fact that one-half of the women examined were actually feeble minded," the report says, "clears the way for successful treatment of a portion of this class. The recognition of feeble-minded girls at an early age in the public schools, and proper provision for their protection, would prevent much of the observed immorality among young girls and the resulting temptations to boys."

Open, Though Not Recognized.

"While the officials in no city in the state have openly adopted the policy of segregation and toleration," says the report, "yet it is a fact that in certain cities there are streets where the business is conducted in much the same way as if segregation were the accepted official policy.

"In the larger cities the most flagrant expression of commercialized prostitution is in connection with certain cafes and saloons. These places are enormously profitable. The police take the position that they have no right to interfere if the letter of the law is observed, but it is difficult to understand why these immoral cafes and saloons are tolerated."

ORGANIZE TO WORK FOR LAKE COMMERCE

Delegates at Buffalo Meeting Form Waterways Conference.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 28.—The outcome of the conference of delegates from Great Lakes cities, in session here for two days, was the formation last night of an organization to be known as the Great Lakes waterways conference. A constitution was adopted subject to ratification by commercial organizations to become members of the conference. The first meeting will be held next September.

The objects of the conference will be to secure concerted action upon all matters relative to the commerce of the Great Lakes; to promote the mutual welfare of ports on the Great Lakes, and to secure co-operative effort in preserving and increasing commerce.

NEW GRAFT PROBE IS ON

Sulzer Is First Witness Before New York Assemblymen.

Says Taxpayers Were Defrauded of "Millions and Millions."

New York, Feb. 28.—The Sullivan committee, a new graft investigating body appointed by the lower house of the legislature, held its first public hearing in the city hall here today. The committee's counsel summoned as the first witnesses Former Governor Sulzer and John A. Hennessy.

Sulzer said that information of fraud in the state highway department came to him during his campaign for governor, and that in accordance with pre-election promises he appointed a committee to investigate and report.

"They only investigated sixty days," said Sulzer, "but they found out enough in that time to convince me that every department of the state was honeycombed with graft. I then appointed Hennessy to investigate the highway department, and told him to go to the end of the rope, drive out the grafters, and to spare nobody.

Legislature Balked.

"The legislature, however, refused to appropriate the money to defray the expenses of the investigation, so Hennessy and I—and a few friends—put up the money. The Tammany senators, acting under instructions, struck out the appropriation. Hennessy investigated forty roads in twenty-two counties and found that their construction was fraudulent.

"The taxpayers had been defrauded of millions and millions of dollars, Hennessy told me that about 30 per cent of the cost of the roads went for their actual construction and the rest was stolen.

"Later Hennessy discovered astounding graft in the reconstruction of the state capitol, and I ordered State Architect Hoefer to resign because of these revelations."

RAMPOLLA'S VALET ARRESTED AS THIEF

Several Articles Are Stolen From the Late Cardinal's Rooms.

Rome, Feb. 28.—Giuseppo Caretti, valet to the late Cardinal Rampolla, was arrested last night by order of the crown prosecutor, and taken to prison. He is charged with having stolen several articles belonging to Cardinal Rampolla, including an expensive cope which he is said to have sold to a prelate in the Vatican.

Since the death of Rampolla, the valet has been under suspicion of being implicated in the disappearance of the box which was supposed to contain the last will of the cardinal. An investigation by the police authorities is said to have revealed the fact that Caretti had been buying lottery tickets, and in other ways spending money not justified by his earnings.

URGES RAILROAD TO THE YUKON

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 28.—Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, said to the legislature:

"I believe that the time has now come for the building of a railroad through Northern British Columbia to the Yukon and Alaska, and I may say that the authorities at Washington and Ottawa have both gone so far as to indorse heartily some project of cooperation in the building of this line."

SAYS ADIEUS TO HER SONS

Mrs. Buffum's Youngest Boy Only One to Show Emotion.

The Convicted Murderess Starts on Trip to Death House.

Little Valley, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Mrs. Cynthia Buffum, convicted last night of murder in the first degree for poisoning her husband, and sentenced to die in the electric chair in April, was awakened by Sheriff Dempsey before sunrise this morning. At 6 o'clock her five sons were brought into the cell to see her. None but little Francis, 13 years old, showed any grief at parting. At 7 o'clock Mrs. Buffum was started on her trip to the deathhouse at Auburn prison.

All during the night the little, pale faced, sullen woman had been carefully guarded in her cell to prevent her from attempting suicide, but her iron nerve remained unbroken. She relies on the encouragement from her counsel, Patrick S. Collins, who told her last night, after she had been sentenced: "Don't worry, now; keep quiet and leave it all to me. You will never die in the electric chair."

Collins will ask the court of appeals to order a new trial.

The trial of Ernest Frahm, Mrs. Buffum's alleged accomplice in the murder, will begin in a few days.

Asked to See Frahm.

Before leaving the jail Mrs. Buffum asked that Frahm be sent to her. She

MISSIONARY SEES REAL YELLOW PERIL

Says West Must Elevate East or Be Dragged Down.

New York, Feb. 28.—Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, a veteran missionary who recently laid before the United States government a radical plan for solving the immigration problem, spoke here today before the League for Political Education. His suggestion is that immigration be limited to 5 per cent annually of the members of each race already naturalized in the United States, with their American born children. This rate, he points out, would permit the entrance of all who might come from North Europe, and cut down immigration from South and East Europe and allow only slight immigration from Asia.

Dr. Gulick is visiting the big cities under an arrangement made by the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America, to present the views of the missionaries to Japan concerning American relationships with the Eastern races. For twenty-six years he was a missionary in Japan, and his address today dealt with the Japanese problem.

Peril of the Orient.

He recognized the justice of California's anti-Japanese agitation, and declared that if permitted entrance, millions of Asiatics would quickly swamp our civilization and defeat the American experiment in democracy.

"But," he said, "Japan's demands are widely misunderstood. She does not want free immigration to America, but she deprecates invidious and humiliating anti-Asiatic legislation, however skillfully phrased."

His fundamental solution of the Asiatic problem was to educate Asia to the Western economic, and moral standards. "Unless we raise Asia to our level," he declared, "she will eventually pull us down to hers."

RUSH TO TELL OF INCOMES

New Yorkers Make Busy Day at Collector's Offices.

Over 100,000 May Be on Lists By Monday Night.

New York, Feb. 28.—The busiest place on Manhattan Island today was the income tax bureau on the third floor of the United States custom house. Hundreds of New Yorkers stood in line for hours waiting their turns to file their reports, the time limit for which, under an extension granted yesterday, expires at 6 p. m. Monday.

Every available man and woman in the force of Charles W. Anderson, collector of internal revenue for the Second district, which takes in practically all of New York south of Fourteenth street, was required to answer questions, furnish blanks and receive returns. Included in this section are Wall street and large manufacturing, wholesale and retail districts.

Collector Anderson said before noon that in the neighborhood of 40,000 reports had been received. He expected to receive between 3,000 and 5,000 additional reports before night.

Few Long Faces.

The rush to file the reports began as soon as the office was opened for business. In an hour after the opening, a line began to form in the corridor outside the office. Mixed in the line were financiers, stock brokers, office boys, stenographers, manufacturers and an assortment of merchants. The office boys and stenographers had been sent to file reports by their employers. Few long faces were seen. Everyone seemed rather to enjoy the novelty of meeting the new tax.

Estimates today indicated that approximately 85,000 reports have been filed in the New York City districts, and it was believed the total number will exceed 100,000, or nearly one-fourth of what has been estimated as the total number of reports in all sixty-three districts throughout the country.

Looking for Delinquents.

Persons having a taxable income failing to file a report by the close of business Monday will be liable to a fine of from $20 to $1,000. Government investigators are already making inquiries concerning prospective delinquents.

Additional clerks will be on hand in the tax collector's office Monday, when a last grand rush of procrastinators is expected. Clerks in the office were unable even to estimate the amount of money represented in the reports.

FEAR BIG FLOODS IN THE OHIO VALLEY

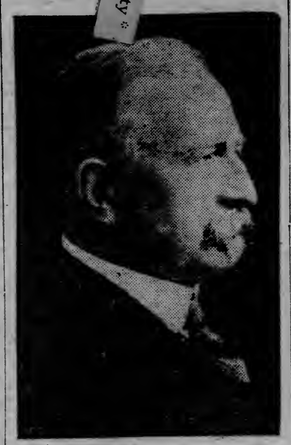

Pennsylvania Observers Say Conditions Are Like 1902 and 1904.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 28.—The state water supply commission has received reports in the last few days from its observers in the state flood warning service showing that the snow in Pennsylvania varies from two to forty-eight inches on the level, and that the streams in many instances are bound with from six to twelve inches of ice, the lower part of the Allegheny, the Monongahela and the Ohio being the only large rivers not frozen.

"The conditions present potential flood possibilities which may result seriously and cause tremendous loss," says a statement issued today by the commission. "Similar conditions prevailed in the winters of 1902 and 1904, when the greatest floods since 1889 occurred in Eastern Pennsylvania."

THOROUGH PROBE OF VERGARA'S DEATH IS PROMISED BY HUERTA

MAY BE SUCCESSOR TO LORD STRATHCONA

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 28.—There was intense interest here today in persistent reports that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, will accept the position of Canadian high commissioner in London, succeeding the late Lord Strathcona. A letter from a high official of the railway company in London, stating that there is more than a probability Premier Borden will offer the position to the railway knight, has been received here.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's successor as president of the Canadian Pacific railroad probably will be George J. Bury of Winnipeg, vice president of the western lines. He has been summoned to Montreal for a conference with other officials.

Reports of Desecration of American's Body Reach Washington.

Party to Examine Benton's Corpse Ready to Leave El Paso.

Rumors at Juarez Say Carranza and Villa Are at Outs.

Washington, Feb. 28. — Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City reported today that he had made representations concerning Vergara's death, and that the Huerta government had promised a full and detailed explanation of the killing.

Officials have discused with much interest today the report of Capt. Sanders of the Texas Rangers, saying Clemente Vergara, an American citizen, reported hanged, really had been kidnaped and shot by Huerta's Federals, and the body afterward hanged.

While Consul Garrett had been ordered to make an extended inquiry, and vigorous representations demanding reparation have been made to the Huerta government at Mexico City, there was little official information today on the Vergara killing, which admittedly has stirred the Washington government just as much as the recent execution of William S. Benton, a British subject, at Juarez.

The inquiry into the Benton case was planned to begin in earnest today or tomorrow with the departure of a special train from Juarez for Chihuahua, furnished by Villa, bearing representatives of England and the United States. In Chihuahua American Consul Letcher will join the investigators.

Question Value of Examination.

Opinion is divided here on whether Benton's body, after being buried nearly two weeks in a tropical climate, would show whether his wounds were inflicted by a pistol or a firing squad. While no satisfactory answer has been made to the American government's request for the surrender of the body to the widow, that point will not be pressed until all the evidence of a medical examination is obtained.

That Gen. Carranza was rapidly getting into touch with the situation at Juarez and Chihuahua and would exert his influence to clear up the Benton case, was the informal assurance which reached here today.

Officials had before them today Governor Colquitt's telegram asking whether the United States recognized any constituted government in Northern Mexico, with whom he could ar-

SAYS DEWEY LOST TEMPER

German Admiral Writes Some More on Manila Incident.

Declares American Threatened War During Their Talk.

Berlin, Feb. 28.—Admiral von Diederichs replied in print today to the statements made by Admiral Dewey regarding the exciting incidents between the American and German naval commanders in Manila bay during the Spanish-American war.

The reply is published in the official Marine Bundschau and is spread over 11,000 words. It contains the report of the visit made to Admiral Dewey on July 10, 1898, by the then Flag Lieutenant von Hintz, who is now German minister to Mexico. It is evident from this report that Admiral Dewey threatened the Germans with war if they did not cease their interference with the blockade regulations, and if they refused to permit the Americans to make the inquiries necessary to establish the identity of neutral warships.

"And That Means War."

Von Diederichs says:

"Admiral Dewey gradually talked himself into a passion. He said: 'Why, I shall stop every vessel, whatever may be her colors. And if she does not stop, I shall fire at her. And that means war, do you know, sir?'

"When the phrase, 'if Germany wants war,' etc., occurred again, I took my leave.

"I was under the impression that this in itself trivial incident put a match to a mass of explosives which long had been accumulating in Admiral Dewey's mind from suspicion, rumor and newspaper reports."

The remainder of Admiral von Diederichs' statement is virtually a repetition in expanded form of the interview he gave to the Associated Press a few days ago.

Sentence French March 12.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 28.—Sentence on Harry French, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy conductor, convicted at Lancaster, Wis., of kicking Edward Murphy, a tourist, off his train and causing Murphy's death, will be pronounced by Judge Clementson at Lancaster on March 12, according to an announcement here today. It is also announced that French will appeal to the supreme court of Wisconsin.

WOULD PAY SMALL DEPOSITORS IN FULL

Those Having Over $1,000 Will Get Only 75 Per Cent.

Memphis, Feb. 28.—Payment in full to depositors whose individual accounts are less than $1,000, and 75 per cent payments to depositors of larger sums, is proposed in a plan agreed on by directors of the suspended Mercantile bank. The directors agreed to contribute but $200,000 to a fund to be added to the bank's assets. If stockholders approve the plan, it will be submitted to the chancery court.

Audit of the bank's books showed a shortage of approximately $1,000,000, which it is alleged, C. Hunter Raine, president of the institution lost in cotton speculations. Raine is in jail awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement.

Raine turned his personal fortune over to be used as an asset of the bank.

SNAKE BITE KILLS EXPERT ON POISONS

Dr. Frederick Fox Overlooks One of Five Wounds.

Calcutta, British India, Feb. 28.—Dr. Frederick Fox, an Australian scientist, who devoted his life to the treatment of snake bites, died today as the result of a bite from a snake which he was using for experimental purposes.

Dr. Fox fell a victim while he was attempting to prove the efficacy of what he claimed was a sure antidote to the virus of the snake. He had just finished treating a goat which had been bitten, and had succeeded in saving its life when he was attacked by a krait. This snake, which is peculiar to British India, is a very venomous reptile, possessing grooved poison fangs and solid upper teeth behind them. During its attack on the doctor the snake inflicted five punctures.

The doctor, who had often voluntarily submitted to snake bites in order to demonstrate the efficacy of his cure, smilingly incised four of the punctures, but the fifth escaped his notice. Later in the day symptoms of poisoning developed. The antidote made by Dr. Fox was used, but it was too late and Dr. Fox was added to the roll of martyrs to science.

PERUVIANS FAVOR GENERAL ELECTION

Lima, Peru, Feb. 28.—Public sentiment throughout the republic appears to favor the holding of a general election for congress, and a mass meeting has been called for Sunday in support of the proposal.

Roberto E. Leguia, first vice president, who is on his way here from England, promises a government with a national and conciliatory program, according to dispatches published here today. He intends to assume the presidency in succession to the deposed president, Billinghurst.

ALASKA NOT SCRATCHED

E. C. Howard Returns to Duluth After Absence of Twenty-one Years.

E. C. Howard, brother of John and Jay Cooke Howard of Duluth, is back from Alaska after an absence of twenty-one years.

Mr. Howard is in the mining business at Ketchikan, a town in the southeastern part of Alaska, having about 3,000 inhabitants.

"Cold?" repeated the long-absent former resident of Duluth—"not as cold as it is here. About zero in the winter time. A little snow on the mountain top—a little ice when it is coldest—there you have the weather at Ketchikan.

"Alaska hasn't been scratched as yet. If the proposed railroad is built from Port Wells to the Yukon river, making it possible to avoid the White Horse pass in the shipping of goods, I am willing to believe that the population of Alaska will be increased to 500,000 people within a very short time.

"We have only one railroad up there—and that is only about a hundred miles in length. We have the resources for millions of people—and we have only 45,000.

Low Grade Ores.

"English syndicates are entering into the mining of low grade gold ore. You see the improved methods of getting the gold out have made it possible to mine ore that prospectors and capitalists would have scoffed at some years ago.

"I believe the people are very well satisfied with the present form of government. Sentiment in Alaska is very much against the big grabber. Some interests don't dare to take over some coal lands at the present time as public sentiment is too strong against this sort of thing. But, remember, the resources of Alaska have not been touched and there is plenty for every one.

"No one knows of the vast richness and resources of this possession of the United States. Also you don't know the climate. Why, even in the Far North it is not any colder than I have seen it up at Tower, years ago. You malign us. We can grow wheat and other cereals. We have electric power and all of the modern conveniences. We have two daily newspapers in Ketchikan.

"Recently a Chicago capitalist asked me if we could cable to Alaska. Bless you, yes. We get all the cable news from the states. It costs me $24 a year to take the two daily newspapers of Ketchikan, but think of the fun I have reading them. We don't think that it is a lot to pay for reading matter—no, indeed.

"We have cables, telephones, automobiles and lots of other things. We are civilized and contented and comfortable. You people have read some of Jack London's stories and have gotten a wrong opinion; you think it is all passes and frozen trails and 60 below zero weather. Why, man, I have not been warm since I struck Duluth; the climate here is much colder.

"We have more college graduates to the square inch in Ketchikan than you have ever had here—or perhaps may ever have. Alaska is a country of the future, so watch it go."

Mr. Howard is the guest of his brother, John, and will remain in Duluth for some time.

LAST DAY TO PAY TAXES

Today is the last day for the payment of 1913 personal property taxes without penalty. On Monday a 10 per cent penalty will attach to all delinquent taxes.

County Treasurer George H. Vivian report sthat the collection of the 1913 personal property tax has been very satisfactory and that the percentage of delinquents will not be larger than usual.

The Duluth Street Railway company, the largest personal property taxpayer in the county, yesterday sent in its check for $46,178.51, covering its personal property tax amounting to $45,455.51 and a tax of $723 on money and credits.

Other larger firms which have paid since yesterday noon are: Kelley-Howe-Thompson company, $7,750.38; City National bank, $11,016.69, and Virginia & Rainy Lake company for property at Duluth and at Virginia, $32,557.10.

'TWAS A HOTEL, NOT A BARN

When Karl Eklund took over a lease on a certain two-story frame building at Brookton during the fall of 1912, he secured possession of a hotel building and not a barn, according to the understanding of Ora Shur, who leased the property.

In district court today, Mrs. Shur is plaintiff in an action to recover damages to the building during the period of the lease. After Eklund got through with the place, she alleges, she found that large spikes and nails had been driven into the walls, windows and transoms had been broken, holes cut into the floor and a wealth of filth left in the basement. The place was conducted by Eklund as the Sherman hotel.

The hotel was leased by Eklund for a period of one year from Nov. 25, 1912. She asserts that during that period the building depreciated in value to the extent of $1,000. In a second cause of action she is seeking to recover $200 for personal property not returned with the building according to the lease. She says that her dishes were broken and that Eklund had given away or otherwise disposed of her mattresses and bed springs.

Eklund who is now working in a lumber camp twenty-four miles north of Brookston, in his answer admits that he drove a few nails in the walls so that his guests could hang their coats and hats up, but denies that he damaged the building.

Eklund in a counter claim asks for $200 damages. He asserts that carpenters employed by Mrs. Shur in laying a new hardwood floor in the hotel after he had taken possession made so much noise at their work that his patrons were driven away.

Iron Company Incorporates.
The Barton Iron company, capitalized at $300,000, filed articles of incorporation today with Charles Calligan, register of deeds. The company is organized to engage in a general mining and land business. The incorporators are George H. Gamble, S. F. Sniveley, A. T. Rock, William S. Rider and Frank A. Barber.

Many Shade Camels.
Duluth temple, No. 186, Camels of the World, initiated twenty-seven novitates last evening and the attendance was exceedingly large. The lodge is growing at such a rate that the K. P. hall is too small to accommodate the members in meeting, and it is expected that other quarters, together with club rooms, will have to be secured before long. It is expected that two special carloads of Minneapolis members of the order will visit here in about a week, at which time there will be a big celebration in their honor.

Will Plead Guilty.
George Worthington, who was bound over to the grand jury last week on a charge of grand larceny, will plead guilty on information this afternoon before one of the district court judges. He will be sentenced today. Worthington is accused of having stolen a $20 bolt of silk in the Freimuth store on Feb. 17.

IS "WORKING" LANDLADIES

Somewhere in Duluth there is a well-dressed man, perhaps even now obtaining a room from an unsuspecting landlady and later asking her to lend him $1 until he returns in the evening. And if she is a wise landlady, she will not only refuse him the $1 and also the room, but will immediately telephone police headquarters, for the authorities here are looking for just that man.

Chief Troyer has received several complaints in the last two days from landladies. They all tell the same story, that of a well-dressed man having rented a room and then a minute later having borrowed $1 "for a couple of hours." Of course, the man never returns.

Just how many dollars this man has obtained the police are unable to say. It is also believed that he is the same man who worked in Superior earlier in the week. At any rate Chief Troyer asks that a close watch be kept and the police notified as soon as possible.

The man claims to be a musician. He says his home is in Boston. He is described as wearing a gray overcoat and soft hat.

FACIAL ERUPTIONS ITCHED VERY MUCH

Baby Almost Blind at Times. Scratched and They Got Larger. Cried All the Time. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

201 Berger Ave., Kansas City, Kansas. —"My baby was bothered very much with some kind of facial eruptions and she was almost blind at times from the sores that formed on her face. At the beginning there were one or two little pimples that broke out on my baby's face that itched very much. She scratched them so much that they began to get larger and scattered over her face more until her face was full of sores. Then they got so bad that she began to fret and would not sleep very much. She cried all the time. Her face began to look very badly as the places grew larger and were getting worse all the time.

"I had some Cuticura Soap and I kept her face washed with the Cuticura Soap until I got a box of the Cuticura Ointment. It was about three weeks when I could see the change for the better. She did not want to scratch so much and she began to sleep better and did not cry so much. In ten weeks she was all healed up. I used one cake of Cuticura Soap and just two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and they did the work; they cured her." (Signed) Albert Tillman, May 31, 1913.

Why not have a clear skin, soft white hands, a clean scalp and good hair? It is your birthright. Cuticura Soap with an occasional use of Cuticura Ointment will bring about these coveted conditions in most cases when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

HIGHER RATES DUE MARCH 25

The Duluth traffic commission may have another fight on its hands to have railroad freight rates properly adjusted so that Duluth does not get the worst of it. This fight, if it comes, will be before the state railroad and warehouse commission and will concern rates between Duluth and the Twin Cities. Just now the commission is considering the matter.

The rates in question will go into effect on March 25, and will affect all interstate roads between here and the Twin Cities. The roads will put into effect the maximum rates prescribed by the commission as a basis and G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission says that it will be a material increase over present rates, and will greatly reduce the spread between here and the Twins.

Under the present schedule rates per 100 pounds for the distance mentioned were as follows:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5
Rates	35	30	23	17	10

Under the new schedule they will be as follows:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5
Rates	41.4	34.5	27.6	20.7	16.6

GUN "TOTER" GETS LIMIT

Judges of the police court will not tolerate the carrying of revolvers and whenever a prisoner arraigned on such a charge is unable to give a satisfactory explanation, the maximum penalty or very close to it, is being imposed.

This morning George Savich, 28 years old, pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was unable to give a good reason why he should carry a revolver and Judge Cutting fined him $100 or sixty days on the work farm. Savich is unable to pay the fine and will have to spend the next two months on the farm.

Savich was arrested last evening by Detectives Toewe and Bradley, who saw the revolver fall out of his pocket. He was in a drunken condition and while attempting to get up from the sidewalk on West Michigan street, the firearm fell out of his hip pocket. The detectives immediately placed Savich under arrest and upon examining his revolver, found it was loaded.

The action of the court in inflicting maximum penalties for those who violate this ordinance, is being taken to place a stop to the carrying of guns. Only a month ago Patrolman Mooney was killed while attempting to make an arrest at New Duluth.

"MURDER" REPORT IS NEWS TO POLICE

Believing the report they received that their daughter, Mrs. Jessie Harris, colored, had been murdered in Duluth early this week, Mr. and Mrs. David Willis of Gibson City, Ill., have written Chief Troyer for full information and clippings from newspapers telling of the brutal crime.

But as far as the chief can learn, there was no murder committed here this week, at least to his knowledge. And from the records there was no Mrs. Harris killed here at any time in the last two or three years.

Just how Mr. and Mrs. Willis got such a report, Chief Troyer is unable to say. The letter to the head of the police department states that the woman's mother is distracted and on the point of death. He wired her this morning, assuring her that the report was a mistake and entirely erroneous, as far as he can learn.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE

K. D. Van Wagenen, agricultural agent for St. Louis county, has prepared a schedule for short courses in practical farming to be given during the months of March, April and May in a number of the nearby rural communities. In all but one case, the courses will be three-day affairs with two sessions daily.

The work contemplated by the county agent is for the purpose of giving to the farmers and school children instruction of a practical kind on up-to-date methods of farming in St. Louis county. The lectures will apply only to local conditions.

School children as well as their parents will be urged to attend the sessions. As an incentive to stimulate interest in the younger generation, the farmers' club in each locality has agreed to put up a prize for the school child submitting the best descriptive essay of the subjects covered by the short course. The essays will be judged and graded by a committee of farmers.

Two sessions will be held daily, the first at 1:30 p. m. and the second at 7:30 p. m. On the first day, A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, will give an address on "Land Clearing and Dairying" and M. J. Thompson of the Northeastern Minnesota experimental station located near this city will discuss "Farm Management" and "Soils."

On the second day, A. B. Hostetter, district agricultural agent with headquarters in Duluth, will speak on "Potatoes and Home Gardens." Fred Ward of this city, former county agricultural agent, but now superintendent of the joint county and city work farm, will speak on "Cooperation."

The sessions of the third day will be devoted to addresses to be given by K. D. Van Wagenen, county agricultural agent, on "Feeds and Feeding," and T. E. Chapman and others on the subject of "Poultry."

The following schedule will be followed:

March 24, 25 and 26, under auspices of the Jackson Farmers' club, at Jackson school on Lake road.

March 30, April 1 and 2, under joint auspices of the Garfield Farmers' club and the Farmers' Produce club, at the Woodman hall, Hermantown.

April 7, 8 and 9, Farmers' Improvement club, at the Adolph school.

April 21, 22 and 23, Homestead Farmers' club, Molde, at the town hall of the town of Duluth.

April 27, 28 and 29, Svea Farmers' club, Palo and the new club hall.

May 1 and 2, Bear River Farmers' club at Bear River.

NEW WINE IN OLD BOTTLES

In the world of Commerce, Finance and Religion you will find "new wine in old bottles." Many a man has found this to be true to his sorrow. It is another way of saying "All that glitters is not gold." The wolf in sheep's clothing is waiting for the innocent and the unwary. Sometimes you wonder if there are any fools left in the world; but they say one is born every day. Note the "gold brick" swindles in this day of enlightenment, the "bursting bubbles of Finance," the high steppers with champagne appetites and the beer pocketbooks. But this is the mere froth on the great sea of humanity. Underneath is the solid foundation, folks of sound principle, thrifty, buying with caution, conserving their resources, the "Savings Banks" crowd.

These are the people who buy Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal. No bubbles to burst, no wolf in sheep's clothing, no gold bricks, nor new wine in old bottles when Pittsburgh's PITTSTON is in your bin. It never fools nor fails. This incomparable coal costs no more than the ordinary kind. Delivered anywhere, any time. You are guaranteed against inefficient fuel and short weights.

PINE RIVER, MINN., HAS HEAVY FIRE

Pine River, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire starting about 7 this morning did damage estimated at $10,000. The fire raged fiercely for several hours during which it destroyed the Pine hotel, E. W. Olson's saloon and Pembleton's confectionary store. The whole town seemed threatened.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Little, a barber located at Minnewaukan, N. D., for four or five years until within the last four or five months, committed suicide at the Hotel Waldorf here by taking carbolic acid. Since last fall he had resided in Minneapolis, and the acid used by him was purchased at the Thompson drug store in that city. Little was about 50 years old. He had 8 cents on his person and had appeared despondent.

WISCONSIN MAN AND WIFE HEROES

Boston, Feb. 28.—Emil Dyo, a former University of Wisconsin athlete, and his young wife are heroes of department house fire in the Back Bay district. They groped through flaming, smoke-filled hallways to the room of a woman who had fainted and carried her to safety.

Go Whizzing By The U. S. Government Building

Nearly every day the fire department's autos go whizzing by the U. S. Government Building on their way to some home that is afire. Many of these homes are totally destroyed, leaving nothing but ashes, and many times the family will be weeping because they have been careless in not protecting themselves by carrying a little fire insurance.

ALASKA NOT SCRATCHED

E. C. Howard Returns to Duluth After Absence of Twenty-one Years.

E. C. Howard, brother of John and Jay Cooke Howard of Duluth, is back from Alaska after an absence of twenty-one years.

Mr. Howard is in the mining business at Ketchikan, a town in the southeastern part of Alaska, having about 3,000 inhabitants.

"Cold?" repeated the long-absent former resident of Duluth—"not as cold as it is here. About zero in the winter time. A little snow on the mountain top—a little ice when it is coldest—there you have the weather at Ketchikan.

"Alaska hasn't been scratched as yet. If the proposed railroad is built from Port Wells to the Yukon river, making it possible to avoid the White Horse pass in the shipping of goods, I am willing to believe that the population of Alaska will be increased to 500,000 people within a very short time.

"We have only one railroad up there—and that is only about a hundred miles in length. We have the resources for millions of people—and we have only 45,000.

Low Grade Ores.

"English syndicates are entering into the mining of low grade gold ore. You see the improved methods of getting the gold out have made it possible to mine ore that prospectors and capitalists would have scoffed at some years ago.

"I believe the people are very well satisfied with the present form of government. Sentiment in Alaska is very much against the big grabber. Some interests don't dare to take over some coal lands at the present time as public sentiment is too strong against this sort of thing. But, remember, the resources of Alaska have not been touched and there is plenty for every one.

"No one knows of the vast richness and resources of this possession of the United States. Also you don't know the climate. Why, even in the Far North it is not any colder than I have seen it up at Tower, years ago. You malign us. We can grow wheat and other cereals. We have electric power and all of the modern conveniences. We have two daily newspapers in Ketchikan.

"Recently a Chicago capitalist asked me if we could cable to Alaska. Bless you, yes. We get all the cable news from the states. It costs me $24 a year to take the two daily newspapers of Ketchikan, but think of the fun I have reading them. We don't think that it is a lot to pay for reading matter—no, indeed.

"We have cables, telephones, automobiles and lots of other things. We are civilized and contented and comfortable. You people have read some of Jack London's stories and have gotten a wrong opinion; you think it is all passes and frozen trails and 60 below zero weather. Why, man, I have not been warm since I struck Duluth; the climate here is much colder.

"We have more college graduates to the square inch in Ketchikan than you have ever had here—or perhaps may ever have. Alaska is a country of the future, so watch it go."

Mr. Howard is the guest of his brother, John, and will remain in Duluth for some time.

LAST DAY TO PAY TAXES

Today is the last day for the payment of 1913 personal property taxes without penalty. On Monday a 10 per cent penalty will attach to all delinquent taxes.

County Treasurer George H. Vivian report sthat the collection of the 1913 personal property tax has been very satisfactory and that the percentage of delinquents will not be larger than usual.

The Duluth Street Railway company, the largest personal property taxpayer in the county, yesterday sent in its check for $46,178.51, covering its personal property tax amounting to $45,455.51 and a tax of $723 on money and credits.

Other larger firms which have paid since yesterday noon are: Kelley-Howe-Thompson company, $7,750.38; City National bank, $11,016.69, and Virginia & Rainy Lake company for property at Duluth and at Virginia, $32,557.10.

'TWAS A HOTEL, NOT A BARN

When Karl Eklund took over a lease on a certain two-story frame building at Brookton during the fall of 1912, he secured possession of a hotel building and not a barn, according to the understanding of Ora Shur, who leased the property.

In district court today, Mrs. Shur is plaintiff in an action to recover damages to the building during the period of the lease. After Eklund got through with the place, she alleges, she found that large spikes and nails had been driven into the walls, windows and transoms had been broken, holes cut into the floor and a wealth of filth left in the basement. The place was conducted by Eklund as the Sherman hotel.

The hotel was leased by Eklund for a period of one year from Nov. 25, 1912. She asserts that during that period the building depreciated in value to the extent of $1,000. In a second cause of action she is seeking to recover $200 for personal property not returned with the building according to the lease. She says that her dishes were broken and that Eklund had given away or otherwise disposed of her mattresses and bed springs.

Eklund who is now working in a lumber camp twenty-four miles north of Brookston, in his answer admits that he drove a few nails in the walls so that his guests could hang their coats and hats up, but denies that he damaged the building.

Eklund in a counter claim asks for $200 damages. He asserts that carpenters employed by Mrs. Shur in laying a new hardwood floor in the hotel after he had taken possession made so much noise at their work that his patrons were driven away.

HIGHER RATES DUE MARCH 25

The Duluth traffic commission may have another fight on its hands to have railroad freight rates properly adjusted so that Duluth does not get the worst of it. This fight, if it comes, will be before the state railroad and warehouse commission and will concern rates between Duluth and the Twin Cities. Just now the commission is considering the matter.

The rates in question will go into effect on March 25, and will affect all interstate roads between here and the Twin Cities. The roads will put into effect the maximum rates prescribed by the commission as a basis and G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission says that it will be a material increase over present rates, and will greatly reduce the spread between here and the Twins.

Under the present schedule rates per 100 pounds for the distance mentioned were as follows:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5
Rates	35	30	23	17	10

Under the new schedule they will be as follows:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5
Rates	41.4	34.5	27.6	20.7	16.6

GUN "TOTER" GETS LIMIT

Judges of the police court will not tolerate the carrying of revolvers and whenever a prisoner arraigned on such a charge is unable to give a satisfactory explanation, the maximum penalty or very close to it, is being imposed.

This morning George Savich, 28 years old, pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was unable to give a good reason why he should carry a revolver and Judge Cutting fined him $100 or sixty days on the work farm. Savich is unable to pay the fine and will have to spend the next two months on the farm.

Savich was arrested last evening by Detectives Toewe and Bradley, who saw the revolver fall out of his pocket. He was in a drunken condition and while attempting to get up from the sidewalk on West Michigan street, the firearm fell out of his hip pocket. The detectives immediately placed Savich under arrest and upon examining his revolver, found it was loaded.

The action of the court in inflicting maximum penalties for those who violate this ordinance, is being taken to place a stop to the carrying of guns. Only a month ago Patrolman Mooney was killed while attempting to make an arrest at New Duluth.

"MURDER" REPORT IS NEWS TO POLICE

Believing the report they received that their daughter, Mrs. Jessie Harris, colored, had been murdered in Duluth early this week, Mr. and Mrs. David Willis of Gibson City, Ill., have written Chief Troyer for full information and clippings from newspapers telling of the brutal crime.

But as far as the chief can learn, there was no murder committed here this week, at least to his knowledge. And from the records there was no Mrs. Harris killed here at any time in the last two or three years.

Just how Mr. and Mrs. Willis got such a report, Chief Troyer is unable to say. The letter to the head of the police department states that the woman's mother is distracted and on the point of death. He wired her this morning, assuring her that the report was a mistake and entirely erroneous, as far as he can learn.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE

K. D. Van Wagenen, agricultural agent for St. Louis county, has prepared a schedule for short courses in practical farming to be given during the months of March, April and May in a number of the nearby rural communities. In all but one case, the courses will be three-day affairs with two sessions daily.

The work contemplated by the county agent is for the purpose of giving to the farmers and school children instruction of a practical kind on up-to-date methods of farming in St. Louis county. The lectures will apply only to local conditions.

School children as well as their parents will be urged to attend the sessions. As an incentive to stimulate interest in the younger generation, the farmers' club in each locality has agreed to put up a prize for the school child submitting the best descriptive essay of the subjects covered by the short course. The essays will be judged and graded by a committee of farmers.

Two sessions will be held daily, the first at 1:30 p. m. and the second at 7:30 p. m. On the first day, A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, will give an address on "Land Clearing and Dairying" and M. J. Thompson of the Northeastern Minnesota experimental station located near this city will discuss "Farm Management" and "Soils."

On the second day, A. B. Hosteter, district agricultural agent with headquarters in Duluth, will speak on "Potatoes and Home Gardens." Fred Ward of this city, former county agricultural agent, but now superintendent of the joint county and city work farm, will speak on "Cooperation."

The sessions of the third day will be devoted to addresses to be given by K. D. Van Wagenen, county agricultural agent, on "Feeds and Feeding," and T. E. Chapman and others on the subject of "Poultry."

The following schedule will be followed:

March 24, 25 and 26, under auspices of the Jackson Farmers' club, at Jackson school on Lake road.

March 30, April 1 and 2, under joint auspices of the Garfield Farmers' club and the Farmers' Produce club, at the Woodman hall, Hermantown.

April 7, 8 and 9, Farmers' Improvement club, at the Adolph school.

April 21, 22 and 23, Homestead Farmers' club, Molde, at the town hall of the town of Duluth.

April 27, 28 and 29, Svea Farmers' club, Palo and the new club hall.

May 1 and 2, Bear River Farmers' club at Bear River.

NEW WINE IN OLD BOTTLES

In the world of Commerce, Finance and Religion you will find "new wine in old bottles." Many a man has found this to be true to his sorrow. It is another way of saying "All that glitters is not gold." The wolf in sheep's clothing is waiting for the innocent and the unwary. Sometimes you wonder if there are any fools left in the world; but they say one is born every day. Note the "gold brick" swindles in this day of enlightenment, the "bursting bubbles of Finance," the high steppers with champagne appetites and the beer pocketbooks. But this is the mere froth on the great sea of humanity. Underneath is the solid foundation, folks of sound principle, thrifty, buying with caution, conserving their resources, the "Savings Banks" crowd.

These are the people who buy Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal. No bubbles to burst, no wolf in sheep's clothing, no gold bricks, nor new wine in old bottles when Pittsburgh's PITTSTON is in your bin. It never fools nor fails. This incomparable coal costs no more than the ordinary kind. Delivered anywhere, any time. You are guaranteed against inefficient fuel and short weights.

PINE RIVER, MINN., HAS HEAVY FIRE

Pine River, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire starting about 7 this morning did damage estimated at $10,000. The fire raged fiercely for several hours during which it destroyed the Pine hotel, E. W. Olson's saloon and Pembleton's confectionary store. The whole town seemed threatened.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Little, a barber located at Minnewaukan, N. D., for four or five years until within the last four or five months, committed suicide at the Hotel Waldorf here by taking carbolic acid. Since last fall he had resided in Minneapolis, and the acid used by him was purchased at the Thompson drug store in that city. Little was about 50 years old. He had 8 cents on his person and had appeared despondent.

WISCONSIN MAN AND WIFE HEROES

Boston, Feb. 28.—Emil Dyo, a former University of Wisconsin athlete, and his young wife are heroes of department house fire in the Back Bay district. They groped through flaming, smoke-filled hallways to the room of a woman who had fainted and carried her to safety.

Go Whizzing By The U. S. Government Building

Nearly every day the fire department's autos go whizzing by the U. S. Government Building on their way to some home that is afire. Many of these homes are totally destroyed, leaving nothing but ashes, and many times the family will be weeping because they have been careless in not protecting themselves by carrying a little fire insurance.

GARBAGE MEN TO BE TAGGED

Whether or not bartenders will have to take out licenses will not be known until after the city council takes final action on the much-discussed ordinance Monday afternoon, but whatever the outcome, it will have no bearing upon the fact that hereafter Duluth's garbage men will be required to secure licenses.

Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, said this morning that the city already has an ordinance regulating the handling and disposal of garbage which contains a provision enabling the department to license garbage collectors. He said that the enforcement of this feature will be started within a short time.

The health director explains that many of the men now engaged in garbage collection in Duluth have improper vehicles and that past efforts have shown that mere persuasion is ineffectual in inducing them to improve them. He asserts that they constitute a nuisance and an eye-sore, particularly during the summer months. He says that many of the wagons are so poorly constructed that garbage falls from them upon the streets; the most trouble is experienced at the incinerator because many of them fail to separate ashes and other incombustibles from the combustible garbage, and that many wagons are uncovered and no attempt is made to properly cover them when they are loaded to the top with stuff which smells as bad as it looks.

Dr. Webster declares that the best way he can see of remedying these conditions is to enforce the license provision of the ordinance, refusing to issue the garbage men a permit to do business in Duluth until they have satisfied the authorities that they have complied with the requirements of the health department.

All Rheumatism Curable

By Any Remedy Neutralizing the Acids, Dissolving the Solids and Removing the Cause.

One of the most important functions of the liver is to convert the nitrogenous waste product of the body into a compound called urea. After urea is formed it is conveyed to the kidneys in the blood and is removed from the system. When the urea forming function of the liver is impaired, the elements which in health unite to form urea are formed into a compound called uric acid. If the kidneys are healthy the uric acid may for some time be removed, but this extra work for the kidneys will soon derange them too. It is then that uric acid remains in the system. Next this poison is absorbed by the blood and deposited in the Arteries, Tendons, Joints, Muscles and Capillaries. If the joints are affected it is called Articular Rheumatism, Sciatica if the nerve by that name if effected. If the poison lodges in the muscles it is Muscular Rheumatism. Pain at the end of the spine is Lumbago. Often uric acid deposits in the musculature of the heart and we have Rheumatism of the Heart, the most fatal of all forms of Rheumatism. All Forms of Rheumatism originate from the same cause and attack the weakest part of the body, therefore all Rheumatism can be cured by any remedy which eliminates uric acid by dissolving the deposits, thus removing the cause. Rheumatism a Blood Disease caused by Uric Acid Successful Treatment consists of two things: First, to remove the acid present. Second: To stop its formation. No permanent benefit can be derived by clearing the system of uric acid unless you remove the cause. Lithia, Bicarbonate of Sodium, Salicylic Acid and Potash are given to neutralize the acid, but these drugs do not stop the formation.

THE TREATMENT THAT CURES

In treating Rheumatism and uric acid troubles it should be remembered that the skin assists the kidneys in removing waste matter from the system. Millions of glands exist in the skin and in a healthy person excrete about two pounds perspiration daily. During cold weather perspiration is retarded and it is then that Rheumatism sets in.

With Electro-Vito-Tox Absorb you are not subjected to nauseating drugs. It is a natural process, painless and pleasant. It acts by opening the millions of skin pores to let the poison out. This takes the burden away from the liver and kidneys, restoring these organs to speedy health. It further acts by regulating all internal glands which store the formation of uric acid. If you suffer with Rheumatism or neuralgia just convince yourself of this greatest of all cures for Rheumatism. A few Treatments will convince the most skeptical. Free advice and consultation.

CLUB FAVORS THE PAVING

Approves Council's Proposal to Pave Superior Street and Extensions.

The proposed paving of Oneota, Jenswold and Superior street was approved by members of the West Duluth Commercial club at its meeting last night. The first two are western extensions of the latter. The members believe that as long as the city commission had passed resolutions authorizing the paving of this thoroughfare that the city should be allowed to go ahead with the project and receive the support of the West Duluth business men.

The agitation against the proposed paving of this street raised by West end citizens was discussed. It was claimed that the principal objection was being made by only a few and that the majority in that end of the city did not care which thoroughfare was given the paving first.

"We want a paved thoroughfare between Duluth and West Duluth," said one of the members, "and as long as the city has authorized the paving of Oneota and Superior street route and no objection has been raised by the property owners, then we should oppose the project."

Only an informal discussion was held on the proposed damage suit by the city against the Canadian Northern railroad. The subject is to be taken up at the meeting next week.

NO SUBWAY THIS YEAR

Interested Parties Confer on Improvement for Highland Street.

The proposed subway under the tracks of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad at Highland street will not be constructed this coming spring.

This became apparent at a conference of the city council and a committee of the West Duluth Commercial club with W. A. McGonagle, president of the road, at the office of Works Commissioner Roderick Murchison, this morning.

President McGonagle said that the steel which would be required could not be manufactured and delivered before early in the summer. He also pointed out that a resolution passed by the city council directing the improvement of Highland street would have to lay over sixty days before any further action could be taken toward putting the thoroughfare in shape for traffic. Provided that all arrangements can be satisfactorily adjusted and the preliminaries started within a week or so, the building of the subway would hardly start before next fall, toward the close of the ore season.

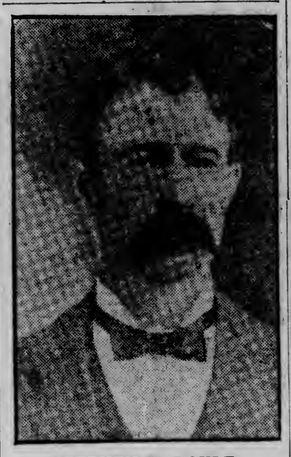

President McGonagle explained that it would be useless for the Missabe to build the subway unless it could be certain that Highland street would be improved. Without a good road the subway would serve no purpose and a wasted expense, as it would be inaccessible and traffic would continue as at present.

The D., M. & N. president said that the road would not build the approaches but would be willing to pay assessments levied against it for the work. He believed that the city should construct the approaches in conjunction with the improvement of the balance of the avenue. With a view to reaching an agreement on this and other phases Commissioner Murchison, City Attorney Clapp and City Engineer Wilson will meet with the road's attorney and engineer at the office of Mr. McGonagle at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The sentiment of the council is that most of the present grade crossings can be closed to traffic without causing any hardship. These would likely be discussed in further detail at the meeting Tuesday morning.

ONCE DULUTH "COP," NOW NOTED "DEEK"

Stephen A. Doyle of Spokane, Wash., was in the city this morning and visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Doyle of West Duluth. Mr. Doyle was a former member of the West Duluth police force but for some years has been at the head of the Stephen A. Doyle Detective agency of Spokane.

His latest case, which brought him much notoriety, was the clearing up of the assassination of Thomas Van Pelt, which took place on Feb. 15, 1898, near Chetco, Curry county, Or. This has resulted in the recent arrest of a brewery worker in San Francisco, as the man who committed the deed, and the arrest of the president of a bank at Colfax, Or., as the accessory.

STEPHEN A. DOYLE.

The history of the case, as told by Mr. Doyle this morning to The Herald is thrilling. It began with the "moneyed" interests of Tacoma trying to get control of the fisheries of that vicinity.

The plot to kill Van Pelt is said to have been originally made in Spokane. Mr. Doyle says that altogether $1,650 was paid to the assassin and his coworkers.

Mr. Doyle is at present on his way to New York city to confer with mining men for whom he has been clearing up a swindle which is alleged to have been worked on them by unscrupulous men in Oregon. He arrived in the city last night and this morning visited a number of his former friends in this end of the city.

WADE'S "KIDS" RETAIN BUTTONS

Frank Wade and his "kid" rink again successfully defended the championship buttons of the Western Curling rink last night against the Brown rink. With three down in the ninth head, the Wade rink laid five in the tenth head and came back again with two more in the eleventh, clinching the game. The final score was 9 to 12.

Iltis defeated Olson in the Burns' event by a score of 18 to 4. This gives Iltis' rink the opportunity of playing in the finals for the trophy against Quinn of the second squad. Only one game is scheduled for this evening. This will be played between Wieland and Evered in the Commercial club event.

Entertains for Congregation.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church entertained for members of the congregation and friends last night at the home of Mrs. Thomas A. Merritt, 2426 East Fourth street. A delightful program of music was given, following which the aid members served refreshments.

HUNTER DIES OF WOUNDS

Chris Grinden Succumbs to Injuries After Four-Day Struggle.

After hovering between life and death since last Monday, when he accidentally shot himself while hunting in the north woods, Chris Grinden, 31 years old, of 1023 Eleventh avenue east, finally succumbed to the bullet wound at 7:55 o'clock last evening at St. Mary's hospital, where he was brought following the accident.

Grinden's case was considered hopeless immediately after he was brought to the hospital and Drs. Magle and Ekblad, who attended the injured man, held out no hopes whatever for his recovery. The fact that he lived more than four days with a severed spinal cord is surprising to the attending physicians.

In company with a trio of friends, Grinden was returning home last Monday afternoon from a hunting trip of a few days when the accident occurred. He stumbled while crossing a field just a short distance from Milepost 47 on the Alger-Smith line and accidentally discharged his .22 caliber rifle, the bullet entering just above the left shoulder blade. It partly severed his spine.

The other hunters ran to a nearby farm and obtained a sled on which Grinden was brought to the Alger-Smith line and later transferred at Knife River to a Duluth & Iron Range train, which brought the wounded man to Duluth.

Besides a widow, Grinden is survived by three children. They are Harold, Myrtle and Erling, all of Duluth. He was employed as clerk for the Kelly-How-Thomson company for several years and was very well known among the younger men of the city. He was a member of Company C, Minnesota National guard, and that body will turn out en masse to the funeral, which will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Crawford undertaking rooms. Rev. Theodore Austad of the Bethesda Swedish Lutheran church will officiate and interment will be at the Park Hill cemetery.

Three Horse Thieves Sentenced.

Minot, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three border horse thieves were sentenced to the state penitentiary by Judge Leighton. William Badger got eighteen months, William Doran six months, and Frank Badger eighteen months. Doran was arrested at Estevan, Can., by mounted police, for stealing horses and cattle near Flaxton, N. D. The Badger brothers were implicated in the cattle theft only.

GIVEN ONE DAY OF GRACE

Income Tax Reports May Be Filed Until Monday, at 10 P. M.

Owing to the fact that the last "due date" for filing income tax statements falls on Sunday, March 1, one day of grace will be granted at the Duluth internal revenue office. It has been arranged to keep the office open Monday until 10 p. m. so that plenty of time may be given and penalties for delinquency avoided. The law provides in such cases as follows:

"When the due date as defined falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, the last due date will be held to be the day next following such Sunday or legal holiday, and the return should be made to the collector not later than such following day, or if placed in the mails, it should be posted in ample time to reach the collector's office under ordinary handling of the mails, on or before the date on which the return is thus made due in the office of the collector."

Many persons may subject themselves to a penalty owing to misinformation about the law or a misunderstanding of it. It is necessary for every person, whether married or single, who had an income of $2,500 or over from March 1 to Jan. 1 to file a report and claim exemption. Single persons are allowed an exemption of $2,500 and married persons of $3,333 for the ten months, but a married man earning between $2,500 and $3,333 must file his report and claim exemption.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

CHASE MAY FLOP TO THE FEDERALS

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Mordecai Brown of St. Louis, Mo., and George Stovall of Kansas City, Mo., were the first managers to submit a complete list of ball players to the club owners who gathered here today for an important meeting of the Federal league. Neither would make public his lineup, but each claimed to have a strong team. Both Brown and Stovall expect to add some good men before the season starts.

Reports that Hal Chase, the Chicago Americans' first baseman, was wavering between re-signing with the White Sox and joining the Federals could not be confirmed here. Stories from the coast indicated that Chase was a "holdout" and it was intimated that only the reserve clause held him for the White Sox.

CROSSES ANDES IN AMERICAN AUTO

Washington, Feb. 28.—An American-built automobile driven by Johnson Martin of Glenridge, N. J., a Princeton football player of recent years, has succeeded in crossing the Andes, thus achieving a victory for which automobiles of a number of foreign makes have been striving for the last five years or more. A cablegram today to the Pan-American union, announced Martin's arrival in Santiago, Chile, from Buenos Ayres, Argentina.

A number of attempts to cross the Andes in aeroplanes have failed. Martin crossed the backbone of the South American continent at a height of more than 13,000 feet, through the famous Uspallata pass.

Auto Turtles; One Killed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—Paul Frederick Stegal, employe of a Los Angeles automobile firm, was killed today when his car, on the way to the Santa Monica grand prix race, struck a curb and turned turtle. Four men in the car with him escaped with slight injuries.

Blinded By Snowballs.

Litchfield, Minn., Feb. 28.—Harold Miller, a resident of Diamond Lake, a village a few miles from here, has lost one eye and is in danger of becoming totally blind as the result of blows received at Atwater last week from icy snowballs thrown by young men.

CARL GRAY GOING TO WESTERN MARYLAND

Will Change as Soon as Released By Great Northern.

New York, Feb. 28.—Carl R. Gray, president of the Great Northern Railway company, has accepted the presidency of the Western Maryland Railroad company, and will enter upon his new duties as soon as the Great Northern releases him from his present position. This was announced after a meeting here of the Western Maryland board of directors.

Mr. Gray succeeds J. M. Fitzgerald, who was elected to the presidency of the Western Maryland about a year ago in an emergency of the company's administration. He will also succeed Edward Adams as chairman of the Western Maryland, and will make his headquarters as chairman and president in Baltimore, thereby re-establishing that city as the principal base of the company's operations. It is expected also that a Baltimorean will be elected as a director to fill a vacancy now existing in the board.

The election of Mr. Gray, it was stated, will not alter the company's policy in connection with its contemplated terminal developments in Baltimore. Mr. Adams, who represents large German interests in the Western Maryland, will continue as a director.

FERN HOBBS PUTS ANOTHER LID ON

Salem, Or., Feb. 28.—Miss Fern Hobbs, private secretary to Governor Oswald West, won another victory for Oregon prohibition forces yesterday when word was received from County Judge Henry that the Union county court would meet March 4 and declare the town of Cove "dry." When a recent local option election was held in Union county Cove voted dry, although the county majority nullified the precinct vote at Cove. Governor West recently sent his private secretary to investigate conditions at Cove.

Miss Hobbs previously was instrumental in closing the saloons at Copperfield.

GOVERNMENT GETS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Paris, Feb. 28.—The financial debate in the chamber of deputies was the occasion for a supreme effort yesterday on the part of the Briandists to overthrow the ministry. The effort failed, however, as the government received a vote of confidence, 329 to 242. The general political opinion is that the government is in no further serious danger of defeat, unless some unforeseen incident arises.

Olive Lemire Commits Suicide Because of Ill Health.

Hangs Herself With Scarf Thrown Over Room Door.

Constant brooding over the fact that her ill health prevented her from working, is believed to have been the reason for the suicide yesterday afternoon of Miss Olive Lemire 33 years old, who was found suspended by the neck by a scarf thrown over the door of her room.

Miss Lemire was formerly employed at the Acme laundry, but of late was too ill to work and had been living with her sister, Mrs. Harold L. England, 510 Fifth avenue east, for the last few months. Members of the family say that she has been brooding constantly of late and that she often complained of her condition. She worked for the Acme laundry for sixteen years, giving up her position last spring on account of ill health.

Her sister, Mrs. England, left the house at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to visit a friend at Lakeside and had tried to induce Miss Lemire to accompany her. The latter refused, saying that she was not feeling well and that she was planning to rest. Mr. England, who is a lieutenant at the No. 3 fire hall, was at work yesterday, while Arthur, the 9-year-old son of the Englands, was at school.

When Arthur returned from school about 4 o'clock, he found Miss Lemire hanging from the door in her room. She had tied her neck scarf about her neck and by throwing the scarf over the door, managed to hang herself. The boy immediately called his father, who later notified Coroner McComb.

Coroner McComb examined the body after which he ordered it removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms. No inquest will be held, Coroner McComb being positive that the young woman took her own life.

Miss Lemire had lived in Duluth nearly all her life, having come here with her parents when but a year old. She is survived by her father, D. F. Lemire of 1021 Minnesota avenue, her mother having died in the spring of 1893. Three sisters, Mrs. Georgianna Mawdsley of Minneapolis, Miss Anna Lemire of Billings, Mont., and Mrs. Ingland of Duluth, also survive her. She was a member of the Good Samaritans.

The funeral will be held at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning from the Crawford undertaking rooms and at 9 o'clock from the St. Jean Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. Interment will be at the Calvary cemetery. Mrs. Mawdsley of Minneapolis and Miss Lemire of Billings both wired this morning that they will be here for the funeral.

Soda Relieves
Indigestion or Acid Stomach

Few stomach sufferers know that Indigestion, Sourness and Gases are not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but result always from acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluid and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we get a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we belch gas and eructate food or have heartburn, water-brash, bloating and nausea.

A well-known authority states that a 10-grain Sodagen tablet taken any time, followed by a tumbler of water instantly neutralizes these stomach acids; stops fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive tract. He says any pharmacist can supply a package of 10-grain Sodagen tablets as they are constantly prescribed for stomach acidity because of their harmlessness to the digestive organs, being composed of Soda, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. warned him to "keep his back up" and "don't let Cole break you."

Mrs. Buffum was found guilty last night. The jury reported at 10:30 o'clock after five hours and twenty minutes' deliberation.

Willis Buffum died on his farm near here on Aug. 24 last. Mrs. Buffum was charged with poisoning him because of her infatuation for another man. At the time of her arrest a confession was obtained from her by the authorities.

It is understood a majority of the jurors voted for conviction from the first ballot. Four were for conviction in the second degree. Shortly after the jury retired, Juror Gore asked whether a verdict less than first degree murder could be considered. Mrs. Buffum smiled when she heard the question.

Justice Brown said in his charge that if the jury decided that improper methods had been used to secure the confession that Mrs. Buffum poisoned her husband, the jury should not consider it. The confession in itself, he said, was not sufficient to convict, unless there was other proof that a crime of murder, first degree, had been committed.

In response to a question from the jury, Judge Brown said that the death of Laura Buffum from poisoning after the similar death of her father could be considered only as it illustrated the symptoms of poisoning and its effect on the human system.

Crowd Ate Lunch in Courtroom.

So great was the interest in the trial today that country folk began to arrive at 5 o'clock in the morning. They brought their lunches and sat in the courtroom until the jury retired.

Justice Brown at once pronounced the death sentence upon Mrs. Buffum, fixing the week of April 5 for her execution in the electric chair.

When Mrs. Buffum heard the verdict she was standing, and she remained on her feet without wavering. Beside her sat her mother and her little son, Francis, who awoke to hear the sentence. She kissed him goodbye. Her attorney at once moved for a new trial.

the committee at Houghton Monday, by hearing the testimony of the mine managers and owners. The strikers completed their case last Thursday.

Four congressmen spent the greater part of yesterday in the copper mines, having been at one time nearly a mile under the earth. They saw the rock mined and carried to the surface at first hand, and observed the conditions under which the underground employes labor. Judge Taylor of Arkansas was the only member of the congressional investigating subcommittee who did not visit the mines.

Saw Different Levels.

Led by Capt. John Knox, general superintendent of the Calumet & Hecla, the investigators descended first into No. 15 shaft on the amygdaloid vein. Hubert Laux, a striker, represented the union men, and Tom James, mine inspector of Houghton county, and two newspaper men accompanied the party. The congressmen were taken to a depth of about 1,800 feet and were given an opportunity to explore the workings on four different levels.

Coming to the surface after two hours below, the legislators doffed their rough garments only long enough to appease their appetites, and then went down again, this time into a working on the conglomerate vein, where conditions were somewhat different.

The committee were very attentive, and were efficiently led by their guides; and they were given opportunity to see many things about which the strikers complained of on the witness stand.

Laux said after the day's inspection was over that conditions in the mines were much better than they were before the strike, but that the miners had no guarantee that they would continue as they were unless they had the backing of a powerful union.

Saw One-Man Drill.

Two men were encountered early in the day's trip rigging up one of the so-called one-man drills. Laux called the attention of the committee to the fact, remarking that it was too heavy for one man to handle. Capt. Knox replied that miners were supposed to assist each other in setting up their machines.

On another occasion Laux pointed out three men pushing a heavy tram car, work which he said formerly was done by two men. The miners were found drilling within calling distance of each other, another condition which Laux said did not exist before the strike.

Capt. Knox and the mine bosses insisted that working conditions were not appreciably different from what they had been for years.

Congressmen Used Shovel.

Coming upon a trammer busy shoveling rock into a car, Mr. Taylor thought he would like to try his hand at it, and he made the dirt fly for a minute or two.

"I guess that's enough for me," the chairman said, puffing from the exertion. "Here, Howell, you try it."

Mr. Howell took the shovel, but paused after depositing the fifth shovelful and wanted to know of Capt. Knox whether he was working on contract or company time.

"On your own terms," the captain responded, laughingly.

"Then let Casey do it," the Utah representative said, with an air of finality.

Mr. Casey was willing, and he went at it like an old hand.

"I'll show you fellows that I can come back," he asserted, and the Croatian trammer looked on in silent admiration while the Pennsylvania miner-congressman filled the shovel three times as fast as the Croatian could have done it himself.

The investigators plan to go tomorrow to Lake Linden to investigate the stamp mills, and will resume their public hearings on Monday in Houghton.

range for the extradition of those whom he believed responsible for the death of Vergara.

Not Hopeful of Punishment.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 28.—Americans along the Mexican border were not hopeful today that the slayers of Clemente Vergara, the Texas rancher killed by Mexican Federals, would be identified and punished by Provisional President Huerta's government.

It was pointed out that the Mexican war department exercised little restraint over the isolated bands of Federal troops. While they took more hope from expected action by the division military chiefs; it also was remembered that Vergara already had been executed when Gen. Alvarez, in good faith, it is believed, promised his release unharmed.

Friends and relatives of Vergara have started an inquiry into the killing, in addition to the investigations being conducted by the United States government and the Texas authorities.

Body Desecrated?

Reports from Hidalgo, where Vergara was taken by orders of Capt. Apolonio Rodriguez, seemed to indicate an act of desecration on the body. Vergara was executed by shooting, and many believe the subsequent hanging of the body and its abandonment to the elements was a final act of humiliation toward the ranchman, who had protested when his horses were stolen.

The location of the body still was unknown today. It is hoped to bring it back to the United States.

Report By Sanders.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 28.—J. J. Sanders, captain of rangers, reporting to Governor O. B. Colquitt late yesterday, made the charge that Clemente Vergara, an American ranchman, was shot to death while in the custody of Mexican Federal troops, ostensibly en route from the jail at Hidalgo to Federal headquarters at Piedras Mexico. Governor Colquitt telegraphed Secretary of State Bryan again asking what method had been followed in an effort to apprehend those responsible for the killing of Vergara.

Capt. Sanders in his report says that on the morning of Feb. 13, five Federal soldiers commanded by A. Polonio Rodriguez crossed the Rio Grande to an island belonging to the United States, took eleven horses belonging to Clemente Vergara and then called to Vergara to come to the island on the pretext that Rodriguez wished to pay for the animals. Vergara and a nephew crossed in a skiff. When they reached the Mexican side, the Federals pounded Vergara insensible with the butts of their revolvers, then carried him to Hildalgo.

The capture was effected Friday, according to Capt. Sanders, and on Sunday Vergara was taken from the Hildalgo jail and started, under guard, ostensibly for Pidras Negras, but was shot to death after proceeding a short distance.

Vergara was born in Webb county, Texas, and had a pass to cross the river signed by Sheriff Sanchez of Webb county, and Garza Galan.

Carranza and Villa at Outs.

Juarez, Mex., Feb. 28.—It is spoken in whispers here that an alleged breach between Venustiano Carranza and Gen. Villa is with difficulty kept from becoming open rupture. In Villa's public documents, prepared by subordinates, Carranza is referred to as the "supreme chief," but it is said that Villa considers that merely a title. Carranza, it is said, does not pretend to issue orders to the leader of the forces in the field.

Hereafter Carranza is to be the sole mouthpiece of the Constitutionalists in foreign matters, and where foreigners are concerned, and it is pointed out as significant that Villa himself makes the announcement, which was received here today.

A house is being prepared here for Carranza. It is one of those confiscated by Villa from the wealthy Joaa Ochoa at the time he took over Ochoa's gambling concession. When the "supreme chief" arrives, he will be given a demonstrative welcome.

Villa has announced that hereafter the American authorities must be notified whenever a foreigner is arrested.

Perceval at Work.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 28.—Charles Arthur Perceval, the British consul at Galveston who was sent here to investigate the death of William S. Benton, today quietly continued his inquiry without seeking the assistance of American consular agents.

So far the British consul's activities have been confined to interviews. However, George C. Carothers, representative of the state department at Washington, and Thomas Edwards, American consul at Juarez, held themselves in readiness to assist Mr. Perceval, at his request or upon instructions from Washington.

Gen. Hugh L. Scott, commander at Fort Bliss, called on the British consul at his hotel yesterday, but it was learned from an apparently reliable source that Perceval did not broach the subject of his mission here. Mrs. William S. Benton, widow of the man who was slain, also called on the British consul.

Constitutionalist officers at Guarez yesterday received instructions from Gen. Villa that hereafter the American consul shall be informed promptly of the arrest of all foreigners.

Think England Acted Wrongly.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Feb. 28.—That England, depite its recognition of Huerta, should have made direct representation regarding the death at Juarez of William S. Benton at the hands of Gen. Francisco Villa, to Gen. Carranza, head of the constitutionalist movement, was the position taken today by those in close touch with Gen. Carranza. The constitutionalist chief, maintained silence on the subject.

"There appears to be some surprise among those in Gen. Carranza's confidence that the American state department should have broached the Benton matter to the Constitutionalists in behalf of the British foreign office. It was pointed out, however, that the English recognition of Huerta, the landing of British marines at Vera Cruz and the known relations between English capital and the Huerta regime, probably, in a measure, were responsible for the British foreign office's mode of procedure.

Villa's Report to Carranza.

Insurgent officials professed ignorance of the circumstances surrounding Benton's disappearance, asserting that the matter had been considered of but little importance until the arrival of the Carranza party at the border.

They said no first-hand information had been received by their chief since Gen. Villa made his report, which merely stated, it was said, that Benton had attempted the life of Villa, for which he had been tried and executed.

No comment was forthcoming on Gen. Villa's refusal to surrender Benton's body, because officials asserted that phase of the case had not been officially reported and hence could not be considered.

Bullion for Currency Basis.

Chihuahua, Mex., Feb. 28.—Governor Chao is arranging for the purchase of $3,000,000 of silver bullion to serve as a basis for a new issue of notes. Bankers, it is said, will accept certain ranches and houses, confiscated by the rebels, as payment.

Gen. Villa said today that his departure for the south is uncertain, and in any event will not be until after the Benton investigation commission has arrived. A rumor that the Federals had evacuated Torreon was denied by the general.

Ready for Chihuahua Trip.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 28.—George C. Carothers said today that he hoped to start for Chihuahua tonight. He will travel on a gasoline velocipede which is capable of running forty miles an hour. Carothers intends to remain with Gen. Villa throughout the latter's southern campaign. Charles A. C. Perceval, British consul at Galveston now here to investigate the killing of William S. Benton, continued his labors in secret today.

Some British Comment.

London, Feb. 28.—The Nation, a Liberal London weekly, in discussing the Benton case approves the decision reached by the foreign office that British intervention in Mexico is out of the question, and declares that it would be "criminal folly" to "order a wholesale killing" and upset the good relations between the United States and this country because a British subject has been killed.

The Nation maintains that a British subject who jeopardizes his life and property in search of riches in a country like Mexico does so at his own risk and the newspaper concludes with expressing the hope that nothing be done in this country to stimulate American intervention in Mexico by the force of arms.

The Saturday Review, a Unionist weekly, takes a very different view. It declares British prestige requires that a thorough investigation be made into the death of Benton and the fullest compensation be given from the outrage.

Condemns Bryan.

The periodical condemns what it terms Secretary Bryan's "tone of irresponsibility" as being inconsistent with the encouragement given to Gen. Villa by allowing him to get arms from the United States.

"The death of Benton," the Saturday Review continues, "has brought affairs to a climax, and the time has come when the United States should declare just what steps it proposes to take for the maintenance of the decencies of civilized life in a country in which it has predominant interests."

COLD WAVE IS HEADED THIS WAY

Spring has not yet arrived.

A cold wave is headed toward Duluth and there will be a drop of from 30 to 40 deg. in the temperature before night. The mercury is expected to go to 5 deg. below zero before morning, and there will be high northwest winds accompanying the cold weather. The cold snap will continue all day tomorrow and possibly until Monday.

NO MATRONS FOR PITTSBURG POLICE

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 28.—Married women are barred from appointment to the Pittsburg police force, according to regulations issued by Charles S. Hubbard, director of public safety, on the ground that single women will have more time to look after their official duties. Twenty applications have been filed for the four positions to be filled by women on the local force. The successful ones will not be required to wear uniforms, and will each be paid $75 a month. They will be subject to the general rules governing the police department.

LOST BOY FOUND AT SOO STATION

Two Harbors Lad Forgets Destination and Lands in Duluth.

Leaving Two Harbors this morning in company with his 10-year-old sister, Ruth, with whom he was going to Knife River to spend the day with an uncle, Tommy Bendig, 6 years old, forgot all about his destination and came all the way to Duluth. His sister had left him somewhere en route and it is believed she is now at Knife River.

Little Tommy was picked up at the Soo station shortly before noon by Patrolman O. Olson. He was all alone, he said, and was on his way to Knife River with his sister, but had lost her somewhere.

Patrolman Olson bought the boy some candy and then took him to police headquarters, where he is being held pending word from his parents. It is probable he will be taken back to Two Harbors this afternoon.

Mrs. Oric Bossnet is pianist and C. W. Towner is drillmaster.

A fair sized audience assembled at Odd Fellows' hall Thursday evening to listen to Prof. Rankin of the state university speak on the school question.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church will be held in the guild rooms on Wednesday afternoon, March 4, with Mrs. John Carruthers and Mrs. C. H. Connor as hostesses.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will meet at the church on Thursday, March 5. Mesdames Shunk and Hamerston will be the hostesses. Arrangements have been made to have Mrs. Kerr of Duluth, a prominent temperance worker, to speak on "Purity." Miss Adams of Duluth will sing a solo. For the meeting on March 19 it has been arranged to have Miss Remfrey of the public schools speak on "Child Labor."

Mrs. Harry Daraich and Frank Lighthouser won the prizes at the B. of R. T. masquerade last Monday evening.

Firebug Pleads Guilty.

Mott, N. D., Feb. 28.—H. D. Karchner of Bowman, pleading guilty to arson before Judge Crawford here yesterday, entered the state's prison to serve four years, the same sentence given Tom Leary, an accomplice, whose plea of guilty and confession ten days ago weakened Karchner's case. Karchner, a Bowman meat dealer, had three fires in rapid succession, originally supposed to have been the work of enemies. Fire Marshal Runge, however, obtained evidence revealing an insurance conspiracy.

ASK EXPLANATION AS TO PAVING

Commercial Club Invites Commissioners to Attend Meeting.

Commissioners Murchison and Merritt have been invited to attend the meeting of the West End Commercial club next Thursday evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, to fully explain what the commission will do toward paving in the West end this year. They will also be asked to explain why the commission intends carrying out the proposed paving for Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets in preference to the First, Vernon and Third street route.

Members of the club aver that the latter route is the one favored by the majority of the residents of both West end and West Duluth. They say that the latter route will also serve the greater number of people and will accommodate the fastest growing part of the city. The Superior street route, they say, is advocated only by a few who are interested in property along that route.

"Property owners on First and Vernon streets had their completed petition filed with the city and no such petition has been filed from the other sections," said George M. Jensen last night. "Our section is the one to be given the first attention if precedence is given."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS WOULD CO-OPERATE

The first attempt to bring closer co-operation between the Sunday schools of the Lutheran churches of the city will be made Tuesday evening at a conference to be held in the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street. Lutheran Sunday schools of all the various nationalities will be represented at the meeting by both teachers and the pastors.

A program of several addresses advocating closer union between the churches and the Sunday schools will be given by many of the local pastors. Among those who will speak will be Rev. Carl G. Olson of the Bethany church; Rev. John A. Krantz, pastor of the Elim Swedish Lutheran; Rev. J. H. Norvig of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran; Rev. J. H. Stenberg of the First Norwegian Lutheran; Rev. E. Wilfsberg of the St. Paul's English Lutheran, and others.

This is the first time in Duluth that teachers and officers of Lutheran Sunday schools have planned a general conference. Representatives are expected from all the Swedish, Norwegian, English, German, Finnish and other Lutheran congregations at the Head of the Lakes.

GIVES ADDRESS ON CARE OF TEETH

Dr. Wheeler Speaks to Mothers' Club of Bryant School.

Members of the Twentieth Century club entertained yesterday afternoon for the Mothers' club of the Bryant school. A program of several numbers including an address on "The Care of the Teeth in Children," by Dr. R. E. Wheeler was given.

In speaking of troubles of the teeth, the dentist said that 95 per cent of all dental trouble comes from improper care of the first set of teeth. Irregular teeth were caused, he said, by the second set cutting through too soon. Mouth breathing was one cause of decaying teeth. Decayed teeth, said Dr. Wheeler, are often the cause of stomach trouble, affect the hearing and cause other bad effects. He said that cold articles coming in contact with the teeth often cause abscesses. He recommended the use of a soft brush and luke warm water for cleansing the teeth, and rubbing the teeth up and down instead of back and forth, as is the common practice.

The program also included a musical program. The "Spring Song" by Mrs. Neil B. Morrison featured. Mrs. H. N. MacHarg gave two humorous readings, one entitled "Milandy on Keeping Young;" the other was an original character sketch. Mrs. L. A. Barnes, Mrs. H. N. Hugo and Miss Maud Grogan also appeared on the program. The Bryant school orchestra, led by Miss Katherine A. King, gave several selections.

ARRANGE FOR TRIP ABROAD

Many Duluthians Will Visit Fatherland in the Spring.

Fred W. Erickson of 2029-31 West Third street, is now arranging a special excursion to Europe for residents of Duluth and vicinity this coming spring, giving them an opportunity to travel together and to attend the centennial celebration at Norway and the Baltic celebration in Sweden.

It is expected that about 150 residents of this city will take this opportunity to visit Norway and Sweden and attend the celebration at Norway, which is to celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of the freedom of that country. The other celebration will be held at Malmo, Sweden, during May.

FRED W. ERICKSON.

Mr. Erickson, who has handled steamship tickets here for the last ten years, has arranged several special excursion trips chief among which was the large gathering of Swedish and Norwegian-Americans, who went to Sweden for the Olympic games in 1912.

Four separate parties are being arranged by Mr. Erickson for the excursions this spring. The first will leave Duluth on April 27 and will sail from New York on the Adriatic on April 30. The second party will leave here April 29, sailing on the United States on May 2. The third will leave here May 4, sailing on the St. Paul three days later, while the last party will leave Duluth May 6, sailing from New York on the Olympic on May 9. The steamers United States and St. Paul will sail direct for Norwegian points and are better suited for those planning to attend the centennial celebration.

Reservations for the various steamships are now being made by Mr. Erickson.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS UNDER DISCUSSION

Street improvements were discussed last night at the meeting of the French Naturalization club at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street. The principal talk was given by George M. Jensen, who spoke on the proposed paving program as outlined by the commissioners, and stated that if carried out as proposed, it would set the West end back ten years. He advocated the paving of First street in preference to Superior street.

A short program of athletics was also given. This included a wrestling match between two middleweight mat artists, members of the club.

Surprised By Friends.

Mrs. Charles J. Lundquist, 2014 West Fourth street, was pleasantly surprised yesterday afternoon by a number of her friends at her home. Music featured the afternoon's entertainment. The guests were:

Mesdames—
E. Turnstrom, C. Lundgren, P. A. Johnson, A. Hockstro, C. Erickson, O. Helstrom, V. Erickson, A. H. Dalh, J. Widmark, R. Erickson, J. Nyberg, E. Hegstrom, C. M. Lindberg of Superior, H. Petterson, A. Carlson, Miss Frida Nystrom of Superior.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. F. E. Lasky, 1210 West First street, entertained last evening in honor of the birthday of her husband. Cards were played, favors being won by Mrs. George Hollinger and Mrs. W. E. McLaughlin, James Beatty and George Hollinger. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames James Beatty, William Boehnke, George Hollinger, W. E. McLaughlin S. A. Rhode, H. Tuft, and Misses Freda Krieger, Ruth Beatty and Lillian Lasky.

Baptist Church Services.

Services at the Central Baptist church, corner of Twentieth avenue west and First street, will take place at the usual hours tomorrow. The morning subject will be "Transfiguration" and in the evening a stereopticon lecture on Burma will be given by Rev. C. B. endall of Hartford, Mich.

West End Briefs.

Rev. John A. Anderson, former pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, now superintendent of the Lake Superior district for Methodist churches, will preach tomorrow morning to his former congregation. He will preside Monday evening at a quarterly conference to be held by the congregation. Rev. Mr. Anderson is now residing at Menominee, Mich.

Rehearsals were held last evening by members of the Allen Bible class of the Grace M. E. church for its play "At the Union Depot," which will be produced by the class on March 20. The rehearsal was held in the church parlors.

Jonathan Anderson of Sleepy Eye, Minn., is a guest of West end relatives this week.

Harvey C. Youngquist of Oshkosh, Wis., is visiting in this end of the city for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Jeronimus of Chicago, former residents of the West end, are visiting relatives in the West end.

ADDITIONS TO LIBRARY

City Purchased 1,868 New Books During Month of February.

The Duluth public library has purchased 1,868 new books during the month of February. Many of these are costly works and the whole form a valuable addition to the library shelves.

The present buying campaign has been made possible by the strictly economic policy maintained during the year 1913. Despite the large sums entailed in repairs and necessary routine expenditures, considerable money was left over from last year. This money is being spent for new books. A large number of other new books have been ordered but are yet to arrive.

The list of nearly 2,000 volumes comprises fiction, children's books, dramatic works, treatises on architecture and landscape gardening and innumerable other topics intended to supply the greatest demands of Duluth readers. The latest consignment of books, which has just been received, is nonfiction.

Probably the most important work of this list of about 500 books is a large, handsomely bound and illustrated work on landscape gardening, architecture, house decoration and design. The price of this volume is equal to that of a score of smaller and less important works, and it should be used extensively by clubs, architects and designers. The work was compiled by Charles A. Platt.

Another interesting volume is the autobiography of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, which was published serially in a leading magazine, but which has been in book form but a short time.

There has been special care taken to secure works by authorities on the leading problems of the day, and domestic science, women's suffrage, modern philosophies, and industrial and historical subjects are amply treated in the new books.

There is also a set of three volumes on "The New History of Painting in Italy" by Hutton.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

A convention of the Lutheran Sunday school Workers of Duluth and Superior will be held on Tuesday, March 3, at 8 p. m., in Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. The program follows:

"Lutheran Co-operation in Sunday School Work," by Rev. W. S. Gable of Superior.

"The Aim of the Sunday School," by Rev. E. Lehue of Duluth. Discussion to be opened by O. H. Nelson of Superior.

"Qualifications of Sunday School Teachers," by Rev. U. J. Lockrem of Superior. Discussion to be led by Rev. J. H. Stenberg.

All the Lutheran Sunday schools of the two cities are expected to participate in this convention.

Mothers' Pension Expensive.

Wells, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mothers' pension law, a newly enacted Michigan statute, is proving expensive to some districts of the Upper peninsula. In Delta county alone it is estimated the act will cost the county $10,000 during the first year of its operation. At present nearly sixty fatherless or deserted families are receiving aid and several applications are pending. The average amount paid this winter for the support of children is $1.07 a week.

Netting "Rough" Fish.

Marquette, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Maj. William R. Oates of this city, state game warden, has awarded to Robert Grammer of Menominee a contract to free the Menominee river of its "rough" fish at and near the mouth of that stream. The work is now in progress, under the supervision of a deputy warden. Nets are employed. Game fish are replaced in the water and the others are sold, the state receiving a percentage of the proceeds.

Guarantee Cures

It takes a builder three or four years to learn his trade thoroughly. How long would it take to learn all trades?

The doctor who spends four years at a Medical College is incapable of treating with success all the countless diseases of men, women and children. He knows a little of everything, but nothing thoroughly. We cure diseases and weaknesses peculiar to men. This is our sole field. The true specialist never attempts to do more than he can do WELL. His persistent study, diligent research and scientific investigations are all on the line of a few diseases. A SINGLE CLASS OF THEM on which all his efforts are concentrated, and to which his entire practice is limited. Hence he becomes supreme in his chosen field.

We do not pretend to know all about disease; in fact, our knowledge is very limited and extends only to one class—DISEASES OF MEN. If you are afflicted with any disease that is peculiar to men, STOMACH TROUBLE, SKIN DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, RHEUMATISM, OR ANY OTHER DISEASE OF A CHRONIC OR NEWLY CONTRACTED NATURE, we invite you to consult us and promise you a cure. Twenty-six years of hard and constant effort here have given us the means, methods and remedies to effect PERMANENT CURES. We assist every afflicted man to clear up and out of his body all poisons, we free him from his bad habits, we cure his maladies and return him to perfect health.

We publish no names, though we have the testimony of hundreds of men, many of whom had been given up as hopeless. Our principles are HONESTY and INTEGRITY. We have no schemes to offer you, no "trial treatments," no cheap bargain cures, but we DO offer you the advantage of our strict professional honesty, our superior ability and our successful experience.

A personal examination of your case is most desirable, but if it is impossible for you to call, send us an account of your trouble, ask for a symptom blank, and we will give you the benefit of our knowledge by mail confidentially.

BAD BLOOD WILL CAUSE VARICOSE VEINS, will weaken the system and predispose it to Piles. We cure all acute as well as chronic diseases of men. Contagious Blood Poison, Swollen and Varicose Veins, as well as diseases peculiar to men. We cure your disease. We are well professioned in the science of healing chronic diseases of men. HICKEN BILL IS OPPOSED

Trades Assembly Declares Barkeeps' Ordinance Is "Pernicious."

Resolutions Are Approved By Representatives of Thirty Unions.

Branding the proposed Hicken bartenders' ordinance as "unfair to labor and not for the best interests of the people of Duluth" the Duluth Federated Trades' assembly, representing thirty unions, unanimously passed a resolution opposing the proposed ordinance at a meeting held last night at Kalamazoo hall.

The efforts of Commissioner Hicken to modify the ordinance met with no consideration at the hands of the assembly. The resolutions declared that "the ordinance is pernicious and unfair to labor and not for the best interests of the people of Duluth." It was further declared that it was oppressive in character and contravenes the provisions of article 1, section 2 of the constitution of the state of Minnesota, and article 14, section 1 of the Constitution of the United States."

Introduces Resolution.

A. G. Catlin, who introduced the resolution made the following remarks:

"While acting on a committee from this assembly in conjunction with a committee appointed by the bartenders' union, which is affiliated with this body, I attended a meeting of the city commissioners last Tuesday and observed, among other things, that a certain liquor license was revoked.

"I wish at this time to call your attention to the manner in which it was done: Owner of said license, who had been arrested and released on ball, was cited to appear, and show cause why his license should not be revoked. He presented a petition with names of personal acquaintances, certifying that he was of good moral character, and another petition asking that said license be not revoked until after the trial of the proprietor, which trial was to be yesterday. Still a member of the commission made a motion that it be revoked, and that motion carried with five 'yeas.'

"The proposition to license bartenders, is to be considered next Monday. That proposition was up for its final reading last Tuesday, but because of protest having been made, the proposed ordinance was amended by striking out what appeared to be obnoxious clauses and reducing the fee from $5 to $1. Those amendments carried. Therefore I believe the proposed ordinance can be expected to carry.

Class Legislation.

"In view of the manner in which this saloon license was revoked and concluding that a bartenders' license will also be revoked in a like manner, I wish to say that such legislation appears to me to be unconstitutional and class legislation. It has a strong suggestion of an iron heel of tyranny. Such procedure should put the blush of shame upon any American citizen to even tolerate, especially before the party has been found guilty according to the law by a properly conducted trial.

"Under the sovereignty of the Federal government we are assured certain inalienable rights, and to secure these rights our government was instituted by our forefathers, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed; so as not to have those blessings we received as a heritage from our forefathers abridged, ignored or disrespected in any manner, nor subject our rights under them to any impositions by any person or persons who hold office in the city of Duluth, I believe it is our duty to the respective unions which we represent and to our fellow men that we condemn any action by any commissioner or commissioners which tends to work an injustice upon any citizen of the United States in our city by imposing upon him the necessity of taking out a license to work at any vocation in the city, so as to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

For Good of City.

"I believe it to be for the good of the city to oppose any such contemplated action and therefore offer the following resolution:

"'Whereas, There is before the common council of the city of Duluth for its action an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to regulate the business of tending bar in the city of Duluth, providing a license therefor and providing a penalty for the violation of the same" and

"'Whereas, The said ordinance is oppressive in character and contravenes the provisions of article 1, section 2, of the Constitution of the State of Minnesota and article 14, section 1, of the Constitution of the United States.

"'Now, therefore, be it resolved, That it is the sense of the Duluth Federated Trades' assembly that the said ordinance is pernicious and unfair to labor, and not for the best interests of the people of the city of Duluth, and,

"'Be it further resolved, That the Duluth Federated Trades' assembly does hereby condemn the act of amending said ordinance by striking out what appeared to be obnoxious and still retained a principle which is contrary to the Constitution of the United States and of the state of Minnesota, and

"'Be it resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and a letter to the city commission be mailed to the city clerk, inclosing a copy of the resolution.'"

BOOKS READY FOR TEACHERS

An unusually large number of books has been assigned to Duluth school teachers to be read by them during their spare hours between now and the end of the school year. Miss Frances Earhart of the public library has obtained all the books in the list and has placed them in the reading room. Owing to the large number of teachers who are to use the books, it has been decided not to allow them to remove the books from the library.

It is an annual custom to assign a list of books required to be read by Duluth teachers. Following is the list now to be had at the library:

J. H. Bancroft, "The Posture of School Children."

Hermann Weimer, "The Way to the Heart of the Pupil."

A. J. Puffer, "The Boy and His Gang."

J. D. and F. W. Burks, "Health and the School."

Lawrence McTurnan, "The Personal Equation."

A. R. Wallace, "Social Environment and Moral Progress."

C. C. Boyer, "Modern Methods for Teachers."

Irving King, "Education for Social Efficiency."

G. Hodges and E. H. Sneath, "Moral Training in the School and Home."

Paul Klapper, "Principles of Educational Progress."

C. W. Hotchkiss, "Representative Cities of the United States."

S. H. Rowe, "Habit-Forming and the Science of Teaching."

W. H. Dooley, "Manual of Shoemaking."

F. J. Holtz, "Principles and Methods of Teaching Geography."

B. C. Gregory, "Better Schools."

W. C. Ruediger, "Principles of Education."

W. B. Guitteau, "Government and Politics in the United States."

R. O. Ray, "An Introduction to Political Parties and Practical Politics."

I. W. Howerth, "The Art of Education."

LARGE LUMBER DEAL CLOSED

The largest single sale of lumber made in the Duluth district in years has just been closed by Whitney & Barnes of Boston, who have purchased from the Shevlin interests 30,000,000 feet of No. 3 and better grades.

Fifteen million feet will be cut at the Fort Frances mill and the other 15,000,000 feet at Bemidji and Frazee mills.

SEED CATALOGUES ADVERTISE DULUTH

Duluth and Northeastern Minnesota are getting a good deal of valuable advertising in seed catalogues, which are now being scattered broadcast over the United States and Canada.

Special reference is being made to the soil and climate of Northeastern Minnesota, and attention is directed to the agricultural exhibition to be given next fall. Seed houses are calling attention to the good results obtained from their seeds in this soil and climate, as shown by the Duluth exposition.

THAW MAKES MUCH WORK

Old Sol has caused unusual activity in the works division and the park department during the last two days. His heated flirtation with this part of the globe resulted in aged Winter shedding tears. These collected into tiny rivulets which soon became streams.

To care for them hurry-up calls were sent for the street gangs and in all parts of the city men have been busy digging out ditches and thawing and clearing the storm sewers. Had this not been done Superior street and other thoroughfares along the lower parts of the city would have become miniature lakes.

Manager Henry Cleveland of the park department had his crews visit all the parks to open up the culverts. He states that the creeks looked as they do at the time of the spring thaws, except that the water was running over the surface of the ice. If the outlets were not opened costly washouts might result.

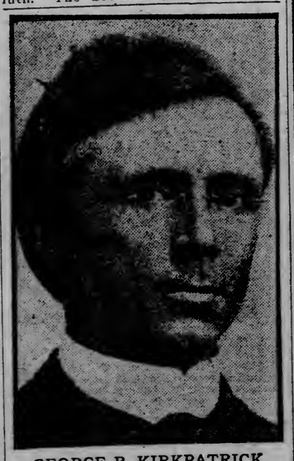

From now until all danger is past the gutters, storm sewers and culverts will receive close attention from the works division and the park department.

ANTI-MILITARISM ADDRESS.

New York Orator Will Be at Auditorium Monday Evening.

Next Monday evening at the Auditorium George R. Kirkpatrick of New York will speak on "The Iron Fist." His theme is anti-militarism, a subject to which Mr. Kirkpatrick has devoted a great deal of time and labor. He is author of a book on the subject called "War—Why?" which has been widely read. His speech will be under auspices of the Socialists of Duluth. The Socialist party has been making a campaign against militarism and recently distributed throughout the city a special anti-militarism edition of a leading Socialist paper. This engagement of Mr. Kirkpatrick is in line with this campaign.

Local Socialists have been informed that Charles Edward Russell, the noted Socialist and reformer, will be in Duluth on March 11 and will speak at the Auditorium at that time.

GEORGE R. KIRKPATRICK.

TRENHOLM CASE WILL GO TO JURY MONDAY

Both the plaintiff and the defendant having rested their cases yesterday afternoon, it is expected that the jury which is engaged at the trial of the $8,000 damage suit brought by Ephriam A. Trenholm against the Clouet Lumber company for an alleged false arrest thirteen years ago during the Cedar Island lake trouble, will take the case under deliberation Monday. The trial has taken all the last week in Judge Cant's division of the district court.

WILL FIGHT BOAT TRUST

New Canadian Vessel Company Forming to Oppose Merger.

News from Eastern ports is to the effect that the recently consummated steamship merger of Canadian lines, is not to get away without a fight. James Playfair, who was general manager of the Richelieu & Ontario lines, which were swallowed by the merger, is said to be forming another company that will be a large and formidable rival of the Canadian shipping trust.

Mr. Playfair has been in the vessel business for many years and was one of the few Canadian vessel men who opposed the merger. He declared at the time that he would stay in the vessel business but would not enter the monopoly. It is now said that he has obtained options on eleven American steamers, which, it is claimed, he will put in the passenger and freight business between Montreal, Chicago, Port Arthur and Duluth. This will cover the route that the shipping trust will operate on and will also tread on the toes of many American companies. A Canadian syndicate, presumably Mr. Playfair's, a few days ago purchased the steamers Minnekatha and Minnetonka, freight and passenger steamers of 4,000 gross tons each, from the Chicago & Duluth Transit company.

Mr. Playfair has had a varied experience in steamboating on the Canadian lakes, during which he has figured in two large steamship mergers. His first large venture was the Midland Navigation company, and subsequently he acquired control of the fleet of the R. O. & A. B. McKay Steamship company of Hamilton, the Northern Navigation company and the Inland lines, which now form a part of the Canada Steamship lines, limited, with headquarters at Montreal.

NEW LODGE INSTALLED

Grand Master Denfeld Officiates at Lakeside Masonic Ceremonies.

Robert E. Denfeld, as grand master of Masons for the state of Minnesota, officiated at the installation of Lakeside lodge, No. 281, A. F. & A. M., at the Lakeside town hall last evening. The new lodge was the first subordinate body to organize since Mr. Denfeld became grand master of the grand lodge.

John Fishel of St. Paul, grand secretary, and J. G. Bennett of St. Cloud, grand senior steward, were the other grand lodge officers present at the installation of the new lodge. Grand Master Denfeld, for the purposes of installation, filled the other grand lodge offices for the occasion as follows: E. K. Coe, deputy grand master, Edward Armstrong, grand senior warden; Hugh L. Boyce, grand junior warden; R. G. Borland, senior grand deacon; H. E. Grieser, junior grand deacon; Henry Nesbitt, junior grand steward; J. E. Cooley, grand standard bearer; C. A. Bronson, grand marshal; John Cox, grand chaplain; C. C. Colton, grand tyler; J. P. Johnson, grand sword bearer.

The officers of the Lakeside lodge, No. 281, were installed as follows: James A. Robinson, worshipful master; Jesse Norton, senior warden; W. A. Hicken, junior warden; Thorwald Hansen, senior deacon; F. H. Hamm, junior deacon; Frank Crasweller, senior steward, and S. E. Catherall, junior steward.

During a social session which followed the ceremonies, refreshments were served and brief addresses were made by Grand Master Denfeld, Warren E. Greene, grand orator, H. W. Richardson, J. E. Cooley, Edward Armstorng, John Jenswold, Jr., and Dr. E. H. Webster.

NEIGHBORHOOD HONORS JANITOR

Twenty-Two Years of Faithful Service Does Not Pass Unnoticed.

As a slight token of esteem and recognition of his twenty-two years of service as janitor of the Lakeside school, John A. Adolfson was the guest of honor at a reception last evening at the school, the occasion being his fiftieth birthday anniversary.

Teachers, children and parents turned out and the reception was one which he will long remember. There were speeches and music. During the evening Mr. Adolphson was presented with a handsome chair.

Miss L. Brooks, principal of the school arrange dthe party.

STUDENTS LEAVING; CHURCHES CLOSED

Scarlet Fever Epidemic at Champaign Not Yet Checked.

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 28.—The exodus of students from the University of Illinois because of the number of cases of scarlet fever, continued today, and the institution is semi-depopulated. R. W. Parker, a junior student from this city, was taken to the detention hospital last night, the latest victim.

The university library and the home of Prof. E. H. Decker of the college of law were quarantined.

The supply of fumigating material has been exhausted in Chicago, where large drug houses have sent to other cities for the quantity desired. Two more tons of disinfectants have been ordered.

The Champaign schools have been closed and pastors of churches requested not to hold services. The Urbana board of health decided not to open the schools or theaters until Wednesday.

ADMINISTRATOR NAMED.

L. W. Jutton Will Look After Holyoke Estate.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—L. W. Jutton was appointed by the superior court administrator of the estate of Frank H. Holyoke, the Maine lumberman whose will was broken several days ago by a jury after a contest by his son, Sydney Holyoke of Milwaukee. Jutton's bond was fixed at $665,000, practically the value of the estate.

Distribution of the property will await the outcome of an appeal by Miss Marjorie and Madeline Holyoke, nieces of the lumberman who were named by him as his principal heirs.

BLEASE VETOES SCHOOL INSPECTION

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 28.—"Before I would sign such a bill I would resign and go off into eternal oblivion," declared Governor Blease, vetoing a bill for medical inspection of children attending public schools in Richland county. The governor characterized such legislation as "outrageous, uncalled for, ill-advised and dictatorial."

SPREADING GAY GOSSIP FROM THE SPORTING BACK STOOPS

Commenting Upon Current Topics in the Large Field of Local and Foreign Sport With an Eye to Loving Kindness and Sweet Charity.

BY BRUCE.

WELL here we are, Bill, at the fag end of another week. Going out to the ski jump? Maybe we should say "yump." You better do, Bill—they are planning some great doings. Some tourists are already planted in our town—came all the way up from Minneapolis to see Omtvedt and some of the rest of them take the big slide. Go out by all means and get a peep at the stalwart sons in their big takeoff act.

This has been a strenuous week, hasn't it? Never mind that—the world is full of grief—back to the ski jump. Oh, very well.

Duluth has been longing for one of the good old kind of ski tournaments for some time. Well, here we are. Look over the field, gentlemen, and size up the contestants. The best in the land—the very best. The tournament of tomorrow afternoon should rank with any that has been held in the country this year—for there are Ragnar Omtvedt and Thorlief Knutson and the Haugen brothers, not to mention the countless others that will be on hand.

Notice where Anders Haugen won from Omtvedt and Knutsen at Mt. Horeb? We all devoutly desire to see the holder of the world's record in action on the big Chester Hill slide, and all of us are wondering if one of the Haugen boys or Knutsen or Barney Riley or somebody else will cop the laurels away from the long flight gink.

There hasn't been so much said about the amateurs. It is really the spirit of the amateurs that sustains the spirit of the game. In the flight that will leave the hill top in the going of tomorrow, some of the crack amateurs of the Northwest will compete for the trophies hung up by the club.

If ski riding is one of the popular sports of the city of Duluth, then surely the tournament of tomorrow will be witnessed by a large and, let us hope, joyous crowd. Class is emblazoned on the four sides of the show. Expense and effort have run extra laps in order that you and your cousin and others may witness the very best that can be offered. With a world's champion, a European champion and the best that can be secured in the Northwest, on hand, bless us, there should be some show.

Before the start of the big show we, merely as one of the sideline gallery, wish to pay our appreciation to those who through the years have labored unselfishly for the good of the sport and have devoted time and lavish effort to make the ski sport a gilded specimen of genuine success.

Let us hope that these efforts are crowned with the public's appreciation, for surely no detail has been overlooked in the long and ofttimes steep trail of accomplishment.

One Large Evening.

IT seems spaces ago when Pal came sailing back from Australia, coated with the tan of antipodean weather and the blow of the sea; and lo and sweetly behold, here we are on the eve of the Minnesota lad's encounter with another lad of Gopher brand.

Come to examine further into the matter this will be one of the first contests fought under the Hedman law wherein both of the lads are from the state of mirth and happiness. Brown and Tillman are both Minnesota boys, Gopher glovemen who have forged to the front in the flight for fame and the golden dollar.

Here we are not attempting to attune the reputation of John Tecumseth Tillman with that of Lawrence Franklyn Brown; not a bit of it.

Tillman has far to climb on the ladder of pugilistic fame—and so has Brown. But when you speak of the name of the former Hibbing youth you will get a rise out of the men who follow the doings of the lads of the padded fist. With Tillman it is not that as yet.

But Tillman hopes to gain fame in the setto with Brown and Brown earnestly hopes and confidently expects that a defeat, decisive and clean-cut, over Tillman will be the immediate means of meeting one of the leaders of the lightweight division. As we have stated before in this column, variously devoted to sport and the higher philosophy of life—Wolgast, Mandot, Cross, White, Duffy and the white haired youth, William Clarence Ritchie are the spot light heroes of the division. It is the hope and wish of Brown to meet an enemy and conquer—and in the Brown scheme of life Tillman is a means to an end.

Let us caution again that by all the creeds and laws of the dope, Brown should win. He is stronger, more experienced, can stand a harder punch, it is to be presumed—and has never been knocked off his feet.

But dope is exceedingly agile in hopping small obstacles such as logic and past performances, and there may be one large surprise when the two boys meet.

Jess and Large Zbyszko.

ALL of the barriers are burned away and the road is cleared for the contest between Stanislaus Zbyszko of Poland, an eminent citizen, and Jess Westergaard of Des Moines, Iowa.

Strenuous effort upon the part of Oscar Thorson, pilot of the Westergaard one, was required to make the Duluth match. Matches were cancelled in less important cities of the country in order that the huge Swedish athlete could come on and oppose the greatest of all the wrestlers in the world—with old Frank Gotch home handling the new baby.

In Duluth, Zby has been the prime favorite among the larger wrestlers, just as Mike Yokel has been the white haired kid among the smaller grapplers. The contest with Westergaard will in all probability mark the last appearance of the wrestler claiming the world's championship, in Duluth. It is doubtful if Zbyszko will ever come to the United States again for the purpose of wrestling.

A trifle over 30 years of age, Stanislaus Zbyszko is today in the prime of his athletic ability. The great Pole is a man of intelligence, a careful liver and an athlete who understands how to take care of himself. No wrestler in the world has gone through the strenuous campaigns that have marked the tours of the huge barrel-chested Pole.

Week in and week out he has met the toughest in the land, and while at times the incessant travel has become boresome to the Zby one, it is said that not once has Zbyszko complained of being stale.

Stanislaus Zbyszko is a natural cave man. His appetite is simply enormous, amazing even to men who are inured, one might even say, to the sight of voracious people stowing away huge quantities of food.

Perhaps it is the prodigious appetite that keeps Zbyszko working at an even tempo of force, for on a minute's notice the large one is ready to go in and meet the best they can send for him—and in Westergaard some real wrestler has been secured for the Pole.

Waino Ketonen will in all probability meet Mike Yokel at Salt Lake City on March 17 for the world's middleweight championship. News to that probable effect was flashed here yesterday by Will Thoronton, the Finn's manager.

Ketonen will oppose Sailor Jack on the night of the big doings, and it will be interesting to get a line on the ability of the Finn, for this sailor man is one of the toughest of them all.

Duluth and St. Paul.

AS you doubtless noticed in the sport column of yesterday, Duluth handball players are going to play the cracks of St. Paul during the coming week. Believe us, the games will be well worth watching.

Down in the Amateur Athletic club of St. Paul, back in the days that have flitted, some of the best handball players of the Northwest were nurtured. Some of these players are still engaged in the court game—and some of these players will oppose cracks of the Duluth Y. M. C. A. in the contest for the state championship.

We have some crack players here—the Wentlandt one, for instance—and they have some great players at the terminus of the N. P. shortline. The games should be close and well contested and contain the high power of interest.

Get Out and Row.

GO on and get out and row. The exercise will do you a lot of good. It will put muscle on your frame and place discipline at your command. It is a game that builds brains as well as brawn. It is clean and fine and is beneficial. It's hard work—but it's worth it. Rowing teaches co-ordination between mind and body. It makes a virtue of gameness and pluck. It places a premium upon clean living. It teaches both team work and self-reliance. There are hosts of other reasons why you should row, young men of Duluth—we can't think of any more right now, but they are there.

Do You Want to Become a Camel?

Then you must get a lump on you as the Charter closes on March 15; after that date it costs $30 to join the order in Duluth. Call on or write to the National Organizer, W. R. Hampden, 610 Alworth Bldg. He will furnish you with a blank application; fill it out and join with them, if you are sure that you can bear the Camel investigation into your character, etc.

CLASSIC DOG DERBY IN ALASKA

Race From Nome to Solomon and Return Is On; All-Alaska Sweepstakes On in April.

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 28.—The first of the classic dog races of the season of 1914, the Solomon derby, from Nome to Solomon and return, seventy miles over the snow, will be run today with five teams entered. There is no limit to the number of dogs in a team.

The drivers who will contest are John Johnson, winner of last year's Solomon derby; Fay Delene, winner of last year's all-Alaska sweepstakes; Scotty Allan, Percy B. Latchford and Fred Ayer. The record for the course is 5 hours, 47 minutes, 24 seconds, established last year.

The All-Alaska sweepstakes, 412 miles, from Nome to Candle and return will take place in April. The contestants in the long race must finish with the same dogs and equipment as at the start. If a dog is disabled, he must be carried on the sledge. Winners in either of the big derbies are honored for the remainder of their lives.

The introduction of the reindeer and the promise of railroads has not affected the place of the Eskimo dog as the chief transportation agent in Northern Alaska. The sled dog has as many points to be considered as a blooded horse, and when Stefansson bought dogs here last summer for his Arctic expedition, he picked them as carefully as he had previously selected his men.

Pedestrian Has to Quit.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28.—John H. Scott of Philadelphia, a veteran amateur pedestrian, who left here Monday to walk to Washington, notified relatives here today that he had been forced to give up the trip. Scott did not reach New York. Deep snow and biting winds handicapped his progress, he said.

WINNIPEG ALL-STARS ARE BEATEN BY DULUTH TEAM

Canadian Hockey Players Fail to Show Team Work and Lose 11 to 1.

Curling Club Team Shows Season's Best Brand of Hockey.

Slow ice and the fact that the members of the Winnipeg All-Star hockey team were not at all familiar with the playing style of one another, conspired to give the members of the Duluth Curling club team an overwhelming victory in the first game of the series last evening, the score being 11 to 1.

While it is believed that on hard and fast ice the visitors would have made the contest close, credit must be given to the home guards, who played the best game of the season and held the visitors safe at all stages of the game.

Some of the best work of the entire year was accomplished by the Duluth forwards in breaking up combination plays. In this bright particular the work of Arnie Olson stood prominently forth. Arnie was a defensive star and combined with Bill Bogan and peerless Joe Linder to stave off the great majority of the rushes of the visitors.

The fact that Monsieur Belleck had but eight stops is eloquent in praise of the work of the defense men. Connors at the hostile net was bombarded incessantly and stopped seventeen shots—and failed to stop a large number.

Team Work Lacking.

Where Duluth shone, and where the luster of the locals was blown in the Canadian countenances of the visitors, was primarily in the matter of team work and combination play.

It has been stated that as the season has progressed the play of the Duluth team has taken on remarkable improvement. The game the Linderites played against the invaders was the best of the passing season in point of team work, clever passing and the speedy and effective forming of combinations down the ice for the rush of the puck into the hostile territory.

One time Linder rushed the rubber up the ice, slipped it to Barkell near the cage, and Barkell finding himself blocked, passed the puck rapidly back to Joseph, and the gallant leader shot the goal at the yawning mouth of the Canadian cage.

In some of the games of the present season the three-men combination riding down the ice has been rare; last evening Kahler, Barkell and Grenner formed a rushing trio of offense times innumerable and carried the puck down for many shots.

Barkell was the shooting kid of the game. His puck heaving was hard and accurate and he was in the game every busy second of the contest. But Uncle Nick Kahler was also in every scrimmage and so were the other members, and it is not fair to individualize.

For the visitors Fred O'Connell was one of the livest members. Large Loughlin at point was another star. Turner, the spare, who went into the game when Goodie went out, did some clever puck-carrying toward the end of the game, but several of the other members of the All-Star team seemed to be at a decided disadvantage because of lack of team play.

Barkell Starts Scoring.

At the conclusion of six minutes Barkell intercepted a pass across the front of the ice near the Winnipeg net and shot a beauty from a position near the fence. It was a loft shot and a dandy.

Addaway got the second score of the game. The visiting center got the puck from the ubiqitous Fred O'Connell after the latter had taken it from Barkell near the sidelines, and shot the goal from a position directly in front of the net. It required the Canadians 14 minutes to make their first and only score of the contest.

Barkell made the next score after taking the puck on the Canadian side of center ice, and dodging two defense men, shot the rubber through. This was one of the neatest and cleverest plays of the game.

It required Barkell an even twenty minutes to make this score, and a trifle over four minutes later Uncle Nick Kahler shot the puck in from a lively scrimmage in front of the enemy's net.

The last score of the first half came in twenty-nine minutes when Barkell received the puck from a faceoff at the side of the Winnipeg net and slapped it in.

The Second Half.

Barkell took the puck from near the center ice and scored without assistance in just three minutes after the start of the second half. In just twenty seconds later Grenner shot one from scrimmage in front of the visiting net.

Play progressed past the twenty minute mark before the next goal was made. It looked as if the visitors were perking up a bit. In this interval of non scoring the Canadians did the best work of the evening. But shortly after the checking off of the twenty minute mark, Helmer Grenner shot a pretty one that bounced to him from the sidelines, the shot being negotiated from a difficult angle.

Three minutes later the Linder to Barkell to Linder stunt was enacted. Joe took the puck from down near his own goal, carried it nearly to the Winnipeg net, passed it to Barkell and received it in turn and promptly shot the goal.

Just a minute later Olson shot the puck whizzing across the ice near center to Barkell, and speeding down the sidelines Russell made the best shot of the game, lofting the puck into the center from over near the fence.

Olson made a goal shortly after a scrimmage and Nick Kahler completed the scoring of the evening with one from scrimmage just one minute before the calling of time.

McINTOSH PLAYERS CAPTURE TWO GAMES

McIntosh, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—McIntosh won two games last night from Fosston. The high school score was 24 to 20, in favor of McIntosh. The eighth grade of McIntosh and Fosston also played, McIntosh winning by the score of 15 to 13. The McIntosh and Fosston high schools will play March 7 on neutral grounds for the championship of Nortern Minnesota. The winners will play Carlisle. The game played last evening was witnessed by more than 500 people.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

STARS OF SKI WORLD TO COMPETE IN DULUTH

Officials of the Duluth Ski club announced today that weather forecasts pointed to ideal weather for the big ski tournament of tomorrow.

No matter what the turn of the weather may be, it was stated, it is expected that the condition of the slide will be nearly ideal. A large amount of labor has been done on the hill and it is expected to be in fine shape.

It was further stated that the roads to the grounds and into the grounds had been shoveled off and would permit the passage of sleighs, automobiles and other vehicles.

The children of the Duluth Children's home have been invited to be the guests of the club. There will be a large number of the children present, it was announced.

Star Riders Entered.

All of the crack riders of the Northwest are entered for the tournament. Ole Feiring and John Evanson, formerly of Duluth, have entered and will compete with the very best in the land.

Following is the complete list of entries:

Professionals—Lars Haugen, Chippewa Falls; Barney Riley, Mt. Horab; Harry Hall, Ishpeming; Carl Hall, Ishpeming; David Lind, Mt. Horab; J. Bratlund, Ironwood; August Nordby, Superior; Sig Hanson, Chicago; Anders Haugen, Milwaukee; Axel Henrickson, Blair; Thorlief Knutson, Chicago; Carl Lindberg, Duluth; Ole Mangseth, Coleraine; Ragnar Omtvedt, Chicago; Christ Overby, Hudson; Ole Feiring, Virginia; John Evanson, Virginia.

Amateurs—A. Gustafson, Ironwood; H. Feldseth, Ironwood; Sig Bergeson, Virginia; Bernt Hanson, Virginia; Al Forti, Virginia; A. Nylund, Virginia; Alfred Ern, Ironwood; John Jobe, Ironwood; J. Fieldseth, Ironwood; Nels Floan, Duluth; H. FEDERALS RECOGNIZED?

American Association Said to Have Working Agreement With Outlaws.

Arrange That Schedules Will Not Conflict as to Dates.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Followers of baseball believed they read between the lines of a story published in the newspapers that organized baseball had virtually "recognized the belligerency" of the Federal league. The story said that the Federals and the American association leaders had arranged to make their schedules so that conflicts in the two towns in which they are both represented—Kansas City and Indianapolis—would be avoided.

Such an agreement would indicate that the association, one of the biggest of the leagues in organized baseball, had decided not to make war on the Federals, but rather has concluded to enter into a working agreement.

President Chivington of the association denied that any agreement existed, but Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, said he had talked with Joe Cantillon, the Minneapolis association owner, and Joe Tebeau, the Kansas City owner, and that each had practically promised there would be no conflicts. Neither league has prepared its schedule.

The Federal league will withhold its list of players until the arrival of the ship bearing the world's tourists at New York. President Gilmore, who reached Chicago yesterday to prepare for today's meeting of the Federals, said there were four or five "stars on the ship" who might be signed by his league as soon as they landed.

"Red tape" surrounding the granting of a building permit for his grandstand has delayed the start of work on it, President Weeghman said, but caissons for it will be sunk next Monday.

Larry Schlafley, manager of the Buffalo Federals, has arranged for the transporation for his team to Danville, Va., which finally was selected as his training grounds.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 28.—Business Manager John M. Ward of the Brooklyn Federal league club, who was in Baltimore for a few hours today, received a telegram from Columbia, S. C., notifying him that his team may train on the grounds of the University of South Carolina at that place.

Ward left for the Chicago meeting of the Federal team to be held today. He was accompanied by Edward Hanlon and Secretary Goldman of the local Federals.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 28.—The National baseball commission yesterday upheld the national board in deciding that Player Clyde Parks was not the property of the Ottumwa club of the Central association. Parks as a free agent signed with the St. Joe club, and Ottumwa claimed that it had an informal contract with him. The national board ruled otherwise and was upheld by the commission.

BRYANT READY FOR BIG MEET

Duluth Skater to Compete With Speed Stars of World.

Frank Bryant, the little Duluth roller skating champion, is training hard for the world's professional championship races that will be held in Detroit next week.

In competition with the cracks of the skating world Frank will strive for honors and money. All of the stars of the little wheels will start and the local boy will find that he is going against the class of the world.

Following are some of the entrants, there being over seventy in the complete list:

Frank Bryant, Duluth; Frank Bacon, Detroit; Jesse Carey, Reading, Pa.; Roland Cioni, Milwaukee; Fred Martin, Milwaukee; Rollie Birkheimer, Columbus, Ohio; Rex O'Neill, St. Louis, Mo.; George Schwartz, Chicago; Allie Moore, Pittsburg; Fred Tyrell, Chicago; Al Ackerman, Piquoit, Ohio; Hogart W. KILBANE WINS DAMAGE SUIT

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 28.—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, won a $25,000 damage suit here yesterday. The suit was brought against him by his stepmother, Mrs. Bridget Kilbane, who alleged that he alienated the affections of her blind husband, who has lived with the champion since November, 1911.

Kilbane testified that his father, notwithstanding his affliction, had to do washing, make beds and peel potatoes in Mrs. Kilbane's boarding house.

Eighteen Cars Start in First Lap of Big Race.

Santa Monica, Cal., Feb. 28.—Eighteen racing drivers were ready to face the starter in the first lap of the fifth 403.24 mile international grand prix over the Santa Monica course this morning.

De Palma, winner of the Vanderbilt cup race Thursday; Barney Oldfield and Tetzlaff were favorites, with Earle Cooper and Edwin Pullen seconds. After Tetzlaff started, the cars left at fifteen second intervals.

To establish a new record for the contest it will be necessary to beat an average speed of 74.45 miles per hour. It is the first grand prix to be given in the West.

The first contest was in 1908 on Long Irland, Louis Wagner winning. Bruce-Brown won the second, held at Savannah, and also the third grand prix over the same course in 1911. On the latter occasion he set the average speed record. Caleb Bragg was first in the fourth contest which took place at Milwaukee in 1912.

QUINTS NEAR SEMI-FINALS

Varsity Inter - Fraternity Basket Ball Tournament Is Hotly Contested.

Co-Eds Have Tryouts for Contests to Be Held in March.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The interfraternity basket ball tournament is approaching the semi-finals. There are ten games left to be played, and they will probably be finished next week.

The teams are divided into four divisions and a winner has practically been determined in two of them. In section one the Sigma Chi team must be conceded the winner, since it has a perfect score and only one game left to play. Ex-captain Stadsvold of the varsity team has enrolled on his frat five since he has declared ineligible for interscholastic competition, and there is little chance of the Sigma Chi's losing the remaining game. Alpha Delta Phi has a clear date in section two. In the third division, a three-cornered tie exists between Phi Psi Zeta Psi and the Dekes. Delta Upsilon and Phi Gamma Delta are tied for first place in the fourth division.

The intra-mural schedule is being drafted by Doctor Cooke, and as most of the classes in the university have begun to choose their teams, the armory will probably see the start of the race this week. The four or five classes in each college will fight it out among themselves for a college champion, and afterwards the victorious college teams will be matched for the university championship.

Girls in Try Outs.

Monday afternoon the first trials were held for the girls' basket ball tournament which is to be held March 28, and in which all girls are showing great interest. Four freshman teams fought valiantly for first place in two hotly contested games. So excellent was the material, however, and so close the contests, that the judges, Miss Archibald and Miss Catherine Whitney, who are managing the tournament, could make no decision as to the final personnel of the freshman team. It is reported that among the candidates for the team representing the upper classes, although great skill and interest is being evinced by girls from all the classes, the sophomores are especially strong. The games between there class teams, who have always been traditional rivals, is likely, therefore to be most interesting. An abundance of good material has also delayed the selection of the upper class teams.

BASEBALL SQUADS ARE PRACTICING

College and University Teams Being Prepared for the Season--Yale Team of 1913 Nearly Intact--But Three Regulars Lost By Harvard.

New York, Feb. 28.—Practice for the college and university baseball squads of the East is well under way and before the month of March has run its course the first games of the season will have been played provided inclement weather does not balk the schedule makers. As a result of the indoor training to date some idea of the relative strength of the larger institution nines is available and the coaches are already predicting some close series in the play for intercollegiate honors. Chief attention centers on the Yale prospects at present, owing to the remarkable record achieved by the New Haven team last spring.

With one or two exceptions the Yale team of 1913, which won 28 games out of 34 played, is intact. The loss of Riddell at first base leaves a gap in the infield, but with the string of substitutes and last year's freshman team available this position should be filled without trouble. Another vacant position is that of Schofield, left fielder. In these two positions Yale is weakest. All the other members of the team are in college. Capt. Blossom at short, Cornish at second, and Reilly at third base form one of the very best infields of any college team this season. Middlebrook and Pumpelly will again play center and right field, respectively. The veteran pitchers are Gile and Brown, both of whom can be counted on to equal the good work done last year. Hunter will be the mainstay behind the bat.

The Harvard Team.

The Harvard team, which had the distinction of winning the only series that Yale lost last season, will take the field this spring with almost as many veterans available as the Blue. But three regulars were lost by graduation last year. In the pitching department Frye and Hitchcock form the nucleus of an effective pitching staff. In addition Boyle, MacDonald and Whitney are also promising pitching candidates. The position of catcher, left vacant by the graduation of Young, will be filled by either Osborne, Waterman or Wallace.

Ayres will probably retain his position at first base, although Nash, captain of last year's freshman team, is a likely candidate, but Coach Sexton may decide to place Nash in the outfield in Alsop's place. Clark will be at second base, unless it is deemed necessary to use him behind the bat. In that case Harvey, Phillips and Frippe will be the contestants for the position. Capt. Wingate will remain at shortstop. At third base, one of the candidates mentioned for second is likely to fill the gap left by the graduation of Tomes. Gannett should retain his position in right field and Hardwick take care of centerfield. A number of new men will compete for the left field position, the more promising being Nash, Curtis and Milholland.

The Harvard 1914 team will be a hard hitting organization judging from the averages of the men last year especially in the championship games. Most of last year's freshmen who are trying for positions this year were good batters so that the team should in no way suffer from the addition of these men to the ranks.

Princeton's Team.

At Princeton seven members of the 1913 nine are eligible for positions this spring. They are Wall, catcher; Wood and Copeland, pitchers; Capt. Rhoads, first base; Gill, second base; Green and Laird, outfielders. Wood and Copeland were the mainstay of the pitching staff last season. From last year's freshman nine Lamberton, Deyo and Link are expected to do well, especially the two first named. Behind the bat, Kelleher, of the undefeated 1913 team, is likely to be a close second to Wall for catching honors. In the infield Capt. Rhoads is the only likely candidate for first base. Gill, second base last spring, may be shifted to short, leaving Peacock prominent for the keystone position, Law or O'Kane, both of the freshman infield, will also be strong contenders for second or short. Third base will be difficult to cover. Shea played an exceedingly good game last spring but his ankle, which was broken in football, may keep him out of the game. For the outfield Green and Laird, regulars, are available. Hanks, a substitute last season, and Hoyt, Glick and G. A. Peacock of the freshman nine, should round out into likely material.

Cornell, Pennsylvania, Brown and Williams and a number of the other colleges of the East also loom up as formidable contenders for diamond honors and it is a certainty that the struggle for varsity baseball supremacy will be unusually keen. Columbia has also entered the field with renewed determination to gain a place among the leaders this season as is evidenced by the engagement of two of the leading coaches of the country. With Billy Lush and Andy Coakley in charge of the candidates there is reason to believe that New York university will be represented by a strong team. Both Lush and Coakley have had many years' experience, both in professional baseball and as college coaches.

Track Team Asset.

An Australian rugby football player of considerable reputation has entered the University of Southern California in the person of Bernard Higgins. He is a younger brother of Pat Higgins, the university rugby coach. He played on the North Sydney team and was picked for the New South Wales team two years ago, but was prevented from playing through injuries. Young Higgins attended St. Aloysius college in Sydney and comes to the University of Southern California as a transfer, which may prevent his representing the university in games with California or Stanford until a year's time has elapsed. He is reported to be a sprinter of ability and valuable as a track team asset.

Coach Wray to Stay.

Harvard crew authorities are much elated over the successful outcome of the negotiations with Coach Jim Wray who recently signed a five-year renewal of his contract with the Cambridge university. Although the terms were not made public it is understood that Wray received the salary increase which he had requested. The Union Boat club of Detroit stood ready to engage Wray had he failed to reach a satisfactory arrangement with Harvard. The Harvard Crimson in an editorial comment states:

"Whatever may be said against the organization of college athletics today, athletic success is one of the factors of a university prestige. The under-graduate department of a university adds not only to its own standing, but to that of the whole institution to which it belongs, by a good name in the athletic world. Consequently there is cause for rejoicing to more than those primarily interested in Harvard's athletic success in the assurance that Coach Wray will continue in charge of the crews for at least five years to come. Victories from the crews of Yale in six out of eight years' service, the swinging of rowing supremacy Cambridgeward, and a name for healthy sport, have so placed him that we must make glad that he is to keep on with his work."

Football Practice.

The universities and colleges of the Middle West are preparing for spring football practice which will be held during the month of April. Coach Yost of Michigan has already looked over the situation and ordered out the Wolverines on Monday, April 13. Yost will be in charge all during the training, and probably will be in Ann Arbor on brief visits in the meantime. He also recommended action of the athletic authorities in again securing "Germany" Schultz to coach the Wolverine forwards.

Purdue's Candidates.

Coach "Andy" Smith of Purdue at a recent meeting of the candidates for the 1914 eleven passed out printed cards which were filled out by the prospective players. The cards provide for information regarding grades of the men in each of their subjects. A space is provided for each month's grade. The cards will be collected each month, so that the coach will know the exact standing of each man at monthly intervals during the year. The call for spring practice will be made April 1, according to Coach Smith. He expects that a large squad will respond to the call. Rudimentary instruction will be the plan of spring practice.

Not Favored at Pennsy.

The statements attributed to Trainer Jack Moakley of Cornell relative to the eligibility of the Oxford university track team which is to run at the University of Pennsylvania relay meet April 25, do not find favor at Pennsylvania. The university daily in an editorial review of the point states:

"Of course the Englishmen have an advantage if they have no one-year rule, but the using of the Rhodes scholars—no matter how long their residence at Oxford—is a legitimate advantage, if it is one. In the case of Tabor and men in his position there is nothing which violates the spirit of the one-year rule.

"Why not let the Englishmen use their advantage? The sporting public, we are sure, wants to see them send over the best team they can. All the more credit to the American team that is able to defeat them. All the less bitter the defeat should the Englishmen carry home the title.

"After all, Pennsylvania is striving to bring about the best four-mile international race that can be arranged. Oxford may have an advantage in one respect, but if the idea develops into one of England versus America, hasn't this country a decided advantage in the fact that we will have several teams represented to England's one? Cornell merely weakens America's chances by staying away."

M'LOUGHLIN CAN'T GO TO ENGLAND

American Tennis Champion Unable to Afford Trip to Try for British Championships.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 28.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, the American tennis champion, cannot spare the time this year to go to England to play at Wimbledon in the British championships.

"The trip would mean a month of travelling," said McLoughlin, "to say nothing of time for practice and I don't feel that I can afford it."

In 1913 McLoughlin won the Wimbledon tournament and the right to meet Anthony F. Wilding in what is generally regarded as the world's championship series. Wilding will visit the United States this year as a member of the Australasian team in quest of the Davis international cup.

BADGERS LOSE TO CATHEDRALS

By the score of 36 to 14 the cathedral boys defeated the Badgers of Superior last night, in the formers' gymnasium, in a lively game of basket ball. A large crowd gathered to witness the struggle, which was interesting and strenuous from start to finish. For the visitors Van Ammon performed best, making ten of the fourteen points, while for the local team there was a more equitable division of honors. Monahan winning eleven points, Barrett ten and McNamara ten. This victory adds another to a long list of triumphs won during the basket ball season by the cathedral boys, they not having been defeated. On March 10 they will meet Central high for the first time this year. The lineup:

Badgers—		Cathedral High—
Van Ammon	f	Monahan
C. McLean	f	McNamara

GOPHERS TO REFEREE.

Two Minnesotans to Run Fargo Basket Ball Contest.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because of the importance of the contest this evening between the Fargo college and the agricultural college, involving the basket ball championship of both Dakotas and Minnesota, W. K. Foster of the Minnesota U. and C. G. Clarke of Minneapolis will run the game, which promises to be an exceptionally interesting contest.

Extraordinary Draught.

Bristol, R. I., Feb. 28.—Preliminary markings made yesterday on the hull of the New York syndicate yacht which is being built here as a candidate for the defense of the America's cup, show that she is to have a draught of 13 feet 10 inches. With eight feet of center-board to be added her draught will be nearly twenty-two feet, a depth greater than that of the 90-foot defenders of other years.

LARGE TIME IS PLANNED AT CLUB

Curlers Will Play and Have a Get-Together Dinner.

Large times are scheduled for the curling club this afternoon and evening. There will be games in the afternoon and games in the evening. There will also be a dinner and speeches and general hilarity. A suitable and thoroughly appropriate prize has been designed for the speaker winning the newspaper decision.

Some of the regular games will be played off both in the afternoon and evening, and there will also be a number of games between rinks that are out of the trophy play for the season.

Following is the draw and also the results of the games of last evening:

BASEBALL MAY GET FOOTHOLD IN PARIS

Organized Effort By Admirers of Game to Popularize It.

Paris, Feb. 28.—There are many indications that baseball will gain a real foothold in France this year. The visit of the New York and Chicago teams which are concluding their tour of the world will be followed by organized effort on part of many of the French admirers of the American game to popularize it here.

One of the handicaps to the growth of baseball in France oddly has been the conservation of national resources. Open grounds favorably located are at a premium and land owners have been loath to cut down their trees to make room for diamonds. This prejudice is being overcome to some extent however.

The Racing club of France, which already has a ball ground on its extensive property optside of Paris, is planning to lay out three more diamonds this spring. Arrangements have not yet developed to the league or association stage but games will be played between teams of the racing club and school boys, especially the American boys of the Latin quarter, and a number of games will be played at Etretat, Havre, and other French cities. The coincident development of the game in Spain is noted in a challenge from a nine in Barcelona, which the racing club here has accepted.

Those in Paris who hope to see baseball interest increase here expect considerable assistance from the French army training school. Four members of the school have already undertaken to introduce and teach the game the coming summer. These instructors have thoroughly studied all the rules of play and all the English terms which are used.

The pronunciation by the French youths is amusing to Americans especially as to "foul" which is termed "fool," and "fly," which they call "flea."

W. H. Burgess, one of the Americans here who is particularly interested in baseball and who acts as umpire at some of the games, declares that sports generally have not made the same progress in France as in some other countries and he explains numerous causes.

"Besides the difficulty of getting playing field," he says, "the hours of the French school boy are extraordinarily long. The average pupil is at his desk at 8 o'clock in the morning and is not released until 6, whereas in the United States generally in the public schools, the boys leave their desks at from 2 to 3. This gives them several hours for relaxation, which is devoted to ball playing or other forms of sport. The school boy's holiday here is Thursday instead of Saturday. Also when French children want to participate in a baseball game they are generally required to tell their parents the names of the children with whom they intend to play. If certain boys are not of equal station, the parents refuse to allow them to play and this feeling of class tends to hinder the development of baseball among the youth. Nevertheless the progress the past season was exceedingly rapid and I look for a greater advancement in popularity the coming season."

Iowa City, Iowa, Feb. 28.—A. P. Gunderson of Rolfston, Iowa, was yesterday elected captain of the Iowa university football team, succeeding Leo Dick, resigned. Gunderson was classed as the all-Western end last fall.

STAGELAND

Lyceum

Theatrical interest is usually at a very high tension when the announcements are made concerning the visits of May Irwin, who somehow appears to have a genuinely affectionate hold upon that class of entertainment-seekers in particular, who desire an opportunity to drive away dull care, for well they know that Miss Irwin's stage personality alone involves laughter, hence it is not to be wondered at that her engagement at the Lyceum, Tuesday and Wednesday is being looked forward to with an alloyed pleasure. Her loyal followers will be especially anxious to pass judgment on her latest success, written by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, entitled "Widow by Proxy," and which is said to contain all those distinguished elements which have made Miss Irwin's past successes so formidable in the world of laughter.

"Widow by Proxy" is the bright and breezy play by Catherine Chisholm Cushing, who has written several other successful plays. In it, Miss Irwin is seen as Gloria Grey, a singing teacher, whose income, at the opening of the play, has dwindled down to almost nothing. She has a bosom friend recently widowed, or at least supposed to be. The alleged departed was a scion of a Mayflower family. He married an actress and the family refused to see her. After his supposed death in Alaska, a rich uncle dies, leaving a legacy to his niece by marriage. To get it, she must visit the family. She refuses, but as the money is needed, Gloria impersonates the widow and takes her place at the family homestead. A cousin of the reputed dead husband falls in love with her. She agrees to marry him and then—the dead husband comes back to life. However, all ends happily, and the deceit owing to its motive does not block the course of true love.

It is safe to say that Miss Irwin has never been funnier than she is in this very amusing comedy, with its three acts of almost uncelieved laughter. In the cast are Cara Blindick, Marie Burke, Helen Over Daly, Helen Weathersby, Orlando Daly, Joseph R. Garry, Joseph Woodburn and Arthur Bowyer.

Daniel Frohman presents James K. Hackett at the Lyceum for two days, matinee and night, beginning Sunday March 1, in the dramatic masterpiece of romance and adventure, "The Prisoner of Zenda." This is a four-act photo-play, made by the Famous Players company, and the best offering yet produced from their studio. James K. Hackett, who appears in the leading role was paid the sum of $20,000 to appear in the one picture.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" as a picture production, has been unexpectedly successful—unusually elaborate and effective, due to the artistic triumph of Mr. Hackett and the masterful handling by Mr. Frohman. The beautiful story told in "The Prisoner of Zenda" has just enough excitement to add color to the production, which with the elaborate costuming and superb stage settings, combine to make it one of the best photo-plays of the season.

Bayard Veiller's "Within the Law," which captured local theatergoers when seen here before, will again be the offering at the Lyceum March 13 and 14.

This is the melodrama treating of modern conditions in New York life, which has caused a sensation not only in the metropolis, but throughout the country. It has provoked editorial comment, and praise from such eminent Americans as Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, who wrote of the play, "All employers of labor, who underpay their women employes should go to see this play for the lesson it will teach them." The bishop of Wyoming said "I shall never forget the lesson it portrayed."

"Within the Law" is in four acts and as many scenes. It will again be given here by the same superb cast of players who have scored individual hits in their respective roles on its former visit. The cast includes Jane Gordon, Eileen Wilson, Marcia Mainell, Robert Tabor, Daniel Sullivan, William Lambert, Wilson Reynolds and others.

"The Ham Tree," that very humorous and novel musical comedy which has proven such a successful vehicle for the display of McIntyre and Heath's exceptional portrayal of negro character, will be the attraction at the Lyceum in March with the celebrated comedians again starring in their familiar roles, Alexander Hambletonian, the doleful, and Henry Jones, the hopeful. The production is staged by Ned Wayburn, master-craftsman of novel groupings and effects and the wizard director of dancing choruses. John Cort, under whose management McIntytre and Heath are starring, has supplied a competent company of principals to support his stars.

* * *

"The Quaker Girl," which comes to the Lyceum soon has the distinction of being a success on four continents. Its run of two years in London and a year in Paris constitutes one. The piece is still running in Australia and a companay opened recently in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, while this company is touring United States and Canada. This makes a record never before equalled by a musical entertainment of any sort.

The six dances which form a part of the effects in Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird" are symbolical and unusual. Fifty-one persons take part. "The Blue Bird" is coming to the Lyceum soon.

The opening movement in "The Blue Bird" is "The Dance of the Hours" in which twelve maidens appear. This is followed by the dance of fire and water in the same scene. In the third scene of the same part nine mistmaidens dance while Tyltyl and Mytyl, the little children in search of the "blue bird," pass through to the land of memory.

The oddest dance is that taken part in by bread and the four small loaves, and one of the most energetic is that of all the characters when, free to speak for the first time, they express their delight in individual movements. In this scene fire, water, light, cat, dog, milk and other less important characters take part. Possibly the most picturesque number is that of the dance of the stars, perfumes, fire-flies, will-o'-the wisps and dews during the night scene.

Elliott, Schenck, formerly the New theater's musical director, arranged the music almost entirely from the works of Debussy, who wrote the score for Maeterlinck's "Pelleas et Melisande." However, a Christmas carol and some children's dances were chosen from a collection of old French tunes. A beautiful melody is employed for the song of the waiting mothers and a gentle lullaby for the scene in which the sleeping children appear. "The Dance of the Stars," "The Dance of the Mist Maidens," and the incantation scene are all reflected in the music.

The unqualified and sensational success of "The Traffic" at Joe Howard's theater, Chicago, where it is playing to packed houses nightly with every prospects of continuing for many months to come, has prompted the management to put forth another company of equal merit to meet the demand created for this remarkable piece in other cities. The engagement in this city has been set for late in March at the Lyceum.

* * *

At the Lyceum soon Miss Rose Stahl will appear as "Maggie Pepper," in Charles Klein's play of like name. It is a play of the people no less than "The Chorus Lady," for "Maggie Pepper" is a girl of the department store. Her whole life, practically, was spent in the environment of a big mercantile institution and the problems which she has to meet are, in the main, the problems of the girls in all cities.

Charles Klein, it is said has handled no question of the day better than this one of the department store girls. He has written of the financiers and the police and many other timely topics, but in none, has he gone closer to the heart of his subject than in "Maggie Pepper."

CECIL LEAN,
At the Orpheum Next Week.

Orpheum

Cecil Lean, musical comedy favorite and hero of a dozen of popular musical successes will be the headline attraction at the Orpheum for the week beginning with the Sunday matinee. Mr. Lean will be assisted by Cleo Mayfield and the act is called "Songs and Travesties."

The latest successes on the musical comedy stage with which Mr. Lean was associated, were "Bright Eyes" and "The Man With Three Wives," but his welcome in vaudeville has been most enthusiastic and in his songs and travesties he has delighted the theater-goers of the nation. Mr. Lean writes the music and words of his songs and the chatter that connects them. His burlesque of the "Talkies," is said to be most amusing. In this plates are broken, there is heard the bark of a dog, the actor plays a violin and accomplishes other stunts but the whole so completely out of time that the wrong words are combined with disassociated actions. The result is most amusing.

Another feature of the act is the read of "The Shooting of Dan McGraw," by Robert Service. The author is coming to be called the Canadian Kipling and Mr. Lean's dramatic reading of this poem is introducing the poet to many Americans for the first time. Mr. Lean comes to vaudeville at the height of his ability and success. He is assisted by Miss Cleo Mayfield, a charming and able assistant in this successful attempt to amuse the American vaudeville public.

Van Hoven, who will be one of the week's attractions is billed as the "Dippy Mad Magician." The fingers of this performer are nimble and expert but his audience looks in vain for him to complete a single trick which he prepares in the greatest and most careful detail. His methods of explaining how it would look if it were finished have proved more satisfactory to his friends among the vaudeville going public than the amazement that follows the tricks of a more typical sort of magician.

Crouch and Welch are a vaudeville team composed of Rosa Crouch and George Welch, lightweight performers, who sing, dance, talk and do acrobatic stunts at a tempo that has won them the title of "that lively pair." Welch was at one time one of the best known of the featherweight boxers of England. In their present vaudeville offering, Mr. Welch appears in the attire of an Oxford youth and Rosa Crouch wears an original soubrette makeup. Miss Crouch is one of the numerous children of Prof. F. Nicholls Crouch, composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen" and other famous melodies. Their dancing and acrobatic stunts are accomplished, as one critic said, "with an ease that suggests the floating of a feather on an air current."

The Brads who will appear on the week's bill will present an attractive act of pantomine, acrobatics and contortion mingled with a brand of humor all their own. The team is well known in the European music halls and their present appearance is their first in America.

Johnny Small and the Small sisters are not unknown to Duluth vaudeville lovers and they will return next week to be seen again in their attractive dancing act. For many seasons they have been prime favorites with the vaudeville public and their songs and dances are always received with great pleasure and enthusiasm. The name applies only to their stature.

Asaki, a Japanese juggler, who will be one of the entertainers of the week's bill, combines the juggler's tricks with roller skating and does stunts in both lines at the same time. Asaki is the orginator of this form of entertainment and its difficulties are such that he has few imitators. He displays a manual skill that is seldom seen in one performer.

Eugene Damond, a young Russian violinist, will complete the list of visiting performers for the week's attractions. This young musician was born at Kiedd, Russia, as recently as 1894. He has studied under Ysaye, who is in America this year on a concert tour. This will be Damond's first American tour and he plays a genuine Stradivarius violin, said to be valued at $13,000.

The exclusive motion pictures shown at the Orpheum and the numbers by the Orpheum Concert orchestra, will complete the week's bill. The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon and will be repeated every afternoon and evening of the week.

* * *

Before Paul Armstrong's political playlet, "To Save One Girl," has completed its Orpheum circuit route, his other sketch "Woman Proposes," will have inaugurated a similar tour. The two pieces do more to establish Mr. Armstrong's pre-eminence as a playwright than anything he has written as they are so entirely dissimilar and written in such totally different veins, one being brilliantly satirical and the other containing the well known "Armstrong Punch."

* * *

The latest Parisienne feminine vogue is the complete harmony of color in milady's attire. Now, not only must a gown and its accessorites be of the same color scheme, but the hair must be made to match. Valeska Suratt, who will shortly be seen over the Orpheum circuit in her travesty "Black Crepe and Diamonds," is the first actress to introduce this craze on the American stage. For each one of her marvelous sartorial creations, Miss Surratt has a wig of the same color.

* * *

Blanche Bates' Orpheum circuit tour will be a sort of a home-coming. The celebrated actress was born in Portland, Or., made her first professional appearance in San Francisco, and was recently married to Denver's ex-police commissioner.

* * *

The professional career of the Seven Little Foys is entrusted entirely to their father. Eddie Foy will be held responsible whether his children turn out to be good or bad actors. Mrs. Foy, however, accompanies the family on tour to be sure that the other and broader side of their rearing is not neglected. Mrs. Foy in her travels plays many parts—school teacher, Sunday and otherwise, mistress of wardrobe both on and off the stage. Mrs. Foy arranges the day so that the children have as many hours to study as they would have in the schools at their home in New Rochelle.

SCENE FROM "THE PRIDE OF JENNICO"
Coming to the Rex.

Empress

Tabloid musical comedy will hold the boards at the Empress for the first four days next week. "A Night on Broadway," one of the biggest attractions on the association line will be the offering.

"A Night On Broadway" is hardly what its name implies. While it depicts certain phases of life on the Great White Way, it is presented in a way that is said to please the most fastidious. It is a refined musical comedy with just enough of the human comedy to make it appeal. It has enough plot to make the story coherent, always treating life from its humorous side.

Halton Powell presents Harry Emerson in his original creation Herman Fielder, the candymaker, whose little lark almost costs him him home. The old saying "When the cat's away the mice will play" was thoroughly proved in this case. But Herman is taken in hand by a couple of young bloods. He sees Broadway in all its gaiety, imbibes freely, "falls in love" with a whole show troupe, and invites them to his home. Wife returns unexpectedly. Herman in a dilemma. Girls in chaos—explanations. Fielder happy in arms of family. Forty people mostly girls are in the cast. Gorgeous costumes and scenery and novel electric effects are shown.

For the last half of the week starting Thursday, March 5 at the Empress theater four vaudeville acts and the three reel feature film, "A Reformed Politician," will be the attraction. The acts booked are The Three Flying Kays, aerialists; Frank Bush, story teller; Jack Bessy and Nell Paul in the one act society sketch, "The Morning After," and Leonard and Haley, a pleasant pair singing pleasing songs.

* * *

When "The Virginian" was first produced, it started an avalanche of plays dealing with cowboys and the West. As was to be expected, this overdose of a good thing soon spelled the doom of the cowboy play with the result that no new Western plays have been produced in the last five years or so. Robert Sherman, who's big dramatic successes have stamped him as one of the leading theatrical magnates of the West, has scented the return of the public's taste for the cowboy drama and has recently come to the front with a superb production of Whitney Collins' great romance of the plains, "The Last Round Up." This is a sterling example of the thrilling Western drama, not the lurid, unbelievable kind, but a sane, interesting story embellished with good comedy. This play will open for a four-day engagement at the Empress theater on Sunday, March 8.

Rex

Those who know the novel, or remember James K. Hackett in the play, will be eager to see the "Pride of Jennico" at the Rex next week.

Those who are familiar with neither the novel nor play will do well to give rein to the curiosity this much talked of play will arouse. The censorious, who may come to criticise, will stay to see the play twice and their praise, the management predicts. Marie Leonhard, as the foolish, whimsical Princess Ottilie, leads her lover, Basil Jennico, a merry chase but after many degreeate combats and hairbreadth escapes, love is triumphant. "The Pride of Jennico" will hold sway for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Rex.

By arrangement with David Belasco, Daniel Frohman will present at the Rex, Thursday, Friday and Saturday "A Good Little Devil" with Mary Pickford in the cast. This is the play of the season and held New York spellbound with its poetry and fantasy mingled with reality. "A Good Little Devil" is adapted from the French and this screen story is enacted by David Belasco's entire original New York cast including "our own little Mary Pickford." The Rex management will show the season's success at the usual price of admission.

MAY IRWIN,
In "Widow By Proxy," Coming to the Lyceum.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"When Claudia Smiles" was once known as "Vivian's Papas." At that time Leo Ditrichstein was the accredited author. Mr. Ditrichstein had taken the piece from a foreign source. Not knowing the identity of the foreign authors, Manager McKay thought to derive fun from giving credit to various counterfeit playwrights in the towns which Miss Ring honored with her presence.

For instance, in Pittsburg, "When Claudia Smiles" in its original was attributed to M. Henri Baldon. One learned Pittsburg reviewer promptly declared that the M. Baldon's wit was still apparent in the lines. In Milwaukee, Mr. McKay announced on the programs that Herr Adolph Newman, another fictitious name, had written the original. Patriotic Milwaukee reviewers noted the German inspiration in evidence throughout.

In this manner Mr. McKay created a dozen or more spurious authors before the piece reached New York, where Miss Caldwell's name alone appeared on the program. At the opening performance and since the premiere Mr. McKay has received a series of congratulatory messages of which these are fair specimens:

"I arrive on La France tomorrow to see my masterpiece. I kiss you on both cheeks, Don't forget the royalties.

"Henri Baldon."

"Glad to hear my piece has brought you such success. Meet me at the German hospital with royalty statements.

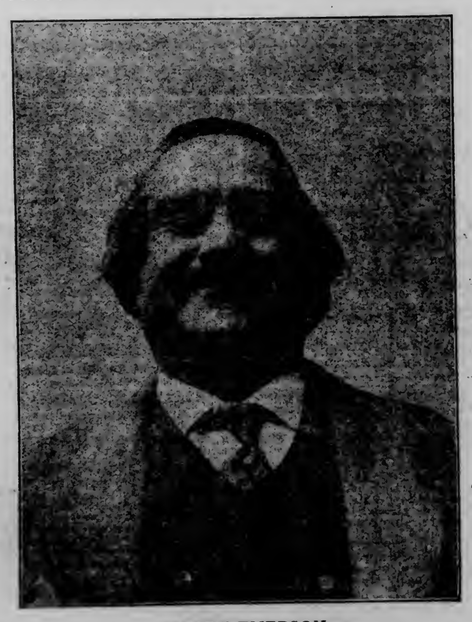

"Adolph Newman."

"The saints be praised for the success of 'When Claudia Smiles.' Spain forever. What is my percentage?

"Emanuel Garboria."

has just presented to her nephew, Arthur Byron, a remarkable one-act play called "The Black Moncrieff," a Scotch costume play of the period of 1725. The piece is described as being unusually picturesque and dramatic.

Miss Rehan purchased it for Mr. Byron's use in vaudeville. With the closing of Mrs. Fiske's season, he is available for a tour in the varieties, and he thinks that Miss Rehan's gift is a most appropriate one.

Helen Raymond, known a few years ago as one of the most beautiful of theatrical singers, died recently in New York. She will be remembered more particularly for her first great success in "The Wizard of the Nile," in which she at different times played Cleopatra and the daughter of the khedive. She also appeared with Frank Daniels in "The Idol's Eye," as Dolores in "Florodora" and in Joe Weber's production of "The Merry Widow and the Devil," a double travesty on the well-known successes by those names.

That there are still unexplored fields in the line of trained animal acts is proven by the announcement of W. S. Cleveland of the Cleveland-Fidelity circuit. His latest offering is a troupe of trained alligators. Of course, says Cleveland, alligators are not very easily induced to perform stunts for the edification of an audience, and the only way this can be accomplished is through their appetites, and when they learn that the only way they can secure their daily rations is to go through a certain routine of antics, it is sometimes difficult to restrain them from becoming too enthusiastic in the matter.

There are three saurians in the troupe. The first part of the act is done in a large glass tank, in which a big alligator is seen swimming. A native of the Florida Everglades, arrayed in his "at home" costume, which is hardly worth mentioning, dives into the tank with the reptile and gives a most sensational "wrestling" exhibition. This is a very thrilling and hazardous undertaking, for the slightest miscalculation on the part of the man would mean serious injury to him. However, he has been doing this same stunt in his native bayous all his life, and has never yet received a scratch.

It is probable that Wallis Clark will be seen in "The Man on the Street," by Louis N. Parker. The late William Hawtrey had intended to produce this playlet.

* * *

"The Dinghat Family" has been produced in Baltimore recently. The play is a stage version by Frank Stammer of the newspaper cartoons of the same name.

* * *

Dorothy Dale, who has figured conspicuously of late in print as the cast-off chorus girl bride of Richard J. Howard, a wealthy young St. Louisan, and whose record of sprightly adventures is well known along Broadway, is going into vaudeville. William Haunmerstein has engaged her to appear at the Victoria theater during the present week.

Mrs. Dorothy Dale Howard is 22 years old, and is the stepdaughter of Della Fox. Her father is Jack Levy, vaudeville agent, who married the vivacious Della in 1900.

Adolph Klauber, who for fifteen years has been connected with the New York Times, during most of which time he has been the dramatic critic, has resigned. He will become one of the active members of Selwyn & Company, play producers and brokers. J. E. Pibeau will succeed Mr. Klauber as dramatic critic.

* * *

Julian Eltinge has opened his second starring tour under the direction of A. H. Woods in a new play. His new vehicle is entitled "The Crinoline Girl," and is termed "a melodramatic farce." It has music by Otto Hauerbach, lyrics by Percy Wenrich. The new role shows Mr. Eltinge as a legitimate light comedian, although he is again seen in feminine attire.

* * *

Oliver Morosco's five road companies appearing in "Peg o' My Heart" continue to stay out and to do a big business.

* * *

Isadora Duncan has established herself in a new house in Belleview, a suburb of Paris, where she is running a dancing school, teaching the modern dances at excessive rates. She will soon return to the stage.

* * *

Israel Zangwill's "Melting Pot" has been produced in London, with Walker Whiteside in the part of David Quixano, and was immediately acclaimed a sensational success. At the end of the play Mr. Whiteside responded with a speech after seven minutes of insistent cheering.

* * *

H. H. Frazee announced the production of a new farce, "A Pair of Sixes," by Edward Peple, author of "The Prince Chap" and "The Littlest Rebel." The piece had its premiere in Hartford, Conn., last Monday evening.

"Madame Moselle," a new musical piece, is in rehearsal and will soon be shown to the public. Chase and Everall are the producers, and George W. Lederer is interested in the production and is staging it. Jefferson de Angelis is in the cast.

A short time ago George Arliss, now touring the country in "Disraeli," said, in an interview, that he had an unquenchable desire to play the character of Nero. Evidently a few ambitious playwrights also had a desire to write a play around Nero, because since Mr. Arliss expressed his wish he has received no less than six plays in which the Roman emperor has the bulk of the histrionic honors. Each and every one shows Nero as an entirely different character. One of the first to be received shows him as a sort of Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde, the bad in him predominating, but with an underlying thickly veiled sense of the good. One portrays him as the Roman statesman and another as a tyrant. Nero, the lover, was among the six. Another shows him trying to make good his life-long secret wish, to be recognized as a philosopher, and failing. One characterizes him as a coward and one is a pure caricature showing him as a noble, good-loving man.

Mr. Arliss will, in all probability, choose one of the six, but he is not ready to announce which.

College boys are great favorites with chorus girls, particularly the members of sensational musical shows, and were the cause of the cancellation of several performances in the South recently. At Charlotteville, Va., when the Gertrude Hoffmann show struck that town, the students entertained the chorus girls so lavishly that none of the broilers were able to appear at the night performance, which was then called off. It is rumored that the university laid off for a day or two also, having no students to carry on business with.

When the Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw show was heralded for an engagement in the university town, and it was found out that a larger number of chorus girls were coming than had appeared with Gertrude Hoffmann, the town fathers communicated with the show management and showed where it would be advisable to steer clear of the college town, and thus save the show any delays and allow the university to continue business in the same old way. And that is just why the Thaw show passed up Charlotteville.

Sam Bernard is not likely to have the support of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle in his coming revival of "The Girl From Kay's," as Dillingham has a contract for the two artists' services and is rather reluctant to let go of it, desiring to hold them for his production of "Tango Hall," which he intends producing shortly.

Margaret Mayo (Mrs. Edgar Selwyn) is said to be working on a new play based on a novel that has gained much notoriety, under the title of "Twin Beds."

Weber and Fields have formed a re-union and open today at the Auditorium, Chicago, for an indefinite season. They call their company the "All Stars," and in it are included Nora Bayes, George Beban and others of note. Ever since Fields closed his tour of "All Aboard" he has been looking for a new play, and it is probable that he will produce "The High Cost of Living" before the end of the season, in conjunction with A. H. Woods, and will act the principal role himself.

It is reported from New York that Klaw & Erlanger have decided to produce "The Unseen Empire," a dramatic version of Atherton Brownell's plea for universal peace, which has attracted widespread attention among men prominent in diplomatic and literary circles. The dramatization is being made by William Young, who is best noted for his dramatization of "Ben-Hur." The opening of the production will probably occur in April.

The date for the opening of "Along Came Ruth" at the Gaiety, New York, was fixed by Henry W. Savage for Feb. 23. Three years ago at the same theater and on the same date Mr. Savage produced "Excuse Me," and he expects to repeat the success of the Rupert Hughes comedy with the trial performance of "Along Came Ruth."

George Scarborough's new play, "The Last Resort," was tried out at the Hall, Albany, last week. The drama is a melodramatic satire dealing with the crookedness of judges.

VICTOR MORLEY IS HAVING HIS TROUBLES

Victor Morley, chief comedian in "The Quaker Girl" company, who endeared himself to Duluthians as leading fun-provoker in "The Three Twins" when that musical show was new, is in a quandary as to how he can get over the dominion border without leaving part of his costume on Canadian soil, when he comes to Duluth.

Morley is no chicken, but he wears feathers in his hat—in the play. The law says no feathers shall be brought into this country, and despite efforts on the part of the comedian, he has not succeeded in persuading the officials that they should allow him to enter with that part of his costume, he says.

When he reaches Duluth, Morley says he will purchase some new feathers.

Morley says that this year will be about all for the old-time musical play. If this is true, the musical comedy lovers will lose one of its chief favorites in Morley.

SPEECH VS. EDUCATION

Duluth Deaf Man Discusses the Merits of the Two Systems of Teaching the Deaf: the Oral and the Combined.

H. L. STAFFORD.

H. L. Stafford, 4 Chester Terrace, Duluth, in a letter to The Herald, attacks the Nebraska law which would compel educational institutions for deaf mutes in that state to teach the pure oral method. Mr. Stafford believes that the pure oral system is not the best and that the combined system is far better. Education, he says, is vastly more important to the deaf mute than speech.

Mr. Stafford is a semi-mute, who was taught the pure oral method on the advice of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell by private teachers. He says he believed the oral method better until he went to a combined system school at Washington, D. C., where he was graduated from Gallaudet college. Recalling his experience and basing his statements upon opinions of noted authorities, also, he says:

"In the number of the Faribault Democrat issued Friday, Jan. 30, last, there appears an editorial under the heading: 'Teach the Dumb to Speak,' defending the Nebraska law. It evidently was written by one who was not fully conversant with the different methods used in instructing the deaf, otherwise he might not have advocated the pure oral method which is condemned by the best educated deaf of America and Europe as working a great injury to the deaf children and their future welfare.

"The deaf are by no means averse to giving every deaf child an opportunity to learn to speak; on the contrary they insist upon it. But they know that every deaf-mute does not possess a special aptitude for speech, and that a large percentage of pure oral pupils drop their 'speech' after leaving school either because they utterly fail to make themselves understood by persons other than their immediate friends or because they learn to their hurt that their voices are so unnatural as to incite ridicule in the unthinking. Helen Keller is a typical case in point. In spite of her 23 years' constant drilling in speech, those who hear her for the first time have much difficulty in understanding her; and as to her voice, the Ohio State Journal, of Columbus, Ohio, a city which she visited recently on her lecture tour, says:

"'It was as if a voice had come from the tomb, something sepulchral, something utterly uncanny and unnatural was in it.'

"A large proportion of the deaf-mutes are like her in these respects. When they learn the unpleasant truth, they realize with no little bitterness that the time wasted on their speech might have been employed in acquiring a better education than their schools have given them.

Education Most Important.

"The deaf consider education as of vastly greater importance than speech, however desirable the latter may be, as education enables them to hold their own well in the battle of life. And they know from experience and observation that the best educational advantages are found in the combined-system schools, where speech and lip-reading are, and have been for many years, taught to such as have a natural aptitude for speech, but where the sign language and manual spelling have their important and proper place, rather than in the pure oral schools where the speech-and-lip-reading method is exclusively employed, the sign language and manual spelling being absolutely forbidden in and out of class room. This is proved by the fact that, as a rule, the graduates of the combined system schools have attained to a much higher education than those of the pure oral schools, and furthermore by the fact that comparatively few pure oral graduates (and some of them only by studying for a year or two under private tutors) have been able to pass the entrance examination at Gallaudet college, the only institution of higher learning for the deaf in the world, and still fewer graduate at all. The reason is simply this: In the oral schools a great deal more time is spent on speech and lip-reading than on education, not a few of the pupils being kept in the same grade for years because backward in speech or lip-reading or both, while in the combined-system schools the opposite course is pursued with better results.

Reading Lips.

"Then, too, the pupils of the combined system schools derive much benefit from sermons, lectures, readings, debates, dramatic plays, etc., which only the sign language and manual spelling render possible for them—a privilege the pupils of the pure oral schools do not enjoy. It is asserted by advocates of the pure oral method that the deaf can follow chapel and public exercises by watching the speakers' lips, but this claim is denied by the best lip-readers themselves. Even if such a feat were possible, it would only mean a terrible eye-strain that is mentally and physically exhausting. Lip-reading, moreover, is to a considerable extent guess-work even in ordinary conversation, since the lip-reading cannot get the guttural sounds or the nasal ones. The above statements are corroborated by Dr. Amos G. Draper of Gallaudet college.

Sign Language Natural.

"The sign language is the natural language of the deaf—it is to the eye as the spoken language is to the ear—and only those who have studied it can appreciate its usefulness and beauty. As every conscientious teacher of the deaf will testify, it is an invaluable aid in education of the deaf, as by its means an idea can be easily and clearly illustrated not often possible in any other way. Then, the sign language is indispensable for platform and chapel. In large towns the deaf have their own churches, clubs and societies for self-improvement and pleasure, where exercises are carried on through the medium of the sign language. Thus it will readily be seen that the sign language helps much toward brightening the lives of deaf people and broadening their horizon. Nevertheless the pure oralists would have it eliminated from every school for the deaf.

"In view of these facts, it is but natural that the intelligent deaf of this country condemn, with all their might, the Nebraska law, which is intended to fasten the pure oral method on the state school for the deaf, as calculated to do an irreparable injury to the cause of deaf education.

"Among the strongest supporters of the combined system is the eminent Dr. Gallaudet, who has an international reputation as the greatest authority on deaf education. He is the founder of the only college for the deaf in the world, which is going to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its opening next June. As far back as 1867, Dr. Gallaudet inspected more than forty schools for the deaf in Europe, and on his return to America, recommended that all deaf children be given an opportunity to learn to speak, which position he has always maintained.

Bell Approves Method.

"Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, who taught visible speech to the deaf before he invented the telephone, champions the pure oral method. It has always been a fad of his and he has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in efforts to have it adopted in every school for the deaf in the land.

"Helen Keller is a protege of Dr. Bell, and he points to her as a proof of the success of the pure oral method, when in reality she is a product of the combined system, since her education preceded speech, and she owes her education to manual spelling, as is freely admitted by her own teacher. To begin her education by the pure oral method would have been putting the cart before the horse, and probably she would never have won renown. Most of the star pupils of the pure oral schools are semi-mutes, and they, too, are often publicly exhibited as having acquired speech under the pure oral method. By way of explanation, there are two classes of deaf—one comprising semi-mutes who acquired speech before becoming deaf and have retained it, and the other comprising deaf-mutes who have no recollection of speech, having been deaf since birth or lost their hearing early in infancy.

"The whole controversy in a nutshell is: The pure oralists insist on speech with or without education, while the combined systemists insist on education with or without speech. Which is preferable, education without speech or speech without education?"

CREAMERY ASSOCIATION

Is Organized By Butter Makers of Wadena County.

Wadena, Minn., Feb. 28.—Twenty-six buttermakers and other individuals directly interested in dairying met here and formed an association which will hereafter be known as "The Combined County Creamery association." State Creamery Inspector Austin of Fergus Falls inaugurated the movement and is directly responsible for the meeting.

The following creamery managers were elected: County Vice Presidents, Henry Lewis, Bertha, Todd county; N. P. Hansen, Westbury, Becker county; John Steene, Ashby, Grant county; Charles Alstadt, Dent, Otter Tail county; and Conrad Sealman, Underwood, Otter Tail county.

FARM FOR VICTIMS OF FACTORY MISHAPS

Berlin, Feb. 28.—The Northeastern Iron & Steel Co-operative association, embracing all the metal-working factories of Berlin, has bought a 210-acre farm near the city and will equip it for taking care of the victims of factory accidents. A hospital for badly injured men is to be provided, and for less seriously injured workmen and convalescents special quarters will be built. Particular benefit is expected from light gardening in cases of traumatic neurosis, a common sequel of injuries in this line of work. All patients will be cared for free of cost and convalescents capable of working at gardening, fruit culture or other light farm work will receive wages.

The association plans eventually to establish a farm colony where those victims of accidents who require a long period for convalescence can settle with their families. It is planned to build small houses, a quarter to a half acre, according to the size of the house and the number of persons occupying it, and to charge for all this less rent than the family would have to pay in the city for its restricted apartments. Opportunity will be given to raise poultry, rabbits and goats, and trained gardeners will be at the service of the tenants.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."—Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Interesting Program Outlined for Alumni Day Celebration, June 10.

Correspondence Courses in Public Speaking and Music Started.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting program has been outlined for the alumni day celebration on June 10. The members of the class of 1904 will act as hosts, and their committee has formulated plans which will make the reunion of the liveliest that has yet been attempted. Shevlin hall will be kept open during the afternoon and evening, in charge of a committee to welcome the visitors. What promises to be the most exciting event of the day is the baseball game, in which the Twin City Alumni Stars will pit their skill against a nine chosen from the non-resident alumni. After the ball game there will be an opportunity to see several tennis matches, in which well-known alumni will again wield their racquets. President Vincent has consented to make an address in chapel, where there will also be given a moving picture exhibition of various university scenes. In the evening the alumni will gather at Shevlin hall for the banquet, where things will be kept lively by toasts, songs and yells from various classes. Following the banquet a most entertaining program has been arranged, which will include vaudeville stunts, a song fest, reception, grand promenade and dancing.

Three sterling silver cups and $75 in cash are the rewards held forth by the Minnesota Magazine to students of literary ability. One of the cups is given by Prof. Northrop and will be awarded to the writer of the best poem; another, given by Eldred Carpenter of Minneapolis, will be the reward for the best literary essay; and a third is offered for the best short story. The winner of one of these trophies must gain it twice during his college career in order to retain permanent possession of it. The cash prize of $75, donated by friends, is to be divided into two parts, $50 and $25, to be awarded to the writers of the two best historical essays submitted throughout the year. These last prizes will not be awarded by the magazine board, as are the others, but by a committee of the faculty. These essays will all be printed in the magazine.

Correspondence courses in public speaking are a new venture of the university. Public speaking has been taught directly to classes for years, but never before has the university been prepared to send out instructions on how to talk. Three courses are offered, the first in the fundamentals of public speaking, the second in the writing of the finished speech and the third in argumentation. Professors F. M. Rarig and H. B. Grolason are the instructors. Courses in music also are offered for the first time by correspondence, one in harmony and one in the history of music. Professors Scott and Ferguson are in charge.

The Minnesota Glee club is not inclined to rest on the laurels won in the record breaking trip to the coast during last term. This evening at Litchfield, under the auspices of the Odin club of that city, the club will appear in an engagement in which sixteen members will take part. Grindeland and Balch, the regular soloists and Ernest Gilden, accompanist, will give special numbers. Plans are on foot for a trip through South Dakota during Easter vacation.

The All-Sophomore-Get-Together, held Tuesday night in the Armory, was a pronounced success, both in attendance and entertainment. Over one hundred couples were in attendance for the dance.

"Bee" Lawler, Everett Geer, Thorgny Carlson, Dave Giltinan, Richard Lewis and R. E. Ramaker were returned successful candidates in Wednesday's athletic board of control election. The balloting on all officers ran very close. President-elect Lawler is one of the most popular athletes in college, being a football and basket ball star as well as captain of the year's varsity baseball team. Geer, the secretary, is well known by the students, but not active as an athlete. The point system, whereby seniors were to be limited to 50 credit points, juniors to 40, sophomores to 30 and freshmen to 20, was adopted by a large majority, but the amendment limiting the eligible voters in athletic elections to holders of season tickets was lost.

Simplified spelling as advocated by the Modified Spelling board of New York city, may be officially adopted at the University of Minnesota. At a meeting of the deans last Thursday, the matter of the official adoption of simplified spelling was taken up, and discussed at some length. The matter was finally referred to the consideration of the university senate, which will take the matter up at its next meeting early in April.

The Scandinavian society is at present working on extensive plans for the spring term. The next meeting will be held on a date about the middle of March, the exact date being undecided. Efforts are being made by the officers of the society to procure Dr. Nilson, the well known Danish author and lecturer for an illustrated lecture on "The Progress of Denmark During the Last Half Century." The society plans to present two plays in the near future. One will be Norwegian and the other Swedish.

SPORTING PAGES IN ITALIAN NEWSPAPERS

Rome, Feb. 28.—The sporting page along American lines has lately become a feature of Italian newspapers. Most of the journals are giving up a whole page or more every day to sport. While devoid of baseball or football gossip, the pages deal extensively with aviation, automobiling, bicycle racing, and rowing and swimming.

A subject of current discussion is a proposed trip to the new Italian colony in Africa, members of the Italian touring club planning to join with members of the agricultural society and the Venetian Association of the Studies of the Antique in an excursion, whose aims will combine pleasure, science and art. The party will visit Tripoli from April 29 to May 10 and then tour the colony.

ELEVEN ENTER FOR 500-MILE RACE

Jules Goux and Other Speed Kings Fill Out Blanks.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 28.—With the receipt of signed entry blanks from Jules Goux, winner of last year's contest, and his famous teammate, Georges Boillot, the champion driver of Europe, together with the news that the contracts of Jeon Chassagne, holder of the world's hour record, Guyot, runner-up in the Grand Prix of Le Mans last fall, and Christiaens, the famous Belgian, are in the mail, the management of the Indianapolis motor speedway finds the entry list for its next 500-mile race, three months hence, increased to a total of eleven. The field now stands as follows:

Car.	Driver.
Burman	Burman
Stutz	Cooper
Stutz	Anderson
Gray Fox	Wilcox
Bullet	Keene
Peugeot	Goux
Peugeot	Boillot
Sunbeam	Chassagne
Delage	Guyot
Excelsior	Christiaens
Burman	No name

At the present rate of increase the speedway field promises to reach a total of forty well before the entry list closes, May 1. Inasmuch as only thirty cars will be allowed to start, it seems entirely probable that an elimination series will have to be held to determine the final lineup. Speed will be the sole deciding factor in the struggle, the thirty fastest machines surviving. True, there is a proviso in the speedway rules and regulations requiring that three-car teams be reduced to two before further weeding out is begun; this, however, it is thought can easily be evaded through the simple expedient of entering the third car through another party.

Among those who are expected to be added to the field very shortly are Pilettte and De Palma, in Mercedes; Babiot and Toft, in Delages; Duray, in a third Peugeot; Nazzarre, in a car of his own; Grant in a Sunbeam; Marquis and Gilhooley in Isottas; Oldfield, Wishart and Pullen in Mercers; Dawson, Mulford, Disbrow, Hearne and many others.

CARE AS TO DETAIL.

Finish and Equipment Chief Aim of Manufacturers.

That automobile progress has been, during the last two years, along the line of detailed refinement, rather than in any sweeping revolution of design is a fact which has been commented upon by every thoughtful observer. Manufacturers have, in general, been giving more for the money—better upholstery, more complete equipment, better finish, more convenient control, more harmonious lines. The addition of reliable, built-in electrical starting and lighting systems is another detail which has been a recent development in the quality field.

That the cars have been steadily improving in mechanical detail is similarly true, though this fact is naturally appreciated more by active motorists than by the person whose interest is of the prospective sort.

Greater attention is being given to the incorporation of adjustable roller bearings in hubs and transmission; the long-stroke, small-bore motors like those of the Studebaker "Four" and "Six" models have been a long step toward fuel economy and increased power; cooling problems have been so successfully attacked that no correctly adjusted motor should ever become unduly hot.

Many of the late improvements have been made as the result of investigations by skilled metallurgists who have by long series of experiments improved the strength of materials. Spring troubles, for instance, should be virtually unknown in any current or recent models, yet the veteran motorist found them often present and took them as a matter of course.

TRUCK IS LONG-LIVED.

Lasts Five Times as Long as Horse, Says Willys.

"One of the important claims we make for our Utility three-quarter ton truck is its longevity," said John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, in a recent interview. "As compared to horse transportation methods our trucks are practically indestructible, or at least so much longer lived than the horse that this faithful beast of burden makes a very poor showing. There are plenty of records available which show that horses used in rapid transportation service retain their efficiency for only about two years. A Willys Utility truck, if properly cared for, will last four or five times as long with no lost time for sickness or exhaustion and very little for repairs.

"The proper care of a truck doesn't mean that it has to be worked over all the time it is not in service, either. A superficial daily inspection and a careful inspection once a week gives the owner a thorough knowledge of just what condition his truck is in all the time. These daily and weekly inspections in the aggregate do not require more than an hour or two, and this will take care of all adjustments and minor repairs necessary, too. In other words, the truck is practically trouble proof, for the ordinary everyday care given to any piece of machinery will keep it in good shape almost indefinitely.

"The horse must be watched and attended to almost as carefully as a child. It must be fed and groomed at regular times, care must be taken in the quality and amount of food given and there is always the possibility that overwork or unfavorable weather conditions will result in a sick animal. All these attentions increase the cost of horse maintenance, and they are all eliminated in operating and caring for a motor truck.

"The truck is never sick. The extreme heat of summer and the excessive cold or slippery streets of winter have absolutely no effect upon the mechanism or working power. It will travel as far and as fast on the hottest day in summer as it will when the weather is temperate. Slippery streets hold no terror for it. It will plow ahead through snow and over ice without a bit of trouble. The man who drives a motor truck doesn't have to be an expert in his line, for anyone with common sense and ordinary intelligence can be taught in a very short time to take care of his machine properly. A horse driver cannot be chosen at random, for it is a well-known fact that careless or ignorant drivers can do more damage to their animals than the hardest work. There are many other points in which the truck is superior to the horse, aside from the ever-present fact that the motor vehicle will do more work in less time and for less money than is possible for its equine competitor."

FORD BUSINESS BREAKS ALL RECORDS

January is not supposed to show the high-water mark of production in the automobile world, but nevertheless the first month of 1914 shows the largest output of any month in the entire history of the Ford Motor company. During the month of January, this year, the Ford Motor company built and shipped 23,9[illegible] cars. The largest month's output previous to this was June, 1913, when the number of cars made and shipped reached the total of 22,049.

These figures show how the Ford business is growing even beyond the extraordinary proportion it reached last season. To achieve such production figures every department and every executive, in a sense, had to grow, too. The Ford plant is constantly testing new systems and methods to diminish the labor, speed up the operations, to save time, energy and the like. In this way only can production keep pace with business. These time and labor-saving systems (and some remarkably interesting ones have recently been adopted) form some of the most fascinating features for visitors to inspect.

LARGE AUTO TAX GOES TO STATE

Sum Far Exceeds Amount Spent By State in Road Making.

"Whenever the subject of retrenchment in state expenditures is agitated," says President George A. Kissel of the Kessel Motor Car company, "some thoughtless or narrow-minded persons suggests that too much money is being expended for good roads and attributes the responsibility to the demands of automobile owners. Such people do not seem to take into account the fact that most states collect for automobile licenses a sum far in excess of the amount applied to highway improvement.

"The better the roads, the more interest there is in motoring, and every increase in the number of car owners means additional revenue to the state. That is plain enough, even though we disregard the manifold benefactions to the community through the development of the automobile.

"The automobile has unquestionably emphasized the necessity for better roads—I say necessity because the automobile is not a mere plaything, but a profitable utility of the utmost importance. Thousands of cars are driven by commercial travelers, by physicians, by farmers, by countless others in the pursuit of their business. It enables the drummer to cover more territory, the doctor to reach more patients more quickly and conserves the farmer's valuable time by bringing his markets nearer to him.

"The automobile has increased the value of real estate enormously. By its conservation of time it has made accomplishments possible that were never dreamed of before its advent.

"Thus no man who thinks twice will begrudge the advantage gained by the automobile through extension of the system of state highways. There is no movement in this country that does more credit to the foresight and intelligence of the people than the nation-wide interest in good roads. It is an investment, not an expense, and an investment that is paying, and will continue to pay, handsome dividends in both health and wealth."

AUTO RANKS FOURTH.

Popular Contest Fixes Rating of Various Inventions.

In popular opinion the automobile ranks fourth as an invention of the last twenty-five years. Wireless telegraph came first in the estimation of competitors in an essay contest of a motor publication. On a percentage basis the motor car is fourth. The list follows:

RELIABILITY IS NOW THEIR AIM

A motorcycle of medium weight, with a combination of moderate speed and utmost reliability, will be the trend toward which American manufacturers are working for 1915, according to motorcycle agents in Duluth.

Following the progressive policies adopted by the foreign manufacturers to get away from the specialized speed machine that has been so popular in the last few years, and to construct machines on a more conservative basis, manufacturers in this country have decided to adopt a similar policy. Although the speed machines will still be turned out, the general line will be of a machine that can combine business and recreation.

Duluth agents said yesterday that while there is still some demand for the speed machines, there is now a growing disposition to overlook the speed merchant and to cater to the man who simply desires to get over the ground with reasonable speed and utmost reliability.

Roads throughout Minnesota and the West in general are too heavy for speed machines, local agents say, and the touring motorcycle made for normally fast driving and comfort, will now become the favorite in this section of the country.

Manufacturers are also making the motorcycle more important to business houses by the up-to-date arrangement with machines for delivery. Local dealers are reporting a very brisk sale not only among individual buyers, but also among the larger business houses in the city.

TRY-OUT FOR "SIXES."

Tests By Cadillac Company Fail to Satisfy the Owners.

Henry M. Leland, president of the Cadillac Motor Car company, and recently elected to the presidency of the Society of Automobile Engineers, corrects an erroneous impression which seems to prevail in some quarters with regard to the future plans and policies of his company.

"We could scarcely expect to control," says Mr. Leland, "the very considerable volume of 'mouth to mouth' advertising which the Cadillac receives. It would keep us busy if we were to attempt to confirm or deny the many and varied reports that are constantly being circulated concerning the Cadillac. But when a misunderstanding or misconception of the methods, plans or policies of the Cadillac company is liable to creep into this sort of gratuitous publicity, we consider it a duty we owe the public as well as ourselves to correct whatever inaccuracies may unwittingly be reported.

"We have experimented, it is true, with engines of six cylinders; in fact, we have built a number of such cars in the past four years. We have tested them to the utmost; and we have compared them, point by point, with some of the most highly regarded 'sixes' which we had bought for just this purpose. It may be interesting to note, in this connection, that we did not find a single 'six' which, in our opinion, outpointed our own in these exhaustive tests. Most of them, in fact, were outpointed by our own. These experiments may have been the basis of rumors that we were to market a six-cylinder Cadillac—but this company has no such intention.

"Our tests, investigations, experiments and comparisons have demonstrated conclusively that our four-cylinder engine affords the highest degree of all-around efficiency obtainable, coupled with greatest economy of operation and maintenance. Furthermore, our tests have proved that such an engine as the present Cadillac power-plant, in connection with a properly designed two-speed axle, produces not only an extraordinary range of operating flexibility, but an extraordinary degree of operating and maintenance economy and marvelously luxurious riding qualities, while reducing friction and consequent wear to a marked degree and reducing vibration almost to the vanishing point.

"With this knowledge to guide us, we certainly have not the slightest idea of departing from our present policy."

KISSEL KARS AND DIFFICULT ROADS

Included in a general report on owners of automobiles, Frank J. Edwards of the Kissel Kar company mentions Doctors J. D. Park and E. L. Tuohy and John C. McGreevy among the owners of the Kissel Kars throughout the country. The statement of Mr. Edwards' follows:

"The stress to which an automobile is subjected is great in any locality, but there are certain portions of the country where road and other conditions make the tests of power and strength especially severe.

"Over the deep sand stretches of Southern California and Arizona, the unmade clay roads of Texas, the steep hills of Northern Minnesota and the soft and humpy highways of Nebraska, the 'going' is very strenuous and that is why our reports of Kissel Kars long in service in those localities are of special interest and in many cases astonishing.

"Inspired by the perfect condition in which we found a 60-Six which won the Los Angeles to Phoenix desert race in 1910, we have addressed detailed inquiries to every owner of old cars on our list. The race 'hero,' now owned by Charles Wilson of Santa Anna, Cal., has gone 50,000 miles and Mr. Wilson is so certain that it is still an infant, he is having a modern body put on it.

"Other owners in the Pacific coast country, all of whose cars have been in nearly constant travel over sand and mountain roads, are A. A. Gamble of Riverside (22,000 miles), Dr. R. L. Johnston of Stockton (36,000 miles) and H. S. Johnston of Los Angeles, ($3,324 miles). Mr. Gamble has spent $50 in overhauling his car and only 50 cents for repairs; Dr. Johnston declares that of five cars he has owned his Kissel Kar has given the best results, and Mr. Johnston says his total expense of maintenance has been a little more than 2½ cents a mile.

"Down in Texas, there is S. P. Breeden of Yorktown, who has driven 50,000 miles, and J. P. L. Griffin of Dallas with 52,000 miles. Neither are ready to buy new cars.

"In Duluth, Dr. J. D. Park, who has owned four other cars, says his Kissel Kar, after 30,000 miles of service, is his favorite. Dr. E. L. Tuohy has had a similar mileage and John C. McGreevy's speedometer shows 22,000 miles.

"Digressing for a moment to refer to an even worse locality for roads than those I have mentioned, take a look at this letter from Thomas G. Lander of Edmonton, Alberta. Mr. Lander has driven 17,000 miles and has spent only $35 for repairs and overhauling.

"Out in Oakland, Neb., lives R. A. Evans, a real estate dealer, who has put his Kissel Kar through 60,000 miles of Nebraska mud and ruts and who says he has had to have the valves ground only once.

"There are many more reports from the same localities, but these are thoroughly typical and prove the contention that a good car well cared for has an indefinite life. For instance Charles Guetzkow, a Milwaukee contractor, has driven his Kissel Kar 110,000 miles and believes he can double that mileage. F. H. Cunningham of Hoopeston, Ill., reports 65,874 miles; A. Aberg of Falun, Sweden, 30,000 miles; H. G. Butler of Battle Creek, Mich., 25,000 miles, and so on—thus you see it is not a matter of locality."

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

February has not been a quiet month for West coast motorcyclists, as many interesting club events have been staged during the month. On Feb. 14, the Tucson and Prescott, Ariz., Motorcycle clubs staged a run to Phoenix, where they took part in the Admission Day festivities. On Feb. 22, was held the Mt. Hamilton run of clubs in the Bay City district; also a 40-mile road race from Tucson to Vail and return; and on the twenty-third, the Stockton club run to Mt. Hamilton.

Future coast motorcycle events so far scheduled are:

May 30-31—Oakland Motorcycle club run to Fresno, Cal.

July 3-4—Lake Tahoe run by Stockton Motorcycle club.

July 4—200-mile international race on oval track at Dodge City, Kan., under auspices of Kansas Short Grass Motorcycle club.

July 4-5—San Francisco Motorcycle club 310-mile run to Sausalito, to Eureka and return.

In Chicago the motorcycle has successfully solved the problem of Police Surgeon Hunt of quickly transporting pulmotors about the city. Every ambulance station in Chicago is supplied with a pulmotor, and Dr. Hunt believes that in the past many more lives could have been saved from drowning, asphyxiation, electric shocks, etc., if these resuscitating devices could have been gotten to the scene of the accident more quickly. He finally decided upon the motorcycle as the best vehicle for transporting the life savers, and now each ambulance station of the windy city is also equipped with a motorcycle.

* * *

Fifty motorcycles are kept in constant use by the telephone company of Chicago guarding the lines of the company from copper wire thieves. Copper wire is very valuable and it is also easy to get away with, as the casual observer could not detect the thief from a workman. With the aid of the motorcycle thefts of this sort have been reduced from thirty to five during the past month.

* * *

Members of the Orange, N. J., Motorcycle club, recently held a mid-winter economy test, in which F. M. Bohsen, the winner, rode his two-wheeler a little more than 22 miles on a quart of gasoline. The other contestants averaged about 17 miles.

* * *

A Chinaman of Milwaukee, Wis., Charlie Moy, has purchased a motorcycle, on which he and Mrs. Moy expect to spend their leisure hours this summer.

* * *

It is said that the first man to cross the continent on a motorcycle was George A. Wyman of San Francisco, who performed the feat during the summer of 1903.

* * *

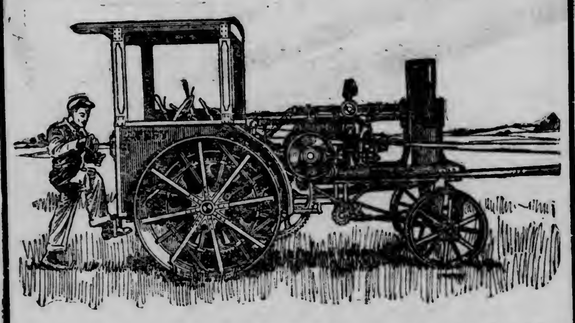

W. B. Moyer of Washington, Ill., recently rode his motorcycle from Washington to Aberdeen, S. D. He made the 1,800-mile trip in five days.

* * *

According to conservative estimates there are now 225,000 motorcycles in use in the United.

1914 Chalmers

Eight Reasons Why the Chalmers Master "Six" Was the Sensation of the 1914 Auto Shows—

Non-stallable motor.

T-head, six-cylinder motor.

Cork insert Chalmers clutch, giving in combination with the six-cylinder motor, a car of wonderful flexibility.

Four forward speed transmission.

Underslung springs, giving a car which clings well to any pavement.

Equal distribution of weight, which prevents skidding.

Quick pick-up, enabling the Master "Six" to get away quickly in every emergency.

And in addition, simplicity and efficiency of design, roominess, wide doors and unusual convenience of control.

Compare these points with any other six-cylinder car under $2,500. Look up the strength and reputation of the manufacturer. You will not be satisfied with any other car but the Chalmers.

DIRECTED TO PAY ALIMONY

Judge Bert Fesler in district court this morning signed an order restraining Robert D. Blackwood from visiting, interfering with or in any way molesting his wife, Ethel Barry Blackwood, who is suing him for divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

The court also entered an order directing Mr. Blackwood to pay his wife $15 a week temporary alimony and Guy W. C. Ross, her attorney, $25 fees. He is also required by an order of the court to pay the house rent during the pendancy of the divorce action.

In her suit for divorce, Mrs. Blackwood charges that her husband has been in the habit of associating with women of loose character. Blackwood is the proprietor of a downtown cigar store. The Blackwoods reside at 618 East Second street.

On the grounds of brutal treatment, Victoria Ryia, 16 years old, has started suit for divorce from James Ryia, 24, to whom she was married scarcely six months ago. The young wife alleges that she became Ryia's wife two months after she had finished the seventh grade of the public schools.

During her short matrimonial career she has been subjected to brutal treatment at his hands, she says. On one occasion last October, she asserts, he made a vicious attack on her, cutting her lip and causing her face to become swollen. On another occasion, she recites, he placed a knife under his pillow and threatened her with bodily injury.

Ryia is a tailor living at 1532 West Superior street. They were married Aug. 24, 1913. Mrs. Ryia asks permission to resume her maiden name, that of Victoria Athol.

Christina Martha Collins, 34, and Henry Collins, 40, had lived together as man and wife but six weeks after they were married in September, 1912, when Collins deserted, according to his wife's story related in divorce papers filed by her in district court today. The wedding took place on Sept. 10, 1912, in this city and the alleged desertion occurred Oct. 25 of the same year. Mrs. Collins asks the court to restore her maiden name, Christina Martha Hoffer.

* * *

Alfred J. Carlson has failed to obey the order of the district court with reference to paying his divorced wife alimony, according to the petition of Carrie M. Carlson for an order to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. The court signed the order a few days ago and the matter was scheduled to come up for a hearing this morning. It was, however, postponed for one week.

RAILROADS' TAXES EXCEED STATE LEVY

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 28.—Railroads operating in Minnesota will pay to the state as their 1913 gross earnings taxes $5,733,713.10, the rate being 5 per cent.

This tax is $513,000 more than the state levy for revenue purposes, which brought in $5,210,000 last year and a trifle less than one-eighth of the total amount raised by the state, and all the municipalities, counties, townships and school districts through tax levies in 1913.

This is the first time in the history of the state that the railroads have furnished for the support of the state government more than has been exacted from the people by direct taxation. The amount is the largest ever collected from the carriers and their earnings were larger last year than ever before.

The 1913 earnings were reported at $105,961,358.19 and the tax at 4 per cent was $4,318,454.32. This was a record up to that time.

$67,750.11 FOR THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Chicago, Feb. 28.—The whereabouts of funds derived from the sale of souvenirs during the world's fair in 1893, about which there has been much speculation here, was definitely established last night by Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the board of lady managers of the world's Columbian exposition.

The money, which amounted to $36,000 at the end of the fair, was invested in securities which were placed in a safe deposit box here. The fund has grown through interest until it amounts today to $67,750.11. This fund is available at any time, Mrs. Palmer said, to be consolidated with funds from the sale of Isabella coins, and to be used in the work for which it was raised—the permanent betterment of women and children.

The question of the disposition of some of the World's Fair funds arose recently while Mrs. Palmer was in Florida. When word of the public discussion reached her, she returned here, determined the exact balance on hand, and issued the final statement.

INHALING SMOKE FATAL.

Devils Lake, N. D., Feb. 28.—The air of mystery that surrounded the death of Mrs. Ellen Elch when her home burned to the ground near here Jan. 22 has probably been cleared by the finding of the coroner's jury, which is that she was overcome by smoke inhaled, the verdict reading "the deceased came to her death by suffocation caused by the inhalation of smoke from the burning of the Elch residence in Cato township, Ramsey county, N. D., in which she resided at the time of the fire, and that the fire originated in some manner unknown to this jury."

As there was a man sleeping in the house at the time, who escaped, there were various ugly rumors as to the origin of the fire.

NEAR CYCLONE AT CLARESHOLM, ALTA.

Claresholm, Alberta, Feb. 28.—A windstrom that assumed cyclonic proportions swept over this town yesterday, wrecking buildings, breaking plate glass windows and tearing street signs from their fastenings. No deaths have been reported.

The curling rink was reduced to kindling wood and was strewn along for a distance of 100 yards. One side of a building was blown against the residence of Elmo Jones, completely wrecking the house. The occupants escaped serious injury. The exhibition building at the fair grounds was destroyed and the grandstand was blown down. Several smaller buildings were dmolished.

Ironwood Boy Dies.

Ironwood, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelean of the Puritan location, died Thursday of heart trouble. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Oscar of Abbotsford, Wis., and John at home and one sister, May, at home.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and interment will be made in the Bessemer cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelean of Abbotsford came here to attend the funeral.

INHERITED VIGOR NECESSARY IN POULTRY.

Breed for Vitality.

BY PROF. H. R. LEWIS.
New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

Constitutional vigor means health, vitality and stamina common to strong, well bred birds, the lack of which makes poor breeders and unprofitable egg producers, and no one practice would result in better birds and more profit than mating and selecting breeders for vitality if for no other characteristic. A good hen is expected to lay in one year five times her body weight in eggs, which means about one egg every three days, and to accomplish this she must consume and assimilate thirty times her body weight of food. Therefore the laying hen must be an exceptionally strong, vigorous animal to stand up under such a strain.

Signs of Lack of Vitality.

The following are some of the contributory causes to lack of vitality: Increased productiveness without proper care, too close inbreeding without regard to vigor, the use of pullets instead of mature hens for breeding, heavy feeding of forcing foodstuffs, excessive crowding or congesting of breeding stock, lack of exercise for breeding or laying stock, careless and improper methods of hatching and failure to use due care in selection of breeding stock which possess superior physical vigor.

The action and movement of birds probably indicate best their physical condition, as the physically weak are inactive, dull and generally mope around rather than range to any extent in search of food or scratch for grains which are fed in litter for the express purpose of keeping the birds busy. Weak birds are usually the longest on the perch, going on early at night and coming off late in the morning and in extreme cases spending most of the day on the perch. The bird which is off the perch first in the morning and the last one on at night is in every case the one to keep for breeding and laying, and the loud and frequent crowing of the male and the cackling of the female are indications of physical strength and superiority.

There are certain body signs indicating lack of vigor. They are a long, thin neck; thin, long beak; narrow head, a long slender body lacking depth; long legs and thighs which give the bird a stilted appearance, knockknees and sunken or depressed eye. The strong bird at any age should have a bright, prominent eye; well developed body which is deep and wide, glossy, neat plumage, bright comb and wattles, erect carriage and should be active and sprightly in all its movements.

THE SUCCULENT GOOSE.

One Way to Enrich Poor Pastures.

By E. KNEELAND.

A friend of mine was always complaining about his poor pasture land, but as he never seemed inclined to remedy matters in the ordinary way I asked him one day why he did not put a flock of geese on it and make good money, not only by having fine birds to sell for market, but also to enrich his soil, as stocking land with geese is an excellent way to enrich land quickly. He was a little doubtful at first, but it turned out admirably, and now his fine Toulouse geese are sought for by some of the fancy butchers in high priced markets, and in three years from the time he bought his flock his pasture was as good as any on the farm.

His growing pride and interest in his flock well repaid him for extra labor, and some of the facts he learned in regard to them were that geese are less liable to disease than any other domestic fowl and are longer lived. Some breeds lay forty eggs during the season, and one curious phase of this bird is that the ganders are as good, and sometimes better, mothers than the geese, being watchful and careful with the goslings. Two days after hatching the young ones should be given plenty of green and tender food, such as grass or lettuce, and, although at first they eat little, especially in summer, gradually they become ready for all you can give them. It is about two months and a half before they are ready for market, and, besides the necessary grit and water which they should always have within easy reach, a good fattening food is cornmeal mixed with water until it is crumbly and about 18 per cent meat scraps added to it.

Keep the Goslings Dry.

Never let these young goslings get wet, and they should not be allowed to attempt swimming until the breasts are well feathered out. February is the month geese begin laying and the larger breeds are not apt to lay until a full year old, but then will average some twenty goslings a year. The best breeders are apt to be those between 3 and 4 years old, and it is a good plan to mate them some time before laying season begins, usually one gander to four geese. It will take a goose a month to hatch her eggs, and it takes a good twenty-four hours for the bird to get out of the shell satisfactorily. My friend also found a very profitable source of income from his fine goose feathers, claiming they yielded him about $2 per pair of birds yearly, which made a very substantial addition to the profit derived from each bird.

MULE VERSUS HORSE POWER.

A Long Lived and Economical Beast.

BY GEORGE H. DACY.

Mules are more intelligent, efficient and generally more satisfactory for farm work than horses and for their weight are superior in drafting ability. They wax fat on grain and roughage that most horses would reject, consuming about four-fifths as much food as similarly sized horses. Contrary to popular opinion, the majority of mules are tractable, docile and easily handled in the field and stable, while for heavy work and continuous service mules will ordinarily wear out the average team of farm horses.

Mules are particularly adapted to a change of drivers, as they flourish under treatment that would worry and fret a horse almost to death. At present they excel horses in value on all the leading markets, and a pair of young, well broken 1,200-pound mules standing sixteen hands high will command from $460 to $700 and higher, and their immunity to foot and leg ills, which so vitally affect the efficiency of many horses, is another strong point in favor of this race of bybrids. The mule is the offspring of the mating of a jack and a mare and is incapabale of reproducing himself.

Mule Raising Profitable.

The owner of a good jack and several typy draft mares can make an attractive income from mule raising, as weanling mules bring about $75 per head, yearlings $125 to $150 apiece, while 2-year-olds sell for $175 to $200 and matutre mules bring upward of $225. Thus the mule breeder is quickly able to realize on his stock raising operations. Ordinarily a desirable jack costs from $800 to $1,000.

For general roustabout farm work the mule is excellent and after a wearisome day's work, when free of his harness, first takes a good roll, drinks a little water, then eats a little feed, and in this way he passes the night. The next morning he is ready for another ten or twelve or even fifteen hours of hard work. Mules are also their own doctors and will not gorge themselves with food nor flood themselves with water, as will horses, for you never hear of a mule being foundered, simply because he knows when he has had enough. The term "stubborn as a mule" would be more appropriate if it read "sensible as a mule." Again, the mule has the ability to endure heat and is far less liable than a horse to injury from sunstroke. He also has smaller and more compact feet than a horse, a point to be appreciated in cultivating the hoed crops where the rows are narrow. Lastly, the mule makes a very serviceable road animal and will go along with a right good will for hours at a stretch.

SPRING GARDEN PLANNING.

Order Seeds Early and Test Them.

BY E. R. PARKINSON.

February is garden planning month, for there are the seeds to be ordered, plans to be drawn, manure to be purchased and a plowman to be engaged. To derive the greatest pleasure from a garden it should be a permanent one and the spot most carefully selected. A level piece or one sloping gently toward the south is to be preferred, and if possible a windbreak of evergreens should be set out on the north side, and a low hedge of barberry might be planted around the edge of the entire garden, adding great beauty and providing bright autumn coloring. For illustration we will lay out a garden for a family of six and divde in four parts, so that any or all could be used. Mark out, then, a square 200 feet on each side, with a windbreak of trees or wall or board fence on the north side and a low helge of barberry on the other three sides. Divide this square into four equal parts by walks ten feet wide and where they cross in the center build a little arbor on which to grow vines. Each of the squares will be ninety-five feet. On the east, west and north sides set out fruit trees next to the hedge—apples and cherries twenty-five feet apart, pears and peaches about twenty feet and plums about fifteen feet apart.

Laying Out the Garden.

On the plan mark the plots 1, 2, 3, 4. Use the northwest plot, No. 1, for permanent crops, such as grapes, small fruits, rhubarb, asparagus, strawberries and herbs, leaving a five-foot strip on the two sides bordering the walk for perennials—peonies, iris, phlox, sweet william, etc. Then, beginning on the north side, plant twelve grape vines, twenty-four blackberry plants, thirty raspberry, eight currants, a short double row of six gooseberries each, a row of rhubarb, five rows of asparagus containing about 120 plants set three feet apart in the row and five rows of strawberries set two feet apart.

Let the vegetable rows run north and south and border the plots on the walk sides with flowers. The cost for vegetable seeds will be about $18. Buy of a reliable firm and never experiment with cheap seeds unless willing to test them first, which may be done by filling shallow pans with damp sand, planting in the seeds and keeping them moist and covered with a cloth for a few days, when the seeds worth while will start to grow. With such a garden, well prepared by deep plowing, thorough harrowing and pulverizing until the soil is fine and mellow and literally manuring it, one may derive not only great pleasure, but a nice profit as well.

INFLUENCE OF SOIL.

Effect Which It Has Upon the Composition of Wheat.

BY R. W. THATCHER,
Agricultural Chemist, University Farm, St. Paul.

There is quite a common idea that the difference in quality of wheat grown in different localities are due to the effect of the different soil types upon the composition. In order to ascertain whether this be true, the writer, in an experiment conducted in another state, shipped soil from each of two localities, where wheat of widely different quality is grown, to the other, and after carefully placing the soil back into as nearly its natural condition as possible, planted seed wheat from each locality upon both the native and the transferred soil at both places. This was repeated for two years, and each year the wheat was of one quality when grown at one place, regardless of the kind of soil upon which it grew, and of a different quality when grown at the other place. Further, the wheat which grew on the different soils, at either place, was as nearly alike as any two samples grown on adjacent plots of the same soil were found to be.

A similar experiment which is being conducted by the United States department of agriculture, in which soil has been shipped from Virginia and Kansas to California, from Virginia and California to Kansas, and from Kansas and California to Virginia, and seeded to wheat in the same way, is giving precisely similar results. It appears, therefore, that the composition of the soil has very little influence upon the quality of the wheat which grows on it. The moisture content of soil, especially during the period when the grain is filling, does have a very marked effect upon the quality of the wheat.

COMMUNITY BOOSTING.

By A. D. WILSON,
Director of Agricultural Extension, University Farm, St. Paul.

We would like to call the attention of every one in Minnesota to the novel, attractive, and effective work undertaken by the business men of Marietta, Minn. They have issued a very attractive calendar, with the following pertinent note prominently displayed:

"Good roads are for the betterment of any community. Therefore we, the business men of Marietta, have joined forces, placing the money heretofore used for calendars into a fund for the purpose of issuing one calendar and devoting the balance to the betterment of all roads leading to Marietta.

"Trusting this will meet with the approval of all our farmer friends, and hoping the roads leading to Marietta may be used often and with profit to you, and assuring you courteous treatment, we herewith present this calendar with our compliments.

"THE BUSINESS MEN OF MARIETTA."

We know of but one other community in Minnesota that has taken similar action, though there probably are many. A few years ago the business men of New London carried out a similar plan. The idea is so practical, effective and inexpensive that we feel it is worthy of the consideration of every business center in Minnesota.

CLOVER GROWING.

A large portion of the clover failures can be attributed to a lack of knowledge and consequent inattention to details. It is to the apparently little things that the most successful clover-growers attribute their success.

Clover has been grown with varied success in practically every county in Minnesota. Its beneficial action on the soil, its period of usefulness, the wide range of grains with which it can be sown, and its excellence as a hay and pasture crop, all serve to commend it to a place in our cropping system and prove it worthy of more general growth by our farmers.

There is much complaint of wornout soils, weeds and unprofitable crops, frequently coming from those who secured bountiful yields and satisfactory profits on the virgin soil. Those who have made clover an important factor in the cropping system have no such complaint to make.

For details in regard to clover culture and varieties best suited to Minnesota conditions, secure Minnesota Farmers' Library Bulletin 47 entitled "Clover," just issued by the division of agricultural extension. If you did not receive one of the 45,000 recently mailed, write to the office of publications, University farm, St. Paul.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

By LEROY CADY,
Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Purchase spraying material and equipment needed and make a thorough study of their uses.

Plant a good patch of Emerald Gem and Rockyford muskmelons and Kleckley's Sweet watermelons. They require warm, rich soil.

It rarely pays to save bulbs for forcing a second time. They may be planted in a shrubbery border and sometimes give good results.

Plan to set out a good liberal asparagus bed this spring. No vegetable is easier taken care of or returns more for the labor expended on it than asparagus.

The Red and Yellow Globe onions are the kinds usually planted for market. Prizetaker and some other white onions are of better flavor, but do not keep as well.

Hotbeds for early vegetables may be made this month. See that they are well banked with straw or manure that is not heating. Heating manure will freeze solid and will then take heat from the bed rather than help to keep it in.

Sparks Earliana and June Pink are two excellent early tomatoes. Beauty, Dwarf Champion, Globe and Ponderosa are good second early and late varieties.

Go over all house plants and remove scale, mealy bug, etc. Turn the plants toward the light occasionally so that they do not become one-sided or uneven.

Many perennials may easily be grown from seed and are much cheaper than when purchased from dealers. They may be started in February in hotbed or greenhouse and transplanted to their permanent bed late in spring.

THE SMOKEHOUSE.

By ANDREW BOSS,
Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

The smokehouse should be eight or ten feet high and of a size suited to the amount of meat likely to be smoked. Ample ventilation should be provided to carry off the warm air, in order to prevent over-heating the meat. Small openings under the eaves, or a chimney in the roof will be sufficient, if so arranged as to be easily controlled.

A firepot outside of the house proper, with a flue through which the smoke may be conducted to the meat chamber gives the best conditions for smoking. When this cannot well be arranged, a fire may be built on the floor of the house. The construction should be such as to allow the smoke to pass up freely over the meat and out of the house.

Brick or stone houses are best, though the first cost is greater than if they are built of lumber. Large dry-goods boxes, and even barrels, may be made to serve as smokehouses where only small amounts of meat are to be smoked. The care of the meat in such substitutes is so much more difficult, and the results so much less satisfactory that a permanent place should be provided if possible.

FARMERS' CLUBS.

By H. M. BUSH,
Farmers' Club Specialist, University Farm, St. Paul.

In no other part of Minnesota are there more farmers' clubs located near together than at Northfield. Since Sept. 1, A. M. Field, the agricultural director in the high school at Northfield, has organized fifteen school district farmers' clubs. These clubs have all been started in the rural schools, but after the first meeting or two some farmer has asked them to his home. After one meeting in the farm home no farmers' club will go back to the schoolhouse meetings.

The lunch which the women prepare and serve at each of these club meetings is an important feature. This lunch is not elaborate, consisting only of coffee, doughnuts, sandwiches and pickles, so it is not a burden on the women. The attendance at some of these club meetings has reached as high as 100. The meetings all last well into the night, as every one seems loath to break up the party and start home.

WOMEN MAKE MONEY IN BEE BUSINESS

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside Emily L. Tucker says that beekeeping is a good way for women to earn a little pin money. Following is an extract:

"Beekeeping means not only pleasure and profit but a more healthful condition of body and mind. It is well adapted to women and fits in with their work. It is not necessary to devote any regular time to it, as you can generally plan for it according to the work you have on hand, and the season is practically confined to six months of the year. As to location, it is possible to keep bees in the city, even on the roofs of buildings, but of course it is much better to be in the suburbs, and better still in the country.

"My sister and have kept bees for the past eight years. We started with only two colonies. At the end of our first season we had increased our colonies to four and had taken off twenty-five boxes of honey, besides several more boxes partly finished. We gradually increased to nineteen colonies, but found that was too many to care for with our other work, so we have only thirteen at present. Our crop of honey varies according to conditions. Some seasons we have had over 450 boxes of honey, besides many unfinished boxes that we keep for our own use. What we sell retails for 25 cents per box, but we make a special price to dealers. The net amount received for honey adds quite a little to our income."

DAMPNESS IN THE POULTRY HOUSES

By A. C. SMITH,
In Charge of Poultry Husbandry, University Farm, St. Paul.

A prolonged period of unusually damp weather is always a trying experience for poultrymen. This condition is likely to occur again as it has once this winter.

The modern poultry house usually depends upon ventilation to prevent it from becoming uncomfortable from excessive humidity, which is an exceedingly difficult thing to do during a prolonged period of damp weather. Litter is usually of such material that it absorbs water readily and at such times as mentioned above becomes intolerably damp. Because of the fowls' close and constant contact, damp litter causes more colds and cases of roup than extremely low temperatures, and is on that account most damaging to the health of the fowls which can endure dirty litter almost to the point of filthiness with less harmful effect.

Remove the damp litter at once even though it has just been put in. No litter at all would be better than damp litter. Occasionally, one must expect to find the weather against him. Even poultrymen cannot expect to find it all sunshine. Make the best of it and supply new and dry litter at a trifling cost rather than sustain big losses in fowls or egg-production — probably both.

VALUABLE WORK FOR THE FARMERS' CLUBS

By A. D. WILSON,
Director of Agricultural Extension and Farmers' Institutes, University Farm, St. Paul.

No organization can exist very long unless it is doing something. From the start the club must be made of value to the community socially, educationally, or financially, and in any event someone must do some work. As a rule, those who do the most for the club get the most out of it. The regular meetings, if made interesting, will be made valuable socially and educationally. Every class of people in the neighborhood or in the club membership should be considered on the program. Wholesome entertainment is often as important as profitable business.

If desirable, the program may be divided into two parts by an intermission. Readings and recitations may be of a humorous nature to add life to the program. Variety is essential, and whenever possible a discussion of woman's work should be made a prominent feature. The monthly topics furnished by the agricultural extension division, University farm, St. Paul, will be found helpful in preparing the program.

FARM MACHINERY AND THE USE OF POWER

BY A. F. WOODS.
Dean, Department of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul.

The great agricultural, industrial, and commercial expansion of the last fifty years has forced every class of American business men, including the farmer, to economize labor. Little in all the history of the world has such progress been made in the development of tools and machinery for the saving of time and labor and the cost of production as during the last century in America. • • • The prevention of waste of human labor on the modern farm is not only a great economic gain, but it has lightened the drudgery of farm labor and added intellectual stimulus. The value of the regular farm hand is now determined by his skill and directive ability, his honesty and reliability, rather than by his brute force.

While on some farms there is too little machinery and horsepower used to cultivate the land properly and save human labor, on others there is too much. Careful statistical studies of farms in Minnesota have shown that horses are employed on an average only about three hours a day. At least two-thirds of their available energy, therefore, goes to waste, making the cost of the energy used very high. The same is true of expensive tools which are used only for a short period during the year. • • • A farmer needs to figure very carefully before investing in cornshellers, shredders, threshers, power plows, etc., especially if the use of this needful machinery can be obtained by hire at a reasonable rate or co-operative ownership arranged. The latter method will doubtless be the final solution.

The use of wide tires on wagons has made hauling easier and improved and packed rather than cut ruts in the roads. The farmer who still uses narrow tires for heavy loads is not only wasting time and horse energy, but is guilty of cruelty to animals and the destruction of the public highways. The relation between weight of load and width of tire and the maintenance of roads in each section should be carefully considered and fixed by local regulations.

VACCINATING SOWS.

By H. PRESTON HOSKINS,
Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

Among the questions which we are being asked at this time is the advisability of vaccinating brood sows, especially those which have been bred. Those seeking information wish advice on two main points, namely, the effect of vaccination on the sow, and also upon her offspring.

As far as our knowledge goes, we can say that there is little danger in vaccinating brood sows during the early weeks of the gestation period, but there is some risk if the vaccination is delayed until the sows are well advanced in pregnancy, especially if the double method is used.

Bad results have been reported once in a while, and they have been of two kinds. Sows have been known to abort after vaccination. This is not necessarily due to any harmful properties of the serum or virus used, but is just as likely to be due to rough or careless handling of the sows incident to vaccination. Animals sometimes pass through a mild reaction following the double treatment. In the case of a brood sow this may be severe enough to cause the loss of her pigs, or, if abortion does not occur, the pigs may be carried to full time, but not be well developed. The whole litter may be runty.

Unless it is absolutely necessary to vaccinate brood sows, either by reason of cholera in the herd or exposure to infection, we have advised the postponement of vaccination until after farrowing. If conditions compel earlier vaccination, and the sows are well advanced in pregnancy, the single treatment should be used. If the sows have recently been bred, and the owner is willing to take the small risk or possible bad results, the double treatment may be used.

If the premises have been infected, or course the sows must be immune to cholera, or they cannot be kept on the premises, with safety. Pigs from such sows will inherit a certain amount of immunity, which is gradually lost after they are a few weeks old. They should then be protected with the single treatment, to be followed by the double treatment when the pigs average about forty or fifty pounds in weight.

MAPLE SUGAR AND SYRUP

By H. R. FLINT,
Formerly of Minnesota College of Forestry, University Farm, St. Paul.

According to the United States census reports, Minnesota produced in 1909 over 11,000 pounds of maple sugar and over 17,000 gallons of syrup. Many Minnesota farms possess woodlots or groves which might produce maple sugar. Some of these groves are large enough to produce sugar for market while others can only provide sugar and syrup for home consumption.

Most of the sugar groves in Minnesota need improvement. Old diseased trees should be made into cord wood, competing species of trees that are of little value should be removed, young maple groves thinned, or trails cut to aid in the collection of sap. All of these things can be done best in winter or in early March.

This is also an excellent time to overhaul and repair all old equipment and to order new supplies, such as buckets and covers, spouts, cans, evaporator and tanks.

In estimating the supplies of various sorts that will be required, it should be remembered that an average tree produces from ten to twenty gallons of sap in a fair season, and that this amount of sap will make about three pounds of sugar.

These having maple groves should write to the United States department of arglculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin 516 for full information on the subject.

THE FAMILY INCOME.

BY JOSEPHINE T. BERRY,
Home Economics, University Farm, St. Paul.

What is the family income? Are you accustomed to estimating it in terms of wages, salary, or the profits of business only? Or, do you think of it as one of these, increased by many other things which a family has to use and to enjoy, and which are chiefly the product of the labor and skilled management of the home-maker? The latter is the accepted economic view. There is a genuine money value to be placed upon the home-maker's care for a family; upon the increase in value of money wisely expended over money unwisely spent.

There is an increase in value—a genuine earning—when a dirty, disorderly house is made clean and put in order, when raw food materials are made into well-cooked and attractive meals, when garments out of repair are repaired, or when soiled linen is made clean. From the economic standpoint a family is an enterprise of two departments, each contributing its share toward the family income. The head of the family is the wage-earner. But—the home-making woman is also an earner and the business manager of the housekeeping department. Wage-earner and home-maker together produce the family income, together support the family.

ADORATION OF DANTE BY ITALIAN PEOPLE

Rome, Feb. 28.—In connection with the approaching 600th anniversary of the death of Dante, the Italians are renewing their intimacy with his writings. Dante, in Italy is almost a national God, and so far is his adoration carried that when Sir Henry Irving gave his drama which had Dante as its hero, the Italians rose as one man to protest against the destruction of their idol.

In the historic house and tower which the Count Anguillara built in the twelfth century as a mission and fortress, and which was frequented by Dante, Senator Pasquale Villari, who is famous as a student of the great poet's life and works, has begun a series of lectures on the "Father of the Italian Language."

A DAY OF POLITICAL "BUNKIN" MINNESOTA.

Certain Republican leaders who would like to respect their party in this state, and who would like a governorship candidate that they can respect and support with sincerity and good heart, have brought about a pre-primary convention to select a candidate to run against Eberhart in the primaries.

The Democrats of Minnesota, inspired by the same high motives, have also arranged for a pre-primary convention for the same purpose.

In each case the primary is still open. Any lawfully qualified citizen may file for the Republican or Democratic nomination without regard to the action of these conventions. One Democrat already has filed for the Democratic nomination, and one Republican at least—Governor Eberhart—will file for the Republican nomination, without regard to these conventions, and very likely others will do the same.

Nevertheless, there is a great outcry that these conventions are hostile in spirit to the direct primary system, and in violation of the primary law.

This outcry would be more impressive if it were not so obvious that in every case it is the reaction of interest—of some other interest than the public interest.

The fact is that in both parties it is a condition and not a theory that is to be faced. Never was there a time when Minnesota needed so much a governor who can be a real leader in the movement for a sound, progressive, business-like state government that will put Minnesota in the very vanguard of state progress. Never was there a time when it was so important that the parties, by whatever honorable means at their command, should put in the field for governor the best men they can impress.

If there is the slightest danger that by default inferior candidates may maneuver themselves into these two important nominations, then the mass convention movement is fully justified.

The talk that these conventions are devised in a spirit of hostility to the direct primary, and that they do in fact constitute violations of the primary law, is what the boys call "bunk"—plain "bunk."

If the Minnesota primary law did in fact prohibit such meetings as these, it would attempt to take away the fundamental right of peaceable assemblage; and that, of course, would make it unconstitutional and void. But it does not prohibit such meetings.

The Minnesota primary law has one serious defect, and one only. This is that it puts the initiative on the candidate, forces him whether he relishes it or not to put himself in the position of "gunning for an office," and fails to give the people any means whatever—except through such mass conventions as are to be held—to fix on desirable candidates for public office. In other words, it compels the man to seek the office, and prevents the office seeking the man.

This defect could be remedied by a simple amendment providing for the proposing of candidates before the primaries by petition.

The law not now making that possible, the only way to propose candidates by popular initiative is through the mass convention; and that way is being taken on the governorship.

And that is all there is to the situation. There are no better friends of the direct primary than the very men who have been instrumental in bringing about these mass conventions.

There are no bitterer enemies of the spirit of the direct primary than the very persons who are now so virtuously indignant at what they choose, for dramatic purposes, to call an "assault upon the primary."

The idea that these conventions are "anti-primary" conventions is, as we have said, plain "bunk."

Can it be that we must rest content with the alliterative relationship between Villa and vaudeville?

"PROGRESSIVES" AND THE NATIONAL HONOR.

Senator Bristow of Kansas recently distinguished himself by assailing the motives of President Wilson in urging the repeal of the provision exempting American coastwise vessels from the payment of Panama canal tolls.

Thereby he earned—and got—the censure of every patriotic senator of every creed and party; especially that of the leaders of the Republican party, which Bristow deserted when it was popular to desert it and which he now seeks as a vehicle for re-election.

The New York Sun disposes of him thus:

> The Hon. Joseph Little Bristow, Little Joe Bristow; littler than little is Joe Bristow. The Republicans are ashamed of him; the Progressives are glad he's out of their camp. Bleed, Kansas! You deserve to.

For Little Joe Bristow was caught playing peanut politics with the national honor.

And so far Moses E. Clapp, the junior senator from Minnesota, has not denied the charge that he, too, is enrolled with Little Joe in opposition to the president's proposal to redeem the national honor and make good the nation's pledge by repealing the provision which at one blow introduces the Trojan horse of the ship subsidy steal and breaks the nation's pledged word.

Those who have had any doubt about whether they want Mr. Clapp to be senator from Minnesota again will be wise to follow carefully his policy on this test of statesmanship, patriotism and common honesty.

But maybe Senor Huerta is thankful he is neither an Englishman nor an American.

THE LARGE RAILROAD TAXES.

The discussion of state taxes based on the just issued state auditor's abstract should not leave out of account the fact that these figures include only direct taxation.

They do not include the state's large revenues from other sources, which, though indirect, the people pay just as surely as they pay direct taxes. Indeed, indirect taxes are shared in by everybody, while not everybody pays direct taxes.

The railroads, for instance, this year will pay into the state treasury $5,733,713.10, which is $513,000 more than the total amount raised by direct state taxes, and is the highest amount ever paid by the railroads in this state. The increase is due not only to good railroad business—railroad taxes are based on earnings—but to the increase of the railroad tax rate from four per cent to five. In the results of this increase this newspaper has a particular interest, because it can modestly claim to have done its share in bringing it about. It was the first newspaper in Minnesota to advocate it, and for a time the only one.

But the railroad taxes are not all. Hundreds of thousands of dollars come in from other indirect sources, and the fact that these indirect taxes have been multiplied several times in the last few years, and that the direct state tax levies and the state tax rate have increased alarmingly just the same, adds double emphasis to the need of a business accounting of state finances.

It would also be interesting to get a glimpse of the mental processes of that man who has found a way to breed woolless sheep.

THE PLAIN TRUTH ABOUT THE CANAL TOLLS EXEMPTION.

Greetings to our very good and very able friend the Omaha World-Herald, which has slightly bewildered us by an avalanche of mingled kind words and reproaches—the kind words because of alleged virtues which we would blush to record here, and the reproaches because it thinks we have been unfair to Senator Clapp for his opposition to the repeal of the canal tolls exemption.

The specific indictment is that we assailed Senator Clapp's honor and patriotism because of his stand, and the World-Herald says most truly that "there is entirely too much of the disposition manifested to dodge the discussion of public questions on their merits, and turn the debate into an exchange of personalities in which motives rather than arguments are weighed and in which epithets take the place of syllogisms."

Now we do not believe we have dodged the discussion of this toll question on its merits—indeed, it is the merits of the question itself that condemn those who stand out against the repeal, not any epithets that we or anybody else may apply to them. Nor do we believe we have failed to make full argument against the stand Senator Clapp is reported to have taken.

There are two issues involved in the toll question:

First, is the exemption of American coastwise vessels a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty?

Second, is it good business to subsidize American vessels?

The weight of argument and belief is that the exemption IS a direct violation of the treaty. The best that can be done by those who hold the contrary opinion is to raise a doubt by quibbling. Shall we quibble about questions that involve the national honor and good faith? Shall we let a doubt exist about whether the nation's word is good? Are those who do quibble about such questions honest and patriotic? We think not; and the burden of our offense as the World-Herald defines it is that we have said so.

On the purely commercial side of the question The Herald's belief is equally emphatic and without doubt. Whatever it costs to let American coastwise vessels through free, the people must pay through taxation; so wherever the gain from the exemption goes, it will be at public expense.

This, then, is drawing upon the common fund for the special benefit of somebody, and that practice we hold to be immoral and dishonest. We are not for ship subsidies in any form whatever.

If any part of the public benefits by this exemption, it will be the two coasts at the expense of the interior. If we allowed ourselves to get down into the cellar of debate on the basis of self-interest, we should be against the exemption because it taxes our section of the country for the benefit of other sections. But we have not made our case against the exemption on that ground.

The fact is that whatever benefits there may be from the toll exemption will not go to the two coasts, but to the shipping trust which owns the coastwise fleet. It will not be used to facilitate lower freights, but to fill the coffers of the shipping trust.

The plain truth about the toll exemption is that it is in flat violation of the pledged word of this country, and that it is a thinly disguised raid upon the public pocketbook for private interests.

If these facts—and they are facts—make it look black for those who support the toll exemption provision, that is no fault of The Herald's. If, in the case of Senator Clapp, they should raise a doubt of his fitness to represent the people of Minnesota in the senate of the United States, that will be the fault of Senator Clapp, not the fault of The Herald.

It does seem like rubbing it in to sentence a man to die on the thirteenth of the month.

WOMEN VOTERS IN CHICAGO.

Final accounting of the results of Tuesday's municipal primary in Chicago shows that some very bad public servants were voted out, and that the women, who voted in large numbers, helped to do it.

There are plenty of bad servants left, but some of these may fall on election day, and besides there are fighting days yet to come. The Augean stables of Chicago's municipal corruption cannot be cleaned in a day.

So far as it goes, the result is good for Chicago, and good for the cause of equal suffrage.

The great question just now with the small boy is which shall come first—roller skates or marbles.

MATCH THIS ARGUMENT.

We hear several arguments against Postmaster General Burleson's plan of government ownership of wire communication.

It is paternalistic. It would enormously increase the officeholding class. It would deprive private individuals of their "right" to profit out of the public. The government couldn't handle it. Etc., ad nauseam.

But—

It will take a lot of the above to offset this little item:

You can send a twelve-word telegram from London to Glasgow (401 miles) for twelve cents, over the government (postoffice) wires.

But to send ten words from Washington to New York (226 miles) over privately owned wires, it costs thirty cents.

Senator J. Ham Lewis is complaining because people talk about his clothes. Is the senator jealous for the fame of his pink whiskers?

THE AVERAGE FAMILY'S BILL OF FARE.

One of the experts of the department of agriculture, in a recent issue of the Weekly News Letter of the department, says that the balanced ration of many Americans today is made up about as follows:

BREAD	MEAT AND FISH
BUTTER	POTATOES
EGGS
PATENT MEDICINE LAXATIVES.

Isn't it true?

"Many Americans," continues this expert, "customarily suffer from one of the following complaints: Indigestion, constipation, rheumatism."

A simple change in the daily menu might go a long way to remedy these ailments, according to the bureau of plant industry's specialist in charge of canning club work. This specialist recommends a change to a menu more in keeping with nature's plans, something like this:

BREAD	GREENS
BUTTER	MEAT
FRUIT	FISH
VEGETABLES	EGGS

The difference between these two menus, it will be noted, is that the items of "patent medicine laxatives" and potatoes in the first have been cut out of the second, and fruit, greens and vegetables substituted. This does not mean that potatoes should be eliminated, but that they should be made a part of a wider vegetable program.

Of course you don't expect your furnace to heat your home without feeding it, any more than you expect to live without feeding yourself.

Nor do you expect your furnace to keep going smoothly unless you shake it and take out the ashes. Yet that part of the parallel between the human furnace and the house furnace is greatly neglected; and the results are indigestion, constipation and rheumatism, and the addition of patent medicine laxatives to the family bill of fare.

The department's specialist recommends that every family provide a diet of fruit and vegetables for every day in the year, and says that this will do much to eliminate the need for patent medicines that figure so prominently in the menu of many Americans.

A better rounded diet will not only increase human efficiency and happiness, but it will decrease the raid on the drug stores for patent medicines.

A universal recognition of these truths will be bad for the patent medicine manufacturers, but very good for the average American.

Some Englishmen are going to establish a soap factory in Shanghai. Seems odd to think of taking a soap factory to the native home of the natural-born laundryman.

THE NEW CORRUPT PRACTICE.

Women vote on local officers in Illinois, and it is related, as a manifestation of the new politics, that a candidate for alderman in Chicago the other night distributed a thousand boxes of candy at a political meeting.

"It is rumored," says the New York Evening Post, "that candy manufacturers are raising a huge campaign fund for the suffrage cause."

Shall we have to put new teeth in our corrupt practices act when equal suffrage comes to Minnesota—as indeed it will, very soon?

The law now forbids the campaign cigar, the campaign drink, the campaign feed and the campaign hack ride. It does not forbid the campaign box of candy.

The legislature should take time by the forelock and amplify the corrupt practices act to head off attempts to corrupt our woman voters by gifts of confectionery.

The absence of comment by Dr. Wiley on the bleached flour case decision is accounted for. The doctor's second has arrived—a ten-pound boy.

"BLUE MONDAY" ABOLISHED ON THE FARM.

There is a very suggestive development of co-operation at Chatfield, this state, where, according to the Preston Times, "a long step toward making life easier for the farmer's wife has been taken by a rural laundry that has knocked out wash day and ironing day on a hundred farms."

It is a development that is possible in almost every farming community, certainly in every farming community that has a co-operative creamery—may their tribe increase!

One very great drawback to farm life is the burden of labor that is heaped upon the farm wife. Female help is hard to get on the farm, harder even than in the city; and when to the task of cooking and baking and stewing for the farm population is added the drudgery of washing and ironing, the farm wife's daily stint becomes appalling.

That burden has been lifted at Chatfield. The laundry is run in connection with the co-operative creamery, manned by the same officers and directors, and is run for service rather than profit, though there is profit too. It is said that the Chatfield creamery is the oldest co-operative creamery in the state, and since its organization in 1889 it has been a continuous success, and has paid more than a million dollars to the farmers.

It occurred to C. J. Manahan, the secretary, that it would cost no more for power, water or fuel to add a laundry to the plant. At a farmers' picnic the subject was brought up, and the farmers' wives were asked for their opinion. They were for it. Its location at the creamery was ideal, for every farmer took cream there, and it was no trouble at all to take in the washing at the same time.

Though having the same officers, the two companies are operated separately, the laundry company paying the creamery company a reasonable rent. The laundry company employed an experienced laundry worker, built an addition for two thousand dollars, and paid out twenty-six hundred dollars for up-to-date machinery. A charge of five cents a pound is made for washing and ironing, with an extra charge for fancy pieces requiring handwork. The farmers' wives send all the heavy stuff, so hard to do in the home, including overalls, rugs, curtains and bed clothing.

The laundry took in $5,403 the first year, about seventy per cent of which went out in wages. Ten per cent went to the patrons as a dividend, and the balance went for rent and soap and to pay a six per cent dividend to stockholders. The ten per cent dividend was a great surprise, and added greatly to the laundry's popularity. If a farmer's laundry bill had been fifty dollars for the year, he got a cash dividend of five dollars. If he was a stockholder he also got six per cent on his stock.

The laundry also does the work of Chatfield, which used to send its work to the cities. It does shirts at eight to ten cents, and collars at two for five cents.

The financial success of the enterprise, though interesting, is much less important than the fact that it has lifted a great and grievous burden from the shoulders of the farm wife.

Maybe some of the opposition to Japanese immigration will be dropped now that it appears that Japanese officials are sometimes susceptible to bribes.

NONE ARE ALL BAD.

Forty-five "honor" convicts from the Illinois state penitentiary left Joliet state prison five months ago to do road work near Dixon.

They have been working eight hours a day, with only their promises between them and liberty.

And all but one made good—they did their work and returned to prison, lacking but one man.

In the comments on this interesting incident there invariably appears a note of astonishment. Says the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, for instance:

> In what assemblage of forty-five men who never were convicts would every man be true to his word? Is it not probable that of every group of forty-five men one might pick from the several planes of life there would be one at least who would fail voluntarily to live up to his word? The experience with the Illinois convicts goes to prove what many humanitarians contend, that there is that in every man, no matter how low he may be fallen, which, appealed to, will awaken response and lead to his regeneration. It is a great pity that society does not take the time to search out the saving grace in every apparent enemy and reclaim him to the ways of peace and order.

Society, it is good to know, is showing an increasing disposition to do that very thing.

Humanity is learning that a man's a man for a' that; and that prison stripes, though they make a man a convict, do not make him less a man.

Humanity is learning, too, that its first office with offenders is not punishment, but reformation and regeneration. Punishment is for those beyond both.

The man who is all good and the man who is all bad never lived, except in story. The perfectly evil villain of the melodrama and the perfectly immaculate hero of melodrama never were members of the human family.

The fact that forty-five men kept their word of honor for five months when it might have been to their advantage to break it is fine and encouraging, whether they were convicts or free men.

Strikes in the United Kingdom in the last ten years have cost the workers $87,741,000 in wages, and the increase in wages gained by these same strikes aggregate $13,209,000. No wonder the idea of arbitration is growing in strength.

To Be Continued—How Long?

The taller buildings round about
Made his look rather small,
And so he tore his building down
And built one twice as tall.

And then those other buildings looked,
Beside his, rather small;
And so they tore those buildings down
And built some twice as tall.

And then, beside those taller ones,
His own looked rather small;
And so he tore his building down
And built one twice as tall.

Again those other buildings looked,
Beside his, rather small;
And so they tore those buildings down
And built some twice as tall.

Keep that up for about ninety-nine stanzas and then try this:

The kaiser built another ship,
And Johnny Bull two more.
The kaiser built two other ships,
And Johnny Bull built four.

The kaiser then four vessels built,
And so on, o'er and o'er—
Which left them both, as you can see,
Right where they were before.
—Walter G. Doty in Life.

Pity and Friendship.

Oliver Goldsmith: There can be no inducement to reveal our wants, except to find pity, and by this means relief; but before a poor man opens his mind in such circumstances, he should first consider whether he is contented to lose the esteem of the person he solicits, and whether he is willing to give up friendship to excite compassion. Pity and friendship are passions incompatible with each other; and it is impossible that both can reside in any breast, for the smallest space, without impairing each other. Friendship is made up of esteem and pleasure; pity is composed of sorrow and contempt; the mind may for some time fluctuate between them, but it can never entertain both at once.

The Mother.

The fairest word on earth that's heard,
On human lips the fairest word,
Is mother.
To whom such name shall once belong,
High honor hers her whole life long,
A mother.
But all her earthly joys are o'er,
Who is and then who is no more
A mother.
—Carmen Sylva.

New Light On "Bobby" Burns

From the Kansas City Star.

It has taken almost a century for certain facts concerning the cerebral development of Robert Burns to become generally known, says the Literary Digest. A writer in the London Sphere refers almost timorously to the fact that early in the nineteenth century, in the year that Jean Armour, Burns' widow, died, the family of Robert Burns gave their consent to having a cast made of the skull of the poet, dead thirty-eight years previously. The science of phrenology had just then been interesting Scotch physicians, and a paper was drawn up containing the results of the phrenological examination of Burns' skull, with drawings of the cast. It is these memorials of the poet that Arthur Keith now examines, beginning with some generalizations about the present method of drawing conclusions from physiological aspects, and using a tone almost deprecatory in fear that the sensibilities of Burns' worshippers will be hurt by what may be regarded as an unreverential way of treating the poet's physical remains:

"Most of us have lost faith in the size of head or expanse of brow as an index of mental ability. Our speculations along such lines have been upset by our daily experience. We place our trust, rather, in the eye, the mouth, the expression, the manner in which the countenance lights up. Burns had an eye. 'I never saw such another eye in a human head,' said Sir Walter Scott. Had Sir Walter shared Dr. George Combe's predilection for the study of heads I am quite certain he would have discovered that the poet's brain was quite as remarkable as his eye. In recent years Miss Lee and Prof. Pearson have invented a fairly accurate method of calculating the size of the brain from the dimensions of the skull. Their method indicates that Burns had a brain measuring 1,720 cubic centimeters—1,500 cubic centimeters being the size of brain for an average Scotchman. The great size of the head gives a key to the remark made by Sir Walter Scott, viz: 'His countenance was more massive than it looks in any of his portraits.' * * *

"That he was a Scot of Scots goes without saying. Racial mixture is just as marked north of the Tweed as south of it; from John o' Groat's to Land's End we are of a hybrid people. Can we assign Burns with some degree of certainty to any of the known racial elements? Beyond doubt we can. Recent researches by the professor of anatomy in the University of Glasgow provide us with the materials for solving the problem. A few years ago Prof. Bryce undertook a systematic examination of certain ancient cairns in the island of Arran—an island which Burns must have scanned many a time from his native Ayrshire shore. In the very oldest of these cairns Prof. Bryce recovered skulls of the same type, almost of the same size, as that of Burns. In these cairns were found only worked flints; those long and large headed people lived in Arran before the use of metals had reached Scotland—a date which we may safely assign to a period of about 2000 B. C. We know that Walter Campbell, the poet's ancestor, who settled in Kincardine and adopted the name of Burness, came from Argyll; his mother, Agnes Brown, was an Ayrshire woman. On both sides the poet came of the stock which is native to that part of Scotland in which Arran is set. Burns thus comes of the oldest native race of Scots we have yet discovered. It is in the highlands rather than in the lowlands we must seek his kith and kin. Who knows how many Burns there may have been round the shores of the Firth of Clyde in olden times? We only know of our one because he happened to be born when the printing press was at work."

The Office-holding Blight

Emporia Gazette: Ewing Herbert, a widely known editor of Hiawatha, ended a continuous service of sixteen years as postmaster of Hiawatha last night.

This takes the blight off one of the finest men in Kansas. For sixteen years the postoffice has hung as a weight around his neck; it bound him to all sorts of political folderol. It led him into evil ways in politics, and it has made him an unregenerate standpatter, when in truth his heart was right. Here's hoping that in the dawning of the morning of the new day in Ewing's life he may see the light and follow it as his conscience dictates. The two curses of every newspaper man's life in a country town are the postoffice and the eternal hope of the county printing. Until a newspaper is able to live without either, it never is entirely sure what it is going to do tomorrow.

When postoffices are put in the civil service, and the county advertising is let to the paper with the largest circulation in the county at full legal rates without bids, the real opinions of country editors will be expressed.

Rather Noisy.

Harper's Weekly: Mrs. Marsden's only recommendation to society was the great wealth left her by an uncle.

"I attended the new theater last evening," she announced to a member of the smart set whom she happened to meet one morning.

"Indeed," said the social leader. "How are the acoustics of that theater?"

"The what?" queried Mrs. Marsden.

"The acoustic properties," replied the other woman.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Marsden, quickly—"The acoustic properties. Why, do you know, it struck me they were rather gaudy."

Shopping.

A lady ambles to a store
To buy a spool of thread.
And first she looks at hats galore
Then carving knives and bread.

From there she travels to the aisle
Where davenports are kept.
And then she lingers for a while
Around the ribbon dept.

She looks at frying pans and lace,
Inspects the latest books.
She prices lotions for the face
And linen goods and hooks.

And when she's canvassed all the joints,
And clerks are nearly dead,
She brings the matter to a point
And buys her spool of thread.

Musical Ambidexterity.

Birmingham Age-Herald: Sonny—Pa, what is the meaning of allegro in music?

Pa—It means, my son, that the performer must not let his right hand know what his left hand is doing.

Joy of the Amateur.

Puck: "He was engaged to a charming widow at one time."

"Yes; and he says he will always look back upon it as one of the most delightful inexperiences he ever had."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Point of View.

Robert Burns once got a text by seeing an unfashionable insect crawl over a woman's fine gear as she sat in church. In the lines that have become immortal he suggests that the complacency of most of us would vanish could we get another's point of view.

"O, wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourse'l's as ithers see us.
It wad fra monie a blunder free us;

Our neighbors' idea of us would be very illuminating and frequently even startling, if we could know it. An acquaintance of mine, just returned from a visit to South America, found his pride taking a tumble as he discovered that most of the dwellers in Buenos Aires had at least heard of a village somewhere called New York. His experience was not unlike that of the members of the Boston chamber of commerce during their recent tour, who found in the leading paper of Peru a reference to themselves as "the Yanquis from the North, a novel and delightful set of barbarians."

It is not unhealthful occasionally to learn of our appearance from other sources than the mirror. Many little conceits would thus vanish. We should do some things that we do not now and leave undone some of the things that we do. As Burns says:

"What airs in dress and gait wad lea
'e us!"

An over-sensitive disposition is bad, but it is equally bad to be wrapped in a thick mantle of self complacency that no dart of criticism can pierce. The boor learns from no one and that is why he remains a boor. The wise man picks up suggestions from everyone and resolutely seeks to bring his life into symmetry and effectiveness.

It is essential to remember, moreover, that we are not only under the eyes of our fellow men, but constantly under those of God. Our attainments both of service and of character are viewed from the summit of an infinite perfection. Self-satisfaction is impossible to one who has caught any vision of supreme ideals and of the illimitable possibilities of the human spirit. No man gives himself airs in the presence of the holiness of Jehovah. With the psalmist rather he cries, "If Thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O, Lord, who should stand?"

You can see more from a mountain top than from an office window. Plains, rivers, forests spread out before one like a glorious panorama. The world appears a bigger place than our small familiar corner of it. And in quite the same way, on some spiritual mount of vision, in some hour of clear thought, we behold human life as a gift of unwonted dignity and grandeur. Our prosaic days become touched with glory when they appear as parts of a great whole. How earnestly should we strive to gain and keep the nobler outlook and to view our human careers somewhat as God views them!

THE PARSON.

Showing His Love.

Yonkers Statesman: "Looka here, Sam!"

"Yes, 'Liza."

"I begins t' think yer doesn't love me no more."

"Nonsense, 'Liza; what put dat in yer head?"

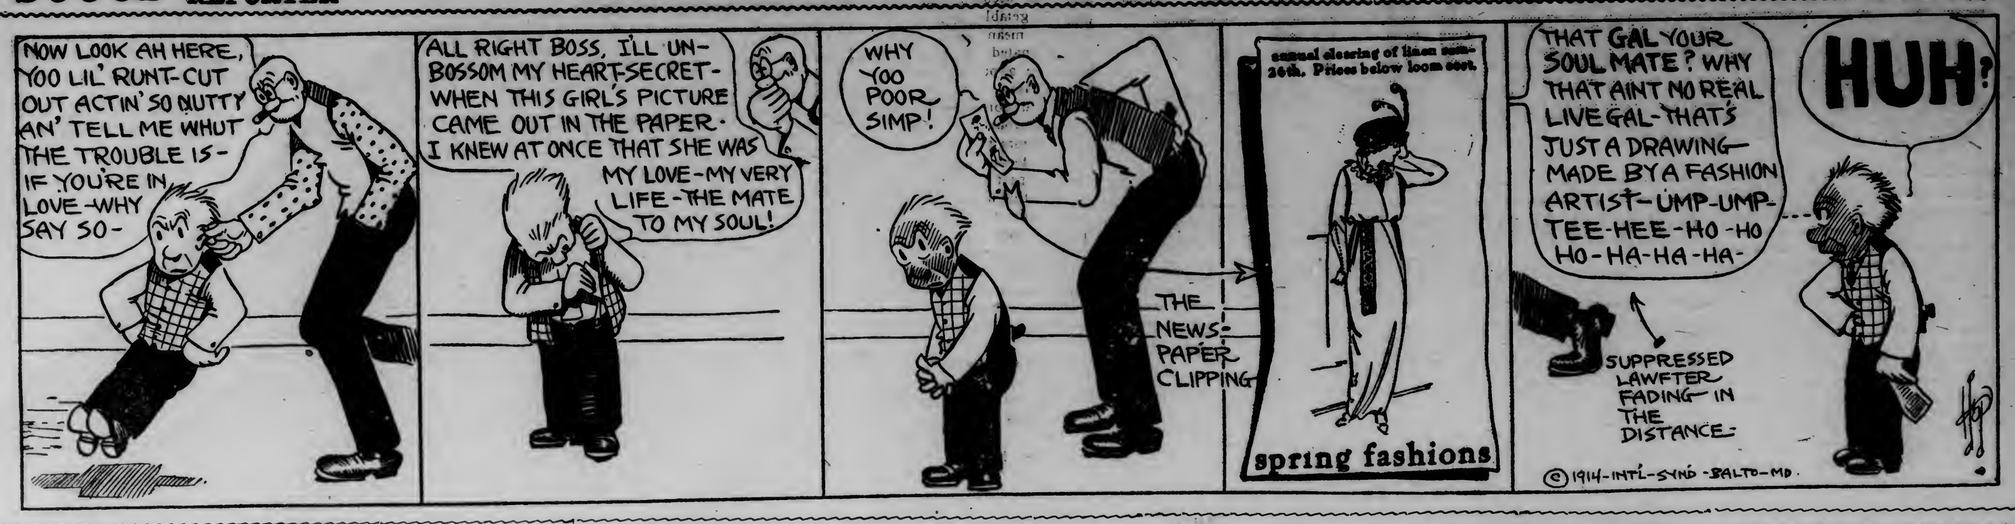

"Why, yer just sit there by the fire and sees me work."

"Why, 'Liza! The more I sits by this 'ere fire and sees you workin' the more I loves her, honey!"

No Doubt.

Oh would some power the giftie gi'e us
To see ourselves as ithers see us.
But if the same should come to pass,
We'd likely smash the looking glass.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — The Boss Is Too Dawgone Practical — By "HOP"

"COUSIN JOE" No. 1.

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—And Joe Blackburn has come to town again, and how glad we all are, men, women and children, white and black, for of all the celebrated who have trod these walks none was better loved than Joe. He was the spoiled child; many a time and oft the congress felt like taking Joe across its knee and giving Joe a spanking, which he deeply deserved, but there was a something about him so engaging that all of us of all parties and all factions of all parties loved Joe for his qualities and we forgave him for his sometime vagaries.

Yes, we are glad Joe is with us again, and we welcome him as the earth the springtime, as the desert the dew. No common man is Joe. He occupies a large space in the great American heart, and no scamp is capable of that sort of thing.

* * *

Let's see. Joe was graduated from Centre college, one of the famous class that shed such luster on the old commonwealth. John Young Brown, W. C. P. Breckenridge, John C. Young, Thomas L. Crittenden, James B. McCreary, Boyd Winchester, Thomas M. Green and others were his schoolmates. In those days, the middle of the last century, Centre was the foremost institution of learning in the Mississippi valley, and perhaps it is true that as a tutor of youth Dr. Young, the head of the college, never had a superior in our republic.

Of course Joe had to be a lawyer, but the war came on and Joe turned soldier. At Chickamauga, where he served on Buckner's staff, he was distinguished for intrepidity and on that bloody and victorious field he gallantly earned the praise all give to a brave man.

And so when the war was over old Kentucky was just getting good and mad because she had not seceded in 1861 when her heart was for the South and her head for the Union. I do not believe that Kentucky—that is, Democratic Kentucky—ever admired Joe Blackburn as she had John Brown Young in that wonderfully gifted man's young manhood, but Democratic Kentucky loved Joe Blackburn as she never loved any other of her sons.

The cause was not far to seek. Joe, though of the bluest blood of the state, was even more of a democrat with a little "d" than he was a Democrat with a big "D", and that looks impossible, though it is a fact. When Joe was a veteran statesman at this capital bootblacks and newsboys called him to his face "Joe," and it was the nature of the man to enjoy the familiarity. Before Thomas Jefferson was president he was one day at his mill and a boy rode up with grain in his sack to have it ground. Jefferson was there looking over things. He was one of the very first men in all the world, and then and there he lifted the sack off the horse and carried it into the mill. Christopher Sandidge, who died at a great age in Kentucky about forty years ago, was that boy. I heard him tell the story a hundred times when I was child, boy, youth.

Joe would have done the same thing, for Joe is as much of a democrat with a little "d" as ever was Jefferson or anybody else. And yet Joe had an element of the dude in him. His foot is as shapely as sculptor could wish for model. He took great pride in it, for it was the highest instep you ever heard of, and Dick Wintersmith said that Joe gave more attention to his shoe laces than any boy in town to his necktics. But Joe's feet, shapely as they are, are too small. Had they been as big as the great gluts James B. Beck had for feet Joe would have been a far greater man. There is much virtue in big hands and feet. Fact.

Well, Joe got here at the opening of the Fortyfourth congress, the first Monday in December, 1875. It was the first Democratic house of representatives since the Thirty-fifth, in 1857. Incidentally, Joe joined with Morrison and Proctor Knott to beat Randall for speaker and they succeed in electing to that dignity Kerr of Indiana. It was the first month of that congress that witnessed the waving of the bloody shirt by James G. Blaine, and "the man from Maine" did it with something akin to "the Athenian's glowing style and Tulley's fire." This assault Jefferson Davis was as vicious as it was mendacious; but Prometheus was chained to the rock for vultures to tear his vitals, as Lamar so classically put it later.

And Joe was there when Ben Hill came back with that crushing reply that is the South's case, so far as concerns that controversy. On it at least the South, the old South, rests, and O how confidently! And well she may.

It was during the second session of that congress that "the party of Great Moral Ideas" stole the office of president of the United States and bestowed that transcendent dignity on a man who had admitted that the people had chosen another. Joe was an accomplished parliamentarian, had learned the rule of it in the Kentucky legislature, and he joined with J. Proctor Knott and others to defeat the infamy. Mr. Speaker Kerr had died the August before, and Randall had succeeded to the speakership. By the exercise of parliamentary czarism the efforts of the filibusters were defeated.

In 1879 Joe, had he been a little less of a Hotspur, would have defeated Randall for speaker of the Forty-sixth congress. Alexander H. Stephens had much to do with Joe's defeat. It shows how things are bred in the bone. Stephens was an old Whig, as were Toombs and Ben Hill, and Randall was an old Whig.

One could write a mile of stuff about Joe, and possibly I shall continue this paper on him later.

CATTLE RAISERS AWAIT DECISION

Alleged Cure for Foot and Mouth Disease Being Investigated.

Berlin, Feb. 28.—Cattle raisers in Germany are eagerly awaiting a decision by the government as to the merits of the cure for foot and mouth disease announced recently by Prof. Ludwig Brieger, a distinguished German scientist, and his assistant, Dr. M. Krause. The remedy is called typosafrol, and is a derivative of saffron. It is administered easily by mixture with the water which the cattle drink. The formula has not been made public, however, and there is a division of opinion as to whether an effective check has been discovered for this cattle plague which costs stockmen all over the world millions of dollars annually.

As previously reported, it is claimed that 290 head of cattle were successfully treated in recent experiments here, and members of the reichstag have asked the government to investigate the remedy, with a view to acquiring control of it if effective, and furnishing it to cattle raisers at cost.

Prof. Brieger, who also recently announced a new method of treating sleeping sickness, is one of a large band of investigators who have been giving their attention to the foot and mouth disease germ, whose identity was only recently established by a Swiss scientist. Dr. Brieger believes that his discovery may not only be effective against the foot and mouth disease but against other germs, to which the blood of cattle is subject. If only his claims as to the former are borne out, however, that cure alone will be sufficient to confer a real boon to humanity for the disease has been one of the great factors in the high prices for meat.

A widespread epidemic of the disease occurred in 1890; 4,000,000 cattle were affected in 1899 and 1,000,000 in 1900 notwithstanding the most rigid quarantine measures and the slaughter of whole herds of animals; and three years ago the pest again swept through the empire. Great numbers of farms are still infected.

Factor in Politics.

The disease has even become a factor in politics, furnishing the basis for a great conflict between the government and the agrarians on the one hand, and the Socialists, Radicals and other representatives of the middle and industrial classes on the other. The latter assert that the regulations closing the frontier to all foreign live stock are absurd in view of the fact that the herds of Germany are more extensively affected than those of most of the countries from which importation is possible and that the bars are kept up merely to let the landowners get high prices for their meat. They demand the raising of the quarantine, particularly against such countries as have for years been entirely free from the disease. The government and the agrarians admit a number of the countries against which the quarantine is rigidly enforced are absolutely free from the disease, but quarantine against all is essential to a successful campaign.

A new epidemic of the disease is reported from the hunting preserves of South Germany, where deer are dying in large numbers. The loss in the Rhine provinces alone is already estimated at nearly $125,000. The deer of Wurtemberg, Baden, Hesse and Lorraine also are seriously affected. As yet the disease appears not to have reached the hunting preserves of North Germany. Venison is as cheap in Germany as any meat and cheaper than some, and vast quantities of it are used. The spread of foot-and-mouth disease to the hunting preserves will bring a marked reduction in the empire's meat supply, and the problem of combatting it successfully among wild animals is difficult.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Athletic Association Elects Officers—Senior Class Play Rehearsals Continue Very Satisfactorily—The Stumpers Discuss Radium—Zenith Will Insert Kodak Views—Principal Will Meet Delinquent Seniors.

The High School Athletic association held its election of officers for the second semester on Wednesday at the close of school. Few changes in office resulted. The election resulted as follows: President, Roderick Dunn; vice president, Walter Lawrenz; secretary, William Culkin; treasurer, Robbert Kerr; sergeants-at-arms, Paul Flinn and Gilbert Denfeld, and Samuel O'Gorman was chosen mascot. W. H. Schilling, director of athletics, gave a short talk to the association on the present status of athletics and pointed out the necessity of cooperation and a responsibility of leadership among the upper classmen.

There were no chapel exercises on Monday morning owing to the fact that the students were making out their permanent program cards for the second semester.

* * *

A course in advanced hygiene for boys is to be given this semester for all students who did good work in the beginner's ccurse. Mr. Hiestand will also have charge of the advanced sections.

* * *

The senior class play is progressing nicely under the coaching of Mr. Alexander of the English department. "The Starry Flag" is the name of the production and the personnel of the cast will be taken on this evening. The local boys made a good showing in their game on Wednesday afternoon against the Lakeside Athletic club and most of the fans are expecting the team to make a good showing on this trip. Mr. Adair of the faculty is in charge of the team and the following players were taken: Captain Larsen, Foryjack, Callatz, Stevens, Scrivins and Solheim.

* * *

W. A. Dickinson, superintendent of the Duluth & Iron Range demonstration farm, gave a lecture before the agriculture classes Wednesday afternoon on "Practical Science in the Care of Dairy Cattle," fully illustrated with lantern slides. Through Mr. Dickinson the agriculture students were supplied with individual copies of several valuable agricultural books and bulletins.

* * *

Harold Bradley of the agriculture class gave a demonstration of milk testing before Mr. Erickson's commercial geography class Thursday morning.

* * *

The water in the Nile is reported to be lower than ever at the present time, and some fears are felt over the cotton crop.

* * *

The choir gave an interesting and much appreciated number during the chapel exercises on Friday morning. Schumann's "Two Grenadiers" with the Bullard translation was the selection.

* * *

The attention of the boys of the high school was called to the opportunity of hearing Sherman Coy, one of Yale's great football captains, who will speak Sunday afternoon at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. All high school boys are especially urged to come.

* * *

Friday closed the work of the first month of the second semester and the reports will be ready on Monday.

* * *

Of interest to high school students were the pictures at the Rex on Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Mary Nelson gave a reading in connection with the films on the "Merchant of Venice."

* * *

The girls of the high school who are members of the Matinee Musical, are asked to keep in mind the rehearsal which will be held the first of the week in preparation for the annual "Frolic."

* * *

The high school basket ball team left this morning for Hibbing, where the strong high school quint of that city will be taken on this evening. The local boys made a good showing in their game on Wednesday afternoon against the Lakeside Athletic club and most of the fans are expecting the team to make a good showing on this trip. Mr. Adair of the faculty is in charge of the team and the following players were taken: Captain Larsen, Foryjack, Callatz, Stevens, Scrivins and Solheim.

* * *

The regular meeting of the stump literary society occurred on Wednesday. Victor Hugo's "Death Penalty" was given by Hyman Silk. For a general discussion the topic of "Radium" was introduced and the stumpers gave various expressions of their knowledge along this line.

* * *

The Thalian society held a meeting on Thursday afternoon in room 210 under the leadership of Miss Agnes Wells.

* * *

It has been decided to hold the advanced classes in hygiene during the third and fifth periods on Thursdays and Fridays.

* * *

At a special meeting of the senior Zenith board it was decided to insert several pages of kodak views, illustrative of interesting phrases of school life Any students having such views are urged to hand them over to the board.

* * *

At the close of school on Friday a very interesting play was given by the students of the German department before the Schillerbund.

* * *

The third number of the series of entertainments provided by the university extension bureau was given on Friday night in the high school auditorium by the MacPhail trio of Minneapolis.

* * *

The French club, which was to have held its regular meeting on Wednesday, postponed the same until next week at which time the full membership is urged to be present.

* * *

Mr. Stenberg, who has charge of the public speaking, wishes to meet all students who are expecting to try out for the Wallace cup contest. The contest this year is expected to be of unusual interest and it is hoped that a large number of students will enter the preliminaries in order to bring out the best talent of the school.

* * *

After next Monday, Principal Young wishes to meet all seniors who hope to graduate who are at present sitting in junior session rooms. When school opened last September a number of students did not have enough credits to entitle them to sit in senior session rooms. At the end of the first semester of the present year, some of these students had made extra credits, in fact enough to entitle them to sit in senior session rooms, but owing to the crowded conditions there are no seats available. Principal Young wishes to meet these seniors in order to check up their credits toward graduation.

* * *

Attention was called on Wednesday morning to the work in spelling, which is given on Tuesday and Thursday mornings during the regular chapel period. Credit is now given those students who maintain a yearly average of 80 per cent or better for the four years of the high school course. This credit together with the fractional credit also offered in hygiene or free hand drawing may make it possible for a student to secure an extra half credit toward graduation. Principal Young explained how several of this year's seniors had been greatly benefited by this new fractional credit system and urged all students to do good work in these extra subjects as it might prove of special value to them.

GOOD TASTE IN PICTURES

"Best Sellers" in Duluth Are Reproductions of Great Masterpieces.

Duluthians Show a Knowledge of What Is Good Art.

If the "best sellers" can be taken as an index to the tastes of the public, the people of Duluth have shown excellent choice in the purchase of pictures during the last year, and so favorably have the art dealers been impressed that stocks of much higher grade will be placed on the market during the coming year.

A canvass of the art stores of the city uncovered the fact that the twenty best selling pictures in Duluth in 1913 were all from either the old masters or from the works of first-class artists. "September Morn," the famous picture of Paul Chabas, which won the first prize at the Paris salon exhibition, found only casual favor in Duluth, and the two delightful subjects, "Simplicity" and the "Age of Innocence" by Sir Joshua Reynolds, an eighteenth century painter, carried off first honors. The trend of the Duluth public, according to art dealers, is toward fewer and better pictures. Dealers are practically unanimous in saying that the public is showing more interest than ever before in good works of art and that there is a desire on all sides to learn more of what is best in art. To prove their point they mentioned the following twenty pictures, which were the best sellers for the year:

"Simplicity" and "The Age of Innocence," Sir Joshua Reynolds; "The Laughing Cavalier," Franc Hals; "The Horse Fair," Rosa Bonheur; "Portrait of His Mother," Whistler; "Aurora," Guido Reni; "Baby Stuart," Van Dyck; "Dante and Beatrice," Holliday; "End of the Day," Adan; "Sistine Madonna," Raphael; "The Gleaners," Millet; "Mona Lisa," da Vinci; "Sir Galahad," Watts; "Reading From Homer," Tadema; "Hope," Burne-Jones; "Dance of the Nymphs," Corot; "The Broken Pitcher," Greuze; "The Avenue, Middleharnis," Hobbema; "The Immaculate Conception," Murillo; "The Mill," Rembrandt.

Good Taste Guides.

According to the art dealers there are several things that have guided shoppers in selecting pictures. Some are directed by fads, pictures that for some peculiar reason have become popular while others wish to satisfy some whim. But the majority have been guided by good taste and an accurate knowledge of what is good.

The large pictures are not so much in vogue now as formerly. Small pictures with a good subject and artistically produced and framed seem to meet the popular approval best.

The great demand, too, for the portraits which have become so common in the home, school and elsewhere, has dropped off. The picture of George Washington and other great historical characters are seldom bought except for use in schools or public places. In place of these has come the etching, the colored prints and truly artistic subjects.

The artist proof colored mezzotint engravings have been keenly sought after by the general public both for private collections and gifts. Such engravers as Edwards, Bird, Skirmshire, Stevenson, Cother, Webb, James, Milner, Smythe, Wilson and Henderson, who continue to engrave beautiful eighteenth century subjects as well as many of the old masters are extremely popular.

The colored English etchings are steadily growing in favor and art dealers believe that lasting good results will be seen from the incoming popularity of this class of work. Franz Charlet with his delightful Dutch interiors and homely scenes of Dutch daily life is striking the popular chord. George Senseney with his beautiful trees and landscapes is fast becoming one of the most "saleable" of modern artists.

American artists, such as Fisher, Gibson, Remington and others, with their popular American types, have ready sale and occupy a prominent place in the ranks of illustrators and pencil artists.

NEW TWINE PLANT STARTS NEXT WEEK

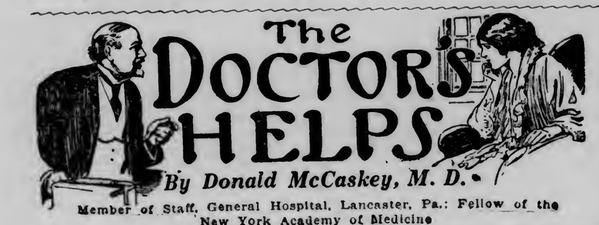

Stillwater, Minn., Feb. 27.—The new state prison will begin working its binder twine plant part of the nights next week to meet the demands for twine that already amount to over 19,000,000 pounds, the yearly capacity working days.

Warren Club Banquet.

Warren, Minn., Feb. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Warren Commercial club held their annual banquet. W. O. Braggans spoke on "Get Together;" L. Lamberson, "County Agent;" O. Norsal, "Agriculture in Our Schools;" H. L. Wood, "Hotel;" A. T. Lisbug, "Our Commercial Club." W. F. Powell presided as toastmaster. The ladies of the Eastern Star served the banquet.

Iron Mountain Apiarist.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The production of honey is a new industry in Upper Michigan, but is one that J. J. Eskil of Iron Mountain is demonstrating to be profitable. Mr. Eskil may not be the only peninsula man engaged in the business, but it is believed that none has embarked in it on as large a scale. The Iron Mountain producer has seventy hives and last season he harvested more than two tons of honey.

HOW TO GET WELL FROM ACHING FEET

There is no more exhausting and "wearing" ache than a persistent pain in the feet. There is likewise no condition that is easier to correct than just this dull nerve-racking ache. There are three things to watch. One is cleanliness and good care of the feet. I don't mean just dashing water on them once a day. I mean a good scrubbing with proper manicuring of the toe nails and the removal of all the dead skin in between the toes. Furthermore, I mean a vigorous rubbing with a coarse towel and then the final dash on the skin of some alcohol in which one-half ounce of salicylate of soda has been dissolved in one quart of 95 per cent alcohol.

The second thing to remember is comfortable shoes and freshly changed stockings and shoes twice a day. The third thing is to strengthen the bony joints which comprise the arch of the foot. This is where most of the foot ache trouble lies. There is a lax condition of the cartilages which join the bones of the feet. As a result, the same sort of a persistent ache develops in the feet as it does in the hip or across the back of a person compelled to do a lot of stooping or to maintain a fixed and unnatural position.

An inquirer asks very earnestly "What can I do for a cure? I am greatly troubled with these pains in the arches of my feet and arch supporters do no good. I have tried all kinds of arch supporters and soak my feet twice a day to try and limber them up, but nothing helps and my feet are always sore and stiff. I had an injection for rheumatism and have taken a lot of rheumatism medicine for the last two years, but some mornings I cannot even get up, the feet pain is so bad."

This reader needs to strengthen the ligaments which join the bones of his feet together. Until he does, the pain will always persist. Stand erect, in the bare or in the stocking feet, with the latter along parallel lines on the floor. Then raise yourself up on your tip toes as high as you possibly can. Keep the legs straight, so that you can take a yard stick and make it touch the inner surface of your knee, the ankle and the joint of the great toe. Raise up fifty times twice a day. Gradually you will grow less tired. Then after a week or so, go over to the doorway and take a pencil and practice how high you can raise yourself on your toes, so as to gradually make a higher dot with your pencil on the doorway. This will strength the tendons and ligaments of your foot bones and joints and strengthen them.

Persist. One week nor one month will not cure you. Until the mechanical weakness is strengthened things will not come your way, so PERSIST UNTIL YOUR LIGAMENTS OF THE FEET ARE STRONG. It may take a year. It all depends on how efficiently you do the exercises. This subject has been previously described and several more detailed exercises given. Procure those articles and follow the counsel contained in them. You can win out.

THE CASCADE TREATMENT FOR CONSTIPATION IS TOO DESTRUCTIVE.

I have an inquiry from an Erie, Pa., reader asking my opinion of the "Cascade Treatment" for constipation. (I suppose the writer means this artificial injection treatment of water high up in the bowel through the use of a special rubber tube.) First of all: This sort of treatment given every day for constipation is destructive to the delicate mucous membranes which line the bowel. There is no doubt whatsoever about it bringing the result—and a most successful result, too, for the miserable individuals with shattered nerves, etc., caused by the poisons of constipation. But this treatment is on a par with the treatment for stomach trouble in which the patient, after eating a meal, is compelled by his discomfort to insert a stomach tube of rubber down his throat and into his stomach and then extract the food which he has swallowed. Rather, indeed, had the patient have the proper regulation for his especial needs, and then it won't be necessary to remove by a rubber siphon the food which the stomach cannot handle. The same parallel applies in constipation. Procure and extract such suggestions as benefit your especial needs from the previously printed Doctor's Helps articles.

SATURDAY—Regular meeting of Saturday club at 2:30 o'clock at library club room.

With the opening of Lent the social quiet has settled down on Duluth society with hardly an exception, and bridge parties and dances stopped with Tuesday's affairs. The Elks' lodge celebrated Shrove Tuesday with a large masquerade ball on Tuesday evening at the ballroom of their clubhouse on West First street and the members of the Emmet club were hosts at an enjoyable dancing party at Coffin's academy. The day of prayer observed by the Interdenominational Missionary union on Thursday at the Baptist church and special church services on Ash Wednesday sounded the religious note of the week and in musical circles the members of the Matinee Musicale enjoyed a delightful program given Monday afternoon by artists from the Schubert club and last evening the MacPhail trio of Minneapolis gave a concert at the high school assembly hall which was artistic and pleasing.

An interesting afternoon was given members of the Ladies' Literature class on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Alexander Braden when Rev. George R. Gebauer gave a lecture on "Literature and Dogma." This afternoon the members of the Saturday club also enjoyed a special program in a lecture by John A. Keyes on the "Philosophy of Karl Marx."

Boys of the Cathedral high school gave a clever presentation of a little comedy, "My Mysterious Friend" Tuesday evening at Cathedral hall, which came up to the high standard set for affairs of that nature.

This evening the Welsh people of Duluth and Superior and from the range towns will celebrate St. David's day with a program of music and talks, dancing and refreshments at Foresters' hall. A short business meeting will also be held.

The affairs planned for next week are mostly in the nature of musical or literary programs, club meetings or out-of-door sports, few social affairs being expected.

DULUTH MAY LEARN ABOUT PAGEANTS BY WATCHING RESULTS AT ST. LOUIS

SCENE FROM THE ST. LOUIS PAGEANT.

ATTRACTIVE POSTER ADVERTISING ST. LOUIS PAGEANT.

DULUTH will have an opportunity of learning how to stage a summer pageant on a large scale by keeping its eye on St. Louis, Mo., which is now engaged in making plans for a big pageant and masque to be put on next May.

The civic undertaking at St. Louis will be conducted along lines very much similar to that contemplated by Duluthians for the summer of 1915. It is now being extensively advertised throughout the country and from all indications the affair will be a great drawing card.

Above are reproduced two souvenir postal cards which are among those which have been circulated by the Pageant Association of St. Louis for the purpose of advertising the event.

The pageant is described as a dramatic chronicle of the "wonderful stream of life and romance which has flowed through the Mound City in the last 200 years." Its promoters declare that it will have the largest stage, the largest theater and the largest number of players ever brought together in America.

The masque is an evening open air show which will follow the production of the pageant. It is intended to interpret in poetry and music, symbol and prophecy, what the pageant presents in the form of drama.

Percy MacKaye, who lectured in Duluth recently before the Drama league, is one of the authors and directors of the affair.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Open Your House to Fresh Air, Even in Winter.

I gather from several sources that cleanliness of clothing and general surroundings are not considered as important in cold weather as they are in warm. In spite of all that has been written about the value of fresh air and its necessity, if health is to prevail, I know numerous good people who almost hermetically seal themselves in their homes the moment the air becomes tinged with frost.

Plenty of people who pride themselves on cleanliness, almost never open a window once the winter sets in. "It chills the house so," said one housekeeper, "and it is never warm enough for me, anyway. You can't expect me to heat the whole countryside." Evidently she does not know that fresh air heats more readily than the dead kind, and that if she would air her house thoroughly once a day at least, regardless of the thermometers, her fires would seem to give more warmth.

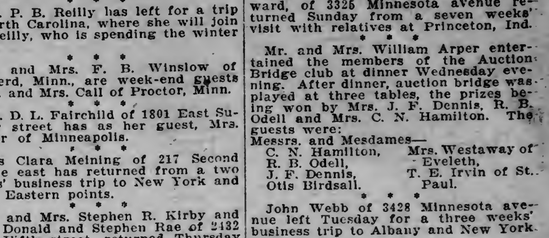

The entire conduct of hundreds of homes is completely changed with the coming of cold weather. In summer, it is not unusual to see rugs and draperies, bedding and pillows and all the furnishings of this nature, hung out frequently for a good airing. In winter, it is different. Doubtless cool weather makes the task more difficult, but the fact is, many folk do not think it as necessary in winter as in summer.

As regards bedclothing—the very fact that we use more and heavier blankets and quilts makes their adequate airing and sunning the more important and necessary. However, the most they get in countless cases among good, self-respecting housekeepers, is a shake out of the windows or a going over with a whisk broom on the inside. The accumulations of dust have no means of escape. Settling on different objects in the room, they finally find lodgment again in the blankets and puffs from which they were so industriously brushed.

I have never gone to extremes in recommending the fresh air cure, for like everything else, I believe it can be overdone. But the sealed up conditions in homes where sanitary ideas prevail part of the year and are ignored the rest of the time, give room for argument. Pure, fresh air is as life-giving and life-prolonging to the furnishings of the home as it is to human beings. Rugs and blankets and curtains and all the things that absorb dirt and foul air are benefited and given a new lease of life by air and sunshine.

ENGLISH SINGERS.

Mme. Clara Butt and Kennerley Rumford Coming to Duluth.

DULUTH music lovers are to have the opportunity of hearing a concert by two noted English singers, Mme. Clara Butt, contralto, and Kennerley Rumford, baritone, who will sing at the Lyceum theater on Wednesday evening, March 18, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mme. Butt has won considerable fame and an interesting little note on her history is given as follows:

"Clara Butt was born in Southwick, Sussex, Eng. At an early age her remarkable voice began to develop, though her own people, oddly, did not think it at all extraordinary. It was left to a casual caller to observe that her vocal abilities were unusual. Overhearing her sing one day, a visitor remarked to the young woman's mother, 'What a wonderful voice your boy has!' On being told it was a girl singing, the caller urged the parents to secure the best masters obtainable, and ultimately the advice was followed. A local teacher took her in hand, but, curiously enough, trained her as a soprano.

"It was not for several years that the young singer's talent was really discovered and her voice placed as a contralto. Four years at the Royal Conservatory brought marvelous results, and then Mme. Butt went to Paris to complete her studies and enter upon a public career."

CONCERTS IN CHICAGO.

Duluth Pianist Given Warm Praise By Metropolitan Critic.

MISS RUTH ALTA ROGERS returned the first of the week from Chicago where she appeared in two concerts last week. Miss Rogers is one of Duluth's favorite pianists and her friends here will be interested in the following notice regarding her concert which appeared in the Music News of Chicago, Feb. 20:

"In spite of the bitter weather of last Thursday evening, a goodly audience was at Memorial church to hear a program given by Ruth Alta Rogers, pianist, and Lemuel Kirby, baritone, and this audience was also one of distinguished makeup, an unusual number of Chicago's professional musicians making it a point to hear these young artists. Miss Rogers has played in Chicago before and wherever she has been heard she has made fast friends for her art and for her personality.

"Miss Rogers has a very distinct personality in her work, and is able to infuse individual meaning into whatever she interprets.

"On Thursday she gave one of the Brahms 'Rhapsodies' with fine sweep and broad thought, and her Beethoven playing was marked by virility as well as tenderness.

"A Chopin 'Mazurka' had great purity of singing legato to recommend it, and the melody by Rachmaninoff and 'Au Raisseau' by Schnett, had novelty as well as abounding skill in the playing. Miss Rogers excels especially in the 'Ride of the Valkyries' Wagner-Brassin. And at this concert she gave this exciting number a truly virtuosic reading.

"Miss Rogers was compelled to add several numbers and at the close of the concert was given enthusiastic recalls."

The Theosophical Society.

The Duluth Lodge of the Theosophical society will hold its regular lodge meeting for members only on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the lodge rooms, 203 Temple building. An inquirers' study class open to those interested in theosophy is held Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. An advanced class in "The Study in Consciousness" meets on Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock.

SPECIAL LENTEN VESPER SERVICE AT PILGRIM CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

THE opening of the Lenten season will be marked at the Pilgrim Congregational church by a special music vesper service tomorrow afternoon. Miss Faith Helen Rogers will be at the organ for fifteen minutes beginning at 4:15, after which the choral service will be held.

The afternoon will be featured by the rendition of four numbers, including the familiar "Sanctus," from Gounod's famous and beautiful "Solemn Mass to St. Cecelia," parts of which the choir has been giving at intervals since Christmas.

Another number of particular interest will be the exquisite duet and chorus, "Verily Thou Shalt Be in Paradise Today With Me," from Theo. Dubois' "Seven Last Words of Christ." This is one of the most beautiful of modern choral works, the annual presentation of which is becoming an impressive accompaniment of the Lenten season in the musical centers of the country. It will be sung entire on the afternoon of Palm Sunday, April 5, and single numbers therefrom will be given at intervals during March. The full musical program for the day follows:

10:30 a. m.

There will be a full chorus choir of mixed voices for the vesper service.

STUDENT MEMBERS OF MATINEE MUSICALE WILL GIVE SECOND PROGRAM OF SEASON

MISS ZELLA BURRELL.

MISS ESTHER GOMBERG.

MISS PERIE REYNOLDS.

MISS GERTRUDE McEWEN.

MRS. NEIL B. MORRISON.

MISS RACHEL WOODARD.

THE second of the two programs which are given annually by members of the student branch of the Matinee Musicale will be given Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. hall.

These programs are becoming more enjoyable each season and deserve the good attendance of club members and of other friends of those who are taking part. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Neil B. Morrison and Dwight W. Heistand and will include orchestral numbers played by student members from Mr. Heistand's high school orchestra, assisted by three outside players. One of these numbers, Sir Edward Elgar's military march, "Pomp and Circumstance," No. 2, is not so well known as the first number of that name, which was recently given on a club program, but is said to be of even greater interest.

The number which will be played by Miss Perle Reynolds, "In the Fairy King's Palace," is a composition by Korngold, a young composer of Vienna, whose works are receiving considerable attention this year, and it was written by him when only 12 years old. Works by Korngold has been included in the repertoire of the Kneisel quartet this season and those of a number of leading pianists.

The Program.

The program, as arranged, follows:
Two preludes .....Chopin
Rachel Woodard.
Valse Impromptu .....Raff
Edna Freimuth.
Impromptu No. 3 .....Schubert
Esther Gomberg.
Second Mazurka .....Godard
Marjorie Baillie.

Louise Murchison.
Accompanist Mrs. Fred Bradbury.
"In the Fairy King's Palace" ....Korngold
Perle Reynolds.
(a) Prelude No. 9.....Bach
(b) "Murmuring Zephyrs".....Jensen
Katharine Thwing.
(a) Second Interlude from "Don Guichotte" .....Massenet
(b) "Pomp and Circumstance" No. 2. ..... Elgar
Student Ensemble.
Eleanore Kraft, Louise Murchison, Beatrice Miller, Blanche Rittel, Helen Baluss.
Assisted by Frank Bartlett, Ernest Paulson, Clinton Johnston, Dwight W. Heistand, director.

Evening Program.

Intense interest is already evidenced in the program to be given the evening of March 9 at the First Methodist church by the Normanna chorus under the directorship of Jens Flaaten and which will be substituted for the regular afternoon program of that date.

This will be one of the series of artists' concerts provided by the Matinee Musicale free for its members, and guest tickets may be obtained by all non-members interested. Mrs. O'Meara of St. Paul, whose glorious contralto voice has been heard before on a presidents' day and other programs, will be assisting soloist.

No Study Class.

There will be no study class Monday owing to the students' program.

Piano Round Table.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of the public schools of the city, will speak at the regular meeting of the Piano Teachers' Round Table of the Matinee Musicale, which will be held next Monday morning at the assembly hall of the Young Women's Christian association at 10 o'clock. He will talk on the value of co-operative work and exchange of ideas.

MACPHAIL TRIO.

Minneapolis Musicians Delight Large Audience In Concert.

THE concert which was given last evening at the high school assembly hall by the MacPhail trio of Minneapolis as one of the course of entertainments provided by the university extension department of the University of Minnesota proved a decided treat to the large audience which greeted the performers.

William MacPhail, violinist, Grace Chadbourne, soprano, and Gertrude Reeves, pianist and accompanist, proved themselves artists of true worth and their numbers were thoroughly enjoyed. The program was divided between the lighter and more serious music opening with a Dvorak sonata for piano and violin, which was given an intelligent and artistic interpretation. Mr. MacPhail's playing is characterized by beauty of tone and phrasing and masterly understanding of technique, and Miss Reeves was equally admired in her piano work.

Miss Chadbourne, who has a delightfully pure, sweet soprano voice, sang the "Madame Butterfly" aria, "One Fine Day," with charm and feeling, and a group of English songs included several pretty ballads and a number of the old favorite songs. The closing group was given by the three artists, Miss Chadbourne singing Gounod's "Ave Maria," Barnaby's "Sweet and Low" and Temple's "On the Adrian Sea," with piano accompaniments and violin obligato.

Violin and piano solos were also featured on the program.

Bishop's Club.

MRS. J. H. SULLIVAN will be the leader of the regular meeting of the Bishop's club which will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the club rooms in Cathedral hall, Second avenue west and Fourth street. The program as arranged for the evening follows:
Bible reading — Book of Psalms, Psalm 16 .....
Miss Thibert.
Interpreted by Bishop McGolrick.
Violin solo .....
M. Waren.
Accompanist, Miss McGraw.
Paper—"Roman Conquest of Constantinople" .....
Miss Eva McNamara.

Emmet's Birthday.

DIVISION No. 1, A. O. H., of Duluth, assisted by Superior and the various Irish organizations of Duluth, will celebrate the 136th birthday anniversary of Robert Emmet, Ireland's most beloved patriot, in the auditorium of the Cathedral high school, Second avenue west and Fourth street, Wednesday, March 4, at 8:15 p. m.

Hon. Daniel Lawler of St. Paul, Minn., will deliver the principal address and Raymond T. Hughes will act as chairman of the meeting.

A literary and musical program, consisting of popular Irish readings, music and songs, has been arranged.

Division No. 1, A. O. H., extends a cordial invitation to all to be present on this occasion. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of P. W. Casey, chairman; R. T. Hughes, M. J. Pierce and W. J. McBride.

CLUB TEA.

Scandinavian Afternoon for Twentieth Century Club.

THE feature of the club meetings of the Twentieth Century club classes for next week will be the March tea of the club which will be held at the library club room at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. A Scandinavian afternoon is planned and there will be two talks of interest. Mrs. Harold Fegraeus will talk on "Reminiscences of Sweden and Some Swedes" and Mrs. H. P. Bjorge on "The Evolution of Norwegian Women in the Past Century."

Mrs. J. B. Richards, general social chairman and the March committee consisting of Mrs. I. N. Sodahl, Mrs. William Carlson and Mrs. Odin Halden will be hostesses for the afternoon assisted by a group of girls in the national costumes of Sweden and Norway.

Study Classes.

Monday evening the regular meeting of the Shakespeare class will be held at 7:30 o'clock at the library club room.

Tuesday the regular meeting of the art class will be held at 3:15 o'clock at the library club room and the short story class will meet Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the board room of the library. "Gilbert Parker" will be studied under the leadership of Mrs. F. J. Webb and "Richard Harding Davis" with Mrs. Wade Clarke as leader.

Musical Afternoon.

A MUSICAL program has been arranged for the regular meeting of the Lester Park Literary society which will be held next Tuesday afternoon at the Kriedler Piano company store, 20 East Superior street. A program arranged by Mrs. Walter Butchart will be given at 2:15 o'clock sharp, and each member of the club has the privilege of inviting one guest. Miss Josephine Carey will give an informal talk on music, and there will be vocal solos by Mrs. Edgar G. Smith, Mrs. Stanley Butchart and Miss Eleanor Luxon; piano solos by Miss Helen Dryer, Miss Bernice Heverty and Miss Florence Watt, and a selection on the piano player by Little Miss Dorothy Wood.

HAMPERED BY THOSE WHO SEEK PERSONAL ADVANCEMENT

Socialism's Growth Retarded By Ambitions of Petty Leaders—John A. Keyes Tells Message of Karl Marx.

THAT the Socialistic movement is restricted and hampered by the puny ambitions of men within the party who seek personal advancement rather than the development and promulgation of the principles of Socialism, was the contention made by John A. Keyes in a speech this afternoon before the Saturday club in the club rooms of the library building.

Mr. Keyes, himself a Socialist, declared that while the movement is now handicapped by this narrowness, it will outlive it and will assert itself after a time, despite the leaches and parasites that now impede it. He declared that only by putting away personal ambition can Socialism or any other great movement be made successful.

The gathering was first engaged in regular business, after which tea was served and during this hour, Mr. Keyes talked, in concluding his remarks on "Karl Marx and his Relation to the Socialist Movement" he said:

"Wise men learn, after a time, to put away ambition. Many of us have done so without regret. The real service of mankind is as Paul said but to offer one's self a living sacrifice without desire for reward and concious of the fact that there is none. The history of mankind is illuminated all the way along with the splendor of great souls who have understood. Otherwise it would be but the record of a sordid waste. Marx was pre-eminent among this company. Constantly being undermined by jealous and ambitious associates, his life was one continuous struggle against bitter enemies and pretended friends, but through it all he held to the even tenor of his way.

"He may be ranked with Socrates and Seneca of old time and Wendell Phillips, Robert Owen and Sun Yet Sen in modern days.

Parasites.

"The great Socialist movement is hampered now by a host of thrifty minded men seeking advancement and by parasites who live off the movement, and little men who try to make it a business asset and build themselves up by its means. Verily they have their reward.

"The movement is thus restricted and narrowed by all sorts of handicaps and personal ambitions which it will in time outgrow. When the real working class ceases to be influenced by mere harangues and worthless controversies stirred up by bad leadership the movement will begin to develop along correct lines. The great philosophy will outlive all this temporary obstruction and assert itself after a time. In order to get a fair glimpse of the promise of the future let us for a moment personify Socialism as the ancients did their gods. Here comes Socialism, the personified embodiment of the philosophy and its application and speaking as did the prophets in the elder days says unto us:

"'Behold, I come unto you with a new message; a world conscious message. I see that your archaic system of regulating your affairs is wholly inadequate to meet your needs; I see that anarchy and injustice prevails everywhere. I perceive that you can be neither just, moral or religious and live under your jungle-created laws. I understand at a glance that competitive life is but another name for robbery, poverty, toil and starvation on one side and luxury, idleness and licentiousness on the other, with degeneration and suffering on both sides and within the ranks of both classes.

"'I come to you with a new social order, commensurate with your degree of development and your needs. I bring you a new charter of liberties, I open the book of human life at a new page in the history of mankind. Already have you been taught the arts of the mastery of Nature in many ways. Already have the tools of production been placed in your hands. The earth and the seas and the air is yours by the divine right of conquest, and I offer you a new and adequate code. I rewrite for you the laws of that new code not on tablets of stone but upon the tablets of the human heart and brain. I offer you peace instead of war; plenty instead of poverty; individual liberty instead of slavery of your present environment. I am the finder of the Holy Grail you sought so long and never found. I am the new thought. The spirit of the new century. I am here to tear down your prisons and bastiles and show you a more excellent way. I shall not wipe away all tears from your eyes but I shall show you how to lessen the griefs and woes that cause them to flow. I come not to destroy your religion but to free it from the superstition and ceremonies of a barbaric time.

"'To the administration of justice among you, I shall give a new meaning and spirit. Your judges and legislators shall not longer, as in the past and present, do the will of the powerful and rapacious class to whom they owe their places and which they feel obliged to obey and satisfy.

No Master But Right.

"'And they shall have no master except my code of equal rights which they must administer in the spirit of it and of the truth alone.

"'I shall go with all workers to their places of labor and safeguard them as they toil, for I am the guardian of labor and I guarantee to each who labors the just value of his work, I shall be with him on the land and on the sea, whithersoever he may go, to whatever danger he may be exposed there I shall stand beside him.

"'You have said that pure religion and undefiled is to visit the widows and fatherless in their affliction and keep yourselves unspotted from the world. But I say to you that in this new order that I shall give you that not only shall you visit the widows and fatherless in their affliction but you shall guard and protect them and the children of the unfortunate shall be nurtured and educated for the duties of life as well as those of the fortunate.

"'For I am no respecter of persons nor shall you be allowed to be. There shall be born among you after I have written your code, men of great genius and insight who shall devote their lives for the betterment of mankind and to them shall you rightfully give honor and all the incentives to live and labor shall be higher and finer, among you, because they will be ordered by the higher laws of mutual aid and altruism, so that the generations to come shall be better born, from a knowledge of the laws of birth attained by their parents, and happiness shall increase over the earth; for I am the bearer of the new light that enlighteneth through a better environment every man that cometh unto the world.'"

ADOPTS NEW CREED.

Prophetic Bible Conference Declares Christ Will Return Soon.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—A belief in the second coming of Christ is one of the professions in a new expression of faith issued at the close of the fifth International Prophetic Bible conference.

"We believe in the second, visible and imminent coming of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, to establish his world-wide kingdom on earth," is the ninth of the ten new laws comprising a report of a special committee of which Rev. Robert M. Russell, president of Westminster college, is chairman.

The report expresses the belief in the Bible as the word of God; in the deity of Christ; in His virgin birth, and in salvation by divine sacrifice.

"We believe in His physical resurrection from the dead, and in His bodily presence at the right hand of God as our priest and advocate," the report continued.

"We believe in the universality and heniousness of sin, and in salvation by grace, not by works, lest any man should boast; that sonship with God is attained only by regeneration by the Holy Spirit, and faith in Jesus Christ.

"We believe in the great commission which Our Lord has given to his church to evangelize the world; and that this evangelization is the great mission of the church.

"We believe in a heaven of eternal bliss for the righteous and in the conscious, and the eternal punishment of the wicked."

THOUGHT HE WAS LOPEZ

When Mill City Man Seeking Job Appeared in Cowboy Garb.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 28.—If John W. Davis of Minneapolis had not put on his cowboy suit, with yellow beaded vest and sombrero when he went late Thursday to a horse market at Midway, between the Twin Cities, to look for a job, panic would not have fallen in the Midway district, and the police of Minneapolis and St. Paul would not have had men searching for Rafael Lopez, the Mexican bandit, who recently escaped from a sealed-up mine at Bingham, Utah, after he had killed seven men.

Davis, after having been told that a job might be secured at the horse market, decided to don the suit he had worn in Wyoming and Montana. His appearance so upset the barn foreman where he applied for a position, that the job was not forthcoming. Instead, the police of both cities were notified. Meanwhile Davis, chagrined at his rebuff, had returned and knew nothing of the sensation he had caused until he read the papers yesterday.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the charcter and temperament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 220 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

EQUITY MEET IS WARM ONE

Charges of Perjury Are Bandied About During New Rockford Session.

President Johnson of Donnybrook and Secretary Anderson of Fargo Re-elected.

New Rockford, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the North Dakota Society of Equity ended here last night, after one of the most spirited gatherings in the history of the organization.

The closing hours were given over to the adoption of resolutions criticizing the stand taken by the New Rockford Commercial club in reference to certain activities of the society, and the adoption of another resolution advising action against Frank Reed of New Rockford, at whom J. M. Anderson, secretary of the Equity society, hurled charges of perjury during a heated session of the convention.

No decision on the next meeting place was made, that matter being placed in control of the board.

M. F. Johnson of Donnybrook, N. D., was re-elected president, and J. M. Anderson of Fargo, was re-elected secretary and treasurer. Other board members are A. Walton of Minot, C. A. Swanson of Driscoll, K. E. McAdoo of Turtle Lake, A. W. Kipner of Velva, and P. F. Casey of Lisbon.

GAS FRANCHISE CASE IN COURT

Mandamus Proceedings Started Against Brainerd's City Clerk.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest phase in the gas situation in Brainerd is the filing of a mandamus suit against City Clerk V. N. Roderick, commanding him to correct the notation upon the gas ordinance to conform to the truth and the facts as to the time the ordinance was presented to the mayor and to proceed to have the ordinance published as required by law.

The suit was filed by Judge C. W. Stanton and will be heard in chambers here March 16 at 2 p. m. The petition of the Light & Power company alleges that the clerk first stated he was delivered the ordinance to the mayor on Feb. 2. Later it was changed to Feb. 3. It was presented on the first date. The mayor returned it and asked the ordinance be sent to him the next morning, which was done. On this hinges the question of the validity of the mayor's veto. If in time, the franchise is killed. If too late, the franchise is a law.

CONDUCTOR CONVICTED

For Ejecting Tramp From Moving Train, Causing His Death.

Lancaster, Wis., Feb. 28.—Harry French of La Crosse, conductor on the Burlington railroad, was convicted here yesterday of manslaughter in the third degree at the conclusion of his trial for the murder of Edward Murphy. The conviction carries a penalty of a term in the penitentiary of from 2 to 4 years.

In deciding the case the jury passed on the important point of the right of members of a train crew to eject persons stealing rides. Murphy, a tramp, was kicked off French's train while it was in transit and received injuries in his fall from which he died. French denied ejecting the man, but the jury decided that he did and and held that the conductor had no right to put a man off his train while it was in motion.

WAITRESS WINS SUIT.

Is Given $2,000 for Her Blighted Affections.

Wahpeton, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. Jerguson was assessed $2,000 by the jury for trifling with the affections of Millie Grun. The defendant is the son of the contractor for the Richland county courthouse, while the plaintiff is a waitress at a local hotel. She sued for breach of promise.

FARGO CONCERNS MUST PAY TAXES

Masonic Temple, Women's Home and K. C. Property to Be Taxed.

Fargo, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Masonic Temple, the Knights of Columbus home, the Woman's Boarding home, a semi-charitable institution, and many other institutions in Fargo that have not formerly been taxed, must pay up, according to the mandates of the state tax commission. It is claimed the Masonic Temple owes $4,800 in taxes during the past six years on $1,000 worth of furniture and fixtures and on $14,000 worth of lots and realty. The Knights of Columbus are said to owe for $500 worth of furniture for five years and the Woman's Boarding home about $360 on taxes for the institution for the past two years. This latter tax has been abated by the county commissioners. The other taxes had not been levied. The Masonic Temple is used exclusively for Masonic purposes, none of it is rented and on only a few occasions are worthy outside enterprises permitted to use the auditorium, then without charge. The collection of taxes will be resisted.

SECURES JUDGMENT FOR FALSE ARREST

Contractor Arrested at Baudette Wins His Damage Suit.

Bemidji, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The damage suit of Emil Peterson, a contractor, against former Baudette village officials to recover $24,640 damages for alleged false arrest two years ago, which has been on trial here this week before Judge Stanton and a jury, went to the jury yesterday, and last night the twelve men found for the plaintiff, awarding him $2,296, divided as follows: Damages to business, $1,000; chagrin and mental anguish, $1,000; attorneys' fees, $296.

The defendants were Village Attorney C. R. Middleton, George Arnold, J. U. Simmons, Jorge Partridge (now of Minneapolis), E. Riley and J. C. Lindsay, members of the village council, and Gilbert Roen, Halvor Robersted and John Norquist.

What Caused Suit.

Peterson had a contract to build a bridge at Baudette and it is claimed that he collected payments on the work after representing there were no outstanding claims. When these were presented he was arrested charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, but was discharged. Then he started suit for damages.

The defendants will seek a new trial, and failing, will appeal to the supreme court.

CLOQUET BONIFACE IS ADJUDGED GUILTY

Frank Elm, Hotel Keeper, Must Pay Fine of $100.

Cloquet, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Frank Elm, whose hotel was raided this week and a large quantity of liquor found, took place in the municipal court yesterday. Several witnesses for the state testified that they had bought liquor from Mr. Elm on different occasions. He was found guilty and was fined $100 or ninety days in jail. The liquor is to be destroyed and the glassware, etc., to be sold and the revenue thus acquired turned into the school fund. John Jenswold, Jr., of Duluth was the defendant's attorney, and an appeal will undoubtedly be made.

PRIEST'S CLOSE CALL.

Minto, N. D., Clergyman Nearly Perishes in Burning Home.

Minto, N. D., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father J. W. Majer of the Catholic church here was nearly burned to death by fire in his residence. The smoke aroused him. Father Majer gained the outer air before he became unconscious, and directed others to the rescue of Miss Blanche Jarombeck, his housekeeper, who also was nearly overcome by smoke.

CLOSE WESTBROOK BANK

Cottonwood County, Minn., Institution Is in Trouble.

Westbrook, Minn., Feb. 28.—The Citizens' State bank has been closed by K. S. Chase, state bank examiner, who also caused the arrest of Cashier C. A. Zieske on a grand larceny charge involving $2,000. The bank's capital and surplus are $30,000, with $125,000 on deposit and the cashier is under a $10,000 bond in the National Surety company. It is thought depositors will be paid in full and the bank reopened soon.

MARKET IS OFF AT CLOSE

Wheat Weakens Slightly in Late Trading After Holding Steady.

Sharp General Demand Sends Flaxseed Up to New High Level.

Duluth Board of Trade, Feb. 28.—The wheat market was quiet and narrow today, and at the close fractional losses were recorded. Cables were fractionally off, and the increased receipts at Minneapolis and good reports from the winter wheat territory exercised a restraining influence.

May wheat opened unchanged at 93½c, and after holding at that level throughout the session, the close came at ¼c down at 93¼@93⅜c. The July option opened unchanged at 94⅜c and closed fractionally off at 94¼@94⅜c. There was a steady demand for durum and the market in its was firm. The May option opened unchanged at 94⅞c and it closed there. July closed nominally unchanged at 94⅝c.

Fairly good business was reported in oats. They closed unchanged at 38⅛@38⅜c. Itye closed slightly up at 56½c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44 to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 37⅞c and July at 38⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 91⅜@91⅞c bid, and calls at 92⅛@92¼c.

Further export business in hard winter wheat, was advised at Kansas City and Omaha, and Winnipeg reported the working of several lots.

Receipts at Duluth for today were about in the volume at which they have been running for some time back. Inspections were 16 cars against 98 last year, and there was on the track for the day 35 cars of all grains. Arrivals at Minneapolis were heavy, amounting to 394 cars against 291 last year.

Grain stocks in Duluth elevators increased just 10,000 bu in the week, with spring wheat stores showing a decrease of 13,000 bu as a result of buying by the local mills.

Upturn In Flaxseed.

Flaxseed took a sharp upturn on higher cables and crushers and speculative demand. It is intimated that there is a considerable interest in the seed outstanding and certain operators have been endeavoring to get under cover. The market was also strong at Winnipeg, with export business reported.

Antwerp closed 1⅞c up today; London 3⅜c up, and Buenos Ayres ⅝c up.

May flax closed 1⅜c up here, opening at $1.58¾ and closing at $1.59⅞. The July option closed 1¼c up at $1.61⅝c.

At Winnipeg May flax closed at $1.39¾ and July at $1.42¼ bid.

A Chicago operator had the following from Buenos Ayres today—"Corn crop is maturing nicely. In the north, harvest is under way with satisfactory results. The linseed market is getting stronger."

The following figures show the amount of grain in store in country elevators (interior) west of Winnipeg, these being supplied by the C. P. R., G. N. R., and G. T. P. Aside from the figures supplied by the C. P. R., they are worked out on a percentage basis of the grain already inspected. The C. P. R's. figures were 11,806,000 bu of wheat and 5,838,000 bu of other grain. The grain in store is therefore estimated as follows—Wheat, 11,806,000 bu C. P. R.; 7,620,430 bu C. N. R., and 2,573,750 bu G. T. P.; total 22,000,180 bu. Flaxseed, 1,207,000 bu., C. P. R.; 643,980 bu., C. N. R., and 217,500 bu., G. T. P.; total 2,068,480 bu.

* * *

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with demand for top grades fair. Mills and elevators bought. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from ½ to 2c over May, and velvet chaff at ½@1c over May. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there from 92⅝c to 94⅛c and No. 2 northern at from 90⅛c to 92⅛c.

A letter to the Commercial West of Minneapolis from H. Weiner & Co. of Antwerp states that the exportable surplus of Argentine wheat will not be more than five million quarters, and of this amount 50 per cent is inferior wheat. They expect their nearby spot situation to become greatly strengthened, so much so that millers will be embarrassed as to where to get their supplies.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The steadiness in Winnipeg yesterday, fewer Manitoba offers and firmness in Buenos Ayres caused support at the opening and values were ⅛d higher. Following the opening, there was some disposition for profits on the excellent condition of American winter outlook as shown by the Modern Miller's report, bearish Russian advices and free Roumanian offers, but support developed and the market remained dull with a steady undertone. Indications of light American shipments as shown by Bradstreet's and few Plata offers of millable wheat checked a decline. At the close prices were ¼d higher.

"Corn opened unchanged and later advanced ⅛d with trading dull."

Broomhall's Russian cable said: "The weather continues mild and the winter crop is generally satisfactory. Arrivals on the north for shipments are increasing. The export movement is liberal. Navigation is expected to shortly reopen. Stocks of wheat at interior railway stations on Feb. 1 were 14,250,000 bu against 8,900,000 bu last year. Holders are becoming dissatisfied and more anxiety is expressed. Much business is now being done at a loss."

Philadelphia wired that Argentine oats are being offered for March or April shipment in sacks at 40c delivered there with 6c duty added.

The grain situation in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is summarized as follows to Feb. 23 in a report received today by B. E. Baker & Co.: "Wheat—Inspected to that date, 121,390,000 bu; in transit, not inspected, 460,000 bu; in store at country points, 21,700,000 bu; required for seed and country mills, 30,000,000 bu; in farmers' hands to market, 11,000,000 bu; total crop, 184,550,000 bu.

"Oats—Inspected to date, 47,346,000 bu; in store at country points, 8,300,005 bu; in farmers' hands to market, 12,000,000 bu.

"Barley—Inspected to date, 12,619,000 bu; in store at country points, 575,000 bu; in farmers' hands to market, 1,750,000 bu.

"Flaxseed—Inspected to date, 10,043,000 bu; in store at country points, 1,475,000 bu; in farmers' hands to market, 1,750,000 bu."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Stronger on Predictions of Colder Weather.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Predictions of colder weather helped today to steady the wheat market. There was also a hardening effect from signs that world shipments would be light. Russian offers continued free, but were offset by reports that but little of the Argentine crop was fit for milling. Opening quotations varied from ⅛@¼c off to a shade advance, with the market later holding at about last night's level.

Scantiness of export demand, however, caused the market afterward to sag. The close was weak, ⅛@¼c to ½c under last night.

Corn developed some firmness with wheat. Absence of demand from the East was ignored. Prices started unchanged to ¼c lower, and then rose moderately all around.

The breaking up of country roads and the lightness of stocks in rural elevators tended to sustain the advance. Closing prices were steady at the same as last night to ¼c higher.

Oats took the same course as other grains. Rumors of additional imports from Canada had little if any influence.

Chances of a large increase in warehouse stocks dragged down provisions. Besides, there was a break in the hog market. First sales were 2½@5c to 12½c lower with no outlook for any good rally.

TRADERS BUY CONFIDENTLY

Stocks With Large Speculative Market Show Increasing Business.

Signs of Growing Bullish Activity Among Minor Specialties.

New York, Feb. 28.—Rock Island stocks were again heavy at the opening today. Some of the specialties made gains, General Motors rose 2 points and Guggenheim Exploration 1. Among the favorite stocks, prices held virtually unchanged.

Prices moved up in a uniform fashion on a very moderate amount of business. Some of the obscure specialties advanced in a striking fashion with an increased inquiry for the express stocks.

The market closed firm. Traders bought confidently today and caused a further retreat of the shorts. Business in stocks with a large speculative market was on a steadily increasing scale. Steel and Union Pacific were foremost in the movement and there were signs of growing bullish activity among the minor specialties.

Disappearance of liquidation among the low-priced stocks and lessening of the tension over the Mexican situation were influential in inducing scattered buying. The forward movement proceeded without interruption to the end of the half-day session. Gains among most of the popular stocks were confined to fractions, but numerous specialties rose 1 to 5 points.

Bonds were steady.

STRONGER TONE IN MINING STOCKS

Good Buying Through List --Calumet & Corbin a Strong Feature.

Fairly good business for the short session was put through at Boston today. Stocks were firmly held as a result of the improved situation in the metal trade, and closing prices were generally higher.

Butte & Superior absorbed a considerable proportion of the day's trading. It wound up unchanged at $35.75. Franklin also attracted some attention and it also closed unchanged at $6.75. Butte & Ballaklava closed unchanged at $3.38; Calumet & Arizona 50 cents up at $67.75; Granby 50 cents up at $85; North Butte 25 cents up at $29; Shattuck 88 cents up at $29; and Amalgamated Copper 25 cents up at $74.50.

Calumet & Corbin was a feature in the Duluth curb list, and there was impressive buying in it at Boston. It closed there at 26 cents bid, with a number of orders reported unfilled.

Alex Scott was steady on the good reports from the mine. Sales were put through in it at $5.

Gay & Sturgis had the following closing letter from Boston: "The market advanced further today. Activity did not exist but offerings were few and a little buying caused a very fair advance.

"It is noticeable that banking people and followers of the stock market are hopeful while a good many business people are not. This is a reasonable condition and promises eventually higher prices. The bank statement was unexpectedly adverse and may stop the rally, but only for the time being."

Referring to the New Era group of mines recently purchased by the Calumet & Corbin Mining company, the Idaho Springs Mining Gazette says:

"The New Era mine has ranked among the heavy producers of this section of the county for the last several years. During that time large development has been in progress, with the result that enormous reserves of both milling and smelting ore are in evidence throughout the various workings. Forbes Rickard, mining engineer, who made an exhaustive examination of the mine, reported that there is blocked and ready for extraction at least $250,000 worth of ore. A. B. Friendzell, also a prominent mining engineer, reported favorably upon the property."

Commenting upon the situation in the mining industry, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says:

"Reaction in the stock market Wednesday was followed Thursday by a moderate upturn on fair volume of buying. The mining division is in especially strong position and the conditions seem to warrant active participation by the public. The prospects are that the report of the copper producers for February will show little change either way in the visible supply of metal, but if no large increase is shown it should be considered a bull factor. That there will be a tremendous amount of copper, lead and zinc consumed during the year 1914 is well understood. The iron and steel industry is again on a very active basis, and the outlook as far as investment and speculation in mining stocks is concerned favors the constructive side. There has been no change in the metal price situation."

N. F. Hugo, president of the Butte-Alex Scott Copper company, will leave for Butte next Monday to investigate condition on the 2,000 level. Supt. Stone reports that the Edith May vein at that depth shows a width of forty-seven feet, and newspaper reports from Butte say that it is fifty-one feet wide, and carries copper values of 2 per cent. Evidently a huge tonnage is being opened up. Mr. Hugo considers that the news from the property is very important, and further details of the development on the 2,000 level is being awaited with much interest.

WEEKLY REPORT TO STOCKHOLDERS.

MUTUAL IRON MINING CO.

Providence Building, Duluth, Minn.

McComber, Minn.—During the week work was continued on the vein running east from a point 37 feet north of the shaft on the 100-foot level. This crosscut is now in 33 feet and the vein has widened so that we have lost the greenrock eastirely from the north wall and are unable to state definitely how large the ore body is at this depth until further work has been completed. We will have some good news next week, watch for it.

There has been a good demand this week both for stock and lots in McComber. The stock will be all taken very quickly in the event our expectations at the mine next week are realized.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Feb. 28.—Dun's review today says: Severe storms restricted new business in many sections of the country this week and caused delay in making deliveries on old orders. The intense cold and heavy snowfall stimulated activity in seasonable merchandise at retail, but the interruption to general trade was sufficient to retard distribution considerably. Traffic blockades hampered freight movements and reduced receipts resulted in higher prices for various food products.

While weather conditions had a tendency to check progress in commercial and industrial channels, reports from the leading centers continue optimistic in tenor. Best news emanated from those lines benefitting by the low temperatures, notably heavyweight apparel, footwear and fuel.

Failures this week numbered 350 in the United States against 263 last year and 47 in Canada compared with 39 a year ago.

BIG LOGGERS ARE ALARMED

Spring Weather Fast Destroying Roads in the Woods.

The spring-like weather of the last three days is beginning to alarm Duluth logging operators. Fully six weeks is needed yet, they say, to get the timber out of the woods and get a cut equal to that of previous years.

"February has been one of the best months in years," said a prominent lumberman today," and we are now pushing operations to the limit anticipating the warm weather that may follow. However, despite all we can do, we shall probably have a shortage of logs during the coming season.

"We are finding it very difficult this spring to get enough good men in the camps, in spite of what two woodsmen are reported to have said in The Herald last evening. There are too many men who will come to the woods for a few days and then return to the cities. By doing this they keep our crews broken up and cause us costly delays. Delays now are the worst thing that could happen to us.

"We are offering the men good wages, the best of board and quarters, but still we are unable to get enough men in Duluth. What the logging operators want is men who will come to the woods and stay all winter. We pay this class of men more money and give them the preference when hiring. But workmen are so scarce now that we take almost any one who wants a job.

"There is considerable uneasiness in the camps now as spring approaches, and many want to go to the cities. This makes the problem of help extremely difficult."

Lumbermen are of the opinion that the coming season is going to be a good one for them. Inquiry for lumber is good and they say that even if prices do not advance materially that a brisk movement will help business. In other words quick and large sales at low prices are preferred to high prices and business stagnation.

Practically all the sawmills at the Head of the Lakes are now in full operation day and night, and will be rushed to their capacity throughout the season. The shortage of logs has hampered some of the mills recently but the income of timber is now on the increase.

CAMP MILLER BOYS HAVE A REUNION

Boys' Department Members Spend Night in Gymnasium in a Real Camp Style.

The annual reunion for members of the Camp Miller of the boys department of the Y. M. C. A., was held last evening at the boys' building and was in charge of the camp and outing committee. The reunion started at 9:30 with a lunch in the Dutch kitchen, followed by short talks by all the campers recalling incidents of last years' camp. The camp paper was read and afforded lots of amusement.

After playing games around the table the party adjourned to the gymnasium to spend the night in real camp style. After taps was sounded those who could went to sleep, the rest waiting patiently for the morning. Breakfast was served at 7 o'clock and the reunion closed with the morning dip at the Y. M. C. A. pool. The committee will have one more reunion before the next camp. It will take the form of a regular banquet. The committee in charge last evening consisted of Charles Le Richeaux, Norman Sweeny and George Watts.

Thirty members of the Friday Night Bible study club met last evening for dinner followed by the regular study.

The regular Friday night program last evening was a game tournament for points in the Hustler club. Merle de Forest carried off the honors and will hold the championship until the next tourney. The outing for this afternoon was a swimming party. A large number of boys enjoyed the trip.

The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Warren Moore and Fred Campbell will be the speakers. At the Sunday club at 4 o'clock Sherman Coy, a former Yale football captain, will be the speaker. P. G. Brown will sing. The committee will serve a lunch at the close.

Next Tuesday night at 6:15 the High School Bible Study clubs will meet for dinner. The minstrel practice will begin at 7:30 and the cabinet will have its monthly meeting at 8 o'clock.

CLAIMS FIRM BROKE CONTRACT

Although he had a contract for services extending over a period of about ten months, Clifton H. Sowle asserts that his employers, Woodward & Co., Minneapolis grain dealers, violated its terms and discharged him after he had worked three months. In district court today he brought suit to recover the wages due him under the terms of his contract.

Sowle entered the employ of the grain firm on Aug. 7, 1913, as solicitor at a stipulated salary of $25 a week. On Nov. 19, 1913, he was told, he says, that his services would no longer be required. He asks for $50 in back wages and $225 for the period between Nov. 19, 1913 and Jan. 14 last.

WOMEN APPEAL TO COMMISSION

Mrs. John Jenswold, secretary of the Woman's council, has addressed a short communication to Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken asking him to bring to the attention of the city commission the fact that the women desire to interest the commissioners in a city and county hospital.

They wish it to be considered among the activities for which provision should be made the coming year.

"REASONABLE DOUBT" IN WILLETT'S CASE

New York, Feb. 28.—On the ground that the trial court erred in admitting as evidence a newspaper editorial attacking the candidacy of William Willett, Jr., when he ran for supreme court justice on the Democratic ticket, Supreme Court Justice Blackmar today granted a certificate of reasonable doubt which postponed the execution of the sentence of Willett received after being convicted of buying his nomination. Willett, a former congressman, is under sentence of a year and a half in prison.

The editorial in question was headed "Tammany's Tainted Touch on the Judiciary Ticket."

Joseph Cassidy, once Democratic leader of Queen's county, convicted of receiving the alleged bribe and similarly sentenced, is now under $20,000 bail pending appeal.

FORTY-FIVE-MINUTE EARTHQUAKE SHOCK

Washington, Feb. 28.—Seismographs at Georgetown university recorded pronounced earthquake shocks for nearly forty-five minutes early today. At 12:11 a. m. the first tremors were recorded, reaching the maximum at 12:15, and died away entirely at 12:41 o'clock. The estimated distance from here was 2,700 miles.

INJURED WORKMAN SETTLES FOR $750

On the petition of Arvid Kolehma, guardian for Timo Niemi, aged 19, who was injured Aug. 21, 1913, while in the employ of the W. T. Bailey Lumber company, Judge Bert Fesler in district court this morning approved a settlement made between the guardian and the lumber company. Kolehma accepted an offer of $750, subject to the approval of the court. Of this amount $250 will be paid to Theodore Hollister, attorney for the guardian. Young Niemi's injuries consisted of a broken left leg.

FAST TRAIN HITS WIND-DRIVEN CAR

Crookston, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—No. 7, the northbound Great Northern St. Paul-Winnipeg flyer, this morning at 4 o'clock while running at full speed crashed into an empty box car four miles south of Hallock, demolishing the box car and putting the engine out of commission, but injuring no one.

The passenger train remained on the track. The empty box car was going at high speed, driven before a gale from the North from Morris, Man., and had traveled sixty miles wild before the accident. It was a Canadian Northern car, which escaped through an open switch at Morris. Four hours later the track was cleared and the passenger continued to Winnipeg. Railroad men say it was miraculous that a horrible wreck was averted.

PARK POINT WILL FALL INTO LINE

Discussion and definite action on the proposed midsummer pageant and festival for 1915 as suggested by The Herald will be a prominent feature of the program arranged by the Park Point Improvement club for the annual meeting, which will be held next Tuesday evening, March 3, at Mission hall, Minnesota avenue and Twenty-eighth street. John J. Moe, president of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association, and A. C. Pearson, member of the pageant committee of the association, will be present and discuss the subject.

Members of the improvement club intend to appoint a committee to work with committees from other organizations on the festival plans.

Officers for the year will be elected, and S. George Stevens of Fond du Lac will speak on "Bird Life." Park Pointers say that too many birds are being killed on the point, and an effort will be made to arouse interest in protecting bird life.

Special invitations are being extended to the women of the point to attend the meeting.

THIEF RIVER FALLS HAS $10,000 FIRE

Thief River Falls, Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning at 6 o'clock the Thief River Falls Fish company, H. B. Hanson's cigar factory, the Lang Floral company and the Singer Sewing Machine store were burned out, together with the four frame buildings occupied. The origin of the fire is unknown. The total loss is $10,000; insurance $4,000. A terrific gale from the north prevailed with the temperature falling rapidly.

OBITUARY

Argyle Buck, long a campus character at the University of Minnesota, soldier, scout, trapper, rhymester and chronic optimist, died at his home in Minneapolis, Feb. 27. He was 76 years old. His passing, while of little interest to the present student body, caused old-time professors and alumni members to remark that "'Old Buck' had been the kind of a man it was good to know." For more than twenty years he was in charge of the arms and equipment at the university armory building, and janitor of the college of engineering.

William H. Doolittle, lawyer and member of congress from the First Washington district from 1892 to 1896, died at Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 26, aged 64.

Cardinal John Katschthaler, archbishop of Salsburg, died at Salsburg, Austria-Hungary, Feb. 27. He was born in 1832 and was created a cardinal in 1903.

Louise M. R. Brittain, widow of E. J. Brittain, known as Adelaide Roselle to the theater-goers of a generation ago, and was the first woman of English birth to take out naturalization papers in New York city, died Feb. 26 at the home of her daughter in Flushing, L. I., aged 7 years. She was leading woman with Edwin Booth, William H. Crane and John McCullough. She had been ill for three years.

TO REGULATE SMOKE.

Inspector Favors a Short But Broad Ordinance.

Smoke Inspector J. W. Schneider has submitted drafts of various ordinances and data gathered from various cities relative to smoke prevention to Mayor Prince and City Attorney Clapp. From this information it is proposed to compile a short but broad ordinance to regulate conditions in this city. Although the educational feature will be the basis of the local policy, it is felt that an effective ordinance is necessary if the best results are to be secured.

JANUARY RECORDS OF POLICE DEPARTMENT

Patrolman Oscar Olson leads all the officers of the police department with a record of forty-seven arrests during the month of January, according to the monthly report just finished this morning by Robert Donaldson, assistant secretary to Chief Troyer. There was a total of 399 arrests made in the department during the month.

Next to Patrolman Olson is Patrolman Wanvick with a total of thirty-one arrests. Following these two are Patrolmen Harling, with 25 arrests; Ricketts, 19; Danielson, 17; Connors, 16; Monahan, 13, and Capt. Fiskett, 12. Chief Troyer made five arrests during the month and Patrolman Gamache, who was appointed on the force the first of the year, made two arrests during his first month. He is stationed at the West Duluth station.

Included in the report also is the total of two arrests made by Patrolman Neil J. Mooney, who was killed while attempting to arrest two men at New Duluth on Jan. 6.

During the month of January there were 399 arrests made, of which number 390 were males and nine females. Eight of the females were married and eighty-six of the males also declared themselves to be married.

TWO SUE CITY FOR PERSONAL DAMAGES

Because she fell on an alleged icy sidewalk near Sixth avenue east and Third street Feb. 1 and thereby hurt her hip and side and contracted a cold because she had to lie there fifteen or twenty minutes, Emma Sophia Johnson today filed a claim for $500 damages against the city. The claim will be referred to the city legal department.

James F. Sexton filed a claim for damages of $1,000 for the fracture of his left arm near Lake avenue and Superior street. He asserts that an icy sidewalk was responsible and maintains that the city was negligent in that it did not keep it in proper shape. This will also receive the attention of the legal department.

GIRL DISAPPEARS.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Feb. 28.—This city has been stirred this week over the disappearance of Mary, the 15-year-old-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John De Fiore who is supposed to have eloped with Frank Shotto, a young Italian, recently employed as porter at Joseph De Concini's saloon. Shotto arranged with Joseph Vitelli, a chauffeur to meet them near the Uddenberg residence on South Stephenson avenue and take them to Vulcan, where it was learned that the couple purchased tickets to Green Bay, Wednesday night. John De Fiore missed his daughter and notified Chief of Police Lundgren, who immediately took steps to locate her. He soon learned that she was seen in company with Shotto and found out that the two had left together. Up to the present time, they have not been located, but the case has been reported to the Federal authorities, who will now endeavor to locate them. If arrested, Shotto will be prosecuted under the Mann act.

MRS. HUMPHRY WARD TO FIGHT SUFFRAGE

London, Feb. 28.—The Socialist weekly, the New Statesman, publishes a report today that Mrs. Humphry Ward, with a view to overthrowing the suffrage movement, is organizing an official women's parliament or grand council, to be composed of women and such Liberal and Unionist members of the house of commons as can be persuaded to join it, to sit permanently and advise the government on all legislative matters concerning women. Mrs. Ward is a pronounced anti-woman suffragist.

LEGAL NOTICES.

WE, J. A. WATTERWORTH, and WILBUR J. ALLEN, as President and Secretary, respectively, of Duluth-Florida Land Company, do hereby certify that at a special meeting of the stockholders of said Duluth-Florida Land Company called for the expressly stated purpose of amending the Articles of Incorporation of said Company as hereinafter set forth, held at the office of said Company in Room 5, Phoenix Block, Duluth, Minnesota, at two o'clock in the afternoon on Friday, the 20th day of February, 1914, pursuant to notice of said meeting duly given at which meeting a majority of the stock of said Company was present and represented, the following resolutions were duly adopted by a majority vote of all of the shares of stock of said corporation, to-wit:

"Resolved, That Article I and Article IV of the Articles of Incorporation of Duluth-Florida Land Company be amended so that when amended said Article I shall read as follows:

'ARTICLE I.

'The name of this corporation shall be Duluth-Florida Land Company. The general nature of its business shall be to purchase, own, hold, improve, and sells lands in the State of Florida. The principal place of transacting its business shall be at Duluth, in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years from the date of its original incorporation.'

"And so that Article IV, when amended, shall read as follows:

'ARTICLE IV.

'The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00), which shall be divided into five hundred (500) shares of the par value of one hundred dollars ($100.00) each, which shall be paid in money or property from time to time as required by the Board of Directors. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject, shall be seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00).'

"Resolved further, That the President and Secretary are authorized and directed to execute and cause to be filed, recorded, and published, as required by law, such certificate as shall be necessary to make these amendments effective."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We have hereunto subscribed our names and affixed the corporate seal of said corporation, at Duluth, Minnesota, this 20th day of February, 1914.

CITY NOTICES.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC UTILITIES—
City of Duluth, Minnesota.
February 28, 1914.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the manager of the water and light department, until 3 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, March 10, 1914, for furnishing a two-ton automobile truck in accordance with specifications on file in the office of the manager.

A certified check for 10 per cent of the amount bid, certified by some bank authorized to do business in the state of Minnesota, and made payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Duluth, must accompany each proposal.

Proposals must be addressed to the Manager, Water and Light Department, City of Duluth, and indorsed "Bid for Furnishing Two-ton Automobile Truck."

The city reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

CITY OF DULUTH,
By C. S. PALMER,
Clerk.

D. H., Feb. 28; March 2, 1914. D 1067.

CITY CLERK'S OFFICE—
Duluth, Minn.

Notice is hereby given that applications have been filed in my office by the following named persons for license to sell intoxicating liquors in the following named locations, viz:

Charles Langbridge at No. 22 North Fifth avenue west.

Frank Kohnen at No. 1002 Garfield avenue.

Peter Deloyia at No. 204½ Central avenue.

Erick Nelson at No. 611 West Superior street.

Said applications will be considered by the council at a regular meeting thereof to be held on Monday, March 16, 1914, at 3 o'clock P. M.

26 BID Calumet-Corbin 26 BID

The following wire from the property shows that big things are being accomplished in a very short space of time and that even greater things can be looked forward to in the very near future:

Idaho Springs, Colo., Feb. 27th, 1914.

Have large shipments ready. Three cars high-grade smelting ore. One car now enroute. Little delay owing to railroad not furnishing cars. Gradually getting mine in shape for big production. Preparing to drift over to Great Western vein two hundred foot level. Will be shipping high-grade ore from this body soon. BENJ. F. HALL, Mgr.

We feel that the great possibilities of this property are not fully realized and treated with enough consideration and the rank and file will not give this property and the issue it now represents just and due consideration until the stock has advanced another 100 per cent. It is as we have repeatedly said, intrinsically cheap at $1.00 right today, and the development should double and treble this valuation.

Calumet-Corbin has made a wonderful showing market-wise in the past two months, but it is only a good beginning, and the real big things are still to be seen.

As we said in our ad of yesterday, the principal market for this issue is on the Boston curb and the stock closed there today at 25 BID with market orders unfilled at the close.

Don't fail to get some of this issue. Buy it and buy it just as cheap as you can but pay for it when you buy it and get the stock in your own hands. This is all we ask of you to enable us to place this issue at a price level to which it is entitled. If you must sell, the market is full of bids, but our reputation and our money are back of the bids as they appear in these daily ads and can and must be taken as the strictly legitimate market on this issue for anything up to 1,000 shares.

Remember the stock to buy, Calumet-Corbin, and if you must sell, remember Monday's opening price is 26 BID.

KENNEDY MINE PREPARING FOR HEAVY ORE SHIPMENTS

Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and Cuyuna-Duluth Getting Out Stockpiles.

Iron Mountain and Duluth-Brainerd Also Expected to Ship.

Brainerd, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company is stockpiling and also getting its underground workings in shape for heavy shipments from the shaft in spring. The stockpile is expected to total 150,000 tons. McMenemy & Bumgardner of St. Paul have finished their contract of piling and grading the Northern Pacific railway extension to the Kennedy mine.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs and the Cuyuna-Duluth mine are getting out stockpiles and will ship heavily this season. The Iron Mountain mine and the Duluth-Brainerd are also expected to ship this year. The Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company will probably commence pit mining on its property to the north of Crosby. At Crosby the Armour No. 2 is stockpiling and working day and night shifts. The Pennington and Thompson pits will open up as soon as navigation starts. In section 1, township 46, range 29, on the Chisholm, Williams and Magoffin tract the Cole & Mcdonald drills are striking a rich ore body and it means another mine for Crosby.

Thomas A. Merritt has sold to Simon W. Tarr an undivided one-quarter of lots 5, 6, 7 and 8, in section 36, township 44, range 32, and Tarr later transferred an undivided one-quarter interest the same to Charles B. Aske. Claus J. Olson has sold to Oscar L. Mather an undivided one-tenth interest in the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 6, township 45, range 28, for $120.

John A. Graham has sold to Bessie M. Boardman an undivided interest in the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter and lot 2 of section 7, township 137, range 25. Graham bought the land from A. A. Hawkins for $800.

New Townsite Surveyed.

Near the newly established mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company, six miles east of Brainerd and a mile south of Loerch station, there has been surveyed a townsite by Judge James T. Hale, Paul M. Hale, his son, and Wilson Bradley of Deerwood, the location being in the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 12, township 45, range 30. The new town of Woodrow, named after President Woodrow Wilson, will be a half mile south of Loerch and a quarter mile north of the shaft.

Permission to name the town Woodrow was secured from President Wilson, who in an autograph letter to the townsite builders, stated he had no objections to their using his personal name.

The Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company's mining property is rapidly taking comprehensive shape. The boiler, hoist and derrick are in position. A temporary boiler has been set up near the proposed shaft location. The Paterson Construction company, which will do the shaft sinking and mine equipping, will commence its first actual sinking on Monday, March 2. Offices of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company and the Paterson Construction company will be removed to the mine. A telephone has been put in at the mine. A. W. Mackay, secretary and treasurer of the Paterson Construction company, says the Northern Pacific railway will have its spur line completed to the mine by June 1.

Mining properties often figure in litigation and the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company is no exception. Everett L. Gilbert, the North Star Land company and Eugene L. Trask, each claiming an undivided one-twelfth interest in the fee to the east half of the northwest quarter of section 13, township 45, range 30, the center piece of the various groups which make the complete property, filed answers against the mining company in a Torrens action, which was heard in chambers before Judge W. S. McClenahan of the district court in Brainerd. They claimed title on account of a defective deed issued by the Northern Pacific Railway company. The court decided that the applicants in the Torrens proceedings, the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company, were the owners in fee of the property and that the defendants had no right or title. A stay of thirty days was granted to perfect an appeal.

Hoisting at the Barrows.

Within the last few days a large force of miners has been employed at the Barrows mine of the M. A. Hanna company. Hoisting has commenced at the No. 1 shaft. Two stockpiles are being taken out and about 100 skips a day are being hoisted. There is now in stockpile over 16,000 tons.

Fred H. Merritt of the Brainerd Development company has returned from the Twin Cities. He said business conditions there had been much improved since the first of the year and that a very optimistic feeling towards investments on the range prevailed. He anticipated that large sums will come from Southern Minnesota this season for local operations. The directors and larger stockholders of the Brainerd Development company have decided to continue work indefinitely with their present equipment on section 6, township 44, range 30, and to contract the work on the south half of the north half of section 32, township 45, range 30, as well as on section 16, township 46, range 28, and shortly after April 1 shaft sinking will begin in section 33, township 47, range 29. The Brainerd Development company is backed by C. E. Hamilton, Harvey O. Sargent, Leopold Gross, John Schultze, Gustav Allen and John T. Healy.

B. B. Gaylord of Crosby spottted a drill at Fort Ripley on Thursday morning. At other points on the south range the activity continues, many new places being explored.

The Adams mine at Oreland is hoisting ore of good grade ranging around 57 and 58 per cent. A trestle has been put in at the shaft to facilitate stockpiling. Ore is being hoisted from the main drift. The mine is pumping 150 gallons a minute.

B. Magoffin, Jr., of Deerwood has returned from the Iron River, Mich., district, where he has been on business.

Cuyler Adams of Deerwood has been in California the last few months.

Thomas Keating, one of the fee owners of the Thompson mine of the Inland Steel company at Crosby, is being boomed for mayor of Deerwood. Keating has scores of friends on the range and at his former home in Superior. If he will not run for mayor then his friends want to make a councilman out of him.

Shovel Working at the Rowe.

The Rowe pit mine has a shovel at work. The ground is frozen in places and the earth is jarred by blasting. This mine near Riverton will ship heavily as soon as navigation opens.

The Potts Exploration company at Deerwood cracked a $600 diamond in one of its drills while drilling hard ground near Big Rabbit lake. The diamond is not an entire loss, as it may be recut.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd will soon have shaft sinking in progress for its second shaft. A big pump is now on the ground and is amply able to take care of the flow of water at ledge. This second shaft will serve to unwater the first.

J. R. Harrington of Hibbing is expected to soon commence drilling on the lands bequeathed to the city of Brainerd by the late Judge G. W. Holland.

Drills of the Longyear Exploration company are at work on the county farm.

BUILDING READY FOR NEW CRUSHERS

Rapid Progress Is Made at the Butte-Duluth Plant.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 28. — The structure that is to house the new 1,000-ton crushing plant of the Butte-Duluth company has been finished and is in readiness now for the installation of the machinery. A part of this has already arrived on the ground and the rest is on the way. Supt. Sherwood expects to have the plant in readiness for operation by April 1, and it is also probable that the new battery of leaching machines, which was ordered last December, will be on hand and installed in position by that time or soon afterward.

The new leaching machines will be placed parallel to those already in use. They will have double the capacity of the battery now in position and will be ready to take the output of the new crusher plant by the time it is set in operation.

Reports continue to circulate without the slightest foundation in fact that the control of the Butte-Duluth properties has passed to the American Metals company. There is no truth to these reports. Capt. Wolvin and his associates have no idea of giving up either the control or management of the company. The American Metals company has merely become, in a way, the financial backer of the present management by taking over a block of the bonds that is sufficient to give the company all necessary capital.

The significance of the deal is in the willingness of such a concern as the American Metals company to back up the proposition and shows the confidence of the experts it sent here in the success of the proposition.

BRIGHT YEAR FOR COEUR D'ALENES

Mines Never in Better Shape for Increased Production.

Wallace, Idaho, Feb. 28.—Nothing but a complete slump in the prices of the metals can prevent the year 1914 being one of great prosperity in the Coeur d'Alene district. The prices are too low now, and nothing but careful management, economy in mining and improved methods in ore treatment make possible a margin of profit at some of the mines. But conditions both at home and abroad have given rise to the belief that prices will not go lower, and that the tendency of lead, zinc and copper prices will be upward.

The mines of this district were never in better condition for large and steady production than they are today, and this applies to old producers as well as to those which have become producers within later years. Some of the older properties have opened up new ore reserves which were not known to exist a few months ago, and all deep mining is showing most satisfactory results. It is therefore almost certain that most of the older mines will increase their output during the coming year, while a number of new mines will, no doubt, begin regular shipments.

The best feature of the mining situation in the Coeur d'Alene district is the success that has attended the development of new properties in outlying sections. The Sunset district has now been proved to be a vast storehouse of mineral wealth, and it is not improbable that a railroad will afford an outlet for it before the close of the year. Pine creek is another section in which a similar condition prevails. The National, which will soon be increasing the copper output, and the finding of the Snowstorm vein at depth, will have a strong influence in the development of other mines in the copper belt.

These favorable conditions in the mines make the outlook for the year highly promising, not only in the matter of increased output, but in the direct encouragement the situation gives to the prosecution of new development.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT HAS CUT NEW VEIN

Is on 2,000-Foot Level and Probably Edith May Offshoot.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 28.—The Butte-Alex Scott, on its 2,000-foot level, has cut the Edith May vein from wall to wall, showing a width of fifty-one feet of highly mineralized matter, assaying about 2 per cent copper. Where this vein was cut is about five feet east of a point under the sill of the 1,800-foot level where a width of thirty feet of ore, assaying about 4½ per cent copper was developed, and which shoot is now affording the Butte-Alex Scott its daily tonnage of about 150 tons. The Edith May vein is flat at this depth and the actual distance between the 1,900 and the 2,000-foot levels is 180 feet. The strong mineralization shown on the 2,000-foot has encouraged the Butte-Alex Scott management to believe that when the drift west has progressed sufficiently to get into the richer ore zone, a larger ore body will be disclosed on the 2,000 than was found on the 1,900-foot level.

The advance showing on the 1,900, it is said, cannot be compared with that now in evidence on the 2,000. Butte-Alex Scott has opened a new vein on the 2,000-foot, probably an offshoot or branch of the Edith May, at least it is classed as one of the Edith May series. This was cut twenty feet from the shaft and it has been drifted upon for a distance of 145 feet, showing not less than two feet of glance and not more than four, and it has been found to extend at least two floors up. This vein is not in evidence on the level above. The Edith May vein, in its dip, cuts through the West Colusa's shaft and to protect the shaft the Anaconda company engaged in a contract with the Butte-Alex Scott to buy all the ore in a block of ground extending from the 1,800 to the 2,000-foot levels for a distance of fifty feet on each side of the shaft. The Anaconda company already has paid the Butte-Alex Scott $60,000 on account and it is now found that the vein will hug the shaft for a considerable distance below the 2,000-foot level.

GOOD LODE DISCOVERED

Many of New Arcadian Delinquents Paying Up Their Assessments.

Franklin Likely to Call Assessment in the Near Future.

Houghton, Mich., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the New Arcadian the lode discovered east of the shaft has been opened by the drifts for a distance of about seventy feet and is looking better than when traversed by the crosscut. The copper, instead of occurring in two stretches, one along the footwall and the other along the hanging wall, seems to be quite evenly distributed throughout the lode and to be of the excellent heavy grade first encountered in the footwall stretch which covered slightly over one-half of the width. The drills have been run to the sides to ascertain the average width and the average contents. New men are coming to work and it is expected that night shifts will be started in a few days. As this level, the 750-foot, is the limit of the capacity of the hoist now in use, a contract has been made with the Lake Shore Engine works of Marquette for a larger one to be set up in about a month. The new engine will be able to hoist a skipload of two tons from a depth of 1,500 feet. Sinking will be resumed shortly after the new hoist is in commission and the lode will be opened up at more levels farther down. The finding of this good lode has caused many of the delinquents to pay up their assessments and there is ample cash on hand to completely prove up the lode.

Franklin.

Franklin's reopening of the Allouez conglomerate by a crosscut on the thirty-second level revealed the lode to be about twenty-three feet wide, measuring horizontally, and to have fifteen feet of commercial values. The copper was almost wholly on the footwall side and some of it was quite heavy and in the form of "copper boulders." These are quite numerous in the conglomerates here, and they vary in diameter from two to three inches to two feet. These are complete or partial replacements of the rock in stones of those sizes. Sometimes the partial replacement is limited to the outside, forming when the rock is removed what are known as "copper shells" which are much prized by miners. Sometimes the copper takes the place and shape of one or more geological constituents of the rock. There are more than a dozen of these running in size from two of a man's fist to a man's head, besides a great number of smaller ones. Considerable of the stamp copper occurs in the calcite of the matrix, but the most of it is fine but perfectly recoverable in a sandstone formation that cements the pebbles together and that resembles mortar or plaster. This last form of occurrence is characteristic of the lode and appears everywhere that the lode has been opened. Here, however, according to those familiar with the lode when it was worked before, there is a greater quantity of this last mentioned formation. The same people state that there is a great change in the lode both in the width of the lode and in the quantity of the metal, and that if these conditions prevail for length and depth, the working of the lode cannot fail to be profitable. When work was stopped in July, 1909, on this lode, the width had narrowed down to eight feet and the yield was only twelve pounds a ton. That was on the twenty-third level, 900 feet above, and some of our lodes are known to vary much with depth, as for example the Baltic. The lode can be very easily mined without much extra expense from No. 1 shaft, now used for the amygdaloid. It is only 520 feet distant and has a fine new engine with a ten-ton skip running on an excellent road. Probably, as on the amygdaloid, chutes would be cut in the walls so that the rock from several levels would run down to the one on a level below and be hauled out to the shaft by compressed air or electricity. On the amygdaloid every third level is used for haulage. By the use of the amygdaloid shaft where the hanging wall is unusually firm and solid, the cost, which has been very heavy in the past, of sinking under a very weak hanging wall would be obviated.

It is thought probable that the management will call an assessment in the near future, as it is said to be working on borrowed money and that its obligations are about $60,000. Possibly some of the authorized but unissued 33,647 shares may be sold, if an advantageous figure can be obtained. There has been paid in so far $14.20 a share.

Old Colony.

On the Old Colony, Hole No. 28 is located not far from the Mayflower boundary, 200 feet northwest of No. 21. No. 29 is situated about 500 feet southeast of No. 27, the most southerly hole, the two in line right angles to the formations.

Mayflower.

On the Mayflower the progress of Hole No. 34 was greatly delayed and finally stopped by drill troubles. It coud have probably been put into commission again in a month, but it was deemed best to move the drill about 650 feet northeast of No. 34, for No. 36, which will be the most northerly hole. No. 35 is waiting for the cement to harden. This hole was begun in December between Nos. 32 and 33 on the western side of the formations and is now bottomed at a depth of 750 feet. The caving of the ground here has caused long delays.

Wolverine.

Wolverine was very fortunate in having the Cornish miners remain on the location. The most of them joined the federation, but they have for the most part returned to work or are willing to. When the new men, who could be used as trammers, began to come in so numerously, Wolverine was able to run both shafts both shifts in quite a short time. More would be working now, but the mine is being equipped with water pipes for the Leynor-Ingersoll drills and the management is not quite ready for them, although it is taking them on as fast as possible. There are now in operation about twelve Leyner-Ingersoll drills and about ten to twelve jackhammer drills. The tonnage is running about 32 to 35 tons daily, the normal of the first part of July, 44 tons having been reached one day last week.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale is now working about thirty-six drills. The daily output is averaging from 1,000 to 1,200 tons, an increase of about 220 in three weeks. Shafts Nos. 2, 4 and 5 are running both shifts. In a short time, as soon as repairs are completed, No. 6 will start up. The collar of No. 5 will soon be concreted. Almost as soon as No. 2 resumed operations work was begun on the Portage lode and now development work and stoping are both being carried on, principally at the twenty-sixth and twenty-ninth levels.

Victoria.

At the Victoria the good eastern shoot was entered the last part of last week for about fifteen feet and the copper looks as if the same grade as on the twenty-third level, the best in the mine so far. The loading station is now being cut at the twenty-fifth.

NEW ORE BODY IN TUOLUMNE RICHEST OPENED IN THE MINE

Pilot Butte Expects to Ship Ore By the First of June.

Butte-Ballaklava Shaft to Be Put 200 Feet Deeper.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the Tuolumne company now seems confident that the property has not yet seen its best days. After cross-cutting on the 2,400-foot level for several weeks the Jessie vein has been encountered, and at the present writing there is every indication that the new ore body is going to turn out to be the richest body of ore ever opened in the Tuolumne. There has been a foot of ore opened in the first wall of the ledge showing 13 per cent copper and 12 ounces of silver to the ton. The remainder of the vein so far opened shows up very strong in iron, but there is not any evidence of silver and copper values. This one foot of ore is richer than any ore yet opened in the Tuolumne for the same width. Before any more exploration work is carried on a considerable amount of timbering will have to be done, and this will mean that several days will pass before the extent of the ore body is determined. The company is now shipping 100 tons a day, and as the ore is of a higher grade than that of December or January the February returns ought to show a profit of several thousand dollars over and above the operating expenses.

Pilot-Butte.

The Pilot-Butte management expect to cut the middle vein on the 2,200-foot level about the first week in March. The 2,200-foot level was reached several days ago and now the station is being cut. The vein is close to the shaft and it will be only a few days after the cross-cutting is commenced before the vein is reached. The annual meeting of the Pilot-Butte is to be held on the morning of March 9, and the management hopes to be able to announce the opening up of a large and rich body of ore by that time. Large ore bins are being constructed and a spur is being arranged to connect with the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railway company. The company looks to the commencement of ore shipments by June 1.

Butte & Zenith City.

Manager Newton of the Butte & Zenith City company is waiting word from the owners of the property in Duluth as to the depth he had better go before running a crosscut. When work was stopped last fall the shaft was down to a depth of 480 feet, but the water coming so fast it was found necessary to stop operations until new machinery was secured. This has now all been installed and after some five weeks work the mine has been unwatered and with the pumping facilities installed the water can be handled from this on. It is possible that a depth of 1,000 feet will be gone before any cross-cutting is undertaken.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly company is shipping from the Colorado mine 300 tons of ore a day which is said to run around 8 per cent copper with a small quantity of silver. The greater part of this ore is coming from the Hesperus ore body on the 1,400-foot level. The management is watching with considerable anxiety the crosscut being run on the 1,000-foot level to cut the Belmont vein. It is being run through virgin ground and it is confidently expected that the vein will be found within the Davis-Daly ground. Should this be the case the richness of the ore is figured out at anywhere from 8 to 12 per cent.

Butte-Alex Scott.

The talk of the negotiations between the Anaconda Copper Mining company and the Butte-Alex Scott for the sale of the property of the latter seems to have originated in the minds of some people, as both company representatives deny any knowledge of such a deal being on. The Butte-Alex Scott is shipping 150 tons of ore a day and shaft sinking will be commenced in the course of a short time with a view of carrying the shaft down to a depth of 200 feet more.

Iron Mountain.

There is every prospect that the Iron Mountain company properties will be in operation again before another month. Lawrence A. Ramage of New York, who came here to take the place of W. Q. Ranft in the management of affairs, is making splendid progress in getting conditions in shape and possibly inside of another month the Iron Mountain Tunnel will be in operation and possibly the Robert Emmet property belonging to the same company. Mr. Ramage is also representing the stockholders of the Robert Emmet company.

Butte-Ballaklava.

The Butte-Ballaklava company is shipping about 100 tons of ore a day, the greater part of which is coming from the 800 and 1,600-foot levels. It is intended in the course of a few weeks to start sinking and carry the shaft down at least 200 feet deeper.

Clark's Concentrator.

The new Clark zinc concentrator will start up in the course of a couple of weeks. It has a capacity of 500 tons a day and the Elm Orlu, which is the Clark zinc mine, is capable of supplying this amount of ore every day for several years to come. It is expected that late next month, or early in April, the mill will be in a position to handle its full capacity every day.

Move to Develop Mines.

The scheme inaugurated by the business men of Helena having for its object the raising of money for the opening up of some idle mining properties is meeting with such general favor that it is more than likely to spread to other localities. Throughout the state there are dozens of mines with shafts down to 500 feet or more now idle, due to the lack of money and modern facilities for the treatment of ore. On the dumps of these mines there are estimated to be thousands of tons of ore which today could be treated at a profit, whereas fifteen or twenty years ago the machinery was not available for the purpose. This is not only particularly true of the Helena district but it is equally true of the Virginia City district. Already the business men of Helena have subscribed a large amount of money for the purpose of employing engineers to make examinations of abandoned mines and submit reports on the grade of ore to be found on dumps. The citizens propose to organize into one large company, and whenever an engineer reports that a mine can be operated at a profit or that there are indications which would justify development work, a crew of men will be put to work. Assays will be made of ore on dumps, and if it is found that the ore can be treated at a profit it will be got out. The idea is to start a movement to thoroughly develop the great mineral resources of the state. In gold, silver, copper and lead there is unquestionably much ore to be recovered in districts outside of Butte and the Helena people are starting out with a determination of settling once for all the question of the value of the many mines from which great quantities of ore were taken years ago and which were abandoned all the way from twelve to twenty years ago on the ground that they could not be worked at a profit.

MORE ACTIVITY IN RADERSBURG CAMP

Mine Managers Anxious to Show Need of Railroad.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 28.—In the Radersburg district the prospect of getting through the new railroad has been reflected in increased activity in the district itself. The managers of the different mining properties there are anxious to furnish to the railroad promoters the very best evidence of the need of such a road and its prospects for paying.

During January the Keating Gold Mining company delivered 2,100 tons of ore to the nearest railroad point. Twelve six-horse teams were required to make the deliveries and they had to haul the ore a distance of twelve miles.

The Ohio-Keating, near by, shipped 970 tons in the same manner. The transportation cost to the railroad station was about $6,000.

PLANT EQUIPMENT AT THE HOMESTAKE

Will Expend $350,000 During This Year for Improvements.

Deadwood, S. D., Feb. 28.—The annual report of the Homestake Gold Mining company for 1913 states that operations were conducted through the year at full capacity. During the summer 20 stamps were added to the plant, making a total of 1,020 stamps now dropping. Electric power has entirely replaced steam in the rock crushers at the various shafts.

For 1914 plans include the erection of a new hoisting plant, steam generating plant and steam-driven auxiliary electric plant. The steam plant will be centrally located, to serve both of the improvements mentioned. It will contain six boilers of a capacity of 600-horse power each, equipped with automatic stokers.

It is also planned to experiment with oil, and if satisfactory results are obtained, that fuel will be used.

Including the buildings which will house these improvements, the estimated cost is expected to reach a total of $350,000.

Commencing in January, 1913, the company inaugurated a bonus system paying its employes an amount equal to 7 per cent of their annual earnings. This bonus payment is being duplicated this month. This practically raises a miner's pay to $3.75 per day. The payment of this bonus, and the adoption of other rules and regulations for the well-being and comfort of the employes has attracted to the Homestake a desirable class of employes.

Beginning with January, 1913, the dividend rate was raised from 50 to 65 cents per month, and in March a stock dividend of 15 per cent or 32,760 shares was paid, increasing the capital to 251,160 shares. In December an extra Christmas dividend of $1 per share was paid, making the total cash disbursements for the year $2,167,620.

DENN TO RESUME DEVELOPMENT?

Report That Money Will Be Provided for the Work.

Bisbee, Ariz., Feb. 28.—Rumor continues persistent that the Denn-Arizona company will be financed for resumption of development at the annual meetings of the Shattuck-Arizona and Denn companies, postponed until next month. The Shattuck will then have a surplus of more than $1,000,000. Denn will in due time, upon the proper direction of money and mining ability, make a great producing property. It is a splendid opportunity for any organization with the means to handle it. If Shattuck and Denn interests have formulated a plan, as is reported, under which the stockholders in the two companies can jointly benefit through the lending of aid at this time from the treasury of Shattuck, there is no doubt locally but what it will terminate in a very satisfactory manner for all concerned. Logically, Shattuck is entitled to have Denn. The stockholders of Shattuck would gain a prize under any fair terms of acquirement while the Denn people could not but profit to larger extent through affiliation with Shattuck than they would be likely to under any other arrangement.

Shattuck's output for February may reach 900,000 pounds of copper. The smelter is ready to take care of all the ore Shattuck may send, but it is evidently the policy of the management not to increase the production until the price of copper advances.

CALUMET & ARIZONA SHOWING UP WELL

Motor Line Between Junction and Briggs Shafts in Operation.

Bisbee, Ariz., Feb. 28.—This week saw the Junction-Briggs electric motor line in operation on ore carriage and the beginning of delivery of Briggs ore through the Junction shaft of the Calumet & Arizona mines. It has also been decided to build a motor line from the Junction-Briggs line to the Hoatson shaft. In the Junction they are now up against a slow and patience-trying job on the 1,800 level—that of getting a pump on the level and controlling the water. With this pump in, they will begin cutting the big stetion on which the pumping outfit of the mine will go.

Prospecting on the 1,400 level of the Junction continues to disclose good-looking bunches of ore. In the old Pittsburg & Duluth area they are getting ready to ship sulphides. The development work on the 900 and 1,000 levels of the Cole shaft continues to make handsome returns. There is now a total of between 700 and 800 feet length opened in the great oxide ore body. General Manager Greenway has been very busy lately on the annual report of the Calumet & Arizona, which will prove very gratifying to the stockholders.

CHAPIN WAS GREAT TRAINING SCHOOL

Former Employes at Mine Who Have Made Fine Records.

Ferdinand Schlesinger of Milwaukee, now owner of the great Newport and other properties on the Gogebic range, twenty-five years ago closed a deal for the purchase of the Chapin mine at Iron Mountain, the Menominee range's biggest producer and one of the most valued possessions of the United States Steel corporation. To bind the transaction, $900,000 was paid on the purchase price. Mr. Schlesinger's interests later passed into other hands. The anniversary of the Chapin mine deal has recalled that there were in the employ of the Chapin at the time several men who have since attained important prominence in industry and finance.

Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, now a millionaire copper mine owner active in the management of various companies and formerly president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the Steel corporation's big Lake Superior subsidiary, held the position of cashier in the Chapin office. James MacNaughton of Calumet, general manager of the several Calumet & Hecla mining companies and director of the operating interests arrayed against the Western Federation of Miners in the strike in the Michigan copper region, was the mining engineer. A clerk in the office was Frederick Wheeler, who for several years past has been president of the American Can company.

Another clerk was John H. McLean, now of Duluth, where he holds the position of general manager of the Oliver Iron company. George J. Elsele, formerly the stenographer and still of Iron Mountain, is assistant superintendent of the Steel corporation's mines on the Menominee range. Many other Chapin men hold positions of trust in various mining districts. As a training school, the Chapin mine has a record unsurpassed in the Lake Superior region.

MAXIM GORKY IS BACK IN RUSSIA

May Die of Consumption Before Another Summer, Say Doctors.

Rome, Feb. 28.—Maxim Gorky is back in Russia after eight years exile, perhaps to die of consumption before another summer, his physicians say.

Officially the Russian writer is still at Capri, where he has lived since banishment, while bodily he is at Mastamjaki, Finland, whence he may later proceed to Moscow. His return is generally a secret in Russia, the government desiring to take every precaution against irritating demonstrations by his admirers.

Last year Gorky was included in the comprehensive amnesty conceded by Emperor Nicholas and could then have returned to his native land without opposition, but he asserted then that he had no intention of taking advantage of the privilege. His failing health and longing to see his country, however, led him to change his mind and he has just completed the trip to Mastamjaki by easy stages.

Gorky's friends declare that he contracted his disease during confinement in the prison fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, but it is believed his constitution must have been weakened by the many years which he spent in actual want, his feverish energy in writing and the incessing labor of deep study to overcome his lack of culture.

There has lately appeared an odd chronology submitted by Gorky to an editor who had asked for an autobiography. Gorky replied as follows:

1862—Born at Nischni-Novgorod.
1878—Shoemaker's boy.
1879—Apprentice to a designer.
1880—Cabin boy on a steamer.
1883—Worker in a manufactory of biscuits.
1884—Porter.
1885—Baker's boy.
1886—Dummy in a village theater.
1887—Fruit seller.
1888—Attempted suicide.
1889—Railway employe.
1890—Clerk to an advocate.
1891—Operative in a saltmill; later vagabond.
1892—Wrote the first novel, "Makar Cindra."
1903—Celebrity and riches.

NEW PRESIDENT OF PARIS JOCKEY CLUB

Paris, Feb. 28.—The election of Count Elie de Beslade d'Avaray as president of the Jockey club is a triumph for the younger element in that stronghold of aristocracy. The older members had fixed their choice successively on the Duc de Luynes, Prince Murat, the Duke de la Rochefaucauld, and others but without effect. The young clubmen proposed the Duke de Doudeauville. The Count d'Avaray was the candidate of a third section, an "outsider;" but the younger element failing to elect their man on the first ballot, rallied round d'Avaray and elected him.

The new president is the clubman to perfection. Being a widower, he spends the greater part of his day at the club. He will be a working president, always to be found at his post. Although only 56 years old he has a flowing snow-white beard. He belongs to one of the oldest families of France.

ON THE IRON RANGES

SENATOR BOYLE SPEAKS TO BOYS

Addresses Eveleth Club, Giving Young Members Some Good Advice.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the Presbyterian Boys' Study and Recreation club were pleasantly entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davey on Hayes street, Mrs. Davey being the hostess. The subject of the evening was "Some Famous Prisons of the World," and the members under direction of Rev. Philip A. Schwarz, leader, had prepared papers and talks on this subject, but their consideration was postponed until the next meeting.

The semi-annual election of officers was held and the following boys were elected: President, Howard Goard; vice president, Arthur Anderson; secretary, Samuel Campbell; treasurer, Abbot Whitman. Standing committees will be appointed by the leader.

Gives Boys Advice.

The speaker of the evening was Senator James P. Boyle who gave the club a most eloquent and inspiring address. Senator Boyle after showing how in recent years the public sentiment toward the criminal had changed and that he was now considered more unfortunate than depraved, and that the object of all imprisonment was that of reform rather than of torture or punishment, the speaker illustrated his point by citing the case of the two young men who only a few weeks ago were paroled at Stillwater by the board of pardons. These young men, he said, would leave the state's prison not only reformed, but well educated and well trained men even though they had spent seventeen years there. Mr. Boyle mentioned three factors which he considered as being largely responsible for putting men and boys behind the bars: Intemperance, gambling and the lack of religious or helpful influences. He urged the boys to make the most and best of their advantages, and warned them against the use of liquor and tobacco which would impair their faculties and weaken them physically.

Games and music filled up the rest of the evening and refreshments were served by the hostess. The next regular meeting of the club will be on Monday evening at the Armory when Capt. Hartness will put the boys through company drill.

DEER RIVER FOLK WENT TO CHURCH

Go to Church Campaign Bore Fruit in Itasca County Town.

Deer River, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Twelve members of the True Blue class of the Methodist Sunday school accompanied by their young lady friends enjoyed a sleigh ride Wednesday evening to the home of Mrs. T. A. Box, where a very enjoyable evening was spent in playing games and partaking of a bounteous lunch. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Spice.

Attendance at the Methodist church last Sunday, which was Go-to-Church Sunday, more than doubled average attendance. Many strange faces were noticed in the congregation. Tomorrow morning Rev. John Blackhurst, the pastor, will take for his subject "The Wise and the Foolish Builders," and his topic for the evening sermon will be "Jesus Knocking at the Door."

A delightful entertainment was given at the Methodist church last night by the ladies of the church, the program included recitations by brilliant children and songs and instrumental numbers by the ladies. A large crowd witnessed the production.

E. E. Tankersley, the land man, was transacting business in Duluth Tuesday. Mr. Tankersley will attend the meeting of land men to be held in Minneapolis March 4 and 5 and is down for a short talk on the business as it is in the newer north.

Mrs. Estelle Whipple, county superintendent of schools, is visiting the schools to the north of this village this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones, former Deer River residents, were over from Chisholm on business Tuesday.

The dance given Monday night by the Women's Civic Improvement league was well attended and a joyous time is reported. Owing to this affair many were held from attending the Old Settlers' annual dance at Grand Rapids the same night.

Ellis Sombs, the loved and respected old time settler of Jesse Lake, who has for years been a sufferer from rheumatism, was in the village this week attending to business, and friends painfully noted that he is still unable to walk without a cane, and that slowly.

Train Is Delayed.

Great Northern train No. 34, eastbound, was delayed two hours Tuesday by her engine having been stove in from running into a load of logs near Ballclub. Two horses were instantly killed in the collision and the teamster was badly bruised.

A son was born Feb. 23 to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reigelsberger.

A son was born Feb. 23 to Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Tellin, making them six children, three boys and three girls.

The annual mask ball given by the Modern Woodmen last week was well attended and a great success.

Supt. G. E. Keenan of the Sixth school district, was visiting some of the schools in the northern part of the district this week.

Scarcely an open word is heard as to the annual village election which is to be held March 10. It is rumored the saloon element is desirous to elect a set of officials who will reduce the liquor license from $1,500 to $1,000, and this the other business interests seem to be opposed to.

G. E. Keenan and A. D. Ingersoll have been selected as judges in the debate to be held at Grand Rapids Saturday evening between the high school class of Grand Rapids and Ada.

Mrs. E. M. Gallan went the Kelliher Thursday to remain the week visiting her son and family.

Work on the new picture show hall is progressing rapidly, and Managers Herreid and Clark say they expect to have the show running about March 15.

The village of Zempel adjoining Deer River on the south is enlarging its territory to include the new box factory.

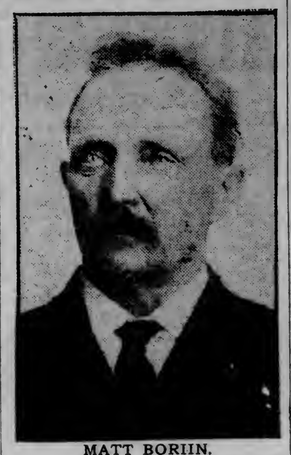

Ed Hiller, one of the leading settlers of Max in the western part of Itasca county, has filed his homestead patent and gone to Cass Lake to remain for six months.

The cook camp of the T. J. Welch lumber concern near Ballclub was burned with all contests on Wednesday of last week. The scaler who had his office in the camp was severely burned.

The M. J. Baker Mercantile company is about to be dissolved and M. J. Baker will continue to conduct the business in his own name. The firm has been in business ten years and has developed an enormous trade.

Miss Stella Martineau, assistant pharmacist at the Brooks drug store, was taken to Bemidji last night, where it is reported she will have to undergo a surgical operation for stomach ailment.

SEEKING PRESIDENCY OF CHISHOLM COUNCIL

MATT BORIIN.

Chisholm, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Borlin, who is serving his second term as a member of the village council, is seeking the office of presidency of the village council. Mr. Borlin bases his claim to the more important position on his record as a councilman.

BUHL PRESIDENT FOR RE-ELECTION

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local politics are warming up. The only ticket so far framed is the workingmen's, with President William J. Doyle at its head. President Doyle is seeking re-election. With Mr. Doyle are Frank J. Demel, seeking re-election for recorder, James O'Hair, Louis Johnson and John Pietala, trustees.

The workingmen's ticket is the first in the field in the town of Great Scott and is headed by John O'Donnell for supervisor for three years. Other candidates on that ticket are: For clerk (one year), Harry Miller; for assessor (two-year term), Ed Johnson; for treasurer, John I. Anderson; for constable (two-year term), Nestor Peltonen; for justice of the peace, H. Smith.

BEMIDJI TEAM WINS.

Takes First of Two Games From Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local City basket ball five lost to the fast Bemidji basket ball team at Bemidji last night in a hotly contested game by a score of 27 to 18, according to word received here. Another game will be played there this evening between the same two teams. The Two Harbors team will be strengthened this evening by the regular star guard, Filliatrault, who was unable to be in Bemidji for last night's game. He will displace Johnson at right guard. Sullivan and Woodward for the locals played a star game. Bemidji has possibly the strongest team in the state, having defeated the fast Y. M. C. A. team of Superior and now lay claim to the state championship.

The following was the line-up:

Two Harbors—		Bemidji—
Graves	f	Howe
Kernan	f	Smith
Woodward	c	Neuman
Johnson	g	Bullen
Sullivan	g	Beck

To Play Superior Five.

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A basket ball game will be played here this evening when the Nelson Dewey high school team of Superior will meet the local high school team at the Y. M. C. A. gym. The local team defeated the Superior boys the first of the season.

The following will be the line-up for the locals this evening: Peglow, guard; McCurdy, guard; Daniels and Halliday, center; Johnson, forward; Richards, forward.

HIBBING PLANS ON FINE WATER SYSTEM

May Spend Almost $1,000,000 in Getting Adequate Supply.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A project for Hibbing's future water supply that, if accepted, will give the village a splendid service, was outlined to the council last evening by Earl B. Jackson, expert consulting engineer, who spent considerable time in a survey of the country north of the so-called "divide."

Two propositions are outlined. One is based on an area including Rock, Day and Butchart's lake, with pumps at each body of water, suitable dams, large filtering plant and reservoir at the Rock Crusher hill and a pipe line sufficient to carry 4,000,000 gallons of water a day. The estimated cost of this system would be $651,000.

Like Sturgeon Lake Plan.

The plan that was apparently favored by the engineer and seemingly met with the approval of the council started at Sturgeon lake, with a pipe line to Rock lake where an emergency plant would be located and used the same scheme of filtration on Rock Crusher hill. The cost of this system is estimated at $950,000.

Mr. Jackson was closely questioned by Mayor Power and the members of the council as to the different plans, including his previous report on the well system south of the village. It was the engineer's belief that the water which had been analyzed was remarkably free from color, odor and iron and was soft enough for all domestic purposes. That there was a sufficient supply for all of Hibbing's future needs was undoubted and there was apparently no danger that the supply would grow less, while it was brought out that the supply south of the village was somewhat doubtful owing to the extensive mining operations.

May Include Chisholm.

The possibility of using the project for a joint supply for Hibbing and Chisholm was mentioned by the mayor when Mr. Jackson was asked as to the feasibility of extending a pipe line from Rock Crusher hill to Chisholm, giving the village the same excellent service that would be afforded Hibbing. The plan according to Mr. Jackson could easily be worked out with an additional line.

The report of Mr. Jackson which was referred to the water and light commission with the request that they make any recommendations they may have to the council, is well worth reading, giving, as it does, a comprehensive idea of the formation of the land north of the village and showing beyond a doubt the value of the Sturgeon lake project as a permanent water supply for Hibbing.

AMENDS PETITION.

Hibbing Man Is Given Permission to Erect Building.

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—By amending his petition for a building permit so as to include a full basement constructed of rocks or cement, M. H. Greenblatt, owner of the building at 307 Third avenue, occupied by the Olympia Pool Hall, averted a resolution condemning the structure and ordering its removal at once.

Mr. Greenblatt first asked for permission to lay new floors and make certain improvements to the front. This was referred to a committee which, after an examination, reported that the condition of the building was dangerous and recommended its condemnation. The compromise was effected after a second consideration, the council believing that the basement has lessened the fire hazard and make possible effective work by the fire department in case of a blaze.

"The council will not grant any building permits that will increase fire hazards in Hibbing," Mayor Power informed the owner.

EVELETH NEWS NOTES.

New Assistant General Superintendent of Oliver Company Visits Town.

Eveleth, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator James P. Boyle spent the latter half of the week in Duluth.

Mrs. John McWhirter and children of Hibbing visited recently with Mrs. M. Sheehy on Fayal road.

Miss Agnes Holmes has returned to Eveleth after an absence of two months.

Willard Bayliss, recently appointed by the Oliver Iron Mining company to the position of assistant general superintendent of the Eveleth district, came from Chisholm Wednesday to consult with General Supt. R. J. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pryor were down from Tower this week to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nancarrow, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pryor.

Steve Winkowski has returned from Ironwood, Mich., where he spent a week visiting friends.

Mrs. B. O. Greening is home after an absence of two months spent in Michigan.

Sam Ellis was in Minneapolis Thursday.

At the Swedish Lutheran church there will be preaching next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Peterson; subject, "The Destruction of Sodom." Sunday school will meet at 10:30 a. m. On Feb. 13 a Young People's society was organized. The society will meet at the church at 5 p. m. every other Sunday. On the second Friday of each month, at 5 p. m., a business meeting will be held.

The second banquet of the Men's Club of the Methodist church was held Tuesday night. Many were present. Speeches were made by Messrs. Boardman, Dungan, Morrell, Pryor and McAdams, the pastor and the Rev. A. H. McKee of Two Harbors. The spread was served by Mesdames Dungan, Boardman, Robb, Brown and Cannon. A net proceeds of $10 will be used as a flower fund.

WOMAN HIT BY BALL GETS $60

Hibbing, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—An action for $8,000, brought by Anton and Yera Petrich against the village of Hibbing, was ordered settled last evening by the council for $60 following a communication received from Village Attorney Scott in which it was stated that such a proposition had been made to him by the attorney for the plaintiffs.

Mrs. Petrich based her action on injuries sustained last year when she was struck by a baseball while passing a vacant lot near Brooklyn. Mrs. Petrich sued for damages while her husband asked to recover money alleged to have been paid out for medical attention and for the loss of his wife's time.

Signed dismissals of the actions will be secured from the plaintiffs before the money is paid over.

BUHL JOTTINGS.

Buhl, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The last of the pre-Lenten dances given by the Buhl Young Men's club at the village hall last Saturday was a most enjoyable affair and attracted quite a number of out-of-town people.

S. S. Williamson and assistants are making the annual audit of the township books and next week will audit the village books.

The basket ball game between the Buhl and Biwabik high school teams resulted in an easy one-sided victory for the local team, the score being 31 to 6.

Several of the local business men showed class in the curling events at the Virginia rink. J. I. Anderson and Village Attorney Bean curled with the Cowan rink Wednesday evening and assisted materially in that rink's success.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Corey returned Friday from a several days' trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Mr. Corey attended several sessions of the Minnesota Retail Hardware Dealers' association.

Thad Bean, village attorney, was a business visitor at Hibbing Wednesday.

John I. Anderson, Jr., and Prof. A. Durbahn attended a dance at Chisholm Tuesday evening.

W. W. Bowe, the Duluth contractor, was in the village Wednesday, looking after some work at the high school building.

Mrs. Fred Balcolm of Marble spent Sunday here with her mother, Mrs. Dan McTavish.

Lee Barrett of Duluth was a business visitor in the village Thursday.

Harry Goldbrand and S. Valentine Saxby spent Wednesday afternoon here.

Clark Wotring of Hibbing was in the village Thursday.

Mrs. Lenont of Virginia visited here yesterday at the home of her brother, Dr. Shaw.

Miss Margaret Cummings of the telephone office, who was sick last week, resumed her duties on Monday.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

Even though the lowest temperature reached last night was 2 deg. above the freezing point, it is said to be all over with this spring-like weather for the time at least. A cold wave is at hand and the weather forecaster says that the mercury will be down to 5 deg. below zero by tomorrow morning. The day will be fair, however.

A year ago today was fair and cold. The sun rose this morning at 6:50 and will set this afternoon at 5:52, giving eleven hours and two minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday. The total number of hours of sunshine during February have been 288:35. The total in January was 279:16. That of March will be 369:45.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of marked intensity overlying Lake Superior has caused warmer weather in the lake region, Central valley states and Rocky mountains, and high winds on Lake Superior and throughout the Northwest. During the last twenty-four hours rain fell over the Gulf states and light snow or rain over the Far West and portions of the Northwest. A severe cold wave has developed over Western Canada. Temperatures there have fallen anywhere from 30 to 40 deg. This turn to decidedly colder will reach the Head of the Lakes tonight and continue over Sunday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin — Generally fair tonight and Sunday, except snow near Lake Superior; colder; cold wave in north portion.

Minnesota — Generally fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight, with cold wave in north and east portion.

Iowa — Fair and colder tonight and Sunday; cold wave in northeast portion tonight.

North Dakota — Fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight with cold wave in east and central portions; rising temperature Sunday afternoon.

South Dakota — Fair tonight and Sunday; colder tonight.

Montana — Generally fair in east and south, unsettled in northwest portion tonight and Sunday, probably rain or snow; warmer in northwest and colder in east portions tonight.

Lower Michigan — Unsettled and colder tonight and Sunday; probably light snow.

Upper Michigan —Snow and colder tonight and Sunday.

"CASCARETS" ALWAYS STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

When constipated, headachy, bilious, stomach sour, breath bad.

Get a 10-cent box now.

You men and women who can't get feeling right — who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

IS ARRESTED FOR HAVING SET GUN

Two Harbors, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Osbacken of this city was arrested yesterday by Deputy Game Warden August Tabor charged with setting a gun in the woods west of the gravel pit on the Drummond line and in St. Louis county. The prisoner was taken to Duluth yesterday by the game warden and a hearing was had in the justice court. Osbacken pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for March 5. Bail was set at $100 which he furnished.

The gun was discovered by a shacker by the name of A. McGuire, who lives in the neighborhood of the gravel pit, while he was walking through the woods. He noticed the string which was stretched directly across his course of travel and which was attached at one end to the trigger of the rifle, and surmising that it was something unusual he stopped to investigate and found the gun covered up with brush but ready for action. He states that he was only a step from the danger when he chanced to see the string and had he went one step further he might have been blown to adams. McGuire took the gun with him to his shack and notified Deputy Tabor.

It was soon learned who the gun belonged to and Osbacken was arrested.

ELY CHURCH SUPPER.

Ely, Minn., Feb. 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monday evening the official board and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church, and their husbands and wives will take supper together in the church parlors. The committee having the matter in hand consists of Mrs. James Nicholas, president of the ladies' aid society; Mrs. A. J. Thomas and Mrs. E. F. Stidd.

A number of Elyians were in Duluth yesterday attending the funeral of Capt. Joseph Sellwood, many residents of this city having known him from childhood.

DID NOT LIE DOWN FOR FIVE WEEKS

School Girl Had Serious Bronchial Cough—Relieved it With Father John's Medicine.

"Three years ago I was in bed for six weeks with bronchitis. Had a bad attack, coughed all winter and was in the care of a physician. Last winter, when I had another attack as bad, a lady recommended Father John's Medicine. I commenced taking it in a few weeks, and since then have never missed a day in school. I owe a great deal to it as the results were most favorable. My attack last winter was so bad I was propped up in bed every night for five weeks to get a little rest." (Signed) Vera Virginia Stief, Newark, Ohio.

Mothers should realize the value of Father John's Medicine as a family remedy for coughs, colds and as a body builder, because it is pure and wholesome, free from alcohol and dangerous drugs and is not a patent medicine, but a doctor's prescription.

Father John's Medicine is for sale in Duluth by William A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, 932 East Second street, also Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior street; Wirth Drug Store, 13 West Superior street, and practically all other drug stores in the city. If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1 for a large bottle by express, prepaid.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

BUILDING OPERATIONS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Permits for the Week Show an Aggregate of $45,200.

Much Activity Looked for in Western End of City.

Building operations of the week made a respectable showing, permits issued at the inspector's office numbering nine with the cost of improvements placed at $45,200. Besides the Oreckovsky hotel and the Davies block on Superior street west, a permit was issued to the Baxter Sash & Door company for the building of an additional story upon its factory on Garfield avenue.

Considerable new work is being rounded up at the architects' offices, and it is expected that some important jobs will be ready to go out for figures within the next ten days. Included in the projected work is a large block to go up on Superior street at an estimated cost of $100,000, and a warehouse and two factory buildings.

It is taken as assured that there will be considerable activity in the building line in the West end, West Duluth and in the steel plant districts during the season. Many homes are expected to be built in the central hillside district above the Ninth street car line.

The largest permit of the week, $25,000, was issued to Joseph Oreckovsky to cover the erection of a hotel building on Superior street between Sixth and Seventh avenue west. The general contract for the job was let yesterday to Otto Johnson, and work upon it will be started immediately. It is estimated that with the awarding of the contracts for the plumbing, heating and electrical work an outlay of $30,000 will be entailed. Wangenstein & Gilluson were the architects.

The same architects will take figures next week on an addition to the Rex hotel at International Falls, Minn., estimated to cost $18,000. That business there is expanding is evidenced in the fact that the present building, erected by the Duluth Brewing company only two years ago at a cost of $60,000, is already being found too small to accommodate the patronage offering.

McLeod & Smith, contractors for the addition to the normal school, are assembling the materials in preparation for starting work on the foundation as soon as the weather will permit.

* * *

The list of handsome homes in the East end is to be added to in the erection of a residence for Bently P. Neff on Sixth street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues east. According to the plans prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects, it will be of brick and stucco construction on Tudor and Gothic lines of architecture. The plans will be out for figures next Monday.

* * *

Edward P. Shurick, for some time associated with Vernon J. Price & Co., will open an office on his own account at 1,906 Torrey building on March 1. He will make a feature of high-class residence work in which he has been specializing.

* * *

The Lakeside Land company is completing two houses at Lakeside and plans are in preparation by P. M. Olsen, architect, for two others to be started next month.

* * *

The Lounsberry-McLeod company is still employing a large force in finishing up houses under construction in the Minnesota Steel company's model town. It is expected that work in putting in the foundations for the remaining houses included in its contract for 170 buildings, will be commenced in April.

* * *

Duluth architects and contractors are interested in the announcement that the building of a twelve-room grade school has been decided upon at Virginia. The structure is to be fireproof and modeled on the lines of the North side school built there last year. Competitive plans have been forwarded by several architects to the school board there, and it is thought that a decision will be reached at a meeting to be held tonight.

* * *

Bids upon the theater building to be erected by the Dickerman Investment company on First avenue west, were opened last Thursday and are now under consideration. It is thought that the contract will be let within a week or ten days.

* * *

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To M. Windell, frame dwelling, Allendale avenue between Faribault and Owatonna streets	$ 2,500
To J. Oreckovsky, brick hotel, Eighth avenue west and Superior street	25,000
To M. L. Davies, brick store, West Superior street between Lake and First avenues	10,000
To H. H. Brown, frame dwelling, Charles avenue between D., M. & N. right-of-way and Eighth street	1,000
To W. Geisert, frame dwelling, Tioga street between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth avenues	500
To Mrs. A. M. Lewis, repairs, St. Croix avenue	200
To Duluth Oil & Grease company, install oil tank, Ninth avenue west	500
To F. Anderson, frame dwelling, Thirty-eighth avenue west, between Fourth and Fifth streets	2,000
To Baxter Sash & Door company, additional story, West Michigan street, between Garfield and Seventeenth avenues	3,500
Cost of improvements	$ 45,200
Number of permits, 9.

RESIDENCE PROPERTIES ARE IN GOOD DEMAND

Actual Sales Now Small, But March Revival Is Expected.

Higher Values Are Now Being Placed on All Properties.

Inquiry for residence properties and investment call for frontages in the western parts of the city were features of the local real estate situation during the present week. While, as the list of transfers shows, the volume of business actually closed up was comparatively light, operators are banking upon a market revival during the coming month.

As further foreshadowing industrial expansion in the city during the year, the receipt of earnest money on the sale of a West end frontage to be occupied by a factory, was reported yesterday afternoon. Negotiations are said to be on with a prominent Eastern company for a block on the water front to be used as a site for a large dock. It is also expected that a deal involving the transfer of a block in West Duluth to parties who plan to establish an important industry here, will be closed up within a few days.

It is commented upon that properties of all classes are now stiffly held, with owners showing an inclination to place higher valuations on their holdings. That development, by all accounts, has led to the blocking of several deals recently. Two such instances were reported today, and in one case an advance of thirty per cent and in the other of forty per cent, was asked over the figures at which the properties had been listed with the brokers only a few months ago.

"We met with more earnest inquiry for real estate during the last few days than we had in weeks previously," said H. W. Cheadle of Richardson, Day & Cheadle today. "Our prospects are of such a nature as to warrant every expectation of the present being the best season in years in the way of actual accomplishments."

* * *

Richardson, Day & Cheadle reported the receipt of earnest money on sales of two lots on Highland street, West Duluth.

* * *

Chas. P. Craig & Co. sold two lots at Lakeside for the Lakeside Land company, one of them for immediate improvement in the building of a dwelling.

* * *

The Hoopes-Kohagen company advised the sale of a lot on Fourth street west, and also of four lots in its Park Drive addition near Chester park.

* * *

An early opening of the season inquiry for acre tracts in Ingleside Park was noted by Stryker, Manley & Buck. Negotiations covering central and West Duluth properties are advised to be in progress.

* * *

The Gary Land company sold twelve lots in Gary First and Central divisions to outside investors. The company is now in receipt of a flood of inquiry from over a wide territory and the outlook for a heavy sale of property in its townsite during the spring and summer months is regarded as promising by A. W. Kuehnow, president of the company.

The Ebert, Walker & McKnight company sold a 700-acre tract of land in the Beaver Bay district, Lake county, to Minneapolis parties, who propose to divide it for colonizing purposes.

The same office also sold a half-section of land in Aitkin county to Superior and Minneapolis investors who are arranging to prospect it for iron. Earnest money was besides taken on two lands deals in the Cuyuna iron range territory.

* * *

George Ebert has returned from a trip to Florida where he reported favorably on a block of 9,600 acres of land on the bank of the St. John river, about 150 miles from Jacksonville. Several Duluth people are said to have already interested in the tract, which is now being offered on the market by the company.

Mr. Ebert, besides, attended a convention of the National Association of Real Estate Dealers held at Tampa.

The A. A. Fider company had an active week in residence properties, resulting in sales of three houses in the vicinity of Portland square, at Eleventh avenue east and Sixth street. The purchasers were J. E. Voloshek, Capt. Ward and William P. Waste. Earnest money was also taken on a lot in the Normal school district. A strong inquiry for medium priced houses for occupancy by May 1 is commented upon by Mr. Fider.
